The Masonic Temple in the city of Philadelphia is, probably, the finest and most magnificent structure, erected for the fraternity, in the world. It has four fronts, and is 150 by 245 feet, and rises from the pavement 95 feet. It is built of granite, and is a perfect specimen of Norman architecture, bold, elaborate, and unlike anything in Philadelphia. The Broad-street front displays two grand towers, 250 feet from the ground to the top of the turret. The Norman porch is very elaborate and is made up of three pairs of receding pillars, with arches, mouldings, and other decorations. The grand entrance is through doors seventeen feet high and seven feet wide. The main hall is laid in black and white tiles with ornate borders. There is a grand staircase of granite, finished in Corinthian style, which rises from the front. The central staircase approached from the Juniper-street front is in the Doric style. The Grand Lodge Library-room, 105 feet long, 51 feet wide and 50 feet high, is constructed and decorated after the Corinthian style. The Banquet Hall is 105 feet long, 50 feet wide and 30 feet high, is of the Composite order, and the tables will seat 500 persons. The Oriental Hall, occupied by subordinate lodges, is ornamented in the richest style of Moorish architecture. There are the Ionic, the Egyptian, the Norman, the Gothic, and the Renaissance Halls, the latter being 90 feet long, 50 feet wide, 50 feet high, and very richly decorated. The Knights Templar occupy the Gothic hall for their asylum. The grand Temple and enduring monument of Masonic taste and liberality, was erected at a cost of about one million three hundred thousand dollars.—"Masonic Journal."

On Thursday the marriage of the Earl of Gosford and Lady Louisa Montagu, second daughter of Bro. the Duke of Manchester, was solemnised at St. George's, Hanover-square, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of both families. On the arrival of the bride she was received by the Duke of Manchester and her bridesmaids—namely, the Ladies Grace and Margaret Gordon, Lady Mabel Bridgeman, and Lady Alice Montagu (sister of the bride). The bride wore a dress of white poul de soie, trimmed with Brussels lace and bouquets of orange flowers, a couronne of the same flowers, over which was arranged a veil of Brussels lace. The ornaments were diamonds and pearls. The bridesmaids' toilettes were of pale crème poul de soie and cachmere; cuirasse bodices, with sleeves entirely composed of gold braid; and bonnets of crème cachmere, with bouquets of red rosebuds. The wedding presents which were very numerous, included a diamond and pearl cross from the Prince and Princess of Wales, and a pair of gold candlesticks from the Duke and Duchess of Teck.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 108, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

JOHN VIALLS.—Will Bro. John Vialls favour the Editor with a copy of his communication of March last.

ADCOCK, THOS.—The "Freemason" has left the office regularly every week. If you will advise the dates of the copies you are short of, duplicates shall be sent you by return.

ENORACUR LOOE.—We are glad to publish elsewhere a printed slip sent us from York, with reference to the opening of a new lodge in that ancient town.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

AITKEN.—On the 5th inst., at Crieff-villas, Beddington-corner, the wife of R. C. Aitken, of a daughter.

LEVICK.—On the 2nd inst., the wife of H. Levick, Esq., Suez, Egypt, of a son.

RUSSELL.—On the 12th inst., at Harley-street, W., the wife of C. Russell, Esq., Q.C., of a son.

SENIOR.—On the 12th inst., at Ebor Lodge, Stoke Newington, the wife of A. H. P. Senior, of a daughter.

SMITH.—On the 12th inst., at Knoll House, Cleethorne, Great Grimsby, the wife of Captain E. Smith, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

PYMAN—SUTCLIFFE.—10th, at Stallingboro' parish church, by the Rev. James Garvey, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Bacon, James, third son of Mr. Pyman, The Willows, Hartlepool, to Emily, third daughter of Bro. John Sutcliffe, Stallingboro' House, Lincolnshire.

ARCHER—GOOCH.—On the 12th inst., at St. Luke's, New Kentish Town, by the Rev. C. H. Andrews, Frederick John, only son of John Archer, late of Pitfield-street, London, to Alice Jane, eldest daughter of the late Edwd. Gooch, Spalding, Lincolnshire.

BERRY—BERRIDGE.—On the 10th inst., at St. Martin's, Leicester, Anthony Berry, of Wilberforce-road, N., to Kate, daughter of the late R. S. Berridge, M.R.C.S., of Melton Mowbray.

WORRELL—DUVAL.—On the 10th inst., at S. Gabriel's Church, Warwick-square, S.W., by the Rev. H. J. Fase, M.A., Bro. William Worrell, P.M., and P.Z. 766, of Brixton, and 18, Newgate-street, E.C., to Marie Duval, of the Royal Academy of Music.

DEATHS.

ASTON.—On the 10th inst., at Rothesay, William Smart Aston, aged 43.

BURGESS.—On the 7th inst., at Guernsey, Richard Rose Burgess, formerly of Stokesley, Yorkshire, aged 61.

CARTER.—On the 11th inst., at West-hill, Wandsworth, Edward Carter, aged 57. Interred at Barnes Cemetery, Aug. 16.

FRANCATELLI.—On the 10th inst., at Eastbourne, Charles Elmi Francatelli, aged 71, late manager of the Freemasons' Tavern.

SUMNER.—On the 14th inst., at 81, St. Thomas-road, South Hackney, E., Elizabeth Mary, the beloved wife of the Rev. Joseph Sumner, in the 43rd year of her age.

WILKINSON.—On the 11th inst., the Rev. T. Wilkinson, rector of Market Weston, Suffolk, aged 74.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1876.

CHURCH RESTORATION.

The restoration of Chester Cathedral seems to have been good work, well done. A very considerable sum has been judiciously expended on vast and long needed repairs to that venerable structure, and all classes and all persons seem liberally to have aided and largely to have contributed towards the required extensive outlay. Our brethren, alike in the provinces of Cheshire and West Lancashire, have also made offerings of considerable value to the great common end, and have shown us to-day, we venture to think, alike a commendable love of ecclesiastical architecture, and a true conception of the real spirit in which Freemasons should view all such proper efforts of church restoration. For, curiously enough, it is a fact, which we should never forget, that the history of Freemasonry in this country is bound up with the building art, in connexion too with church architecture, and that the works of our operative forefathers are to be found on every old stone of Chester Cathedral itself, just as they are to be traced on those noble buildings in England, up and down the land, which tell of the piety and sacrifices of other generations, and record in unerring language the skill and the unity of design and labour which marked the mediæval Freemasons. Yet, curiously enough, to some of us this fact and this truth do not appear either welcome or agreeable. They will accept any theory rather than that which links on the Speculative Grand Lodge of 1717 to the operative guilds, they will put forward any suggestion rather than be compelled to accept such a conclusion. Political or religious, knightly or hermetic, the sublimation of moonshine or the reduction ad absurdum, it's all "ane to Dandie," and it is exactly the same to them. They will have something, as they think, higher, more respectable, more gentlemanly. They will even accept the "social theory," the most childish of all; but to be actually connected with those, who wore bonâ-fide leather aprons, carried the hod, chipped the stone, and laid on the mortar and cement, they cannot and will not tolerate. Yet the remorseless criticism of history, the irrepressible certainty of evidence, are both forcing upon all Masonic students this dilemma. "You have before your eyes the account of those Masonic guilds whose constitutions, whose legends are your own. You have indicia accumulating now rapidly of the existence of Freemasons long before 1717; either then you must accept the guild theory as the most probable and reasonable account of the history and progress of Freemasonry, or you must find another explanation of its life and doings on the simple law of cause and effect." And though some have boldly faced the dilemma, and substituted a theory of their own for that which reasonable argument would suggest, and distinct evidence would affirm, yet it is impossible to doubt that the "outcome" of contemporary study and criticism is, that to the guild theory we must look, and look alone, for the true explanation of the annals and acts of Freemasons and Freemasonry, those Freemasons and that Freemasonry represented to-day by the descendants of the Speculative Grand Lodge of 1717. Hence we must always feel a deep interest in those glorious fanes and those goodly buildings on which still linger, graven by the skilful chisel, the marks of the operative Freemasons of earlier and departed centuries; we must always feel proud of these traces of that loyal and laborious brotherhood which still attest north and south, and east and west, where lodges of Freemasons tarried, where guilds of Freemasons existed in the "limitt" or district. The creations of these skilled Master Masons, native or foreign, which still throw a grace around the "Houses of God in our land," and still appeal so forcibly to the eyes, and tastes, and feelings of the art student, of the reverent worshipper, will have for us all everything that æsthetic sympathies can profess, or a refined and cultivated judgment can avow. It was in no idle mood, with no vain feelings of dilettante art admiration, that our distinguished Bro. John Havers appealed in Grand Lodge to the wise and Masonic examples of our provincial brethren in favour of that very principle he sought to commend to the calm discretion and unimpassioned decision of Grand Lodge. Had the argument used in Grand Lodge prevailed in the provinces, they could not tell to-day, as they happily do, of liberal aid offered, and kindly goodwill manifested, in the preservation and restoration of those very buildings which first were raised by the "cunning" hands of ancient Craftsmen. The truth is, that the arguments against the grant in Grand Lodge to St. Paul's and St. Alban's were simply "ad hominem," and could not then stand the test (pace the majority,) of serious considerations nor can they now face the criticism of stern and inexorable logic. But enough. We are among those who never have been and are not now ashamed of our legitimate operative connection; and we can only add in conclusion that, say what you will, explain it as you may, this consanguinity of operative and speculative Masonry, if one may so speak, the existence of Freemasonry quâ Freemasonry, alike as a guild and as a speculative brotherhood—in its exoteric organization, in its esoteric formulæ, in its secrecy, and in its success—is one of the most remarkable facts that we know of in the very history of the world, among the sodalities and movements, in the progress and the labours of mankind.

FIREMAN LEE.

We should hardly be doing our duty to our great Order, ever ready to admire heroism and commend meritorious self-sacrifice, if we did not shortly call attention to the death of Fireman Lee in the noble discharge of his duty. In another column we give an account from our contemporary, the "Times," of a quasi-public funeral which accompanied the remains of a genuine hero to his peaceful resting place in the Abney Park Cemetery on Thursday week. Large classes of our population, a strong muster of police, his comrades under their gallant chief, Captain Shaw, volunteer fire brigades, and the men of the salvage corps, all attended to do honour to the memory of one who had sacrificed his own life to save that of a helpless fellow creature, and who had died the noblest of all deaths, a soldier at the post of duty, quietly, calmly facing the great grim enemy, undaunted by his terrors and unnerved by his fell approach. It is quite affecting to read how, though the flames were circling up on every side of him, he, with a self-possession and determined courage perfectly marvellous, placed a poor woman in the fire escape, and though, as we are told, she stuck in her descent, he forced her down the shaft of the escape with all his power, at the very time that the flames were surrounding him, and his own destruction was inevitable. He never counted the cost to himself, but in the simple discharge of his duty, saved at the expense of his own life that of a helpless and trembling fellow creature. Well may Captain Shaw state publicly, that in his varied and great experience of daily deeds of zealous service and manly effort, (too often unnoticed and unrewarded), he never knew a more remarkable case of heroic devotion to duty; and the funeral of Thursday week was a proof how the popular feeling entirely endorses Captain Shaw's remarks. Nothing, in fact, can be said too much in heartfelt admiration of discipline and devotion like that to which we have alluded, and Captain Shaw and his little handful of brave firemen may indeed feel proud of that imperishable deed of gallantry and of chivalry which will be for ever linked with the name and memory of Fireman Lee. We who live in this great metropolis, and know the active labours, the hourly dangers, and often hear of the noble deaths of many in that small (far too small) body of firemen, are nevertheless perhaps hardly sufficiently alive to the incessant hazard incurred by that too limited corps, we repeat, of well-trained men over whom Captain Shaw so efficiently presides. And we feel strongly that with these our humble words of sympathetic admiration for the noble death of Fireman Lee we should not forget the perilous but invaluable services rendered every hour that passes over our heads by the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, of which it is not too much to say that its equal can perhaps hardly be found in any portion of the civilized world. Its motto certainly is at any rate "Nulli Secundus." We by no means wish in saying this, to undervalue or forget the heroic exertions of other fire brigades in other capitals of Europe and the East, but we honestly feel, that Captain Shaw has a right to ask and expect from us that hearty commendation and that entire confidence which are his just due, after the many proofs hourly before our eyes of the admirable discipline and untiring zeal of his little handful of men, of the gallant exertions of that ever active Fire Brigade of which he is the energetic head.

A GRAVE SCANDAL.

We are among those who deeply feel the evil done by the nauseating evidence adduced during the inquiry of the mournful and horrible Bravo case. Anything more detrimental to morality, anything more susceptible of evil influences, anything more likely to cause widespread demoralization than the details of the evidence, humiliating and painful in themselves, we cannot well conceive or realise. And yet, when we have said all this, we cannot deny that the enquiry was absolutely needed, in the interests of justice and society, neither can we affirm that all this sifting of the lives of the dead and the living, this opening out of hidden sores and buried secrets, was improper or unfair. Far from it. We do not agree with the "Times" on this part of the case. If there was to be an enquiry, it must be thorough; if there was to be examination there must be cross-examination; and we confess that we do not see, if certain witnesses were put into the box, how they were to be exempted on any principle of law or equity from the inevitable process of cross-examination. Of the case itself, however unpleasant, however pressing, or however personal, we still must speak with proper reserve. Practically, it is yet "sub judice," and we do not think it right or becoming to express any public opinion, though we probably all have formed a private one, alike as to the different acts of the "dramatis personæ," and a possible solution of the mystery, a reasonable theory both of cause and effect, of the mournful history of this most dreadful crime. What the effect of the enquiry may be remains to be seen, but we shall be sincerely glad if those who have so assiduously perused for some time past, in all ranks of society, the daily details of this extraordinary enquiry, will turn their attention to something else better worth reading, and eschew for the future a literature baneful in itself for every class and condition amongst us, and directly tending to deprave the imagination, and to sap public and personal morality. What a sad spectacle is it for the thoughtful, the serious, and the God-fearing! What humiliating evidence it must remain of that under-current of social ill-living which seems to be surging upwards higher and higher amongst us, and which, unless timely checked, threatens to sweep away those barriers and restraints in social life which prudence and propriety, virtue and piety, decency and religion, have set up for the honour of God and the welfare of man!

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The letter signed Zaphon is a credit to the brother who wrote it, whoever he may be, and I will supplement his remarks upon the so-called hospitality of some lodges by expressing my surprise at the absence of that Masonic characteristic in most of the lodges in England which I have attended. In India after the lodge is closed it is the custom for the W.M. to invite all visiting brethren to the banquet, and I never heard of such a thing in that country as a visiting brother even from any local lodge having to pay for the hospitality shown him, or his being paid for by any individual brother. But in this country I find it is the practice, generally, to make the visiting brother, even though he be a foreigner, pay for all he eats and drinks. On two occasions (one of them being a Provincial Grand Lodge meeting) I have been obliged thus to buy a ticket for the banquet, although I had on each occasion received an invitation to be present. I beg, therefore, to suggest to the rulers of the lodges where this sort of hospitality is in vogue that they should alter the toast of "The Visiting Brethren" to that of "The Brethren who don't belong to our lodge." I recollect belonging to a mess once as an honorary member, but when I found I had to contribute as much, and even more than the regular members, I always looked upon and called myself a "non-regimental member" and not an "honorary" one.

If a man cannot afford to entertain, the wisest plan for him to pursue is not to ask people to his house under the guise of showing hospitality.

AN INDIAN P.M.

12th August, 1876.

SISTER ALDORTH.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

There is a portrait and an account of the history of Elizabeth St. Ledger in the Royal Military Lodge, No. 1449, at Canterbury, which is certified by a brother (one of her descendants), who presented it to the lodge as being the only authentic portrait and history of her life.

If Bro. Blackburne should be ever at Canterbury he can see the portrait at any time in the lodge.

I am, dear Sir, yours faithfully,

W.M. 1449.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Several of our Leicester brethren being of opinion that the picnic party referred to in the enclosed report should not pass without special notice, I have to request that you will kindly oblige by inserting those few remarks in your next issue. In consequence of some misunderstanding the report has been delayed an unusual time.

I am, yours fraternally,

P.M., Mark Lodge, No. 19.

9th August, 1876.

[The report appears on page 364.]

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.

(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 1.—EDUCATION.

It is very remarkable how men differ, and differ greatly on this apparently simple question.

On no subject are opinions so various, views so contrasted, discussions so vehement, or controversies so bitter. Why is it, why should it be so?

"A priori," we should have thought that the problem of education was one not so very difficult to solve.

The old saying would seem to be of universal application still, "educat nutrit, instituit pædagogus," and the "homo ingenuus et liberaliter educatus" would appear to be a proper representative of the genus man.

Indeed, the "educatus," the "Eκπαιδευτης," the truly educated person, might be taken to be a necessity alike for the happiness and well being of the individual, of the family, of the nation, of mankind. But, strange to say, more fallacies from the very first seem to have surrounded this apparently simple proposition than any other known matter of human discussion. Most strange it should be so, but that it is so is a proof, if proof indeed be ever needed by any of us at all, of the inborn weakness, perversity warped instincts, and marred sympathies of our race. The greatest enemy to man is man.

Is it not curious to note and to remember that in all ages of the world, at any rate during the historic ages, education has, so to say, been "in difficulties?" It has always encountered obstacles, met with antagonists, and has been alternately ridiculed and depreciated, slandered and suppressed, and still it has survived both the struggles of men and the lapse of time.

Teachers and taught, the "pædagogus" and his pupils, have all been the subject of fierce contests, many philippics, and blind anathemata, and that despite the "counter irritation," so to say, of the world and of men education has still held its own, is alike the most hopeful sign for humanity itself, and the most "remarkable outcome," perhaps, of the dead and buried ages of the past, of those mighty centuries which have rolled away from time, carrying with them the dreams and plans, the hopes and aspirations, the struggles and the logomachies, the wisdom and the folly of mankind. Yet, as we said at the outset, in itself the proposition is a very simple one in the abstract, and not more difficult, apparently, in the concrete.

To educate the youthful mind to draw out its latent powers, to train up its moral sense, to direct it in its yearnings after something tangible and truthful, to enlighten, to unfold, to develop, and to elevate, would appear a normal duty on the one hand, and an inherent right upon the other.

Whether we throw the blame on the parent, or the municipality, or the province, or the nation, there is blame attaching to some one, when any unit of the mighty aggregate grows up in ignorance of himself, and of others, in ignorance of the needful and improving realities of science, of the social duties he owes to his fellow citizens in blind, dull, crass, dead ignorance of all that constitutes both the intellectual and moral character of a sentient, intelligent, immortal being. We may surround the question with as many sophistries as we like, we may spin as many webs as we choose of the finest network around what is plain, simple, and straightforward, we may raise as many difficulties as we can, invent as many "burning questions," propound as many hopeless "cases of conscience," as fancy suggests, or a mistaken sense of duty seems to prompt, but the simple fact amidst all this remains clear and incontestable, that a great crime is committed against society and humanity, a great social wrong is perpetuated, when any little mind among us is allowed to run riot in ignorance, when undying "atoms" are permitted to grow up among living men, but little above in respect of education, the beasts that perish.

And in saying this we blame no one. We are all equally to blame in the matter. We have so accustomed ourselves either to the plausible utterances of the "schools," or the sophistical difficulties of the denomination, that we have at times lost sight seemingly of the great end of education namely, the education of the intelligent and immortal being.

We do not deny that there are some denominational difficulties which require careful consideration and respectful treatment; but we will allude to these later on, and in saying what we have just said, we must not be supposed to be at all insensible to the bona fide scruples of many excellent persons, or above all, to the lawful claims of religion in respect of this most important of subjects.

But what we are anxious to point out is simply this,—Education is both a duty and a right, and as such demands from all thinking persons, sympathy, approval, and support.

We have long outlived happily the time when ignorance was positively considered preferable to education for a very large portion of our fellow creatures.

But we have not quite got the better of that "hesitation" about education per se, which still seems to fill the minds of many with doubts, and fears, and colours so many depreciatory arguments and so many mournful vaticinations. We admit the value of education, the propriety of education, the utility of education, even the need of education, but we qualify our admission of these indubitable truths by the limits we seek to impose, and the controlling power we claim to exercise over the progress and "curriculum" of education itself.

We do not see, and apparently will not see that education to be education in its true meaning and interest, must be "thorough," that it cannot be offered in stinted measure, that it cannot be accommodated to suit preconceived opinions of what it ought to be, (and which are generally emphatically what it ought not to be), and least of all can it be as it were appropriated specifically to various classes and ranks of society amongst us.

There is no royal road to learning, or to education, we must all travel along the same pathway, at any rate for a certain distance, though some may go further than others and some may step short, and some may even lag behind. But the moment we seek to clip or carve the great foundation principles of education, so as to have, as it were, a graduated education for different classes amongst us, we do despite to the great and sound cause of education itself. For in our opinion, we cannot over-educate, we say it boldly, and we have attended carefully and closely to the subject for years.

All we can say is, that some make a better one of their education than others, that some pervert education, just as they misuse talents, and waste opportunities, but we prefer to have to deal with an educated rather than an uneducated person at all times, and so ere long will all classes amongst us, whether in manufacture or agriculture, in every lot and condition of life assuredly prefer also.

The difference between skilled and unskilled labour, for instance, is already infinite, as many of our readers know.

But again we do not wish to be misunderstood.

We may leave out here all sensational tales of over-education, because they lack, in our opinion the essential and important condition of verity; and though they may lend a zest to a dull speech, or afford a fair subject for innocent chaff, they cannot be made use of as a serious argument, on a most important and vital question.

But we admit, that of course in a national school, exempli gratia even of the best, we do not profess to give or seek to impart the education of our higher class schools for the richer portions of the community, nor do we, in any way compete, we will not say, with the "private venture schools," but at any rate with home instruction. But we do profess to give an elementary education, and we contend that we are to give the very best of elementary education, not merely in the three R's, but in geography, music, drawing, mental arithmetic, dictation, grammar, history, and all kinds of needlework for our girls.

And if to these be added, for our girls especially, needful instruction in the simpler and leading principles of cookery, and there is cultivated among our boys a taste for industrial occupations, and the various active branches of a technical instruction, we should certainly not err. Nay, we should act both wisely and well. After all we must always bear in mind that school education is a very little portion of the educational process, in us all, and acts only for a very short period. Self-education is the best, perhaps, of all education, and that must come from the intellectual tastes and well-used opportunities of after years, by the class, by the library, by the institute, by the social meeting, by mental thought, and, above all, by much hard individual study.

But to start all our young people in life, for we assume that elementary education is universal, we must give them a good elementary education, hoping and trusting that as years pass the great mass of our pleasant little ones will seek day by day to educate themselves, as young men and young women to fight the rough battle of life, or fill its marts, or occupy its laborious callings.

But we would not stop here.

In all schools some children are of more promise than others, more quick at learning, more ready of apprehension, more willing to acquire information, more happy in application, and these, when their elementary term of education is over, should be drafted to a higher school, where their special talents may be attended to and carefully developed. This remark is meant to apply to girls, as well as to boys.

To say that we are simply to educate the children in our elementary schools, to be "browsers of wood and drawers of water" for successive generations, is both a folly and a wickedness, contrary to every law of nature, and of Providence, and directly antagonistic to the whole history of individual rise, of national growth, of actual progress, and of human life. But here we must stop for to-day. We will in our next paper consider another side of this question, a most important one, which may be not improperly termed the Denominational View of Education, as it cannot be ignored by any who wish fairly to consider the great subject of education, and, above all, because it deserves most attentive consideration from all true friends of Education.

Reviews.

"MISTRESS HASSELWODE," Two Vols. F. H. Moore Messrs. Remington, and Co., 5, Arundel-street, Strand.

We have received and read this new novel, or rather historical romance. It carries us back to the stirring days of King Edward, and we see before us a picture carefully limned, of eventful episodes and bustling "dramatis personæ." "Mistress Haselwode," is in fact a history of the rising of "King Ket," and a startling representation enough of the horrors and evils which ever follow the outbursts of an unbridled fanaticism, or the outbreak of the furious passions of intestine commotion. When to political animosity is added the savagery of a morbid and quasi-religious furore, "ill fares it," ever with any land so torn and convulsed, to "hastening ills a prey." There can be no doubt, we apprehend, that the story faithfully represents some of the main incidents in that stormy period, and some of the acts and results of unlicensed and irreligious ruffianism. Plunder seems to have been the object then under the mask of religion, just as plunder still is too often the real object of many, under the guise of hasty change, or with the pretext of religious reform. We thank the author for a sprightly and well written tale, and we are very glad indeed to commend it to the attention and perusal of our readers. At the same time we do not profess to admire the action or intolerance of Father Sykes, as, in our opinion, priors and parsons never appear so ill, after all, as when mixing themselves up in purely political matters, though we all often err in this respect. The contemplative layman may often say, "Diable, qu'allaît il faire dans cette galère."

"WITHIN BOHEMIA." By H. CURWEN.—Remington & Co.

We have taken up and put down this book with mingled feelings. We do not exactly see why the undoubtedly able writer has given the name of "Life in Bohemia" to his work, or much less, why he has added the alliteration of "Love in London." Whether the word "Bohemia" refers to London, or to some special class of society, we do not profess to understand, but we apprehend it is French and foreign, alike in its terminology and its application. His heroes are many of them interesting young men, but clearly living in "Short-street." His heroines—well! they are not the girls after our own heart, at least, some of them. And here it is where we think the writer has erred. If Bohemia and Bohemianism exist in London, all London is neither the one, nor do its inhabitants follow the proclivities of the other, and the stories, as stories, might be written of any place or portion of the United Kingdom, as well as of and in London. Some of the stories are pretty and interesting, if somewhat sketchy, while others are somewhat painful and depressing. There is abundance of vivacity of language, of elegance of style, and of facile use of words, which seem to show that the writer has not put forth all his powers, and is capable of closer studies, and perhaps more effective pictures of human life. We think it is a pity, in the present state of literature, of realistic utterances and sensational tales, to be talking of so much love, &c., to the young. That is a lesson they learn early enough, very often, so to say, self-taught, and they require neither strange teachers nor foreign interpreters. As it is we should prefer if our young people were told more of duty and decorum, more of right and truth, more of prudence and propriety, than the often fantastic legends of that little god of heathen mythology, who has done so much mischief, and led astray so many with misplaced sentiments of ecstatic weakness in this gregarious world of ours. We do not object to the influence of that most potent affection of humanity within due bounds, and at a proper season; but alas! it is vain to speak on such a subject to the young, the giddy, and the sentimental. Still, as of old, the youth of both sexes will say, "Hoc alterna fides, hoc simplex gratia donat."

"THE BIRMINGHAM EXAMINER."—J. Davis, Birmingham.

We have received No. 2 of Vol. 1 of this "monthly magazine of general literature," which certainly is a very good and, above all, cheap magazine at its price, 6d. Amid the crowd of monthlies competing for public patronage and claiming individual attention it is, of course, most difficult to say to our many subscribers, "read this or study that." Literature, like everything else, though it has no doubt, like everything else too, its "chic" and its "fashion," its time and its season, its popularity and its hour of success, must follow, we apprehend, the law of supply and demand, want and satisfying of want, merit and reward, effort and approval. It is in vain to cram literature down the throats of any, or to claim for it the support of the public when it does not meet a requirement or satisfy a craving. "Ceteris paribus," we can conscientiously say many sincere words of commendation and approval of the "Birmingham Examiner" as a candidate for public favour, and as a monthly serial alike interesting and well written.

"RHYMES AND SKETCHES TO ILLUSTRATE THE CLEVELAND DIALECT." By Mrs. G. M. TWEDDELL.

We have commended this little work before, and we commend it again to the kind patronage and perusal of our many readers to-day. It is a genuine little production, marked by truth and ability, by reality and humour, by sound teaching and a good moral; and we are very glad in these days of dubious literary productions, and hesitating utterances of a higher excellence, to claim for it the approval and encouragement of all who wish the literature of the hour to fulfil its true end, the intellectual amusement and the moral edification of all classes.

"THE MASONIC JOURNAL," LOUISVILLE, U.S.

This is a new candidate for Masonic support which hails from across the mighty waters of the Atlantic, or, as some sentimental persons call it the "heaving bosom of the mighty ocean." We heartily welcome its appearance, and wish it all possible success. It appears to be ably conducted and full of promise.

"THE PHILADELPHIA KEYSTONE."

The decennial period of this excellent American Masonic paper has been reached. We trust that it will arrive at its centennial, though two or three generations of Masonic writers, will by that time be sleeping in their graves. We know of no paper in the world which does more honour to the Masonic flag which it carries so bravely than our able and interesting contemporary, and we offer to our courteous and kindly confrere, Bro. Clifford P. McCalla, our heartfelt congratulations on the past and present of the "Keystone," and hearty good wishes for the future. It is conducted with rare ability, and deserves the support of all Anglo-Saxon Freemasons.

"THE ROSICRUCIAN AND MASONIC RECORD."—Geo. Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The April number of this quarterly serial is now out, and which has been delayed owing mainly, we understand, to the indisposition of one of its able editors, our esteemed Bro. R. W. Little. We hope that he is now better. The Magazine for April keeps up its character for variety and ability, and while it may be read by all Masons, especially commends itself to the patronage and perusal of those who take an active part in the "high grades," as they are called. All the articles well repay consideration, and the account of poor Bro. Dodd, once Grand Chaplain, though not containing anything novel is interesting. We wish the Rosicrucian all success.

EARNESTNESS IN THE PERFORMANCE OF MASONIC DUTIES.

In our observations last week on "The Social Influence of Freemasonry," we endeavoured to show how the usefulness of lodges might be crippled, and now we venture to suggest that the efforts of individual members would be rendered of more service not only to the Craft in general, their own lodge in particular, but to themselves, if that which constitutes one of the main elements of success in the ordinary affairs of life pervaded their Masonic duties.

He worships best who labours most, and every one who thus proves his allegiance to the G.A.O.T.U. knows unless zeal and earnestness of purpose give tone and character to the work he is called on to perform, success rarely attends his efforts. Whatever we have to do must be done "with all our might." We are enjoined to be "not slothful in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord."

A blessing always attends steady, persevering, zealous industry. Labour, if viewed aright, sweetens existence, alleviates sorrow, refreshes the weary spirit. It is not life's bitter, but its salt. But there must be heart in it.

Labour is the means designed to carry out the great law of progress. If listlessly performed, it may be likened to a mill wheel, ever revolving, ever stationary; if desire to excel characterize it, to the wheel of the charioteer, bearing him to the goal of his ardent desires. Is the regular attendance at lodge all that is needful? Does this illustrate the spirit of Freemasonry, which is to visit the fatherless and the widows in their affliction, and to keep unspotted from the world? Does this require no zeal, no earnestness of purpose, no buckling on of armour, no constant readiness to go where all have their due?

Mr. Gooddeasyman, in Bunyan's matchless allegory, would have been a very unworthy member of a lodge of zealous Freemasons!

Much so-called zeal is expended in working for office. If office is sought as a means to greater, better opportunities for doing good, the ambition so to serve the Master is worthily directed; but they also serve who only stand and wait, and if this was more felt, we should see less of that careless inaction and cool observance of duty which exclusion from office often leads to. All are not granted the gift of directing assemblages, of guiding others, and yet, because imagined ability so to do is not recognised, those to whom the position of leaders is given are compelled to use that energy in carrying out details which should be used in directing others.

On the principles that as "to the victors belong the spoils," so the brethren who are in positions of honour are expected to be soldiers as well as leaders. Positions of honour—the honours of Freemasonry! What are they? the mere insignia of office. The true honours of the Craft remain with those who honour it.

The G.A.O.T.U. demands of every brother that he must do his duty in whatever position he may be placed and whoso thus acts He will honour. We believe there is no higher position in life than that of a Master Mason, and he who as such conscientiously, earnestly and zealously does his duty, commands the respect of all the brethren, and above all the approbation of their and his Master. It may seem amiss in us, in the capacity of journalists, to talk or rather write thus "ex cathedra." Our excuse must be that it is our earnest desire to see our lodges living monuments, not coldly observant of manual, but imbued with a longing, earnest, zealous devotion of the work given them to do. Let each in his place exalt it, and so enable himself, and the result will be that Freemasonry will be exalted and enabled, its opportunities for good increased, and its influence enlarged:—So mote it be.—"New York Square."

MAKING LODGE MEETINGS ATTRACTIVE.

Make your lodge meetings attractive and interesting. There are many who think that the only meetings worthy of their attention, and which will afford anything of interest, are those in which there is what is technically called work to be done; or, in other words, degrees to be conferred. You meet a brother on the street and inquire, "Will you be at the lodge to-night?" "Well," he replies, "I hardly know. Is there any work on hand?" "Yes," you say, "the Third Degree is to be conferred." "Oh, is it? Well, I think I must try and be there." But if you tell him there is nothing on hand but the regular routine of lodge business, you will often hear the reply: "Well, I should like much to be with you, but the fact is that I am so very busy that I do not see how I can spare the time." Now, it is possible to revolutionize this whole matter; and, by pursuing the proper course, make our ordinary communications—those in which degrees are not to be conferred—the most interesting and attractive of all. In order to do this, study to introduce variety into the exercises of the lodge. Cling to your ritual and to your regular routine of business, but do not rest satisfied with these. So arrange as to give plenty of time for other matters. The most beautiful ceremonies, when gone through with night after night, again and again, with nothing introduced or added to give variety, will, in time, become most terribly monotonous, and cease to afford either interest or instruction. Stop ever and anon, and enlarge upon the teachings of our ritual, and thus bring its beauties more prominently to view, and write its truths more indelibly upon the mind and heart. Do not attempt to do much in one evening, and thus unduly prolong your sessions until the brethren are wearied, and the good wife at once loses her patience as she sits up until the small hours of the night awaiting your return, and you, by virtue of your late hours, become unfitted for the labours of the following day. Let the most of your degree-work be done at special communications, and thus avoid the necessity of prolonged sessions, and obtain more time at your regular meetings for other matters. Nothing will more effectually deplete our ranks, kill all the interest in our meetings, and embitter the folks at home, than by pursuing the course against which we warn you. Again, banish all buckram and starch from your midst. While you guard against frivolity, and strive to maintain among the brethren a true Masonic dignity, aim at the same time to draw out and cultivate the spirit of free and easy interchange of opinions, introduce and allow to be introduced any and all topics that can consistently be discussed in a lodge-room. Occasionally bring forward themes, the consideration of which will require Masonic research, and thus put our brethren upon a course of Masonic reading that will eventually cause them to become well instructed in the philosophy, jurisprudence, and history of our Order, and make them intelligent, zealous, devoted Masons, and inspire them with an earnest love for the fraternity and the whole family. How many Masons there are who are hardly aware that Masonry has any literature at all beyond a few straggling periodicals; whereas it counts volumes by the thousand, and sends forth to the world its periodicals in which talent and ability are evinced inferior to none.

Masons need these books and periodicals, and no better work can be done for the fraternity than to send them out broadcast. Every organization is liable to abuse by its enemies just in proportion to the ignorance of its members. We need more reading Masons. In these days, when in many places we are bitterly and persistently assailed, it stands us in hand to be well informed with reference to everything pertaining to the Order. We are blessed with vast numbers who are intelligent, reading, thinking men, and yet, while conversant with almost every other subject, they are not intelligent in Masonry. When a brother has taken all the degrees, when he has become so thoroughly acquainted with the ritual that every word is at his tongue's end, so far is he from being a well-instructed Mason that he has but simply learned the Masonic alphabet; he is only placed upon good vantage ground for entering upon a course of Masonic research that will amply reward for all the labour he may bestow. Let us keep these facts constantly before the brethren, and thus spur them up to greater diligence in their efforts for more and further Masonic light.—Grand Master Griswold of Minnesota.

PROROGATION.—Tuesday's "Gazette" contained the following:—"It is this day ordered by Her Majesty in Council that the Parliament be prorogued on Tuesday, August 15th instant, to Tuesday, October 31st 1876; and that the Right Hon. the Lord High Chancellor of that part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain do cause a commission to be prepared and issued in the usual manner for proroguing the Parliament accordingly." A similar notification prorogues the Conventions of Canterbury and York till Wednesday, November 1.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

LET US BE SOCIABLE.

During the now more than thirty years we have been the servant of the Craft, instant in season and out of season, to promote its best interest—for which we may remark in passing we have received more kicks than coppers—during all these years we repeat we have endeavoured to impress upon the Craftsmen that, while we are not to lose sight of the value of a proper, and as far as possible, uniform rendering of the ritual, a correct knowledge and application of our system of law and an energetic maintenance of our Masonic rights of jurisdiction, we ought not to forget that the amenities of the institution have a strong and a not too well acknowledged and cultivated claim upon our attention. It is not all of Masonry to occasionally attend a lodge meeting or to turn out strong at the annual election, or to be thoroughly posted in the work, so as to be able to repeat the same phrases from one year's end to another with a sameness as absolute as the ticking of a clock or that of a well regulated sewing machine. The precepts and intention of the institution ought also to claim a part of our time and devotion, and we should know, not as a mere empty phrase, signifying nothing, but as living realities the demands of our covenants and the practical realisation of brotherly love, relief and truth. In fact we must do so if we want the fraternity to maintain its present status, and hold fast the membership it has already acquired. "Man shall not live by bread alone," nor can reasonable health be maintained without an occasional change of diet. So in our lodges the mere repetition of a given formula will in the end pall upon the stoutest appetite, and the result is apathy first, and then total neglect.

This idea is well set forth in the following by Bro. Cummings, of Iowa:

"But while almost every volume of the proceedings before us brings us intelligence that harmony prevails and the Craft is prospering, they contain not a few complaints of the lack of interest, small attendance, and lukewarmness existing in many lodges. Several of the Grand Masters have expressed their opinions as to the cause. The Grand Master of Texas attributes it in part to a want of care in selection of officers. Doubtless there is much in this. The Grand Master of Colorado believes another reason is that there is too much labour and too little refreshment. We are losing sight of the fact that Masonry is a social institution." The Grand Master of Maryland puts it thus: Another source of lukewarmness is to be found in the almost universal neglect into which have fallen the festivals of the Order."

"It is evident that our meetings could be made more attractive if this dull routine—opening, reading the minutes, referring petitions, balloting, a matter of business, closing—were varied. It is hardly worth while to ride ten or a dozen miles for only this. The writer has found it to work well to confer a degree upon a candidate, whenever possible, at the regular communication. The effect has been to largely increase the attendance, especially of the country members.

"It is too true; we are losing sight of the social feature, and are drifting into a cold, formal business way. The ancient custom, amounting almost to the dignity of a landmark, was to serve refreshments after the close of the lodge. Let us return to the custom, even if we can afford no more than biscuits and cheese and a cup of cold water, seasoned well with wit and joke and brotherly greeting. We give credit to the Grand Master of Michigan for the cheese, biscuit, and water suggestions, and we endorse his recommendation that lodges should have at least quarterly social gatherings. We will go even further—we will second most emphatically the 'motion' of the Grand Master of Minnesota: 'Ever and anon call from labour to refreshment and open our doors and invite your wives, sisters, and daughters to participate with you in the enjoyment of the hour.'

"Give Masonry its olden social character; bring the brethren together more frequently to enjoy each other's society; bury the rivalries of business; forget the scramble for money, for success, and the pleasant smiles of our loved ones, and the charm of female companionship, and Masonry will be the better for it, and we will be better Masons. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

The tendency is altogether too much to business and dignity to the neglect of sociability. Let any one who doubts this observe the proceedings of the first lodge at the communication of which he may be present. The usual formalities are observed with a care amounting to absolute polish; order and decorum prevail to an extent that cannot be surpassed, all of which is most admirable and praiseworthy in itself, but when the business of the evening is completed, and there does not happen to be a candidate in waiting, there seems to be no other resource but to close and disperse. We note two causes for this state of affairs, one leading to the other, which are, that for many years past the tidal wave of prosperity on which the institution has been upborne has given the mere ritual an undue, but, under the circumstances, perhaps, unavoidable prominence. The whole energies of lodges and members individually have been directed to the attainment of correct method in conferring the several degrees, and these degrees with the necessary routine business, have consumed the time to such an extent as to shut out all other thoughts. The second cause above alluded to naturally arises from and follows this state of affairs, and is the rapid increase of membership, one of the most apparent and easily verified results of which is the fact that in almost every lodge one part of the membership is more or less acquainted with the other. It may be known that Jones belongs to our lodge, but that is all; whether he lives in a garret or cellar, whether the world moves as pleasantly in his case as it might if his fellow-members knew more about him and took more interest in his welfare, is another matter, and the larger the lodge the more evident the fact here named. Now, we think that this ought to be corrected, and that if a man is deemed worthy to be admitted to membership in our lodge, he ought to be ipso facto worthy of our acquaintance and fellowship, and therefore it ought to be a part of our duty, when a candidate is received, to make a part of his Masonic education to consist of a hearty and fraternal welcome, not only to the formal privileges of membership, but of the friendship and interest of his immediate brethren. In theory, admission to membership is really taking a person into our Masonic family; but in practice it does not work altogether that way; but we again submit that it ought to, and we suggest that the cultivation of the amenities ought to be as much a part of our work as a correct knowledge of the ceremonial; a little less business, not quite so ardent devotion to crossing t's and dotting i's in the ritual—in short, a little more cordiality and more of the sociable feature of Freemasonry, will be to the advantage of the brethren and the true interests of the Craft. —"New York Dispatch."

ON THE WORD "ORDER."
(From the "Masonic Journal.")

With all due deference to the opinion of Dr. Mackey we shall maintain that Masonry is not an Order, and for the simple reason that Masonry knows no distinction between men, whether they be high or low, rich or poor, the only requirements being good repute before the world and a belief in an eternal, everlasting God. Can an Order be named where rank is not considered. And finally we add that the title of our institution is, The Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons,—"New York Square."

We dislike, indeed, to differ with our esteemed brethren of the "New York Square" on any subject connected with Masonry, or to stickle pertinaciously on what might seem to be a small subject, the mere use and meaning of a word. It sometimes, however, becomes necessary that we establish the meaning and propriety of the terms we use, and we virtually assumed the position that Freemasonry may be properly styled an Order, and quoted Dr. Mackey in support of that position, which authority was not deemed sufficient, we now propose to give other authorities and reasons. We believe it is an established principle that words possess no natural aptness to denote the particular things to which they are applied rather than others, but acquire this aptness by conventional usage, that custom fixes the meaning of words, and that they are to be generally used in the sense given to them by standard authors who are acknowledged to be familiar with the subject in which the words in controversy are used. Webster defines an Order to be "a group or division of men occupying the same social platform."

Dr. Robert Macoy, 33°, in his work of learned research entitled "General History and Dictionary of Freemasonry," and published by the Masonic Publishing Company of New York, says, on page 178: "An Order is a body whose character is known, its practices observable, its rules fixed, its purposes declared, and its utility proved." Having all these characteristics, "Freemasonry is therefore an Order." On page 548 he uses the words "the constitution of the Order," on page 590, "the moral philosophy of the Order," also, "let a man's religion or mode of worship be what it may he is not excluded from the Order," on page 592, "he who wishes to enter the Order of Freemasonry." In the General Ahiman Rezon and Mason's Guide, by Bro. Daniel Sickles, 33°, edition of 1869, and published by the Masonic Publishing Company, we find on page 23, in the form of a petition for an E.A., he is required to promise a cheerful conformity to the customs of the Order. On page 24 the words, the "sacred tenets of our Order," and in the charge to the lodge the "excellent principles of our Order," on page 54 the words, "induction of the Neophyte into the Order of Freemasonry." In the charge to the F.C. on page 158 are the words, "you will conform to the principles of the Order." In the charge to the Master of lodges at his installation the word Order is used twice as application to the body over which he is expected to preside. Preston says no Mason can be interred with the formalities of the Order unless at his own request. As appropriate uses of the term we have the words, Order of High Priesthood, Order of Eastern Star.

The Rev. Dr. George Oliver, one of the most learned and voluminous of Masonic writers, says, "The doctrines which distinguish the Order are obvious," and he uses the words, "The Landmarks of the Order," "The Constitution of the Order," advancement of the Order," "esteem for the Order," "principles of the Order," and "every attempt at exposure has added fresh laurels to the Order," and throughout his entire work he very frequently uses the word Order to designate Freemasonry, and as a title properly belonging to it. We might continue to multiply quotations from almost every Masonic work of prominence, but deem it unnecessary, as in view of all the facts, the usage of the word by learned Masonic writers and speakers, the definition and application of the term by Lexicographers to Masonry fully justify the use of the word by less educated members of the Craft. There is no more distinction made in the so-called Orders, between high and low, rich and poor, than there is in the society of Freemasonry. There is as much rank in the one as in the other, for the rank in neither is only official and prevails equally in both. We will admit that there is a marked distinction in the faith and requirements of the various branches of Masonry, but that difference is not sufficient to constitute one an Order and the other a mere fraternity. As we pass through the different degrees and branches our obligations become greater, more solemn and comprehensive, the objects of our care and attention multiplied, the sphere of our knowledge and usefulness much enlarged. We do not write this reply in a spirit of hyper-criticism, which frequently prevails too much among brethren of the mystic tie, but with that spirit which would say, "come let us reason together," let us see who is right. If the word Order does not belong to Masonry proper let it be dropped, let it be expunged from our vocabulary, let our speakers cease to use in their anniversary addresses, let the right word be substituted in our lectures and charges, and let us assist in establishing a more appropriate nomenclature and purging our dialect of inappropriate words and phrases.

Our object in assuming the editorial chair was not to engage in controversy with our brethren, but for the purpose of defending the character and principles of our institution, imparting knowledge to those who may be less informed, dispensing light to those who may be groping their way in moral darkness, and eliciting instruction from those who are wiser and who are the great exponents of our Order.

[We see no objection to the word "Order" as applied to Freemasonry.—Ed.]

Obituary.

BRO. C. E. FRANCATELLI.

We regret to record the death of Bro. Charles E. Francatelli, which sad event took place on Thursday, the 10th inst., in the 71st year of his age. He was for many years manager of Freemasons' Tavern. By the death of that accomplished chef and amiable man, the culinary art has lost one of its most elegant professors, and also an authority in dietetics who, like his compeer, the late Alexis Soyer, generously utilised his great talents and experience not only in preparing banquets for the wealthy, but in giving plain and practical instruction in wholesome and nourishing cookery for the very poor.

THE FIREMAN LEE.—The heroic act of the fireman, George Lee, of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, in sacrificing his life at the post of duty, was honoured on Thursday, the 10th inst., by a public funeral, and the immense populations of the north-east and east of London lined the long route from the Holborn district to Stamford Hill. The official account of the termination of Lee's life was given in the "Times" of that date, and his comrades of the Fire Brigade and the police of the division in which his death occurred—men, it may be observed, among whom such acts of devotion and bravery are of daily occurrence—united in paying this mark of respect to the memory of a man whose pure and unselfish heroism was the means of a terrible death. The procession started from the Whitecross-street fire station at mid-day, headed by the band of the G Division of police, playing the "Dead March" in "Saul." The warrant officer of St. Sepulchre's Holborn, bore the silver staff of the district, covered in crape, and the coffin was borne on a fire engine, with the Union Jack as a pall, on which the fireman's helmet, the burnt remains of the poor fellow's clothes, and a wreath of pretty flowers were conspicuous. One mourning coach, the dismal representative of conventional mourning, followed the coffin, and four members of the Metropolitan Board of Works represented the Governing Body of the Fire Brigade. Captain Shaw and the small army which has to be for ever battling against conflagrations in this huge metropolis marched four deep, and the brass helmets of the men, glittering in the sun, made a remarkable display. The men of the Salvage Corps and the fire engines and salvage carts attended and lengthened the long line; and, besides the engines and men of the paid service, were engines of volunteer brigades from districts where more protection from fire than the Metropolitan Board has afforded is given by the volunteer efforts of the residents. In addition there was yet a separate and distinct body, of whose existence the London public generally has but little knowledge—namely, the Auxiliary Brigade, composed of gentlemen who give to the Metropolitan Fire Brigade the same service which the Volunteers give to the country. The members of this auxiliary service were few on Thursday, but the need for their aid in every district is apparent when it is seen how small is the paid body which is afforded for the protection of life and property from fire in this extended city. A large division of police in fours brought up the rear. The procession marched down Barbican, through Long-lane, across Smithfield, up St. John-street, where the sad calamity occurred, then through the newly-improved Wild-man-row, down Old-street, and, by way of the Kingsland-road, to the Abney Park Cemetery, at the foot of Stamford Hill. The whole of the long way was gone over at the slow march, and nearly three hours were occupied, the band of the G Division playing very impressively sacred marches nearly the whole way. At the cemetery the band lined each side of the path, and the men of the brigade passed through, and then the other part of the procession. The crowd was so vast that the gates had to be closed before the whole of the procession had entered. The poor fellow was laid at no very great distance from the spot where poor Mr. Braidwood was buried; and to the memorial raised to that chief's memory many paid a visit, after adding to the earth the body of George Lee. The whole proceedings were satisfactory, and great praise is due to the police and people for the order observed on the route.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Dangerous diseases would not present themselves very often if timely attention were bestowed on the first feelings which betray a departure from health. How many life-long maladies spring from neglecting trifling symptoms? The pimple readily curable in the nursery becomes, through carelessness, the irremediable torment of after life. With a knowledge of the curative powers of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and the facility and safety of their application, those who fail to use them for extirpating the first seeds of hereditary ailments will have to bear the punishment resulting from their folly. Holloway's remedy will remove eruptions of the skin, scrofulous disease, and acrecia, and heal every description of ulcer, sore, wound, or abrasion.—ADVT.

Masonic and General Tidings.

We understand that Bro. G. M. Tweddell is preparing for publication tales, poems, and Masonic papers, by Bro. Emma Holmes, with a memoir of the author. As Bro. Holmes kindly proposes to present any pecuniary profit that may be derived from the publication of the volume to a brother Mason who has been unexpectedly plunged in poverty in the declining years of his life, and as the price is only 2s. 6d., we can safely recommend it to the notice of our readers. The work will be put to press as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained, for which purpose names will be thankfully received by Tweddell & Sons, publishers, Stokesley, Yorkshire.

The first performance of "Rheingold" has just passed off with brilliant success, in presence of the German Emperor, the Emperor of Brazil, and other illustrious personages. The theatre was crowded, and the performance more than realized the expectations that had been formed. At the end of the opera the applause was uproarious, and the calls for Wagner were unanimous and prolonged. The composer however, did not come forward to respond to the enthusiasm of his admirers.

An important discovery has just been made at Pompeii. It consists of a number of objects of gold and silver, and close to them the carbonized skeletons of two men, who would seem to have been borne down in the storm of ashes while endeavouring to escape with their valuables or plunder. Among the things found are eight rings, six pieces of money, two pairs of earrings, one single earring, two large armlets, each ornamented with thirteen pairs of half globes, with little shells upon them, held together by chainwork, all of gold; a silver ring, 332 pieces of silver money, a casserole of the same material, broken in pieces, and three large bronze coins.

According to the "Political Correspondence" of Vienna, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will be present at the military manoeuvres to be held at Zisterdorf (Lower Austria) towards the end of the present month.

A reward of £250 has been offered by the Government for information leading to the conviction of the murderer or murderers of Mr. Bravo; and an offer of pardon is held out to any accomplice, not being the person who actually committed the murder, who shall give evidence leading to the same result.

NEW WORK OF TRAVEL AND DISCOVERY.—Dr. Robert Brown, the popular author of "The Races of Mankind," &c., has for some time past been engaged upon a new and comprehensive work, which will be published by Messrs. Cassell, Petter, & Galpin, in sevenpenny monthly parts, under the title of "The Countries of the World," and will embrace graphic sketches of travel over land and sea, according to the latest discoveries.

The Provincial Grand Master of Devon has decided to hold his next lodge at South Molton on Thursday, the 31st day of this month. It is now forty years since a Provincial Grand Lodge was held in this town. South Molton can boast of one of the prettiest and best furnished lodges in Devon.

Mr. F. Cavill attempted on Tuesday the feat of swimming across the Channel, but when within a few miles of the French coast he was obliged to relinquish his task. He took the water at forty-two minutes past one a.m., and left it after swimming for nearly 12 hours. He was much exhausted.

Bro. the Right Hon. George Ward Hunt, the First Lord of the Admiralty, has left for his seat near Oundle, Northampton.

We understand that with Friday's (the 11th inst.) issue the publication of the "Hour" newspaper was discontinued. The "Hour" was established in March, 1873, and has been from that time conducted with much energy and ability by Captain Hamber, formerly editor of the "Standard."

The postage on letters addressed to New-oundland has been reduced to 2½d. per half ounce, if prepaid.

We learn the talented artiste, Bro. Edgar Anderson, is meeting with very fair success at the assembly rooms, Great Yarmouth, and St. Andrew's Hall, Gorleston. Assisted by his drawing-room staff, the most prominent of whom is G. S. Graham, the celebrated organophonist, the amusements offered being most interesting. Bro. Anderson is a capital Shakesperian reciter.

THE LIVINGSTONE STATUE.—Yesterday the statue of the late Dr. Livingstone, erected in East Prince's-street Gardens, Edinburgh, was unveiled in presence of the members of the Corporation, and a large assemblage of the general public. Among those present were Mrs. Alexander L. Bruce and Miss Anne Mary Livingstone, the Rev. Dr. Moffatt, father-in-law, and Miss Moffatt, Mrs. Charles Livingstone, sister-in-law of Dr. Livingstone, and her son, Mr. Charles Livingstone, and two daughters, the Misses Livingstone, sisters of Dr. Livingstone, two grandsons of Dr. Moffatt, and Mr. A. L. Bruce, son-in-law of Dr. Livingstone. The Lord Provost presided on the occasion. Addresses were delivered by Josiah Livingstone, Dr. Moffatt, and Mr. Duncan McLaren, M.P. (who formally handed over the statue to the city). The Lord Provost then unveiled the statue amid loud cheers, and intimated the acceptance of it by the corporation. Mrs. Bruce and Miss Livingstone, daughters of Dr. Livingstone, placed two floral wreaths on the pedestal which was also festooned with evergreens by a number of young ladies. The figure of Livingstone, which was designed by Mrs. D. O. Hill, of Edinburgh, is in bronze. He is represented in travelling costume, his right hand holding out a Bible and his left resting on the handle of an axe.

CITY CHURCHES.—Another City church is about to be pulled down—that of All Hallows, Bread-street. It was built by Wren in 1680, on the site of one destroyed during the Great Fire, at a cost of £3348, and has a tower 86 ft. high. Of this church Strype says, "On the south side of the chancel, in a little part of this church, called the Salters' Chapel, is a very fair window, with the portraiture or figure of him that gave it, very curiously wrought upon it. This church, ruined in the Great Fire, is built up again without any pillars, but very decent, and is a lightsome church. . . . In the 22nd year of Henry VIII., the 17th of August, two priests of this church fell at variance, that the one drew blood of the other, wherefore the same church was suspended, and no service sung or said therein for the space of one month after; the priests were committed to prison, and the 15th of October, being enjoined penance, they went at the head of a general procession, barefooted and barelegged, before the children, with beads and books in their hands, from Paul's, through Cheap, Cornhill, &c." Among the epitaphs the following, given by Stow, is quaint:—"To the sacred memory of that worthy and faithful minister of Christ, Master Richard Stocke, who, after 32 yeeres spent in the ministry, wherein by his learned labours, joined with wisdom, and a most holy life, God's glory was much advanced, his Church edified, piety increased, and the true honour of the pastor's life maintained, deceased April 20, 1626. Some of his loving parishioners have consecrated this monument of their never-dying love, January 28, 1628." Milton, whose father was a scrivener in Bread-street, where the poet was born on the 9th of December, 1608, was baptized in the church of All Hallows. The materials and site of the church are to be sold, and part of the proceeds is to be devoted to building a new church on a site within the limits of the metropolis, to be approved by the Bishop of London. The new church is to be called All Hallows, and to be endowed with £120 a year for the incumbent. The remains of the dead under the church are to be removed to the City of London Cemetery at Little Ilford. A suitable monument is to be erected over them by the Commissioners of Sewers, who have the option of taking a portion of the site for the purpose of widening Watling-street.

The Admiralty have issued notices inviting tenders for the purchase of the ironclad ship Vanguard, which was sunk in the Irish Channel. The whole of the property found in the vessel is to belong to the purchaser with the exception of the anchors and cables. The Admiralty will purchase any of the guns recovered.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, August 25, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19.

Lodge 1326, Lebanon, Lion Hot., Lion-sq., Hampton.
" 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatshaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23.

Lodge 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters Tav., Tottenham.
" 778, Bard of Avon, Greyhound, Hampton Court.
" 1540, Chaucer, Bridge House Hot., London Bridge.
Chap. 13, Union of Waterloo, F.M.H., Woolwich.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24.

House Com. Girls' School, at 4.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albany-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25.

Chap. 134, Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday August 26, 1876.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21.

Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Chester.
" 1502, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 1051, Rowley, M.R., Lancaster.
Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22.

Lodge 1393, Hamer, 22, Everton-rd., Liverpool.
" 1609, Dramatic, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23.

Lodge 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
" 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, M.H., Liverpool.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24.

Lodge 594, Downshire, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 216, Sacred Delta, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School, Liverpool.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25.

Chap. 680, Sefton, M.H., Liverpool.
SATURDAY, AUGUST 26.
Chap. 178, Harmony, Royal Hot., Wigan.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, August 26, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21.

Lodge 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., Glasgow.
Encampment St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22.

Lodge 556, Clydesdale, 106, Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.
" 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingstone.
Chap. 67, Cathedral, 21, Stuthers-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23.

Lodge 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Harlford.
" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24.

Lodge 187, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Carluke.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25.

Lodge 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.
" 153, Royal Arch, Cogan-st., Pollokshaws.
" 195, St. John R.A., Lennox Arms, Lennox Town.
" 199, St. Andrew, M.H., Cumbernauld.
" 244, Union, Black Bull Inn, Stonehouse.
" 347, St. John Operative, M.H., Rutherglen.
Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 26.

Lodge 28, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Kirkintilloch.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, August 26, 1876.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21.

Lodge 44, St. Luke, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22.

Lodge 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra H., Cockburn-st.
Chap. 40, Naval and Military, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23.

Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24.

Lodge 392, Caledonian, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25.

Lodge 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	383
Royal Arch	384
Red Cross of Constantine	384
Lodge of Benevolence	384
The Queen at Edinburgh	385
Freemasonry in the United States	386
Holy Ground	386
Light	387
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	387
Proposed Visit of the Prince of Wales to Glasgow	387
Masonic and General Tidings	387
Depopulation of France	387
Waste and Want	387
Excursion Trains and Popular Holidays	388
Visit of the Queen to Edinburgh	388
The War in Servia, and the Cruelties in Bulgaria	389
The Installation Engraving	389
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Masonic Jurisprudence	389
A Greater Blunder	389
Masonic Profession and Practice	389
Masonic Notes and Queries	389
A Little Friendly Chat on some of the Topics of the Day	391
Reviews	391
British Archaeological Association	391
The Brussels Exhibition	391
The Empress of India	391
An Appeal from Bavaria	392
Masonic Meetings for next Week	392
Advertisements	392

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

HIGH CROSS LODGE (No. 754).—The annual meeting of this lodge for the installation of its Worshipful Master was held on Wednesday evening at the Seven Sisters Tavern, Page Green, Tottenham, a pleasant retired hostelry, with all the surroundings of a beautiful country. Bro. George Townsend, W.M., presided, and, assisted by his officers, who all attended, raised Bro. Foan to the Third Degree. When this ceremony was completed he installed Bro. Barham as W.M. of the lodge for the ensuing year, and the following brethren were honoured by appointment to office:—Bros. W. Dance, S.W.; H. Stephens, J.W.; David Roberts, P.M.; Treas.; T. Cunningham, P.M., Sec.; George Burford, S.D.; Johnson Farren, J.D.; W. T. Turner, I.G.; Peckham, Organist; Clements, D.C.; and W. Steedman, P.M., W.S.; Bro. Tegg, Asst. W.S.; and Bro. James Very, Tyler. The charges were delivered by Bro. George Townsend, I.P.M., and then the new W.M. commenced his year's work by initiating in excellent style Mr. James Garrod, Station Master, Bruce Grove, Tottenham. Lodge was then closed, and the banquet, of a very liberal and elegant description, was provided by Bro. Oddy, the proprietor of the hotel, in the magnificent room which he has built adjoining the house. During the sitting of the lodge Bro. Thompson, P.M., and Prov. G. S.B. Middlesex, was actively engaged in obtaining members of the Social Masonic Charitable Association, which is composed of brethren of Nos. 754 and 1237, and which has up to the present time paid no less a sum than £300 to the different Masonic institutions. Bro. Maller, P.M., was also active in making a collection on behalf of the sufferers by the late hailstorm in the neighbourhood of Tottenham, and succeeded in securing £5 11s. 6d. for that object. The banquet was vigorously attacked, and about 80 brethren sat down to it. Among them were the W.M., and Bros. G. Townsend, W. Steedman, P.M.; Thos. Jones, P.M.; J. Walker, P.M.; J. Linzell, Cunningham, Maller, Roberts. Visitors: Bros. F. A. Pullen, 1567; John Hooke, 463; F. Jacob, 1567; J. Roddar, 1288; John Green, W.M. 27; S. Watkins, 212; W. Gilbert, P.G.J.W. Herts; C. L. Brooks, 1237; Josh. Driscoll, P.M. 30; G. Collier, 1237; G. H. Jaffa, 1579; James W. Berrie, 1293 and 1185; F. W. Greenwood, W. Sweetland, 1460; A. J. Barbier, 22; W. T. Barham, 319; W. T. Howe, P.G.P. Middlesex; E. Hart Smith, P.M. 165; George Tegg, 1519; H. Massey, ("Freemason"); and J. Bennett, 27. When the banquet was concluded, the W.M. proceeded with the list of toasts, and very briefly introduced those of "The Queen," "The G.M.," and "The Grand Officers" to the brethren's notice. Bro. Townsend, in proposing "The Health of the W.M.," said he had the privilege for the first time of introducing this toast, and he had no doubt they would be very pleased to receive it. He could assure the brethren it afforded him a great deal of pleasure in getting out of the position he had held for twelve months to find such a brother as the W.M. taking the position he (Bro. Townsend) once occupied. The brethren of the lodge who had seen the working of the W.M. that evening must feel convinced that he was the right man in the right place. Since the W.M. had belonged to the High Cross Lodge he had never but once omitted attendance to his duties when called upon, and he had been of a great deal of assistance to him (Bro. Townsend) while he was W.M. If he continued in the same course there was no brother of the High Cross Lodge who would regret having voted for him as W.M. The W.M., in reply, said it was with a certain amount of diffidence he rose to return thanks for the kind way in which the toast had been proposed and accepted. He could assure the brethren that he felt the honour they had done him very much indeed. It had been his ambition ever since he joined the lodge to occupy that position, and he had endeavoured to merit it whether he had been in office or out of office. He thought he could safely say he had never missed attending the lodge but once, and on that occasion it was through illness. He should endeavour while in the position of W.M. to perform the duties of that position properly, and he would take care that the warrant placed in his hands that evening should lose none of its lustre. In anything he could do for the High Cross Lodge, he was the brethren's humble servant. The W.M. then proposed "The I.P.M."

It was a very pleasing duty, all the brethren would admit, that Bro. Townsend had been one of the best W.M.'s of the High Cross Lodge, he had always attended to his duties punctually, and had performed them well. When a man did this what more could be expected of him. He would now present him with a P.M.'s jewel, and he sincerely hoped that Bro. Townsend might live many years to wear it. He (the W.M.) was sure he would need Bro. Townsend's assistance during his year of office; but he was certain that in whatsoever he should require it, it would be most cheerfully given. In presenting the jewel to Bro. Townsend he was sure it must be very gratifying to him to know it had been unanimously voted by the members of the lodge. (Hear, hear). Bro. Townsend, in returning thanks, said he was happy to feel that the brethren thought he had deserved this jewel. It gave him a great deal of pleasure to receive such a compliment; but he could sincerely and conscientiously tell the brethren it was one of the highest pleasures that he had ever experienced in his life. This was a very large lodge, and if he had conducted to the comfort and pleasure of a large number, it must be gratifying to have that feeling at the end of one's year of office. It was a great pleasure to know, when going out of office, that you had the kind feelings of all the brethren. He had done what he could for the High Cross Lodge as regarded the working of it, and he was delighted to know that he had been assisted by the P.M. and officers of the lodge. He should ever feel grateful for the compliment the brethren had paid him by presenting him with the P.M.'s jewel he had just received. (Cheers.) The W.M. then proposed "The Initiate." Without new blood the Craft would soon stop. If they had not new blood they would die out and collapse. The brother they had that night initiated seemed a very likely member to work to the honourable position he (the W.M.) then held, and he would give it to him in terms of strong recommendation to attend the lodge regularly, and to put himself in a position to work zealously and he would soon get on. (Hear hear.) Bro. Garrod responded. For many years it had been his wish to join the Craft, and he thanked the officers of the lodge for the kindness which they exhibited in his initiation. He was fully impressed with the seriousness of the affair, and he hoped not to abuse any secrets that had been told him that night. He had always had a vague idea that there was some amount of impressiveness in the ceremony, which idea had been correct; and he had also always had an idea of vagueness that Freemasons were a jolly sort of people. That vagueness was, however, now dispelled. Comparatively speaking he was among strangers, although he might say he did not feel at all so. This was his first appearance, but he hoped it would not be his last, and he hoped to continue his visits till he became "up" in the world of Freemasonry, and able to do the work of the lodge as well as the W.M. himself. (Hear hear.) The W.M. afterwards proposed "The P.M.'s," who were a goodly array of brethren, who always came to the lodge when wanted to help the Master in the chair, and who came to see if they were wanted. The goodly array of P.M.'s showed the prosperity of the lodge, and it also showed that they were ready to assist the W.M. Without the P.M.'s he was afraid the W.M. would not be able to go on with his work. (Hear hear.) Bro. George Townsend, the P.M., was first to respond, and in doing so he said that although he was always ready to assist the W.M. he thought that as there were so many P.M.'s in the lodge he should find very little to do. Bro. Jones having also replied, Bro. T. Cunningham, Secretary, added a few words which proved the prosperity of the lodge. As Secretary he had to send out about ninety summonses, to receive the fees, and to answer an enormous number of letters. But although this entailed a great deal of work he was pleased to perform it, as the success of the High Cross Lodge was very dear to him. Bro. Steedman in his reply announced that it was eighteen years that day when he was initiated in the High Cross Lodge, and every year since then he had been present at the installation of the W.M. Bro. Roberts said he was very proud to be among the list of P.M.'s, and it gave him great pleasure year after year, as he and his brethren became older, to meet them in such friendly intercourse. This annual meeting was always a red letter day in his calendar, and if he did not always come on other occasions, he did on this. When he stopped away it was through business, and Freemasonry told them that they were to attend to business first and Freemasonry afterwards. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Linzell followed. Taking a retrospective glance of the various duties which the other brethren and himself as P.M.'s had fulfilled in their offices, he thought they might look with pride on the progress the lodge had made in past years. Greater credit for this was due to the other P.M.'s than himself for their energy in laying the foundation of this lodge, which at the present time occupied such a high standing amongst metropolitan lodges. A visitor at the lodge on one occasion of an installation banquet thought it decent to cry out while this toast was being responded to, "Why do you spend so much money on your banquets? Why don't you consider your Charities?" The brethren of the lodge did not think this very decorous, for they at least knew they had treated this brother liberally (perhaps that was the cause of his so speaking), but they had just before that time founded a Masonic Charitable Association, which a greater portion if not all of the members of the lodge, had joined. Since then—the lodge having at that time two or three life governors, of the charities in it—had got thirty to forty life governors, all having fully paid up; and there were now many others coming on. That seemed to him as if they were doing something for the cause of charity, and something for the High Cross Lodge to obtain a reputation by. During the last two or three years the lodge had sent up many stewards, and each of them had taken with him something like £100. That was not a bad list although the lodge was a metropolitan lodge. They were pleased to obtain for it some amount of éclat, and they did not wish to spend all the money on themselves. If they did they knew they must soon die out, and they would never gain a reputation for being hospitable if they did not think of helping those who could not help themselves. (Hear hear.) Bro. Maller also replied and thanked the brethren for having contributed towards the relief of those persons who had suffered by the late hailstorm in the neighbourhood. Bro. Roberts, Treasurer, said the lodge would send a Steward their next year to the charities, and twenty guineas would be placed on his list to start with. The brother selected would most likely be the W.M. "The Visitors" was the next toast, for which Bro. W. T. Howe and Bro. Gilbert replied. The toast of "The Officers" followed, and having been replied to by each of those brethren seriatim, Bro. Cunningham proposed "The Press," for which Bro. Fowler and Bro. H. Massey ("Freemason"), responded, and the Tyler's toast concluded a most pleasant evening, which was rendered the more agreeable by some excellent singing by various brethren, and some good instrumental and vocal music by Bro. Peckham, Organist.

ROYAL OAK LODGE (No. 871).—An emergency meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Thursday, 17th inst., at the White Swan Hotel, 217, High-street, Deptford, Bro. H. J. Tuson, W.M., presided. The ballots, taken separately, were declared to be unanimous in favour of Messrs. A. P. Blake, L. Michaels, W. White, and W. Abbott. The following candidates being in attendance were each introduced separately, and duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry, namely, Messrs. Walter Abbot, William White, and Lipman Michaels, Bro. G. Andrews, P.M., D.C., giving the charge to the newly-initiated brethren. The work was done well. In consequence of the large number of candidates for initiation and for the other ceremonies it was decided to hold another emergency meeting on Thursday, September 28th, at seven p.m. Business ended, the lodge was closed and adjourned. There were present besides those named Bros. J. J. Pakes, S.W.; J. Baxter Langley, (W.M. 1423), J.W.; F. Walters, P.G. J.D. Middx., P.M., Sec.; H. J. Fisher, Organist; J. G. Vohmann, I.G.; C. Williams, R. Cox, A. Macers, G. Eve, L. Lemon, F. H. Burr, J. Rennie, R. J. Stringer, W. Simmons, R. Mason, J. Woollett, and others whose names we were unable to learn. Amongst the large number of visitors we noticed Bros. J. R. Croft, 1326; E. W. Fisher, 700; E. A. H. Morley, 1178; and some others. There being no banquet or any refreshment the members and friends separated directly the lodge was closed.

HERVEY LODGE (No. 1260).—Favoured by one of the finest days of the year, the members of this popular lodge, with their friends (consisting of both ladies and gentlemen), assembled at Bro. Benningfield's, the Crown Hotel, Broxbourne, on Wednesday, the 16th inst., to celebrate their annual summer excursion and banquet, and through the unwearied exertions of the officers and brethren who constituted the committee, one of the most thoroughly enjoyable day and evening's entertainments ever provided was satisfactorily brought to a conclusion. Most of the company arrived at the beautiful grounds attached to the above well-known hostelry by train from Liverpool-street about midday, and after partaking of a light luncheon, some of the party dispersed to the different places of amusement, such as the river for fishing and rowing, the meadows for archery, Aunt Sally, &c., whilst others enjoyed themselves at the fascinating games of croquet, billiards, &c., until 3.30, when the bell rang for dinner, at which (as the principal event of the day) it is of course needless to say hearty justice was done. After the cloth was cleared and the dessert (supplied from Bro. Benningfield's own grounds) placed on the table, the W.M. Bro. G. Harrison, proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, but prefaced his remarks by observing that in deference to the ladies he should make them as short as was consistent with the occasion, as he felt sure that it was not the length of a toast that ensured its approval, but the manner in which it was given and received. Suffice it to say that they were one and all heartily received, Bro. Dr. Egan, W.M. 858, and Bro. D. Davis, a distinguished Irish Mason, responding for the visitors. Before rising, the I.P.M., Bro. Dr. Jabez Hogg, begged permission to give a special toast to the renewed health of the worthy Secretary, Bro. G. King, jun., who has for some months been suffering from a fearful and dangerous illness, and in the course of his remarks observed that although he felt convinced that his toast would meet with the entire approbation of the company, yet, in consideration of the weak state in which Bro. King (although able to be present at the table) still is, he would not ask him to respond. The company then again dispersed over the grounds while the room was cleared for dancing, and after about two hours of this exhilarating exercise they caught the train for London, a special saloon carriage having been provided for them by the company, and this wound up a thoroughly enjoyable day.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1524).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, on 27th ult. The lodge was opened by Bro. Lee, P.M., in the temporary absence of the W.M., who was travelling a long distance to attend the lodge. The minutes of the preceding meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Lee, P.M., proceeded to raise Bro. Ferrar and Bro. Broomfield, 188, to the degree of Master Mason. The W.M., Bro. Chapman, Prov. G. Steward Herts, having arrived, assumed the chair, and passed Bro. Dietrich to the degree of Fellow Craft. The officers present were Bros. Lister, S.W.; Shackleton, J.W.; Meyer, Treas.; Lee, P.M., Sec.; Brand, I.G.; Brasted, Harding, Smith, Philp, and others. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to a cold collation, after which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. The proceedings were varied by some very excellent singing by Bros. Brasted, Ferrar, and Smyth. The Tyler's toast having been given, the brethren separated, after having spent a very pleasant evening. Visitors: Bros. L. Alexander, P.M. 188; Bromfield, 188; Pool, 764; Hallett, 781.

RADCLIFFE (Lancashire).—Lodge of Faith (No. 344).—The annual picnic in connection with the Lodge of Faith, No. 344, Radcliffe, of A. F. and A. Masons, took place on the 19th inst., when 33 of the brethren belonging to the lodge, including the W.M. and his principal officers, and their wives and friends, paid a visit to Bolton Abbey, near Skipton, Yorkshire. They started from Radcliffe by 10.26 a.m. train, and joined the Scotch mail at Bury, arriving at Skipton a little before noon. They partook of luncheon at the Black Horse Hotel, Skipton, and were then conveyed in waggons to Bolton Abbey, where they spent some hours wandering through the delightful scenery around the Abbey. A number of them went as far as "the Strid," a narrow passage between rocks, which takes its name from the fact of a person being able to stride across it, and see the waters rushing with great velocity through the aperture beneath. The party returned to the Black Horse Inn about six o'clock, and when dinner was partaken of they went to the railway station, and returned to their homes, arriving about ten o'clock the same night. The weather was everything that the most fastidious could desire, and the party thoroughly enjoyed the out.

DERBY.—Arboretum Lodge (No. 731).—The usual meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, the 9th inst., at the Masonic Hall, when the following members of the Craft were present:—Bros. R. Bennett, W.M.; J. C. Merry, I.P.M.; T. Cox, P.M.; F. Niffe, P.M.; Marsden, P.M.; Pipes, W.M. 1085; J. Brown, S.W.; T. Merry, J.W.; G. T. Wright, P.M., acting as S.D.; Whittaker, J.D.; Knight, D.C.; Fraser, I.G.; Day, Tyler; and other brethren. The lodge having been opened in the First and Second Degrees, Bro. Kimpton advanced to the pedestal, and having passed the usual examination, was raised to the Degree of a Master Mason by the W.M., assisted by the I.P.M., in ancient and solemn form. After the usual business of the lodge, a presentation was made to Bro. G. T. Wright, P.M., P.P.S.G.D. of West Yorkshire and of Derbyshire. Some little time ago the members of the lodge expressed a wish to show their appreciation of the many good qualities of Bro. Wright as a Mason, and this feeling took a practical turn in defraying the expense of making a slight addition to the usefulness and appearance of his residence in the shape of a bay window, to which was added an illuminated address signed by the following brethren:—T. Cox, P.M., P.P.S.G.W.; H. Hillam, P.M., P.P.S.G.W.; J. Smith, P.M., P.P.S.G.W.; H. Burn, P.M., P.P.S.G. of W.; R. Bennett, W.M.; J. C. Merry, P.M., P.P.S.G.D.C.; G. H. Sheffield, S.D., P.P.G.S. of W.; J. Worsnop, P.P.G.P.; Bewton, P.P.G.P.; J. Brown, S.W.; T. Merry, J.W.; Whittaker, J.D.; W. Fraser, I.G.; and twenty other brethren. Bro. R. Bennett, W.M., made the presentation, and in doing so alluded to the many valuable services Bro. Wright had rendered, not only to the Arboretum Lodge, but to the province of Derbyshire, in connection with the charities of the Craft, by taking active part in providing the beautiful hall in which they were now assembled, and in many other ways. His usefulness to the Arboretum Lodge was well known, and it would therefore be unnecessary to say more than that he was ready at all times to cheerfully assist by every means in his power, in the working of the lodge, and he had the greatest possible pleasure in presenting him with this token of the high respect entertained for him by his brethren of the lodge. He trusted that he would long be spared to meet with them, and when he had passed away to the Grand Lodge above his children would have before them the evidence of the affection and esteem in which their father was held by his brethren in Masonry. Bro. Wright, in responding, did so with considerable emotion. He had no idea until the W.M. got up that anything of the kind would take place that evening, which, with the very feeling manner in which he had spoken of him, had made him powerless to express himself as he would wish to do. He felt that he did not deserve such kindness. What he had done in connection with Masonry was done as a Mason, and from the purest of motives, and if he had earned the good wishes of his brethren, he was more than repaid for any little trouble he may have been put to. He could only say that it was one of the greatest pleasures of his life to meet the brethren of the Arboretum Lodge, and work with them in that harmonious manner which he was glad to say had always characterised their proceedings. He thanked them very much for their good wishes, and he hoped that they and he would live long to meet together and enjoy the friendship and brotherly love which had produced the feeling exhibited on the present occasion. The brethren afterwards adjourned to the banquetting-hall, where an enjoyable evening terminated.

BARNES.—Rose of Denmark Lodge (No. 975).—The ordinary meeting of this lodge was held at the White Hart Hotel, on Friday, the 18th inst. Bro. E. Warren Clarke, W.M., presided, assisted by Bros. W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524, S.W.; W. R. Phillips, J.W.; C. A. Smith, P.M., Treas.; Hinton, P.M.; Edmands, P.M.; Kennedy, P.M. 720; Wigglesworth, S.D.; Garner, J.D.; and a numerous assemblage of the brethren. Visitor: Bro. David Rose, P.M. 73, W.M. designate 1623. Bros. Revill and Masters were raised to the Third Degree, and Bro. Dennison passed to the F.C., after which the lodge was closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to an excellent banquet, and after the cloth was removed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. Bro. Rose, P.M., responded for "The Visitors," and complimented the W.M. and officers on the excellence of the working. Bro. Edmands responded for "The P.M.'s," and Bro. Lee for "The Officers." The Tyler's toast was then given, and the brethren separated, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge (No. 1326).—The last regular meeting of the year was held on Saturday, August 19th, at the Red Lion Hotel, Hampton. Bro. Edwin Gilbert, W.M., presided. There were also present Bros. J. T. Moss, P.P.G.R. Middlesex, P.M.; W. Hammond, P.P.G.D. Middlesex, P.M.; H. A. Dubois, P.G.S.D. Middlesex, P.M.; F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, &c. Sec.; J. W. Baldwin, P.A.G.P. Middlesex, P.M., I.G.; W. Hammond, P.M., J.D.; B. Sharp, P.M.; H. Gloster, J.W.; David Smith, W. T. Trehearne, J. Hernaman, C. Cucop, W. R. Vassila, S. Page, W. Priddy, and many others. Amongst the visitors were Bros. W. Simmons, J.W. 1559; F. F. Beard, 1423, and others. The work done was initiating Messrs. W. F. Venn, S. Page, and W. Priddy into Freemasonry; passing Bros. D. Smith and F. F. Beard, 1423, to the Second Degree. In every case each candidate for the degree was initiated separately, which arrangement (although entailing extra work on the W.M.) caused the beautiful ceremonies to lose none of their impressiveness. All the work was done in an able manner. On the motion of Bro. Frederick Walters, P.G. J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Sec., ten pounds were voted from lodge funds to the Female Annuity Fund of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, in the name of the W.M. of the lodge for the time being, the amount to be placed on the list of Bro. J. B. Shackleton, J.D., who represents the lodge at the forthcoming festival to be held in 1877 as its Steward. He unfortunately was absent from lodge through unavoidable circumstances. Also Bro. Edwin Gilbert, W.M., was unanimously elected to serve as Steward to represent the lodge at the forthcoming festival of the Boys' School in 1877. Several candidates were proposed for initiation. The lodge was closed, and adjourned till May, 1877, emergencies being excepted. Banquet followed.

Royal Arch.

OXFORD.—Alfred Chapter (No. 340).—The regular and festival meeting of this the senior chapter of the province was held on Tuesday, August 15th, when there were present Comps. S. P. Spiers, P.Z., as Z., in the absence of the First Principal; G. T. Prior, H.; J. T. Morland, J.; R. J. Spiers, P.Z.; E. Bevers, P.Z.; H. D'Almaine, P.Z.; E. G. Brunton, P.Z.; and others. The chapter having been opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed, Comp. Bruton, P.Z., then took the first chair, and exalted Bro. Arthur Davies, who had been previously elected. The installation of the Principals then followed, the ceremony being performed by Comp. Bruton, P.Z., in his usual able and impressive manner. The newly-installed First Principal, Comp. G. T. Prior, Z., then invested his officers and closed the chapter. A banquet was afterwards attended. The usual loyal toasts, &c., being given, a pleasant evening was concluded with the Janitor's toast. The following are the new officers for the ensuing year:—Comps. G. T. Prior, Z.; J. Juggins, P.Z.; J. T. Morland, H.; Walter Thompson, J.; F. G. Brunton, P.Z., D.C.; E. Bevers, P.Z., Treas.; J. R. B. Prior, E.; Jas. Jenkin, N.; Jules Bue, P.S.; S. Harris and W. Park, Stewards; W. Stephens, Janitor, G. Norwood, A.J.

Red Cross of Constantine.

A General Grand Conclave of this illustrious Order was held on Monday, the 21st inst., in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh, for the purpose of inaugurating the Grand Imperial Council of Scotland, and enthroning Col. Francis Burdett, M. Em. Grand Viceroy of the Order in England, as the first Grand Sovereign of Scotland. The members of the Grand Council of England and other English Representatives present were V. Ill. Sir Knights R. Wentworth Little, P.G.S.G. Grand Treasurer; H. C. Levander, Grand H.C.; J. Boyd, Grand Architect; Thomas W. White, Grand Hist.; George Kenning, Grand Assist. Rec.; W. T. Howe, G.S.B.; Dicketts, G. Usher, and Cuthbert E. Peek, Hon. P.S. and M.P.S. elect, University Conclave, No. 128, Cambridge. There was a large attendance of the Sir Knights from the several conclaves in Scotland, including Em. Sir Knts. R. S. Brown, M.P.S., Edinburgh Conclave, No. 4; J. Macpherson, M.P.S., St. Giles's Conclave, No. 103; G. W. Wheeler, M.P.S., Glasgow Conclave, No. 114; H. J. Shields, M.P.S., Lily of the Valley Conclave, No. 127; Dr. Beveridge, M.P.S., Bon Accord Conclave, No. 133; J. B. Mercer, P.S. No. 4; Lieut. M. Tracey, (P.S. No. 8) No. 4; Capt. Hunter (P.S. No. 42) No. 4.

Prior to the meeting of the Grand Conclave Colonel Burdett was affiliated as a member of the Edinburgh Conclave, No. 4, now No. 1 of Scotland. The knights having assumed their several stalls, a procession consisting of the English knights, preceded by Sir Knt. J. B. Mercer as G. Herald, entered the conclave, under the Arch of Steel, the acting G. Organist playing a solemn march. Sir Knt. Little then, as acting G. Sovereign, opened the General Grand Conclave of Scotland, assisted by Sir Knt. Levander, as G. Viceroy, and the other knights from England.

The Presiding officer having explained the object of the assemblage, requested Sir Knts. Dicketts and Peek, for England, and Brown and Mercer for Scotland, to introduce Col. Burdett as the G. Sovereign elect.

The acting G. H. Prelate, Sir Knt. T. W. White, then asked the G. Sovereign elect if he accepted the office to which he had been elected, and on receiving a formal assent the acting Grand Sovereign proceeded with the enthronement ceremony.

Sir Knt. Levander administered the oath of fidelity, and then invested Col. Burdett with the robe of state; the acting G.H.P. handed him the sceptre, and Sir Knt. J. Boyd, acting G. Chamberlain, the Sword of State, an address being delivered with each presentation by the presiding officer.

The G. Sovereign then announced that Sir Knt. Major W. Hamilton Ramsay (Senior Grand Warden Scotland) would be the first G. Viceroy of Scotland. (Applause).

Sir Knt. Ramsay then advanced to the altar, took his vow, was invested, and conducted to his seat.

The following Knights were appointed members of the Grand Council, and also took their vows, viz., Col. Francis Burdett, Sovereign; Major W. H. Ramsay, Viceroy; R. Beveridge, M.D., Sen. Genl. H. J. Shields, Jun. Genl.; the Rev. J. H. Tait, Prelate; Capt. Charles Hunter, Orator; G. W. Wheeler, Chancellor; J. Crichton, Treasurer; R. S. Brown, Recorder; J. Macpherson; Architect; Lieut. M. Tracey, Marshal; A. W. Rennie, Chamberlain; The appointments of Sir Knts. R. Beveridge, M.D. (Aberdeen City), Captain C. Hunter (Aberdeen County), and D. Murray Lyon (Ayrshire) as Intendant Generals, together with Sir Knts. J. Crombie, Examiner; D. Baker, Prefect; T. L. Shaw, Vice Chancellor; J. Carmichael, M.D., Assist. Treasurer; H. Edwards, Assist. Recorder; A. M. Bruce, Sword Bearer; A. Dalgliesh; J. Ingles, Dir. of Music; J. A. Mooney, Organist; Capt. W. H. Brown, Assist. Marshal; A. N. Minola, Vice Chamberlain; W. McMurdo, Herald; J. Walker, Herald; J. Tweed, Aide-de-Camp, as Grand Senators, were then announced, each officer advancing for investment with the crimson sash of his rank.

The G. Herald proclaimed the Grand Sovereign by his style and titles, and the knights then marched past the throne with banners displayed and swords drawn, saluting as they passed; during this period the Grand Organist played appropriate music. The Rev. J. H. Tait, G.H. Prelate, pronounced a blessing, and the ceremony concluded with an anthem. Sir Knt. Col. Burdett then thanked the members of the Grand Conclave of Scotland for the honour they had conferred upon him by electing him as their chief, and expressed his sincere hope that the Order would flourish extensively throughout the length and breadth of the land.

A vote of thanks to the English deputation was then passed by acclamation, and the Grand Conclave was closed in imperial form, and with solemn prayer. The knights then adjourned to the Windsor Hotel, where the inauguration banquet was served, and an evening of perfect harmony and enjoyment was passed by all present. We hope to be able to give a report of the very interesting speeches made by several distinguished knights in our next number.

We must not omit to state that the English Deputation, accompanied by Sir Knt. R. S. Brown, G. Recorder of Scotland, drove to Clerkington House, Haddington, the seat of R. Houston, Esq., a brother Mason, son-in-law to Colonel Burdett, and received a most hospitable reception in the old Scottish style, and after inspecting the extensive grounds, which are noted for their beauty, they carried off the gallant colonel to Edinburgh, behind four greys, in time for the opening ceremony at Freemasons' Hall, the distance accomplished being nearly forty miles through one of the most charming districts in Scotland.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening. Bro. John M. Clabon, P.G.D., President of the Board, occupied the chair; Bro. Joshua Nunn, P.G.S.B., Senior Vice-President, occupied the S.W. Chair; and Bro. Col. A. Lowry Cole, P.G.C., took the chair of the Junior Vice-President. The other brethren present were Bros. S. Rawson, Dr. Hogg, John Hervey, E. P. Albert, S. G. Foxall, C. A. Cottebrune, Raynham W. Stewart, Hyle Pullen, J. Wright, John Emmens, H. Bartlett, W. Stephens, Joseph Smith, Chas. F. Hogard, E. S. Taylor, W.M. 11; R. F. Gould, W.M. 92; W. Ramsay, W.M. 1539; F. Pendred, W.M. 33; H. Massey ("Freemason"); Lieut.-Col. H. S. Burney, W.M. 1615; Thomas Butt, W.M. 700; the Rev. H. Adair Pickard, I.P.M. 357; Geo. Hockley, W.M. 173; Dr. Erasmus Wilson, W.M. 2; Alex. Pilbeam, W.M. 45; John Bingemann, W.M. 1599; Capt. N. G. Phillips, P.M. 1383; A. Durrant, W.M. 1385; R. Berridge, W.M. 21; James W. Gillard, W.M. 180; Thos. Dunkins, W.M. 72; G. Kelly King, W.M. 1541; D. Betts, W.M. 1351; Thomas Elsley, W.M. 742; Peter De L. Long, P.M. 114; G. D. Roe, W.M. 1604; Edmd. Coste, P.M. 1613; H. Potter, P.M. 261; J. H. Batty, P.M. 28; W. T. Wells, W.M. 174; Peter Wagner, W.M. 201; F. Egan, W.M. 858; Chas. Atkins, P.M. 27; W. A. Murlis, W.M. 1489; James Bateman, W.M. 820; C. B. Barnett, W.M. 1382; W. Waygood, W.M. 141; N. Cobham, I.P.M. 957; W. Dodd, P.M. 1194; H. G. Buss, P.M. 27; and C. B. Payne, G. Tyler.

Grants of £240, made at former lodge meetings, were confirmed; and the brethren then proceeded with the new cases, of which many were those of widows. Two grants of £50 each, one grant of £40, one of £30, two of £20, four of £10, one of £5, and one of £3 were made; and the consideration of two cases on the list was deferred. The total grants made were £258.

At the Board of Masters the paper of business for Wednesday week at Grand Lodge was settled. Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Past Grand Chaplain, gave notice of motion for the appointment of a committee to consider the subject of the thank offering for the Prince of Wales's safe return from India which was brought forward at last Grand Lodge; and he gave in the names of the proposed committee. In the event of his motion not being carried, he gives notice of an alternative motion for the gift of £6000 from Grand Lodge Funds for the purchase of three scholarships for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys at Oxford, Cambridge, and London Universities. Bro. Jabez Hogg gave notice of an amendment to Bro. Simpson's original notice of motion to the same effect as Bro. Simpson's alternative resolution.

THE QUEEN AT EDINBURGH.

Though the Highlands are Her Majesty's favourite resort, the Scottish capital has not enjoyed an undue share of Royal visits. Since 1842, when the Queen stayed for some days at Dalkeith, the seat of the Duke of Buccleuch, Her Majesty has only on three occasions visited Edinburgh, and only on one of these occasions, the memorable Review of Scottish Volunteers in 1860, could the visit be looked upon as one of State. The citizens, therefore, by no means regard a Royal pageant as a thing of course, and the event of Thursday proves that it has for them a keen interest. They have welcomed their Sovereign with the same affectionate loyalty as is shown throughout the realm when the Queen comes among her people. The Magistrates had recommended a half holiday, thus preserving the frugal mind while bent on pleasure; but in the principal thoroughfares many of the shops were not opened at all, and Edinburgh, as a whole, seemed resolved to make a day of it. Unluckily, the day was not as the previous one, or as any other recent days of almost tropical brightness and brilliance. No ray of sunshine fell on the city the whole day long. Had this been the worst, sight-seers might have been thankful; but in place of scorching heat the day began with a fine penetrating rain, which continued for some hours. The Queen's habitual good fortune, however, awaited her. By 2 o'clock the mist, which hid the Old Town from the New, cleared well away. From Princes-street, and looking across the ravine, crag and tower, battlement and spire, could be seen once more, and from other points there came into view those near surroundings of sea and mountain which have made Edinburgh our ideal city.

The Memorial to the Prince Consort is erected in Charlotte-square, at the west end of George-street, a broad and handsome street running parallel with Prince's-street and just behind it. From Holyrood the Royal cortège entered George-street at St. Andrew's-square, which at the east end corresponds with Charlotte-square at the west end, forming a roadway in every way worthy of the city. In St. Andrew's-square is the monumental column built in honour of the first Lord Melville. Scotland is not chary of honours to her worthies. Edinburgh can point to some five and twenty statues; but it should be added that the statues are not entirely those of Scotchmen. The Melville column was gay with banners, and lines of streamers hanging from it were connected with tall Venetian masts in the gardens surrounding it. These masts, some of them 30 feet high, were repeated along the edge of the footway, and the street was as bright as it well could be made by banners, bannerets, shields, flowers, evergreens, and bands of crimson cloth, which form the simplest and also the most effective of house decorations. Down this fine street, too broad to need barricading, came the Royal party, driving in three open carriages, in time to reach the square punctually at four o'clock. The Queen looked in excellent health and spirits. In the carriage with her were Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, who was in Highland costume. Lord Elphinstone was the Lord-in-Waiting. The Home Secretary, Mr. Cross, was in one of the State carriages. The suite in attendance were the Dowager Lady Waterpark, the Hon. Horatio Stopford, Miss Bauer, Sir William Jenner, Major-General Ponsonby, Colonel Gardiner, and the Hon. A. Yorke. The Duke of Connaught was in command of the escort of the 7th Queen's Hussars, and rode by the side of his mother's carriage. At Holyrood a guard of honour was furnished by the 79th Highlanders, and the band of the 26th Cameronians played in front of the Palace. Before Her Majesty's departure part of the roadway was lined by Royal Artillerymen and 3000 Volunteers belonging to the Artillery Rifle Corps. Edinburgh possesses several smart and efficient corps, and those who turned out this day were most sturdy and soldierlike in look and bearing. A hundred blue jackets from Her Majesty's ship Favourite were stationed near Charlotte-square. George-street was lined by the 29th Cameronians, but the "thin red line" here and elsewhere was more than sufficient to restrain the crowd, who were as orderly and well-behaved as they were fervent in their loyalty. The chief pressure occurred at the entrance into Charlotte-square, where the Hussars with their well-trained horses were keeping back the crowd; but a well-arranged system of barriers prevented much of the usual surging and confusion. Before the Queen arrived the people had fallen or had been shaken into their places.

Inside the square is a green enclosure within iron railings, about half as large as Lincoln's-inn-fields. The trees are not high enough or numerous enough to hide the memorial, which is thus admirably placed on green sward, with ample space around it, as an equestrian should have. At one side of the square is a church—St. George's, and there are handsome public buildings and private residences at other sides. The site, therefore, is in every way a fitting one. Within the enclosure to-day some thousands of privileged spectators were admitted. Here, of course, the chief interest centred. The Body Guard of the Royal Company of Archers lined the entrance, standing at two paces interval, each man bow in hand, with three arrows in his quiver and a short gilt handed sword in his belt. The Duke of Buccleuch, who was in command, wore a handsome uniform of green and gold, with the blue riband of the Garter. Before the Archers were borne the old colours of the Corps, and among other officers who took command were the Duke of Roxburgh, Sir W. Gibson Craig, the Earls of Dalkeith and Stair, Sir J. S. Richardson, and the Earl of Rosebery. Soon after the Body Guard had been placed the members of the Edinburgh Town Council came in procession, headed by Lord Provost Falschaw, and preceded by four halberdiers in mediæval dresses, and by Mace and Sword-bearers. The Lord Provost was in scarlet and ermine; the Bailies wore scarlet robes and ermine tips, the Town Councillors scarves only. This procession introduced a blaze of colour, the only objection to which was that when massed it hindered the view of several hundred somewhat indignant spectators in the rear. It is hardly possible to supply a list of the many distinguished persons who were present, but among them, either in uniform or Court dress, were the Lord Justice-General, the Lord Justice Clerk, and the Lord Advocate, in his Court wig and robes; the Earl of Lauderdale, Hereditary Standard Bearer, and the Earl of Selkirk, Keeper of the Great Seal; and Mr. Wedderburne, Hereditary Royal Standard Bearer. On Her Majesty's arrival she was met by members of the Executive Committee, the Duke of Buccleuch, Sir John McNeill, Sir W. Gibson Craig, and Dr. Lyon Playfair, M.P., and a procession was formed to the dais erected in front of the memorial. In this procession besides the noblemen and gentlemen already mentioned, the following took part:—The Marquis of Lothian, Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal; Sir H. J. Seton-Steuart, Hereditary Armour Bearer, Mr. Walker, of Bowland; Mr. J. Strell, the sculptor of the memorial; the Lord Provost and Sheriff Davidson.

Chairs of State had been prepared under the dais, but Her Majesty, with the Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, remained standing throughout the ceremony, and thus remained well in sight of most of the spectators. The formal proceedings then began. A prayer was offered by Dr. Milligan, one of the Deans of the Chapel Royal, who wore a black gown and bands, with a doctor's hood. At the conclusion of the prayer the band of the 79th Highlanders began the chorale "Gotha," composed by the late Prince Consort, and it was then sung by a choir of two hundred voices, led by Dr. Oakeley, Professor of Music in the University of Edinburgh. The piece was admirably given, and the Queen listened to it with the utmost interest. Mr. Cross then presented the members of the Executive Committee, and the Duke of Buccleuch, as their chairman, read the address to Her Majesty as follows:—

"The Executive Committee for the erection of the Scottish National Memorial to His Royal Highness the Prince Consort have to-day the high honour and gratification of presenting the Memorial in its completed form to your Majesty and to the people of Scotland. The subscribers to the Memorial numbered very many thousands of your Majesty's Scottish subjects. Contributions were received from every county and nearly every parish in Scotland. All classes of society, from the highest and wealthiest to the lowest and poorest, willingly combined according to their respective ability to render this Memorial a monument worthy of the occasion. It will be in your Majesty's recollection that the subscribers humbly submitted the design and the site to your Majesty's selection, and that the design furnished by Mr. John Steel (Royal Scottish Academician) and this site (which was loyally offered by the proprietors of Charlotte-square) received your Majesty's gracious approval. The labour intrusted to the Executive Committee is now concluded, and the finished work of the sculptor is before your Majesty. The Executive Committee trust and believe that it will be found to be a not unflattering tribute of a nation's affection and admiration of the Consort and an acceptable token of their love and loyalty to your Majesty's person and family. It is an auspicious coincidence that this day, the 17th of August, is the anniversary of the birth of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, your Majesty's beloved mother. The memory of Her Royal Highness will ever be revered by the people of this country for the conspicuous virtues of Her Royal Highness's life, and especially for her admirable nature of their future Sovereign. The Executive Committee humbly request your Majesty to be graciously pleased to unveil the Memorial in the sight of the present assembly.—Edinburgh, Aug. 17, 1876."

The Queen made the following gracious reply:—

"I receive with pleasure your loyal address. I am well aware of the feeling in Scotland which promoted the raising of this National Memorial, and I assure you that I heartily appreciate the affection and admiration manifested in this country for my dear husband, as well as the loyalty and attachment to me which has ever been the characteristic of my Scotch subjects. I thank you heartily for the allusion you have made to my beloved mother on this day, the anniversary of her birth. Her frequent residence in this Royal city and its neighbourhood proved how much she loved the Scottish nation."

Neither the address nor the reply could be heard, of course, even by people in the enclosure, much less by the thousands of people who lined the square or were crowding every and balcony house-top, but when Her Majesty, after handing her reply to the Duke of Buccleuch, spoke a few words to the Home Secretary, Mr. Cross, in his loudest voice, succeeded in making himself heard: "I have much pleasure in saying by Her Majesty's command that it is her desire the statue be now unveiled." The canvas covering which till now had concealed the statue was at once cleverly and quickly removed, amid cheers which were loud and long. The long delayed memorial was exposed to view, while the band played the "Coburg March," and a Royal salute, fired by signal from the Castle, proclaimed to all Edinburgh that the ceremony was complete. The choir here sang another chorale, the words of which were written by the Rev. Gregory Smith, Vicar of Malvern, the music being by Professor Oakeley. Finally the Queen walked round the statue upon a wooden platform carpeted with crimson cloth. Her Majesty, who was escorted by the Duke of Buccleuch and the Lord Provost, was thus able to see the statue from every point of view, and to whom she expressed her entire satisfaction with the work. It is, indeed, a worthy addition to the art memorials in which, as I have said, the city is already so rich, and many of which are the work of the same venerable sculptor.

On completing the circuit of the memorial the Queen was escorted to her carriage and returned to Holyrood. Along the whole length of Princes-street the crowds were as numerous and as warm in their greetings as they had been in George-street, and the decorations were hardly less elaborate and effective, but in its beauty unadorned Princes-street stands in little need of decoration.

Later in the day Her Majesty drove through the Queen's Park by what is known as the Queen's Drive, and visited Craigmillar Castle. It is only just to the authorities of Edinburgh to add that the arrangements made for the comfort and safety of the spectators who thronged the city were excellent, and the day passed off without serious accident. Her Majesty has shown in a marked manner her appreciation of what has been done and her desire to honour her faithful city. It is understood that the Lord Provost has received an intimation that he will be created a baronet. At Holyrood, during the day, the chief sculptor of the memorial, Mr. J. Steel, and Professor Oakeley were knighted. Thus, as a popular spectacle and in the honour rendered to sculpture and music, the Queen's visit herewith long be remembered in the civic annals.

WAR VICTIMS.—The Rev. Henry Jones, Secretary to the Turkish Missions Aid Society, writes to us from 18, Adam-street, Strand:—"Should any of your readers prefer sending relief to the multitude of homeless families, as well as to the sick and wounded, through the medium of the American missionaries (to whom a letter from your correspondent at Widin in your Saturday's issue justly calls attention), the committee of this society, which is in direct communication with the missionaries in that unhappy region, would be glad to forward any contributions sent to its secretary, the Rev. Henry Jones, at the above address. The missionaries would, doubtless, be thankful for such means of doing good, and would administer the relief faithfully and judiciously." The National Aid Society has been amalgamated with the Eastern War Sick and Wounded Relief Fund. Mr. Lewis Farley has received a letter from Dr. Humphrey Sandwith, dated Belgrade, Aug. 19:—"In answer to your letter of the 9th inst., I can assure you that all bona fide surgeons who have hitherto arrived have been commissioned and sent to the front in uniform. I have lately returned from a mission to the enemy, with which I was entrusted by the Servian Government to arrange for the absolute neutrality of all hospital doctors, attendants, &c. I have received the fullest assurance in writing from Rifast Pasha, Governor of Widin, that all such will be treated with the greatest humanity, so I think that surgeons will have nothing to fear in future. The Turks have previously hanged Dr. Leah with the red cross on his arm. The hospitals in Belgrade are now in want of nothing, but those in the interior are yet in a deplorable condition—i.e., most of them. Some of them are very fair. The army in the West is in perfect health, and there are but few wounded there; the army in the East is sending hundreds of wounded to the rear almost daily, and there is the place where most is needed. This morning several English surgeons are gone to that army. Hare, Attwood, Hume, Boyd, Sandwith, MacKellar. They are all in uniform and commissioned, and are under the command of Inspector-General Baron Mundy, a first-rate man, under whom the service is being rapidly organized. The Medical Department is still in need of instruments, stores, surgeons, and dressers. I scarcely think ladies would do here; there are enough Russian ladies in (Belgrade, and the interior is too rough a place. Mr. MacCormac, principal surgeon during the Franco-German War, and Dr. Burnard Pitts, of St. Thomas's Hospital, have left London for the seat of war. The former, since his return to England, has been the senior surgeon at St. Thomas's Hospital. The Hyde Park Demonstration Committee formed for the purpose of expressing indignation at the atrocities perpetrated by the Turks in Bulgaria, have, in answer to invitations addressed by them to Mr. Edward A. Freeman and Mr. Samuel S. Marling, M.P., to attend a demonstration of working men, to be held in Hyde Park, received the following replies:—"The former, writing from Summerville, Wells, says,—"I am glad, indeed, to see any class of people, and especially working men, stirring in such a cause. A working men's meeting on the matter is one of the things which I most wish to see, but I greatly doubt whether a Hyde Park demonstration is the best form it can take." The latter gentleman, writing from Staney-park, Stroud, says as follows:—"I have left London and am unable to return to render any assistance to the demonstration. The atrocities perpetrated on the Bulgarians are an outrage on humanity, and I cannot but feel that our Government is much to blame for their indifference and want of care, because history might have taught them from the past conduct of the Turks that the utmost vigilance on their part was demanded to prevent outrages by the very circumstances of the case. I wish your meeting every success." Colonel Loyd Lindsay has left London for the seat of war in the East, taking surgical and medical appliances for the wounded Turks and Servians. Colonel Lindsay proceeds as Chief Commissioner of the National Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War.

STONEHENGE.—"Druid" writes from Penzance:—"On the 14th inst. I visited Stonehenge, and was much surprised at the way in which that most interesting relic has been mutilated, the lower portions of the stones being much disfigured. Upon arriving I found a party of ladies and two gentlemen (?); the latter were busy with chisel and hammer detaching portions of the ruins to keep as specimens, and regretting their inability to obtain large pieces in consequence of their being provided with a carpenter's, instead of a geological, hammer. Surely some steps might be taken to preserve this national monument from such selfish barbarism. With what feelings of indignation would the public regard the chipping off of portions of any of our cathedrals to adorn the private collections of individuals, and yet we have many cathedrals, and could better spare portions of them than of our one Stonehenge."

FREEMASONRY IN THE UNITED STATES.

Franklin Lodge, No. 134, Philadelphia, carried out most successfully another part of its extended programme for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of American Independence. On Sunday morning the brethren, headed by their W.M., Bro. John C. Kelley, and other officers, turned out in large numbers for the purpose of attending Divine service at old Christ Church, of which one of its members, the Rev. Bro. E. A. Foggo, D.D., is rector. Franklin Lodge was, by invitation, joined on this occasion by the Grand Master of Masons of Pennsylvania, Bro. Robert Clark; Senior Grand Warden, Bro. Michael Nisbet; Grand Marshal, Bro. George W. Wood, and other Grand Officers, and also by Concordia Lodge, No. 67, headed by their W.M., Bro. Arthur Thacker. The entire assemblage of Freemasons was both a brilliant and a large one, and that in spite of the unusual heat of the day—the thermometer reaching as high as 98° in the shade. The brethren of Franklin Lodge met at the Masonic Temple, and marched down to the church, their only insignia being a narrow blue ribbon, worn on the lapel of their coats. The brethren of Concordia Lodge met in the parish building adjoining the church.

The religious services were conducted by the rector, Bro. E. A. Foggo, D.D., of Franklin Lodge; Bro. James W. Robins, D.D., of Union Lodge, and Bro. Wm. H. Odenheimer, D.D., LL.D., of Franklin Lodge. The sermon was delivered by the Right Rev. Bro. William H. Odenheimer, Bishop of the Diocese of Northern New Jersey, and was a masterpiece, whether considered in the light of either pulpit or Masonic oratory. The Bishop took for his text the words from the Great Light: "And all ye are brethren," and discoursed from them lessons of the greatest interest and practical value. The preacher is evidently both a bright and a whole-souled Mason, and he gave forth no uncertain sound.

At the conclusion of Divine service the brethren of Franklin Lodge proceeded to Bro. Benjamin Franklin's grave, in the graveyard of Christ Church, at Fourth and Arch streets, when Bro. Robert Clark, Grand Master of Pennsylvania, at the request of Bro. J. C. Kelley, W. Master of Franklin Lodge, deposited on the grave of the philosopher and Mason an elegant wreath of immortelles, encircling a square and compasses, and inscribed with the letters "Franklin Lodge, No. 134."—"Keystone."

FREEMASONRY IN THE WEST.

The growth of Masonry in the West, like the growth of the West itself, is something marvellous. Illinois has more Masons than Pennsylvania; and Michigan, that in 1870 ranked as the thirteenth State in population, is today, with over 26,000 Masons, the seventh, if not the sixth, of American Grand Lodges in Masonic strength. Amid the solitudes, the trials, and the struggles of a frontier life and a new country, where society is neither crystalized nor stratified, and where the various institutions and customs, in which Eastern social life finds relaxation and reliefs, are measurably absent or deficient, Masonry supplies a need of human nature which nothing else can furnish. The Masonic stranger finds in the lodge-room congenial associates and friends. His solitary single-handed combat with nature and the forest is cheered by the consciousness that he is not alone. In sickness or in health Masonic ministrations are essential help or blessed comfort. Offering all these advantages to the worthy, it is strange that the unworthy should seek to profit by them; or is it strange or un-Masonic in us if by "sharp decisions," or a new practice, we should sometimes defend with excessive vigour what to us is so valuable? And amid the wild lawlessness so often found in a border life and among its rude but noble-hearted men, is it strange that our jurisprudence should seemingly pass; by sudden and, to some, shocking transitions,

"From grave to gay—from lively to severe?"

One Mason of smooth, decorous exterior is known, by his lodge, to have a bad heart; such a one, if charged with any Masonic offence, is likely to have a "short shrift" and summary punishment; but if, on the contrary, one who is wild and rough and lawless, is known to have an heart of honour in a breast overflowing with "the milk of human kindness," much, very much, is "pardoned in a spirit of liberty," and lodge verdicts fall harmless at his feet. We have, or think we have, more heart knowledge of our brethren than can be found in the older States; and to this more than to charities or proof, are often due the verdicts of lodges that look so queer, on paper, to Eastern Masons. But we flatter ourselves that substantial justice, not to mention a wise and true charity, is quite as often triumphant before our rude tribunals as in the more decorous but custom-bound courts of an older Masonry. And so we reverently observe the "landmarks" of Masonry by seeking to make our field fruitful of that Faith, Hope, and Charity which all landmarks were established to preserve, and without which the Landmarks is as worthless as a solitary boulder on a sandy barren.—"Keystone."

THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA.—During his recent stay at Ischl the Emperor of Austria saved the child of a poor woman from a violent death. As he was passing through the Rottenbach Gorges, a boy of 4 years old fell over a precipice, and, his clothes having caught on a projecting branch, was suspended over a torrent some 50 feet below. The Emperor, whose proficiency in all athletic sports is well known, jumped across the precipice, freed the boy from his perilous position, and took him back to his mother.—"Eastern Budget."

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

THE EMPRESS OF INDIA.

Saturday's Government "Gazette" contains the following Viceregal Proclamation:—

"I hereby publish for the information of the Governors, Administrators, Princes, chief nobles, and peoples of this Empire, the subjoined Act passed by the Imperial Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, on the 27th of April, 1876, together with a Royal Proclamation, dated at the Court of Windsor, the 28th of April, 1876, in the 39th year of Her Majesty's reign, transmitted to this Government by the most Honourable the Secretary of State for India in his Lordship's despatch No. 70, of the 13th of July, 1876.

"Moreover, I now publicly notify under this my hand and seal that it is my intention to hold at Delhi on the 1st of January, 1877, an Imperial Assemblage, for the purpose of proclaiming to the Queen's subjects throughout India the gracious sentiments which have induced Her Majesty to make to her Sovereign style and titles an addition specially intended to mark Her Majesty's interest in this great dependency of her Crown, and her Royal confidence in the loyalty and affection of the peoples and Princes of India.

"To this Assemblage I propose to invite the Governors, Lieutenant-Governors, and heads of Administrations from all parts of the Queen's Indian dominions, as well as those princes, chiefs, and nobles in whose persons the antiquity of the past is associated with the prosperity of the future, and who so worthily contribute to the splendour and stability of this great Empire.

"I shall forthwith issue such Orders in Council as may be suitable to the historical importance of the occasion, and in conformity with the desire which will be felt by all Her Majesty's subjects in India to manifest the affection which they cherish for their august Sovereign by public rejoicings and appropriate demonstrations of loyalty.

"Aug. 18." "LYTTON."

The Viceroy will make a public entry into Delhi on the day after Christmas Day. All public offices will be closed for a week. About 15,000 European and Native troops, mostly regiments moving in the ordinary course of relief, will be present. It is reported that the assembly will be on a very grand scale, and will be held on the open plain. Around the Viceroy's throne will be grouped a series of daises, representing the various Provinces, in a great semi-circle. The troops will be drawn up behind the throne. Races, ceremonial visits, and other entertainments will occupy the Christmas week.

AN APPEAL FROM BAVARIA.

The following appears in our contemporary, "The Times":—

Sir,—It will be a charity if you can find a place in your columns for the following.

On the night of August 13 the town of Brückenau, about 20 English miles from Kissingen, was almost totally destroyed by fire—that is to say, out of 250 houses upwards of 200 are not; out of a population of 1600, 1200 are now roofless, five are dead, and two missing.

The houses were only insured for about a fourth of their value, furniture and clothing not at all. Unfortunately, the fire was so quick, that the people had to fly in their shirts, shoeless. The harvest, already cut and stored, was entirely consumed. The people are now huddled 18 in a room.

I shall never forget the scene that met my eyes on walking to the town the morning following. First, the telltale smoke, in sad contrast to the sunlit beauty of the verdant valley, then the hedges bung with bedding, then the carts and carriages, and the poor people themselves in groups in the adjoining meadows, the more fortunate guarding the wrecks of their property. The town itself was impassable from the fallen and still falling houses. I penetrated, however, far enough to see many despairing faces and streaming eyes.

From the above your readers may judge how widespread, how almost universal is the ruin, and as the people in these parts are very poor, how much they need help. We on the spot are doing what we can, and any money paid to the account of Sir John Kingston James, Marylebone branch, "Brückenau Fund," London and Westminster Bank, 4, Stratford-place, will be handed over by me to the Local Committee.

Anxiously hoping that this appeal may bring forth fruit, I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

J. KINGSTON JAMES.

Sinuthalhof, Brückenau, Bavaria, Aug. 16.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CONGRESS.—There is some doubt as to whether it will be possible to hold the Sanitary Exhibition in connexion with the Social Science Congress at Liverpool in October. Since the first Exhibition at the Leeds meeting in 1871, there has each year been greater interest taken in it, and its practical utility has been so recognized that each year the extent of the Exhibition has increased. Promises of objects for exhibition this year have been already numerous, but the difficulty is to find a place wherein the Exhibition can be held. The Assistant Secretary, who has been to Liverpool to make arrangements, reports that there is but one hall suitable, and that cannot be had. The extensive hall erected for Messrs. Moody and Sankey's services is well adapted, but it stands on Government ground, and the lease falls in on the 15th of September. It is intended to erect a new County Court on the site without delay, and by the time the Congress meets, which is October the 10th, the hall will probably be swept away. An application has been made to Her Majesty's Office of Works for the hall to stand till after the conference, and a formal refusal has been sent. We understand the Liverpool Corporation have taken the matter into consideration, and will probably memorialize Her Majesty's Office of Works.

HOLY GROUND.

"Our lodges are situated on Holy ground," consecrated and dedicated to a Holy God, and therefore should and must in every way be free from any influences tending to dishonour that holy name, and corrupt the Craft.

The holy to the holiest leads,
From thence our spirits rise,
And he that in God's statutes treads,
Shall meet Him in the skies.

Let us glance into the past, aided by that Holy Light, which must ever burn, shed its lustre, and adorn the Master's pedestal, a scene presents itself 3730 years since.

The fathers of the faithful and the friend of God met Abimelech with the chief captain of his host, was saluted by him. "God is with thee in all that thou dost;" and then called upon him to take a solemn obligation of friendship to him and his posterity, and "both" of them made a covenant, and we may imagine the scene at the well which Abraham digged. Beer Shaba, or the "well of the Oath," a consecrated spot here under the canopy of heaven, witnessed by the Most High above, and in the presence of the faithful servant of Abimelech. That Holy ground was consecrated by an act of brotherly love, and in passing I would say, "Let brotherly love continue."

Holy ground? Yes! and let no man taunt me when I adopt Freemasonry as my religion, and lay as a foundation stone to God, and love to my brother, with all my heart. To proceed.

These brethren separated, but Abraham having his property, the well restored to him, not only consecrated the spot by his fraternal bond to Abimelech, but we find him raising an evergreen monument to the everlasting God; as he plants the grove around the well, and makes it holy ground at Beer Shaba, giving all glory to the Most High.

Holy Ground! Now another scene, and we have before us a splendid subject for the poet and the orator—the venerable brother, upwards of one hundred years old, with his only son Isaac and his servants in attendance; the patriarch riding on an ass, the group wending its way towards Moriah, and now as they get in sight of the mountain, the old man dismounts from the beast and leaves it in charge of the servants, who are told that he and the lad are going to the mountain to worship, and then return again to them.

The venerable sire, with no ordinary fidelity to the Most High, and with the most endearing affection for a fond and obedient son, first lays the wood on Isaac's shoulders, then takes the knife in one hand, and the fire in the other, and they commence the ascent. The lad wonders and seeks from his father to know where the lamb is for the sacrifice, but is told that God will provide Himself a lamb for a burnt offering, and they again ascend together.

Let us follow them, but take our shoes from off our feet, we are now on holy ground.

The patriarch has selected a spot and laid aside the fire and knife, and the young man has laid down his wood, and they together build an altar, it is finished and the wood is laid in order, but where is the lamb? a moment's surprise, and now the dear old man takes the only son of his bosom, the obedient beloved son, binds him and lays him on the altar, then follows a scene, upon which the angelic host looked with interest, and heaven's King with approbation. The knife is raised, another moment and it is plunged in the heart of the dear youth, but his hand is stayed, a voice is heard, hurt not the lad, the will is taken for the deed; the lad is loosed, and who can imagine the feelings of the two as they bow down in the presence of the Most High, on that holy ground, Jehovah, Jireh. 22 Genesis.

Holy Ground! Now let us turn our attention to witness the sweet singer of Israel, when the anger of God was kindled, the pestilence is raging, and the King bows down before the Most High in humility, his prayer and supplication is heard and the plague is stayed.

Holy Ground! We remind our brethren at the installation of an event of surpassing grandeur to any thing on record, the completion, dedication and consecration of the Temple of Jerusalem to God's worship and service, the grandeur of the building, the solemnity of the ceremonies and above all the visible manifestation over the mercy seat between the cherubim, impressed the well informed mind, with

The sacred awe that does not mow,
And all the silent heaven of love.

Holy Ground! Brethren of the clergy especially, and all who would have God honoured and revered as it becomes Freemasons—we have an application to make to this subject.

If the lodge is holy, the ceremonies have reference to God and are holy. Would you for a moment countenance the service of the Church of England, or any other, in a public house? No! Then we shudder to think that the divine principles of Masonry are to such an extent made a convenience to those who do dishonour to God and the Craft.

Holy Ground! Let us not trifle with the Most High! I feel delighted that so many interested in the prosperity of the Craft endorse my views. There are thousands of brethren, of the highest religious and moral reputation and standing, who are the greatest ornaments to Masonry, who are driven from the lodges by the excesses practised.

Let the world witness that our lodges are on holy ground, and in spite of all opposition Masonry will do honour to monarch and peasant, and shall go forward bright as the sun, fair as the moon, and terrible as an army with banners.

Notwithstanding the great heat, the deaths registered in London last week were 107 below the average. The mean temperature was 72 deg., which was 10.5 deg. in excess of the corresponding week for sixty years.

EXPECTED VISIT OF THE PRINCE OF WALES TO GLASGOW.

The following correspondence between the Lord Provost and the Prince of Wales regarding the visit of His Royal Highness to Glasgow was read by the Lord Provost at the meeting of the Glasgow Police Board.

At the first meeting of the magistrates after the Lord Provost's return from America it was arranged that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales should be asked to honour the city by laying the foundation-stone of the new Post Office. The Lord Provost accordingly addressed to General Sir W. Knollys the following letter:—

"City Chambers,

"Glasgow, 10th August, 1876.

"Lieutenant-General Sir Wm. Knollys, K.C.B., Marlborough House, London.

"Sir,—The Government have finally approved of the plans of a new Post Office for Glasgow, and the requisite funds have been voted for its erection. The building, it is believed, will be one worthy of the city, and the arrangements are so far in progress that the foundation-stone may be laid in a few weeks. It has occurred to my colleagues in the magistracy and myself, that if His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is to be in Scotland during the autumn, and would be graciously pleased, either in going to or returning from the Highlands, to lay the foundation-stone, he would put the community under great obligation, and, if possible, intensify the feeling of loyalty towards her Majesty and to the Royal family. I may be permitted to say that I am emboldened to address you on this subject, and to beg the favour of your bringing the matter under the notice of His Royal Highness, by the consideration that one of the last, if not the latest official act of his illustrious father, the Prince Consort, was to lay the foundation stone of the Post Office in Edinburgh. That city is no doubt the political capital of Scotland, but I venture to hope that the claims of Glasgow, in respect of population, enterprise, and commercial and manufacturing position, are sufficiently known to His Royal Highness to induce him to give to a request on behalf of its citizens the most favourable consideration that his other engagements will admit of. It will afford the entire community very high gratification to see His Royal Highness after his return from his auspicious visit to India, and I need scarcely say that the gratification will be very greatly enhanced if Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales shall be graciously pleased to accompany the Prince on the occasion. May I beg that you will do my brother magistrates and myself the favour of taking advantage of an early opportunity of bringing the matter under the notice of His Royal Highness, and letting me know the result.—I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient servant.

(Signed) "Jas. BAIN, Lord Provost."

To that communication the Lord Provost has received the following reply, which was submitted to the magistrates at their meeting:—

"Marlborough House,

"Pall Mall, S.W., August 16, 1876.

"My Lord Provost,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst., which I have submitted to the Prince of Wales, and received His Royal Highness's directions to inform you that it will afford His Royal Highness great satisfaction to be present at the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the new proposed Post Office at Glasgow. The Prince's present engagements in the North render it impossible at present for His Royal Highness to say when he shall be able to attend to perform the prescribed duties on such an occasion, but it will probably be towards the end of the first fortnight in October.—I have the honour to remain, my Lord Provost, very faithfully yours.

(Signed) "W. KNOLLYS.

"The Lord Provost of Glasgow."

This announcement, we feel assured, will be received with the greatest possible gratification by our readers. It is to be hoped that the Princess of Wales may be able to accompany her husband on this occasion, and to receive with him a right Royal welcome.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

SCIENCE AND ART EXAMINATION.

MAGNETISM AND ELECTRICITY.—First Class Advanced, H. G. Shaw; First Class Elementary, R. Bryant, W. R. Parker, C. D. Green; Second Class Elementary, W. Beaumont, W. Jones.

DRAWING.—Full Certificates, W. R. Parker, H. G. Shaw; Prize of Instruments, W. R. Parker.

PAPERS ON PRACTICAL GEOMETRY.—Heeley, White, Rose, Newman, Croydon, Haskins, Bryant, Parker, and Shaw.

PASSED IN MODEL DRAWING.—Heeley, Parker, and Booser.

PASSED IN FREEHAND.—W. Pawley.

PASSED IN PERSPECTIVE.—Parker and Shaw.

THE COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR, DIARY, AND POCKET BOOK FOR 1877.

A form has been forwarded to every London Craft lodge and R.A. chapter, respectfully requesting that the name and number, place, day and months of meeting, might be filled in and returned as speedily as possible, in order that corrections, where needed, may be made in the Diary and Pocket Book for 1877. As many lodges do not re-assemble until late in the year, a large number of the applications will not unfortunately reach the W.M. until too late for the publication. The publisher will therefore be very thankful to any W.M. or other officer, or members, who will favour him by forwarding the above information as early as possible to the office, 198, Fleet-street, London. A regular form will be sent, when required, on receipt of name and address.

LIGHT.

How necessary is light in our earthly architecture. How much effect and beauty depend on the modulations, as I may call them, of natural light, or the skilful arrangements of artificial light. But in that heavenly architecture there shall be perfect light, the lustrous yet undazzling—the continual, yet unwearied light of God's presence.

The effort of all good people on earth is to bring earth nearer to Heaven, and to reflect Heaven's light on earth. As God said, "Let there be light, and there was light," so it is ours, my brethren, as good men and Masons, to say and to act, "Let there be light," that God's light may shine forth upon earth, and be kindled here, to be intensified and perfected there. To know God in His word and in His works, is to walk in the light; to help others to do this is to be spreading the true light; to educate the poor and ignorant, to relieve the distressed, and to have large and sympathetic thoughts towards all men, this is to lift the dark clouds of ignorance, prejudice, and meanness, and to be preparing the light of Heaven.

"There no clouds nor passing vapour,
Dim the brightness of the air;
Endless noonday, glorious noonday,
From the sun of suns is there."

REV. A. H. ETTY.

THE MOSELLE.—Trèves is, perhaps, the most interesting town in Germany. It has old houses enough, though not so many as Nuremberg, or Augsburg, or Hanover. You may live in that fine old inn, comfortable withal, the Rothe Haus, once the old town hall, and see opposite to you St Mary's Church, an exquisite bit of Gothic, somewhat dwarfed by the huge mass of the sternly Romanesque cathedral. But the chief glory of Trèves is its Roman remains, more perfect and more numerous than those of any other Transalpine town, Orange only excepted. Then its library is full of rare editions, and has (what is a wonder in Germany) most courteous and patient gentlemen for librarian and sub-librarian. Moreover, its people have a genial cheeriness of face and manner which may be due to the Gallic mixture (for the Treviri were as much Gauls as the people of Rheims, with whom they are always classed by Latin writers), but which, at any rate, one usually looks for in vain in more Northern Germany. But Trèves just now is hard to get out of. You can get into it easily enough, either by way of Luxembourg or from Cologne direct, by a line which runs through the grandest part of the Upper Eifel. Once there, however, you will be told you must stay unless you retrace your steps, or put up with German post-wagons (often starting at unearthly hours, and by day fearfully hot), or hire a carriage as far down the Moselle as Cochen, between which place and Coblenz the little local steamer still plies. Our advice is to do neither; your drive down as far as Alf would be a hot and uninteresting one, and from Cochen downwards you will have plenty of opportunity of judging whether the Moselle is really finer than the Rhine or not. Better put up with the inevitable alteration in your plans; or, rather (after this warning), shape your plans on the supposition that the Moselle water, being now zu klein, is likely so to continue for the next six weeks at least. Determine, therefore, to console yourselves by getting a good peep at the Upper Eifel. If you have already seen Gerolstein Castle (no connexion with the Grand Duchess—she hails, we suppose, from the place of the same name in the Black Forest) from the line from Cologne, take your ticket only from Trèves to Kyllburg. Thence make your way to Oberkail—a burying place of one or two grand old families; thence to Manderscheid, where are two castles close together, with a legend, of course, about a quarrel between two brothers. On your way thither you will have climbed the Mosenburg, a huge extinct volcano, with four craters—one still a maar or tarn. You will, moreover, be within easy reach of four or five more of the largest and best of the Eifel maars (extinct craters full of water), including the Pulvermaar, so beautifully embosomed in beech woods. Thence walk or drive down to lovely Bertrich—a real German bathing place, almost unvisited by the Britisher. Here trace, at the "Cheese cellar," a curious sort of diminutive Fingal's Cave, the end of a lava current; and then go on your way rejoicing to Alf. If the drive from thence to Cochen, through old villages and over glorious hills, does not please you, you must, indeed, be hard to satisfy. At Cochen (as we said) you will still find a Coblenz boat.—"Graphic."

Amongst the leaders of the Masonic fraternity and others who have already expressed their desire to become subscribers to the tales, poems, and Masonic papers by Bro. Emra Holmes, are the Earl of Carnarvon, Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Limerick, Great Prior of the Temple; the Earl of Stanhope; Lord Henniker; Lord Waverley, Prov. Grand Master, Suffolk; Sir Patrick Colquhoun, Q.C., LL.D.; and Sir Francis Doyle, Bart., Professor of Poetry, Oxford, &c. The work is dedicated by permission to Lord Stanhope. The book will be put to press as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained, for which purpose names will be thankfully received by Tweddell and Sons, publishers, Stokesley, Yorkshire, or at the Office of this paper.—"Woodbridge Reporter." [Bro. Kenning will also gladly receive names of subscribers at the "Freemason" Office, 198, Fleet-street.]

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Dangerous diseases would not present themselves very often if timely attention were bestowed on the first feelings which betray a departure from health. How many life-long maladies spring from neglecting trifling symptoms? The pimple readily curable in the nursery becomes, through carelessness, the irremediable torment of after life. With a knowledge of the curative powers of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and the facility and safety of their application, those who fail to use them for extirpating the first seeds of hereditary ailments will have to bear the punishment resulting from their folly. Holloway's remedy will remove eruptions of the skin, scrofula, and acrofula, and heal every description of ulcer, sore, wound, or abrasion.—ADVT.

Masonic and General Tidings.

The Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress, with several of the younger members of their family, have left for Switzerland, under Messrs. Thomas Cook and Son's arrangements."

The "Morning Post" understands that Sir Alexander Milne will be raised to the peerage, and will also have a special pension bestowed upon him in recognition of his long and meritorious services at Whitehall as a Lord of the Admiralty under successive Administrations.

The Princess of Wales and children returned to Marlborough House on Wednesday from Osborn Cottage, Isle of Wight.

THE COURT IN SCOTLAND.—According to present arrangements, the Prince and Princess of Wales, with the royal children, will arrive at Abergeldie Castle on Monday next. In consequence of Her Majesty being a good deal fatigued after her journey from Edinburgh, she did not pay her usual round of visits amongst her tenants on Saturday. Her Majesty was not present at Craithie parish Church on Sunday, nor were any of the members of the Court. Service was conducted within the Castle.

The brethren of Pontefract and Castleford gave a banquet on Thursday week to Bro. Sheriff Bressit, at the Town Hall, Pontefract. The Mayor presided, supported by the Deputy Grand and Provincial Masters of Yorkshire, the Mayor of Wakefield and Barnsley, the Recorder of the Borough (Bro. R. N. Philipps), and a numerous body of brethren, who filled the ancient hall, which was gaily decorated for the occasion. The speeches of welcome to their worthy neighbour, the sheriff, were hearty and appropriate.

Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke have resumed their entertainments at the Egyptian Hall, and, in spite of the heat and the holidays, are drawing good audiences—which, after all, is not to be wondered at when the quality of the performance is borne in mind.

Bro. H.R.H. Prince Leopold, R.W.P.G.M. Oxfordshire, has been elected President of the Royal Society of Literature in the room of the late Bishop Thirlwall.

The members of the Apollo Lodge, Oxford, with the sanction of H.R.H. Prince Leopold, Prov. G.M., are raising a subscription for the widow of the late Mr. Henry Kingsley, who is stated to have been left entirely unprovided for. Subscriptions will be received by Bro. J. E. C. Bodley, Danebank House, Congleton, Cheshire.

The Right Worshipful Bro. Charles H. Dallas, District Grand Master for Japan, has appointed Bro. William G. Sando, J.P.M., Rising Sun Lodge, No. 1401, who for several years was a member of the St. Mark's Lodge, No. 857, Deputy District Grand Master for Japan.

Lord Lytton had a narrow escape the other day. While riding to Mushobra, his horse shied and fell over the khud. Luckily the precipice is not very steep, but the Viceroy rolled about 100 feet down, though he escaped unhurt.

The "Athenæum" announces that Mr. J. H. Parker has two monographs in the press, one on the Forum Romanum and the Via Sacra, the other on the Colosseum. Both will be illustrated, the former having forty-five, the latter thirty-six plates. The work on the Colosseum will embody the results obtained through the recent excavations, which have thrown so much new light on the building. Mr. Parker, with a view to gaining further light on the subject, has visited Capua, Pozzuoli, and other places, and took S. Cicconetti with him to make sketches, which are reproduced in the book.

The petition for Hotspur Lodge having been granted, the consecration will take place in Freemasons' Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on Thursday, 21st September.

CIVIC GIFT.—The Saddlers' Company, at their meeting on the 14th inst., gave a donation of £21 to the fund now being raised for the establishment of a Mission Hall, etc., for the benefit of the working classes residing in Old Ford, Bow, the East-end, &c.

The "Publishers' Circular" says the "Daily News" correspondent, whose statements about the Bulgarian atrocities have created so much discussion, is Mr. Pears, formerly Secretary of the Social Science Association. Mr. Pears is a lawyer, and is a member of an important firm established in Constantinople. Another gentleman is at present actually in Bulgaria carrying on the investigation on behalf of the "Daily News."

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales arrived at Brussels on Tuesday, and in the afternoon visited the Exhibition in company with the Queen of the Belgians. He returned to London, via Woolwich, on Thursday.

A meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Dorsetshire will be held on Thursday, the 14th prox, at half-past one o'clock, in the Town Hall, Shaftesbury. The banquet will be held at 4 p.m.

It is reported that Bro. the Right Hon. and Rev. Lord Plunket, Grand Chaplain of Ireland, Precentor of St. Patrick's Cathedral, is likely to be elected to the vacant bishopric of Meath.

W. Bro. Wm. Bulkeley Hughes of Plás Cóch and Brynddu, &c., Anglesey, M.P. for the Carnarvon Boroughs, P.P.G.S. Warden for N. Wales and Shropshire, P.M. of 755, &c., has been appointed Deputy Provincial Grand Master of the province, in place of the late Lord Harlech.

Colonel Burdett, Provincial Grand Master for Middlesex, is now on a visit with his son-in-law, Bro. Davidson, D.P.G.M., Aberdeenshire, West.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BALDWIN.—On the 14th inst., at Walmley, the wife of Capt. F. C. Baldwin, of a daughter.
EDWARDS.—On the 14th inst., at Portsdown-gardens, W., the wife of C. H. Edwards, Esq., of a son.
PENFOLD.—On the 21st inst., at Harlesden-green, the wife of W. Penfold, of a son.
SCOTT.—On the 20th inst., at Graylands, Grove Park, Chiswick, Mrs. W. D. Scott, of a daughter.
SEYMOUR.—On the 18th inst., at Whitley, Coventry, the wife of A. Seymour, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

ALLEN—JAMIESON.—On the 17th inst., at St. Paul's, Aberdeen, Benjamin Allen, of Bristol, to Mary Jane, daughter of the late G. Jamieson, of Drumgarth, Aberdeenshire.
BARBER—RICKELTON.—On the 9th inst., by licence, W. Barber, Esq., to Margaret, eldest daughter of W. Rickelton, Esq., both of Newcastle-on-Tyne.
LANCASTER—WALLIS.—On the 17th inst., at St. Peter's Church, Brighton, Sussex, by the Rev. Cave Brown, John Lancaster, of Manchester, to Ellen Wallis, of London. No cards.

DEATHS.

ABBOTT.—On the 19th inst., at Grasmere, Torquay, John Samuel Abbott, of London, in his 71st year.
BROWN.—On the 19th inst., at Brighton, David Brown, of Larkhall-rise, Clapham, in his 61st year.
CAVE.—On the 17th inst., at Powis-square, Brighton, Sussex, Eliza Boheme, wife of Henry Cave, Esq., of Purneah, Bengal, aged 40. Indian papers please copy.
EDWARDS.—On the 20th inst., at Pye Nest, Henry Lee Priestley, infant son of L. P. Edwards, Esq.
LEWIS.—On the 15th inst., at Walton-on-Thames, John Frederick Lewis, R.A., aged 72.
SAUNDERSON.—On the 20th inst., Marian Bertha, aged 49, wife of C. Sanderson, Esq., of Kilburn.
SAVAGE.—On the 18th inst., at Penn, Wolverhampton, Benjamin Savage, in his 68th year.
SMITH.—On the 19th inst., at Ivy Lodge, Fulham, Charles Smith, Esq., aged 83.
WOODARD.—On the 3rd May, in India, Alfred, son of Mr. Woodard, of Spring-street, Sussex-gardens, W.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months, of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, AUGUST 26, 1876.

THE QUEEN'S VISIT TO EDINBURGH.

Her Majesty the Queen has again favoured the loyal inhabitants of "Auld Reekie" with a Royal visit and a public ceremonial. The unveiling the statue to the lamented Prince Consort took place amid the most genial weather, and under the most auspicious circumstances. Everything went off well from first to last without a hitch, without a "contretemps," amid the loyalty of applauding thousands, and the gratification of a contented and industrious population. Edinburgh has received another happy work of art to adorn her classic streets and squares, and to point to some of the great characteristics of a remarkable nation, and we would fain hope that another link has been forged in that goodly chain of personal attachment and national devotion which will outlive the fleeting moments of time, and endure in full vigour and pristine sincerity to many, many generations. As Freemasons we rejoice to note all that tends to the promotion of loyal sympathy and patriotic cohesion, all that serves to extend the influences of good government and civilization, peace and order, law and civic contentment, all that would increase and confirm the real living national depth of personal attachment to the Sovereign of our native land, and bind all classes amongst us, the "most widely contrasted," in one firm array of trust and affection, of goodwill and well being. From the historic walls of Holyrood the Queen has sent through Mr. Cross, the Home Secretary, the following most complimentary letter to the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, a letter which will not only be perused with heartfelt pleasure by the inhabitants of the metropolis of North Britain, but by all classes of Her Majesty's subjects elsewhere:—

"Holyrood Palace, Aug. 18, 1876.

"My Lord Provost—I have the Queen's commands to express to your Lordship, and through your Lordship to the citizens of Edinburgh, how deeply Her Majesty values the welcome which she has just received in this city, and how fully she appreciates all the arrangements which have been made for her reception. The loyalty of her Scottish subjects, their affectionate remembrance of the Prince Consort, their love of order, and power of self-government, which have just been so clearly shown, are most gratifying to Her Majesty, and will, I can assure you, be ever remembered by her with feelings of the greatest satisfaction.

"I have the honour to be, my Lord Provost, your obedient servant,

"RICHARD ASSHETON CROSS.

"To the Right Hon. the Lord Provost of Edinburgh."

With this admirable letter, we feel that little more remains to be said by us. Years hence, when another generation takes our place, those who come after us may well remember, as they gaze on such memorials of the great and the good, such artistic souvenirs of all that was highest in rank, most developed in intellect, noblest in service, and pre-eminent in worth, that we of this now 'passing epoch were always loyal and unswervingly attached to the throne of our country, and the constitution of our forefathers. Let them recognise gladly that we have bequeathed to them the solemn duty of treasuring; and the unceasing obligation of gallantly defending that priceless inheritance of national greatness and individual freedom, of legality and order, of toleration and freedom of conscience, which we received from our forefathers, and have handed on, unsullied and unaltered, nay, strengthened and expanded to them, as well for the honour and glory of Almighty God as for the onward progress of peace and goodwill, of monarchical institutions, of incorruptible government, of civil and religious liberty, of peace, progress, and humanity, among the toiling masses of mankind. Still as of old the philosopher and the poet, and the statesman, the patriot, the citizen, and the Freemason may say, in the noble words of two of our historic worthies:

Una etinim in mediis gens

Libertate proba et justo libramine rerum
Securum faustis degit sub legibus ævum.
Antiquosque colit mores et jura parentum
Ordine firma sua, sanoque intacta vigore
Servat adhuc hominumque fidem curamque
Deorum.

One favoured nation, whose impartial laws
Of sober freedom vindicate the cause.
Her simple manners midst surrounding crimes,
Proclaim the genuine worth of ancient times.
True to herself unconquerably bold,
The rights her valour gained she dares uphold,
Still with pure faith her promise dares fulfil,
Still bows submissive to the Almighty's will.

THE PROROGATION.

Parliament is prorogued, and our legislators are scattered in all directions. The Palace of Westminster is deserted, and the Speaker's occupation's gone. For a few short favouring months, legislators and leaders, orators and orations, queries and quandaries, interrogations and interludes, all will be forgotten, and we shall not, when we open the "Times" be either edified by the remarks of the leader of H.M.'s opposition, or the confidences of the First Lord of H.M.'s Treasury. We shall deeply miss Mr. Cross's good sense and Sir W. Harcourt's Herodian eloquence, we shall not listen to Mr. Gladstone or Mr. Henley, to Mr. Hardy or Mr. Goschen, to Sir Stafford Northcote or to Mr. Dodson, Mr. Lowe's last sarcasm, or Mr. Newdegate's last discovery. And then "inter lunas minores," we shall be deprived of the ore rotundo of gallant Major O'Gorman, the vivacity of Mr. Dillwyn, the questions of Bro. Captain Pim, and the sagacity of Mr. Pell, the energy of Mr. Butt, and the placidity of Mr. Walpole, and then last, not least, we shall miss the irrepressible Whalley.

Let laws, and learning, commerce die,

But let us keep our own Whalley,

We admit that the rhyme is indifferent, but it will do for the occasion. But still the solemn and serious fact is before us, that our great "talking house" is silent for a season, and that we must now rely for some time to come on stump orators, and M.P.'s doing the amiable and the condescending to their constituents. Luckily this deprivation cannot last for ever, and like men and Britons and Masons, we will resign ourselves to the grave trial. But from another point of view we feel that without treading on the forbidden zone of politics, this prorogation has a special interest for us all. We are not going to descend into the region of party cries or party considerations, ours is not, never has been, never will be, as a political banner. We know nothing, as Freemasons, happily, within the peaceful enclosures of our lodge rooms, of the shibboleths of faction or the war cries of contending camps. But every now and then there are certain points in our national history, which have a broader bearing and a wider interest for us all as citizens of our common country, than even the rallying countersigns of political coteries, or the question of particular leaders. There are some facts which are before us in the great broad beaten pathway of public life, which have a general interest for us all, as citizens, patriots, Englishmen, and Freemasons. For though we know nothing perforce of politics quâ politics, we still have all of us the duties of citizens to perform and the sympathies of citizens to avow, and which we can never properly, or even Masonically, forget or ignore. One of the greatest orators of the House of Commons, on which ever side he might happen to be seated, passes from the assembly which for a quarter of a century he has so greatly adorned, into the Upper House. Her Majesty's Premier, the chief of her "servants," the Right Hon. Benjamin Disraeli, loses that name so well known to all Englishmen of all ranks and parties in the State, and will henceforth be hailed amongst us as the Earl of Beaconsfield. Like another Great Commoner, only let us hope under happier auspices, he leaves now the bustle and angry conflicts of the Commons House of Parliament for the comparative quietude and less stirring atmosphere of the House of Lords. We need not, as we cannot, follow the speculations of others as to why this announcement, unforeseen in itself, has been made at the end of a laborious session. There is one good reason patent to all. Mr. Disraeli is no longer young, he is in his 72nd year, and all have noticed with regret how often the brilliant orator has had to absent himself of late through ill-health from those pleasant gatherings where English members speak face to face with a friendly audience, and where English citizens contentedly applaud. And surely he has earned his rest and his honours. No more hard-working man; no more self-made statesman, ever emerged from the trials, and troubles, and opposition, and difficulties of a gallant career, than the writer of "Vivian Grey," he who gave us "Sybil," who offered us "Tancred," the pleasant author of "Lothair." And it says a great deal for the keen discernment and the warm heart, and the sound, practical good sense of our English people that he has always found from us all alike so much and so deservedly of public good will and support. It is no duty of ours to go further into detail, we have but properly and Masonically sketched a dim outline, because we cannot dwell on a political career, without trespassing on our normal position of political neutrality and political abstention. But this we may fairly say; we can all admire the eloquence and the genius of the man who has won for himself the entire living sympathy and hearty confidence of all classes of English people, and who we trust still, in his new sphere of duty and honour, freed from the overpowering labours of the House of Commons, late divisions and early hours, will yet continue to render signal service to his Queen and to his country, to the peace and progress of the world, and to those interests ever dear to us as Freemasons, the onward march of civilization, and enlightenment, order and law, peace and humanity, religion and right, toleration and truth.

EXCURSION TRAINS AND POPULAR HOLIDAYS.

Just now the season of excursion trains is at its height and glory, greatly to the bewilderment of perspiring station masters, and the blessings of weary porters. This is a feature of our times, special and prevailing, of which our forefathers knew nothing, and at which many wiseacres still shake their heads. Charitable and intelligent beings! As if poor John Nokes, who has been toiling for long months in heated rooms at his unceasing labour, with no rest, and no relaxation, is not the better for a glimpse of the country side, for fresh air, for a pure atmosphere, for the sea breeze? Why to many a day's outing is a day of absolute delight, and we will add one of needful hygiene. Can any one grudge it them. Or just as if Mary Walker, with those children of hers, who has been pining in a close alley for long and dusty months, does not derive great good for herself and hers from the scent of the new made hay, or a stroll on the Sussex downs? If some affect to wonder why we pent up Londoners will run off in our excursion trains for a day in the country, though we spend ten or twelve of the twenty-four hours in a railway carriage, let them cease from their marvelling when we say that the fatigue and the inconvenience put together are worth the fresh air and the rural ride and the vivifying ozone. But is just possible that this state of affairs may change for the better, and that in time the fact may dawn on the minds of some good friends of ours that our poor excursionists are really a little better than "dumb driven cattle," and deserve better accommodation and greater consideration. The time may yet be, when the duration of the journey may be materially shortened, and Brown, Jones, and Robinson, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Robinson, and the little Browns', Jones', and Robinsons', may have more hours of country scenery or sea breezes to repay them for a hot and dusty railway journey, for long delays, and over-crowded trains. That the excursionists are entirely given to liquoring up, or that it is a question with them merely of liquoring up, we utterly deny. Such an averment is as unfounded as it is unfeeling. And so too as regards the popular holiday. The vulgar theory that the Bank Holiday has increased drinking is a simple fallacy, and most unjust to the laborious classes of our great community. All who saw the crowds of working men last Bank Holiday walking happily about with their wives and children, will we feel sure, agree with us in repudiating any such unamiable view of matters, any such absolutely ignorant appreciation of how the day was spent by the thousands who gladly availed themselves of the fine weather and the grateful rest. We are very sorry to perceive that such superficial views on a most important question and such unacquaintance alike with the facts of the case and of the real feelings and habits of our toiling multitudes still prevail in any portion of the public press. Each holiday as it passes will be better spent and more judiciously made use of than the preceding one, and we fancy that if a just balance was struck that there are a good many of the so called higher classes who spent their Bank Holiday a great deal worse than did the working and industrial thousands of our metropolis, who certainly did not look on the Bank Holiday as merely an opportunity of drinking to excess. Such a statement is as unfair as it is positively absurd and untrue.

THE WAR IN SERBIA, AND THE CRUELITIES IN BULGARIA.

The struggle continues, and the cruelties have not yet ceased,—this seem to be the burden of all reports from the East. The Turkish government have declined to carry out their own assent to the Geneva Convention, which refusal necessarily places all the "Red Cross Champions" of humanity and kindly aid, in a very delicate and difficult position. Indeed, according to Dr. Sandwith's account in another place, the Turks have hung Dr. Leah, a benevolent medical man, with the Red Cross on his arm. The English press, with but few exceptions, fully recognises the seriousness of the situation, and the horrors of this internecine strife. We do not envy the feelings, nor do we admire the taste of any confrère who allows his pages to be occupied by low wit and vulgar chaff on so very distressing a subject. As it has been well said, if one tithe of the actual barbarities hourly committed could be realized by our English people, there would be a universal demand that our Ambassador should be withdrawn from Constantinople. The Red Cross of England, and her goodly banner cannot be stained by the outrages of Bashî Bazouks and Circassians, and we feel that we represent the feelings of our entire fraternity when we reprobate sternly the turning into indecent jests and offensive scurrility the sufferings even of Bulgarian "peasants," and the honour and chastity of Bulgarian women.

THE INSTALLATION ENGRAVING.

We have seen the first portion of this engraving, containing nearly 480 portraits, and greatly approve of it. Three-fourths of the plate, Bro. Harty tells us, will be ready in a month, and he is making strenuous exertions to have the engraving ready for Christmas. Among the likenesses which are very conspicuous in the portion now completed are Bros. the Marquis of Hamilton, the late Lord Mayor, Albert, Wright, Morrell, the late Richard Spencer, Dr. Meadows, Lieut.-Col. Birchall, Lieut.-Col. Randolph, H. Day, A. S. Tomkins, Sir James Ramsden, I. M. P. Montague, Magnus Ohren, H. A. Dubois, J. J. Gossett, J. Robins, cum multis aliis. Bro. Harty informs us that there is still room for about 80 or 100 portraits, and we will add that it seems a great pity not to fill up the still vacant space in an engraving which promises both to be an historical picture in itself, and remarkable as a work of art, and of the greatest interest to Freemasonry, as a lasting and most effective souvenir of an event to be remembered day.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES ACT, 1875.—Mr. William Sutton, of the London and Provincial Law Assurance Society and Fellow (by examination) of the Institute of Actuaries, has been appointed by the Treasury to the post of Actuary to the Friendly Societies' Registry. Mr. Sutton was formerly a Foundation Scholar of St. John's College, Cambridge, and graduated as a Wrangler in the Mathematical Tripos of 1865.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I would feel greatly obliged if you or any of your well informed correspondents could give me a satisfactory answer to the following enquiries:—

1. Has the I.P.M., of a lodge when acting in the chair in the absence of the R.W.M. the same power and prerogative as if the R.W.M. were himself presiding.
2. Has the I.P.M. when acting as R.W.M. the right to call upon any well qualified officer or brother to work any of the degrees when he feels indisposed to perform the duty himself.

My reason for making the latter query is in consequence of an occurrence which took place a few weeks ago at an emergency meeting of our lodge, convened for initiation and raising.

Our R.W.M. was absent, and the I.P.M. took the chair. He performed the ceremony of initiation, and afterwards requested the J.W. to work the Third Degree. On his making this request the S.W. rose, and protested against the I.P.M. asking the J.W. to work the degree when he (the S.W.) was present and able to perform the ceremony. He objected to have his feelings so wounded, and shortly thereafter refused to act in his office, and left the lodge during the working of the degree.

I have carefully perused the laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland (to which constitution our lodge belongs) and our own bye-laws, and can find no rule which warrants our S.W. in behaving as he did. I have all along been under the impression (so far as the working of Scotch lodges is concerned) that the R.W.M., or his substitute in his absence, has the prerogative of asking whom he pleases to work the degree, and of its being entirely a matter of courtesy whether he asks a P.M., S.W., J.W., or, in fact, any officer or brother, to oblige him by performing the ceremony. Our S.W., however, questions the R.W.M.'s right to do so, laying the question of courtesy aside altogether.

It is more than likely that the occurrence which I have just related will form a subject of discussion at our next regular meeting, which takes place on 4th September, and as I am somewhat interested in the matter I would esteem it a favour to have an opinion on the subject before that time.

Soliciting an insertion of this in your first issue, I remain yours fraternally, 18th, August, 1876. PISCATOR.

A GREATER BLUNDER.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"Aristarchus" writes to the "Guardian" with reference to an advertisement which he found in that paper last week, containing the word chaperone instead of chaperon. This is, he says, "a modern vulgarism, which arose from pretentious ignorance. It is bad grammar. Chaperon (which originally meant a hood) is never feminine in French. And it is bad spelling. The correct pronunciation of the last syllable is on, not one. And if chaperon had a feminine, the correct of such a term would have been chaperonne."

But "Aristarchus" has made a greater blunder. "Chaperon" is undoubtedly masculine, and originally meant a monarch's hood, a hood in falconry, the top of a wall, and several other things (see Boyer), and chaperonner meant to cap another heron. But to say that it ought to be pronounced "chaperoon" is too monstrous.

It is quite clear, that however well up "Aristarchus" may be in the "French of Stratford-atte-Bowe," the "French of Paris" is to him "unknown."

Yours obediently and fraternally,

INTERNATIONAL.

MASONIC PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"An Indian P.M.," while applauding "Zaphon," seems to me to shew a great amount of ignorance as to visiting brethren: that term is more frequently than otherwise misunderstood and misappropriated, and I think most Masons of any experience will agree with me that lodge hospitality is greatly abused. Now, to explain my meaning clearly I must express an opinion, from which possibly many may dissent, and that is that the refreshments following the proceedings of lodge meetings are for members only, except when a visiting brother (or brethren), that is to say, one who has availed himself of the privileges to which he is entitled, is invited to the banquet or supper, as the case may be. Nothing is to my mind so beneath the dignity of a Mason as to see him sit down to the feast uninvited. For instance, a certain number is guaranteed the caterer for supper, say 20 or 25. In a small lodge the probable number is generally known, and also who may be expected to visit, and it would be unfair for eight or ten men to come from a neighbouring lodge and expect to be invited to the banquet when there is generally neither room nor food sufficient for more than the members and those invited by circular; but I am sorry to say I know of plenty of brethren who think that because they can claim admission to the lodge and hear our sublime ritual that they must of course be invited to the banquet, and who wait about until the W.M., if he happen to be of a goodnatured turn, possibly says he will be happy to see all the brethren present at refreshment. But should he not feel disposed to accord to all this invitation, surely he should not be called inhospitable. Thus I think the fee to which "An Indian P.M." alludes is quite fair in such a case. The members pay a subscription which is supposed to cover all expenses (alas! frequently too little), and if non-members are permitted to partake gratis whenever they choose to stay for the Fourth Degree it is manifestly unfair to the members. This brings me to the point where I think "An Indian P.M." at fault, when he says he finds it is the practice in this country to make the visiting brother, who though he be a foreigner, pay for what he eats and drinks. If not invited such may be the case as mentioned above, and quite right too, but for an invited visitor to pay is, I feel sure, very rarely the case, unless through the blundering of a Steward. The treatment which "An Indian P.M." received on the two occasions named was very shabby, let us also hope rare, but his suggestion as to the alteration of the toast of "The Visiting Brethren" to that of "The Brethren who don't belong to our Lodge" would never do, being too comprehensive, and more like the Tyler's toast than any other. I should feel "distressed" were I a visitor under such circumstances.

I should like to make a few remarks on the letter from "Zaphon" (in your number of the 12th inst.), who as a young Mason has, I think, hit the nail on the head, and forcibly shewn how Masonry may be prostituted to gluttony, and how charity may consequently suffer. "Zaphon" seems to have benefitted by his experience, as his remarks on charity and temperance shewing a "dinner lodge" or "champagne banquet lodge" may no doubt be very wise, but it is nothing better than a select club of men who have taken their Masonic degrees. I have visited such lodges, but never yet found the working either carefully or solemnly performed. An undue haste and want of decorum characterised the proceedings, which have certainly been conducted peacefully and concluded harmoniously enough, but the real business of the evening had yet to come.

Surely you, sir, can bear out "Zaphon" in most of the well deserved satire on the Masonry he has seen, and exhort your readers to uphold that which tends to elevate the Order, and to censure all that causes "that most excellent virtue" to be forgotten in late hours, dissipation, and extravagance.

Yours fraternally,

E.F.

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.

(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 2.—EDUCATION.—Continued.

We have to deal to-day with the Denominational view, both what it is, and how it treats, and would treat, the educational question.

The Denominational view is, then, simply this, put into a few clear words, stripped of periphrase and paraphrase, divested of exaggeration and extravagance of thought and language.

A feature of the duty of the Christian commonwealth—the Church—is to educate the lambs of the flock. And by education is not merely to be understood the technical instruction or the intellectual culture of the young alone, but the development of the moral intelligence, the training of the undying portion of mortality for the higher truths and the noblest ends, for eternity as well as for time, for God as well as for man. Hence a religious instruction is also necessary as well as secular, because secular instruction by itself is partial, incomplete, unsound, inasmuch as it only affects and educates one portion of the complex being man, namely the intellectual, and leaves the sentimental, the psychological, the moral feeling untouched and untaught. In order to render this religious teaching effectual and complete, suited to the wants and destiny of man, mortal and immortal, at the same time, the Bible must form the basis of all true religious instruction, and then upon this good and sure foundation is raised a superstructure of catechetical and doctrinal teaching in respect of the abstract truths of religion, the practical duties of personal piety, the concurrent creeds of the Church, and the exposition of the claims and articles of the Denomination. The great majority of schools in England is denominational, the Church of England holding about seven-tenths of the education of the people in her hands, and until the creation of the School Boards, in which all distinctive doctrinal teaching is absolutely forbidden, there was a difficulty to contend with, as regards the conscientious scruples of the parents of those who were not Anglicans. But that case was met by what is called the "conscience clause," a formula of religious liberty and religious conviction which practically has always, except by the fanatic and wrongheaded, been gladly conceded and honestly upheld.

We speak with an experience of over a quarter of a century, and we can say this, that though it was openly avowed and deliberately practised long before it was officially formulated, in a large school, with which we are most familiar, it never was once invoked, and all Nonconformist and Church children peaceably learnt and carefully repeated the words of the Church Catechism.

The denominational system with a conscience clause is that which is now carried on by different bodies of religionists in this country side by side with the Board School system.

Of course, with such views and on such principles as I have above stated, very concisely of course, the School Board "regime" could not be acceptable to those who prefer the denominational system, and it may appear to them, as it does appear to them seemingly, on these grounds subjectively an irreligious system, and if they like to use a hard word, as people too often hastily do in such matters, a "godless system." Subjectively it may so appear to them, but as I doubt whether it is really so, at any rate rightly objectively, I will dwell a little longer on this point.

Admitting, if you will, that the Church or the religious body has a bona-fide moral right to educate the young of its flock, and that on the principles of religious liberty and the sanctity of the conscience such free course of action should be sanctioned and protected by the State, yet it does not follow, as some seem to think, that the State has not a right also to see that none of its subjects grow up in ignorance, to provide, if it so deems well, a remunerative or even gratuitous course of instruction also for all who will accept it. Nay, in our opinion, the State may go farther and say, "I stand in loco parentis to the 'wastrel,' the orphan, the destitute. I am bound to provide that none within my influence advance to maturity untaught and ignorant, and therefore I will compel all within the school age and under the half-time system in the great circles of labour to go to school."

Who can deny the abstract and concrete right of the state to say so?

It is in vain to appeal, as some do, to the parental authority. The parental authority is good and most sacred as far as it goes, but are there no cases where the State might interfere even with that, and where it does interfere even now?

If a parent cruelly neglects a child, or injures a child, or forgets the first duty of a parent towards a child, we know that there are wise provisions of our legislature by which the local, or municipal, or general authority of the State, as the case may be, steps in to coerce, to compel the recalcitrant parent to do his duty, and punishes him for disobedience to the law.

So if the parent absolutely neglects the education of a child, lets him run in riot and rags, and live in idleness and vice in the streets, takes no heed either of his intellectual or moral improvement, the State has a distinct right, for the safety of the State itself, for the welfare of society, and for the good both of the parent and the child, to step in and say, "That child ought to go somewhere to school, and shall go to school." Hence it is in vain for the objector to anything that tends to ameliorate and elevate to appeal to this supposed invasion of parental rights, the argument rests on a complete fallacy altogether, inasmuch as the State nowhere proposes to interfere with the high and solemn economy of parental authority, but only proposes to intervene where the welfare of the child is concerned, where the safety of the State is impaired, to correct an abuse, not to attack a privilege, to remedy a wrong, not to challenge a right.

In fact, let us conceive what a State would be, composed of purely ignorant people, which, if the parental-right upholder is correct, must be the case if the State does wrong, when the parent is drunken or degraded, ignorant or selfish, weak or wicked, in stepping in and firmly declaring "that poor, neglected, ill-used child shall be sent to school."

Neither can any one safely appeal to the denominational right in respect of education. Though the Church, as any body of Christians, or, as some claim, any section of "religionists," has a moral right to educate, it has not an exclusive right, inasmuch as the State which gives the laws and enforces them, which governs, and directs, and controls the social wants and the political existence of the people has a right to say, "salus populi suprema lex," and we lay it down that no child in the commonwealth shall grow up in ignorance."

If on denominational and religious grounds the right be not so direct as it is according to the denominational view, in the church or religious body, it is an absolute, though again not an exclusive right, arising from the actual authority of the state itself, whether as representing the ruler, as supreme in the State, or the ruler who delegate to others the duty of legislating for the entire community.

And here let me speak plainly. Just as I hold that there is a moral right in the church or denomination to educate its young, absolute but not exclusive, so I contend that the same law of duty and authority applies equally to the State. Any State that says, "I will alone educate, I forbid all religious bodies to found schools, appoint schoolmasters, instruct children, I will alone undertake this duty," any such State so acting does so, I venture to believe, in direct defiance of the individual conscience, assails the first principles of religious liberty, pave the way for the most deplorable of all conflicts as between the laws of a State and the conscience of the man, and despotically takes away from religion, above all, its noblest mission and its most conscientious duties.

In such a case the "religionist" has a cause of deep complaint, and has a sacred right of audience. For in such a dilemma every principle of individual, of parental, of denominational, of conscientious right is violated, as the fiercest of all struggles is initiated, and no State which so forgets the fundamental principles of all public peace, property, right, and safety, can long maintain such a prohibition, inasmuch as in the passage of time, conscience when truly complaining, when really injured, always, sooner or later, somehow or other, gets the better of the dogmata of politicians and the decrees of legislators.

The objection that the State cannot teach religion is perfectly true, inasmuch as the State has clearly no spiritual authority, and we do not exactly understand why any of us should expect the State to teach religion.

But in England the State leaves the matter of abstract and positive religious teaching to the locality as regards the Board Schools, only stating that as all classes are taxed to keep on these common schools they cannot allow distinctive doctrines to be taught in them. No doubt if such were the only system in operation all religionists would have a right to complain. But such a position of affairs is happily counterbalanced by the full play and entire liberty of denominational schools, covered by a conscience clause, and I confess that, in my humble opinion, the grievance is infinitesimal; it is, in fact, making a "mountain out of a molehill."

But I will continue my considerations and lucubrations on this most interesting subject in another paper.

Reviews.

"Loge Francaise et Ecossaise de la Clemente Amitié. Fête anniversaire de la Reception de Frère Littré." Paris, 1876.

By the fraternal courtesy of the W.M. of "La Clemente Amitié" we have received the interesting account of its "fête de famille," held on the 9th of July, when about 800 Freemasons apparently assembled to do honour to the anniversary of Frère Littré, an eminent French litterateur and scientist (to use a new word), into Freemasonry, at an advanced period of his life, about 12 months ago.

The assembly may fairly be considered a good representative gathering of French Freemasons, as it included many able writers, senators, deputies, the distinguished Frère St. Jean, Caubert, and a large number of the leading French Freemasons. Bro. Littré was not able to be present, through illness, but sent his address, and Bros. Wyrobuuff and Jules Ferry delivered two orations, the latter improvised for the occasion, and all the addresses were warmly received, and drew down the vigorous applause of the audience. We have perused them to-day, and we wish honestly and manfully to point out the impression produced on our mind by these animated expositions of a system of teaching which seems just now to dominate many minds in France as well as Freemasonry in that country. We confess that the impression left upon us by their "paroles brûlantes," especially of Bro. Ferry, is alike somewhat painful and depressing. We should not be honest if we did not say what we really think. We should not be true to Freemasonry and to ourselves if we did not humbly but earnestly seek to speak the truth, to avow what we sincerely hold without partiality and without flattery, without fear and without hesitation.

There is a great tendency in the world just now to say rather what will please others than what we ourselves believe, "ex animo," but Freemasons, of all men in the world, whose whole system is based equally upon a love of truth and a love of toleration, ought always, in our humble opinion, though, of course, moderately, temperately, and with proper consideration for others, to "say what they mean," and, above all, to "mean what they say." Far be from us that despicable cowardice, that characteristic of little minds and of grovelling ideas, which, biased either by desire of public applause, or alarmed by fear of popular disapproval, ever conceals the faith it professes, or the opinion it holds, and tries to accommodate itself to each passing chimera, or each ephemeral delusion. The great defect of the public teaching of the hour is its want of heartfelt sincerity, that tendency to exalt a so-called erroneous and vulgar public opinion for that which truth would avow, honour uphold, and freedom of thought and conscience proclaim to mankind.

We said this at the outset that we have perused the official account of the proceedings and professions of memorable fête with somewhat of depression and pain. We repeat the statement. From an English point of view many of our able brethren in France, alike in Freemasonry and out of it, seem to us to be losing their way in the dreary marshes, so to speak, and the misty fogs of a hopeless rationalism of a deceptive positivism, of a melancholy "morale indépendante." Sorry we are to say so, but we must say so if we are to speak at all. We have read over Bro. Littré and Bro. Ferry's addresses, and we see at once where such intellectual brethren are tending, we may observe that Bro. Wyrobuuff mainly directed his remarks to the educational controversy in France, though he too is evidently in accord with the philosophical tenets of his eloquent confreres. Amid a beauty of word-painting, amid a flow of eloquence, amid much that is very true, and more that is most touching, amid a clearness of expression which is most attractive, a charm of language which is most effective, we yet cannot shut our eyes to the inevitable conclusion that the result at which they arrive is practical negativism, the denial of all supernaturalism, and the assertion of a pure humanitarianism without a Divine revelation, and without, as far as we see, any other belief than that in an "Anima mundi."

We are not willing in the slightest degree to appear even to exaggerate or misconstrue the words and theories of such able brethren, but we cannot understand them otherwise but as boldly asserting the utter independence of man in respect of his need of all those religious hopes and doctrines, and consolations, and promises, that present grace and future blessedness, which have so emancipated, so ennobled and consoled the generations which have come and gone, and which nevertheless believed in the one true Triune God, eternal, living, and unchanging.

We do not deny that the excesses of Ultramontanism may have led, as we see in France, to this state of scientific opposition, of moral shrinking back, of intellectual nihilism—we do not, for instance, fail to appreciate the fact that such teaching as pretentious miracles and pseudo apparitions, Marie Alacoque, and a rampant dogmatism, may probably have sapped the positive belief of thousands, and that such a state of affairs and irritation may, and will result in a depreciation and ridicule of all dogmatic declarations, and of all credence in supernatural truths. Such is the inevitable consequence of untruth, of hyper-mysticism, of the "fraus pia," of the lying miracle, of the false prophet, in this world of ours, always prone rather to mock than to credit, to reject than to accept.

We do not, however, wish to rest too much on this point, as the Ultramontanes may fairly say, "Well, contends a you like amid non-Roman Catholic countries, amid so-called Protestant bodies, in the very midst of your refined and reformed Anglicanism, rationalism, and scepticism, doubt and disbelief, the axioms of the unorthodox sciolist and the arraignment of the illogical adversary are just as prevalent as in the most Roman Catholic countries, in what you politely term the hotbed of Ultramontanism." We do not deny the fact, but two causes, we believe, have led to this state of things: the excesses of Ultramontanism, and the violence of ultra-Calvinism (we are now speaking purely historically and uncontroversially), which have thrown many minds back in fear and doubt, in hesitation and dismay, too often only to land themselves on the bleak and dismal shore of positive unbelief, of a destructive negativism, of that substitution of humanity for religion, and of philosophy for truth, by which so many able intellects are captivated and enthralled.

At this very hour amongst us, when Bro. Ferry talks of a "dechainement de surnatural grossier et stupide," amid a salvo of applause, he may simply mean the excesses of those who have been urging on the faith and conscience of man the development of incredible and fictitious miracles, but when he adds, a little later, that "Le mysticisme et le théologisme contemporain répondent par l'embrigadement général de la sottise humaine," amid equally vivacious applause, we cannot possibly accept his word, without much qualification.

In all the eloquence, then, of those able brethren who spoke so fully at the fête of the "Clemente Amici," we clearly discern, as we said before, the avowal, as we believe, of principles, however seemingly favourable to humanity, and progress, and enlightenment, and mental development, in our humble opinion really most antagonistic to the peace and happiness of mankind. No realm that we are aware of has ever long prospered which openly avowed a rejection of religion and of the Divine government of the world and of men, and simply sought to repose on "humanitarianism," whatever that may be.

There is no possibility for human laws to rest safely on purely social sanctions, and which are not built up as on a foundation-stone, sure and steadfast, namely, the divine moral law. There is no teaching which can tend really and truly to the personal elevation and present well-being and future happiness of man, his spiritual salvation, renewal, and final restoration, which is not in accordance with Divine and inspired revelation. To hold that humanity can suffice or intellect can purify us, to content that philosophy can elevate and social morality can restrain, (there is no social morality possible which is not founded on the divine), to disavow dogma and ridicule supernaturalism, may indeed be a proof of acuteness of intellect and the criticism of scepticism, but they must end by relegating men to the heathenism of the Greeks and the Romans, and to the eventual oblivion of those untold blessings which Divine Providence and Christianity have ushered in for our suffering and toiling and dying race.

With all due deference to our able brethren in France, we in England from a practical and religious point of view, especially as Freemasons, cannot concur in a teaching which, as we regard it, is fraught with untold dangers to society, to civilisation, and to mankind, and which would apparently ridicule and reject, condemn and contradict, all that we have been taught to revere as essential—actually essential—for the welfare of individuals and nations, for the preservation of the family, the country, the altar, and most conducive the present amelioration and eventual happiness of us all, alike poor citizens of the world.

If we have in any degree ascribed to the teaching of this modern thought and action more than it will fairly bear—if we have in any way misapprehended the drift of the remarks, or misapplied the illustrations of those facile orators—we shall gladly be told so, but we fear that the humble view we have offered of a striking pamphlet is quite correct, and that we have in this another proof of the great conflict going on as between faith and intellect, between dogma and doubt, between authority and assertion, between religion and philosophy, with which we, as English Freemasons, have happily nothing to do, and from which we shall rigorously keep ourselves aloof.—W.F.A.

THE BRUSSELS EXHIBITION.

We are indebted to our contemporary, the "Times," for the following animated letter from Brussels:—

Our Royal Grand Master, the Prince of Wales, the Honorary President of the British Committee of the Exhibition, paid on Tuesday his promised visit to the Exhibition. His Royal Highness arrived from Paris on Monday afternoon, and became the King's guest at the Royal Palace opposite the Exhibition. The King came in from Laeken this morning, but was after all unable to accompany his Royal guest to the Exhibition in consequence of severe rheumatism in his knee. The King's strength was reserved for the task of presiding at a State dinner on Tuesday given in honour of His Royal Highness. The Prince drove over to the Exhibition soon after half-past two in the afternoon, and entered the building with the Queen of the Belgians upon his arm. There was a considerable gathering of the public, and among them a large proportion of English. The Comtesse De Namur and Captain Douny, Officier d'Ordonnance, were in attendance; Bro. Lord Suffield, Mr. Christopher Sykes, M.P., and Bro. F. Knollys were in the Prince's suite. The Royal party were received at the Exhibition by General Renard, Aide-de-Camp to the King, by M. Warocque, President of the Exhibition, and M. Eyraud, a member of the Administration; Mr. Saville Lumley, Her Majesty's Envoy, and Mr. John Lumley, Attaché, were in attendance. These gentlemen immediately conducted the Royal party to the British Section, through the Royal apartments and a little grove where a simple machine for escape from fire—the invention of a Belgian named Leysen—attracted attention. His Royal Highness's interest in the saving of life and property from fire is well known, and it was no slight compliment that the Prince paid to the representative of the inventor. At the entrance to the British Section the Queen of the Belgians and the Prince of Wales were received by Lieutenant-Colonel Loyd Lindsay and Mr. Polydore De Keyser, members of the British Committee. Cheers were raised as the Royal party came in.

Colonel Lindsay, on his way to the Serbian war as the trustee of the National Aid Society, with £20,000 at his disposal for the relief of the sick and wounded, arrived at Brussels in the morning and stayed one day, not only to receive His Royal Highness, but to study the unparalleled collection of ambulances and appliances for the relief of the wounded, which are to be seen here. Colonel Loyd Lindsay and his party go on to-night at eleven o'clock to Vienna, where their purchases of material will be largely guided by experience gained here. The ambulance of Mr. Emil Meyer, of Hanover, has been particularly suggestive to them. Mr. MacCormac, Surgeon-General to the fund, was presented to His Royal Highness, who then proceeded through the British Section. The lighthouse of Messrs. Chance was the first thing to attract notice, and then there were passed in rapid review Dr. Porter's splints, the Admiralty, Board of Trade, and Trinity House marine apparatus, the splendid boat of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, the cumbersome and comparatively inconvenient ambulance waggon of our own War Department, the Royal Humane Society's apparatus, and the fire-escape of the National Society.

The Exhibition is particularly rich in contrivances for safety on railways, and two of these detained His Royal Highness longer than anything else. One is Saxby and Farmer's well-known set of signals, with which the Prince of Wales was already familiar. His Royal Highness, however, was gratified to learn that they are as much appreciated in Belgium as in our own country. A map of the Belgian railways exhibited is studded with little flags, showing where this system is in operation. An invention less known, but which deserves the attentive consideration of railway engineers, is Mr. Brocklebank's automatic coupling apparatus. This very simple contrivance may be set by a handle in the carriages themselves without the dangerous work of a man between the carriages. When it is set one push from the engine is enough to couple all the coaches or trucks of a train without jolting. The large number of accidents which happen to railway servants in coupling make this model a most important one; and if the system it illustrates can be practically carried out on a large scale, the attention which His Royal Highness's notice will have drawn to Mr. Brocklebank's invention will be valuable in results.

The Royal party passed into the larger grove, or "Le Grand Bosquet," as this lawn, shaded by tall elms, is called. Here the rain, which had been threatening all day, came on, and a specimen roof, exhibited by a Belgian firm, gave opportu- nity to the party. Soon after they had returned to the building, Siemens and Halske's railway signals were explained to his Royal Highness in German, and an ingenious safety lift for mines raised by a little bucket and a long rope was explained in French. M. Gothek, the Austrian Minister, described the complete organization for the wounded of the Maltese and Teuton Knights of the Red Cross. The Prince congratulated M. Warocque upon his man-engine for mines. M. Erregé, the Italian Consul General, showed the Milanese apparatus for cremation; M. Guenther and M. Alphonse Oppenheim explained the canalization of Dantzic, accomplished by a firm of Englishmen, Messrs. Aird. The Russian models for sanitary education were fully illustrated; they are most interesting, and will merit a fuller description. The Prince admired some of the foreign fire engines, and here it is painful to say that all the Liège fire engines have been bought up for the city of Moscow, so famous in the history of public fires. There is no doubt that English makers can beat the manufacturers of Liège, but they thought fit not to compete here and so lose a valuable connection.

The awards of the juries are not yet out, though all are understood to be decided except in the maritime class. The Prince left the Exhibition after nearly two hours' stay; and after repeatedly manifesting a warm interest in what he saw, His Royal Highness on leaving said to General Renard that the Exhibition as a whole was most successful, and that it could not have been better. As to the British Section His Royal Highness himself is President of the British Committee. He is understood to have said that he was well pleased with the exertions of the Executive in bringing about so creditable a representation of this country. The Prince left this city on Wednesday for Spa, and after one day goes to Ostend, whence the yacht Osborne is to convey him to Woolwich.

Mulum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

"HERODIAN" OR "RHODIAN."

A correspondent of the "Pall Mall Gazette" writes as follows:—"Mr. Freeman must have forgot his 'Hamlet,' or he would not ask why Mr. Disraeli spoke of Sir W. Harcourt's overwrought invectives against the Turks as Herodian eloquence. Did not Hamlet tell the players with what scorn he had heard 'a rebusious periwig-pated fellow tear a passion to tatters'—adding, 'Oh! it outdoes Termagant, it out-Herods Herod'?" So far our correspondent. The truth is however, that what Mr. Disraeli said was not "Herodian," but "Rhodian eloquence." That Mr. Freeman would have understood perfectly well. Sir William Harcourt's long-drawn and profusely ornate peroration would have delighted an orator of the Rhodian school, and might even have pleased Cicero himself before he was taught better things at Athens.

BRITISH ARCHÆOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION.

On Monday, the 14th, the proceedings of the Congress of the British Archæological Association in Cornwall were formally opened by a visit paid by its members to Cothelie, the ancient seat of the Edgcombe family, on the river Tamar, between Saltash and Calstock. Bro. Lord Mount-Edgcombe and several members of his family accompanied the party up the river from Plymouth, and on arriving at Cothelie and having welcomed the Association to Cornish ground and to his own property, his lordship read a short paper on the historical associations of the place, showing how it was first acquired by one of the Edgcombes nearly five centuries ago by his marriage with the heiress of the Cothelies, and had been enlarged and remodelled by Sir Richard Edgcombe, a celebrated Lancastrian in the early period of Henry VII.'s reign. Lord Mount-Edgcombe traced the subsequent connexion of his family with the place down to a time subsequent to the building of Mount Edgcombe, when Cothelie came gradually to be less and less inhabited. Still in the last century, as well as in the present, it has been honoured by Royal visits, and there was a tradition, though, perhaps, a doubtful one, that it had given shelter for a night to King Charles. Of late years one side of the quadrangle has been restored and refitted, and it is now the residence of the Dowager Lady Mount-Edgcombe. His lordship was followed by Mr. E. Loftus Brock, F.S.A., who read an essay on the architectural features of the house, in which he described its general character as exhibiting a sort of transition from the fortified castle of the Middle Ages to the Elizabethan mansion, at the same time pointing out those parts which were of earlier date and rougher materials. The old chapel, the halls, the Ladies' Chamber, the Priests' Room, and the old retainers' yard were then visited by the company, who also inspected the pictures, the tapestry, the old china, and ancient plate belonging to the house, as well as the collection of arms of various ages and countries which hung as trophies of the war or of the chase on the walls of the hall. Among these were some bull's hide shields, some exquisite Spanish rapiers, and some large Irish horns of brass, which it is supposed were used by chieftains in the sister island to terrify opponents. The timber roof of the hall and of other rooms were much admired, and also were sundry specimens of ancient lace, and the trappings of the horse ridden by one of the Edgcombe ladies, when a Maid of Honour to the "Virgin" Queen. A handsome luncheon in the old hall, to which about 100 guests sat down, and a hurried visit to the chapel built by Sir Richard Edgcombe by the river side as a thank-offering for his escape from the Yorkist party, were all that time and tide allowed before the trumpet summoned them to start on the return voyage down the river to Saltash, where the whole party took the train for Bodmin, reaching that town about seven o'clock. Dinner over, the Association was received by the Mayor and Corporation at the Guildhall, where Lord Mount-Edgcombe delivered his inaugural address as President. He dwelt on the contrast of Cornish scenery, Cornish legends, and early Cornish antiquity to those of the rest of England; and after warning his hearers against the fault of too hasty generalization, explained at some length the programme of the week, and the reason why Launceston, Tintagel, Lostwithiel, Restormel, Penzance, and St. Michael's Mount respectively were interesting to the antiquary, and concluded by paying a tribute of gratitude to late Poet Laureate and the late Rev. R. S. Hawker for the interest in the ancient history of Cornwall, and especially of King Arthur, which they had evoked by their poems. A vote of thanks to Lord Mount-Edgcombe for his address, as well as for his hospitality at Cothelie, was passed with acclamation. A paper, by the Rev. William Jago, on the pre-historic and ecclesiastical antiquities of Bodmin, including its Priory of St. Petrock, its friary, its lazaret-house, and its noble parish church, brought the proceedings of the day to a conclusion.

The fine weather with which this year's Congress was inaugurated on the 14th, at Cothelie, has lasted till now, and the sun shone, if the truth must be told, even a little too hotly and brilliantly on our expedition of Tuesday to Tintagel and Camelford. Under the guidance of the secretaries, Mr. Loftus Brock and Mr. George Bright, the members started on Tuesday morning, at nine, a party nearly a hundred strong, in omnibuses, breaks, and open carriages, for the headquarters of Arthurian romance—a locality which few, if any, had visited before. In the way thither they quitted the beaten tourists' track along the Cornish high road, in order to pass, by special invitation of Lady Molesworth, through her charming park of Penarrow, where they were able to bestow only a passing glance at the triple vallum and fosse, which is crossed by her carriage drive. At about noon they reached Llan-teglos, where they inspected the parish church, under the guidance of the rector, the Rev. J. J. Wilkinson, and also two curious Cornish monoliths, of a Saxon, or, rather, perhaps a Celtic type, in the rectory garden, the inscriptions on which were interpreted by the Rev. William Jago. The whole party were then entertained at lunch by Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, under a marquee in the rectory grounds. Lunch being over, and the health of the Queen and of the Prince of Wales (as Duke of Cornwall) having been drunk with all honours, the bugle was sounded, and the party were off to Tintagel, or (as it is here always called) "Dandagel." At Tintagel Prebendary Kinsman was ready to explain the architecture and history of his church, parts of which, including the font, the northern doorway, and the southern transept, he claimed as of "Saxon, or at all events, pre-Norman architecture;" but his views were stoutly combated by at least one member of the Congress, who declared that he could see in their details nothing but early and rude Norman work. A lively discussion ensued, but the matter was left sub judice, and will probably be considered by the Congress more leisurely at one of its subsequent sittings. From the church the party repaired, under the guidance of Messrs. Kinsman and Wilkinson, to

"Wild Dundagel by the Cornish sea."

—where the remains of the fortress were explored by the more adventurous of the number, including the ruined keep and fortifications, part natural and part artificial, which, if the local tradition be true, were the scene of the birth, childhood, and manhood of King Arthur, the noble and heroic Prince of the West, who for so many years withstood the progress of the Saxon arms within the Cornish peninsula. There was here also, as in the church, a strong difference of opinion as to whether the walls on the double headland are those of one or of two separate castles. A few weeks ago some excavations were made by permission of the authorities of the Duchy of Cornwall in order to settle this question, but they were subsequently obliged to be abandoned owing to difficulties in situ.

Carriages were in waiting to take the party to Camel-ford, where they were to be received by the Mayor and Corporation, and where we knew that refreshments awaited us. This quaint little town, or rather village, for it is scarcely more, though it returned two members to Parliament until placed in Schedule A by the first Reform Act, has a charter dating from the days of Richard, King of the Romans, and a silver mace and punch-bowl dating from the reign of Charles II. One of the aldermen having addressed to the company a few words of greeting, and having recounted some of the old recollections of a borough which has been represented in Parliament by a Pitt, by Henry Brougham, and by "Ossian" Macpherson, they remounted the carriages, and all returned to Bodmin in time to be present at the evening sitting at the Guild-hall, when papers were read by the Rev. Dr. Margoliouth, "On the etymology of certain words in the now obsolete language of Cornwall," and by Mr. T. Kerslake, of Bristol upon "The Early Saints of Cornwall." The chair, in the absence of Lord Mount Edgumbe, was occupied by Mr. George Godwin, F.S.A.

The meeting of the Royal Archaeological Institute at Colchester has just closed. The attendance of members was not equal to that of the Canterbury meeting last year, as was only to be expected; but the antiquarian work done seems to have been fully up to the mark, especially in drawing out the local authorities, among whom we find many new names. Colchester itself, both in its history and in the architectural remains with which it is plentifully supplied, offered a subject of wide interest, and papers were read by Mr. Freeman on the history; by Mr. Lodge on Eudo Dapifer, the founder of St. John's Abbey; and by Mr. Acland on the Royal Grammar School; while the objects of interest in the neighbourhood were represented by Mr. Tucker's notes on the arms of the Petre family, by Mr. Hayward's paper on the Nunnery of Layer Marney; and by Mr. Chancellor on the Chapter of St. Peter at Bradwell. Castle Hedingham, the ancient seat of the Veres, and one of the finest Norman keeps in England, was visited on Wednesday, when Mr. Majendie, M.P., the present owner, himself described it to the members of the institute, and subsequently entertained them at luncheon in the great hall. On Thursday Colchester was perambulated, the Roman walls, with the successive reparations in the wars of the Middle Ages and of the Stuarts, forming the chief subject of interest. On Friday Layer Marney, with its beautiful brick manor house, and Maldon, with its triangular church tower, were the objects of an excursion. On Saturday Wivenhoe and St. Osyth were visited.

Colchester stands alone among English towns if we identify it with the Roman Camalodunum. Its walls are older than those of London, or at least they bound an older site, for both London and Colchester still stand where the Romans placed them, and in this respect are peculiar among our modern cities. But while London has far overflown the Roman boundaries, Colchester has shrunk, and the walls fit but loosely to the attenuated streets and diminutive churches. Mr. Freeman is reported to have said that these walls existed in the time of Boadicea, and that, unlike York, Lincoln, and Chester, they still surround the inhabited town.

MUSICAL FESTIVALS.—The Birmingham Triennial Musical Festival will be held on Tuesday, the 29th inst., and the three following days. A new cantata, by Mr. F. H. Cowen, entitled "The Corsair," will be performed on the opening day; a new oratorio, by Professor Macfarren, entitled "The Resurrection," on Wednesday morning; and a new sacred cantata, by Gade, entitled "Zion," on Wednesday evening; all the above having been composed expressly for this Festival. The programme also includes "The Holy Supper" (Friday), Wagner, the first time of performance in England; "Elijah;" Hummel's "Alma Virgo;" Mendelssohn's "Hear my Prayer;" Gade's cantata, "The Crusaders;" Spohr's "The Last Judgment;" Beethoven's "Mass, No. 1 (in C)"; and "St. Paul;" besides various miscellaneous selections, including a "Symphony," by Mozart, the Overture to "William Tell," &c. The Marquis of Hertford is the President, and Bro. Sir Michael Costa will conduct. The principal vocalists will be Mdlle. Titiens, Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Mdlle. Albani, Madame Patey, and Madame Trebelli-Bettini; Mr. Vernon Rigby, Signor Foli, Mr. Edward Lloyd, Mr. Santley, and Mr. Cecil Tovey. Mr. Stimpson will preside at the organ. We may add that the net proceeds of the Festival will be added to the funds of the Birmingham General Hospital. The Hereford Musical Festival will be held at the Cathedral and Shire-hall on the 12th, 13th, 14th, and 15th of September. The following artistes have already been engaged:—Mdlle. Titiens, Madame Edith Wynne, Madame Trebelli-Bettini, Miss Enriquez, and Miss Bertha Griffiths; Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. W. H. Cummings, Mr. Lewis Thomas, and Mr. Maybrick. The conductor will be Mr. Townshend Smith.

WASTE AND WANT.—Francatelli used to say that he could feed a thousand families on the waste of London; and doubtless he was no way beyond the mark, especially if we regard the wicked, wanton destruction of food in our markets for lack of some means of rapid distribution. We were remarking last week on the aims and powers of the City Guilds, and here would certainly be a splendid opening for one or two of the great companies which are associated with the provisioning of London. Recently the Duke of Edinburgh was eulogizing the Fishmongers' Company for weekly destroying tons and tons of fish which are said to be unfit for food. How far more excellent would be the praise which could point out how a great City Guild had, by wholesome regulations and an effective organization, preserved and distributed to the people, who are in greatest need, tons of wholesome and delicious provision which would but for this timely interposition have been lost altogether? Not a week, not a day passes that we do not hear of quantities of fish, meat and vegetables, fruit and pastry, wasted, and only utilized for making manure; and the original waste and destruction at the markets are followed by almost equally wanton extravagance at hotels, clubs, and private houses. There is a soup kitchen not far from Leicester-square where the clean sacks full of broken bread which come from two West-end clubs are eagerly received and appreciated by the hungry applicants, who sniff from afar the odour of that great cauldron of stock made from the bones and ends of joints—the unconsidered trifles of the larder and the kitchen. In the matter of some of the cheaper kinds of vegetables and of fruit the costermongers continue to carry them through those poor outlying neighbourhoods where they find ready customers, but there is little chance of meat, fish, or poultry being distributed in a similar way. Even if they could be, there are people all round London who seldom know what it is to have a full meal, and there are scores of children who scarcely know the taste of wholesome meat at all.—"City Press."

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, September 1, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 26.

Lodge 1541, Alexandra Palace, Alexandra Palace, N.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.

Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.

Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, AUGUST 28.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.

Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.

Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.

Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.

Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.

St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.

Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.

Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.

Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.

Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.

Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.

Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.

Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.

St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.

Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.

Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.

Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.

Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.

Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.

Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30.

Lodge 898, Temperance-in-the-East, Newby-pl., Poplar.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.

Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.

New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.

Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.

Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.

Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.

Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.

Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.

Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.

United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.

Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.

Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31.

Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.

Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.

Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.

Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.

Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.

Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.

The Great City, 111, Cheapside.

High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.

Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albany-rd., Dalston.

Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

Lodge 1275, Star, Ship Hot., Greenwich.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.

Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.

Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.

Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.

Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.

Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.

Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.

United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.

St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.

Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.

Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.

Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.

St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.

Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.

Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.

Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.

Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.

Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday September 2, 1876.

MONDAY, AUGUST 28.

Lodge 148, Lights, M. Rooms, Warrington.

" 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.

" 703, Clifton, Clifton Hot., Blackpool.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29.

Lodge 897, Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helen's.

" 986, Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston.

Chap. 721, Grosvenor, M.R., Chester.

Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30.

Lodge 86, Loyalty, M.H., Prescott.

" 484, Faith, Gerard's Arms, Ashton-in-Makerfield.

" 580, Harmony, Wheatsheaf, Ormskirk.

" 758, Ellesmere, M.H., Runcorn.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31.

Lodge 950, Hesketh, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.

" 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., White-le-Wds.

" 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.

" 1313, Fernor, M.H., Southport.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

Lodge 680, Sefton, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.

" 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.

" 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.

" 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.

Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 2, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, AUGUST 28.

Lodge 103, Union & Crown, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

" 292, St. John, Bishop-st., Rothesay.

Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30.

Chap. 73, Caledonian of Unity, 213, Buchanan-st.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31.

Lodge 167, Free Operative, M.H., Biggar.

" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.

Chap. 117, Govan, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

Lodge 7, Hamilton Kilwinning, M.H., Hamilton.

" 114, Royal Arch, M.H., Cambuslang.

" 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.

" 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.

" 175, St. John, St. John's Hall, Greenock.

" 217, Cumberland, Kilwinning, Port Glasgow.

" 242, Houston, Cross Keys Hot., Johnstone.

" 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.

" 335, Argyle, Drill Hall, Dunoon.

" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.

" 408, Clyde, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

" 459, Kelburne, Cumbrae Hot., Millport.

" 512, Thorntree, School House, Thornliebank.

" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Lanark.

Chap. 112, Paisley, St. Mirren's Hall, Paisley.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

Lodge 458, St. John, Wilson's Hall, Busby.

" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 2, 1876.

MONDAY, AUGUST 28.

Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

Lodge 291, Celtic, Ship Hot., E. Register-st.

YOUNG GENTLEMEN'S ACADEMY, QUAI DU LEMAN, GENEVA.

(Founded in 1843 by Mr. Diederichs, for the last five years under the direction of Bro. V. Wisard.)

A School of long standing and high reputation. Beautiful and healthy situation. Complete education. Special studies for modern languages. Advantageous terms for the sons of Masonic brethren. Highest Masonic and Commercial references.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	393
Scotland.....	393
Consecration of the Tredegar Lodge.....	393
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	394
Archæology.....	395
British Archæological Association.....	395
The "Michigan Freemason".....	397
My Brother.....	397
Masonic and General Tidings.....	397
Obituary.....	397
The Next Quarterly Communication.....	398
Masonic Vulgarity.....	398
The Violence of Politicians.....	399
The Metropolitan Police.....	399
Peace or War.....	400
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Masonic Orphan Boys' and Girls' School, Dublin.....	400
Masonic Jurisprudence.....	400
Masonic Archæology.....	400
The Installation Engraving.....	400
Masonic Profession and Practice.....	400
The Next Quarterly Communication.....	400
A Letter to Bro. Caubet.....	400
The War in the East.....	400
Lost on Wastdale.....	401
A Little Friendly Gossip on some of the Topics of the Day.....	401
United Grand Lodge.....	401
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	402
Advertisements.....	402

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

SOUTHALL.—Acacia Lodge (No. 1309).—The installation meeting was held on Tuesday, 22nd August, at the Prince Alfred Hotel, Southall. Bro. C. Horsley, P.P.G.R. Middlesex, P.M., W.M., opened the lodge. He raised the Rev. J. Fothergill to the Third Degree, passed Bro. C. Wareham and C. L. Smiles to the Second Degree. Bro. F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Treas., installed Bro. C. G. Rushworth, W.M., who selected for his officers Bro. J. W. George, S.W.; C. G. C. Staley, J.W.; F. Walters, P.G.J.D., P.M., Treas. (re-invested); the Rev. T. W. Cave, L.L.D., Sec.; the Rev. J. Fothergill, Chaplain; R. P. Tebb, S.D.; J. Scott, J.D.; J. Davies, I.G.; J. Sutcliffe, D.C.; Smiles, W.S.; W. Y. Laing, P.M., Tyler. The W.M. initiated Messrs. W. J. C. Cave, D. Tremere, and G. Wente into Freemasonry. On behalf of the lodge he presented Bro. C. Horsley, P.P.G.R. Middlesex, I.P.M., with a ten-guinea Past Master's jewel, which had been unanimously voted to him from the lodge funds. An important notice of motion was unanimously agreed to. The whole of the work was done well. Some candidates were proposed for initiation. Banquet and dessert followed. Visitors: Bros. J. Robins, P.P.G.D. Surrey; Siegert, P.M. 548.

CHAUCER LODGE (No. 1540) met on Wednesday, August 23rd, at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Bro. T. J. Sabine, W.M., presided. He passed Bro. E. Coleman, and initiated Messrs. T. H. K. Harding, W. M. Phillips, and C. Winstanley. Bro. F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Sec., passed Bro. G. Newman. The work was done well. Bro. G. W. Frodsham, late 256; and T. Wilkinson, 141, were unanimously elected joining members. The initiation fee was raised from seven to ten guineas. The elections were unanimously in favour of Bro. J. C. Mason, S.W. for W.M.; T. J. Sabine, W.M., Treasurer; W. Y. Laing, P.M., re-elected Tyler. The audit committee was formed. Some gentlemen were proposed for initiation. The lodge was closed. Supper followed. There were present besides those named Bros. T. J. H. Wilkins, I.P.M.; G. H. Wright, P.M.; W. J. Kemp, S.D.; C. W. Hudson, J.D.; H. Faija, I.G.; A. J. Hawkes, D.C.; J. Hutt, R. C. Harrison, R. H. Willats, C. Graham, G. H. Mason, H. Levy, W. Klingenstein, and others. The visitors were Bros. E. H. Thielay, P.G.S.B. Middlesex, W.M. 145; C. G. Rushworth, W.M. 1309; T. W. Adams, 765; G. Müller, 73; Pincer, Admirateurs de l'Univers, Paris.

GREAT STANMORE.—Abercorn Lodge (No. 1549).—The fourth regular meeting of this summer lodge was held at the Abercorn Hotel on Tuesday, August 1st, present, Bros. J. W. Garrod, W.M.; Helsdon, I.P.M. (now Grand Pursuivant for Middlesex), and the rest of the officers; Bro. J. Nunn, P.G.S.B., and many of the lodge members. The lodge was opened with solemn prayer in the First Degree at 3.15 by the W.M., and after the minutes of last meeting were duly confirmed, the ballot was taken unanimously for Messrs. Buck, Darby, and Johnson, as candidates for initiation, and they, with Mr. Fradelle, who was previously elected, were fully enlightened into the beauties of the First Degree in Freemasonry. Bro. Meek was also passed to the Second Degree, and Bro. Peach raised to the sublime Third Degree, the whole of the three ceremonies being most ably performed by the I.P.M. The W.M. having authorised a lodge of Emergency for September 5th, and the usual formalities disposed of, the lodge was closed in perfect harmony at 7 p.m. The usual banquet followed with the assistance of the musical brethren, and the evening closed with general satisfaction.

LIVERPOOL.—The Dramatic Lodge (No. 1609).—The usual monthly assembly of the brethren belonging to this promising lodge was held on Tuesday, the 22nd ult., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, where there was a good gathering of members and visitors. The chair of K.S. was worthily occupied by Bro. J. Bell, W.M., who was well supported by Bros. B. B. Marson, P.M.; W. J. Chapman, S.W.; Lindo Courtenay, J.W.; A. Woolrich, Treas. (acting as Secretary); W. W. Sandbrook, J.D.; J. Atkinson, I.G.; A. Collinson, S.; and W. H. Ball, Tyler. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, Messrs. J. Cowdall, J. H. Stringer, P. Shrapnell, and Peacock were initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. The work was very admirably done, Bro. C. Leighton, P.M. 1325, presiding at the harmonium. Bros. Cotton, Stafford, and Meers were subsequently raised to the sublime degree of M.M.'s. A set of bye-laws for the regulation of the lodge was read by Bro. P.M. Marson, and the brethren adopted the proposed bye-laws without discussion. After labour, refreshments were served, and a very pleasant evening was spent, harmony and recitations being contributed by Bros. R. Brown, Braithwaite, Chapman, Courtenay, Woolrich, Capell, and others.

INSTRUCTION.

VICTORIA METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—On Friday 25th ult., notwithstanding that it is seaside time, a good muster of the brethren of this energetic lodge held a meeting at the Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, to hear Bro. Crutch, the W.M. of the Burdett Courts Lodge, work the installation ceremony, a work which he has to do in real earnest at the next meeting of his own lodge. Bro. Stacey, the Preceptor, and many P.M.'s were present, and they were all greatly pleased at the manner in which the Master did his work. Bro. Bingemann was the Master installed. As a compliment for the work the brethren elected Bro. Crutch an honorary member of the lodge. We are glad to say that the Benevolence Club, to make brethren life subscribers of the charities, is flourishing under the energetic management of Bros. Stacey and W. W. Snelling.

Scotland.

EDINBURGH.—St. David's Lodge (No. 36).—A special meeting of this lodge was held at the Ship Hotel, East Register-st., Edinburgh, on Saturday, the 26th August, for the purpose of affiliating several English brethren prior to their leaving Scotland. The lodge was opened by the R.W.M., Bro. Lieut. M. Tracey, Royal Artillery, assisted by Bro. A. W. Edwards, S.W.; J. Inglis, J.W.; S. Webb, S.D.; E. Webb, J.D.; J. Fleming, Chap.; G. S. Fernie, Sec.; Dr. J. Carmichael, P.M. 48; R. S. Brown, P.M. 145; J. Maclean, 1; T. G. Plummer, 2; J. Cameron and W. Henry, 145; J. B. Mercer, 252; H. J. Shields, 275; W. M. Bryce, 291; A. M. Bruce, Treas. 349; T. Webb, sen.; and A. Robertson, Tyler. The object of the meeting having been explained by the W.M., the Deacons withdrew, and conducted into the lodge for affiliation the following brethren, viz.: Bros. John Boyd, P.G. Purs. and Grand Steward of England, P.M. 145, 534; R. Wentworth Little, P.P.S.G.W., and Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, P.M. 975 and 1293; H. C. Levander, P.P.G.D. Wiltshire, P.M. 730 and 928; and G. Kenning, P.P.G.D. Middlesex, P.M. 192. The affiliation ceremony was then proceeded with, and at its conclusion the new members were greeted with loud applause, and warmly congratulated by all present. The W.M. then expressed the high satisfaction which he had experienced in enrolling four such members of the Grand Lodge of England as affiliated "brothers" of "Auld St. David's" he might especially mention Bro. Little, whom he had known for 8 or 9 years, and whose presence he gladly welcomed that evening, and he was sure that the other brethren were equally worthy of the compliment which St. David's Lodge so freely bestowed upon them. Bro. Boyd, in reply, thanked the brethren for their kindness, and assured them that neither himself nor his colleagues would ever forget the honourable distinction conferred, or the fraternal reception accorded by the brethren of St. David's. The lodge was then closed, and the company sat down to refreshment. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, and in giving "The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of England" referred in eulogistic terms to the working of Freemasonry in England, and as an English Mason himself he felt especially pleased to be enabled to greet such worthy brethren from "t'other side o' the Tweed." Bro. Boyd returned thanks for the Grand Lodge of England. Several toasts and songs followed, and then Bro. Little, having obtained permission from the chair, called upon the brethren to drink "The Health of the W.M., Lieut.-Tracey," whose friendship he was proud to claim and to reciprocate. The toast was received with the utmost enthusiasm, and elicited a capital response from the Presiding Officer. Bro. Levander proposed "Prosperity to St. David's Lodge," Bro. Carmichael, M.D., replied for "The P.M.'s," Bro. Edwards for "The Officers." Bro. Mercer in returning thanks for "The Visitors" expatiated in glowing language on the past history of No. 36, especially alluding to the fact that Sir Walter Scott first saw the light of Freemasonry in Lodge St. David's, and the most distinguished brethren in the Craft might be proud to belong to such a lodge, which was now A 1 for working in the Scottish metropolis. After the final toast the brethren separated.

GLASGOW.—Cathedral Chapter (No. 67).—A regular monthly meeting of this chapter was held in the Masonic Hall, 22, Struthers-street, Calton, on Tuesday, 22nd August. A lodge of Mark Masters being opened, Bro. Duthie, W.M., in the chair, Bro. Mercer, of 87 Chapter, Senior Warden, Bro. Perston, of 87, acting Junior Warden. A competent number of Mark Masters were present, two brethren being in waiting for admission into the Order. They were taken into the open lodge and received this degree; also the lodge was raised to the Excellent Master degree, and afterwards the candidates received instructions in this degree. The lodge was closed and a chapter was constituted and opened, Comp. Duthie, Z., in the chair, Comps. Ronald, H.; Russell, J.; Bisland, First Soj.; and a full meeting of companions present. The candidates were taken into the open chapter and received this degree by Comps. Duthie, Z., and Bisland, at his post as First Soj. Comp. Duthie thanked the companions for the assistance given during the past four years he had occupied the chair in the Cathedral, and informed the companions present to look out for a successor to him, as he would vacate holding any office after the 23rd of September, but although out of office it would at all times be a pleasure to him to assist in the work of the Cathedral, or to try and forward Royal Arch Masonry in any way when in his power to do so, and hoped the Cathedral Chapter would go on prospering, and succeed better than ever. He mentioned that Saturday being the 23rd of September this year, the meeting for election of new office-bearers would be held on that night about 5 p.m., when a goodly attendance was expected. Comp. Bisland proposed, and Comp. Ronald seconded, that on some night previous the Scribe E. call a meeting of present office-bearers to be held in 67, London-street. Comps. W. H. Jackson and John Laird were appointed to audit the books. Afterwards the new companions made some remarks as to being admitted into the Order, and the chapter was closed in due and ancient form by Comps. Duthie, Z.; Mercer, H.; Ronald, J., all companions standing to order.

CONSECRATION OF THE TREDEGAR LODGE, No. 1625.

Another new London lodge was consecrated on Wednesday evening last in that stronghold of Freemasonry, the East End. Numerous though the Masonic lodges are in that neighbourhood, and vigorously as they are supported it has yet been found that there is room for others, indeed, that it is absolutely necessary that there should be others in order to give intending initiates an opportunity of entering the Order in lodges where the numerical strength is not too great. The increase in the number of all lodges has been very rapid of late years, and at the present time it is going on with even greater rapidity than at any known period of Masonic annals; but still the cry is for more lodges, and in the metropolis the cry is becoming very urgent. According to the agenda paper of Grand Lodge for next Wednesday, out of a list of nineteen new warrants granted for lodges since the last Quarterly Communication, no less than seven are for lodges within the metropolitan area. Some of these have already been consecrated; but there yet remain a few others, and the latest addition to the consecrations was that of the Tredegar Lodge, No. 1625, which was consecrated on Wednesday last at the Royal Hotel, Mile End Road, by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary of England.

The brethren assembled early in the afternoon, when they had an opportunity of viewing the lodge-room before the ceremony of consecration took place. This was found to be a handsome apartment having a northerly frontage to the Mile End Road, and an eastern frontage to the Burdett Road. The Tylers had arranged the lodge, whose furniture was all of solid oak, and made in the very best style of workmanship under the superintendence of the brethren who had got up the lodge.

The ceremony of consecration was commenced about four o'clock, when Bro. John Hervey took the chair and appointed Bros. H. G. Buss, Prov. G.J.W. Middlesex, S.W.; F. Binckes, P.G.S., J.W.; E. Mortlock, D.C.; the Rev. B. Kingsford, Rector of Shadwell, as Chaplain; and C. B. Payne, Tyler.

Bro. Seymour Smith presided at the harmonium, and was assisted by Bros. G. T. Carter and T. Baxter.

The complete list of brethren present comprised the following:—Bros. John Hervey, Charles Lacey, George Huggett, George Hollington, Brencley Kingsford, G. Ward Verry, James Wood, John Marve, B. Caudick, S.W. 1421; W. Morgan, 1357; James Allen W.M. 114; Henry Williams, P.M. 227; W. Lusty, W.M. 1259; E. F. Dix, 1421; C. B. Payne, G.T.; W. R. Marsh, P.M. 9 and 933; H. Massey ("Freemason"); F. Baylis, 554; S. M. Lazarus, P.P.G.W. Wilts; M. Joseph, P.M. 182; W. J. Crutch, W.M. 1278; E. Gothiel, P.M. 185; H. W. Chadwick, P.M. 754; W. L. Livermore, 554; Samuel Moss, 212; James Ventres, 554; Thomas Moore, 733; J. Myerscough, 780; A. Hayward, 781; Wm. Davies, 1259; J. Newton, P.M. 174; H. J. Dickson, 711; J. W. Dunstan, 174; W. J. J. Medland, 781; J. B. Hogarth, 1107; E. J. Anning, 1564; Thomas Baxter, 145; Thomas Battis, 554; J. J. W. Job, 1076; George James, 174; Joseph J. Ashburner, P.M. 1278; G. T. Carter, P.M. 382; Seymour Smith, 742; E. T. Read, P.M. 781 and 1343; George Brooth, W.M. 92; J. T. Berry, W.M. 554; Hugh Catty, S.W. 554; J. Taylor, S.D. 1421, and I.G. 554; John G. Stevens, P.M. 554; G. W. T. Mugliston, P.M. 1421; and R. G. Harrison, 206.

The lodge having been formed and business commenced with the customary routine, Bro. Hervey, in opening the proceedings of the day, said that at that period of the ceremony it was usual for the presiding officer to address the brethren shortly upon the nature of the meeting, but as he had not the assistance of a professed Chaplain, his friend on his left (Bro. Kingsford) would only assist him in a degree. He would not detain them further than by saying that it had afforded him great pleasure to come down that day to aid in the foundation of a new lodge and to place a brother in the chair who he was sure was well fitted for the position. Freemasons were vastly increasing in their number of lodges, as they around that room were well aware, and he trusted that although the number of lodges was swelling in a very great degree, yet that it was not swelling too rapidly, that the lodges would all prosper and further the interests which all Freemasons had at heart. He was delighted to think that all the lodges as far as he knew were at present flourishing, and he trusted that would be the case with this lodge as well as with those which had immediately preceded it. He would reserve the few further observations he had to make to a later period, for by some accident it so happened that he did not get the programme of the proceedings till that morning, and he then found that he should not have the advantage as they frequently and generally had, of having a Chaplain. He (Bro. Hervey) had not come prepared with any oration, but he would when the time came say a few words to them as to the nature and precepts of the Craft.

The other formalities having then been observed, Bro. Hervey said: Brethren, I stated to you just now that we (I may say "we," because I speak for my good friend on my left (Bro. Kingsford) and myself at the same time) are not prepared with an oration to address to you on the present occasion; therefore I will make my remarks very brief, as I am sure you will bear with me because I did not expect to be called upon to address you in what is technically termed an oration, which on this occasion will simply resolve itself into a few remarks. Brethren, the ceremony of consecration is eminently one which I think impresses itself, and ought to impress itself upon the memory of all those who are present when it is performed, because it inculcates, I may say, first, a reverence to the Great Architect of the Universe; secondly, it calls to our attention that kindness and brotherly feeling which ought to pervade the whole Craft; and thirdly, it impresses upon us the necessity of living in charity with all mankind. On the first of these points, brethren, I think I may almost be silent, because every one of the ceremonies of the Order have a direct reference to the Great Architect of the Universe, to whom we all owe our being, and by whose favor we are permitted here to assemble. It is especially, however, inculcated in the ceremony of consecration, because a lodge (every lodge) is dedicated to the Great Architect of the Universe, and is supposed to be opened in His name. Therefore the ceremony of consecration is not one to be looked upon lightly, but one that we ought to look to as a guide in some respects for our proceedings, as a support to us in the day of difficulty, and as something to look to in the day of account. With regard to our love for each other, it is strongly inculcated in all the psalms and hymns, and anthems, which are usually sung upon these occasions; and I think if we would look more especially with regard to our love for each other to the desire that every man ought to have to benefit his fellow creatures, which is most strongly inculcated in Freemasonry to act to each other as we would be done to, then we should go through the world in a much better fashion than we do now; we should hear of no dissent in lodges; we should hear of nothing but that harmony which is impressed upon us in every ceremony of the Order, and which ought to pervade every act of our lives. With regard to charity to all mankind, brethren, that again is inculcated in the prayers that you will hear to-day from my rev. friend to my left; and we as Masons ought to be especially careful in shewing to the world that we not only have a fraternal feeling to each other, but that our lives and characters are swayed by the principles we profess. And, brethren, I have on more than one occasion repeated to you the necessity, when I have consecrated a lodge I have hinted to the brethren of the new lodge the necessity of being careful whom they introduce into their ranks; because it not only is incumbent upon them that they should have good men in their own lodges, but it is also incumbent upon them that they should not permit to enter the Order those who are not fitted for us, and so encumber the Craft generally with men who ought never to have entered Masonry. And I must recur once more to a subject which I dare say more than one in this room have heard me mention before, and that is the principle of blackballing, which I am sorry to say is not done away with in the bodies of the Craft. I do not mean to say that if an unworthy man presents himself to a lodge the black ball should not be used (because that is what is ordained for us), but it is that principle that when a brother thinks his merits are overlooked, when he fancies when he is made J.D. he ought to be made J.W., and that he judges himself from a partial point of view, and not from the view by which he is judged by his brethren, he says, "My merits are overlooked; I will blackball every body proposed in the lodge; nobody shall enter the lodge when the present W.M. is in the chair; this is the principle I speak against; and I ask you, is that principle charity. Is it Masonry; or is it not the principle which we are told is so contrary to the spirit of our Order? But, brethren, that such may never be the case in this lodge I sincerely pray; but if a brother thinks that he is overlooked for one year let him wait for another year, and if he is a worthy brother; if he works; if he endeavours to make himself agreeable to the lodge generally, in time his merits will be acknowledged, and he will then be promoted to the highest offices in the lodge. Brethren, as I said before I did not come down here with any intention to make what is termed an oration to you, because of that I am not capable; and especially when I am called down suddenly to address a body of the brethren without any sort of preparation; but I know that you will accept a few practical hints from me from the position in which I am placed. I do not think I have said anything to you [which you will think out of place. I am quite satisfied that what I have said to you if it stops one black ball going into the box improperly then what I have said will have done good service; and I do trust that if any of the brethren round this room think that they have an objection to a man who is proposed, and it is a reasonable objection they ought to ask the brother who has proposed him to withdraw his name; and if he will not do it, then he must subject his friend to the disagreeable position of being blackballed. I do not think any man ought to be forced into any lodge against the wishes of its members; but at the same time don't let one—as I have known in some country lodges, and I could name two or three at the present moment—prosperous lodges, one being destroyed because one man has taken an objection to his not being brought forward, and he says very quietly, "Well the Master told me so and so; you shall not have any work during your year of office," and he has carried it out. Now, I think it is a system which we ought to do our utmost to put an end to; and I trust that those who are around this room will endeavour to assist the authorities in so doing. Then they will do good service to the Craft and do good service to the lodge of which they are members. (Applause.)

The ceremony was afterwards proceeded with, and the lodge was duly constituted, consecrated, and dedicated, an excellent service of music accompanying the established form of procedure.

At the completion of this ceremony, Bro. Thomas Mortlock, D.C., by direction of Bro. Hervey, presented to him Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M. of No. 174 and several other lodges, as the W.M. designate for installation, and Bro. Hervey according to ancient custom placed him in the chair of King Solomon.

After the formal congratulations and salutations Bro. Lacey, W.M., invested the following brethren as his officers, Bro. Rawley being elected Treasurer and Bro. Steedman, Tyler:—Bros. George Huggett, S.W.; George Hollington, J.W.; George Ward Verry, Sec.; G. J. Anning, S.D.; Dunstan, J.D.; Kendall, I.G. J. Wood, D.C.; and Maud, W.S.

Bro. Hervey delivered the addresses, and subsequently on the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W., he was unanimously elected an honorary member of the lodge.

Bro. Hervey having thanked the brethren for the compliment, Bro. Verry read out a list of names of gentlemen proposed for initiation and of brethren for joining.

The Treasurer proposed, and the J.W. seconded, a vote of thanks to Bros. Buss and Binckes for assisting, and also that they should be elected honorary members of the lodge; and this having been likewise carried nem. con., both these brethren acknowledged the vote, and the lodge was then formally closed.

Banquet was subsequently provided, and after the brethren had thoroughly enjoyed the excellent repast, which was provided in capital style by the proprietor of the Royal Hotel, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed.

Bro. John Hervey, in reply for "The Grand Officers," thanked the lodge for their recognition of the services of these brethren, and then said he would give a toast which the brethren at the table would receive, if possible, with more enthusiasm than they had received the toast of the Grand Officers. He was sure that if there was a toast which justified enthusiasm it was that which he was about to propose. He had asked the W.M. in a semi sort of way whether he might do so, and as the W.M. did not say no, he took that non-negative for an affirmative. The brethren, one and all, more especially the members of that lodge, would agree that they had a W.M. who they thought fitted for the position which he was called upon to occupy for the next thirteen months; and they had chosen him because they liked him, and thought he was the right man in the right place, who could perform his duties not only to their satisfaction, but to that of the Craft in general. He was sure that the members of the lodge weighed well their choice before they submitted their petition to the M.W.G.M., and he was satisfied that when they had submitted that petition they did not regret that they had done so. To-day they had seen their wishes consummated, and the Master of their choice placed in the chair to which he (Bro. Hervey) was sure he would be an ornament, and which he was so capable of filling. Coming down into that part of the world (it was a different part of the world to the West-end; it was a different part of the world to the still further eastern portion of London), they found that in that locality Bro. Lacey was well known and well respected; and from the position which he filled that evening it was evident he was not only well respected, but well beloved by his brother Masons. (Hear, hear.) What more could he say about Bro. Lacey? He thought, nothing. He could only say, as far as he was concerned, he wished him every good wish which men could frame one for another during the ensuing year. He trusted that he would have good health to perform the duties which would devolve upon him, and that he would be supported by his brethren in the manner in which he deserved to be supported. When he retired from the chair no doubt it would be found that he had earned the good-will and satisfaction of all the brethren. (Cheers.)

The W.M. said he could scarcely find words to convey his gratitude for Bro. Hervey's kind expressions; but he would pledge himself to this, that in the Tredegar Lodge he would do his utmost to promote its welfare; and as the brethren had thought fit to entrust him with the responsibilities of his exalted position as first W.M. of the lodge he trusted he would do justice to their confidence. At least he would do the best he could; and when the time arrived for some other brother to take his position he hoped that his own occupancy of the chair would not cause any brother to regret the choice he had made. He thanked them one and all, but more especially Bro. Hervey for his kind expressions with regard to the W.M.

The W.M. next proposed "The Consecrating Officer," Bro. Hervey on his left, because that brother had discharged very important duties that evening, viz., the consecration of the lodge. It was fortunate for the brethren that they had a brother who was so well distinguished in Freemasonry to come down to the east end of London to set them as it were upon their legs. He (the W.M.) had been greatly pleased to have such an eminent Freemason as Bro. Hervey to come down to the extreme east. When Bro. Hervey had seen what the brethren's intentions were, he hoped he would soon come down again, and it would be a great gratification to all the brethren of the lodge to have such an eminent member of the lodge once more among them. He was sure that Bro. Hervey appreciated the compliment they had paid him in enrolling him as one of their members. Bro. Hervey was so well known that it was quite unnecessary for him (the W.M.) to say more; but he wished that Bro. Hervey might be spared to a good old age and enjoy all the blessings which might be showered upon him. (Cheers.)

Bro. Hervey said he knew when he returned thanks for "The Grand Officers" that there was another which he might say, unfortunately for himself and for the brethren, he would have to reply to, and which would come more home to his feelings than that of the Grand Officers. He felt that the present toast had been given and responded to by the brethren in his favour, not as a Grand Officer, but as one of themselves, as one who partook of their labours, who was glad to mix with them whenever the opportunity offered of doing any service to the Craft, and as one who hoped and believed that he was well and cordially affected by his fellow Masons. In that position he then found himself, and he thanked the W.M. and the brethren of the lodge for the kind reception they had given him. An observation had been made about his coming into the east of London, from which it would almost appear that that was his first appearance beyond the Royal Exchange. He assured them that such was not the case. Some years ago he consecrated the Beacontree Lodge, of which he had the honour of being an honorary member, and if circumstances would permit he trusted he should see his good friend on his left in a prominent position in that lodge before many weeks were over. He also had the honour of consecrating the Langthorne Lodge, of which the W.M. (Bro. Lacey) was the first Master. He also consecrated the Burdett Coutts Lodge; and therefore he did not think they could fairly say that this was his first voyage to the east. He had come down that day with very great pleasure to consecrate the Tredegar Lodge, for in that neighbourhood this was the third appearance of Bro. Lacey in the character of first W.M. He (Bro. Hervey) was proud to say he was an honorary member of all the lodges he had named, and whenever the opportunity arose for him to visit them he was always well received. In conclusion he could only thank the brethren for the compliment they had paid him, and he thanked them also for the kindness with which he was received, and which in the Beacontree, the Burdett Coutts, and the Langthorne he always experienced. (Applause.)

The W.M. proposed "The Masonic Institutions" for one of which—the Aged—Bro. Verry, will represent this lodge as Steward at the next festival.

Bro. G. W. Verry, Secretary, responded. His name had been associated with these Institutions for years past, and he hoped it would be as long as his life was spared. He should be very proud to be the first Steward of this lodge in February next, and he felt convinced that with the assistance of the W.M. and the brethren he would be enabled to take up a very good list. He had now £50 to start with, and he knew he would be able to get "three figures," if he could not get more. Rest assured, as long as he had been known to Bro. John G. Stevens, and the other "Masonic beggars" at the East End of London, he was proud to be connected with them, and they would all be proud to keep up their reputation of being "the Masonic beggars of the East End of London." (Great cheering.)

The other toasts were disposed of, and the brethren then separated, having made a most successful debut as a new lodge.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of this Institution was held on Thursday at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Lieut.-Colonel Creaton, V.P., presided, and there were likewise present Bros. A. H. Tattershall, W. Stephens, F. G. Baker, Robert B. Webster, Jesse Turner, Henry Browne, Thomas W. White, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Thomas Massa, H. A. Dubois, F. Binckes, Major Finney, and R. W. Little (Secretary).

Three petitions were received, and one was deferred for further information from the lodge of which petitioner's father was a member.

The Chairman said that it was quite time now that they thought of the laundry at the institution. The other work was going on very well, and it was now the proper time to move for getting the sanction of a Court of Governors and subscribers to the building of the laundry, or they would drive the work into the winter. For the information of the brethren he might say that he had given notice to the Secretary to convene a Special Court at the earliest convenient opportunity to take the subject into consideration.

Bro. Browne asked if the drawings were ready.

The Chairman said they had a rough drawing of the intended works.

Bro. Massa said the design was ready but the proper drawings would have to be prepared.

Bro. Jesse Turner asked whether the new buildings could be fitted with the latest improvements in machinery.

The Chairman replied that everything would be done in the best way.

Bro. Binckes asked whether a Special Court was required. Although himself not generally accused of having economical ideas, he was averse to expense, and he knew the expense of convening the special meetings.

The Chairman observed that it was necessary to have a special meeting on account of the time, and at the October Quarterly Court the brethren would have plenty to do without having the subject of the laundry to consider.

It was then arranged to call the special meeting for Saturday, the 9th inst., at twelve o'clock noon.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

COMMISSION ON MONEY ORDERS.—A sum of £22,669 os. 9d. was produced in the last financial year by commission on money orders.

ARCHÆOLOGY.

We have recorded in our last two impressions portions of the proceedings of various Archæological Societies, and we should have been glad if our space permitted us to give these reports more in detail. For we feel that, despite sometimes the apparently trivial intent of some tedious papers of some good friends of ours, there is no study which has after all a greater charm for the educated and intelligent, no greater claim on the good will and gratitude even of mankind. For, as the late Bishop of Winchester so well said at Winchester in 1845 (he was then Bishop of Oxford) in words which we shall probably have forgotten, and it may do us good to be reminded that what archæology and archæologists "profess to be is neither small nor unimportant." On the contrary, let us take first of all his striking exposition of this goodly study and pursuit:—

"Assuredly the first idea of our pursuit is noble: we profess to believe in the fellowship which, for all the generations of men, runs through all times. We know that we now are what all those bygone ages have made us to be; and we will not be fooled by the visible intrusive present, into believing that we, and our objects, and our days, are all, or the greatest things. We see that we are a link in the golden chain which reaches from the beginning to the end. We protest against the old reproach, which likens Time to the beggar 'putting good deeds, as alms, into the wallet at his back for mere oblivion.' We declare that to 'have done' shall no more be 'to hang quite out of fashion, like rusty mail in monumental mockery.' We know that there was a life—a true-acting life—in those old times, showing itself forth in those old deeds; and what that life was, we desire earnestly to know. We wish to see it in its own lights and shades; not with the bird's-eye view which may be caught from some distant eminence; but even as it really was,—with its strength and its weakness,—with its beauties and its defects; and for this we know that we must look at it with a loving earnestness;—with love, for to nothing but love will that veiled past reveal its reverend features,—and with earnestness, for it is only by the careful study of its every lineament that we can fashion forth its mysterious countenance. This is our purpose,—to reproduce before our eyes those old times: and therefore is it that we would watch with such a brooding care over every relique, be its outward circumstance in itself beautiful or deformed; for, so that it be not tampered with, and taught a new tale, it is a witness of that which was, and is not,—of that which we would fain recal; and therefore do we pore into its dust; not as if that dust was precious in itself, but precious for the witness which it bears,—precious as the coat of down upon the virgin and unhandled fruit; telling us, that so indeed Time left it, with this cunning overlaying which should bear silent but undoubted record of any stolen visits of the artfullest intruder.

"And therein is the true value of these ancient reliques; and it is for their lack of such particulars and epitomes and compendiums are noted by the sagacious Bacon, as 'the corruption and moths that have fretted and corroded many sound and excellent bodies of history, and reduced them to base and unprofitable dregs.' For by the ministry of such soft, unobtrusive, and often unregarded voices is borne, if any where, to watching ears the message of the Past; that strain of power and mystery and beauty to which the fool is deaf, but which sounds so sweetly to the wise of heart, and which sounds and enlightens its wisdom within her secret cells. Therefore is it that with curious eyes we would scrutinize every trace of the manners of those who went before us,—that we have dared with no irreverent familiarity to open their mysterious barrows,—that we peer into their dust,—that every common vessel which they used, every coin, every monument, and every ancient grave has a charm for us, because in these lingers for us something of their household words and household deeds;—of the thoughts which they were thinking, and the acts they wrought; because in them the men, as they were, revive before us, and help us by stronger spells than those of fancy, to reconstruct, out of its wasted ashes, the busy active past."

We think that words can hardly be found better to express both the value and the need of archæology, and they deserve to be affectionately remembered and carefully thought over by us all, by us who once heard them, or know them well, by those by whom up to the present time they were altogether unknown. And nowhere is the enforcement of the practical result of archæology more clearly set forth than in the eloquent words of the Bishop, which follow. We cannot, unfortunately, do full justice to his entire argument, but we give a portion.

"The record of the past is the bond of the present—one language, one faith, one history, one ancient birth-place, one common, mysterious, unsearched original—these are the strong sinews which hold together, in a living unity, the many separate articulations jointed to each other to form a people and a nation. And in such an age as this, any pursuit which tends to strengthen these ties, cannot surely be without its practical importance. But there is more than a security for love of country in this living on of the past into the present; for, without an accurate knowledge of the past, all attempts to improve and raise the present must be, to a great degree, shallow and empirical. Whether we know it or not, the past and present are indeed thus linked together. We are the present phase of that great past which our forefathers were; it lives in us. There, in seed, and bud, there, in fore-act and beginning, are our virtues and our vices—there are the promises of which we are the fulfilment or the falsifying;—then were drawn in honourable faith those bills on coming time which we are in such peril of dishonouring. In our institutions, in our manners, in our language, that old past is still with us. And if we would mend the present around us, we must see from what its errors and defects have arisen; we must know our fathers' lives and their habits of thought, to understand their plan, and without this knowledge we cannot carry on their counsels, or perfect meetly what they have well begun; or supply by our long experience whatever of weakness or confusion crept through human infirmity into their strong schemes; or take up, before it be too late, any threads which they have suffered carelessly, or unawares, to slip. And this knowledge cannot possibly be too observant and particular; without such particularity and closeness we shall act like children, turning hoarded diamonds into counters for their play, or like the degenerate Chinese, handling with blank stupidity the philosophical machinery their fathers framed for cunning use. The want of this knowledge makes men innovators who would be improvers, and turns into destroyers those who would restore. So that they who are most apt to remind us of the undoubted truth that "the old age and length of days of the world should be accounted antiquity; and ought to be attributed to our own times, not to the youth of the world which it enjoyed amongst the ancients: for that age, though, with respect to us, ancient and greater, yet with regard to the world was new and less;"—they who most enforce this truth upon us have the most need to pay to these before us their due regard; for their own claims to be the true ancients is that they have succeeded to the wisdom which has gone before them; their own hope of overlooking common barriers comes from this, that they are mounted upon other men's shoulders, and have a higher range of view—but to put forward that claim with truth they must at least be on those shoulders; they must have entered 'into other men's experience. In truth, these two, the past and future, are correlatives each to the other—and, as we may see plainly marked in infancy, no man has a future unless he have a past. Infancy and early childhood hath no past and it hath also no future. To its unformed eye and untaught power of judgment, all is present time; it must get to itself a past, and in getting that it opens to itself a future; and so, more or less, it must be with all men. It is on the mouldering monuments of earlier days that we learn to decypher the mystic characters in which alone the lay of the future is written for our searching out. So important for a reasonable patriotism, so essential to an instinctive love of country, and so truly the foundation of all rational improvement and renewal, is that full and accurate acquaintance with earlier times of which it is indeed our great object to study and preserve the records. And as the Bishop puts it so do we to-day take up the study of archæology.

"Into that old past we love to look, because in it was life; into it we dare to look, because that life is now in us—and that same gift we do believe we may pass to those beyond us. We, too, may and shall be ancients, and matter for history. Let us yield ourselves with what freedom we may to the working of the power within us, and our deeds will harmonize with those wrought by the same power, through the noble spirits who have been before us. Let us only use them as examples and incentives, and not feebly and blindly copy them as models. Let us visit the scenes of their departed greatness, not to array ourselves idly out in their worn-out customs, but that, having ears to gather up the whispers of their oracular advices, we may, by our own skill in art, by boldness in execution, fashion for ourselves the outward circumstances we need."

Feeling, ourselves, deeply the value and importance of archæology generally, on the principles, too, so well laid down by that lamented and able prelate, Samuel Wilberforce, we propose in our next to consider the need and practical good of Masonic archæology.

BRITISH ARCHÆOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION.

Sunday, of course, was a dies non, so far as concerns the sittings of the congress proper; and fortunately so, for it rained heavily till the early part of the forenoon. A considerable number of the party, however, had been invited by the guide on Saturday, Mr. W. C. Borlase, the nephew and successor to Dr. Borlase, the Cornish antiquary, to pay him an afternoon visit at his seat of Castle Horneck, about a mile from the western extremity of the town. Here an agreeable surprise awaited them, for, on reaching his hospitable doors, they found that he had turned his dining-room into a temporary museum, where he had laid out in exquisite order, and had carefully labelled and ticketed, one of the best and largest private collections of antiquities to be found in the kingdom—a fitting compliment to his work on Cornwall, "Nenia Cornubiensis," which he published not very long after coming of age, to say nothing of lesser works in the same direction. He acted as interpreter on Saturday at the Boscaen circle, and at Rosemodres. It would be impossible here to give even an approximate list of the many articles of interest, ranging from the Cornubia of "prehistoric" times down to modern curiosities brought back lately from Japan in Her Majesty's ship Challenger, which were either hung on his walls or laid out upon the tables and sideboard. First, for the special delectation of ladies of antiquarian tastes, was a selection of foreign and English lace, including several specimens taken from the robes of French ecclesiastics, and some English lace of the 15th century, which represented Adam and Eve in Paradise. Here, too, was a delicate lace cap worn by Margaret of Anjou, and given by her as a token of gratitude for services rendered to her in distress to a maternal ancestor of the Borlase family. Then there was a magnificently carved trousseau chest of formidable size from Holland, dated about 1620, and capable of holding all the clothes of even two young ladies of the present day. Its three panels were "charged," as the heralds would say, with a representation of scenes from the story of Esther and Mordecai, in bold relief. Then the party were shown a variety of cinerary urns and other sepulchral and domestic furniture, celts and flint weapons, mostly taken from barrows dug up and excavated by the host in the far west of Cornwall (though some few came from Oxfordshire and elsewhere); blocks of tin from the Jews' House near Marazion; roughly modelled lamps used by Cornish miners about the reign of King John, stone jars containing coins of Constantius, supposed by Mr. Borlase to belong to the third century (though Mr. Bloxam, it is only fair to say, dissented from this opinion); specimens of Roman, Samian, and Etruscan pottery, iron spear-heads, hammer heads of stone, certainly anterior to the Saxon times, stone lacrymatories or tear-bottles, Roman lamps, scarabæi, necklaces, bracelets, clasps, and other articles for the fastening of female apparel, &c. With these were several ecclesiastical antiquities, the most interesting of which, perhaps, was a small wooden crucifix, roughly and rudely carved, which is said to have belonged to the Prior of Lewes in the time of the Conqueror, and is thought by Mr. Bloxam to be as early as the 11th century in date. We were also shown a piece of human skin, probably that of a sacrilegious Dane, which had been nailed, some eight or ten centuries ago, on a church door in Essex. We say nothing of the miscellaneous assortment of iron spear-heads, and of flint instruments of war, of the chase, and of agriculture, but will only add that the gem of the whole collection seemed, by general consent, to be a magnificent vase of Etruscan workmanship—far larger than any specimen in the British museum—adorned with pictures of animals. It is of very ancient date, and is supposed to be unique, or almost so. Mr. Borlase showed us, also, at least one jar or urn containing coins of the early Emperors, taken from one of the neighbouring hut villages—a fact which, as one of the party remarked, would almost seem to warrant the supposition that the dwellers in these rude subterranean cavities in Cornwall were not only civilised, but possibly even antiquaries.

Among the literary treasures of Castle Horneck were displayed five or six volumes of MSS., collections of Dr. Borlase, including two autograph letters of Pope relating to Cornish spars, contributed by the Doctor in order to adorn the poet's grotto at Twickenham; a fine copy of the "Romance of the Rose," with Horace Walpole's Strawberry-hill book plate; a Cornish translation of the miracle play of "The Creation of the World" (1698); a very early edition—possibly the editio princeps—of "Jack the Giant Killer;" sundry early Missals and Horæ; and a rough manuscript note-book of the Herald who made the visitation of Cornwall in 1620, illustrated with the bearings of most of the "County Families" of that date.

Monday was devoted to an excursion to St. Just, in the neighbourhood of the Land's End. In their way thither they stopped to examine the celebrated Castle and Cromlech of Chywoone, here universally known among the natives by the abbreviated name of Choone or Chûn. As these lay at a considerable distance off the high road, and as the tracks across the moors in these parts are scarcely suited to vehicles, the party were obliged to leave their carriages and trust to their feet to take them to their destination. But they were well repaid for their labour in the ascent, the view on all sides being a perfect panorama, and the castle being almost an unique specimen of the transition from the rude cliff-castles which so commonly fortify and isolate the bold headlands of this and other coasts to the earlier structures introduced by the Normans. Although it was constructed entirely of rude stones, put together without any mortar or cement, and has probably crowned the height on which it stands for the best part of 2000 years, yet its plan and outline are still quite distinctly traceable. It forms almost a complete circle, being about 180 yards long by 170 broad, and is surrounded by a double line of circumvallation and a fosse. The entrances to the outer and the inner circles are both perfect, the stones which flanked them being still in situ. The inner gateway, however, does not face the outer—an arrangement which must have added to the strength with which it could resist assailants. In the inner circle, the divisions of the huts—either for the warders, or more probably for the cattle driven into them in times of danger—are still distinctly traceable, and the well which supplied the castle with water can be made out. A hundred years or more ago, when Dr. Borlase wrote, its inner walls were 7 ft. or 8 ft. high, and its outer walls nearly double that height; the fosse, too, was deeper than now. But the effects of wind and storm, and the visits of thoughtless holiday-makers, and the depredations of neighbouring cottagers and farmers have largely reduced the walls in bulk. It is to be hoped, however, that an end will be put to this wanton desecration of what "Murray" still calls "by far the best example of a hill-castle remaining in the West," by placing it in the schedule of antiquities to be protected by Sir John Lubbock's Bill. "In the erection of this curious and singular structure," Mr. J. T. Blight writes, "stones of great size were used, carefully huilt together, and at some parts tall uprights were placed at tolerably regular distances; then large blocks were laid horizontally between them, and on these again courses of smaller stone." He adds that other specimens of the same style of building may be found at Bosulow, close by, and on the Downs of Zennor; but neither of these can bear comparison for a moment with the magnificent castle to which the party were introduced on Monday by their guide and interpreter, Mr. William C. Borlase. Distant from it about a quarter of a mile stands a very perfect, though not very large cromlech, called also the Chywoone or Chûn Cromlech. The party walked to it across the moor while luncheon was being prepared, and were enabled to inspect it at their leisure. Mr. Borlase said that he had cleared out the interior of the cromlech, and had dug to the depth of a few feet below it, and had found so many cinerary traces that he had no doubt whatever of its having been intended as a sepulchral monument. He considered it probable that it was nearly coeval with the castle, an opinion which appeared to find general acceptance. He informed them also that it was originally embedded in the soil, being covered over with earth, which had gradually been worn away and had left its huge stones bare in consequence. This cromlech is nearly 12 ft. square and about 6 ft. high. The huge stone which covered it and its four supporters all remain in their original position, one of the latter being largely out of the perpendicular. That it is in so good a state of preservation may possibly be the effect of a circular causeway of lesser stones which surrounds it, rendering the earth firm and solid on every side. Besides Mr. Borlase's vivâ voce descriptions of these two relics of antiquity, there was read a paper on "The Cornish Megaliths," by the Rev. W. C. Lukis, for which the thanks of the Association were voted, though some of his conclusions were questioned by individual members.

Having lunched upon the open moor, in a tent, the party made their way back to their carriages and pressed on for St. Just, where it was originally intended that they should have partaken of their midday meal. While their horses were baited, they were conducted behind the inn to a curious amphitheatre, nearly circular, and about 125 ft. across, which Dr. Borlase and other writers of the last century mention as having been nearly perfect in their day. Being appropriated to the local wrestling matches which are held here at Easter and Whitsuntide, its distinctive features are now being sadly worn away, and it is feared that unless something is done soon to preserve the site, it will be lost beyond recovery. There are now no remains of the six tiers of stone steps which were there in 1760; and the raised terrace which surrounds it, instead of rising 10 ft or 12 ft. above the level of the adjoining ground, is now reduced to barely 3 ft. Nevertheless, this very amphitheatre was the place in which the chief Cornish miracle plays were performed in the pre-Reformation times, just as the "Passion Play" is now performed at Ober-Ammergau. As Mr. Norris writes in his work on the "Ancient Cornish Drama," "The bare granite plain of St. Just, in view of Cape Cornwall and of the transparent sea which beats upon the magnificent headland, would be a fit theatre for the exhibition of what in those days of simplicity would appear to be a serious representation of the general history of the Creation, the Fall, and the Redemption of Man, however it might be marred occasionally by passages of a light or even of a ludicrous character. The mighty gathering of the people from many miles around, hardly showing like a crowd in that extended region, where nothing grows up to limit the view on any side, with their booths and tents, so absolutely necessary when so many people had to remain for three days upon the spot, would give to the assembly a character probably more like what we hear of in the so-called religious revivals in America than of anything witnessed in more sober Europe." This account tallies exactly with what the party were told upon the spot by the Rev. Mr. Lachsmymra, who stated that within the last few years there had been brought to light a real Cornish miracle play, legendary rather than scriptural in character, and which had been printed with the stage directions, just as it doubtless was performed some four centuries ago in that very amphitheatre. As the rough miners, their wives, and their children crowded round eagerly to hear the reverend gentleman's explanations, it was not difficult to conjure up mentally a picture of the scene which that same spot must have presented in days when miracle-plays were among the recognized methods of religious instruction for the unlettered multitude, when parochial and Board schools were not in existence. From the amphitheatre the party crossed to the church, named, as "Murray" and the other guide-books tell us, after St. Just, one of the followers of St. Augustine, but, if we may trust Mr. Lachsmymra, probably after a Saxon Saint of the same name. The church itself is a handsome perpendicular building of three aisles, remarkable for having once had a double, or, possibly, a triple, rood-loft, and for two curious relics of an early date embedded in its walls. The one of these is a portion of a cross, with ornamentation, of a pattern often found in the Isle of Man, and for which the vicar of the parish claimed a very high antiquity; the other is a slab of granite, now at the north of the Communion table, inscribed with the legend "Silus ic jacet," and adorned with a pastoral staff and a cross. This is probably the monument of some Cornish Bishop of the early Saxon times, when Bishops were migratory, not local magnates and dignitaries. The flamboyant east windows of the aisles and the finely carved capitals of the pillars in the nave also attracted considerable attention; and the details of the church elicited a discussion which was only brought to an end by the sounding of the horn which summoned the party on to the cave dwellings and barrow at Chapel Fyny, their next halting place. There they were again obliged to quit their carriages and find their way over rough boulders of granite and broken stones, scattered amid the heather, to these celebrated subterranean abodes. These, which have lately been cleaned out by the care of Mr. Borlase, all the original features, however, as far as possible being preserved, are about 3 ft. in length, and consists of one large chamber and another circular one about 10 ft. across, which is constructed of rude stone masonry, almost in the shape of a beehive. The two or three top layers, consisting of the largest stones, are alone wanting to its completeness.

After returning home the Congress held an evening sitting in St. John's-hall, where papers were read by Dr. Phene, on "The Dragon of Cornwall;" by Mr. J. R. Planché, on "The Earls of Cornwall;" by Mr. Tucker, (Rouge Croix), on "The Ancient Dukes and Duchy of Cornwall;" and by Mr. Morgan, on "The Navies of Ancient Britain, especially in Cornish waters."

To the report in the "Times" of Monday it might be added that at the upper part of John's-hall there was a table, on which were set out specimens of various antiquities of a very early date, illustrative of the paper on ancient Baalistic worship, read by the Rev. S. Mayhew, F.S.A. These, however, were mostly found, not in Cornwall, but at various depths in the London soil. Among them were "A Druid's Egg" (an object of worship), with the twin serpents, dug up in Clerkenwell; an ivory carving of a calf, dug up in Thames-street; a piece of Phœnician glass and a charm in the shape of a date, an armlet of glass adorned with white enamelling, and a bronze armlet in the form of a snake, both found in Thames-street; and two ingots of Celtic bronze, about 13 in. in length, both of which were said to have been found at some distance below the surface in the neighbourhood of Bishopsgate.

MEDALS FOR INDIA.—The Prince of Wales' medals, intended for presentation to the Native Princes and Chiefs, which have lately arrived from England, have been made over by the Foreign Department to the Calcutta Mint, for the purpose of having the names of the recipients engraved upon them. They are about 64 in number—namely, 16 of pure standard gold, each weighing about 8 sicca weights, and 45 medals of pure silver. On one side of the medal is the Prince's image, and on the other his Royal Highness's plumes, with the date of his arrival in India. The gold medals are intended for the Nizam of Hyderabad, Sir Salar Jung, Sir Jung Bahadoor, Maharajahs of Jey-pore, Gwalior, Indore, Benares, Jodhpore, Punnah, Rewah, Vizianagram, Oodeypore, and others. The silver medals, we believe, are to be presented to the several petty chiefs and sirdars of Oude and the North-Western Provinces, as well as to a native gentleman of Calcutta.—"Times of India."

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

THE CONGRESSES AT BRUSSELS.—Besides the Congress of Public Health and Safety to be opened at Brussels on September 27th under the presidency of M. Verwoort, a Geographical Congress has been summoned, under the auspices of the King of the Belgians, chiefly to discuss questions connected with South Africa, and with a view to take such practical measures as may be thought advisable at the congress. Sir Rutherford Alcock, President of the Royal Geographical Society, and Sir Henry Rawlinson, past President, have been requested by the Council of the Society to attend as delegates. Lieutenant Cameron is also expected to be present, in acceptance of an invitation to the Congress. About the 12th of next month is the date of the opening of the Congress, which is, as at present arranged, to be held in the Royal Palace. A Netherlands Congress, a kind of Flemish and Dutch Eisteddfod, being concerned with the literature, music, and language of those who speak the Gothic dialects in Holland and Belgium, is at present being held at Brussels. It was opened on Sunday by an address from M. Anspach, the Burgomaster of Brussels, who apologized for having to speak in French, and a concert was yesterday given in connexion with the Congress at the Ducal Palace in the presence of the Royal family. Meetings of school-teachers and of political economists are also arranged to be held this autumn at Brussels. It is announced that the Duc d'Audiffret-Pasquier will take part in the Congress on Health and Safety, which will be held in connexion with the Exhibition. The Belgian papers discuss the chance of their neutral and conveniently-placed city becoming the seat of a yet more interesting Congress—namely, that which may possibly be convened to discuss the conditions of peace in Eastern Europe.

AID TO THE SICK AND WOUNDED IN SERBIA.—The following medical men left London with tents and medical supplies for the sick and wounded Turks and Servians:—Dr. Armand Leslie, Mr. E. M. Little (St. George's Hospital), Mr. Brock, M.R.C.S., Mr. White, M.R.C.S., Mr. Bernard Pitts, and Mr. F. Barker (St. Thomas's Hospital). Mr. Lewis Farley, Secretary of the League in Aid of Christians of Turkey, 12, Great Winchester-street, E.C., has sent the following letter received from Miss Pearson:—"Schabatz, August 19.—Dear Mr. Farley,—Lieutenant Gordon has asked me to write to you to say that we arrived here, and found Dr. Thomas working with about 60 patients. We are appointed to the army of the Prince, and came here with General Alempits, its commander. He has ordered Lieutenant Gordon and myself to go to his head quarters at Badavinsky (the front line) to inspect the temporary hospital there and arrange for the transport of the wounded back on some central point, possibly Schabatz. He left his Aide-de-Camp, Colonel Alexovitch, to escort me. The correspondents of the "Standard" and "Manchester Guardian" go up with us. We shall see the Turks from thence. Colonel Alexovitch says there are 3000 wounded scattered about in the valley of the Drina in a wretched state, who require collecting and bringing in. Fighting is expected on the line of the Drina. Lieutenant Gordon will write to you from the front. We continue to like him very much. He is all you represented him to be. 9.30 p.m.—Just seen Gordon. More good doctors wanted and transport officers. Stores can be brought here. Send no nurses, unless thoroughly trained and over 30, speaking French and German. In great haste. A bodyguard of 100 men is placed at our disposition. With kindest regards from us all, believe me, yours most sincerely,—EMMA M. PEARSON." Her Majesty's Government have decided to send aid to the sick and wounded in the war at present raging in the East. 16 packages, weighing 2000 lb., marked with the Red Cross of Geneva, were dispatched from the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich, by the South Eastern Railway, for conveyance to the seat of war. The stores consisted of hospital tents and distinguishing flags. The tent hospitals are of the size of a large room, with accommodation for beds, chairs, &c., an outer tent enclosing an inner one, so as to exclude the strong rays of the sun, rain, and effects of variations of temperature; and altogether they form most comfortable hospitals for the sick and wounded. Each tent will be surmounted by hospital flags, at which no combatant troops must fire.

MUSEUM OF ARMS.—Another valuable gift was made to the town of Birmingham on Thursday by the transfer to the Corporation of the Museum of Arms established some two years ago by the Guardians of the Birmingham Proof-house in illustration of the history of the gun trade. The nucleus of the collection was formed by an Italian gentleman, the Cavaliere Callandra, who spent twenty years in collecting specimens in all parts of the world, and on his death it passed into the hands of an English gentleman, from whom it was ultimately purchased by the Guardians of the Birmingham Proof-house. Since that important additions have been made to it, and it is now regarded as the most valuable historical collection of small arms extant, furnishing a complete illustration of the gun manufacture from the first invention of firearms in the fifteenth century down to the present time. The Proof-house Guardians made a small charge for admission to the Museum, which operated against its public usefulness. The Birmingham Corporation, into whose possession it has now passed, will throw it open to the public free, and it is hoped that the many beautiful examples of old art metal work which it contains will beneficially influence other industries besides the gun trade. The presentation was formally made on Friday week by Mr. Buckley on behalf of the gun trade, and suitably acknowledged by the Mayor, Alderman Baker.

THE PASSAGE COURT, LIVERPOOL.—Mr. Thomas H. Baylis, Q.C., of the Northern Circuit, has been appointed to the post of Judge of the Passage Court, Liverpool, vacant by the death of Mr. Pickering, Q.C., Mr. Baylis was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple in 1856, and was made a Q.C. in 1875.

THE "MICHIGAN FREEMASON."

"Two more numbers only are necessary to complete the seventh volume of this journal, and it is quite time we draw our designs for future work. All things considered, the present year has been the most unpromising and unremunerative of any of the seven since the enterprise of publishing the Michigan "Freemason" was commenced. We remember, however, that it has been a year of great monetary depression, and many a business man who has laboured hard, lived economically, and managed with wonted shrewdness, finds himself without profits, while some have suffered loss, or been compelled to close business entirely. But a business cannot long be continued which does not yield a living compensation. And as this enterprise has not compensated either publisher or editor for the past two years, the grave question has forced itself upon us: shall the journal be continued? Never before, since it was issued, did we entertain for a single moment the idea of discontinuing it. Even when other Masonic journals of much merit were going to the wall, as for instance, "The Masonic Trowel," "The National Freemason," "The Masonic Mirror," "The American Freemason," "The Masonic Monthly," "The Mystic Star," "The Freemason," of St. Louis, "The New England Freemason," and "The Masonic News,"—all these, and others, have gone down since this journal was commenced; and yet, amidst such a mortality of Masonic publications, we have not entertained the thought of discontinuing ours, until the present unpropitious season. And even now we do not choose to entertain such a thought. Our most intelligent brethren say that such a step must not be taken—that "our 'Michigan Freemason' must be sustained at all hazards." The assurances of co-operation from such brethren give us courage, and we shall continue to battle for the journal, with the hope of better times at no great distance in the future. Within a short time we shall issue our prospectus for the eighth volume, with the hope that Masters of lodges will either take the matter of raising clubs in hand personally, or else see that reliable brothers are appointed agents, and that they have the needed co-operation. If proper efforts are put forth in the lodges, we have no doubt that a patronage may be obtained which will place this journal, not only on a living basis, but to give to its managers Masonic wages for their labour. We do not ask that a dollar be sent in for the eighth volume till the first number shall be issued and received by the subscribers. What we desire is this: Raise clubs and report them to us, if possible, by the last of September, so that we may know thus early about what number of subscribers we may rely on for the next volume. If possible continue the effort till twenty be obtained in each club. Of course all lodges cannot give us so large a club, but if we could have an average of twenty to each lodge we can greatly improve the journal, and expend 1000 dols. in the compensation of the best Masonic writers in Europe and America for acceptable original articles written expressly for the "Freemason." With such a patronage—and it amounts to less than one-quarter of the Masons in Michigan—with such a patronage we shall be enabled to send out a journal which would be second to none in the country. Brethren, is not an end so desirable, worthy of a zealous, persistent effort? We shall make one more effort on our part, and hope for success. But if a home Masonic journal is a thing desirable to have our brethren should support it without begging on our part. Much less should it be expected that the editor or publisher should be forced to enter the field and beseech the brotherhood for a support which should come promptly and voluntarily. The time of the editor should all be given to the work of his office, that his work may be done promptly and well."

[We have published the foregoing extract from our able contemporary, the "Michigan Freemason," on account of the facts it contains and the considerations it suggests. The progress of Masonic literature is in it cleverly depicted and forcibly illustrated. We trust that the manly appeal of our contemporary will be Masonically answered and warmly responded to. But we wish to call our readers' special attention, that amid a brotherhood 600,000 strong in round numbers, greater far than any we know here, are the fluctuations of Masonic literary prosperity and the ups and downs of Masonic literary efforts.—Ed.]

MY BROTHER.

The distinguishing practical feature of Freemasonry is that it is a true brotherhood. The endearing appellation of brother is bestowed upon the initiate the moment he is made a Mason, and it remains his throughout his Masonic life, until when the lamb-skin and evergreen are deposited in his grave, it is regretfully used for the last time. It expresses the very wholeness of Masonry. The word brother is as forceful in the Craft as the word mother is in the world—no other is so expressive. An eminent modern writer, Prof. Blackie, of the University of Edinburgh, has said: "'Honour all men' is one of the many texts of combined sanctity and wisdom with which the Holy Bible abounds; but this you cannot do unless you try to know all men; and you know no man till you have looked with the eye of a brother into the best that is in him."

"This is precisely what Freemasonry enables a man to do—it enlarges the circle of his acquaintance; it brings him into contact, not only with many men, but with individuals of different professions and occupations, thus widening the scope of his intellectual outlook and knowledge; and when in such companionship he scans every one with the gentle and considerate eye of a brother, constantly looking for the best that is in him."

Pliny truly said, "There is nothing more proud or paltry than a man." It is selfishness that thus belittles, and self-sacrifice that ennobles him. Freemasonry strikes at the very foundation of selfishness, and seeks to root it out, and in its place to plant the noble seed of charity, thence to develop, until, like the wide-spreading light of heaven, it shall embrace both the Craft and the world. Whatever is paltry in a brother it seeks to eliminate, whatever in him is noble (of which it feels proud) it fosters. Many of the profane are generous; many Christians, Jews, and Mohammedans are benevolent; but only Freemasons are truly charitable—in thought, word and deed, not only willing, but anxious to rejoice with a brother in prosperity, and to help him in distress. The Freemason's life is a living sermon upon the text:

"Chief of the blessed three,
Heaven born Charity."

We are a band of brothers. In each other's society we are always at home, whether we be in an Arabian, an Indian, or an American Lodge. The fraternity spans all space and annihilates all distance. Avernethy, the eminent physician, was wont to say, that the two great killing powers in the world were stuff and fret. Masons will surely never be killed by fretting, for the social customs of the Craft are effectual in driving away dull care; and as for stuff, neither will it kill us, for now-a-days the Craft is not called off frequently enough from labour to refreshment—since we do not, as a rule, indulge in lodge suppers as an appendix to each meeting, but consider ourselves fortunate if we are regularly invited to an annual banquet.

The two continuing needs of a brother are more light and more charity. The great philosopher and Mason, Goethe, when dying, exclaimed, "More light!" and doubtless he received it as he was translated from earth to heaven. We need it on earth—and the lodge is a school of instruction where it is dispensed; but the lodge is not the only place of light. There is "more light" in the literature of the Craft. Every Masonic journal reflects the wisdom of the past and the best thoughts of the profoundest thinkers of the present, and bears its precious burthen of truth to the homes of the Craft. Those brethren who are not receiving this light are rejecting an inestimable source of enjoyment.

More charity! Much as we have of it, who does not need more? It makes the man, but more emphatically the brother, kind and genial in sympathy, and, in ever-increasing measure, will perpetually enrich our natures, here and hereafter. It is the corner-stone and cope-stone of Masonry. Without it, our moral architecture is a hideous ruin; with it, our spiritual temple is noble to behold,—a living edifice that shall endure through eternity as well as through time. Solomon's Temple and Herod's Temple are in dust, but the great souls of those that reverently reared them are now rejoicing in the presence of the Grand Master of the Universe. They were our brethren.

More "light" may be assuredly found by the Freemason in the first great Light in Masonry—the Holy Bible. It is not merely a book; it is a library. It has a galaxy of authors—the prophets and kings, the apostles and evangelists of the world—living, some of them, two thousand years apart, but all testifying to the truth. Their books are all bound in a single volume: if a brother be a man of but one book, and that book the Bible, he knows the best that is in all books. He has been illumined by the central Sun of the literary universe. He emphatically has "more light," which will unfailingly direct him amid "the eternal whirl of life" to the door of the Grand Lodge above.

My brother, physically, you are but dust—imitate it. The earth is charitable—it receives only to give. Sunlight and shower penetrate it, but not to be imprisoned. They feed the springs, and enrich the soil, that in turn produces the plenteous harvest.

According to the Stoics, the chief end of man is Spectare et imitari mundum—See to it that you imitate nature. The sun gives light—gives, mark you, not sells or trades. Be a sun yourself, to the fraternity and humanity. Oh, if you cannot be a sun, be a moon, reflecting the light of your brother Mason. Or, if neither sun nor moon, be a clod of earth, giving as well as receiving.—C. P. Mac Calla.

THE GERMAN ARMY.—The following manoeuvres and military practices of the German Army are to be held in the presence of the Emperor William:—September 1.—Grand Parade of the Corps of the Guard in the Tempelhofer Field, near Berlin. September 6.—Grand parade of the 12th (Royal Saxon) Army Corps in the plain of Pulgar, west of Röttha. September 7.—Corps manoeuvres of the same Army Corps near Magdeburg, on the Göselsbach. September 8.—Grand parade of the 4th Army Corps south of Morseburg, between Lower Beuna and the high road Morseburg, Weissenfels. September 9.—Corps manoeuvres of the same Army Corps to the south of Kötschau and Beuna. September 11, 12, and 13.—Field manoeuvres of the 4th and 12th (Royal Saxon) Army Corps in the district between Old Rannstädt, Morseburg, Quersurt, and Weissenfels. September 14.—Corps manoeuvres of the Corps of the Guard near Gross-Kreutz. September 15.—Grand Parade of the 3rd Army Corps in the Tempelhofer Field, near Berlin. September 16.—Corps manoeuvres of the same to the South of Berlin, in the neighbourhood of Mariendorf, Britz, and Buckow. September 18, 19, and 20.—Field manoeuvres of the Corps of the Guards and the 3rd Army Corps, to the south of Berlin. All arms will participate in these manoeuvres. One would imagine the Emperor feeling fatigued after all these exertions; but His Majesty proceeds next to Würtemberg to attend the manoeuvres of the Würtemberg Army Corps, and afterwards to Alsace for a like purpose.—"Whitehall Review."

ACTS OF PARLIAMENT.—From an official document it appears that in the late Session, 81 public, 234 local, and 3 private acts were passed. In the Session of 1875 the numbers were respectively 96, 215, and 7.

Obituary.

BRO. THOMAS HANDFORD, P.M. 742.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret, as well as of sympathy with his mourning relatives and friends, that we announce the death of Bro. Handford on Monday last at his residence, Crouch Hill, Hornsey, after a long and painful illness, borne with unflinching patience and resignation. Our lamented brother was initiated in the Beadon Lodge, and was one of the founders, and J.W. designate of the Crystal Palace Lodge, where he served the office of W.M. in 1860-61. His genial and benevolent disposition could not fail to endear him to a large circle of friends, in whose memories his warm-hearted amiability will long live.

Masonic and General Tidings.

The forthcoming volume of Mr. Emra Holmes' tales, poems, and Masonic papers appears likely to be very successful, judging by the large number of subscribers' names already received by the publishers. The price, 2s. 6d., no doubt, has a good deal to do with this, but the author is so well-known in Suffolk and Essex, and also in the North of England, where he resided for many years, that a collection of his miscellaneous papers would be sure to have a large sale. In addition to the names of distinguished noblemen mentioned in our paragraph last week, Earl Stanhope, to whom the book is dedicated, and who takes six copies, Lord Henniker, who takes two, the Earl of Carnarvon, and the Earl of Limerick, we hear that Lord Skelmersdale and Lord John Hervey subscribe for two copies each, Earl Nelson for four, and Lord Waveney, Sir Patrick Colquhoun, Q.C., LL.D. (late Chief Justice of the Ionian Islands), Sir Francis Doyle, Bart. (Commissioner of H.M. Customs and Professor of Poetry at Oxford), and other distinguished persons, express themselves as pleased to enrol their names as subscribers. Mr. Holmes derives no pecuniary benefit from the publication, having given the copyright to a literary brother Mason in distress.—"Woodbridge Reporter."

PRINTED BOOKS.—There has this year been a decrease in the weight and value of literature exported. The weight was 43,116 cwt., against 44,518, and the value £464,421, against £488,678.

CAPTURE OF A STURGEON.—The "Eastbourne Chronicle" reports that a large sturgeon was captured in a small tributary river of the Ouse, near Glynde, in about eighteen inches of water, by bargemen, who killed it with a barge hook. It was conveyed to Lewes and sold to a fishmonger. From snout to tip of tail it measures 5ft. 11in., and weighed 48lb. It must have got into shallow water during recent very high tides.

The Prince of Wales has presented a handsome gold watch and chain to Mr. John Nicholls, sen., pilot, of Southampton, who sailed the schooner Hildegard, His Royal Highness's yacht, when she won the Town Cup at Cowes.

Bro. H.R.H. Prince Leopold, R.W.P.G.M. Oxford, is to be at St. Andrew's during the competition week of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club.

Bro. His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, M.W. G.M., and Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, with Lady Georgina Hamilton, visited the Royal Dublin Society's Horse Show on Wednesday.

Bro. Francis Knollys, Private Secretary to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, has been appointed a Companion of the Order of the Bath.

The next meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire will probably be held in October at the Pomona Gardens, Manchester.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will be the guest of Mr Christopher Sykes, M.P., at Brantinghamthorpe, Yorkshire, during Doncaster race week. It is understood that His Royal Highness will travel to Doncaster each day by special train, and drive to the course.

The session of the Stability Lodge of Instruction, held at the Guildhall Tavern, for 1876-7, commenced on Friday, the 1st inst., and will be continued every Friday evening, from 6 till 8 p.m., at the above address, till April, 1877.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., has been pleased to grant a warrant for the constitution of the Stuart Lodge, No. 1632, to be held at the Surrey Masonic Hall. The date for the consecration ceremony has not yet been fixed, but it will take place on an early day. The officers designate are Bro. C. Stuart Barker, jun., W.M.; Bro. Walmsley, S.W.; and Bro. S. Brown, J.W.

Bro. Sir Gilbert Greenall, M.P., and Captain Egerton Wilbraham, M.P., assisted at the foundation-stone laying of a new church at Little Leigh, on Wednesday. Lady Leigh performed the duty of well and truly laying the stone, and Lord Leigh and the Hon. Miss Leigh were present.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Dangerous diseases would not present themselves very often if timely attention were bestowed on the first feelings which betray a departure from health. How many life-long maladies spring from neglecting trifling symptoms? The simple readily curable in the nursery becomes, through carelessness, the irremediable torment of after life. With a knowledge of the curative powers of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and the facility and safety of their application, those who fail to use them for extirpating the first seeds of hereditary ailments will have to bear the punishment resulting from their folly. Holloway's remedy will remove eruptions of the skin, scrofulous disease, and acrofula, and heal every description of ulcer, sore, wound, or abrasion.—ADVT.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 4d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The "Freemason" of this week is printed on a better paper.

The report of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the North and East Riding of Yorkshire will appear in our next.

W.D.B.—We cannot answer your letter, we do not see why you have written to us.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ANDERSON.—On the 22nd ult., at Stanley House, Earley, Reading, the wife of Lieut.-Col. H. S. Anderson, of a son.

BULLEN.—On the 25th ult., at Chaucer House, Herne-hill, the wife of G. W. Bullen, of a daughter.

CLARENCE.—On the 28th ult., at Lindula, Ceylon, the wife of L. B. Clarence, Esq., of a daughter.

MATTHEWS.—On the 28th ult., at Penn-road Villas, N., the wife of L. Matthews, of a daughter.

MILBANK.—On the 28th ult., at The Grange, Bedale, Yorkshire, the wife of Powlett C. Milbank, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

ANDERSON—CLISBY.—On the 15th ult., at Sandbach, Cheshire, Julius, son of the late G. W. Anderson, of Hamilton-terrace, St. John's-wood, to Ellen Elizabeth, daughter of the late S. Clisby, of Sandbach.

SUTTON—LAWRENCE.—On the 26th ult., at the Church of St. George the Martyr, William T. Sutton, of Lawford-road, N., to Nellie Lawrence, of Queen-square, Bloomsbury.

TARN—BENNETT.—On the 16th ult., at Honolulu, John, son of the late W. Tarn, of Chislehurst, Kent, to Mary Gallett, daughter of the late O. Bennett, Judge of the Supreme Court of Michigan, U.S.

DEATHS.

BARKER.—On the 24th inst., at Hungerford, Charles Hemsted, son of R. H. Barker, Esq., aged 19.

BORMAN.—On the 27th ult., at 5, Bockstone-terrace, Southampton, James Borman, aged 64. Deeply regretted. Friends will kindly accept this intimation.

VIVIAN.—On the 29th ult., at Plymouth, the Hon. Robert C. Vivian, fourth surviving son of Lord Vivian, aged 22.

WAKEFIELD.—On the 26th ult., Herbert Wakefield, at 3, Mountford-road, Dalston, after a long and painful illness aged 30.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months, of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1876.

THE NEXT QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION.

Many of our readers will have seen the agenda paper for the next Quarterly Communication, and there are some notices in it which seem to demand and deserve comment. Bro. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., has given notice of a motion for the appointment of a committee, and also an alternative notice for the grant of £6000 for Scholarships to the Boys' School. Bro. Jabez Hogg curiously enough gives the same notice in almost the same wording, (peculiar in itself), and which we confess we do not understand. Bro. Simpson having carried a resolution for a committee, was bound, we think, to adhere to that, and not to commit Grand Lodge to a specific vote until after that committee had reported, if anything was to be done at all. We do not like, we feel bound to say, this system of alternative motions, which is not altogether respectful to Grand Lodge, and seems intended as a "sprat to catch a whale," and to obtain a vote of some kind at any price. It is a very serious amount which it is now proposed to give, and as far as we can see without conditions to the Boys' School. And to this we most decidedly object. If you like to found scholarships do so; but let the matter be gravely considered, and above all by those who know something about scholarships; but Grand Lodge must lay down the conditions on which such scholarships are to be founded and administered. The present propositions seems to us to be very haphazard and hasty, deficient in careful consideration of what is wanted by the School, of what is due to Grand Lodge, and the grant of so large a sum of money on such ill digested propositions (with every deference to our worthy Bros. Simpson and Hogg), does, we confess, not only startle us very much, but appears to us to be ill-suited to the dignity and business like dealings of Grand Lodge itself. We are among those who would have been glad if Grand Lodge had not incurred the charge of "Masonic selfishness," to which a grant to its own charities inevitably exposes it. It is, in fact, "robbing Peter to pay Paul," and we shall be sincerely rejoiced if the good sense and moderation of the members of Grand Lodge will extricate us from this dilemma by referring the whole matter to a competent committee, to be carefully and minutely considered as well for the original object of the motion which seems to be forgotten, to do honour to our Royal Grand Master, as to advance the interests of any particular institution, and the honour and character, and dignity of the Grand Lodge of English Freemasons.

MASONIC VULGARITY.

If there is one thing which ought to distinguish a Freemason more than another, it is that sense of gentlemanly feeling in all things, under all circumstances, which renders it impossible for him to forget what the French call so well the "bienséances" of society. A Freemason should always be elevated, so to say, above the petty, and jarring, and contemptible animosities of this life, should take a bold, free, generous, and high-minded view of men and things, and press on amid the opposing difficulties and often amazing contradictions of society in a self-supporting and serene spirit with a kind and unruffled disposition. It is idle to suppose that smooth seas and favouring gales are always to attend us on our journey through life. No, we have all to meet the unavoidable contingencies and conflicts of the way, and we shall all of us have to go through those numerous little vexations and worries which beset so thickly the high-road of the world, and which have often such a trying influence, and exercise such a heavy pressure on the feelings and temperaments of us all alike. It very often happens that here we are often headed in our path, so to say, by obstacles many and unwelcome. Our journey often becomes one of personal anxiety and trouble, our motives are arraigned, our words travestied, our views derided, our efforts unappreciated, and we find very often, as we think, that ours are hard lines, in the feeling that often comes over us all alike at one time or another here, that we are misunderstood and ill-used. Then it is that molehills become mountains, and petty matters assume great proportions. It is not given to us all ways to command success, or see our own opinions prevail, and there are very few of us who have not from time to time to encounter, as we think, unjust opposition, unreasoning antagonists. It is a good thing for us all to bear this in mind, and to remember that Horace's advice, "servare mentem æquam," is as applicable to Freemasons now as it was for the Romans of his own generation, nay, as it is to all men really in all times. For it is here that the touchstone is applied to the true character of the Freemason, to that gentlemanliness of disposition, and word, and action which should always characterize us children of light. The vulgar-minded man (and we cannot suppose that Freemasonry, however privileged, is exempt from such an inflection), never learns to bear either rebuff or opposition patiently, peacefully. His is a limited mind, a narrow vision; obstinate prejudices, and a very high opinion of himself, and as a general rule the "petites miseres de la vie humaine," even its greater troubles, which pass by the elevated disposition, leave him complaining and angry, petulant and aggressive. Hence the usual "outcome" of all Masonic littleness is personality, vulgarity. It is sad that such a condition of things should exist at all among Freemasons, it is sadder often to note its effects on the lodge. We have to deplore every day that Freemasons so often exhibit much of personal feeling and angry animosity. We see them committing acts, we hear them using language, which is altogether unjustifiable and un-Masonic. Every now and then we have outbursts before us, so to say, of this Masonic vulgarity, which it is useful to note, in order to avoid and repudiate ourselves. Some pretentious youth, for instance, lectures an old P.M. on matters of which he is professedly ignorant. The old P.M. naturally resents the impertinence of sciolism, and the ignorance of inexperience, and this Masonic blossom has no other resource but personality. A Masonic writer whose style is of the very "feeble forcible" indeed, criticizes the arguments of some other writer, opposed to his peculiar theory, and as he has neither reason nor knowledge of the subject to back him up, at once resorts to personality. How many petty, narrow, vulgar sentences do we often read, all proceeding either from the writer's absolute ignorance, or his density, or his inaptitude, or his unconsciousness of logic, or his inability to appreciate bona fide convictions. Many persons, even brethren, hardly ever write without dipping their pen deep in the gall of personal virulence, of interested opposition, of that utter recklessness of scribbling which must cast a bit of mud at somebody. To many it seems to be impossible to hear two sides of a subject or to argue two sides of a question, and very often the slightest divergence of opinion is treated with an insolence which nothing can justify, and a vulgarity of utterance, whose only excuse is its utter weakness and worthlessness. And then again there are those who are always personal, and cannot help being personal. Everything with them is a personal question, and in vain you plead constitutional usage, in vain you suggest legal difficulties, all must either give way to the "sic volo sic jubeo," or "hey presto" you find yourself involved in a personal question. And we all know well what personal questions lead to in Freemasonry, how the breach widens, how the sore increases, until the normal conditions of these personal outbreaks seem to be violence and vulgarity. Nothing is so painful to the true Craftsman as to see Freemasons, like their outside antagonists, laughing to scorn the whole teaching of Freemasonry, and showing to the outer world what, no doubt, is ever true notwithstanding all things, that Freemasons are still at the best but weak and inconsistent mortals. We say all this because we believe firmly in our good old Order, in its true morality, its exalted professions, and its ennobling axioms, and because we sincerely deplore any weaknesses, inconsistencies, and blunders or stumblings in its "alumni," which serve to blot its fair escutcheon, or to cast a doubt on the reality of its worth, and the truth of its claims to the good will and respect of mankind. Freemasons should ever seek to emancipate themselves from the false teaching and customs of the world. A Freemason should ever be kind and courteous, tolerant and patient, friendly and forbearing. If there be times, as times there are, when he is bound to assert his own dignity or to uphold his own self respect, let him do so calmly and consistently, but avoid carefully the exhibition of unseemly bitterness, or that Masonic vulgarity which is sometimes patent to all in the violence of some unhappy controversy, in the angry language of a vehement partizan, in the unseemly circulation of vindictive pamphlets, or in the agitated criticism of a vulgar personality.

THE VIOLENCE OF POLITICIANS.

Some of us may call to mind Beranger's famous "Plus de Politique," some of us may recollect Præd's happy adaptation, "No Politics To-day." And such a motto we feel is that which is ever appropriate to Freemasonry, inasmuch as it is an Order, great and numerous though it be too, utterly ignorant of political prepossessions and alien from political excitement. The memorable advice of our Royal Grand Master to keep clear of politics is advice which will commend itself to the good taste and right feelings of us all alike, whatever that "colour" may be which in the profane world is our "customary vanity." And as Freemasons we often gladly call to mind how well it is for us and ours that we know nothing of politics or politicians, quæ politics, quæ politicians. For at the best, for the most part, it is not, as we well know and clearly perceive, an ennobling pursuit, in itself, that of politics; rather it evokes too often the worst passions of humanity, develops some of the most grovelling proclivities which can either deaden the conscience or debase the weaker characteristics of man. That the study and pursuit of politics are necessary for us as citizens of a great country, quæ citizens, is perhaps true, but after all is said and done, in our opinion, those are the wisest who know the least of them, at least, in their absorbing claims on the time, on the purse, on the interest, on the ambition of us all. Parliamentary government cannot probably be carried on without the concurrent efforts of political partizans and coteries, but the tendency of all pure political enthusiasm is to exalt the individual and forget the many, to advance the interest of the clique, not the welfare of the nation—to give up, in fact, to "party what was meant for mankind." At the same time we say this, we are aware of the difficulty in a limited monarchy like ours, and under our free constitution, of any other "modus procedendi," except that of party combination, the "ins" and "outs," Government and Opposition; and however in the abstract we may see the evil of party politics, it is most difficult in the concrete to suggest a remedy or propose an amelioration. But to us as Freemasons all party politics are most distasteful and objectionable, in consequence of the violence they manifest and the personal diatribes they encourage. Freemasons are men of peace, tolerant, forbearing, sagacious, with professions of goodwill to all, and with a practice, let us trust, not altogether entirely antagonistic to their professions. Hence the tirades of party pamphlets, of the hybrid violence of stump orators or political windbags, of illogical partizans, are as ridiculous as they are detestable to Freemasons. We smile at the violent ravings of the political monomaniac, just as we are revolted by the vulgar personalities of the reckless partizan scribe. We abhor the insolence of party, just as we despise the venality of the hired maligner. And every now and then we see plainly to what lengths party will lead amiable men, and to what extremes the love of general or public notoriety will even induce the educated and refined to prostitute their talents and debase their antecedents in the unrestrained outpouring of personal virulence or party animosity. Those who are fair in everything else here are most unfair when dealing with a political question, most unscrupulous in treating either of the motives or position of a political opponent. Let us take a very recent sad example of the unbridled licentiousness of party violence. Mr. Freeman is a writer well known to all architectural students. He is a person of great powers, much knowledge, and a great authority on ecclesiastical architecture and archæology. Mr. Freeman takes it in his head to enlighten the world and an admiring coterie on politics, and Mr. Freeman accordingly—as he was pretty sure to do—makes a "fiasco." Mr. Freeman might express his opinion, and we should listen cheerfully and confidently, whether as to the "Saxon Chronicle," or some moot point in ecclesiology, but the moment he began "ore rotundo," to mouth politics our motto becomes "hold hard." What business has Mr. Freeman to talk of two leading statesmen (be they who they may), in the tone he has thought proper to adopt to Lord Beaconsfield and Lord Derby, simply because he, Mr. Freeman, takes a special view of Eastern politics? Whence this unreasoning violence? this hopeless personality of utterance? What has Mr. Freeman written or done that we are to take his estimate politically of either, or of the situation as if he were alone infallible? When he calls Lord Derby the "Derby windbag," and says it "has burst," when he adds, "it is now lawful to speak freely of one of the dullest and most incapable of so-called statesmen," and when he declares that he is "dead to those parts of man's nature which lead to great and noble actions," all must feel, be we who we may, that this great authority violates every canon of truth, fairness, and propriety. When Mr. Freeman speaks of Lord Beaconsfield as one of whom it makes us "thankful that Englishmen have no part or lot in him, at all events that the commons of England have no part or lot in him," it becomes in truth the affectation of impertinent criticism, and the excess of personal vulgarity. How is Mr. Freeman qualified to pass such an opinion, and what is it worth? Does it not really represent the "unknown quantity," whether of political bluster or swagger, just as you like? So, as Freemasons, we must rejoice that we are saved from these amenities of political violence, and are happily at a distance from the plethora of political bitterness. We can admire all those statesmen, all the "Queen's Servants," be they who they may, of this party or that party, who do their duty manfully to their Sovereign and by their country, and we equally object to that unseemly violence of politicians which only sees good in some favoured leader, which will do neither justice to, nor have kindly consideration for, the motives, the toils, the conscientious convictions of others. Most strongly do we object to that enunciation of ex parte opinions and which on imperfect data ventures to make a personal attack on distinguished statesmen, and to put before us as an objective truth what is at the best only subjective, and that subjective, moreover, to the imperfect appreciation and highly-developed idiosyncrasy of the individual writer and speaker. All we are concerned for is a fair, reasoning, and a modest style of correspondence and utterance, "ex cathedra," in political matters, for in Mr. Freeman's case it simply assumes the appearance of unqualified opinions, and of personal and political violence, alike unreasoning and unfounded. We are among those who deeply sympathise with the "poor Bulgarians" especially, and are clearly alive to the harm of Turkish misrule and license. But surely such views and feelings do not require to be commended to the practical English mind by that unreasoning style of partizan incrimination which we have heard too much of lately, from those, too, who ought to know better, and, above all, by that excess of political violence, which in its hopeless personality is alike depressing to every thoughtful mind, and discreditable to the liberal sympathies and tolerant principles of Englishmen.

THE METROPOLITAN POLICE.

The annual report of the Metropolitan Police has just been presented to the Home Secretary, and is a very interesting document. It seems that on the 31st December, 1875, the force under Col. Henderson's command consisted of 25 superintendants, 277 inspectors, 1080 sergeants, and 8875 constables. In all the force amounts to 10,227, but of these 674 are employed in the Royal dockyards and military labour, and 562 in various public departments, their services being paid for to the receiver of police. This body of men has to deal with a population of 3,266,987, and yearly increasing, and an area of 688.31 miles, apportioned into 31 divisions, including the Thames, from Walton-on-Thames to Erith. To shew how London is still expanding in all directions the report informs us that in 1875 10,023 new houses were built, 160 new streets and squares opened and handed over to police protection, covering a length of 29 miles 1475 yards, and that at the close of 1875, 3775 new houses were in course of construction. It must strike every one who reads these figures, that the number of the police force is clearly inadequate for its onerous duties, and we feel sure that it will add greatly to the protection of the public, and the efficiency of the body itself, if the number of men is ere long substantially increased. During 1875 72,606 persons were apprehended by the police, of whom 49,712 were summarily convicted, and 2343 were convicted after trial, leaving the large number of 17,544 we presume, discharged or acquitted. We call attention to this fact, for it is noteworthy for many reasons. Most of the crimes and offences shew a diminution. Burglaries decreased from 349 to 318, and simple larceny from 6674 to 6444. Attempts to rob increased from 6 to 21, and we may congratulate ourselves that there is less tendency to offences of this category, remembering the immense number of tickets of leave, unwisely in our opinion, let loose upon society, and that large class of persons who act as receivers of stolen property, who, in fact, afford the main encouragement to light-fingered gentlemen of all kinds, and who can often go on for years running riot in prosperous villainy, defying the police and braving detection. In a large town like London many are the temptations to appropriation. Some people like plate, some have a penchant for diamonds, some even carry off pictures, and in many cases recovery is difficult, and detection well nigh impossible. The assaults on the police we regret much to notice have increased from 2244 to 2633, while drunkenness, Col. Henderson tells us, is also much in excess of the previous year. The charges of drunk and disorderly increased from 12,099 to 14,226, and for simple drunkenness, or "drunk and incapable" from 14,056 to 16,050. Much of this increase no doubt has arisen from stricter surveillance of the police, and we would fain hope that another year may shew an improvement in this respect. During 1875 the police took out 11,775 summonses of which 1068 were dismissed, and 10,717 resulted in convictions. This is a very satisfactory result. 87 persons were killed in the streets, and 2704 were maimed or injured, in 1875, the light carts being mainly responsible for these accidents, and the special attention of the police has been called to them. The number of persons killed is less than in preceding years, but the injured shew an increase of 136 over 1874; 3724 vagrants were apprehended in 1875, 50 per cent. happily less than in 1874; and 18,809 stray dogs were stopped by the police, of which 1736 were owned, and 17,073 sent to the Dogs' Home. Since 1867 92,886 dogs have been taken possession of by the police. Nothing, we observe, is said about the cats, by whom, during the night time, the consumption of cold meat is enormous. During 1875, 10,609 persons were reported to the police to be missing, of whom 7804 were children under ten years of age, and 2805 adults. Of these 5225 children and 688 adults were found by the police and restored to their friends. 74 adults committed suicide, 7 children and 102 adults were not reported as found, but the remainder were found by their friends or returned home of their own accord. It is a remarkable fact, as showing the laxity of householders, male and female, that 23,209 windows and doors were reported as being found by the police as opened or unfastened at night. A careful inspection of cabs has been made, and some improvement, though not as much as could be wished, is visible. We want still more reform, alike in the cabs, horses, and drivers. In 1869 lost articles restored were 1912; in 1875, 15,584; and Col. Henderson says the present system works well. During 1875, 9614 proprietors were licensed, and 16,306 drivers and conductors. There are now 1241 legalized common lodging houses in an area of 122 square miles, and accommodating about 27,000 persons, and these have been carefully surveyed in 1875, as well for police as for sanitary purposes, manifestly to the advantage of all concerned. During 1875, 220 men retired from the force on pensions, and 58 on gratuities, 66 resigned through ill-health, 109 resigned for other employment, 168 did not like the work, 187 were compelled to resign, and 177 were dismissed, while 57 died; 93 police officers were commended or received rewards from police magistrates, and 1202 were commended or rewarded by the commissioners. It may be well to state here that during the last 5 years 48 men have been granted pensions, amounting in all to £1752, for permanent injuries received in the execution of their duty. Col. Henderson adds that the supply of recruits for the force continues promising, and that the standard of character and efficiency is as good in the force as ever it has been. Remembering the difficulties of police duty, we shall all agree in this remark. As the "Times" well puts it, "the duties of a policeman, too, are of such a nature as to expose him to far more than the ordinary temptations. He is compelled to act, not only under the eye of his officers, but for the most part independently. If he has a weak point anywhere, there will be plenty on the watch ready to take advantage of it, and he may be quite sure than any want of temper or judgment on his part, to say nothing of more grave offences, will never be forgotten. Many of the faults for which members of the London Police Force have come under the unfavourable notice of their superiors must have been of a slight character, or, rather, of a character which in almost any other calling would have been considered slight." Too much praise cannot therefore be accorded to the force on the whole, and if people will only shut their windows and doors, and give the police all the aid they can, Col. Henderson, like old Changarnier in the Chambre des Deputes once upon a time at Paris, may say confidently to us timid Londoners, as night follows day, as the years flit by, "Mesdames et Messieurs, dormez en paix." We trust that another year will see a considerable increase in the force to cope with their overwhelming work, and a considerable decrease alike in the habits of our criminal population, and of the reckless, the ill-living, the foolish of all classes, with whom the police have every moment to deal.

THE DUBLIN MASONIC ORPHAN BOYS' SCHOOL AND THE FEMALE ORPHAN SCHOOL.

By the kind consideration of a worthy Irish brother these reports have been forwarded to us, and we will give an analysis of them in our next. We are always glad when permitted to give any report from Ireland, and above all to record the charitable efforts of our good brethren in the "sister country." We do not profess to understand why reports of Irish Grand Lodge proceedings, for instance appear in the "Freemason's Journal," a paper unfavourable to Freemasonry, and none can be submitted to the Craft through the "Freemason." But it is in vain to comment, or complain, we can only shrug our shoulders and hold our tongues.

PEACE OR WAR.

Rumours of mediation and of an armistice come from Belgrade, concurrently with accounts of much fighting, and some slight success on the part of the Servians. Another column tells of medical men and equipments still going to the seat of war, so that, though we hope for the sake of humanity that this war may come to an end, we are not very sanguine of peace in the present temper of the Servian people. Of the Montenegrins little is heard. We fear that the reports of barbarities in Bulgaria are too true, and we hope that Mr. Baring's report will be published as soon as possible. The accounts in the "Daily News" are quite sickening if they are reliable and not the ebullitions of excitement and nervous agitation. We confess that we fear that they do represent the unofficial truth. Indeed, the latest accounts leave no room, we apprehend to doubt, that the account of atrocities is rather under the mark than over. After such a verification of the original statements, too badly received by Mr. H. Elliott, we shall never be surprised to hear that the Government has determined to recall him. The horrors at Bantok are simply sickening and revolting, too revolting to publish.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In the recent reports of the British Archæological Association Mr. Jago is said, at Bodmin (if I remember rightly), to have exhibited several MSS. of guilds and fraternities, and to have read from them extracts of their building expenses, &c.

Is there any probability of any such extracts being published? and can any account be given of the guilds and fraternities themselves, what they were? Has Bro. W. J. Hugan's attention been called to this statement?

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

A MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGIST.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The letter of Piscator will doubtless have many replies. It will be best understood by a Scotch Mason, seeing that to an English Mason the letter presents some features of a remarkable, not to say comical character.

Assuming that in a Scotch lodge the R.W.M. is equivalent to our W.M., we should not think of disputing that an I.F.M. presiding in his stead would have, for the time being, all his prerogatives.

The notion of a Warden being called on to work an important ceremony is so foreign to all I have seen or heard of in this country or in others, so far as my own experience goes, that I should be glad to know if it is ever practised in lodges under the Grand Lodge of England, or if it is a common practice among our Scotch brethren.

Granted, however, that there was nothing irregular in so calling on a Warden, I cannot wonder at the S.W. feeling somewhat strongly on the point if he was as competent for the duty as the J.W. It would seem that the acting W.M. offered him a direct slight—a marked discourtesy. The question of legal right in the matter can only be answered by one conversant with the laws of Scotch Masonry.

As regards the conduct of the S.W. on the occasion, it seems to me that, however natural and justifiable he was in feeling hurt by the I.P.M.'s conduct, he (the S.W.) was by no means justified in immediately quitting his post, as by so doing he set an example of insubordination to others, instead of being a pattern of good order and regularity.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

1873.

THE INSTALLATION ENGRAVING.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Allow me to again urge our brethren whose portraits would be in any way acceptable to the Craft, to at once forward the same to Bro. E. J. Harty, S.W. 1201, provided of course they attended the Grand Installation at the Albert Hall.

There are still several names absent from the list, which I would gladly see amongst the series of portraits, and I hope that your timely editorial of Saturday last will lead to their responding to Bro. Harty's fraternal invitation.

The picture will doubtless be one "for all time," and it is not at all likely that any future meeting, in our experience at least, will compare with the truly grand event which Bro. Harty and his confreres are determined to make worthy of the acceptance of the Craft universal. No lodge in Great Britain and Ireland should be without a copy, and we know also that many foreign lodges are anxious to obtain first impressions of such a work of art.

The delay of a few weeks now will end in disappointment to those who desire to co-operate, and I hope that nothing will occur to prevent the appearance of the grand Installation engraving at or before Christmas.

Fraternally yours, WILLIAM JAMES HUGAN, Truro, 28 Aug., 1876. P.G.D.

MASONIC PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am sorry "E. F." thinks I am guilty of ignorance as to the proper and courteous mode of treating visitors, but chacun a son gout. My complaint is that as an invited visitor I have had to pay for my dinner, and my idea is that this is not good form, but, of course, I may be wrong in thinking so.

They manage these things better in India, I repeat, than they do in some places in England which I could name, but I am quite ready, nay, I have good reason, to believe that the spurious hospitality of which I complain, is more the exception than the rule.

Yours fraternally,

AN INDIAN P.M.

August 28th, 1876.

THE NEXT QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

As the proposition of the Rev. Bro. Simpson will again occupy the time of Grand Lodge at its next meeting, I hope the provincial brethren will attend to give him their support against the unbrotherly feeling which has been shown by many of your correspondents. His attempts to avoid a division in lodge having failed, it must be best to adopt some useful scheme to offer as a thank offering for the safe return of our Grand Master. Many brethren do not object to Bro. Havers's proposition on account of its being denominational, as they do to its not being the best scheme that might be thought of. I remember when the 1851 Exhibition was over, a very large sum, £130,000, I think, was the profit; and among other propositions, one was to gild the dome of St. Paul's. But a much better was thought of—to establish the Wellington College with it. Let us hope we may find some plan which in a small way may be equally useful.

Yours fraternally,

P.M.

[We are not aware of the "unbrotherly feeling," and we think P.M. has yet to learn the Masonic duty of charity in its widest sense.—Ed.]

A LETTER TO BRO. CAUBET.

Dear Bro. Caubet,—

An English paper, the "Globe," of August 15, in a Paris letter of the 14th, publishes a statement respecting the French Freemasons, which I believe to be utterly unfounded. I am anxious to call your attention to it, and shall be happy to receive and publish your high contradictions of it.

This allegation is founded, it seems, on the authority of M. Naquet, but I fancy that in this, as in other matters, such an expression of opinion from your countryman must be received with some hesitation.

I publish the passage "in extenso," that you may see what is asserted.—

"M. Naquet has taken up the cudgels in favour of divorce, and he is giving lectures throughout the quarter inhabited by the working men in favour of the question. It seems rather strange that he should have espoused the cause, as he was the author of a book, published under the Empire, which was seized as contrary to public morality, causing its author to be imprisoned for four months. Among the reforms which M. Naquet proposed in his book, entitled 'La Famille et l'Etat Social,' he advocated charms of free-love, demolishing the ceremony of marriage as a Pagan tradition not worthy of being observed by a free and enlightened people. He wanted everyone to adopt the system in vogue among the free-thinking community of the half-Masonic, half-Carbonari, lodges the ultra-Republicans have started under the ægis of the Grand Orient of France, where a man intending to cast in his lot with a woman has only to present her to his brethren in the lodge, make a solemn declaration that he takes her as his wife, with perhaps a mental reservation that the process of divorce may be equally summary."

Is not this statement an utter calumny? As I feel sure that it is, I venture to trouble you to-day, and am, dear Bro. Caubet,

Yours most fraternally,

THE EDITOR OF THE "FREEMASON."

Bro. Caubet, G.S., Grand Orient of France.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

We take these two letters from the "Times" of Wednesday:—

Sir,—May I request you to be so good as to give place in your paper to the documents enclosed, which I have received from Philippopolis?

The signatures appended are those of persons of station and influence, officials from the United States, and most of the great nations of Europe.

Your obedient servant,

SHAFTESBURY.

Castle Wemyss, Wemyss Bay, N.B., Aug. 28.

"Philippopolis, le 10 Août, 1876.

"Mylord.—L'intérêt bien connu que vous portez au sort des Bulgares nous engage à vous transmettre ci-joint un appel à la charité publique en Europe.

"Nous sommes convaincus d'avance que votre Seigneurie voudra nous prêter son puissant concours pour sauver l'existence de milliers de femmes et d'enfants dont les misères méritent tous nos sympathies.

"Veuillez agréer Mylord, l'assurance de notre haute considération.

"Le Président, J. D'ISTRIA.

"S. E. le très honorable Comte Shaftesbury.

"Les événements en Bulgarie sont maintenant connus de tout le monde et ne nécessitent point de commentaires.

"A l'heure qu'il est des milliers de familles Bulgares sont sans gîte, sans vêtements, sans pain. La mortalité des enfants est énorme; des maladies se sont manifestées; l'hiver va aggraver cette situation.

"Le district de Philippopolis a eu le plus à souffrir. Aussi, emue par cet état de choses horribles, la Colonie Européenne de cette ville a nommé un Comité chargé de réunir et de distribuer des secours. Mais nos moyens sont trop limités et la misère trop grande pour que l'on puisse compter sur des ressources locales suffisantes.

"C'est donc à la charité Européenne que nous faisons appel. Elle ne nous fera pas défaut certes !

"Nous commencerons par nous occuper des veuves et des orphelins.

"Le Président, J. d'Istria.

"Philippopolis, le 8 Août, 1876.

"Le Comité est composé comme suit:—Président, M. J. d'Istria, Vice-Consul de France; Vice-Président, M. D. E. Tacchella, négociant Italien; membres, M. Schuyler, Secrétaire de Légation et Consul-Général des Etats Unis d'Amérique à Constantinople; le Prince Tzeretew, Secrétaire d'Ambassade chargé du Vice-Consulat de Russie; M. d'Adelbourg, Vice-Consul d'Autriche-Hongrie; M. A. Matala, Vice-Consul de Grèce. Secrétaire, M. Arghiritch, Drogman du Vice-Consulat d'Autriche-Hongrie; Caissier, la Maison Tachell et Vermazza.

"Les dons peuvent être adressés à Constantinople aux Consuls-Généraux de France, de Russie, d'Autriche-Hongrie, d'Italie, et des Etats Unis d'Amérique."

LOST ON WASTDALE.

The following letter has been addressed to the Editor of the "Times":—

Sir,—As I am now staying for a few days at the Wastdale Hotel and have been able to collect all that has been ascertained up to the present time relative to Mr. Barnard, it will probably interest his many anxious relatives and friends to know the results of a fortnight's unremitting search. Local opinion seems now to have settled down into the belief,—either (1) that he missed the track near this place or (2) that he missed it when in Ennerdale, and may have missed the stream-course that is nearly opposite the spectator when at the top of the Black Sail pass.

If the first supposition is taken, then it is thought probable that Mr. Barnard diverged from the path near the gate out of the first enclosure from this place, went up the Mosedale stream-course to the steep and rocky ground under what is called Windy Gap, and so crossed the ridge, and made for the low ground of Ennerdale either by the Eastern or Western flanks of the mountain called Steeple. Two young men actually made this mistake last Saturday afternoon, and went up the stream-course above-mentioned, but finding themselves enveloped in mist and on very rough ground prudently returned to Wastdale.

If the second supposition is taken, then it is thought that after Mr. Barnard went a certain way up the stream-course (opposite to Black Sail), he took a rough sort of turn to the left, passed a small tarn, and, after sighting Buttermere, attempted to descend by a precipitous descent under the Haystacks, down what is, I believe, locally called Black Beck.

A sandwich and a half, wrapped up in a portion of the "Newcastle Daily Chronicle" of August 10th, was found yesterday on the Eastern slope of Steeple, two-thirds of the way down. As Mr. Barnard was locally connected with Newcastle, this possible clue is being closely followed up.

This is all that has been ascertained after a fortnight's steady search. Our fears are now, either that Mr. Barnard sank exhausted in the rough ground between Steeple and the track from Black Sail or that he lies among the rocks of Black Beck.

I will only venture to add that, after several conversations with Mr. Barnard's cousin, Mr. James F. Barnard, I have come deliberately to the opinion that Mr. Barnard is still to be looked for on these mountains. Mr. James F. Barnard has been staying here for ten days and has been untiring in his efforts and in conducting and promoting the search.

Your obedient servant,

C. J. GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL.

Wastdale Head Hotel, August 28, 1876.

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.

(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 3.—EDUCATION.—Continued.

I think we have arrived at this deduction from all that has been antecedently stated, that Elementary Education must be universal and compulsory by some means or other, but that it is by no means necessary or advisable to lay down any hard and fast line of a rigid uniformity, inasmuch as there is clearly room for two principles of education, the Board School and the Denominational. It would be highly unjust to endeavour to force down upon an unwilling people one so called comprehensive system, and in order to do so to compel the Denominational school to close, or to be transferred to a School Board.

It is quite clear that not only is there room for both systems, but that they are actually needful to the elasticity and freedom of our English national life and sympathies. So long as the denominational schools conform to the requirements of the State, so long as they take the public money, and submit to public inspection and the directing code of the Council of Education, so long as they are conducted efficiently and properly, so long have they a right on any ground of fair play and consideration to the tolerance and countenance of the State.

By several recent provisions, very wisely enacted in my opinion, the position of denominational schools will be rendered, I think, somewhat easier, and that inexorable conflict and rivalry which were rapidly rising up between Board Schools, erected and carried on by public rates, and national and denominational schools supported by voluntary subscriptions and a capitation grant will, I hope, be put a stop to. It is evident on the face of it that the Board School system cannot be carried on directly, (that is to say, of large schools maintained out of public rates alone), without one of two things happening, either that the voluntary system goes down before the Board School system, or that the denominational schools are handed over to the School Board, inasmuch as those whose pockets have already had to contribute to the School rate, will hardly, even for conscience sake, pay twice over for the same thing.

In this way an unhealthy and unnatural competition is created as between the two sets of schools, and the average of expenses and of salaries being higher under the School Board system than under the denominational, it follows that wherever School Boards exist, the voluntary schools, to use a sporting phrase, are too heavily handicapped in the race.

Everything, therefore, that tends to give the denominational system free course, a fair field and no favour, is to be greatly desiderated in the interests of education. For let us be just in this matter, which, in the heat of party strife, and in the fervid declamation of the platform and the political caucus or for a set purpose in public, we very often are not. Let us remember gratefully what strides education has made in this country within the last quarter of a century, long before Board Schools existed, and entirely owing to the denominational system. Indeed, it is not too much to say that had the half-time system been applied to all trades and labour twenty years ago, education in this country would have made by this time a giant's progress.

As it is, we should never lose sight of the great and progressive improvement in the educational status of great Britain, which we ourselves have witnessed year by year, for the last twenty-five years. I know that some foolish persons, some perverse partizans, have averred that in all denominationalism has done it has only sought to perpetuate the influence of the denomination, not to educate the people, and that, therefore, we owe no thanks for what has been carried on, chiefly to promote the great end and the lasting principles of denominational selfishness. But I, for one, utterly deny that such proposition is in any sense true, and I utterly repudiate any such motives or views on the part of those who have so laboriously and so self-sacrificingly sought to give a religious education to our English people.

Neither do I think that it is fair to charge any religious body, much less the Church of England, with being hostile to education per se, and only tolerating it and trying to keep it in its own hands, for its own purposes. As Lord Sandon well and truly said in the House of Commons, persons do not voluntarily subscribe ten millions, for instance, for a purpose of which they do not approve, or which they are hostile to, or which they do not really care for, and are insincere about. And whatever stump orators may from time to time advance, the great mass of the working classes in this country is fully aware and convinced that none have worked harder or laboured more manfully, from the first, to extend education generally, than those poorly paid, and zealous and devoted men who make up the working clergy of the Church of England. Canon Mosely, long a Government Inspector of Schools, said, once upon a time, not so very long ago, that it was no exaggeration that, when he spoke, two-thirds of the education of the country was kept up by the personal influence and personal sacrifices of the clergy.

Let us hope that we have heard the last of these foolish charges, which seem principally to come from "iconoclasts" and agitators, but are never, as far as I am aware, and never will be endorsed, I may boldly aver, by the real working classes in this country. I have said all this because I am anxious to meet a popular theory, that for the sake of uniformity, &c., it would be better to have one system of elementary instruction all through England, and that had better be the Board School system. Now I entirely differ from this view on the grounds previously stated, and because I for one do not feel that confidence in the Board School system or administration which would justify me in depriving the denomination of its absolute and inherent claim to educate, in ignoring the conscientious objection of the parent or religious teacher, and in attempting by an unhealthy competition to close the denominational schools, and thus practically to confiscate their property, and deprive them arbitrarily both of a privilege, a liberty, and a right. Many of the proceedings of the Board Schools have not commended themselves to the English mind. The unwise persecution of the ragged schools doing a good work, the harshness shewn in many cases to the poor, the tendency to multiply schools unnecessarily, and to run them, so to say, in opposition to existing schools, the grave expenditure in general, and the high ratio of administrative charges in particular, all make thinking people hesitate before they aid in destroying a system which has done and is doing so well, and in setting up another of which the present position is hazy, and of which the future success is problematical.

I say all this with some reserve, as the statements are perhaps a little coloured, but on the position I have already laid down, I object to an enforced uniformity of system.

Admitted, if you like, that there was a necessity for the School Board per se, for schools for our educational centres, concede if you will, that it was most advisable to supplement existing deficiencies, and to develop available means, to revive, perhaps, what was languishing, and to throw fresh vigour into that which was dormant or decaying—in all this most, I think, will concur. But when it is seen that concessions have not satisfied the clamorous, and that changes have not appeased the lovers of change, but that what is really wanted and sought for is a substitution of a State elementary system for the denominational system, a very large section of us all will have welcomed the recent enactments of wise legislation, which have not encouraged such hopes or plans, but have, on the contrary, sought to solidify and to strengthen the great system of denominational schools which like a network spreads all over the country.

The Boards of Guardians have been most properly made the judges as to the inability of parents to contribute to the education of their children, while the conscientious convictions of even such "poor people" have been as properly considered, by enabling Boards of Guardians to consult their legitimate wishes, or to the school to which their children should be sent. So that if in a given town or district a Methodist parent, or a Roman Catholic parent, or a Church of England parent, or a Baptist parent, receives aid from the rates, the child may be sent to the day school of which the parent conscientiously approves. And against this simple, English, thoroughly-fair, and manly proposal we have listened recently to objections made in the wildest language, and with the most illogical inconsistency.

There is one great gain which arises out of all these discussions, which is, that the attention of the public generally is drawn to this most vital of subjects, most important for us all alike, and that it is no longer to be left to the mercy of sciolists, to the passions of schools, to the vehemence of political perversity, to the burning animosities of the intolerant, or to the reckless unconcern of the uninterested, the sceptical, and the antagonistic.

The feeling of the great mass of Englishmen and Englishwomen of all classes alike undoubtedly is, "Education we will have, education if need be compulsorily, and we will no longer allow ignorance to stalk in our midst, or our children to grow up as 'wild arabs,' 'wastrels,' 'derelicts,' in the fulness of our contentedness and our civilization, our affluence and advance, our national plenty and our magnificent professions."

But one condition we will add—such education shall also be religious. And, therefore, as the tendency seems to be even to forbid the Bible to be read (strange result of all our tolerance and liberty of thought and conscience), in some Board schools, and it is quite clear that at any time a popular majority for some reason or other might enforce such a rule in any district where a School Board exists, we prefer to give fair play to that great system which seems to be founded on the religious sympathies of our true-hearted people, and which, subject to a conscience clause, securing the rights of all, and religious liberty and toleration for all, still offers in many thousand schools, a sound and economical, a useful and a religious education to an overwhelming majority of English children.

In my next I will give an analysis of the last report of the Committee of the Privy Council on Education, which I have already prepared, but which would make this letter too long.

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

The following is the agenda of business for the Quarterly Communication on Wednesday, 6th September, 1876:—

The minutes of the Quarterly Communication of the 7th of June for confirmation.

Report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter, in which are recommendations for the following grants, viz:—

	£	s.	d.
A brother of the St. George and Corner Stone Lodge, No. 5, London...	50	0	0
" " of the Crystal Palace Lodge, No. 742, London...	50	0	0
The five orphan children of a brother of the Lodge of Truth, No. 944, Bombay	50	0	0
The widow of a brother of the Lodge of Perfect Friendship, No. 376, Ipswich	50	0	0

Report of the Board of General Purposes to the United Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of England:—

"The Board of General Purposes beg to report that their attention having been directed to an application dated 24th May, 1876, from the Lodge of Love and Honour, No. 75, Falmouth, for the usual Grand Lodge Certificate for the Tyler, who was initiated so long ago as the 8th April, 1861, and to certain letters in which it was stated that the said brother was initiated without the necessary dispensation required by Article 9, page 87, Book of Constitutions. The Board, after due consideration, although none of the brethren then in office are now members of the lodge, felt that the lodge—as a lodge—must be held responsible for such a grave irregularity on the part of its former officers, but at the same time did not treat the offence with the severity which would under the circumstances have been extended to it. The Board therefore simply ordered that the lodge should pay a fine of one guinea, and that the Grand Secretary should be empowered to issue the certificate on payment thereof.

"The Board desire to especially direct the notice of the Masters and Secretaries of lodges to Art. 26, page 69, of the Book of Constitutions, attention to which would at once prevent annoyance to their successors, and the necessity of an appeal to the Executive of Grand Lodge.

(Signed) "PETER DE L. LONG,

"Vice-President of the Board."

To the report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge accounts at the last meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 11th day of August, showing a balance in the hands of the Grand Treasurer of £3228 16s. 5d.; and in the hands of the Grand Secretary, for petty cash, £75; and for servants' wages, £96 15s.

Proposed motions:—

1.—By V.W. Bro. the Rev. Robert James Simpson, P.G. Chaplain,—

That, in accordance with the resolution passed at the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, the following brethren constitute a Special Committee to consider the best mode of perpetuating in some charitable form our thankfulness to Almighty God for the preservation and safe return from India of our Most Worshipful Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and report thereon to Grand Lodge:—Bros. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M.; Earl of Donoughmore, S.G.W.; the Hon. W. Warren Vernon, J.G.W.; Lord Leigh, Prov. G.M. Warwickshire; Lord Tenterden, P.G.W.; J. M. P. Montagu, D. Prov. G.M. Dorset; J. Havers, P.G.W.; Æneas J. McLartyre, Q.C., G. Registrar; Jabez Hogg, P.G.D.; Erasmus Wilson, Deputy M. No. 2; Octavius H. Pearson, W.M. 10; Hamon L. Estrange, P.M. 10; Nathan B. Headon, W.M. 1426; Baxter Langley, W.M. 1423; Macrae Moir, P.M. 66; Edwin March, W.M. Grand Stewards' Lodge; Rev. Robert J. Simpson, P.G. Chap; with power to add to their number.

That in the event of the above-named resolution being rejected or withdrawn the following resolutions shall be proposed:—

(1.) That, in order to perpetuate in some appropriate form our thankfulness to Almighty God for the preservation and safe return from India of our M.W. Grand Master, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and with a view to promote the cultivation of useful learning, and to enable young men of pre-eminent ability to enter more successfully on the duties of life, this Grand Lodge resolves to vote from the Fund for General Purposes the sum of £6000, to be applied to the founding of three scholarships, to be called the "Prince's Scholarships," in connection with the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and London, and to be held by the sons of Masons educated at the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

(2.) That a Special Committee be appointed to consider and draw up a scheme for carrying out this object, and to confer thereon with the Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

2.—By W. Bro. Jabez Hogg, P.G.D.—Will move as an amendment to Bro. Simpson's motion for the appointment of a committee,—

That, in order to perpetuate in some appropriate form our thankfulness to Almighty God for the preservation and safe return from India of our M.W. Grand Master, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and with a view to promote the cultivation of useful knowledge, and to make young men of pre-eminent ability to enter more successfully on the duties of life, this Grand Lodge resolves to vote from the Fund of General Purposes the sum of £6000, to be applied to the foundation of Scholarships to be called the "Albert Edward Scholarships," in connection with the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and London, and to be held by the sons of Masons educated at the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

FIRTH PARK, SHEFFIELD.—Twelve months since the Prince and Princess of Wales visited Sheffield for the purpose of opening the public park given to the town by Mr. Mark Firth. Since then Mr. Firth has spent several thousand pounds in cutting roadways through the park, ornamenting it, and in building an entrance lodge. These works are now completed, and to celebrate the event there was a demonstration in the park yesterday. The weather was unfortunately very unfavourable. The Corporation visited the park in their official robes, and in the course of the afternoon the Mayor, Alderman Tasker, presented Mr. Firth with an illuminated copy of a vote of thanks passed to him by the Corporation at the meeting following the Royal visit. In the evening there was a grand display at Cutler's Hall, the dinner being given especially to Mr. Firth. The park is on a part of a town near to some of the largest ironworks, and will be much appreciated by the workmen.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, September 8, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

Gen. Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 1607, Lodge of Loyalty, Alexandra Palace.
Chap. 975, Rose of Denmark, Star & Garter, Kew-bdgc.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

Lodge 144, St. Luke's, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mark Lodge, 139, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.
Red Cross Con. Premier, Regent M.H., Regent-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

Colonial Board, at 4.
Lodge 1383, Friends in Council, 33, Golden-sq.
" 1472, Henley, Three Crowns, High-st., Woolwich.
" 1506, White Horse of Kent, 33, Golden-sq.

Mark Lodge 1, St. Mark's, M.H., Masons' Avenue.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.

Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.

Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.

Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.

Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.

Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6.

Quart. Com. Grand Lodge, at 6 for 7 p.m.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7.

Lodge 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-rd.

" 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Bridge House Hot.

" 1360, Royal Arthur, Wimbledon Village Club.

" 1445, Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., E.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albany-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.

Lodge 1420, Earl Spencer, Northcote Hot., New Wandsworth.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 9, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

Lodge 113, Unanimity, Bull Hot., Church-st., Preston.

" 1045, Stamford, T.H., Altrincham.

" 1051, Rowley, M.R., Athenæum, Lancaster.

" 1264, Neptune, M.H., Liverpool.

" 1380, Skelmersdale, Queen's Hot., Waterloo.

Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

Lodge 178, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.

" 673, St. John's, M.H., Liverpool.

" 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverstone.

" 1384, Equity, Walker's Com. Hot., Widnes.

" 1476, Blackpool, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.

Chap. 203, St. John of Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.

Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6.

Lodge 730, Ellesmere, Royal Oak Hot., Chorley.

" 1013, Royal Victoria, M.H., Liverpool.

" 1061, Triumph, M.H., Lytham.

" 1335, Lindsay, 20, King-st., Wigan.

" 1354, Marquis of Lorne, M.R., Leigh.

" 1403, W. Lancashire, Com. Hot., Ormskirk.

Mark Lodge 65, W. Lancashire, M.H., Liverpool.

De Grey and Ripon L. of I., N. Hill-st., Liverpool.

Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

Harmonic L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7.

Lodge 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.

" 1473, Bootle, Assembly Rooms, Bootle.

Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.

St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.

Lodge 1289, Rock, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 9, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

Lodge 20, St. John, M.H., Lesmahagon.

" 124, Kilwinning, Union Tav., Ayr.

" 129, St. Mirren, 5, Moss-st., Paisley.

" 138, Operative, Blue Bell Hot., Ayr.

Lodge 237, St. John, Masonic Arms, Girvan.
" 332, Union, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 53, Dumbarton, Elephant Hot., Dumbarton.
" 119, Rosslyn, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.
Lodge 34, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 68, Doric, 44, Church-st., Port Glasgow.
" 73, Thistle and Rose, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 173, St. John, M.H., Largs.
" 177, St. James's, M.H., Coatbridge.
" 406, St. John Dalziel, M.H., Motherwell.
" 433, St. Thomas, Eglington Hot., Dalmellington.
" 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
" 442, Neptune, M.H., Princes-lane, Ardrossan.
" 497, St. John's, Brewery Lesser Hall, Catrine.
" 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6.

Lodge 0, Mother Kilwinning, M.H., Kilwinning.
" 4, Glasgow Kilwinning, 162, Kent-rd., Glasgow.
" 21, Old St. John, M.H., Lanark.
" 86, Navigation, Arms Hot., Troon.
" 117, St. Mary, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
" 126, St. Andrew, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 128, St. John, M.H., Shettleston.
" 166, St. John, M.H., Airdrie.
" 198, Royal Arch, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
" 202, St. Clement's, Com. Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 233, Hamilton, Spalding's Hot., Hamilton.
" 331, St. Peter's, Portland Arms, Galston.
" 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow, 3 p.m.
Chap. 87, Shamrock and Thistle, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7.

Lodge 11, St. John's, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
" 22, St. John, Kilwinning.
" 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 149, St. Andrew, Masons' Arms, Irvine.
" 157, St. John, M.H., Beith.
" 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
" 290, Blair, White Hart Hot., Dalry.
" 320, St. John, M.H., Salcoats, Ardrossan.
" 370, Renfrew, 8, High-st., Paisley.
" 465, St. Andrew, 69, Garngad-rd. 7.30 p.m.
" 547, Stewart, M.H., Kilsyth.

Chap. 114, Baron of Renfrew, M.H., Renfrew.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.

Lodge 18, Dumbarton, Church-st., Dumbarton.
" 147, Cadder Argyle, M.H., Chryston.
" 153, Royal Arch, Cogan-st., Pollokshaws.
" 170, Leven St. John, Black Bull Inn, Renton.
" 427, St. Clair, M.H., Cambusnethan.
Chap. 144, St. Rollox, 69, Garngad-rd., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 9, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

Lodge 429, St. Kentigern, Royal Hot., Penicuik.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

Lodge 5, Canongate and Leith, 86, Constitution-st.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7.

Lodge 97, St. James's, St. James's Hall, Writers' Court.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.

Chap. 56, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John-st.

MARKTBREIT-ON-THE-MAIN, Bavaria.

COMMERCIAL BOARDING SCHOOL,

Conducted by

BROTHER T. DAMM.

(Founded by Brother S. Wohl, 1845.)

Sound Commercial and General Instruction; the German, English, French, and Italian languages, mathematics, classics, music, and gymnastics.

A thorough education, constant superintendence, and excellent treatment. Terms, £40.

For prospectus, apply to the Principal.

YOUNG GENTLEMEN'S ACADEMY,

QUAI DU LEMAN,

GENEVA.

(Founded in 1843 by Mr. Diederichs, for the last five years under the direction of Bro. V. Wisard.)

A School of long standing and high reputation. Beautiful and healthy situation. Complete education. Special studies for modern languages. Advantageous terms for the sons of Masonic brethren. Highest Masonic and Commercial references.

HOUSE, Garden, and Orchard to be LET or SOLD.—The Poplars, a convenient Ten-roomed House; stable, coach-house, offices, cottage, &c., detached; one or two acres of garden and orchard; 700ft. of fruit wall; trees in full bearing; chicken-breeding house, piggeries, &c.; immediate possession; rent from £90; half a mile from Lee Station.—Apply to Mr. Drewett, Burnt Ash-hill, Lee, S.E.

TO LET a well furnished Villa Residence on the Wickham Park Estate, New Cross. For terms apply to J. Burchell, Esq., 55, Coleman-street, City.

TO LAND OWNERS AND OTHERS.—

The advertiser, many years with a Firm of Auctioneers, seeks an engagement as Land Steward, or place of trust. Highest credentials. Address, Brother, Messrs. Deacon, Leadenhall-street.

CONTENTS.

United Grand Lodge	403
REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	404
Mark Masonry	404
Red Cross of Constantine	405
Ancient and Accepted Rite	405
Provincial Grand Lodge of Devon	405
Provincial Grand Lodge of North and East Yorkshire	405
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	405
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls	405
Masonic Archaeology	406
Prince of Wales' Visit to Glasgow	406
The Bulgarian Atrocities	407
The Antiquity and Objects of Freemasonry	407
The Fluctuations of Masonic Literature	408
The Irish Masonic Orphan Institutions	408
North and East Yorkshire	409
An Insult to Freemasonry	409
A Charge against the French Freemasons	409
The Last Quarterly Communication	409
CORRESPONDENCE:—
The Masonic Press	410
A Little Friendly Gossip on some of the Topics of the Day	410
Reviews	410
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	411
The Model Subscriber	411
Masonic and General Tidings	412
Masonic Meetings for next Week	412
Advertisements	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

The Quarterly Communication of United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England was held at Freemasons' Hall on Wednesday evening, the R. W. Colonel Burdett, Provincial Grand Master for Middlesex, as Grand Master; the R.W. the Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, S.G. Warden; the R.W. the Hon. William Warren Vernon, J.G. Warden; the R.W. Richard Giddy, District Grand Master for Griqualand; the R.W. Samuel Rawson, Past District Grand Master for China; the R.W. Hugh D. Sandeman, Past District Grand Master for Bengal; the R.W. Henry Murray, District Grand Master for China; the R.W. John Havers, P.G.W.; the R.W. Capt. Wm. Platt, P.G.W.; R.W. Sir Albert Woods (Garter), G.D. of Ceremonies, P.G.W.; the V.W. Rev. S.R. Wigram; V.W. Rev. Charles John Martyn, P.G. Chaplain, as Grand Chaplain; the V.W. Charles Wm. Arnold, G. Chaplain; V.W. Rev. Sir John Warren Hayes, Bart.; V.W. Rev. Robert James Simpson, P.G.C.; V.W. Aeneas John McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar; V.W. Samuel Tomkins, Grand Treasurer; the V.W. John Hervey, Grand Secretary; W. Lieut.-Colonel Thos. Birchall, S.G. Deacon; W. Thomas, William Boord, M.P., F.S.A., S.G. Deacon; W. E. J. Barron, J.G. Deacon; W. John March Case, J. G. Deacon; W. Lieut.-Col. John Creation, P.G.D.; Dr. Jabez Hogg, P.G.D.; W. Henry Browne, P.G.D.; W. Samuel Leith Tomkins, P.G.D.; W. Brackstone Baker, P.G.D.; W. J. E. Saunders, P.G.D.; W. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D.; W. Chas. Aug. Marton, P.G.D.; W. Richard Havers, P.G.D.; W. John Anthony Rucker, P.G.D.; W. J. Percy Leith, P.G.D.; W. Joseph Charles Parkinson, P.G.D.; W. Robert Grey, P.G.D.; W. Thomas Fenn, P.G.D.; W. F. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D.; W. Frederick Pepys Cockerell, G. Sup. Wks.; W. Wm. Rhys Williams, assist. G.D.C.; W. Richard J. Spiers, P.G.S.B.; W. Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; W. James Mason, P.G.S.; W. Joshua Nunn, P.G.S.B.; W. Wilhelm Kube, G. Organist; W. Eleazer D'Albert, G.P.; W. Samuel G. Foxall, Assist. G. Pursd.; W. John Emmens, P.G.P.; W. William Ough, P.G.P.; W. John Coutts, P.G.P.; W. C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P.; W. Thomas, Cubitt, P.G.P.; and W. John Wright, P.G.P., were also present, besides General Brownrigg, as D.G.M.; Major Finney, John Constable, Captain Philips, F. Adlard, Thomas W. White, F. Binckes, C. F. Hogard, George Kenning, H. A. Dubois, J. H. Wynne, Herbert Dicketts, B. H. Swallow, H. G. Buss, S. Rosenthal, W. J. Murlis, James Terry, W. Dodd, D. W. Pearce, Dr. J. E. Carpenter, Massey ("Freemason"), and about 300 other brethren.

Grand Lodge having been formally opened Grand Secretary read the minutes of the Quarterly Communication of 7th June, which were put by the Grand Master in the chair and confirmed.

Bro. Joshua Nunn moved, and Bro. McIntyre seconded that the report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter be received and entered on the minutes, and this having been adopted,

Bro. Joshua Nunn moved, and Bro. Raynham W. Stewart moved the adoption of the recommendation of the following grants:—

A brother of the St. George and Corner Stone Lodge, No. 5, London...	50	0	0
" " of the Crystal Palace Lodge, No. 742, London...	50	0	0
The five orphan children of a late brother of Lodge of Truth, No. 644, Bombay	50	0	0
The widow of a brother of the Lodge of Perfect Friendship, No. 376, Ipswich	50	0	0

These were all carried unanimously.

Bro. McIntyre, G.R., moved, and Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., seconded, that the Report of the Board of General Purposes, which had been printed and circulated, be taken as read. Bro. McIntyre said he moved it in the absence of the President of the Board (Bro. J. B. Monckton) from town. The motion having been adopted,

Bro. McIntyre said there was no substantive motion arising in the report, and he therefore moved, to be in proper form, that it be received and entered on the minutes.

Bro. Brackstone Baker seconded the motion, which was then put and carried. The report was as follows:—

Report of the Board of General Purposes, to the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England:

The Board of General Purposes beg to report that their attention having been directed to an application dated 24th May, 1876, from the Lodge of Love and Honour, No. 75, Falmouth, for the usual Grand Lodge Certificate for the Tyler, who was initiated so long ago as the 8th of April, 1861, and to certain letters in which it was stated that the said brother was initiated without the necessary dispensation required by article 9, page 86, Book of Constitutions. The board, after due consideration, although none of the brethren then in office are now members of the lodge, felt that the lodge—as a lodge—must be held responsible for such a grave irregularity on the part of its former officers, but at the same time did not treat the offence with the severity which would under the circumstances have been extended to it. The board therefore simply ordered that the lodge should pay a fine of one guinea, and that the Grand Secretary should be empowered to issue the certificate on payment thereof.

The board desired especially to direct the notice of the Masters and Secretaries of lodges to article 26, page, 69, of the Book of Constitutions, attention to which would at once prevent annoyance to their successors, and the necessity of an appeal to the executive of Grand Lodge.

(Signed)

PETER DE L. LONG,
Vice-President of the Board.

To the report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge accounts at the last meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 11th day of August instant, shewing a balance in the hands of the Grand Treasurer of £3328 16s. 5d.; and in the hands of the Grand Secretary, for petty cash, £75; and for servants' wages, £96 15s.

Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., then rose to move "That in accordance with the resolution passed at the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge the following brethren constitute a Special Committee to consider the best mode of perpetuating in some charitable form our thankfulness to Almighty God for the preservation and safe return from India of our Most Worshipful Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and report thereon to Grand Lodge:—Bros. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M.; Earl of Donoughmore, S.G.W.; the Hon. W. Warren Vernon, J.G.W.; Lord Leigh, Prov. G.M. Warwickshire; Lord Tenterden, P.G.W.; J. M. P. Montagu, D. Prov. G.M. Dorset; J. Havers, P.G.W.; Aeneas J. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar; Jabez Hogg, P.G.D.; Erasmus Wilson, Deputy M. No. 2; Octavius H. Pearson, W.M. No. 10; Nathan B. Headon, W.M. No. 1426; Baxter Langley, W.M. No. 1423; Macrae Moir, P.M. No. 66; Edwin March, W.M. Grand Steward's Lodge; Rev. Robert J. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain, with power to add to their number." In doing so he said: M.W. Acting Grand Master, and brethren, in laying the motion of which I have given notice—you have a copy in our notice paper before you—before Grand Lodge, I wish to lay down for myself three rules for my guidance, rules which I hope may be approved of by the brethren, and, if it be not impertinent, I may add, I hope, may be followed by other speakers. The rules are, first, that I shall be exceedingly brief in my speech (hear, hear) in the next place that I shall abstain from any allusion to persons or the press; and thirdly, that I shall as little as possible, even touch upon the transactions of the last Grand Lodge, save and except so far as they necessarily are connected with the motion which I am about to lay before you.

Mr. Frank Buckland remarked in a recent letter upon a very interesting subject, that heat and tranquillity were necessary for the cultivation of oysters. I am quite sure that there was on the last night of our meeting too much heat, and too little tranquillity. I trust to-night that we shall realise both these conditions, but rather in a different sense to the heat to which I have alluded. I trust the heat to night will be the warmth of brotherly love which will shape itself to the public good, and I trust that the tranquillity will mark our discussion which alone can lead to a calm and a just decision. (Hear hear and applause.) It will be in the recollection of Grand Lodge that the resolution was passed on our last night of meeting, to the effect that a committee should be appointed for an object specified in that motion. (Hear hear.) As a natural sequence to that resolution, and in order to keep upon the lines of business I now venture to lay before you the names which I have the honour to propose on that committee for your approval or otherwise. I am not at all sure, M.W.G.M., that it would not have been for the interests of Freemasonry, and of the great object which we have in view that no particular member of Grand Lodge, however experienced, however high in the Craft, or otherwise, should have proposed any definite scheme upon this subject, but that it would have been far more advisable, and consonant to the dignity of the subject, that in the beginning a committee should have been appointed to carry out this great object. (Hear, hear.) That was, unfortunately, not done. I am myself an offender, as well as others in this respect, and, therefore, I plead guilty, being a party to not having thus dealt with this subject. But I cannot conceal from myself that as the amendment which was proposed, and which eventually became a substantive motion, was drawn up on the spur of the moment, in the midst of the discussion, so it was immediately intended to ward off what many of us considered—whether rightly or wrongly—a great imminent danger. That object has been attained. Whether rightly or wrongly, thus it is; and it now, I understand, is the opinion of a great number of the members of this Grand Lodge, that it might be convenient not to proceed with the committee, but to take some more definite course. (No, no.) Of course it is quite open to this Grand Lodge to-night, if it pleases, to reject the motion which I have the honour to propose, and in any way to rescind the casual motion which was made upon the last night of meeting. (No, no: It had been carried.) Very good. If Grand Lodge, however, expresses itself to that effect, I myself will be prepared to bow respectfully to it. If not, then I venture to propose this committee as containing the names of brethren highly esteemed in the Craft, except it be one who "holds the wooden spoon" at the end of it, (laughter), and I think they are brethren also who, if they are to choose theirs, or to add to their number, will add brethren of the Grand Lodge who will be likely to carry out the objects we have in view. I trust that if this committee is appointed it will come to an unanimous recommendation which will be at once worthy of the solemn and exalted object we have in view, and that they will be likely to confer a lasting benefit and true dignity upon our Order. I submit, M.W.G.M., without comment at present, the resolution which I propose. (Great cheering.)

Bro. Edward Cox, P.M. 657: M.W.G.M., I shall be most happy to second the resolution.

Bro. F. A. Philbrick, P.G.D.: M.W.G.M.,—On an occasion of this kind, with respect to the subject before Grand Lodge, I am sure we have one feeling—the unanimous feeling which was expressed at the last meeting of the Grand Lodge, namely, that whatever be the mode in which we may give an expression of our gratitude, the occasion was one which demanded a commemoration from the Craft. As to the method which that commemoration was to shape itself, that was settled by the resolution of the last Grand Lodge, which has been confirmed on the minutes to-night, by being referred to a Committee. That committee has now been nominated by our Bro. Simpson, and I venture, on an occasion of this kind, to say that I trust no remark I may make may interfere with the unanimity with which the Grand Lodge will proceed. In form I am compelled to move an amendment. In substance I believe I am bound to call attention to that which I am sure has been an unintentional omission, and which, I for one, should be very disappointed unless it be accepted by our Bro. Simpson, as a part of his resolution. There are certain great names omitted in the resolution. I will not criticise the names upon this Committee, because the names are those of brethren who may fairly represent the whole interests of the Craft, and who, both from their personal merits—but rather, I would put it, from their official position—are entitled, both by their position and experience to be on a committee of this kind. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) There is the Prov. Grand Master, Lord Carnarvon, a name, I am sure, as popular as any known Mason. I forbear to mention personal matters, but there is the Grand Treasurer, our respected and popular Grand Treasurer, who has borne office for many years. There is the President of the Board of General Purposes: there is the President of the Colonial Board, Bro. Rucker; there is the President of the Board of Benevolence, who, unfortunately is absent to-night from circumstances under which we all sympathise with him. I do not suppose there will be any difficulty at all about that. Holders of these great offices, the illustrious Masons whose names I have mentioned, should be added to this council to carry out the object which we all have at heart. I left out my excellent friend our Bro. Sir Albert Woods, but I beg now to suggest his name, and to move these additions as an amendment to our rev. brother's motion. (Hear, hear, and applause.)

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D.: I second the amendment; but I think there has been with our Bro. Philbrick a great omission, and I allege that if you were to carry out the last part of the resolution of our Bro. Simpson, there ought to be those who were connected with the charities: the House Committees ought to be added (No, no, and uproar.)

Bro. S. Rawson, P.D.G.M. for China: I rise to a point of order. (Confusion.)

Bro. Raynham Stewart: You should put those men on who for years have been tried by your brethren, and who know and can give the best advice as to the mode of carrying out the plan.

Bro. S. Rawson: I rise to a point of order.

Bro. Stewart: I will propose if this committee be carried—(Chair, cheering, and confusion.)

Bro. Rawson: I rise to a point of order. This is not an amendment at all. The original motion as proposed by our Bro. Simpson has power to add to their number. (Hear, hear, and applause.)

Bro. Simpson: May I be permitted to explain? I merely wish to say—I want only to make a single observation. In answer to Bro. Philbrick's observation, I wish to say that my great difficulty was in putting down the names of other brethren who were as worthy as, if not more worthy than, those on the list, and that I was anxious to leave to Grand Lodge itself to originate by such propositions as Bro. Philbrick's the full constitution of the committee. (Hear, hear.) I was anxious to put down as few names as possible only as a nucleus, and leave it to Grand Lodge rather than myself to put in others. (Hear, hear.) I accept these names at once.

Bro. Dr. Jabez Hogg, P.G.D., said he interposed with considerable diffidence, but it occurred to him from what fell from a number of speakers at the former meeting that there was a considerable number who disapproved of this committee of Bro. Simpson's altogether, he himself was not antagonistic, notwithstanding he had an amendment to his motion. By that amendment he really wished to bring about a good feeling in Grand Lodge. The brethren wished to commemorate their thankfulness in a way which would be worthy of this Grand Lodge. Feeling that there was a difference of opinion, he had ventured to submit a motion to his Bro. Simpson, but unfortunately being out of town and unable to communicate with him in time for the meeting of the Board of Masters, he placed his notice on the agenda paper that he might not be out of order that evening. It appeared to him that there would be a difference of opinion in the appointment of the committee. He agreed with Bro. Simpson's principle.

Bro. James Mason, P.G.S.B., rose to order, and was met with cries of "Sit down," and some confusion.

Dr. Hogg continued. He thought they might confirm a principle on which the committee was to sit and deliberate a principle that might be acceptable to Grand Lodge.

The Acting Grand Master said he must remind Dr. Hogg that Grand Lodge had already agreed to a committee. The only question now was of whom it should be composed.

Dr. Hogg would most readily and respectfully bow.

merely wished to explain that in putting his amendment on the paper he wished to restore a better feeling with regard to the committee, and thought it could be done by confirming the principle upon which it should be asked to sit and deliberate. He was happy to withdraw his amendment.

Bro. J. Wynne thought that before the committee was appointed they should give the brethren an opinion of what they intended to do. (Oh, oh, and laughter.)

The Acting Grand Master was in the course of putting the resolution to Grand Lodge, when

Bro. Baxter Langley rose and said that to some extent he believed that the feeling of Grand Lodge was that though the main feeling of the brethren would go with the general tenor of the motion, there yet was an anxiety widely expressed that the motion should have some more definite form, and that Grand Lodge should know previously, or form some idea of the direction in which that committee was to act. (Cries of no, no.) That feeling was deepened, he believed, by the fact that Bro. Simpson affixed to his motion an addendum, a sort of motion for retreat; if he (Bro. Baxter Langley) might call it so, in which he indicated distinctly his intention to propose a vote for the Boys' School.

The Acting Grand Master—That is not before the committee.

Bro. Baxter Langley quite agreed that that was not before Grand Lodge, but it was upon the agenda paper, and those who had read the agenda paper could not exclude it from their minds. He felt that whatever Grand Lodge did this committee should act with the same freedom of beneficence to all the Masonic Charities, and it was with that desire and with a sincere wish that he should not inflict a long speech upon the brethren that he ventured very respectfully to move the following as an amendment:—"That in order to perpetuate in some appropriate form—"

The Acting G.M.: I beg your pardon. The only amendment you can move is that the motion be rescinded. The motion for a committee is now passed, and the resolution is that these names form the committee. You can only move that it be rescinded; but if it is passed it will then be in your power to bring your present proposition before the committee, or to this Grand Lodge when the report of the committee comes up.

Bro. Baxter Langley suggested that his amendment should be added as a rider to the motion. In that sense it was an amendment.

Bro. Brackstone Baker, P.G.D., would venture to make an observation. He presumed that this Grand Lodge was governed by the ordinary rules of deliberative assemblies. When a motion was before a meeting and seconded they had to deliberate on that single motion, and no other than the substantive motion before them. If after that was adopted any other suggestion or addendum was proposed it was put as an "instruction." At present the only motion before this Grand Lodge was whether the committee be appointed with the names stated or not, with the addition. That was the only question before Grand Lodge.

Bro. Baxter Langley: It is an addition to the motion.

The acting G.M.: The names are proposed as an addition.

Bro. Baxter Langley: I propose an addition to the motion, then.

Bro. McIntyre, G.R.: The original motion was carried at last Grand Lodge. There is no original motion before this Grand Lodge except the nomination of the Committee. Grand Lodge on the last occasion decided that this should be considered and reported only a committee. Grand Lodge to night has confirmed that resolution of Grand Lodge, and therefore the committee is appointed now with full power to report to Grand Lodge. Everything that our worthy and excellent brother has said might well come up as an amendment on the report of the committee when the committee make their report; but at present everything is relegated to the committee to consider; to take any evidence they think proper, and take advantage of all knowledge which they possess, and then bring up a satisfactory report, I hope, with recommendations thereon. I hope, before the committee do that, they will take care that what they intend to report shall be submitted to the Board of Masters, and that it shall be known throughout the Craft, so that every opportunity shall be given to every brother to bring up a substantial resolution as an amendment to what the committee may recommend. But at present Grand Lodge having referred it to the committee, clearly you ought to have the result of their deliberations before you give an instruction on matters we know nothing about. (Hear, hear.)

Capt. J. E. Curteis: There is one important body of officers overlooked, and that is the representatives of the provinces. We cannot overlook the fact that the whole of the Masonic body is not confined within the limits of the City of London, or within the limits of those who are constantly in the habit of attending Grand Lodge. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) I beg, therefore, to propose that Provincial Grand Masters be added to the committee, and to report to Grand Lodge at next meeting.

The amendment having been seconded,

Bro. McIntyre said that for his own part he should have gone still further and added the Deputy Provincial Grand Masters. He thought provincial brethren deserved as much to be represented as the London brethren. (Great cheering.) Perhaps Bro. Simpson would accept the suggestion.

Bro. Simpson: M.W.G.M., I accept the proposition. The motion was then put and carried unanimously amidst vociferous cheering, and Grand Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflector Manufactured, 69, Fleet-street, London.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

STAR LODGE (No. 1275).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at the Ship Hotel, Greenwich, on Friday, 1st inst. Bro. J. F. Limebeer, W.M., opened the lodge. The minutes of the meeting held in June were read and unanimously confirmed. The report of the Audit Committee was received and adopted. It showed, as usual, that a large sum was in hand. The ballot was unanimous in favour of the admission of Mr. Leonard Van Boole. The W.M. raised Bros. J. Turnbull and C. Bibra to the Third Degree. He installed Bro. H. J. Green, S.W. and W.M. elect, as W.M., the addresses being given by Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., P.M. and Treas. The officers appointed are Bros. R. W. Williams, S.W.; C. W. Williams, J.W.; the Rev. G. R. P. Colles, Chaplain (reinvested fourth time); J. Smith, P.G.P., P.M. (the father of the lodge), Treas. (reinvested for seventh time); F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middx, P.M., Sec. (reinvested for eighth time); W. B. Woodman (W.M. 1559), S.D.; W. Kipps, J.D.; E. W. Chetwynd, I.G.; A. Tisley, D.C.; S. Markitis, Steward; J. Gilbert, P.G. Tyler Middx, Tyler (reinvested eighth time). Bro. H. J. Green (P.M. 1538), the W.M., initiated Mr. Leonard Van Boole into Freemasonry. All the work was well done. Bro. L. Van Boole proposed his father, Bro. Mark Van Boole (late of the Mount Lebanon Lodge, Mass., U.S.A.), as a joining member. Bro. M. Van Boole is a Mason of 40 years' standing. It is always pleasurable to see fathers present when their sons are initiated into Freemasonry. Some candidates were proposed for initiation. The lodge was closed, and adjourned until Friday, Dec. 1st, at four p.m. Banquet followed. The usual toasts were given. Bro. J. J. Sinclair, I.P.M., had a Past Master's jewel of the usual value given to him. The musical arrangements were under Bro. W. Kipps, J.D., Organist to several lodges, and his successful efforts to please were well appreciated. There were present besides those named Bros. W. Ough, P.G.P., P.M.; E. J. Hogg, P.G.S., P.M.; H. Keeble, P.M.; W. E. Williams, W.M. 1538; J. S. Leaper, T. Gilloch, C. Marr, C. H. Dye, W. P. Tong, E. Searle, L. H. Williams, and others. Amongst a large number of visitors we noticed Bros. E. W. Hubback, P.G.S., P.M., &c.; J. G. Marsh, P.P.G.P. Middx, P.M.; F. R. Vine, P.M. 173; G. T. Fox, P.M. 73; T. Schmidt, P.M. 127; C. G. Rushworth, W.M. 1309; C. F. Poupard, W.M. 1446; W. Hilton, P.M. 780; E. W. Wise, P.M. 1158; T. Parker, P.M. 34; F. B. Williams, P.M. 780; C. W. Wise, P.M. 1158; T. Parker, P.M. 34; F. W. Williams, I.G. 162; T. Sutton, 102; W. Gibbs, 1538; F. Lewis, 188; H. M. Thomas, S.D. 134; J. Burford, 173; and several others whose names we were unable to ascertain.

PUNJAB.—The Ravee Lodge (No. 1215, E.C.)—This lodge held its usual monthly meeting on Monday, the 17th July, at the Masonic Hall, Lahore. Present: Bros. Warmington, W.M., D.G.P.; Chetham, I.P.M., Treas., D.G. Treas.; G. Davies, P.M., D.G. Sec.; Bull, S.W., P.D.G.P.; Donaghy, J.W., D.G. Stwd.; J. Davies, Sec.; Masson, S.D.; Jackson, J.D.; Rosamond, I.G., D.G. Stwd.; Reed, Tyler; Jessawalla, P.D.G.P.; Siddie, Gillon, and Pace. Visitors: Bros. Charde, 1394; Porter, 1483; Lemarchand, 1485; and Byramjee Ruttomjee. Lodge was opened at 8 p.m., and minutes of the June meeting confirmed. The report of the Permanent Committee was received and carried. Ballot was taken for initiation of Dr. Brij Lal Ghose, of the Mayo Hospital, which proving clear he was admitted into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M., the obligation being taken on those extracts from the "Veddas" which are in accordance with the tenets of the Brahma-Soomaj, the candidate being one of the elders of that body. The lecture was given by the Junior, and the charge by the Senior Warden. Bros. Hurst and Byramjee Ruttomjee were admitted as joining members. The W.M. requested the Secretary to read the resolution anent the I.P.M.'s photograph and jewel, carried at the January meeting, which having been done, the W.M. called the attention of the brethren to the result of Wor. Bro. Chetham's compliance with the first paragraph just read, which hung on the south wall, and congratulated them on having obtained so true a portrait to add to the Past Masters of Ravee. It now remained his pleasing duty on their behalf to carry out the other part of the resolution, and considered it one of the most agreeable duties he has yet been called upon to perform. He highly complimented Bro. Chetham in having been successful in obtaining the approval of the whole lodge while in the E. chair. Placing the jewel on the I.P.M.'s breast, the W.M. trusted he would look upon it as a slight acknowledgment of the good faith and ability he had shown whilst Master, and as an outward visible sign of that inward feeling of regard and esteem with which his name would ever be held in Ravee. Bro. Chetham, as the hour was somewhat advanced, said he would now only record his most sincere thanks, but should thank them more fully later in the evening. Bro. Brij Lal Ghose having given notice of his desire to be passed to the Second Degree at the next meeting, if found proficient, lodge was closed in P.H. and B.L. at 9.45 p.m. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment (not unneeded, considering the thermometer had been standing over 90° throughout the evening), and on the removal of the cloth the several toasts of obligation were given and duly honoured. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the I.P.M., Bro. Chetham," in the warmest and most appreciative manner. The toast was received with a heartiness that showed the sentiments expressed found an echo in the feelings of every brother present. Bro. Chetham said: W. Sirs and Brethren,—In rising to return thanks for the toast which you have just drank, I must confess I did not anticipate such an ovation as you have been pleased to accord, and it is therefore the more welcome to me. When at the close of 1874 you did me the honour to elect me as your W.M. for the year 1875, I resolved to use my best endeavours to carry on the duties of the high and responsible office of the E.C. to the satisfaction of the lodge, and to do all in my power to maintain the high reputation which our lodge had attained under the respective Hiram of our several predecessors, and you can imagine how pleased I was when Wor. Bro. Warmington, shortly after assuming the chair as my successor, intimated to me that the lodge had unanimously voted me a Past Master's jewel, and my photo for the lodge, for this action on your part was an assurance to me that my services as a ruler in the Craft had met with your approbation. And now, Worshipful Sirs and brethren, I have only to thank you most heartily for the very handsome jewel just presented to me, and which you see on my left breast; and I need hardly add that I am proud to wear it, and it will ever (if such a thing be necessary) remind me of Ravee, my mother lodge, and its many members with whom I have been for so many years so happily associated; and before I end, brethren, I must not forget to thank you for the kind manner in which you responded to the toast of my health, and more especially Bro. Warmington, for the eulogistic terms in which my health has been proposed. "The Health of the Initiate" followed, the W.M. expressing his pleasure in being able to welcome among them so distinguished a member of social reform and the medical profession. In reply, the doctor, in a few words, thanked the lodge for the honour done in admitting him a member, and trusted he should prove a Mason worthy of their choice, by regulating his course of life in accordance with the beautiful precepts he that night had given him. The toast of "The Visitors," given by the W.M., was responded to by Bros. Rosamond and Charde. "The Health of the W.M. and Officers" was drunk. The evening closed with the Tyler's toast and the chorus, Happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again—again; oh! happy to meet again.

INSTRUCTION.

LEWIS LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1185).—This new and rapidly increasing Lodge of Instruction has been enabled (in spite of removals and members visiting the sea-side) to hold on its way and add to its numbers. On each night of meeting there has been a good attendance of brethren. On the 12th ult. Bro. Turner, Worshipful Master elect of the mother lodge, presided, and on the 9th inst. Bro. Thomas Goodfellow, of the Domestic, 177, occupied the chair. In each case it was proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be presented to the Worshipful Master for the very efficient manner in which he had presided, and that the same be recorded on the minutes. Bro. J. W. Berrie occupied the chair on the 16th ult., and worked the Second Degree, Bro. Samuel Johnson acting as candidate. The last named brother has made great proficiency under the able preceptorship of Bro. Thomas Vesper, P.M., whose energy and zeal in pushing young men forward is worthy of the highest praise. Bro. Thomas Goodfellow having presented the Lewis Lodge of Instruction with a very handsome box of working tools (which were his own workmanship), it was proposed by Bro. J. W. Berrie, W.M., seconded by Bro. Samuel Johnson, and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be presented to him, and recorded on the minutes, for the handsome present he had made the lodge; it was also remarked that Bro. Thomas Goodfellow was calculated to make a very useful working member of the Craft. Bros. Tayler and Bone (promising officers of the mother lodge) were unanimously elected joining members of this Lodge of Instruction, and it was mutually regretted that they lived too far away to be constant attendants. On the 23rd ult. there was a very small attendance, there being only six present, but Bro. John Walker, of the Egyptian Lodge, No. 27, and Bro. H. B. Dunn, of the Sincerity, 174, and Finsbury Park, 1288, making their appearance casually, Bro. J. Walker was unanimously requested to take the chair, which he did, and in a most efficient manner performed the duties which devolved upon him to the entire satisfaction of the brethren present. This was testified by a vote of thanks, which was recorded on the minutes of the lodge. A notice was given by Bro. George Newman that on the next assembling he should move that the night of meeting of this Lodge of Instruction be changed from Wednesday to Thursday, so that it should not clash with that of the Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, and the brethren of the north of London might be enabled to support this Lodge of Instruction, which is the most northerly now

Mark Masonry

ST. MARK'S LODGE (No. 1).—The September meeting of the above lodge was held on Tuesday, the 29th ult., at the Masons' Hall Tavern, Bro. the Rev. P. H. Ernest Brette, B.D. Grand Chaplain, in the chair, supported by Bros. Charles Horsley, J.W., W.M. elect; H. C. Levander, H. A. Dubois, Stephens, Simmons, Cubitt, Wilkins, W. T. Howe, George Newman, Newton, E. Thiellay, and George Kenning. Visitor: Bro. Smith, 52. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. H. C. Levander, then installed Bro. Charles Horsley as W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. Horsley appointed and invested his officers. The Treasurer read the report of the Audit Committee. The lodge being closed the brethren retired to dinner. The usual toasts being ably proposed by the W.M., and responded to in a most enthusiastic manner. A valuable gold jewel was presented to Bro. Rev. P. H. E. Brette for his valuable services to the lodge. Bro. Brette replied in a very able and feeling speech. A jewel was also presented to Bro George Kenning for services rendered to the lodge.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

TRURO.—Cornwall Rose Croix Chapter. —This chapter met at Truro on Tuesday week, and being the first Masonic assembly of any kind in the town since the decease of Bro. Solomon, P.M., &c. (who was a member of the chapter), the M.W.S. in the chair, Sir Frederick Martin Williams, Bart., M.P., 33°, very feelingly referred to the loss which Freemasonry had sustained in the death of their sincerely lamented friend and brother. To know Brother Solomon was to respect him, and his name was quite a "household word" in the province. His accurate tastes and opinions were sought after from all parts, for he was a man of no ordinary ability, and his judgment was especially sound and reliable. Had the funeral partaken of a Masonic character he would certainly have attended, without regard to his personal convenience, and so would some hundreds of brethren also, who would have been ready to shew their respect for the deceased by accompanying his remains to their "earthly resting place." In the absence of Colonel Peard, the M.W.S., he moved the following resolution, which on being seconded by Bro. Hughan, 30°, P.M.W.S., &c., was unanimously carried by the various representatives of the Province who were present:—"That it is with heartfelt sorrow that the Cornwall Rose Croix Chapter, Truro, receives the announcement of the decease of the Worshipful Bro. Thomas Solomon, J.P., P. Prov. S.G.W. of Cornwall, whose long and faithful attachment to the Craft ended only with his life. The members of the chapter, in the death of their distinguished brother, are called upon to mourn the loss of a man of uprightness and integrity, of more than ordinary ability, and a most useful citizen; whose firm affections for the fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons, steadfast adherence to its teachings and principles, and the dignity and fidelity with which he filled the high offices and discharged the important trusts committed to him deserve the most honourable mention and a lasting record." The minutes were read by Bro. Charles Truscott, 30°, who is a model Recorder, to whom the chapter is much indebted for its success. Three candidates were perfected by Bro. Sir F. M. Williams, Bart., M.P., 33° (who has never missed a meeting since the Chapter was formed) assisted by the well-known Bro. Hughan, the "friend in need" of the chapter. The attendance was fair, and amongst the members were Bros. E. D. Anderson, Second General; Rev. W. H. Bloxsome, M.A.; William Lake, D.C.; Rev. George Ross, M.A. (who had come many miles to be present); and W. Grey and T. J. Smith. The members passed a resolution to refrain from "perfecting" any candidates at the next meeting, as they hoped Bro. Hughan would favour them with a history of the Ancient and Accepted Rite for the information of all concerned, and especially for the instruction of the newly-admitted brethren.

Red Cross of Constantine.

ORIGINAL OR PREMIER CONCLAVE OF ENGLAND.—The September meeting of the above conclave was held on Monday, 4th inst., at the Café Royal, Regent-street, V.E. Sir Knt. Henry A. Dubois, G.A., Most Puissant Sovereign, Treasurer, in the chair, supported by Sir Knts. Rev. Philip H. Ernest Brette, Joshua Nunn, P. M. Holden, H. C. Levander, R. Wentworth Little, Colonel Peters, E. H. Thellay, W. H. Hubbard, George Kenning, J. Mason, J. G. Marsh, H. H. Shirley, and others. Visitor: Sir Knt. Smith. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Sir Knt. Little informed the conclave of the very kind and hearty welcome accorded to the deputation from the Premier Conclave by the Edinburgh Conclave, No. 1, on the occasion of the enthronement of Sir Knt. Col. Burdett in Edinburgh on the 21st ult. Sir Knt. Little proposed, and Sir Knt. Levander seconded, that Sir Knts. Ramsey, Tracey, Mercer, and Brown, all of the Edinburgh Conclave, No. 1, should be elected honorary members of the Premier Conclave, No. 1, which on being put to the meeting was carried with acclamation.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DEVON.

The annual Provincial Grand Lodge of Freemasons of Devon was held on Thursday, the 31st ult., at Southmolton, the Right Worshipful the Rev. John Huyshe, M.A., P.G.C., Provincial Grand Master, presiding. There was a very large gathering of brethren, the Three Towns being largely represented. The following Prov. Grand Officers were present:—L. P. Metham, P.G.D., D.P.G.M.; W. G. Rogers, P.G. Sec.; Rev. W. Whitley, G. Chap.; W. S. Pasmore, G. Treas.; W. H. Haycock, S.G.D.; S. Willoughby, G.S.B.; D. Attwood, G. Purst.; S. Jones, P.P.S.G.D.; V. Bird, P.P.G.T.; J. Brown, P.P. G.P.; H. M. Body, P.G.S.; J. Gould, P.G.D.C.; H. C. Diston, P.G.C.; J. Wood, P.P.A.G.D.C.; Rev. T. W. Lemon, P.P.G.C.; S. B. Colston, P.G.S.; S. Chapple, P.P.A.G.D.C.; J. Edwards, P.P.G.O.; C. Leigh, P.P.G. Sec.; T. B. Harvey, P.P.G.D.C.; J. B. Gover, P.P.C.D.C.; F. H. Woodforde, P.P.S.G.W. Somerset; J. Mills, P.P.G.O.; P. D. Michelmores, P.G.S.; W. H. Elphinstone, P.P.J.G.W.; J. G. Shanks, P.P. J.G.W.; J. Harper, G.G.S.; J. Tanner-Davey, P.S. G.W.; W. Cole, P.P.G.P.; J. Way, P.P.G. Tyler; D. Attwood, P.G.P.; W. R. Woodman, P.G.S.B. England; J. Edwards, P.P.G.O.; Rev. T. Russell, P.P.G.; C. Oxon, P.J.G.W.; C. J. Harland, P.P.J.G.D.; W. H. Barker, P.G.R.; J. Dand, P.P. G.S.B.; W. Oram, P.P.G.D.C.; B. Stark, P.P.G.O.; J. H. Tonkin, P.G.S.; J. M. Hifley, P.P.G.A.D.C.; L. E. Westcott, P.P.G.S. Wks.; W. Browning, P.P. G.D.C. There were also present Immediate Past Masters R. G. Bird, Sec. 1550; J. Rendle, Sec. 1247; J. G. Johnson, 1402; T. Higgs, 106; J. Murch, 1099; W. E. Warren, 1358; Past Masters T. Goodall, 954; E. Roseveare, 1099; J. May, 223 and 159; D. Watson, 328; S. Loran, 1443; W. Knott, 372; G. T. Barry, 248; F. J. Pratt, 1396; W. T. Pilditch, 156; J. J. Drake, 1396; J. Hill, 251; J. Hancock, 251; C. Godtschalk, 1255; J. T. Shapland, 421; W. H. Gillman, 1099; H. Woodgate, 847; A. Lethbridge, 159; J. T. Widgery, 421; J. A. Kingdon, Treas. 421; J. F. Long, 59; J. E. Curteis, 189; R. B. Twose, 105 and 1550; R. Lake, 1135; W. J. List, 251; W. Britton, 251; T. Ebsworthy 251; R. H. Watson, 710; W. H. Brewer, 251; E. Furse, 421; W. F. Quicke, 49; G. Evans, 1181; A. Thomson, 39; W. Manning, 421; W. Haynes, 106; G. F. England, 1332; J. Orchard, 161; J. P. Phillips, 223; J. Baxter, 954; H. Cole, 1091. Worshipful Masters: J. L. Towner, 272; E. Hawke, 159; W. H. Terrell, 202; E. Tozer, 112; J. Gould, 1099; B. Barber, 1254; G. S. Richardson, 1212; S. G. Hearle, 1255; J. C. Fly, 1247; F. Day, 241; H. Stork, 1396; J. C. Edmunds, 444; W. H. Thomas, 70; J. Pigott, 328; W. E. Williams, 1125; D. Box, 156; J. H. Toms, 1091; J. Rowe, 1332; J. B. Royers, 1550; W. Harries, 1205. Senior Wardens: J. W. Avery, 156; J. H. Stephens, 159; H. Bailey, 202; H. Sharland, 1125; J. G. Bickle, 1212; W. S. Walter, 1099; W. H. Rickard, 954; W. Boyle, 251; J. Woodman, 444. Junior Wardens: T. Gibbons, 1205; J. Andrews, 159; R. Marshall, 202; J. Read, 847; H. H. Arnold, 1099; J. R. Dugdale, 954; R. P. Morrison, 251; B. J. Fisher, 444; J. Stocker, 39; W. G. Lacey, 106; W. Hearder, 105.

The lodge having been opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous lodge meetings having been read and confirmed, the Secretary, Bro. Rogers, P.P.G.S.W., read the report, which showed that there are forty-six lodges in Devon, with 2350 members. The report was very favourable, inasmuch as the whole of the lodges had made their annual returns, and £268 6s. 6d. had been received from these lodges.—The Treasurer, Bro. Pasmore, read the financial report, which showed the receipts for the year to be £473 14s. 1d. Out of the money received £52 10s. 0d. had been given to the Devon and Exeter Hospital, £105 5s. 0d. to the Portescue Annuity Fund, £26 5s. 0d. to the Masonic Boys' School, and 10 other gifts to relatives of deserving brethren, £61 0s. 0d. These amounts, with sundry expenses in working the province, left a balance of £170 14s. 3d. in the hands of the Treasurer. The Portescue Annuity Fund showed that £256 4s. 11d. had been received, and £261 2s. 5d. expended, leaving a balance due to the Treasurer of £5 17s. 6d.

Bro. Gover read the report of the Committee of Petitions, which presented the most favourable aspect yet shown.

Bro. J. E. Curteis proposed, and Bro. Godtschalk seconded a proposition that £100 should be given to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Fund. This was carried unanimously.

The following officers were appointed and invested for the following year:—

J. E. Curteis, 189	P.G.S.W.
J. Harper, 251	P.G.J.W.
Rev. H. Lansdale, 421	P.G. Chap.
Rev. Noel Plate	P.G. Chap.
J. J. Avery, 1550	P.G. Treas.
F. Day, 421	P.G. Reg.
W. G. Rogers, 112	P.G. Sec.
H. M. Body, 1332	P.G.S.D.
C. Godtschalk, 1255	P.G.J.D.
S. B. Colston, 248	P.G.S. Wks.
J. A. Orchard, 164	P.G.D.C.
J. H. Tonkin, 282	P.G.A.D.C.
P. D. Michelmores, 1138	P.G.S.B.
W. Quicke, 39	P.G.O.
W. Haynes, 106	P.G. Pur.

STEWARDS: D. Watson, 328; G. Evans, 1181; F. J. Pratt, 1396; J. T. Goodridge, 1358; J. P. Phillips, 223; C. Stribling, 70; J. May, 159.

At the request of the Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Metham delivered a very impressive oration to the brethren, which, we hope, will soon be printed and distributed in all the lodges of Devon.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF THE NORTH AND EAST RIDINGS OF YORKSHIRE.

A Provincial Grand Lodge was held by special appointment, in the Central Hall, Redcar, on the invitation of the Marwood Lodge, No. 1244, on Wednesday, the 2nd day of August, 1876. There were present the Right Hon. the Earl of Zetland, R.W. Provincial Grand Master, on the Throne; W. Bro. John Pearson Bell, Esq., M.D., J.P., Past Grand Deacon of England, 57, Deputy Provincial Grand Master; the Present Provincial Grand Officers many Past Provincial Grand Officers, the Worshipful Masters, Past Masters, and Wardens, of the various lodges in the province, and others.

The Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened in due form, and with solemn prayer, the Prov. Grand Secretary read the minutes of the last Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Hull, on the 6th October, 1875, which were confirmed.

Letters of apology for absence were received from W. Bro. Sir James Meek, P.P.S.G.W.; W. H. Porritt, P.J. G.W.; H. O. Piercy, P.P.J.G.W.; J. H. Handyside P.P.J.G.W.; J. Brooke, J.P.G.D.; and E. Mason P.P.J.G.D.

The Prov. Grand Secretary then read the report of the Board of Benevolence, showing that the board had that day voted the sum of £10 to Bro. Thos. Shaw, of the Old Globe Lodge, No. 200. The report was unanimously confirmed.

The Prov. Grand Treasurer read his annual balance sheet, which, having been audited by the W. Masters of the Humber and Lennox Lodges and found correct, was unanimously adopted.

The W. Deputy Prov. Grand Master then, in accordance with notice given, moved: "That this Provincial Grand Lodge, with the view of affording increased and continuous support to the Masonic Charitable Institutions, strongly recommends, that every member of the Craft in this province do voluntarily agree to subscribe for that purpose the sum of sixpence per quarter. Such sum to be charged in, and paid with, his usual quarterly payments to the Secretary of the lodge to which he may belong, and to be used for the benefit of such of the central Masonic charities as the majority of the members of his lodge may, from time to time, determine." The resolution was seconded by W. Bro. J. W. Woodall, P.S.P.G.W. A long discussion followed, in which the Prov. Grand Secretary, W. Bro. Bro. Balmford, P.P.G.O., Dr. Walton, P.P.G.S.B., J. B. Thompson, P.M. 1244, P.P.G. Reg., Durham, and J. Thompson, P.G.S.B. Charity Representative, took part. The motion was carried unanimously.

The W. Prov. Grand Treasurer then, in accordance with notice given, moved: "That the best thanks of this Provincial Grand Lodge be tendered to the Investigation Committee, appointed by the Prov. Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, for their excellent report on the financial condition and state of tuition in the Boys' School; and this Provincial Grand Lodge expresses a hope that their exertions will be continued." The Prov. Grand Treasurer disclaimed any intention of attacking Bro. Binckes, whom he believed to be a thoroughly efficient and valuable officer. The bad management complained of was the result of the negligence of the House Committee, who were quite incompetent to conduct the affairs of the school, &c. He then read a number of extracts from the published reports of the institution to establish the statements made in the report of the West Yorkshire Committee. The motion was seconded by W. Bro. Balmford, P.P.G.O., supported by W. Bro. Dr. Pyburn, P.M. 1010, and carried. The Prov. Grand Secretary was requested to notify the resolution to the Investigation Committee.

The various lodges in the province, all of which were represented, then communicated. The returns showed the total of 1599 subscribing members.

The R.W. Provincial Grand Master then appointed and invested the following brethren as Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year, (with the exception of the Prov. Grand Treasurer, who was re-elected by the Provincial Grand Lodge:—

Hon. W. T. Orde Powlett, W.M. 123	Prov. S.G.W.
William Waller, P.M. 1244	Prov. J.G.W.
Rev. Wm. Buswell, M.A. 1244	Prov. G. Chaplain.
James Pyburn, M.D., P.M. 1010	Prov. G. Reg.
Michael Charles Peck, P.M. 1040	Prov. G. Sec.
John Sutherst, W.M. 561	Prov. S.G.D.
Henry Preston, P.M. 57	Prov. J.G.D.
Thomas N. Marwood, P.M. 312	Prov. G.S. of Wks.
Richard Geo. Smith, P.M. 734	Prov. G. D. of Cer.
James S. Moss, W.M. 312	Prov. G. Swd.Br.
Charles H. Hunt, 250	Prov. G. Org.
John Ward, 236	Prov. G. Purst.
Thomas Crier, 57	Prov. G. Tyler.

Six Provincial Grand Stewards to be nominated by the Royal, Camalodunum, Londesborough, Kingston, Sykes, and Marwood Lodges.

The R.W. Provincial Grand Master then addressed the Provincial Grand Lodge, congratulating the province upon its prosperity and unanimity. He remarked with pleasure the great increase of the Craft in the Province: last year they had 1570 subscribing members, this year would doubtless exhibit a large accession of numbers, as warrants had been issued for the formation of three new lodges—the Handyside, No. 1618, at Saltburn, which would be constituted August 3rd, the Eboracum, No. 1611, at York, on the 7th inst., and the De la Pole, No. 1605, at Hull, on the 5th October. His lordship observed that he intended to constitute the two first-named personally, and invited the attendance of all then present. The R.W. Prov. Grand Master also stated that having received an invitation from the Lennox Lodge, he purposed holding the Provincial Grand Lodge next year at Richmond, when he trusted to be favoured with the company of a large assembly of the Craft.

The R.W. Provincial Grand Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the brethren of the Marwood Lodge, and especially to Bro. Waller, the I.P.M., for their excellent arrangements for the accommodation of Provincial Grand Lodge, which was seconded by the W. Dep. Prov. Grand Master, and suitably acknowledged by Bro. Waller, P.J.G. Warden.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was then closed in due form, and with solemn prayer.

A banquet, at which the R.W. Provincial Grand Master presided, was subsequently held at the Coatham Hotel when a very large number of brethren dined. Due honours to the Craft were observed, and a most enjoyable evening was passed.

The installation meeting of the Panmure Mark Lodge was held on Monday last, at the Balham Hotel, Balham, when Bro. Daniel Trusler was installed W.M. by Bro. Thomas Poore. A full report will appear in our next.

The foundation stone of the New Poor House and Lunatic Asylum, Greenock, and the New Harbour, Ayr, will be laid with Masonic honours by Bro. Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, Bart, Most Worshipful Grand Master Mason of Scotland. The former on the 12th inst., and the latter on the 19th inst.

MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGY.

The study of Masonic Archæology is one of the most interesting of pursuits. For in one sense it is still a "terra incognita" to most of us. The school of earlier Masonic students and writers which began with Anderson and closed with Oliver had their merits no doubt, but hardly come up to our ideal of what is requisite for the real unravelling of the twisted skeins of Masonic Archæology to-day. They were a little too hasty in induction and too easy in acceptance. They did not sufficiently dig and delve beneath the surface. They accepted ex parte statements, and listened too credulously to the traditional authority of the past. That is to say, they did not analyze or sift the conflicting legends of the Order, they did not subject to the crucial test of careful criticism statements and authorities they found, ready made to their hands. Anderson, and Preston, and Hutchinson were all writers of great merit and industry, and though Anderson and Preston accepted the Legend of the Guilds, they did so rather on the authority of the Guild tradition and Operative constitution than on that of any other explanation of their history. Hence their abiding value to us. They clearly knew of no knightly origin of Freemasonry, no hermetic grades. At least if they did, they are singularly silent on the subject. If Hermetic Masonry existed in their time it seems odd that they did not allude to it, and we are inclined to think that if evidence can be adduced of the actuality of Hermetic Masonry in 1721, for instance, it will rest on that Rosicrucian use of Masonry which has at times largely marked, more or less, the descendants of Rosencrantz. But the history of the guilds is after all, as our oldest writer puts it, the history of Freemasonry. Oliver who leant to that theory during the greater portion of his literary labours, in his old age became a quasi convert to the High Grade and Hermetic theory, and appeared to question the antiquity of Craft Masonry. Later studies and more recent students have, however, made it pretty plain, that at the present moment, three main views occupy the minds of Masonic students, though they actually are somewhat antagonistic to each other. The one is the pure guild theory, which goes back from the revival of 1717, to mediæval and early guilds, to Saxon guilds and Roman guilds, and then link on Freemasonry with Hebrew and Phœnician Sodalities, with Greek and Egyptian associations, and to some extent with the mysteries. Then there is the view of Lessing and others, including Nicholai, that our Freemasonry, is, so to say, Bateman, or Ashmolean, the product of an Hermetic Society, but absolutely separate from the operative Orders, and whose great era is the revival of 1717. Then there is the theory of Buchan and others, that Freemasonry is only the adaptation and revival of operative usages, and that its origin as a purely speculative Order dates only from 1717. There is a school of Masonic writers, which seems still to cling to an Hermetic origin, to that view partially adopted by some German writers, that there was an Hermetic Society, from which Masonry has come down to us, and that the true solution of Masonic history is, after all, to be found in the High Grades. We think we may dismiss from our consideration the knightly theory of the Chevalier Ramsay, as we are not aware that we have any writer now, English or foreign, who really believes in Templarism, as the explanation of Freemasonry. What the connection of the Templars with Freemasonry, if any, was, has got yet to be shown. We confess that we still hold that there was a connection, though, such as it was, in our opinion, it came from the Guilds to the Templars, not from the Templars to the Guilds. The idea once entertained that the Templars brought back Freemasonry from the secret sodalities of the East, we believe to be historically untenable, and opposed to the actual feelings and relations of those days. We see then what a field is opened out to the Masonic archæological student, how wide, how diversified, how interesting in itself, and though people like to laugh at "Dry-as-dusts," and criticize the discussions of antiquaries, and even doubt the value of such studies, we feel sure that they are both innocent and elevating, useful and commendable. We all of us like to know the true history of what concerns us, at least if we are thinking, not merely ruminating, animals, and the history of Freemasonry has a peculiar charm for the Masonic student, inasmuch as it appears to him to be the history of an universal Order, takes him back through the lapse of ages, to link him on to mighty epochs, and wonderful centuries of the past, and to bring him into contact, so to say, with the actual progress of civilization, and the arts, of all that dignifies, all that lightens up the life and the struggles of man. The larger view of the pure guild history of Freemasonry naturally takes us back straight away to the past; our evidences are to be sought in the muniment rooms of the great, and the collections of cathedral chapters, in the archives of the British Museum, and in extant, but so far unknown and unedited MSS. What an amount of information may yet be lying, for instance, unknown of in those many hundred rolls, containing returns from the various guilds tempore Richard 2nd, of which Toulmin Smith has printed only a few, but those making us longing to see all printed. In respect of the guild theory, there is no limit to the amount of evidence yet to be unearthed and brought forward, as the patient enquirer turns up one old MS. after another, from some dusty corner, some long neglected receptacle, and the hidden evidence of years long since dead and gone, speaks to us in its simplicity and clearness, with irresistible power. And this work is yet in its infancy, remember. So far, for instance, the fabric rolls and expense rolls of only some half-dozen of our cathedrals have been brought out for publication, and even the Tanner MSS., in the Bodleian, which contain the expenses of St. Paul's, under Sir Christopher Wren, are practically unknown. Still the documents exist, and are decipherable, and time and patience may yet give us a perfect insight into that guild life, which played such an important part in the domestic and national history of England for so many years, and did so much for the noblest of all arts, Architecture, both for the glory of God and the good of man. But here begins the real difficulty of our whole enquiry, the one "Crux," so to say, in all the studies of Masonic archæologists and all the treatises of Masonic historians. Given all this in, so says Objector, what do you gain? Well, we cannot give an answer to-day, as it would be all too long, but we propose in our subsequent papers to consider critically the three various views, or perhaps after all four views of Masonic history, and to note the difficulties attendant on each. Not one of them all is free from objection, and even all the results of Masonic archæology, however true and trusty, will, we fear, at the utmost and the best, be only after all a realization of what is possible and probable, not of what is absolutely true or incontestably proved.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

OXFORD LOCAL EXAMINATION, MAY, 1876.

At the last Oxford Local Examination three boys were successful in passing the senior examination, and obtained the title of "Associate in Art," viz., W. Beaumont, aged 16, August 26th 1876; R. Bryant, aged 16, January 27th, 1877; W. R. Parker, aged 16, February 4th, 1878.

These boys passed in honours the Junior Cambridge Local at Christmas, 1875. They, therefore, did not begin to prepare for the Oxford examination until after the Christmas holidays, and had less than four months to work up the special subjects. These same lads also passed some of the science and art examinations.

All three examinations came within the first nine months of Dr. Morris' appointment to the head mastership.

The Phoenix Lodge, No. 914, at Port Royal, Jamaica, which was established specially for naval and military brethren on the station, has completed a new convenient Masonic Hall. A warrant for the formation of a Royal Arch Chapter has also lately been granted to it. Masonry is flourishing on the Island.

We hear on good authority that the price paid by the proprietors of "Lloyd's Weekly News" for the "Daily Chronicle and Clerkenwell News" was over £30,000. The transaction was conducted through the agency of Mr. W. D. B. Johnson (C. Mitchell and Co.), of Red Lion Court, Fleet-street.

THE PRINCE OF WALES' VISIT TO GLASGOW.

The Lord Provost, in moving the adoption of the minutes of the magistrates' committee, said all present would be highly gratified at the fact that the Prince of Wales had consented to come to Glasgow, somewhere about the middle of October, to lay the foundation stone of the New Post Office. His lordship had found in several quarters that it was believed the work in hand was the mere adding of a wing to the old buildings, whereas, the fact was the whole structure was to be taken down, and an erection both ornamental and commodious built. (Applause). The pillars in front would all be of polished granite, and he thought the Government were deserving of thanks for giving them such an elegant and useful Post Office, and in a style altogether which they could not get from any previous Government, however much they had fought for it. Regarding the Prince of Wales' visit he had the honour after the receipt of the correspondence contained in the minutes, to apply to his Royal Highness to ascertain if the Princess was to accompany him. He also wished to know if his Royal Highness desired to lay the foundation stone with Masonic honours, and suggested a review of the volunteers on the occasion, a proceeding which would gratify them very much. He offered in the event of the Prince remaining in Glasgow over the night to give up his house for his use. His lordship had since received in reply the following very gracious letter:—

"Marlborough House, Pall Mall, S.W.,

August 26, 1876.

"My Lord Provost,—Having laid your letter before the Prince of Wales, I am directed to acquaint you that the Princess of Wales will accompany His Royal Highness in his visit to Glasgow. (Loud applause.) In reply to your query, whether it would be agreeable to the Prince to have the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the new Post Office conducted with Masonic honours, His Royal Highness considers that it is not desirable that the usages of the Masonic Institution should as a rule form part of the public ceremony on an occasion like the present, and would prefer that they should not be part of the programme you have submitted. It is most agreeable at all times, the Prince bids me say, for His Royal Highness to meet the volunteers, whether in England or in Scotland, but the assemblage of any considerable portion of them for a review necessarily involves some arrangement and inconvenience. His Royal Highness will therefore forego the gratification which a review of the volunteer forces in Scotland would otherwise have afforded him. His Royal Highness greatly appreciates your kind offer of placing your house and servants at the disposal of the Princess and himself, and had their Royal Highnesses remained at Glasgow a second day they would have gladly availed themselves of it. I have the honour to remain, my Lord Provost, your very faithful servant,

(Signed) "W. KNOLLYS."

A Glasgow paper says:—"We understand the Lord Provost, feeling that the citizens would be greatly disappointed should the Prince of Wales visit the city to lay the foundation stone of the new Post Office without Masonic honours, and without reviewing the Volunteer force, communicated with his Royal Highness on the subject, through Mr. Marwick, the Town Clerk. Mr. Marwick, and Mr. Carrick, the City Architect, had a personal interview with his Royal Highness at Abergeldie Castle, on Monday, the 4th inst., and made known the loyal desires of the citizens, and we are happy to state that the Prince has graciously expressed his willingness to lay the foundation stone with Masonic honours, and also to review the Volunteers on the occasion of his visit. His Royal Highness will be accompanied by the Princess of Wales, and several of the Royal children.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

On Monday, August 28th, the boys of the Royal Masonic School to the number of 175 went, by the kind invitation of Mr. T. B. Smithies, to his house at Earldam Road, Wood Green, where they were regaled with a very substantial tea provided for them, under Mrs. and Miss Smithies' hospitable arrangements.

As the evening turned out very wet the boys had to be kept under cover of a very spacious tent until the hour for them to return. The time, however, did not pall on their hands, nor did they lack amusement. Mr. Smithies who knows how to tell a good tale to boys, told some capital stories, entertaining and instructing his youthful audience for more than an hour.

Mr. Smithies takes an interest in short-hand writing, and advised the elder boys to devote a little time to its study. As an encouragement, he offered to give two prizes to be competed for annually.

Dr. and Mrs. Morris, and daughters, were present, together with Mr. Jenkinson and Mr. Brocklehurst.

Mr. Smithies is not a Mason, but he most kindly invited Bro. Durrant (the W.M. of the Wood Green Lodge) and his wife to meet his young guests.

Three hearty cheers were given by the boys to their host before leaving.

WEST SMITHFIELD LODGE, No. 1623.—The consecration of this lodge will take place on Thursday next at the New Market Hotel, King-street, Snow Hill, at half-past two o'clock punctual. The ceremonies will be performed by V.W. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, the officer appointed by the M.W.G.M., assisted by the W. Bro. Col. Creaton, P.G.D.; Bros. W. Ough, P.G.P.; H. G. Buss, P.M., P.G.J.W. Middx.; the Rev. P.M. Holden, P.G.C. Middx. Joseph Smith, P.G.P.; T. W. Adams; and G. S. Elliott are the principal officers designate. The indefatigable Bro. Frederick Walters, P.G.J.D. Middx., P.M., &c., is the Secretary pro tem.

THE BULGARIAN ATROCITIES.

At a meeting to protest against the Turkish atrocities in Bulgaria, at Nottingham, Mr. Saul Isaac, M.P., one of the members for the borough, moved a resolution, and read the following letter from Mr. Bourke, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs:—

"Coaltown, Haddington, N.B., Aug. 27.

"My dear Sir,—I am not all surprised that your constituents should be shocked and indignant at the accounts which have recently reached England of the dreadful deeds which have been perpetrated in Bulgaria. You are aware that the Government have remonstrated in the strongest terms with the Porte upon the subject, and have told them that these events have had the effect of alienating the country from Turkey in a manner which may prove disastrous to the Ottoman Empire. For my own part I care not how serious the insurrection was, which was fomented by foreigners, or how sanguinary were the intentions and facts of the insurgent Christians. The carnage and devastation by which it was suppressed cannot be justified, and reflects shame upon the Government under which these events took place, and infamy upon the actors in the dreadful crimes which have been perpetrated. I believe that our Ambassador at Constantinople has never lost an opportunity of doing everything that diplomacy can do to arrest the bloodshed and to secure punishment for the guilty. But the Russian and Austrian Ambassadors, in common with Sir H. Elliott, were not informed of the atrocities which had taken place until the worst was over. You may be quite sure that the Prime Minister and Lord Derby feel as indignant at these events as any other two men in the country, and mean to act in accordance with those feelings; but heart-rending as the Bulgarian massacres have been, we must all recollect that English statesmen are not the rulers of Turkey, and cannot use physical force in the internal provinces of the Empire upon a few days' notice of the danger. The first duty of English statesmen is a regard for the interests of this country; but Turkey knows as well as you do that the Government of England will never support tyranny, oppression, or cruelty, wherever it may be found, and that, as the Queen of England treats her Mahomedan subjects with justice and mercy, we have a right to demand from the head of the Mahomedan faith similar treatment for the various Christian races who live in the territories of the Sultan.—Believe me, very faithfully yours, ROBERT BOURKE."

BUDGET OF THE COURT OF CHANCERY.—The accounts of the Paymaster-General of the Court of Chancery from the 1st of September, 1874, to the 31st of August, 1875, with the report of the Controller and Auditor General thereon, was a few days ago presented to Parliament. It is an exceedingly interesting document; from it we learn that the sums dealt with are enormous, and every year increasing. On the debtor side of the account we find £15,743,378 19s. 3d. as the amount of cash, and £71,508, 116 12s. 6d. the amount of the securities (exclusive of foreign currencies), or in round numbers over £87,000,000. On the creditor side a balance of £4,590,890 2s. 11d. cash, and £64,639,853 12s. 3d. securities (exclusive of foreign currencies), or about £69,000,000 in round numbers. It appears that the bulk (£46,732, 358 12s. 11d.) is invested in Consols, the remainder in Reduced Three per Cents., New Three per Cents., Bank stock, India stock, Metropolitan Consolidated stock, Exchange Bills, preference stock, and debentures of the leading railway companies, &c. American securities amount to 437,876 dols. 4c. and Indian to 37,20,638r. 4s. A statement of the boxes and other miscellaneous effects remaining in the Bank of England to the account of the Paymaster-General contains among other curious items the following:—A box containing small articles of jewellery; three chests (date 1867); a box containing documents of title, jewels, trinkets, watches, and personal ornaments; foreign bonds and securities belonging to the estate of a person of unsound mind; five chests and one box containing plate and jewellery to a like account; a box (dated 1868), with diamond necklace, coronet, and earrings; a bag of clipped money, &c. (date August 1776); a debenture dated 1799; a box marked "Securities for legacies," two assignments of five tallies, &c. Next follow the accounts of the National Debt Commissioners as to funds transferred to them under the Court of Chancery Funds Act, 1872. It appears that the Commissioners have dealt with large sums of cash and stock belonging to the suitors, and that a balance of £1,286,110 13s. 7d. remains in hand. The report of the Controller and Auditor General contains some observations or suggestions adopted since the last account was presented, and proceeds to give some statistics. The number of causes, &c. (32,687), shows an increase of 860 over the preceding year; number of draughts paid 46,005, against 45,625 last year; number of transactions by the deposit account, 13,883, or 2,482 less than last year. This is accounted for by the limit being fixed at £10 instead of £3; amount of money on deposit, £1,073,284, as against £883,886—a considerable increase. The report concludes with some general observations and suggestions, from which it appears that the Controller has been in communication with the Chancery Paymaster as to dormant accounts, a list of which ought long since to have been published in pursuance of the Rules under the Court of Chancery Funds Act; the reason assigned for the delay in making this list public is that the current business of the office is so heavy.

A Special General Court of the Governors and subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls will be held this day (Saturday), at twelve o'clock precisely, at the Freemasons' Hall. Further particulars may be found in the advertisement which appears on the front page.

THE ANTIQUITY AND OBJECTS OF FREEMASONRY.

The tendency to venerate ancient institutions is doubtless one of the chief attractions of Masonry. It is not a plant of yesterday, but a tree whose mossy trunk and giant growth speak to us of past ages. Kings have participated in its ceremonies, and men greater than kings have adorned its annals. If, however, its only merit was age, its destiny would be decay. Age alone contains no principle of its morality, and if Masonry had nothing but its ancient origin to recommend it there would be no sound reason to expect that it would survive, much less that it would grow. There are talismanic words implied in its organization—"liberty, equality, fraternity"—terms grossly abused, but in the Order of Free and Accepted Masons full of real and practical significance; because one of its first lessons is resistance to despotism, both ecclesiastical and civil, and the instinctive antagonism between Masonry and ecclesiasticism is the most emphatic testimony to the spirit of personal liberty, which is one of the distinguishing traits of the Order. Equality, not by lowering, but by elevating to a common platform, where all meet on the level, with equal rights and duties, and equal claims to mutual respect, if faithful to the obligations voluntarily assumed. Fraternity, in whose bonds the most ancient and inveterate prejudices are melted in the solvent of brotherly intercourse, the heirs of the most ancient civilization join hands with the missionaries of the youngest civilization, and Hebrews and Gentiles, Celt and Saxon, men of the most diverse origin and nationality, meet in the interchange of kindly offices and furnish some evidence of the possibility of the attainment of a true brotherhood of man.

These are grand lessons, imperatively taught by its origin and history; but they are all. It teaches the force of associated action, the inestimable value of union in a good cause, the superiority of harmony over discord, and the power of combined benevolence. It furnishes, too, a noble and inspiring lesson of the worth and dignity of labour, because in the toil of Operative Masonry, which reared in the Middle Ages some of the grandest edifices ever conceived by human genius, and in the migrations of architects and builders from place to place, where such works to be executed, the Order of Free and Accepted Masons had its growth and development, if not its origin, and the whole spirit of its precepts and ceremonies is to exalt and dignify that intelligent labour which has adorned all civilized lands with monuments of its skill, only less majestic and enduring than the granite monuments reared in the beginning by the hand of the Great Architect and Father of all—devout reverence for whose being, and filial trust in whose Providence is taught from first to last in every stage and degree of progress in the mysteries of the Order.

Like all human institutions, while it has these and other uses, it is not absolutely free from abuse. Its obligations do not release a man from his duties of citizenship, if properly regarded. Nor can they conflict with those duties to any extent whatever. A judge on the bench deciding cases; a jury in the jury-box, sworn to look only at the law and at the evidence; a witness on the witness-stand sworn to tell the truth—the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; a voter, bound upon his honour and conscience to cast his ballot for the most worthy candidate for his suffrage—will find no embarrassment in the discharge of these high duties from any Masonic obligation; nor will any intelligent Mason, of any creed, find in Masonry a substitute for religious faith. It is only in its perversion that these things could ever be found. Its true spirit is to incite to greater fidelity in the discharge of every duty—religious, political and social—and thereby to aid in establishing upon more lasting foundations that noble edifice of civil and religious liberty, reared by the toil and sacrifices of our fathers and which it devolves upon us to preserve and transmit to posterity.—Ex. Gov. Haight, Cal.

DEPOPULATION OF FRANCE.—A correspondent in "L'Explorateur" calls attention to some remarkable results of the slow rate of increase of the population of France. He refers to the statement of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Wellington, New Zealand, that British emigration to that colony is at present going on at the rate of at least 30,000 yearly, and to the fact that the population of the colony is now 300,000, exclusive of Maories. Had New Zealand been a French colony, as at one time it was nearly becoming, the European population would probably have been counted by hundreds instead of thousands. In support of his statement the writer refers to the Marquesas, to Mayotte with its admirable roadstead, to Nossi Bé, the gateway to Madagascar, and other French possessions. It has already become a question whether these islands, of which France took possession about 1840, must not be abandoned. The native population is becoming extinct, and no Frenchmen can be induced permanently to settle. "Our flag," the writer states, "will shelter only solitudes. This impotency of our race shows itself daily in many ways. We are stationary, while all surrounding nations are spreading themselves out and adding to their territory. Thus, it has been calculated, on the basis of the proportion of births and deaths, in what time the various European countries double their population, and the following is the result:—Norway, 51 years; Austria, 62; England, 63; Denmark, 73; Sweden, 89; Germany, 98; and France, 334 years! Moreover, this last figure, humiliating as it is, places us in a somewhat better light than we really deserve, for France receives yearly a certain number of immigrants, who, attracted by the pleasant climate and agreeable manners of the people, settle among us and become in time French families; they escape, as far as they can, at least, from the law which otherwise prevails. It is, then, by the number of French youths to whom this law applies that we are able to form an estimate of the really national population. The following are the numbers of Frenchmen who in recent years have reached the age of 20 years.—In 1873, 303,810; in 1874, 296,204; in 1875, 283,768; in 1876 the number does not exceed 277,000. If our race is becoming degenerate and extinct, how can it stock the colonies? It is sought to explain this decrease by asserting that the years just mentioned correspond, so far as births are concerned, to the epoch of the Crimean War. Would to God it were so; but are the French in the habit of marrying at the age of twenty years? French journals insist sometimes, perhaps, more than is justifiable, on the emigration of the German population to escape the military régime to which the country is condemned. The fact is certain; but what is not less certain is that the population of the German Empire does not suffer any diminution. It is then an excess which goes off like a swarm of bees, and which carries over all the earth the language, the manners, and the interests of Germany. Our inferiority is thus clearly demonstrated, and the cause is a mystery to no one; it is an inevitable consequence of the compulsory subdivision of heritages. To those who doubt this, it will be sufficient to observe that the comparative sterility of marriages is in France an evil peculiar only to those who have possessions, and does not touch those who are without heritage. Artisans, workmen, all who live from day to day, do not dread having a family; the patrimonial inheritance suffers no injury, as it would do in the cases of well-to-do families. But the decline of the French population is not the only injurious result of the forced partition of heritages. There are other evil results, such as the indefinite parcelling out of landed property and the ruin of small heritages by law expenses. These evils have become so great that Government is beginning to think of a remedy. May the secondary facts not keep out of sight the main fact of all—the appalling sterility of the French."

ROYAL PORTRAITS.—The parisoners of Greenwich are very dissatisfied at the fate of four pictures formerly hung in the parish church of St. Alphege—portraits of Queen Elizabeth, Charles I., Queen Anne, and George I. Becoming in lapse of time dingy and faded, they were stowed away as lumber in the organ loft of the church, and ultimately sold by the churchwardens. The portrait of Queen Anne went to the Painted Hall, Greenwich, for the sum of £10, the permission of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty having been obtained to pay that sum for it. The portraits of Queen Elizabeth, Charles I., and George I. were sold to a general dealer named Dyer, living in New-cross, for £20 15s., and were subsequently sold by him at a profit of 50s. to Messrs. Pratt, of New Bond-street, who are restoring them. The portrait of King George represents the King in full coronation dress, the heavy ermine cloak being thrown back in front, revealing a rich close-fitting dress, while round the shoulders is a massive chain, from which is suspended the prancing horse of Hanover. On the table beside His Majesty are the crown and sceptre, the King's hand grasping the ball and cross. In the background is a view of the south end of Westminster Abbey. The value of this picture is stated to be over £500. The portrait of Charles I. was 10 feet square, and is supposed to be the work of Sir Peter Lely. The painting represents the King in a prayerful attitude, and is believed to be even more valuable than that of George I. How the paintings became the property of St. Alphege, Greenwich, is not known, but all the monarchs mentioned were associated with Greenwich. Queen Elizabeth made the Palace her favourite summer residence. Charles I. passed much of his time at the "House of Delight." Queen Anne built one of the wings of Greenwich Hospital, which still bears her name, while George I. landed at Greenwich on his arrival from Hanover. A committee appointed by the Vestry is investigating the subject, and trying to get the portraits back again. It is thought that there will be no difficulty in accomplishing this so far as regards the Admiralty, and the opinion of Dr. Spinks, Q.C., has been taken with regard to the other paintings, the question being raised as to whether, being church property, a sale could be negotiated without a special faculty from the bishop.

ROYAL GIFT.—The Prince of Wales has manifested his approbation of the admirable arrangements made for his journey from Portsmouth to London on the occasion of his return from India by presenting Mr. Knight, the manager of the London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway, with a full-sized portrait of himself and the Princess of Wales, accompanied by the following letter:—"Marlborough House, Pall Mall, S.W. Dear Mr. Knight,—The enclosed portraits are sent to you by desire of the Prince of Wales, which His Royal Highness hopes you will accept as a small souvenir of his long acquaintance with you; as also an expression of His Royal Highness's appreciation of your constant readiness to secure his comfort and punctuality, &c., whenever he has had occasion to travel on the railway in his charge. I am, yours sincerely, Arthur Ellis, Lieutenant-Colonel. To Mr. J. Knight, General Manager, London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway, London-bridge."

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Rheumatism and Rheumatic gout are the most dreaded of all diseases, because their victims know that they are safe at no season, and at no age; secure. Holloway's Ointment, after fomentation of the painful parts, gives greater relief than any other application; but it must be diligently used to obtain this desirable result. It has been highly commended by rheumatic subjects of all ages and of both sexes, for rendering their attacks less frequent and less vigorous, and for repressing the sour perspirations and soothing the nerves. In many cases, Holloway's Ointment and Pills have proved the greatest blessings in removing rheumatism and rheumatic gout which has assailed persons previously and at the prime of life.—Advr.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The following communications stand over:—"Rusticus Urbe," Reps. of Lodge of Truth, 1458, Newton Heath; Laying the Corner Stone of Holy Trinity Church, Ashton-under-Lyne.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BOURNE.—On the 1st inst., at Bellefield, Limerick, the Lady Marion Bourne, prematurely, of a son, stillborn.

CUMMINS.—On the 27th ult., at Larherne, near St. Columb, Cornwall, the wife of Captain Turner Cummins, 4th Cavalry, Hyderabad Contingent, of a son.

ISAAC.—On the 2nd inst., at Gloucester-place, Portman-square, the wife of Frederick S. Isaac, Esq., of a son.

MARSHALL.—On the 30th ult., at Oak Bank, Lamberhurst, Kent, the wife of John J. Marshall, L.R.C.S., of a son.

MORROW.—August 29th, at 5, Walmer-terrace, Victoria-Road, Great Crosby, the wife of Bro. I. G. Morrow, Lodge 1380, of a son.

SHRAPNELL.—August 28th, at 171, Canning-street, Liverpool, the wife of Bro. P. Shrapnell, Lodge 1609, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

BAGGE—ODELL.—On the 2nd inst., at St. Michael's and All Angels, Notting-hill, John Henry Bagge, of Ardmore House, High Sheriff for the County Waterford, Ireland, to Harriette Isabel Maria, younger daughter of the late E. Odell, Esq., of Carriglea, county Waterford.

BISHOP—DAVIS.—On the 2nd inst., at the British Consulate, Leghorn, George Bishop, Esq., of Meadow-bank, Twickenham, to Caroline Félicité, second daughter of Dr. Davis, LL.D., of Florence and Tunis.

MARKHAM—PECKHAM.—On the 2nd inst., at Tottenham, William Markham, of Canonbury, to Alice, daughter of Robert Peckham, of Tottenham and Doctors'-commons, solicitor.

DEATHS.

BROWN.—On the 1st inst., suddenly, at Tenby, Edwin Brown, manager of the Union Bank, Burton-on-Trent, aged 57.

CORRY.—On the 1st inst., at Shardeloes-road, New-cross, London, James Robert, infant son of William Longman Corry, aged 3 months.

DAVIES.—On the 3rd inst., at Llanwrtyd Wells, the Rev. Edward Reed Davies, rector of Cathedine, Breconshire.

DIXON.—On the 4th inst., at London Hospital, Mr. Perry B. Dixon.

HALFORD.—On the 1st inst., at Kensington, Ellen Halford, third daughter of the late George Halford, Esq.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months, of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1876.

THE FLUCTUATIONS OF MASONIC LITERATURE.

In an article from a Transatlantic contemporary which we transferred to our pages last week, we had to listen to a melancholy tale of Masonic literary failures. Serial upon serial had appeared and vanished, we were told, and for some great or grand reason, the apathy of the Craft in America, as regards Masonic journalism, is, to say the least of it, very remarkable and very inexplicable. But so it apparently is, and it is hopeless for us on this side of the "little duck pond," to try and explain the cause and "raison d'être" of a state of things, no doubt most deplorable in itself, and which is permitted to exist among 600,000 Freemasons, but of which no American contemporary has so far, we believe, offered any satisfactory explanation. It is so because it is so, seems to be the only solution offered of what appears to us in England to be a Masonic riddle. We trust that better days are in store for Masonic literature in the United States, and that a fair return may yet be made to the efforts of the literary aspirant, and the laborious endeavours of the Masonic editor, though the history of English Masonic literature is not on the whole a prosperous one, and many have been its fluctuations in past years, the "Freemason" has no cause to complain of either the apathy of the Craft, or the lukewarmness of its friends. From first to last it has been cheered by the active sympathy and support of a constantly increasing circle of subscribers, and though in the best interests of Masonic literature we might wish that a larger proportion of our numerous Order favoured us with their kind patronage, we feel how much we gratefully owe to a support which has never wavered, and to a friendly feeling which has never grown cold. At this moment ours is a weekly increase, alike of direct subscribers and of public patronage, and we have every reason to believe and to know, that we represent in all we say week by week the bona-fide sentiments of a large portion of our educated and cultivated fraternity. We always seek to speak plainly, and to uphold the leading principles of Freemasonry, to which a long apprenticeship has endeared us, and with which some Masonic services have bound us with enduring ties of affection and interest. To suppose that we can please every-one is impossible, but as we seek to be straightforward and sincere, considerate and courteous to all, we have never appealed, and we never shall appeal, we know, in vain to the fraternal feelings of a large circle of readers, to credit us with honest intentions, and to believe in the reality of our public professions. We are pleased to note how often our leaders are reproduced in the Transatlantic Masonic papers and magazines, and as we always write to Freemasons, and for Freemasons alone, and we have the satisfaction of possessing the confident assurance, that the views we venture to express from time to time commend themselves alike to the sympathies of the most thoughtful, and the approval of the most intelligent amongst us. Never at any time, we have reason to know, did the "Freemason" stand higher in the opinions of reading Masons, of Masonic students and archaeologists at home and abroad, and we shall endeavour to keep it up to its high mark as a Masonic paper of true Masonic teaching and fair literary merit. No efforts on our part will be spared to make it worthy of the support and approval of our ancient and honourable Craft, and, judging from its past history and its present success, our labours will not be difficult, since the generous confidence of an Order makes every duty light, and all responsibility a pleasure. Our worthy publisher has a right to feel not a little proud, both of his own sacrifices, and the growth of the "Freemason." A good deal of the success of the "Freemason" is owing to the singularly straightforward way in which he has conducted it, from its origin to this hour. It is his own paper, remember, paid for by his own purse, dependent on no committee, subsidized by no real or suppositious company. Its shares have all been taken up, as they are all held by himself alone. From the first, he has opened the pages of the "Freemason" to free discussion, to archaeological research, to earnest communications and honourable criticism! A "fair field and no favour," he has advocated for himself and for all alike. But one thing the "Freemason" has been remarkable for, the absence of that detestable system of vulgar personality which is a disgrace to any public paper, but above all to a Masonic journal. The "Freemason" has always held itself above those grovelling considerations of personal enmity, which so debase and so destroy the true character of every Freemason, and never has, and never will, allow its pages to be prostituted to the purposes of faction, the baneful scurrility of open personal attack or cowardly innuendo. It is most sad to note at times into what abysses of twaddle, sheer twaddle, bad grammar, low abuse, and too evident vulgarity of tone, temper, and sentiment, the hateful and un-Masonic tendency to personality will lead some writers, especially those who are unable to pen anything really worth reading. Personality is always a proof of weakness and of a bad cause, not unfrequently of a base disposition and a vulgar mind. No good end that we can see has ever yet been gained, nor do we believe will be gained, by personality, because, as a general rule, it is the "refuge of the destitute," and only resorted to either when things are looking desperate, or when some personal feelings or private concerns have stirred up the hidden malignancy of humanity. From all such debasements of journalism the "Freemason" will studiously in the future as in the past and present hold itself aloof. Commercially speaking, we feel sure that no paper or periodical can be successful which is carried on, whether for trade purposes or individual animosity, and whose only aim appears to be blatantly stupid and vulgarly personal. No doubt still as of old, as in Mr. Slurk's days, the "ungrammatical twaddler" is to the fore, and it is a painful infliction on the human patience and the human intellect to have sometimes the mournful necessity imposed on it of wading through a composition which is characterized from first to last by everything which is offensive to good taste, to grammatical construction, and common courtesy, to say nothing of the higher considerations of good feeling, morality, and truth. But we do not wish to prolong these remarks, as we are only anxious to point out that the "Freemason" will always be free from such gross blemishes in respect of the true character of Masonic journalism, and such a violent burlesque on the principles of Freemasonry. We do not believe in the profession of the man whose practice is the very reverse of his profession. Why should we believe in that of the Freemason who outrages in the full swing of his vindictive violence, every principle of Masonic justice, fairness, decency, and duty. The "Freemason" never has condescended to take notice, and never will, of the open assailant, just as it disregards and despises the surreptitious traducer. It goes on its way regardless whether it pleases or displeases, is popular or unpopular, is agreeable or disagreeable, inasmuch as it seeks to "do the right and speak the true," it asks for no consideration, and deprecates no criticism, but simply commends itself to the public opinion of the Order, and relies on the consistent and conscientious support of its great fraternity and its many friendly readers.

THE IRISH MASONIC ORPHAN INSTITUTIONS.

We have received and read with pleasure the reports of the "Masonic Female Orphan School, Dublin," and of the "Masonic Orphan Boys' School, Dublin." On the principle of "place aux dames" always, we will begin with the former of these two most useful and well managed institutions. The Female Orphan School has now 44 inmates, who appear to be progressing very well indeed in all the departments of a good, sound, useful, and valuable education. The financial position of the school is very satisfactory. It has in round numbers from dividends, £390; official and individual annual subscriptions, £1016 17s. 6d.; life donations £668; annuity from Grand Lodge, £100; receipts of annual meeting, £360 18s. 4d.; Masonic Ball, £50; and small items £56 18s. 8d; in all, including balance of previous year, £1158 5s. 11d., £3800 1s. 1d. The expenditure is as follows:—Salaries and wages, £209 14s. 3d.; furnishing, &c., £367 14s. 8d.; visiting teachers, £237 4s. 0d.; provisions, £579 6s. 0d.; clothing and repairs, £182 1s. 5d.; books, &c., £101 18s. 0d.; coals, gas, and chandlery, £75 4s. 1d.; apprentice and outfit fees, £55 10s. 8d.; medicines, &c., £29 5s. 2d.; small expenses, about another £100; investments, £1005 5s. 0d.; and balance at bankers, £825 12s. 2d. The funded stock of the school now consists of £9682 2s. 1d. This report is highly satisfactory, and we can say the same as regards the Masonic Orphan Boys' School. That has now 23 inmates, who also educationally seem to be in thorough efficiency. Its financial report is also encouraging, especially when we remember that it was only established in 1868. It began the year with a cash balance of £896 16s. 9d. It has received £253 10s. 0d. donations; annual subscriptions, £507 2s. 7d.; dividends, £436 8s. 2d.; and small sums, £5 16s. 6d.; in all £1801 4s. 0d. It has, per contra, paid for maintenance, education, and clothing of pupils £903 6s. 8d.; outfits and fees, £30 11s. 5d.; salary of Assistant Secretary, £60; small sums, £7 17s. 4d.; and, having invested £323 12s. 6d., has an available balance of £476 16s. 1d. It has now £8059 12s. 1d. invested capital, and has before it a good promise of utility and activity. We almost wonder that our good brethren in Ireland do not have an annual festival on behalf of this most useful institution. We think, that had they, as we have, an annual festival for the Boys' School they might gain a great accession of income, and increase the benefits of this needful institution. Still, it is only in its youth, and it will reach, let us hope, a hale maturity and a green old age.

NORTH AND EAST YORKSHIRE.

We have perused a printed report of the proceedings of the Provincial Grand Lodge of North and East Yorkshire, which we publish elsewhere, with mingled feelings of astonishment and amusement, and to say the truth, no little indignation. As a general rule, it is not the custom in the provinces to print the report of the proceedings of the last Provincial Grand Lodge until the next is summoned; at least, such is not the normal habit of Provincial Grand Secretaries, though of course we admit there are, and may be, exceptions to the rule. And of course we freely admit also, that what is the custom of one province may not be that of another. In West Yorkshire, for instance, the agenda paper of the approaching quarterly meeting contains the minutes of the previous assembly. And this, we think, is by far the best course. There is, probably, some reason for this hasty and unusual publication, and we fancy it may be found in the very unwise resolution moved by P.G. Treasurer Hollon, and carried, apparently, without one voice of dissent by our good brethren at Redcar. We are deeply sorry for such erratic proceedings in the cause alike of Masonic truth and honour, fair play, and constitutional principles of Freemasonry. In the first place, the motion is founded on the report of the Investigation Committee of West Yorkshire. We have pointed out more than once that such report is unreliable for many reasons, the chief being its ex parte character. We say distinctly, and we challenge contradiction, that no one brother was examined who knew anything at all about the school except Bro. Winn, and he is avowedly a pure partizan of the dismissed head master. Bro. Tew knew nothing about the school confessedly, and as for Bro. Pegler's statistical calculations, and the tabular statements drawn up according to the "suppressed pamphlet," by Bro. Booth, of Halifax, they are, in our opinion, utterly valueless in respect of the controversy. Bro. Pegler's opinion of the cost rests upon no acquaintance with such schools as the Boys' School, and are all through coloured by a fallacy, that because a given school anywhere educates for so much, therefore the Boys' School is to do it for so much. All who have had to do with education know well, that no lower, unsound, retrograde view of the requirement of education can be evinced by any one, except indeed by those who are utterly ignorant of the subject, or uphold a mistaken theory respecting that great duty of education about which they talk so pretentiously. We would ask, who else was examined by the so-called Investigation Committee who could throw any light upon the subject? We pause for a reply; and we shall be really glad to know who did really give evidence, as we have often asked the question before, and no one has condescended to reply to it. No minutes of evidence have been printed, as far as we know, and unless the suppressed pamphlet is as untruthful in fact as it was un-Masonic in its libels, the Investigation Committee based their reports on the pamphlets formerly distributed broadcast, the evidence of Bros. Tew and Winn, the tabular statements of Bro. Booth, and the invaluable statistics of Bro. Pegler. So much as to the report itself. In respect of the evidence of the printed reports alluded to by Bro. Hollon, we cannot profess to understand to what he alludes. It seems very perverse in 1875 to raise a question as to expenditure which had been incurred without any animadversion, five years at the least previously, and about which no complaint had ever been made, and anything more thoroughly unjustifiable than to start a "hare" of undue expenditure after the accounts have been closed and settled, we have never heard of. As regards the incriminations of unusual and extravagant expenditure, they are out of place, as such complaints ought to be made in the legal courts of the Boys' School, not in Provincial Grand Lodge meetings, which are constitutionally incompetent to entertain such questions. We recommend the General Committee of the Boys' School to treat all such expressions of opinion as utterly "ultra vires," and simply appeal to and trust in the good sense and Masonic principles of the Craft at large. But we are deeply concerned for the honesty of our common character as Freemasons to note the Jesuitical charge of "venue," and of attack. The whole proceedings arose out of a personal attack on Bro. Binckes, in connection with Bro. Perrott's removal; now it is stated forsooth, it is not Bro. Binckes, but the House Committee which is blamed. We beg to protest, in the name of many brethren in all provinces, against this unseemly and unjust attack on the House Committee. It is really too bad. If any complaints exist as to the expenditure of the Boys' School generally, some brother should manfully bring forward a motion on the subject at the Quarterly Court. If any honest feeling exists as to the general administration of the School, let it be expressed in a regular and befitting way. But we object to these random statements, and this meaningless agitation in the best interests of the Boys' School. But we repeat, if any one has a real complaint let him openly make it. But during the recent un-Masonic agitation, reckless charge and general vituperation could hardly further go. Whether any grounds exist for any of the extraordinary allegations which have been made openly and surreptitiously, we cannot tell until they are honestly placed before a competent court. But they will prove to be, we fancy, more or less, the product of a heated imagination. In the suppressed pamphlet it was insinuated that either Bro. Binckes or this very Committee, the "powers that be," had appropriated a few shillings of a savings' bank account; and now we are gravely assured by a brother whose right and qualifications to express such an opinion we both deny and doubt, that the House Committee is utterly incompetent to perform its duty. All this is wrong, most discreditable, dirty and un-Masonic, and shows how the agitation fostered and by whom these incriminations are continued against the Boys' School. Nevertheless, we feel sure, that these questionable proceedings will be condemned at once by the great good sense of our fraternity, and meet both as they well deserve in some form or other, the outspoken condemnation and reprobation of our honourable and highminded Craft.

A CHARGE AGAINST THE FRENCH FREEMASONS.

We thought it only fair to our brethren in France to call the attention of our esteemed Bro. Caubet, the Grand Secretary of the Grand Orient, to a charge made against the French Freemasons on the alleged somewhat questionable authority of a certain well-known M. Naquet of encouraging "free love" and illegal marriages. We believe that it is an entire calumny, and we shall await with interest Bro. Caubet's reply to our friendly and fraternal enquiry.

AN INSULT TO FREEMASONRY.

We take the following from the "Thanet Guardian" of September 2nd. We shall allude to it next week:—"On Thursday afternoon the Watch Committee of the Borough of Margate met for the purpose of appointing a Superintendent of Police in succession to Mr. Compton. There were six applicants; and we understand that the choice of the committee fell upon Sergeant Romanis, who has had twelve years' experience in the City police. We have been informed that each candidate was asked whether he was a Freemason, and that on one answering in the affirmative, the Mayor stated that the answer was fatal to his candidature. Of course we are merely quoting information that has been communicated to us, the meeting being private, but we can scarcely understand why the fact of being a Freemason should of itself be a disqualification."

THE LAST QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION.

We reserve all remarks upon this meeting until our next, as owing to the time we go to press on Thursdays it is not possible for us to do more than give the proper report of the proceedings by our own reporter, which is always accurate, and can always be depended upon. All the Craft will read with pleasure the admirable suggestion of our worthy Bro. the Grand Registrar, happily carried, as only fair to the provincial brethren.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

A full report of the proceedings at the ceremony of laying the foundation-stone of the new North-east Wing, Large Hall, &c., at the Institution, Battersea Rise, will appear in our SECOND EDITION, which will be ready early Saturday morning.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

THE MASONIC PRESS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Much controversy seems to be going on about the "why and wherefore" of the apathy of the Masonic reading public, and the non-support of the Masonic press. I will therefore venture to point out to you to-day what, in my humble opinion, are the real causes of the apathy and indifference of the Craft in this respect. In my humble opinion, one of the great hindrances to a general support of the press by the Craft is the "personality," often bitter, always disgraceful, which characterizes so many Masonic writers. I do not think that the "Freemason" can fairly be accused of yielding to this vicious influence, as I know you, Sir, have declared war, so to say, against all personality. But still in past times, and at the present time, (and in saying this I know I speak the sentiments of many good brethren), the personality of Masonic writers indisposes many brethren from taking much interest in Masonic literature. It is curious that it should be so, and yet none are so personal as Freemasons when they once begin to write.

I have perused, very often with astonishment, mingled with regret, the lucubrations of Masonic journalists, and the "barbed arrows" of Masonic correspondents. Nothing more derogatory to Freemasonry, or more discreditable even to humanity, has ever been put forward in print than some of the so-called essays and elaborate attacks on others, which may sometimes be seen by the curious in Masonic Journalism. Indeed, it is not too much to say, that some Masonic writers seem to wish to convince the world that they can be, if they like, the most uncharitable, the most untruthful, and the most malignant of mortals.

Nothing is too bad for them to say or to insinuate against a brother, for any or no cause at all.

And when to this personal malignity, and violence of utterance, you add the grossest impertinence, or the most grotesque "cheek," one feels one has said enough to point out why Freemasons say, "Oh! I won't take or read that paper, because there is nothing in it but gross personality and vulgar violence."

It is sad to think what a lasting injury is inflicted on Freemasonry by the thoroughly unkind and uncourteous language, and even detestable personality, of those who call themselves "brethren."

Indeed, it makes many believe that "Freemasonry" is a system both of idle profession and hypocritical pretence. Certainly the Freemasonry of such persons is a "mockery, a delusion, and a snare." But as the poet sang of old, "jam satis est" on this disagreeable topic. Another cause of Masonic holding back in respect of Masonic journalism is the obvious incapacity often of editors. It is not enough because a man says he will be an "editor" that, therefore he is fit for the post. It requires some knowledge of men and books, some reading, some observation, some little common sense, and above all a fair and tolerant spirit, to enable any one to fill such a post satisfactorily. In Masonic literature this is especially so. To take any one, say a new-fledged Mason, and set him to write about Freemasonry is as absurd as if you were to make a youth fresh from the university the editor of one of the leading papers in the metropolis. Or if you select a person who is not up to his work, ere long the result is too plain in "blunders and botheration," as the Irishman said. The history and teaching of Freemasonry can only be written upon by those who have studied the subject, bonâ fide, and originally. Ask Bro. Hughan, and he will say, I venture to think and assert confidently, that to suppose you can edit a Masonic journal with cribbed details or second hand information, obtained from cheap handbooks and the like, is the very height of absurdity. The history and archaeology and dogmata of Freemasonry, to be fully explained and dilated upon, require an accurate acquaintance with the leading principles, and the actual facts, above all, of Masonic archaeology and history. Such cannot be acquired by "cramming," but demand their clear and full realization, both by original research, and personal investigation. And another cause of Masonic indifference is the absolute bathos and twaddle of the weekly dose served out to us, "usque ad nauseam." It is a painful trial for the human intellect, it is a grave strain on editorial patience, as well as on Masonic forbearance, to have to wade through the hopeless ineptitudes, and childish follies, of some pseudo-journalists. The English is rowdy, the grammar is defective, opposed to every rule of Lindley Murray, and when you get to the end of the paragraph or article, you rub your eyes, like one of the "sleepers awakened;" you want to know what it all means, you are dazed and bewildered by this plethora of rubbish and this farrago of twaddle, unmitigated twaddle, sheer nonsense, without coherence, meaning, or object, and lucky for you if it is no worse even than twaddle. And then there is this further infliction. You have to deal with a literary opponent is a pure open controversy. You state your case carefully, manfully, fairly—all in vain. Argument is not his "forte," so you have to meet abuse, the vulgar insinuation, the unscrupulous Jesuitism, and the directly personal abuse of the incompetent and the "ignoramus." Who, then, can afford to waste the time devoted to literature in conning over such balderdash? Life is really altogether too short to permit any one to give up its golden moments to the perusal of dreary disquisitions, ungrammatical sentences, drivelling ignorance, and unconscionable impudence. I have written strongly, because we have a great and a growing evil to remedy, and because I feel sure that as there is, they say, a cause for everything here, I have hit, in my humble opinion, on the real cause of that holding back of so many persons in respect of "Masonic literature" per se. I may be wrong, but if so, I shall be glad to be set right, and in the meantime am,

Yours fraternally,

A VETERAN.

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.
(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 4.—EDUCATION.—Continued.

The opportune publication of the Privy Council of Education enables me to place some figures before my readers, which I think will be neither tedious nor uninteresting.

The Report for 1875 is a very striking one in many particulars. One of these, not the least so, being the fact that it gives us an idea of what work has been done within a limited space of time, by the School Boards, and also points out fairly and truly what the denominational system has really effected.

It is well to remember here, as the Report properly points out, "that what had been done by the 31st of August, 1875, was mainly effected by voluntary effort, but since that date School Boards have made considerable additions to the School supply of this country."

What, then, do these official statistics tell us in 1875, of the status of education in England and Wales in respect of elementary schools? In the year ending August 31, 1875, the inspectors had visited 13,217 day schools in England and Wales, containing 19,245 departments under separate teachers, and containing accommodation at eight square feet of superficial area per child, for 3,146,424 scholars. There were on the school register the names of 2,744,300 children, of whom 983,993 were under seven years of age, 1,668,054 were between seven and thirteen, and 92,251 above thirteen.

Of these scholars, 2,221,745 were present on the day of inspection, while 1,837,180 were on an average in daily attendance throughout the year. Of these children 613,215 having made the requisite number of attendances were qualified to bring grants to their schools—471,323 without individual examination, and 1,141,892 on passing a satisfactory examination in reading, writing, and arithmetic; 975,583 were actually presented for such examination, and 572,781 passed the prescribed test without failure in any of the three subjects.

There were also a large number of schools examined by the inspectors, who received no Parliamentary grants, and in which 57,196 scholars were present on the day of inspection. The night schools examined during the year were 1,392 in number; 48,392 scholars above twelve years of age were, on an average, in attendance each night; 43,734 scholars were qualified for examination by having made the required number of attendances during the night school session. Of these, 35,353 were actually examined, and out of every 100 scholars so examined, 87.95 passed in reading, 70.55 in writing, and 59.21 in arithmetic. To this estimate, be it noted, no allowance is made for "private venture" elementary schools, of which many exist, or independent "dame schools."

It appears that there was on the 31st August, 1875, accommodation for 3,146,424 scholars.

The Registrar-General, in his report on the Census of 1871 (Vol. IV., p. xii), states "the number of children of the school age, 3 and under 13, as defined by the Education Act, is of boys 2,687,631, of girls 2,686,670; the numbers of the two sexes are nearly equal, and they comprise 5,374,301, or 23 per cent, nearly one-fourth of the population." If we deduct one-seventh as being the children of a class above that commonly found in public elementary schools (Report of Education Department for 1869-70, p. xiv.), the remainder, 4,606,544, is the number of children, from 3 to 13, for whom elementary education fails to be provided in our schools; but if we assume that each child goes to school for only 7 years out of the 10 of its proper school life, there ought to be 3,224,580 children under daily instruction in efficient schools.

There does not then seem to be that great want of accommodation which some educational empirics have loudly asserted to exist, and if we could only fill the old schools, and the new schools now in the process of erection, the "supply" would really equal the "demand."

"We find" the Report continues, "that the schools in England and Wales, visited by the inspectors, for the purpose of annual grants, which provided in 1869 for 1,765,944 scholars, or for 8.34 per cent. of the whole population, were in 1875 sufficient for 3,146,424 scholars, or 13.13 per cent. of the estimated population. An addition of room, in aided schools, for 1,380 480 children in six years is satisfactory, and shows that accommodation in efficient schools is increasing in a much more rapid ratio than the population of the country. But much remains to be done before the three millions and a quarter of children who ought to be daily under instruction can be provided for in schools whose efficiency is tested by the yearly visit of one of your Majesty's Inspectors."

"The increased accommodation to which we allude has been supplied in several ways. 1. In the five years ending on the 31st of December, 1875, building grants to the amount of £286,597 have been paid by the Education Department, on the completion of 1,011 schools affording new or improved accommodation for 255,037 scholars. These grants have been met by voluntary contributions to the amount of £1,190 40s. "Of the 3,342 cases in which building grants were sought in 1870 1,726 applications had been approved by the 1st of April, 1876; 378 had been rejected; 1,323 had been withdrawn, and 15 are still in progress towards approval. In 1910 cases grants have been awarded, of which 1,463 have been paid. It is estimated that about 300,000 additional children will be efficiently provided for when our last grants to these new or enlarged schools have been paid. As these schools must be conducted as public elementary schools, they will all come under inspection, and must be placed under the charge of certificated teachers. "2. In the case of a large number of schools which have been enlarged or improved, without Government aid, certificated teachers have been appointed, and annual grants applied for on their behalf. No fewer than 1,538 acting teachers attended the examination for certificates held at Christmas, 1875, and the success of 1,359 of these teachers will bring annual grants, annual inspection, and we trust increased efficiency to their schools."

And inasmuch as in 1875 accommodation was provided by 1136 Board Schools for 336,400 scholars, and 227,285 were in average attendance, the increase in the accommodation in voluntary schools since 1859 has therefore amounted to 993,080 places (or 56.3 per cent.), while the average attendance has increased by 546,896 (or 51.4 per cent.).

Whatever then may be said against "denominationalism," it seems to be doing its duty manfully in the present as in the past in respect to education.

As regards the Board Schools, the following is the official statement:—In the year ending 31st of August, 1875, the number of Board Schools increased from 838 to 1,140; while the accommodation in these schools rose from 245,508 to 387,227, and the average attendance from 142,017 to 231,381.

"The Report of next year will probably show a still greater increase in the supply of schools provided by the School Boards, which have been established throughout the country, either (1) compulsorily, when we have ascertained the existence of a deficiency, which is not, and will not be, met without the aid of rates, or (2) voluntarily, in the case of districts which desire either to meet a deficiency which they acknowledge, or to enforce the attendance of children at schools already at work, and sufficient for their respective wants.

"So that the addition to the school provision of the country, when the schools in course of erection and enlargement at Michaelmas last are completed, through the agency of School Boards, will have been 454,054 children, at a cost of £4,639,244, or £10 4s. 4d. per head.

As regards the effect of the compulsory clause of the Education Act the Report proceeds to tell us as follows:—

"BYE-LAWS.

"By the 1st of May, 1876, bye-laws for enforcing the attendance of children at school had been sanctioned by your Majesty, in accordance with the terms of the Act of 1870, on the application of the School Boards—1, London, with a population of 3,266,987; 2,103 municipal boroughs 5,342,753; 3,533 civil parishes 1,921,271—total 10,531,011.

"By this it appears that compulsory attendance at school is now the law for 46 per cent. of the whole population of England and Wales, and for about 82 per cent. of the whole borough population."

The provisions of the last Education Act will, we trust, both directly and indirectly, tend, by a gentle compulsion, to send many children to school who are now prematurely condemned to toil, or absent through the connivance and selfish indifference of their parents.

In respect of teachers the Inspectors found 20,940 certificated teachers at work in the aided schools which they visited, while the 40 training colleges, from which the supply of such teachers is mainly recruited, were attended in 1875 by 2,975 students. These students, with a few exceptions, and 1,538 acting teachers, were examined for certificates in December, 1875, and in the following week 3,194 candidates for admission to the 1579 vacancies declared in the training colleges were examined; of these, 2,347 were successful, and 1,530 are now in the first year of their residence, along with 1,477 students of the second year.

In 1869 there were only 12,017 certificated masters and mistresses in England and Wales, but up to August 31st, 1875, they were estimated, as we have seen, at an increase of 8,000 in round numbers, and by December 31st, 1875, it was estimated that their numbers would reach 21,952. Of course this increase is still going on.

From the statements of the report, it would seem as if the Council of Education was looking forward to a normal staff of 30,000 teachers, as necessary for the elementary schools in this country.

The points on which the Report speaks in a tone of dissatisfaction in respect of this grand array of elementary educational work are, 1. in want of regularity of attendance of the scholars; 2. the large number of absentees on the day of inspection; 3. the failure of such a large proportion of the examined—in the subjects and "standards" appointed; and 4. the non-appearance in school at all of large numbers who ought to be there.

But all these defects are remediable, and certainly not discernable; and the simple fact that we have well nigh accommodation for "ALL OUR CHILDREN WHO CAN ATTEND THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS" is in itself most cheering to all friends of education, and should be an answer to the exaggerations of alarmists, and the wild figures of those who have made, unhappily, education a battle field for party and for sect.

There is school accommodation being provided now which will actually exceed the many requirements of school accommodation for 3,224,580 children, and all that in respect of accommodation apparently remains to be done seems to be, by proper statistical calculations, to keep the needful accommodation up to the normal increase of population, so as never again to allow the school accommodation in our country to be behind the actual percentage of the school age. Here I stop to-day. I shall next week enter into the question of the prospects of education in the elementary schools generally, and I propose to conclude these remarks with some considerations as to the result of two apparently opposing systems of education going on "pari passu" amongst us.

Reviews.

A GRAPHIC AND POPULAR DESCRIPTION OF THE COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD. Illustrated by Robt Brown, M.A., &c.—Cassell, Petter, & Galpin.

We have received Part 1 of this new and interesting work, and we have perused it with much of pleasure and approval. It is, we think, likely to become very popular, and deserves, we venture to add, all of public patronage, for it is, in our opinion, an admirable commencement of a most useful and much needed work. Printed in a clear and very readable type, it is most effectively illustrated and we feel quite sure that the many admirable engravings will serve to commend this new "geography," so to say, to the attention of the young, and the appreciation of the old. There is, after all, no science much more charming in itself than geography, nor one, strange to say, so much neglected. Yet geography, is as we once remember hearing an old and valued friend of ours say, a "mine of interest and pleasure to the thoughtful mind." How true are his words. As Longfellow so beautifully pens it,—

I read what other bards have sung
Of lands beyond the sea;
And the bright days when I was young
Come thronging back to me.

In fancy I can hear again
The Alpine torrent's roar,
The mule bells on the hills of Spain,
The sea at Elisnore.

I see the convent's gleaming wall
Rise from its groves of pine,

And towers of old cathedrals tall,
And castles of the Rhine.
I journey on by park and spire,
Beneath centennial trees;
Through fields with poppies all on fire,
And gleams of distant seas.
I fear no more the dust and heat,
No more I feel fatigue,
While journeying with another's feet
O'er many a lengthening league.
From them I learn whatever lies
Beneath each changing zone,
And see when looking with their eyes
Better than with mine own.

Messrs. Cassell have evidently found out a "want" of many at the present day, and we trust that the "demand" for this new and interesting publication may equal the "supply." We can safely recommend it to the attention and perusal of our many readers.

A "MEMORIAL" edition of "Walbran's Guide to Ripon and Fountains Abbey."—A. Johnson and Co., Ripon; Simpkin, Marshall, and Co., London.

"This work is a fitting monument to one of the most zealous yet most retiring of modern archaeologists. To the late Mr. Walbran the romantic district which includes within its bounds the splendid remains of Fountains and of Bolton Priory, the quaint old city of Ripon, with its cathedral church of St. Peter and St. Wilfrid, the time-honoured Spa of Harrogate, the hall and monuments of bygone Marmions, Markenfelds, and Nortons, was holy ground whose history and remains he never wearied of exploring, to correct whose chronicle he would ransack entire muniment-rooms, or read, as he once did, word by word (to see that nothing had been overlooked), the catalogues of MSS. in the Museum and Bodleian Libraries. In the present edition of his most popular work—the 'Guide,' for which every visitor to Ripon or Harrogate owes him gratitude, carefully revised by the Rev. Canon Raine and Mr. Fowler Stephenson, and enriched with much additional matter, and a highly interesting memoir by Mr. E. Peacock—a host of brother antiquaries have lent their aid to make the volume as nearly perfect as may be. There are fresh papers on new features in the district, such as the church at Studley and the Vyrer Memorial Church at Skelton—additional notes on the results of further researches—e.g., the account of the Maison de Dieu Hospital at Ripon, the appendix on the Cathedral Library, the suggested corrections in the plan of Fountains Abbey, especially with reference to the respective quarters of the monks proper and the conversi, and a number of new illustrations, from various contributors, of sites and buildings and antiquarian remains. 'Guide,' in fact, is a term too modest for a book which for exactness, sober good taste, and resolute exclusion of everything exaggerated or superfluous, is quite a model of what a bit of county topography ought to be."

So speaks our contemporary, the "Graphic," and most fully do we endorse everything our contemporary has so well and properly said.

We, who knew Mr. Walbran very well indeed in "auld lang syne" and who were privileged to work a good deal with him and spent many pleasant days with him in congenial archaeological pursuits—we know better than most what was the extent of the knowledge of the student, and the unpretending nature of the man. In some matters, in many departments of archaeological research, he was quite "facile princeps," and we have often deeply admired and (as we say it, we regretfully recall his friendly acquaintanceship to-day,) that correctness as to minute details, that wonderful intuition and sagacity almost unerring, whether as to the age of a MS., or the meaning of an Archæism, which in him were very remarkable.

We are glad to note the kindly review of the "Graphic," and to be able to add our humble and personal testimony to its absolute correctness, and we commend the work, which we know well, and which is a thoroughly reliable one, to the notice and patronage of our brethren and the public.

HAND AND HEART.

This popular magazine continues its progress, and we are glad to hear, with much success. It is thoroughly recommendable, and is very pleasant reading indeed.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

This juvenile periodical, with its tales of wonder, and fascination, and awe, still keeps the prosperous tenour of its way, and, we have reason to believe, commends itself to that love of the wonderful and the weird which is such an ingredient of admiration and gratification to the enquiring mind of youth. Some people object to this pandering, as they say, to the love of the marvellous in youth, but, on the whole, we are inclined to think that for youth the tales which please youth are advisable, the more so, as with maturity the charms and tastes of youth must pass away.

A.F.A.

A few of the coins which were lately found near Jerusalem have been secured by Mr. John Lornie, F.S.S., Kirkcaldy. The find was a small one, and consisted of shekels, and half shekels of Judea, which was considered the most interesting of all ancient coins. They are silver of the Great High Priest, Simon Maccabæus, and have the cup of manna on one side, and on the other the budding rod, with the legends in Hebrew. The date is also in Hebrew—viz., year one, being the first year of the Pontificate of Prince Simon, or 144 years B.C. Notwithstanding their great age, the coins are in fine preservation, both sides being perfectly legible.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The General Committee of this Institution held their monthly meeting on Saturday, the 2nd inst., Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, V.P., in the chair. There were also present Bros. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Henry Norman, H. Browne, Joseph C. Parkinson, H. W. Hunt, Charles Coote, W. F. C. Moutrie, Jesse Turner, D. M. Dewar, Capt. Philips, S. Rosenthal, Robert Kenyon, Capt. J. Wordsworth, H. Browne, S. Rawson, Hyde Pullen, H. Massey ("Freemason"); C. F. Matier, Leopold Ruf, F. Adlard, H. Whitford, Major Shadwell H. Clerke, Dr. Ramsay, Wm. Roebuck, T. K. Kent, A. Durrant, Wm. T. Raymond, J. W. M. Dosell, D. W. Pearse, H. Young, and F. Binckes, Sec.

On the motion of Bro. R. Kenyon, seconded by Bro. H. Browne, a grant of £20 was made to an ex-pupil for his advancement, the circumstances in his case being exceptionally favourable for such a grant. Out of the £13,000 collected at last festival, when Lord Leigh presided, the sum of £5000 was ordered to be invested. The next and only other business to be transacted was the consideration of Bro. C. F. Matier's motion that Bro. Binckes' salary should be raised by £100 a year, whereupon Bro. F. Binckes withdrew from the room.

Bro. Matier said that in bringing on this motion he should not trouble the brethren with any lengthy comments, but would simply lay before them the reasons he had for introducing the subject. Looking at the immense increase of the Institution since 1861, when Bro. Binckes was entrusted with the Secretary's duties—considering that its income in that year was but £2477 9s. 2d., that in 1875 it was £12,246 16s. 5d., that it was larger still in 1876, and that there was a prospect of its being far more in 1877—as there had not been an increase in the Secretary's remuneration, he thought it incumbent on the brethren to recognise his labours. An increase in remuneration ought to accompany an increase in the results of those labours. His second reason for submitting this motion to the brethren was that under the original arrangement with Bro. Secretary he had £200 a year with the addition of a commission; and if that arrangement had been adhered to he would not have received simply the £200 (which was calculated on an income very much different from that of the Institution at the present time) but something like £550. His third and greatest reason which he believed would also be the weightiest with the brethren, was that by giving Bro. Binckes some tangible acknowledgment of his services in the way of increase in his salary they were at the same time passing a vote of confidence in him, and putting at rest what he would call, with the permission of the chairman, the atrocious attacks which had been made on the Institution, the House and Audit Committees, and the executive officers. By passing this resolution they would be giving the Institution their best support; they would be shewing the House and Audit Committees their unreserved confidence in them; and the Secretary would be receiving something tangible which would enable him to tell his traducers, who had accused him of robbery and theft, that the brethren had the greatest confidence in him. He concluded by moving in terms of his notice.

Bro. Robert Kenyon said he certainly agreed with Bro. Matier in a great many of the observations that he had made, but he must say he would rather that Bro. Matier should have confined himself to the merits, the abilities, and the worth of Bro. Binckes. He had read the report of the meeting when the subject above referred to was discussed, though he was not present on the occasion, and it was then anticipated, supposed, and hoped that there would have been an end of all the heartburnings between the different sections of the brethren. He (Bro. Kenyon) had hoped that Bro. Matier would only have spoken of the merits of Bro. Binckes alone. He might tell the brethren that he should support this motion; but he should support it on the merits of Bro. Binckes alone. He knew those merits well, for he had been acquainted with Bro. Binckes a great number of years, and had watched the progress that had been made in the Institution through him. He knew very well, and so did every brother round the table, that there were as good fish in the sea as ever came out of it; but the brethren had got in Bro. Binckes a fish out of the sea; they had a gentleman in Bro. Binckes, and they should place him beyond the reach of any temptation. He believed him to be a truthful, honest man, or he would not support this motion at all. But he would wish Bro. Matier to withdraw (and he believed he would withdraw) his remarks about the atrocious attacks, because he did not think they were consistent with the harmony of Masonry. Whether he withdrew them or not, he (Bro. Kenyon) would support Bro. Binckes in this motion. He thought he deserved this recognition of his services, and that the brethren ought to support a man who could place himself at the head of an institution and get £13,000 and more subscribed at one meeting. Bro. Binckes had done a great deal of good for the Boys' School, and this they all confessed; he deserved the support of all of them; and as far as he (Bro. Kenyon) was concerned, he should give him his unqualified support on this occasion. (Hear, hear.) He begged to second the motion.

Bro. Jesse Turner, as one of the oldest Auditors, had felt a great grief when Bro. Binckes and the Auditors were put before the world in a very unkind, ungracious, and un-Masonic position. Very prejudicial statements were made with respect to them. Men like himself, who had spent a life time in the City of London, valued character above all things. The remarks which had been made respecting Bro. Binckes and the Auditors were carried out and supported by observations which really went beyond the bounds of common parlance. It was something very alarming at the meeting which took place upstairs. Col. Ridgway, who was a very able man, went through the accounts, and when the meeting was held he produced his report, which showed that as far as the auditors, the House Committee, and Bro. Binckes were concerned, theirs was a fair, clear, and honest statement. As far as the auditors and committee were concerned, and he (Bro. Jesse Turner) personally, they were absolved of any shortcomings, and they were not affected. But not so Bro. Binckes: his character was his daily bread. Taking away his character was like taking away the character from a clergyman or a doctor; it was their stock-in-trade. He thought that the brethren could not do better than manifest their confidence in Bro. Binckes in some form; the vote proposed a very good form; and he trusted it would be passed unanimously. (Cheers.)

Bro. C. F. Matier said he should be very glad, in deference to the wishes of Bro. Kenyon, to withdraw the words "atrocious attacks."

The Chairman said he rose with very great pleasure to endorse all that had been said on the subject under discussion. He would put the motion of Bro. Matier to the brethren, and he hoped they would come to a unanimous vote.

The motion was thereupon unanimously carried amidst loud and prolonged cheers.

Bro. Binckes was then admitted, and was received with renewed cheering.

The Chairman, addressing Bro. Binckes, said it was his pleasing duty to inform him that Bro. Matier's motion had been carried unanimously.

Bro. Binckes in reply said he assured the Chairman and brethren that on the last occasion when an increase was made in his remuneration he expressed his thanks as honestly and warmly as he could. He did not at that time expect any further increase would be made; but as some good, kind friends had taken into consideration what they believed to be service honestly rendered, and duties faithfully performed to the Institution, he was pleased to find himself again in the receipt of an addition to his remuneration. He need scarcely say how much that pleasure was enhanced by hearing from the Chairman that there was no difference of opinion among the brethren on the subject. He begged that no one present would gauge the amount of gratitude he (Bro. Binckes) felt by the poverty of his expression. He valued this vote not only for the increased means perhaps of enjoyment it might be the means of affording, but he looked upon it, and he could not help regarding it as in some respects and to some extent, at all events, a tangible, palpable expression of their continued confidence in him in answer to slanderous accusations that had been scattered broadcast throughout the Craft; because if the brethren had for one single instant credited or given belief to those statements he did not think any one of them sitting round that table could conscientiously have passed the vote which had just been come to. He, therefore, not only regarded it as a matter of personal feeling towards himself, but as he had just said a tangible method the committee had, who had had an opportunity of watching his career for sixteen years, of giving their answer to those accusations which he at one time thought might not only tend to ruin his own prospects but seriously to interfere with the interests of the Institution. He was glad to find that in no respect had they achieved the former, and he was more gratified to find that they had not—at all events, if they had at all, to a very small extent—interfered with the latter. He did hope that this would be taken as a mark of approval on the part of those best able and most competent to judge of the manner in which this Institution was conducted, whether by himself or by the committees. (Cheers.)

Bro. J. C. Parkinson proposed, and Capt. Wordsworth seconded, that the increase in Bro. Binckes's salary take effect from 1st January, 1876.

The motion having been carried unanimously, a vote of thanks to the Chairman was passed, and the chairman said he was very much pleased that it had fallen to his lot to see the motion in favour of Bro. Binckes carried unanimously.

The proceedings then terminated.

THE MODEL SUBSCRIBER.

"Good morning, sir; Mr. Editor, how are the folks to-day? I owe you for next year's paper, I thought, I'd come and pay. And Jones is a'goin' to take it, and this is his money here; I shut down lendin' it to him, and then coaxed him to try it a year.

And here's a few items that happened last week in our town.

I thought they'd look good for the paper, and so I just jotted them down.

And here's a bushel of russets my wife picked expressly for you;

A small bunch of flowers from Jennie, she tho't she must do something, too.

And now you are chuck full of business, and I won't be taking your time,

I've things of my own I must tend to—good day, sir, I believe I will climb."

The editor sat in his sanctum and brought down his fist with a thump,

"God bless the old farmer," he muttered, "he's a regular jolly old trump."

And 'tis thus with our noble profession, and thus it will ever be still;

There are some who appreciate its labour, and some who perhaps never will.

[The above little jeu d'esprit, we may observe, is purely American. We should not object to have many such zealous friends for the "Freemason." But we regret to have to state, that though we may have very excellent supporters and constant and consistent correspondents, such a model subscriber is so far not only "like angels" visits, few and far between," but we have never greeted him in the flesh. If he will only call at 198, Fleet-street, we can guarantee him a hearty welcome from the publisher, and an equal warm one from the Editor.]

Masonic and General Tidings.

Bro. the Rt. Hon. the Marquis of Hartington, M.P., R.W.P.G.M. for Derbyshire, has consented to take the chair at the 212th anniversary festival of the Scottish Corporation, of which H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and His Grace the Duke of Rothesay is president, on St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30, respecting which his lordship says:—"I think there is now little doubt that I shall be in England on Nov. 30, and that I shall be able to attend the Scottish Corporation dinner on that day."

THE BULGARIAN PEASANT RELIEF FUND.—Mr. G. Rose Innes has given notice of the following motion for the next meeting of the Court of Common Council for the City of London:—"That a sum of two hundred guineas may be granted out of the City's cash to the Viscountess Strangford's Bulgarian Peasant Relief Fund."

AN EIGHTPENNY POSTAGE STAMP.—For the convenience of persons corresponding with India and Australia, via Brindisi, postage stamps of the value of 8d. will be issued. They can be obtained at post-offices throughout the country on and after the 11th inst.

A great fire has occurred at St. Hyacinthe, in Canada. Nearly six hundred buildings were destroyed, one hundred families are rendered homeless, and the loss is estimated at two millions of dollars.

Another lodge will be added to the already long list of those in West Lancashire by the consecration of the Marlborough Lodge, No. 1620, next Wednesday afternoon, the 13th inst., at Derby Hall, Tirebrook, Liverpool. Bro. W. Woods, P.M. 1182, is the W.M. designate, and there is every prospect that the latest addition to the long roll of lodges will prove both prosperous and honourable to the fraternity at large.

On Tuesday evening there was a presentation of a gold chain and badge of office to the Mayor and Corporation of Warrington by Lady Greenall, wife of Bro. Sir Gilbert Greenall, member for the borough. The chain is of most elegant description, of solid gold, bearing the arms of Lancashire and Cheshire and those of Sir Gilbert Greenall, together with arms and motto of the borough.

A handsome aquarium, which has just been completed by the Great Yarmouth Aquarium Society (Limited), was formally inaugurated on Tuesday last, at Great Yarmouth, by Bro. Lord Suffield. The aquarium has been erected near the Britannia Pier.

Bro. E. M. Adams, who has been secretary to the successive managements of Cremorne Gardens for the space of a generation, took his benefit at that establishment on Wednesday evening, having provided special attractions for the occasion.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT.—At eleven o'clock on Thursday night H.R.H. the Prince Arthur left Edinburgh by the East Coast express for London en route for Austria. The duke was received at the station by his brother officers of the 7th Hussars, with whom he cordially shook hands before leaving. It is understood that on his return from Austria H.R.H. will proceed to take command of the Rifle Brigade, of which he has been appointed colonel.

The unfortunate gentleman, Bro. John Johnes, of Dalaucothy, Llandilo, who was recently murdered by his butler, formerly held the position of Provincial Grand Master for the Western Division of South Wales. He was succeeded after about ten years' service by Sir Pryse Pryse on the 12th of July, 1876.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of the Province of North Wales and Shropshire was held at Wrexham on the 5th inst., under the presidency of the R.W.P.G.M., Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart., M.P. The lodge was held in the new Masonic room of the local lodge, the Square and Compass, No. 1336, in the Public Hall. Several items of business were transacted, and the annual election of officers proceeded with. The post of R.W.P.G.M. was again conferred upon Sir Watkin; and in place of the late Lord Harlech, Bro. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P., was elected Deputy P.G.M. The members then proceeded in procession to the parish church, where Divine service was held, and a sermon preached by P.G. Chaplain, the Rev. A. L. Taylor.

The King of Sweden presented Madame Christine Nilsson with the Swedish civil order, "Pour le Mérite." The decoration consists of a gold medal, with the inscription, "In sui memoriam," surmounted by a Royal Crown richly set with brilliants.

The annual Provincial Grand Lodge for the Province of Somerset will be held in the Town Hall, Bridgwater, on Friday, the 22nd inst., at half-past 1 p.m.

Bro. Jas. Batchelder, Professor of Music, a few days ago, forwarded to H.R.H. Prince Leopold, R.W.P.G.M. Oxford, a copy of his new Masonic song, "Friendship, Love, and Truth." He has since received a letter from His Royal Highness, thanking him for the same.

The consecration of the Clive Lodge No. 1575 took place on Tuesday week, at Market Drayton in the presence of upwards of ninety brethren, including the R.W.P.G.M., Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart., M.P. An account of the proceedings is unavoidably crowded out.

At a special meeting of the Edinburgh Conclave, No. 1, held in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh, on Monday, the 31st ult. Bro. Lord Inverurie, M.M. Mary's Chapel, No. 1, was admitted and installed as a Knight of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, and at a meeting of the Grand Council, held immediately thereafter, his lordship was duly consecrated as a Viceroy, and afterwards enthroned as a Sovereign of this illustrious Order.

RECIPROCITY.—"Will you lend father your newspaper, sir? He only wants to read it?" "Yes, my boy, and ask him to lend me his dinner—I only just want eat it!"

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.
For the Week ending Friday, September 15, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9.

Lodge 1361, United Service, Greyhound, Richmond.
" 1423, Era, King's Arms Hot., Hampton Court.
" 1446, Mount Edgcombe, Swan Tav., Battersea.
Chap. 1293, Burdett, Mitre Hot., Hampton Court.
Mark Lodge 144, Grosvenor, Caledonian Hot., Adelphi.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

Lodge 1366, Highgate, Gatehouse Hot., Highgate.
Chap. 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-rd.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12.

Lodge 167, St. John's, Holly Bush Tav., Hampstead.
" 548, Wellington, White Swan Tav., Deptford.
" 1269, Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anclify.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Caniswell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

Com. R.M.B.I., at 3.
Lodge 13, Union Waterloo, M.H., Wm.-st., Woolwich.
" 87, Vitruvian, White Hart, College-st., Lambeth.
" 1228, Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
" 1503, Francis Burdett, Albany Hot., Twickenham.
Chap. 1260, Hervey, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anclify.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

Lodge 1076, Capper, Marine Hot., Victoria Docks.
" 1288, Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., N.
" 1321, Emblematic, Tulse Hill Hot., Tulse Hill.
" 1471, Islington, Cock Tav., Highbury.
" 1558, Duke of Connaught, Surrey M.H.
Chap. 72, Royal Jubilee, Horns Tav., Kennington.
" 619, Beadon, M.H., Masons' Avenue.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

House Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 975, Rose of Denmark, White Hart Hot., Barnes.
K.T. Preceptory 6, St. George's, Albion Tav., City.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-rd.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.

Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 16, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

Lodge 314, Peace and Unity, Militia Mess R., Preston.
" 1021, Hartington, H.M., C.H.6, B.-in-Furness.
" 1350, Fermor Hesketh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1398, Baldwin Castle, Dalton-in-Furness.
" 1496, Trafford, Northumberland Hot., Old Trafford.
Chap. 148, Elias Ashmole, C.R., Warrington.
Mark Lodge, 165, Egerton, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.
Derby L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12.

Lodge 178, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.
" 241, Merchants, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1250, Gilbert Greenall, M.R., Warrington.
Chap. 613, Bridson, M.H., Southport.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

Lodge 281, Fortitude, Athenaeum, Lancaster.
" 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1094, Temple M.H., Liverpool.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, 80, N. Hill-st.
" 1547, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

Lodge 216, Harmonic, Adelphi Hot, Liverpool.
" 333, Royal Preston, Vic., Garrison Hot., Fulwood.
" 477, Mersey, M.R., Birkenhead.
" 1035, Prince of Wales, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
" 1182, Duke of Edinburgh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1213, Bridgewater, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

Chap. 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
Precep. Jacques de Molay, M.H., Liverpool.
Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 16, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 204, St. Paul, George Inn, Ayr.
" 205, Garthland St. Winnoch, Eagle, Lochwinnoch.
" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 307, Union and Crown, M.H., Barrhead.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 384, Athole, Washington Hot., Kirkinulloch.
" 503, St. George, Oddfellows' H., Helensburgh.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
Chap. 76, Abbey, 8, High-st., Paisley.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12.

Lodge 230, St. Barnabas, Black Bull Hot., Old Cumnock.
" 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.
" 426, Prince of Wales, M.H., Renfrew.
" 441, Glasgow, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.
" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmuir.
" 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingstone.
Chap. 17, Greenock, M.H., Cathcart-st.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

Lodge 178, Scotia, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 333, St. George, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st., Maryhill.
Chap. 113, Partick, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

" 88, New Monkland Montrose, T.H., Airdrie.
" 109, St. Marnock, Crown Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 203, St. John Operative, Olive H., Airdrie.
" 334, St. John's, Castle Inn, New Cumnock.
" 557, Blantyre Kilwinning, C.H., High Blantyre.
" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.
Chap. 50, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

Lodge 31, St. Mary's Coltness, Com. Hot., Wishaw.
" 306, St. Thomas, 90, Wellgate-st., Larkhall.
" 321, St. Andrew, R.A., Public Hall, Alexandria.
" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.
" 408, Clyde, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 471, St. John, Stane Inn, Shotts.
" 496, St. Munn, Ardnadam, Kilmun.
" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16.

Lodge 512, Thorntree, School House, Thornliebank.
" 524, St. Andrew, M.H., East Kilbride.
" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 16, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

Lodge 145, St. Stephen, St. James's Hall, Writers' Court

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12.

Lodge 1, Edinburgh, Mary's Chapel, Waterloo-pl.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

Lodge 2, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John's Chapel.

Chap. 1, Edinburgh, F.M.H., St. John's-st.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

Lodge 8, Journeymen, M.H., Blackfriars-st.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

Chap. 83, St. Andrew, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	413
Royal Arch.....	413
Knights Templar.....	413
Mark Masonry.....	413
Scotland.....	413
Provincial Grand Lodge of North Wales and Shropshire.....	414
Consecration of a Lodge at Market Drayton.....	415
Laying the Foundation Stone of Holy Trinity Church at Ash-ton-Under-Lyne.....	415
Masonic and General Tidings.....	415
Archæology.....	416
Yorkshire Archæological Institute.....	416
Instruction.....	416
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	417
The Last Quarterly Communication.....	417
Prejudices Against Freemasons.....	417
The Detection of Crime.....	417
A Little Friendly Gossip on some of the Topics of the Day.....	418
CORRESPONDENCE:—
The Widow of the Late Bro. Farnfield.....	419
The History of the Craft.....	419
Bro. Simpson's Motion in Grand Lodge.....	419
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	419
Grand Lodge—A Sketch.....	420
The Margate Watch Committee and the Freemasons.....	422
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	422
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	422
Advertisements.....	l. ii. lii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.
Craft Masonry.

DERBY.—HARTINGTON LODGE (No. 1085).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, on Wednesday, 6th inst. The brethren present were Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; J. Worsnop, P.M.; W. Heathcote, S.W.; T. Gadsby, J.W.; M. H. Bobart, Treas.; Geo. Pipes, Sec.; Theo. Hills, S.D.; J. Heathcote, J.D.; J. H. Biggs, I.G.; Josh. Shaw, D.C.; G. F. Edwards, Organist; T. Slinn, Tyler; Hepworth, Manton, Butterfield, Johnson. Visitors: Bros. W. F. Cox, P.M. 1021; E. Woolf, 1474, W.M.; Geo. Cay, 731; Baldwin, 802. The lodge was opened at 7.15 p.m. The first business was to read the circular, after which the minutes of the last regular lodge, and likewise the lodge of emergency, were read and confirmed. The ballot was then taken for Mr. J. H. Pragnell, who was duly elected. Bros. Lane and Hill were next tested in the questions leading from the Second to the Third Degree, which being answered in an efficient manner, they retired for preparation. The lodge was opened in the Third Degree. Bros. Lane and Hill were then raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Masons in ancient and solemn form by the W.M. The lodge being resumed in the First Degree, Bros. Gore and Pragnell were initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M. Bro. S. Pipes was congratulated much for the very efficient manner in which he performed the whole of the ceremonies, it being rather an unusually lengthy programme for four ceremonies to be fully worked in the course of one lodge night. After the W.M. had received the hearty good wishes from the visiting brethren, the lodge was closed with prayer in perfect harmony and brotherly love. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room, where a most substantial supper awaited them, after which the usual Masonic toasts were given, and most heartily received. The evening was enlivened with appropriate songs from the brethren. The Tyler's toast being given, the evening was brought to a close, general satisfaction being manifested by all the brethren present.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Lodge (No. 1105).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Atheneum. The W.M., Bro. H. Longman, presided, and there was a good attendance of members, including several visiting brethren. The lodge having been opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, the minutes of last regular meeting, and of emergency meetings, were read and confirmed. Bro. Thomas Bell having given proof of his proficiency as an Entered Apprentice, was entrusted, and retired, and the lodge having been opened in the Second Degree, he was re-admitted, and passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, the working tools being presented by the S.W. (Bro. T. Jackson). Bro. John Thomas Jackson was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the working being effectively and solemnly gone through by the W.M., who also presented the working tools. The lodge having closed down, the usual proclamations were made, which elicited hearty responses from the visiting brethren, after which the lodge was closed with the peculiarities of the Craft.

MANCHESTER.—Lodge of Truth (No. 1458).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, September 2nd, at private rooms, Newton Heath. The minutes of last regular and emergency meetings were read and confirmed. The ballot for Mr. Duckworth proved favourable. Bro. Goodchilde was passed to the Second Degree by Bro. Caldwell, P.M. A letter was read from one of the members tendering his resignation, which was accepted. After the lodge was closed the brethren and visitors sat down to a substantial tea. The new Masonic song, "Friendship, Love, and Truth," composed by Bro. Batchelder, S.W., and dedicated to the Worshipful Master, Bro. Kent, and the members of the lodge, was sung by Bro. Nicholson with great success, and to the delight of the brethren, who are much pleased with their Senior Warden's composition. A pleasant and harmonious evening was spent, and the brethren separated about 9.30 p.m.

HALLIFORD.—Thames Valley Lodge (No. 1460).—This thriving and very excellent lodge met on Saturday, 2nd inst., being its last gathering for this year, emergencies excepted. Many of the brethren were absent, either being on the moors or abroad. President, Bro. J.

Llewellyn Jones, W.M.; W. T. Howe, S.W., P.M., &c.; T. Burdett Yeoman, J.W.; Sweetland, S.D.; Alcock, J.D.; D. Gowan, I.G. The lodge was opened in due form, and business was at once proceeded with. Bro. Thomas was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason, and Bro. Beaumont was passed. It is but a poor compliment to pay to the W.M., whose working is really and truly of a very superior character; not a blurr or slip marks his utterance of the whole ritual. In the experience of the writer of 15 years I have never heard the beautiful lectures and the whole of the three degrees worked with such precision and pointed enunciation. The W.M. positively entrances one; to say so is not adulation. The following lodge brethren were present:—Bros. Colonel Peters, P.M. and Founder; Dr. Brette, P.M. 1460, Treas.; Paas, P.M., Sec.; J. G. Marsh, P.M.; Stone, the host; Dunn, P.M.; Townsend, P.M.; Hislop, Visitors: Bros. the Hon. O. G. Lambert, Southend; Leigh, Canonbury; Green, Star; and another brother whose name is forgotten, which he will please to pardon. Towards the closing of the lodge Bro. T. W. Howe, S.W., was unanimously elected to fill the chair as W.M. for the ensuing year, amidst hearty greetings. The W.M. paid the W.M. elect a fine tribute of praise by saying he did not know a brother who was more able to fill the chair he was about to vacate than Bro. Howe. He felt himself covered with honour by such a brother following upon his shadow. He was bound to compliment the brethren upon their choice. Bro. Howe replied briefly by saying his best thanks, and that he should be perfectly satisfied to follow in the footsteps of their W.M., whom he only wished to emulate—surpass was impossible. As a matter of right, that most excellent man and Mason, Bro. Paas, was re-elected Treasurer, who said so long as the brethren kept him in funds he should never complain, and that they would find he should always do his duty to them so long as they supplied him with the means. At present he had no complaint to lay against them from straitened circumstances. He thanked them for re-electing him and their sterling contributions. Bro. Woodcock was re-elected Tyler. The lodge was then formally closed. At the banquet, which followed immediately, grace was graciously said by the W.M.. Credit was done to the well laden and groaning tables, with viands and wines of the choicest. Bro. Stone is a first-class host, and pays every attention to the wants and wishes of the brethren. The Ship at Halliford bears a good name, and worthily. The routine of toasts was given, and "The G.M." with enthusiasm. There was a significant and marked feeling of respect paid to the toast and health of the R.W.P.G.M., Col. F. Burdett. It is truly delightful to see, at all times, how the mention of his name is a sign for applause. Bro. Colonel Peters, in whose hands was placed this toast said that he did not think any Mason lived so fondly in the hearts of the brethren as did their R.W.P.G.M., and he assured the brethren that from expressions he had heard fall from his lips, that they were truly fatherly, having no favourites, but if you were true to your obligation all had his equal regard and respect, and for himself he believed that was the cause why the Province of Middlesex was so prosperous. (Hear hear, and that's true.) And let me say that I also feel proud to think that I was the founder and father of this most excellent lodge. Bro. Rev. Dr. Brette in proposing "The Health of the W.M.," paid him compliments of encomium, which are not often heard, and to which every brother present chanted, So mote it be. He had gained the highest respect of all present, and lived in their hearts, and if the lodge had been founded by Colonel P.M. Peters, no doubt its consolidation was owing to the chair being so admirably filled by the present W.M. In proposing that a Past Master's jewel (in open lodge) be presented to Bro. J. Jones, he could not find words sufficiently expressive of admiration towards him. In reply to the observation of Bro. P.M. Brette, the W.M. said it was very flattering to hear one's-self thus spoken of, but from their observations he heard that he, like a good soldier had done his duty. Upon the toast of "P.M." being proposed, Bro. Dr. Brette, in a very humorous and brief speech, set the brethren in roars of laughter, from the tone of voice in which he spoke. He said that it was all through his being a Past Master, and being put down along with the 'old' ones. He then drew the attention of the brethren to the charities, and who would be Stewards; there was no lack of brethren ready to fill these parts. At once the W.M. agreed, W.M. Elect Howe agreed, and P.M. Brette agreed. Thus the three charities are represented by Stewardships, and in less than five minutes the Worshipful Master announced that over one hundred guineas had been subscribed. There were but seventeen brethren present. This speaks well for this lodge; it is beyond praise. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

MORECAMBE.—Morecambe Lodge (No. 1561).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Room, Morecambe-street, on the 1st inst., Bro. Captain Garnett, the W.M., presided, and there was a good attendance of members and visiting brethren. The lodge was opened with solemn prayer in the First Degree, and the minutes of previous meeting having been confirmed the ballot was taken for Bro. T. H. Tidswell, 469, who was unanimously elected a joining member. The ballot was also taken for Mr. N. J. Wane, which was unanimous, but owing to his being unavoidably absent his initiation was deferred to next meeting. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, and Bro. T. Williams having given proficiency as a Fellow Craftsman was entrusted and retired. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree, and Bro. Wilkinson having been re-admitted he was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the working tools being presented by Bro. Longman, W.M. 1051. The lodge was subsequently resumed in the First Degree, when the usual proclamations were made, which elicited the hearty good wishes of visiting brethren, and the lodge closed in peace, love and harmony.

Royal Arch.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Chapter (No. 1051).—The regular meeting of this chapter was held on the 21st ult., in the Masonic Rooms, Atheneum. There were present Comps. E. Airey, M.E.Z.; Heald, H.; E. Simpson, P.G.S.B., as J.; Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of E., as E.; H. Longman, S.N.; W. Hall, P.S.; J. Ellenshaw, First Asst. Soj.; J. J. Crookell, Second Asst. Soj.; P. Dickinson, and others. The ballot having been taken for Bro. K. A. Stansfeld, he was unanimously elected, and being present was, with Bro. R. Wolfenden, who had been elected at a previous meeting, duly installed to the degree of R.A. by the M.E.Z., the mystic and histrionic lectures being delivered by Comp. Dr. Moore, and the symbolical by Comp. Heald.

Knights Templar.

PRESTON.—Preston Preceptory.—An emergency meeting of this preceptory was held in the Masonic Rooms, at the Bull Hotel, on the 29th ult. Bro. W. W. Cottam, the Eminent Preceptor, presided, and the other officers present were Sir Knts. Airey and Harding, as Croupier and Marshal, and Capt. White as Esquerry. There were also present P.E.M.'s Galloway and Worsley, Sir Knights Barnes and Helme, and others. The eminent Sub-Prior, Sir Knt. Beswick Royds, was also present, and conferred the degree on Bro. Capt. Sykes. Comp. Bro. Lieut. Fletcher (84th Regt.) having been ballotted for was unanimously elected and duly installed a Knight of the illustrious Order. The preceptory was afterwards closed with all the formalities of the Order, and the brethren subsequently banquetted together. We understand that this Order is in a very flourishing and prosperous condition in this district.

Mark Masonry

PANMURE LODGE (No. 139).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at the Balham Hotel, Balham, on Monday, September 4th, 1876. There were present Bros. C. Pulman, W.M., in the chair; Thos. Poore, I.P.M., P.P.G.S.; John Read, P.G. Org.; Plot, P.M.; George Silby, P.M. and Treas.; Daniel Trusley, S.W. and W.M. elect; M. S. Larham, J.W.; Wm. Poore, M.O.; M. Speigal, S.O.; John Wolmsley, J.O.; James J. Joseph, R. of M.; C. P. McKay, Sec.; John Thos. Gibson, S.D.; William Ackland, J.D.; Wm. McMurray, I.G.; Hardcastle, Steward. There were also present the following brethren:—W. S. Gaskett, W. Mitchell, J. S. Sinclair, Girder, Joshua Taylor, T. J. Baker, Wm. B. Miller, J. Barney, and Bro. Thos. Baysan, visitor. The lodge was opened by Bro. Charles Pulman, W.M., who was ably assisted by Bro. Read, P.G. Org., and by the much respected I.P.M., Thos. Poore, P.P.G.S. The minutes of the previous lodge were clearly read by Bro. Charles P. McKay, Secretary, who gave an interesting and prosperous account of this flourishing M.M.M. Lodge from its foundation to the present date. Bro. S. B. Harvey, of Royal Jubilee Lodge, 72, and Bro. Herman Plotner, of Lodge 1226, being candidates for the honourable Degree of Mark Masters, were duly ballotted, and unanimously elected and regularly passed, the ceremony being ably performed by the retiring W.M. A Board of Installed Mark Masters was then formed, and Bro. Daniel Trusley was duly installed into the chair by Bro. P.M. Thomas Poore in a very pleasing, perfect, and impressive manner. The brethren being re-admitted, the ceremony of salutation was beautifully carried out under the direction of Bro. Installing Master, Thos. Poore, P.P.G.S. The W.M. having received the congratulations of the brethren, immediately proceeded to invest his officers as follows:—Bro. Mark Samuel Larham, S.W.; William Poore, J.W.; Manna Speigal, M.O.; John Wolmsley, S.O.; John Thos. Gibson, J.W.; Chas. Palmer McKay, Secretary; James John Joseph, Reg. of Marks, William Ackland, S.D.; William McMurray, J.D.; W. B. Miller, D. of C.; Steven Hardcastle, I.G.; P.M. John Read, Organist; Walter Mitchell, Wine Steward; J. Sinclair, Steward; Grant, Tyler. Bro. P.M. Poore having addressed the W.M., officers, and brethren in the most perfect and impressive manner, the lodge was then closed, and according to ancient custom the brethren adjourned to the banqueting-room, where an excellent repast had been provided by the worthy host and respective P.M. George Lilley. On the removal of the cloth, Bro. Daniel Trusley, who seemed to grace the chair with perfect ease, gave the usual loyal Mark Masters toasts, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Scotland.

KILBARCHAN.—Lodge St. Barchan (No. 156).—The usual quarterly meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge-room on the evening of Friday, the 1st inst., The W.M., Bro. William Lewis, M.D., presided, and was supported by Bros. Daniel Cunningham, I.P.M.; Andrew Buchanan, D.M. and P.M.; Robert Craig, S.W.; John Orr, J.W.; J. Wylie, S.D.; J. Stevenson, J.D.; D. Scrymgeour, S.M.; Andrew Grant, Sec.; Wm. Kirkland, Treas.; and others. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of meetings during the past quarter were read, and after being fully discussed were unanimously adopted. From these it appeared that during the quarter there had been four initiations, four brethren passed the Fellow Craft Degree, and one brother raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. After some other routine business the lodge was closed in regular form.

On the evening of Tuesday, the 5th inst., an emergency meeting of the lodge was held to consider a communication from the Grand Lodge of Scotland inviting the brethren to assist in laying the foundation stone of the Poor House and Asylum at Greenock on the 12th inst., and of the new Harbour at Ayr, on the 19th inst. The W.M., Bro. Dr. William Lewis, presided, and was supported by most of the office-bearers of the lodge. After a lengthened discussion, it was unanimously agreed to send an influential deputation to Greenock. At the same time it was agreed that, although the lodge did not see its way to send an official deputation to Ayr, yet it would be satisfactory that if any of the brethren of the lodge could conveniently attend at Ayr, they should represent the lodge upon the occasion. There being no other business, the lodge was afterwards closed in due form.

CONSECRATION OF THE CLIVE LODGE, No. 1575, AT MARKET DRAYTON.

Viewed in its moral bearing and influence on society, Freemasonry exercises a potent power wherever its principles are practised; but when there is also taken into account the large amount of good annually resulting from its charitable institutions for decayed brethren, their widows, and for boys and girls, it assumes a position worthy of emulation. "Brotherly love, relief, and truth" has ever been its motto, and even under the most adverse circumstances it has held on its way, permeating society, and uniting, where its principles are adopted, in one indissoluble bond the rich and the poor, the monarch and the subject. The installation of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as its Most Worshipful Grand Master has tended to increase the popularity of Freemasonry, and since the last Grand Lodge, warrants for 19 new lodges have been granted. In no province, perhaps, has there been a larger increase than in North Wales and Shropshire, for within a few weeks the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Sir W. Williams-Wynn, Bart., M.P., has consecrated four lodges—at Bridgnorth, Llanidloes, Newtown, and at Market Drayton. The ceremonial incident to the consecration and opening of a Mason's lodge is one of an impressive character, and on Tuesday nearly 90 brethren assembled at Market Drayton to offer their "heartly good wishes" to the officers, and to witness and take part in the formula of consecrating "The Clive Lodge, No. 1575."

The brethren included the R.W.P. Grand Master, Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart., M.P.; John Peters, P.G.S.W. 587; W. Blakeway, P.G.J.W. 262; W. H. Spruall, P.G. Sec. 1124; T. Wood, P.G.D.C., 1124; J. B. J. Goldsbro', P.G.A.D.C.; P. H. Evans, P.G.A.D.C.; James Salmon, P.G. Sword Bearer 1427; J. D. Boucher, P.G. Organist; Rowland Millington, P.M., P.P.G.S.B., 601; Henry Shepard, P.M., P.P.G.P., 601; Bulkeley Hughes, P.M., M.P. for Carnarvon; J. L. Warren, P.M. 726 and 887, P.P.G. Registrar Staffordshire; George Gordon Warren, P.M. 726, P.P.G.S.B. Staffordshire; J. Bodenham, P.M. 726 and 751, P.G.T. Staffordshire, and P.P.G.R. Herefordshire; J. Beaumont Percy, 418, P.P.G.S. of Works Staffordshire; George Spilsbury, 726, P.P.G.J.W. Staffordshire; Thos. Hawkins, P.M. 468 and 938, P.P.G.D.C. Warwickshire; Thomas H. Smith, P.M. 468 and 938, P.P.G.J.D. Warwickshire; C. Marsh, 460, P.P.G.S.W. Staffordshire; J. S. Crapper, 418, P.P.G.A.D.C. Staffordshire; W. Eardley, 979, P.G.D.C. Cheshire; A. E. Cockayne, P.M. and W.M. Cheshire; J. B. Hide, P.M. 262, 317, 826, P.G. Tyler; W. D. Newnes, 117, P.G. Assist. Tyler; T. S. Cundy, 509; John Blackhurst, S.W. 979; R. B. Mowbray, 979; T. Bolshaw, J.D. 979; T. Heath, jun., 979; T. Bought Jones, 293 and 726; E. T. Thompson, 728; Dublin: F. Butterworth, 293; W. C. Lisle, P.M. 293; A. Jackson, 293; V. K. Deardon, 293; J. H. Belyse, 301 and 293; T. D. Firth, 267; G. E. Smith, 163; J. T. Cox, 726; T. Wood, Secretary, 726; E. C. Griffiths, 726; F. W. Smith, 726; H. T. Smith, 726; S. Bennion, S.W. 293 and 1575; James Hockenull, 293; J. B. Unsworth, 1061; E. R. Heath, 292; J. G. Jacob, 935; Wexford C. Brown, 98; R. Hilditch, 98; T. Salter, 201; J. Bates, P.M. 601; J. Adams, W.M. 601; J. Brooke, J.W. 601; R. Acton, 601; Edward Lea, 117; Edward Lawrence, P.M. 1120; John Machin, 1120; Thos. T. Chubb, 333; Geo. C. Matthews, 610; C. A. Cordingley, 372; George Wycherley, 217; J. H. Kemp, 1575; J. D. Wilkinson, 1575; Dr. Thompson, 1575; Dr. Harding, 1575; S. Heath, 1575; J. Cornes, 1575; John Judge, Tyler 1575, and others.

The brethren assembled in the lodge-room at the Corbet Arms Hotel about one o'clock, when the lodge was opened in the three degrees, the presiding officer being Bro. J. Loxdale Warren, who appointed Bro. A. E. Cockayne as Senior Warden, and Bro. J. B. Percy, Junior Warden pro tem. After the lapse of half an hour, the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Sir W. W. Wynn, M.P., was announced, and, preceded by several provincial officers, entered the lodge. Bro. Warren then vacated the chair, and presented his gavel to the R.W.P.G. Master, who took the presidency of the lodge, and was Masonically saluted. The Senior Warden's and Junior Warden's chairs were also occupied by provincial officers.

The R.W.P.G.M., addressing the brethren, observed that they were assembled on that occasion to open the Clive Lodge, No. 1575. It was a matter of regret to him that the ceremony had not been performed before; in the first place, ill-health had prevented him from being present, and the death of one near and dear to him had further delayed the ceremony, which had been previously fixed to take place in May. He might have asked his Deputy Grand Master to have done it, but at that time his health also was so impaired that he was unable to be present, and, as they knew, it subsequently got worse, and he was now no more amongst them. He trusted the lodge would not suffer from his shortcomings; he was happy to see so many present, and he hoped the lodge would become very prosperous. They were situated on the borders of other provinces where Masonry was conducted as well as it was in any part of the kingdom—he referred to Cheshire, Staffordshire, and Warwickshire. He was glad to see so many representatives present from those provinces, and he hoped that the Clive Lodge would not in any way be second to any other. During the time he had the honour of presiding over them several lodges had been opened, and he thought it was evident that Masonry was progressing favourably throughout the province.

The R.W.P.G.M. then requested the P.G. Secretary to read the petition for the new lodge and the warrant of constitution, which is granted by the Prince of Wales as G.M. of England, and signed by Lord Skelmersdale, the M.W.D.G.M. It names George Gordon Warren, W.M., John Tayleur, S.W., and John Bodenham, J.W. The lodge board, which was placed in the centre of the room, was then unveiled, and during the consecration prayer corn was scattered on it by the Consecrating Officer, the V.W. Bro. T. W. J. Golsbro' P.P.G.S.W.; afterwards, wine by the P.S.W., Bro. Peters, and subsequently, oil, by the P.G.W., Bro. Blakeway. The R.W. Grand Master then declared "That, as Prov. G. Master, he constituted the Clive Lodge into a regular lodge by the rites and ceremonies of their ancient fraternity," adding, "may the Supreme Architect of the Universe prosper all your duties." The musical portion of the consecration ceremony was rendered in an impressive manner by Bro. Boucher, P.G. Organist.

At the close of the ceremony the installation of Bro. George Gordon Warren took place as Worshipful Master of the lodge. At the close of the ceremony the W.M. appointed his officers, and invested them with their several insignia, as follows:—John Tayleur, S.W.; John Bodenham, P.P.G.R., J.W.; T. Rought Jones, Treas.; S. Bennion, Sec.; J. B. Unsworth, S.D.; T. Rought Jones, J.D.; F. W. Smith, I.G.; J. Judge, Tyler. After receiving the usual salutations and greetings from those present, the lodge was duly closed, and a procession was formed to church under the direction of Bro. Wood, P.G.D.C., in the following order:—The Tyler, with drawn sword, carrying also a handsome banner, with name and number of the lodge inscribed thereon (a gift, we understand, in remembrance of a departed brother); the brethren of the lodge, the officers, the visiting brethren, members of the Provincial Grand Lodge, and then, a very pleasant feature, four boys (sons of Master Masons) carrying on a velvet cushion the Bible, opened at the 10th chapter of Numbers; after them the officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, the procession closing with the R.W.P.G.M., Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart., M.P., who was preceded and followed by Sword Bearers. Arrived at the church, where a large congregation had assembled, an opening voluntary was very finely rendered. Special psalms and appropriate lessons were read, and a short but pithy and well-chosen sermon was preached by Bro. the Rev. J. G. Jacob, county Wexford, from the text "Let brotherly love continue"—Hebrews xiii. 1. The hymns were—273, 298, and 364 (A. & M. revised edition); these, as well as the whole of the musical portion of the service, were given with really good taste and fine effect.

At the close a collection was made in aid of the North Wales and Shropshire Charitable Masonic Association and a local charity, amounting to £9 18s. 2½d. The procession re-formed and returned to their lodge, where the brethren of the newly-formed Clive Lodge commenced their duties. Feeling allusion was made to the late Bro. F. C. Cockayne, and a motion that the lodge should go into mourning for a month was unanimously carried. Several applications for membership were received, as well as propositions for joining members.

The banquet was served in the ball-room of the hotel. The menu embraced every delicacy of the season, the waiting was unexceptionable, and the whole reflected great credit on Mr. and Mrs. Wycherley, the host and hostess. The newly-installed W.M. presided, supported by the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master and other officers, and the vice-presidents were Bros. Loxdale, Warren, and John Bodenham.

After the toast of "The Queen and the Craft" had been honoured, the W.M. proposed "The Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master of England, and the Princess of Wales." He hoped their Grand Master would long live to wield his Masonic sceptre over a free and united brotherhood. (Applause.) He could only refer to his recent visit to India, but he had no doubt that one of its results would be a large accession to Masonry in the Indian empire. With the name of their Grand Master he associated that of his illustrious lady, the Princess of Wales, who in her everyday life exercised and exhibited the virtues which characterised Freemasonry. (Loud applause.)

The next toast was "The Earl of Carnarvon, the R.W. Pro G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, the M.W.D.G.M., and Officers of the Grand Lodge of England."

The W.M. again rose, and said that the toast he now had the honour to propose was one that had a more personal interest attaching to it than any of the preceding—he referred to the R.W.P.G.M. of North Wales and Shropshire, Sir Watkin William Wynn, Bart. He considered that Freemasonry must of necessity flourish when it was encouraged by brethren of rank and position in the country, and more especially when those brethren took an interest in the affairs of the province. They had heard with great pleasure that their Provincial Grand Master had recruited his health and strength whilst he had been absent from the country, and he felt sure that nothing could have given him greater pleasure than the consecration of another lodge in his province. The toast was drunk with Masonic honours.

The R.W.P.G. Master very cordially acknowledged the kind manner in which his name had been received. He had told them before in the lodge that for a great part of last year he was unable to attend to Masonic duties, and he did not wish their lodge to be consecrated without himself being present. For several years he had known, in another capacity, many whom he saw before him; and then, in addition, his maternal family almost entirely sprang from their parish. He hoped, therefore, that the Clive Lodge would be exceedingly prosperous. (Applause.) He had had the pleasure of recently opening four lodges, and for the kindness which he received at all times and under all circumstances during the time he had presided over the province he very sincerely thanked them.

The next toast, given by the W.M., was "The P.D.G.M. and Prov. Grand Officers, Past and Present," which was acknowledged by P.P.G.S.W. Bro. John Peters.

The R.W.P.G.M. again rose to propose what he considered the toast of the evening—"The Health of the Worshipful Master." (Applause.) He recollected that his maternal ancestors were born within sight of the house where they were assembled, one of whom rose to be the founder of the great Indian empire. He did not hope that the Clive Lodge would grow into such gigantic proportions as the Indian empire, but he did hope that the lodge would be as prosperous as it had been. He had known their Worshipful Master many years, and he hoped that they would all esteem him as he did, and assist him in the management of the lodge. (Drunk with three times three.)

The W.M. said that he felt it to be an extremely difficult task to thank them for the honour of receiving the toast of the newly consecrated lodge, and himself as its first Master; but he did so heartily, conscientiously, and cordially. He hoped that the infant whom they had that day assisted to christen would attain to manhood, and live to a green old age, and when the brethren from a distance looked back on the events of the past, he trusted they would not have to regret what they had done that day. He would ask those who had been selected to work the new lodge to assist him in rearing the edifice—they would have trials to undergo and difficulties to meet before they could place on that edifice of Masonry the top-stone; but they would try to do that, and to leave behind them a development of the grand principles and characteristics of Freemasonry. (Applause.)

The toast of "The Masonic Charities" was next drunk, and responded to by P.P.G.T. John Bodenham with his accustomed earnestness and ability.

Bro. T. Rought Jones, J.D., proposed the toast of "The Visiting Brethren," associating with it the name of Bro. J. G. Jacob, the Acting Chaplain.

Bro. the Rev. J. G. Jacob, in acknowledging the toast, said there was nothing which he could do to benefit the Masonic Craft which he did not look on as a labour of love. He had heard with very great pleasure during the few days he had been in England that Masonry in the province was a real existence, and possessed a real spirit, and was not merely Masonry in name; and it afforded him still further pleasure to hear in the lodge that Masonry was progressing. He was glad to say that it was also increasing in Ireland, and he believed that the more it increased the better would it be for the country at large. (Applause.)

The W.M. regretted that the Consecrating Officer had been obliged to leave them; but he would propose "The Health of the Installing Officer, Bro. J. Loxdale Warren."

Bro. Loxdale Warren expressed the pleasure he felt in seeing a lodge established in his native town. He had for twenty years been a Freemason, but until lately he had never even anticipated the pleasure which the opening of the lodge had afforded him. He had been further gratified by having to instal his brother in blood as its first Master. He had sat under him, and presided over him in lodges, and he knew that he was well qualified to discharge the duties to which he had that day been installed. (Applause.) Before sitting down, he wished to propose "The Officers of the Lodge." They all knew that no lodge could be properly worked without the Worshipful Master was assisted by his officers. It was utterly impossible for a lodge to be efficiently conducted without the assistance especially of the Wardens, and, in fact, of all its officers, thoroughly discharging their respective duties. He believed they all would shew their zeal for Masonry, and unitedly make the Clive Lodge perfect in its working.

The toast was drunk, and responded to by Bro. Bodenham, J.W., who said that his hoped the officers would unite to work together under one of the best Masters that ever ruled a lodge. He had had the pleasure before of working under him, and he knew that he could do the work if he was thoroughly assisted.

Other toasts followed, and the brethren separated about eleven o'clock.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE OF HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.

On the 2nd inst., a demonstration, under the auspices of the P.G. Lodge of East Lancashire, took place on the occasion of laying the north-east corner stone of Holy Trinity Church, by Bro. George Mellor, Worshipful Dep. Provincial Grand Master of East Lancashire, and Mayor of Ashton-under-Lyne. A lodge was opened at the Town Hall by the W.M. of Lodge Minerva at three o'clock, and after the usual routine of business it was adjourned. The brethren to the number of 200, including 37 Past and Present Provincial Officers, were formed into a procession, and marshalled by Bros. C. M. Jones, P.G.D.C., and J. H. Sillitoe, A. P.G.D.C., headed by the Hurst village band, proceeded to the site of the new church. Previous to the laying of the corner stone, the foundation stone was laid by T. Heginbottom, Esq., J.P. (nephew of the founder), who was ac-accompanied by about 5000 school children and clergy, and some little delay was caused by having to wait for the completion of this ceremony, at the conclusion of which Bro. Mellor, with the assistance of his brethren, laid the corner stone according to the customs of Ancient Freemasonry. The prayers were rehearsed by Bro. Dr. Salts, P.G. Chaplain, assisted by Bro. S. Y. B. Bradshaw, Assistant P.G. Chaplain, whilst suitable hymns and anthems were rendered by a select choir.

At the conclusion Bro. Mellor addressed the assembly, and stated that as a member of a Christian community, without reference to sects or parties, it was very gratifying to him to join in every effort which tended to human progress, but the pleasure was increased when he, together with his brethren, aided to raise another temple for that Church which walked in the lines marked out by the history of the ancient Church, founded on the apostles' doctrine and fellowship. The church whose corner stone he had laid would echo the truths contained in the Book of Common Prayer. They, as Masons, were always glad to come forward to give their sanction, by their own peculiar rites and ceremonies, to the building of Christian temples. He was old enough to recollect the time when the parish church of Ashton was the only place of ecclesiastical worship in the town. There were formerly three chapels, but as the town grew, through the development of the cotton trade, the necessity arose for increased church accommodation, and that was supplied at intervals by the building of St. Peter's, Christ Church, St. John's, and St. James's, and St. George's, at Audenshaw. And they had that day added to the list of Christian efforts the church whose corner stone he had laid. Every new church built, and every new parish formed, became fresh centres of religious activity and material monuments of Christian progress. (Applause.)

The procession was then re-formed, and returned to the Town Hall, where the lodge was duly closed.

In the evening about 120 brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet at the Commercial Hotel.

The chair was taken by Bro. George Mellor, the Worshipful Deputy Prov. G.M. for East Lancashire; the vice-chairs were filled by Bro. Kershaw, W.M. Minerva Lodge, and Bro. Whitehead, W.M. Union Lodge. Amongst those present were Bros. J. L. Hine, P. Prov. G.S.W.; Dr. Lees, P. Prov. G.S.W.; J. Gibb Smith, P. Prov. G.J.W.; Rev. Dr. Salts, Prov. G. Chaplain; J. Tunnah, Prov. G. Sec.; T. J. Hooper, Prov. G. Treasurer; J. Holmes, P. Prov. G.D.; C. M. Jones, Prov. G.D.C.; J. H. Sillitoe, Assistant Prov. G.D.C.; A. Wolstenholme, Prov. G.J.D.; J. Holroyd, P. Prov. G.S.B.; J. Benn, Prov. G. Supt.; W. W. H. Cunliffe, Prov. G. Purst.; James Hall, P. Prov. G. Purst.; J. Burrows, Hon. Secretary to the General Committee; Thomas Bowers, P. Prov. G.D.C. Cheshire; T. Wainwright, P. Prov. G.S.D. Cheshire; C. Goddard, P. Prov. G.S.D.; R. Sykes, Prov. G. Purst. Cheshire. After the banquet the Chairman proposed "The Queen and the Craft," "The Prince and Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., Most Worshipful Grand Master of Masons of England," the whole of the toasts being duly honoured.

Bro. Holmes then proposed "The Earl of Carnarvon, Most Worshipful Pro Grand Master," whose eminence and skill, both as a statesman and a Mason, was known to them all.

Bro. Smith then gave "The Health of Lord Skelmersdale, Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master." He said a more expert Craftsman than Lord Skelmersdale he never met, and when they found men of such distinguished rank in social life taking a leading part in Freemasonry, they ought to feel proud of their Order. (Applause.)

Bro. Hine then proposed "The Health of Lieutenant-Colonel Le Gendre Nicholas Starkie, Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master for East Lancashire." He said Bro. Starkie was always first and foremost in furthering the interests of charitable institutions connected with Freemasonry, and they had always reason to be proud of him for the manner in which he devoted himself to and conducted the business of Masonry in his province. (Applause.)

Bro. Lees said he was called upon to discharge a most pleasing duty. It was now 20 years since he joined the Masonic body. That period had been one of great prosperity amongst them, but it was one also in which they had witnessed many changes. During that time the office of Deputy Provincial Grand Master had been filled by Bro. Blair, Bro. Royds, Bro. Newhall, and Bro. Callender, the last of whom had been removed from among them by a dispensation of Providence. It was a difficult matter to fill the place occupied by men so distinguished in Masonry, more especially Bro. Callender, who possessed the greatest skill in all the offices and ceremonies of Masonry, but he considered that their Prov. G.M., Bro. Starkie, had exercised a wise and prudent judgment in appointing Bro. George Mellor. (Applause.) He had known him for nearly 40 years, and when he looked at the public services he had rendered, and the efficient manner in which he discharged the highest municipal duties, he felt sure that when his term of office as Mayor of the borough came to a close he would devote himself with the like energy and ability to Masonry. (Cheers.) He considered that a wise selection had been made in the appointment of Bro. Mellor as Deputy Provincial Grand Master for East Lancashire—a province equal to any in the kingdom, in fact he did not know its superior in point of numbers—for he believed that he would devote himself to the promotion of those interests they all had at heart. He gave "The Health of Bro. George Mellor."

Bro. John Ashworth, P.M. of Lodge Waverley, 1322, then rose, and said: Worshipful Sir,—The duty I have to perform this evening is of a very pleasing description.

It would certainly have been more in accordance with my own feelings if some older and more worthy brother had been appointed to this honour. However, I know that Bro. Mellor will not the less esteem the work though it should come from a young man, because it does not come from me, but from the brethren of the town of Ashton. (Applause.) The duty I have to perform is to present to the Worshipful Deputy Grand Master of this province (the Mayor) with a humble address from the lodges of this town. (Cheers.) I may say, brethren, that the lodges have selected a very opportune time for making the presentation. It was no doubt their duty to congratulate Bro. Mellor when he was first raised to that dignified position. And when an opportunity like this one presented itself to us, the brethren ran as it were with haste to present to Bro. Mellor their congratulations. It is a fitting occasion, because it has given Bro. Mellor another opportunity of manifesting one of the highest qualities of Masonry, which is charity. (Applause.) He has told us today that he respected all denominations, and he, I believe, is charitable not only to the denominations with which he is immediately connected, but to every denomination which has for its object the welfare of mankind. (Hear, hear.) The presentation which I have the honour to make is not of intrinsic value. It is not of silver or gold. Bro. Mellor needs none of these. God has given him plenty. It is of more value than silver or gold. It will be there when both the donors and receivers shall be no more, and will be looked upon by Bro. Mellor's children and his children's children, generation after generation. And whenever they behold that testimonial they will revere the memory of their sire. (Applause.) I may say, sir, when you were appointed to the dignified position of Deputy Provincial Grand Master, an appointment which you never sought, it gladdened the hearts of every Mason in Ashton-under-Lyne. (Cheers.) They knew that though they had lost such an excellent brother as Bro. W. Romaine Callender, who had been taken to the Grand Lodge above, yet in the appointment the Provincial Grand Master was pleased to make he had selected an able successor to Bro. Callender. (Applause.) You, sir, have won by your conduct in this town unvarying respect, especially amongst Masons. Yours has not been a fast, showy, or pushing Masonic life, but it has been far more interesting to us. I hope, sir, you will accept this token of our esteem, and you will long live to look upon it, and when you behold it, it may be a satisfaction to you, that it has not proceeded from any motive other than of pure love and respect for yourself. (Cheers.) Amongst those who have presented it are men of different political opinions to yourself, men of different religious faith, but one and all aim hereafter to join you in the Grand Lodge above. (Applause.)

Bro. Ashworth then read the address, which had been beautifully engrossed by Bro. Hine as follows:—
"To Geo. Mellor, Esq., J.P., Worshipful Deputy Prov. Grand Master of Freemasons for the division of East Lancashire, Mayor of Ashton-under-Lyne.—Worshipful Sir,—We, the undersigned brethren, representing Lodges Minerva, 300, Union, 268, Milton, 1144, and Waverley, 1322, Ashton-under-Lyne, hereby offer our hearty congratulations on your appointment to the high position of Deputy Grand Master of this province, and beg to assure you of our cordial appreciation of the selection made by the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Le Gendre Nicholas Starkie. Your unvarying courtesy and benevolence during a long and honourable connection with Freemasonry, extending over a period of thirty-three years, have gained the respect and esteem not only of the brethren of this town, but of the province generally, whilst the satisfactory manner in which you have discharged the various duties of the distinguished offices you have previously held indicates to us that you are eminently fitted for that most extensive and devoted sphere of usefulness which your recent appointment has opened. The special ceremony of to-day affords us the additional pleasure of having to congratulate you on laying the north-east corner stone of Holy Trinity Church in this borough, with the ancient, appropriate, and impressive rites of our Order, and we sincerely hope that the sacred edifice thus auspiciously commenced may, when completed, be the means of improving the moral and religious character of the district, and thus tend to promote the honour and glory of the Most High. We fervently pray that the Great Architect of the Universe may continue to you the blessings of health and prosperity, and that you may live for many years to be an ornament of our institution, a pattern of every moral and social virtue." The address was signed by the officers of the various lodges.

The Chairman thanked the meeting for the compliment they had paid him, and for the address they had presented to him. For 33 years he had been a member of the Craft, and he had never regretted the step he took at his initiation. (Applause.) In whatever position he held it had always been his desire to do his duty, and if his efforts met with the appreciation of his fellow townsmen he was thankful. (Loud applause.)

Bro. Kershaw, W.M. of Minerva Lodge, No. 300, proposed "The Provincial Grand Officers for East Lancashire, Past and Present."

Bro. J. H. Sillitoe, Prov. G.D.C., responded, and said the Freemasons had that day fulfilled one of their great missions, viz., laying the corner stone of a building wherein the name of the Great Architect of the Universe would be worshipped, and they had added one more link to the chain which bound them as Freemasons to the reverence of the Most High. Ancient Masonic history shewed them the interest taken by our ancestors in building temples for religious purposes, many of which had been entirely built by their body, and although their ranks were not now confined to operative Craftsmen they still cherished those old tenets on which the Institution was founded and maintained in integrity the watchwords of brotherly love, relief, and truth, and their lodges to the best of their ability exercised the great virtue of charity.

Bro. Hooper proposed "The Provincial Grand Masters and Officers of the Neighbouring Provinces, Past and Present," to which the Chairman responded, and he concluded by proposing "The Worshipful Masters of Lodges Minerva, Union, Milton, and Waverley," which Bro. J. Kershaw, W.M. of Minerva, acknowledged.

Bro. Dr. Lees said the manner in which the proceedings of that day had been carried out reflected the highest credit on the Masonic committee, whose healths he proposed, coupling with the toast the names of Bros. Siddall and Burrows.

Bros. Siddall and Burrows acknowledged the compliment, and the giving of the toast "To all poor and distressed Masons," brought the proceedings to a close.

The following is a list of the committee who carried out the arrangements:—Bros. James Kershaw, W.M. (Chairman); W. T. Wilde, S.W.; Thomas Peak, J.W.; Joseph Burton, P.M.; William Ogden, P.S.W.; George Dalgleish, I.G. of the Minerva Lodge; J. C. Whitehead, W.M. (vice-chairman); J. Turner, S.W.; James Andrew, J.W.; James Holmes, P.M.; S. H. Smith, P.M.; A. W. Siddall, P.M. of the Union Lodge; James Devaney, W.M.; Abraham Hill, S.W.; Alfred Clayton, J.W.; James Pollitt, P.M.; David Benjamin Radcliffe, P.M.; W. H. Holt, P.M. of the Milton Lodge; Richard Greaves, W.M.; James P. Willis, S.W.; Alfred Wilkinson, J.W.; John Ashworth, P.M.; Walter Newton, P.M.; Thomas Lees, P.M. of the Waverley Lodge; A. W. Siddall, Hon. Treasurer; John Burrows, Lodge Union, Hon. Secretary.

Masonic and General Tidings.

GRAND ORIENT OF EGYPT.—The Grand Lodge of England has recognized the Grand Orient of Egypt since July 12th.

The Marquess of Ripon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1489, now meets every Monday evening at seven o'clock, at the Pembury Tavern, Amhurst Road, Hackney. Bro. Wm. Stephens, P.M. 1365 and 1489, is the Preceptor, and Bro. James Hanney, the Treasurer.

The Annual Court of the Governors of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution will be held at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, on Wednesday, the 4th prox., at 12 o'clock.

Our readers will see by our report of the laying of the corner stone of the new wing to the Girls' School at Battersea Rise that it is expected Her Royal Highness, the Princess of Wales will open the building in May next.

WEST SMITHFIELD LODGE, No. 1623.—The consecration of this lodge took place on Thursday last at the New Market Hotel, King-street, Smithfield. A full report of the interesting proceedings will appear in the SECOND EDITION of the "FREEMASON," which will be published early on Saturday morning.

GREAT CITY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION No. 1426.—The ceremony of installation will be worked on Thursday, September 28th, at 6.30 p.m., at No. 111, Cheapside, E.C., by Bro. J. Seax, P.M., W.M. elect of the Great City Lodge, No. 1426. Bro. James Stevens, P.M., P.Z., will deliver a lecture on the Tracing Board. Brethren are cordially invited to attend.

The Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1571, resumed its meeting at the Woolpack Tavern, Bermondsey-street, on Monday, Sept. 4th, 1876, and had a numerous attendance of the brethren, when some good work was done under their able and respected Preceptor, Bro. David Rose, P.M. The lodge meets punctually at eight o'clock every Monday evening. Members of the Craft wishing to advance in Freemasonry, by attending this lodge of instruction will be sure to obtain their desired end.

A special lodge of emergency will be held by the Carnarvon Lodge, No. 804, on Monday next, the 18th inst., at three o'clock, at the lodge-rooms, Havant (near the railway station), when and where the R.W. Provincial Grand Master of Hants and the Isle of Wight, Bro. W.W. B. Beach, M.P., assisted by his Provincial Grand Officers, will dedicate the new lodge-room.

The ceremony of installation will be worked in the Southwark Lodge of Instruction, No. 879, Southwark Park Tavern, on Wednesday, the 27th inst. Brethren are respectfully invited.

Bro. Sir Edward Lechmere, the restorer of Tewkesbury Abbey, is now building a "chapter-house" at St. John's-gate, Clerkenwell, which well-known historic place he has acquired.

We are asked to state that, in accordance with a request of a committee which has been formed in Constantinople for the relief of the distress in Bulgaria, without distinction of nationality or religion, the London agency of the Imperial Ottoman Bank is prepared to receive subscriptions for that purpose.

We are very pleased to learn that Bro. the Rt. Hon. the Marquis of Tweeddale, Past Grand Master of Scotland, is progressing most favourably after his recent accident, and, notwithstanding his great age, no serious consequences are apprehended.

It is said that the last few years has witnessed a return of Jews to Palestine from all parts. The Hebrew population of Jerusalem is now probably double what it was ten years ago.

THE BIBLE IN GREECE.—The American Minister at Athens, General Meredith Read, has succeeded in obtaining from the Greek Government a revocation of the order forbidding the sale and circulation of the Bible and of the British and American Bible Societies' publications in Greece.—"Morning Post."

ARCHÆOLOGY.

The first theory to which I wish to call attention, and point out carefully its facts and its difficulties, is the guild theory. That a guild system existed is undoubted, and that it was a Roman institution, accepted and worked out by the Anglo-Saxons, is, I think, undoubted also, for several reasons. Toulmin Smith seems to lean to the idea that it was an Anglo-Saxon institution, but I think that he was quite wrong, and that Mr. Coote is quite right who derives the Anglo-Saxon "gild," or guild, from the "Collegia Privata" of the Romans. It would be far too long a narration to explain here in what this similarity between the two systems consisted, so as to prove that the Anglo-Saxon is the continuation of the Roman, and I hope to do it shortly in another place. But suffice it to say that a very great likeness exists, and that there can be little doubt that Mr. Coote is right in asserting the Roman origin of the guild system. As I said before, the guild system existed, but of it until lately we knew next to nothing. I am now talking of the Craft guilds, of which the Masons was one, especially, though even of the pure religious guilds not much more was known to us. There are still in the Record Office many hundred returns from guilds tempore Richard II., of which Toulmin Smith published a few, and there are probably also in the Prerogative Court many guild certificates, in which depository, a few years ago, Mr. Tyssen found the rules and ordinances of four London secular guilds, and two German religious guilds. Mr. Coote's view of the case may be best given in his own words,—"It is unnecessary to say that every guild was isolated, and independent of all others of the same description. This is traditionally said to have been the constitution of the guilds of Freemasons, now called lodges. (Mr. Coote is not, we believe, a Freemason.) Originally they were like other guilds, distinct communities, neither affiliated to nor dependent upon any other association of the same Craft. At the beginning of the present century (perhaps at the end of the last) through extraneous influences, a hierarchical system was introduced into Freemasonry, and all the independent lodges (or guilds) submitted themselves to one lodge in London as their chief, at the same time surrendering to the latter their Royal charters, or licences, and their ordinances. These were probably all destroyed by the central authority at the time of the surrender. Copies of the charters, however, will possibly be found in the Record Office amongst the returns under the 12th Richard II., and Mr. Tyssen's discovery shows it to be more than probable, that the rules and ordinances are registered in some of the ecclesiastical courts, where they will be discovered whenever a search shall be made for them. When they shall be found we may assure ourselves that Von Hammer's hypothesis of Bakhomet will not hold good, still less will Mithra's, another and a later theory, stand a chance of being accepted." The exact place where the returns 12th Richard II. are still extant, as we see, on referring to Toulmin Smith's guilds, where we find that these returns are known at the Record Office as "Miscellaneous Rolls Lower Records," and were sent up in 1399. They are called certificates of guilds in 1842, but they are probably only a part of the returns, and we may perhaps find copies of many more in local prerogative courts, and amid chapter and collegiate muniments. It is perhaps not generally known that by the 37th Henry VIII., c. 4 (1545), and by the 1st Edward VI., c. 14, the property of all the "brother hedds and guylde" were confiscated by the Crown, and all their records and the like seized. So that by the end of the 16th century the guild system may be said to have been dissolved. What, then, is the connexion as between our speculative Grand Lodge to-day, and this old guild system? Simply this, our speculative system is only a perpetuation of the guild system, of course with great and needful modifications. It is quite clear from Ashmole and from Plot's evidence, that towards the middle of the 17th century a Masonic Order existed, exactly akin to our own. This is even more clear from Plot's words than Ashmole's diary. The meeting in London, 1682, at which

Ashmole was present, was not that of the Mason's Company, nor was it of a pure operative Order, but was clearly of a fraternity, as at Warrington in 1646, partly operative, partly speculative. We must not lay too much stress on condensed statements and loose terminology; but evidence there is plenty to show, that the Freemasonry to which Plot alluded, and into which Ashmole was admitted, is practically identical in general with our own at this hour. In order to get out of the difficulty of this continuation of identical existence, the "social theory" has been put forward, making in fact a third system, but it will not, to use a common adage, "hold water." Neither is it a good answer to the guild theory to say that our present ceremonial is not that of the guilds, and is modern;—modern in the sense of the word it certainly is not, as many are its undoubted archaisms. But it is quite sufficient to point out on this head, that no doubt our present ceremonial, while it is an elaboration of the revived Grand Lodge of 1717, has kept the "landmarks" which were then in existence, as handed down by the brethren who formed part of the Old St. Paul's Lodge, and the other Masons who were congregated in speculative Grand Assembly in 1717. The evidence of Scotland has been adduced to prove the modernity of our present system, and its parentage from the pure speculative system. But I think too hastily. If the evidences of Scotland are carefully gone through seriatim, it will be found that there is some direct and a good deal of implied evidence in favour of distinct and well known severances and secrets of grades. That the records only allude to the First Degree is but natural, and it may be doubted if any minutes, until late in the last century, were kept of any but the First Degree. There were, for instance, many "Master's lodges" in the middle of the last century—where are their minutes now? Lessing stated, and his hasty words have been accepted by some as truth, that no evidence existed of the word Freemason being in use until the beginning of the 18th century, and two recent American writers have reproduced his words as if of undoubted authority, and as if they unsettled the question. But Lessing is most undoubtedly wrong. There is plenty of MS. and even printed evidence, to produce that Freemason was a well-known word in use before Ashmole's time. There is the MS. evidence of "Wm. Horwood, Freemason," who contracted to build Fotheringhay Chapel in 1436; there is a record of John Wood, Masoun, 13th Henry VI., 1439, who made a contract with the Abbot of St. Edmundsbury for the repairs and restoration of the great bell tower, "in all manner of things that longe to Freemasonry." Some have even said that William of Wykeham in his will nearly a hundred years before, when he talks of "et alios sufficientes discretos et in illa arte approbatos," alludes to the "accepted" Freemasons, but perhaps this is really and truly only "post hoc propter hoc," and is hardly reliable as evidence, though undoubtedly the words are peculiar and seem to have a special meaning. I know of none like them used elsewhere. The first use of "Freemason" in Scotland, Bro. D. Murray Lyon tells us, is in 1636 under the name "Frie Mesones," the Frieman Maissons" seems to be in use as early as 1600. From 1600, and indeed a little earlier, the name of "Freemason" is to be found in Registers of burials and the like continuously. Hence it is clear that Lessing's assertion is perfectly untenable. I do not say that the guild theory is free from difficulty, but in my opinion it is the most free in comparison with others, and after I have gone through the other three theories of Masonic history, I will sum up in a concluding communication the pros and cons for the Guild theory evidentially.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.—Owing to some difficulty in the way, the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the Western Division of Lancashire early next month will take place at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, and not at the Pomona Gardens, Manchester. Owing to limited accommodation, it is said that only Masters and Wardens will be admitted on this occasion. This arrangement (which is very fortunately novel in Freemasonry) is sure to cause great dissatisfaction amongst other officers and private members, and it is to be hoped that even now some place should be secured where the whole of the lodges may be present if they desire to attend.

YORKSHIRE ARCHÆOLOGICAL SOCIETY.—The Yorkshire Archæological and Topographical Society had their tenth annual excursion on Wednesday, Halifax being selected as the centre. Col. Akroyd, late member for Halifax, was president of the meeting. The excursion was under the direction of Mr. Fairless Barber, F.S.A., one of the hon. secretaries. The members and friends assembled in great numbers at Halifax parish church in the morning, where they were welcomed by the Rev. F. Pigou, M.A., the vicar, who hinted that he should like to see a restoration of the church by the removal of the galleries, throwing open the nave to the west door, and the removal of the pulpit from the midst of the nave to near the chancel. The pewing and galleries are of old date. Mr. Barber read a paper, prepared by himself and a Mr. E. J. Walker, of Halifax, on the antiquities and history of the church, which is of fine proportions and of great length. Though a church existed here in Norman times, he assigned to the oldest part of the present edifice—a part of the north wall of the nave aisle—no higher date than the 13th century, the windows there showing something of the transition from the early English to the Decorated. An eminent local antiquary, Mr. F. A. Leyland, has conjectured that this may be of Saxon origin. The rest of the church Mr. Barber believed to be wholly perpendicular, dating mostly from the 15th century. The east end, indeed, was completed in 1480, and there was documentary evidence showing that the tower was begun in 1450, and took 20 years in building. The Rokeby Chapel was added in 1521, and the Holdsworth Chapel in 1534. The pewing of the floor of the church, in black oak, was done in 1634. The chantries and altars, the registers and other interesting features were referred to at some length. Several ancient books from the library of the church were shown, as also the registers, which date from the early part of the 16th century. These last record the burial of many people in front of their own dwellings who died of the plague, of others who were beheaded under the Halifax Gibbet Law, and the baptism of Archbishop Tillotson, who was born in the parish at Haugh-end. The party next visited Shibden-hall, an old house, partly timber-built, which dated from early in the 15th century. An account of it was read by Mr. John Lister, the owner, and the quaint old dining-hall and bedrooms were inspected. Some ancient armorial glass in the windows is of great interest to local families. The party thence returned to Halifax, where luncheon was provided at the Assembly Rooms. There was an exhibition at the Museum, adjacent, of old deeds and manuscripts, principally local, together with drawings of the old mansions in the district, and a collection of tiles and pottery from the Roman station of Cadmalodunum. At the luncheon the secretary announced that the society contemplated the exploration of the site of Byland Abbey—a work which has never yet been undertaken, and towards this the Duke of Norfolk has promised a donation of £50. Leaving Halifax by train the party visited the extremely interesting church of St. Mary, at Elland, the greater part of which is perpendicular, but which has an early English chancel arch. Mr. Barber having pointed out some of the leading features of the church, Mr. James Fowler, F.S.A., read a paper on the east window. This was filled with stained glass at the latter end of the 15th century. It is five lights, and the subjects, arranged in panels, with explanatory inscriptions in Latin, are taken from the life of the Virgin Mary, in whose name the church is dedicated. Mr. Fowler extremely regretted that the window was "restored" 20 years ago, certain of the panels being filled with new glass. Strange to say, the whole character of the subject was mistaken, and the new panels portray incidents in the life of our Lord. The visit to Elland Church closed the meeting, which was one of great interest, but was somewhat marred by the rain which fell in the latter part of the day.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The monthly meeting of the Committee of this Institution was held on Wednesday last, Col. Creaton in the chair, J. Smith, J. M. Stedwell, A. H. Tattershall, John G. Stevens, C. A. Cottebrune, R. Wentworth Little, James Brett, W. Hilton, H. G. Warren, Wm. Stephens, S. Rawson, Benj. Head, Dr. Jabez Hogg, Thos. Cubitt, W. Hale, F. Adlard, John Constable, H. Massey ("Freemason"), and Jas. Terry, Sec.

The Secretary communicated the information to the Committee of the death of four annuitants.

The Warden's report informed the committee of the reception of one annuitant into the Institution, and the death of one widow. It also conveyed the intelligence of the good health of all the inmates of the asylum, and that they were much gratified at the entertainment lately given to them with such great success. The report also conveys to the brethren who gave the entertainment their best thanks for the same.

Authority was afterwards given to the Chairman to sign cheques; and

Two petitions were received from poor brethren.

Bro. Terry then read a letter from Bro. J. Norris, Warden of the asylum, thanking the committee in the name of himself and the other inmates, for the increase in the annuity lately made.

Bro. Terry also read a letter from the son of the late Mr. Walkley thanking the brethren for the kindness his late mother had received whilst an inmate of the asylum.

The Committee then adjourned.

HOLLOWAY'S REMEDIES are much used in various inflammatory states of the system, and the very greatest advantage is derived from their use when the blood has become impoverished from the excess of any kind, and the general health debilitated from the same cause. It is needless to specify the numerous ill effects, persons suffer from, who have overtaxed their powers; they are sufficiently obvious to all, and these effects are both physical and mental. No one, however, need despond about himself, for, by attacking the source of the evil with a fixed resolution to conquer it, the battle is half won. Holloway's remedies properly and judiciously used impart nutrition to the blood, and restore to the nerve cells their natural tone.—ADV.

[The following appeared in our Second Edition of last week.]

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE OF THE NEW WING.

On Thursday afternoon the first or corner stone of the new wing to the school building at Battersea Rise was placed in position by Bro. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, V.P., in the presence of the children, the governesses, the matron, the servants, the committees and office-bearers, and the representatives of the other Masonic charities. There was no great display, but everything was arranged to be in a quiet unostentatious way, the brethren relying for their reward more on the practical good they were doing than on any amount of praise they might receive for a successful and attractive ceremony. The growing want of the Order for a larger building for the reception of more pupils having, as our readers will have noticed from time to time by our reports, engaged the attention of the committees the matter was taken in hand during the present year, and a resolution was come to that the number of children to be admitted into the Institution should be increased. As the building was already full this could not be accomplished, though the funds at the disposal of the brethren were ample. Numerous suggestions were made as to what was advisable to be done, and schemes were invited as to the plan to be pursued. Some brethren suggested that another and larger building should be erected elsewhere, and others that the nucleus of a future large school in the shape of a separate establishment for the younger children should be built a long distance from town, where land was cheap and plentiful. But the scheme which was adopted was that of Col. Creaton, who proposed that a wing should be added to the present building, capable of receiving several additional children. It was proposed that this should be built at the north east corner of the existing structure where some ground could be spared from the garden, and where the proposed addition could be built of such a size as to give room for a large hall, numerous offices, and several dormitories. The plans of Bro. Thomas Massa, Architect, were accepted, as were also the tenders of Bro. C. Fish, the builder, and the building was at once proceeded with. Considerable progress has been made with the new building, and by Thursday last it had arrived at the stage where the corner stone, which will perpetuate the date of building, could be set. Punctually at four o'clock everything was in readiness, and a procession was formed in the exercise-room, which marched, while two of the pupils played on the piano, to the platform erected for the purposes of the ceremony in the following order:—The porter; the women servants; assistant governess, Miss Davis; the matron, Miss Jarwood, and her assistant; the collector; the Secretary, Bro. Little (with documents to place in the cavity of the stone); Hon. Officers; the Treasurer, Bro. Tomkins (with bottle for coins and documents; Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. J. W. Mills Ellison; the Secretaries of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, Bro. Binckes, and the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Bro. Terry; Audit Committee; Building Committee; the senior member of House Committee, Bro. B. Head (with inscribed plate); the Chairman of Building Committee, Col. Creaton, as M.M. to lay the stone; the Clerk (in attendance on Chairman).

The brethren then present were Bros. Colonel Creaton, Samuel Tomkins, Benj. Head, Joshua Nunn, John Boyd, Thomas W. White, J. A. Rucker, H. A. Dubois, H. Browne, Colonel Burdett, A. H. Tattershall, Dr. Eady, E. M. Hubbock, S. Rosenthal, J. A. Farnfield, R. B. Webster, W. Hyde Pullen, R. W. Evans, W. F. Collard Moutrie, F. Binckes, Capt. J. Wordsworth, James Terry, H. C. Levander, H. Muggeridge, Morgan, jun., H. Massey ("Freemason"), and R. W. Little (Secretary), besides Bros. Massa and Fish, the architect and builder.

Bro. Samuel Tomkins, as the Senior Trustee present, first addressed Col. Creaton as the Chairman of the building Committee to act as Master Mason in performing the ceremony of laying the chief corner stone. Having assented to the request, Col. Creaton prepared to do the work by taking his position as Master Mason, assuming his apron and collar of Past Grand Deacon of England. This was the only Masonic regalia worn throughout the ceremony. All things being now in readiness, Bro. Massa, addressing the Colonel, said:—

Following the time-honoured custom of our ancient brethren, we have made preparation for you to lay the chief corner-stone of the intended structure at the N.E. corner of the Large Hall, in order that the earliest rays of the morning sun may shed benign influence on our work. Does the place so selected, and our motive, meet with your approval and sanction?

Col. Creaton replied: It does! The wisdom and ancient customs of our forefathers deserve our respect, and should not be lightly disregarded or departed from. We sanction and approve both the place and the motive for adopting it.

He then requested Bro. Little to read the document to be deposited in the cavity of the stone. Bro. Little did so, as follows:—

"Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, St. John's Hill, Battersea Rise, S.W. This, the foundation-stone of the buildings to be erected in extension of the above institution was laid by the Chairman of the Building Committee, W. Bro. Lieutenant-Colonel John Creaton, P.G.D., Vice Patron and Trustee, on Tuesday, the 7th September, 1876, in the presence of the Committees of the School, Bro. Thomas Massa, architect, Bro. Charles Fish, builder, Building Committee; the Treasurer and Trustees, Bro. John Boyd, J.G.P.; Henry Browne, P.G.D.; Henry A. Dubois, Benjamin Head, P.G.D.; Peter De Lande Long, Joshua Nunn, P.G.S.B.; Lieut.-Col. James Peters, John A. Rucker, P.G.D.; Griffiths Smith, P.G. Steward; Alfred H. Tattershall, Rev.

Joseph M. Vaughan, Thomas W. White, P.G. Steward; R. Wentworth Little, Secretary."

Accompanying this was the same inscription rendered into Latin by Bro. H. C. Levander, M.A., a member of the Audit Committee, and which Bro. Little also read as follows:—"Hunc Lapidem fundamentum novum aedificii adjuncti scholae pro filiabus Latomorum institutae solemniter posuit coram aedum curatoribus praeses Fratrum ad hoc opus conficiendum delectorum Johannes Creaton, Praefectus Militaris, hujus collegii propatorus et Fiduciarius, Die Jovis A.D. VII. Idus Septembris Anno Salutis MDCCCLXXVI Praesentibus etiam Thoma Massa, Architecto, Carolo Fish, Redemptore, Roberto Wentworth Little, Scriba, Aliisque Fratribus delectis."

Bro. Little delivered this document to Bro. Samuel Tomkins, who placed it in the bottle containing coins, and gave to the solicitor to seal. This having been done, it was deposited in the cavity of the bed stone. Bro. Benj. Head read the inscription on the plate which was to cover the cavity, and having read it he placed it over the cavity, pronouncing the words, "May this record long remain undisturbed for the information of future generations," though it is not very clear how future generations are to get the information from this plate, unless the corner stone is removed, which, to say the least, would be undesirable. The next step in the proceedings was for Colonel Creaton to rise and advance to the stone, which he did, saying, "Bro. Architect and Operative Masons, we are ready to assist you in your labours." To this Bro. Massa replied:—"We are grateful for your aid, and shall derive encouragement from your example. We beg you will accept this trowel with which, having executed the work, we hope may afterwards be a pleasant memento of to-day's labour, and a token of the honour and esteem you are held in by all connected with this Institution. May the cement you will now spread with it be an emblem of that pure bond of union which connects Freemasonry with all good works."

Bro. Massa then presented a handsome silver trowel to Colonel Creaton.

Col. Creaton receiving the trowel spread the cement on the bed of the understone, and then turning to the East said, "Let the blessing of Heaven be supplicated on our present work."

The Chaplain offered up prayer for a blessing; the brethren responded "so mote it be."

Col. Creaton raised his trowel as a signal, and the children sang the anthem

"Thine, O Lord, is the greatness."

The stone was gradually lowered by three distinct motions at the words "Power," "Glory," and "Victory," and Col. Creaton guiding it to its proper base with the handle of the trowel, which he then delivered to the builder.

Bro. Massa presented him with the setting maul, saying, "The stone being at rest we pray you to assume the setting maul and test its stability in the name of the four cardinal virtues."

Col. Creaton receiving the setting maul struck the stone on the four corners, saying, "With Temperance, Fortitude, Prudence, and Justice let our work be founded."

The square was then presented to the M.M. by the Foreman of the Works; and Bro. Massa asked "Is our ashlar square?"

Col. Creaton proved it, and answered, "It is square, and set at a right angle with the work." He then handed the square to the Builder.

The Level was likewise so presented. Bro. Massa asked, "Is it also set level?" Col. Creaton proved it, and answered, "It is so, and firmly bedded equal East, West, North, and South," and handed the level to the Builder.

The Plumb Rule was likewise so presented; and Bro. Massa asked, "Is it adjusted plumb?"

Col. Creaton proved it and answered: "It is plumb; a perfect ashlar, truly adjusted, upright on its proper base," and handed the plumb rule to the builder.

Bro. Massa said: "This chief corner stone being square, level, and good, I pray you, M.M., certify the work and declare it good."

Col. Creaton took the setting maul in his right hand, and gave three knocks on the stone with the words, "Ask, and ye shall have," "Seek and ye shall find," "Knock and it shall be opened," adding "By the power in me vested, and in the name of the Great Architect of the Universe, I declare this stone well and truly laid." Handing the setting maul to the builder, he said, "May the work thus begun in order be conducted in peace and completed in harmony."

Bro. Massa presented the drawings, saying "Deign, Master Mason, to inspect and sanction the whole design," to which

Col. Creaton answered: "I will do so with pleasure," and then handed them to the builder, saying, "With the tools you have already received, and these instructions, may you raise a superstructure perfect in its parts and honourable to the builder."

The brethren responded, "So mote it be," and Colonel Creaton resuming his seat, said: "With the gifts of the Great Architect of the Universe, let this memorial be blessed and consecrated." Bro. Joshua Nunn scattered the stone with corn, Bro. J. A. Rucker sprinkled wine on it, and Bro. H. Browne dropped oil.

The Treasurer advanced to the stone, and placed some money on it for the workmen, saying—"It is written, 'Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn.' To the Foreman—"Let refreshment sweeten the labour of the Craftsmen."

Col. Creaton rose and said: "Let the blessing of heaven be invoked on the future operations," and the Chaplain pronounced the invocation. All the children then sang a hymn.

And this concluded the ceremony.

The procession reversed in order, then left the platform and proceeded to the building. Later on in the evening, a small but elegant banquet was partaken of, which was followed by the usual toasts. Col. Creaton presided, and after the toast of "The Queen" had been honoured, the Chairman in giving that of "The Prince and Princess of Wales," said he hoped that in May next, when the building would be finished Her Royal Highness would perform the ceremony of opening.

The Chairman in proposing "Success to the Masonic Institution" said that all the brethren would be pleased that Bro. Little was back again, though he was sorry to say he was not even now enjoying very good health. He was, however, very much better, and he hoped the improvement would be lasting. The Girls' School was fortunate in having so good a Secretary, and one who did his work so well. He (the Chairman) was sure on the day when Bro. Little was elected that he would turn out a trump, and his prediction had been verified. The Secretaries of the other Institutions had been obliged to leave early on account of other engagements, but there were representatives of those Institutions in the room who would respond on their behalf.

Bro. Little said that it had fallen to his lot to return thanks for this toast at the meetings of the House Committee, but it had rarely been his duty to speak before such a representative assembly as the present. Not only the executive officers of this institution, but of the other institutions were present. His best interests and his most heartfelt wishes were bound up with the welfare of the Girls' School. Nothing but the blow which had fallen upon him within the last few months, of his health being indifferent, could lessen his exertions on behalf of the institution. His exertions for the school would be nothing if the liberality of the Craft did not second it. This liberality had been widening of late years, and he congratulated the Craft generally and the friends of the institution upon the noble work that had been commenced that day. He was quite sure it would produce many benefits for those who would come after us, and they would all feel pleasure in the reflection that they had done something that day for the children of Freemasons.

Bro. Samuel Tomkins proposed "The Health of the Chairman." The noble Masonic Charities could not be supported unless some brethren could bestow time and attention upon them. Many brethren did this, but Colonel Creaton had distinguished himself by the thoughtful habitual attention he gave to the institution. All the brethren appreciated his efforts fully. Many of them would like to do as much, but their avocations deprived them of the power of doing so; and if they had not those brethren who at considerable personal sacrifice came forward, the institutions would not be in the position which they now occupied, or effect the good they did. The day had been a very interesting one in the history of the charity. They had seen the institution in the course of years proceeding from one point of progress to another. In 1873 a wing was built. Afterwards they had seen the infirmary built, and now the increasing demands of the Craft required an additional building. The first step had been taken satisfactorily, and he believed in the whole process Col. Creaton had taken a great interest. That day must be to Colonel Creaton one of personal triumph, he having been most anxious for the prosperity of the charity, and that the building should do justice to the Craft. It would afford a noble hall, and additional sleeping accommodation, which would enable the Institution to take in a much larger number of girls than at present. It must be to Col. Creaton highly gratifying, and it was gratifying to all the brethren to be present. For himself he (Bro. Tomkins) could only say with some degree of shame that though he was ex-officio member of the committees, his many avocations, and some degree of indifferent health, had prevented him from attending. But it had been a great pleasure to him to be present at that pleasant friendly meeting, and to have the gratification of proposing "The Health of Col. Creaton."

The Chairman said: Bro. Tomkins, I thank you very much for speaking of me so kindly in proposing my health, and I thank you, brethren, for endorsing so cordially what Bro. Tomkins has said. I assure you that it is a great satisfaction to me to-day to know that we have commenced that building which I have thought of so long; in fact, I will not conceal it from you, I have had that building on my brain for the last six months, and I am very glad we have now got so far that it has been commenced in earnest. I am quite sure that when it is completed, and perhaps when many of us have passed away, it will be appreciated; and it will be said by those who follow us that it was the right thing to do. Most of the Building Committee are aware that Mr. Whiting, who is the proprietor of the land adjoining, has lent it to us for the use of the children for a playground. It is extremely kind of him, and we are all of us very much obliged to him for it. I am gratified beyond measure that we have laid the foundation-stone of this new building to-day. I hope it will be a success, and I feel confident that it will. (Cheers.)

The toast of "The Architect" followed, and Bro. Massa responded, and said that although the ceremony of the day had been done in a corner it was a corner of great influence, like the representatives who were present. That influence would be diffused over the whole building, and he hoped when it became a perfect ashlar and a perfect cube it would meet with the satisfaction of the brethren. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Head proposed "The Ladies," referring particularly to those who had charge of the establishment and had brought it to such a state of perfection and discipline, Miss Davis and Miss Jarwood especially.

Bro. Boyd replied.

Bro. Joshua Nunn proposed "The Sister Institutions," for which Capt. Wordsworth, Bro. Hyde Pullen, and Bro. J. A. Farnfield responded. "The Health of Bro. Muggeridge," and his reply brought the speeches to a close, after which the visitors witnessed the amusements of the girls, and returned to town about ten o'clock.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

P.M. CRAFT AND MARK, AND A P.P.G.O.—Letter received, but unaccompanied with name of sender. This must be given before letter can appear.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

- BENBOW.—On the 9th inst., at Paignton, Devon, the wife of V. Benbow, Esq., of a son.
CHATTERTON.—On the 7th inst., at Teesdale Lodge, Brixton-hill, the wife of H. W. Chatterton, of a daughter.
COLE.—On the 10th inst., at Arlington-street, Viscountess Cole, of a son.
DAVIES.—On the 6th inst., at Little Blake Hall, Wanstead, the wife of H. D. Davies, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

- BOUREE—VANDELEUR.—On the 7th inst., at CastleConnell Church, co. Limerick, John Ulick, son of R. Bourke, of Thornfields, D.L., to Elizabeth Agnes, daughter of the late Col. J. Vandeleur (10th Hussars).
BURNETT—CURTIS.—On the 6th inst., at the parish church of St. Nicholas, Sevenoaks, Lindsay Robert Burnett, Esq., adjutant 95th Regt., to Agnes Henrietta, daughter of the late Rev. C. T. Curtis.
CRABTREE—CRANE.—On the 7th inst., at St. John's Church, Hackney, Frederick Crabtree, son of J. H. Crabtree, to Alice Elizabeth, daughter of Stephen Crane, all of Hackney.
HOGARD—WESTON.—On the 9th inst., at St. Clement Danes, Bro. C. F. Hogard, to Elizabeth Weston.

DEATHS.

- AUGER.—On the 6th inst., William Auger, of Burnham, Essex, aged 52.
HAYWARD.—On the 4th inst., at Bridge-road, Battersea, Wm. Hayward, aged 70.
HOGG.—On the 7th inst., at West Cliff, Preston, James Hogg, Esq., aged 64.
JACKSON.—On the 9th inst., at Windmill-road, Croydon, Elizabeth, wife of Mr. F. Jackson.
ROBERTS.—On the 1st inst., at Hastings, John Roberts, Esq., M.A., Fellow of Magdalen College, Cambridge.
ROBERTSON.—On the 24th of June, at her residence, Bunalbo, Clarence River, New South Wales, after a week's illness, Jane, relict of the late William Robertson, aged 63 years. Friends will please accept this intimation.
WALKER.—On the 7th inst., at Dorset-gardens, Brighton, Capt. Leven Walker, R.N., aged 74.
WARD.—On the 26th ult., at Malta, Elizabeth Annie, widow of the late Dr. A. V. Ward, aged 42.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1876.

THE LAST QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION.

We quite rejoice to have to comment on so satisfactory a meeting of Grand Lodge, in the month of September. At that time, generally, its attendance is of the thinnest and the business merely routine. On the present occasion over 300 brethren assembled to consider and discuss the important notices of motion on the agenda paper. We are glad to record that the appointment of an enlarged committee was carried, and that on the reasonable proposal of Bro. Curteis, and the wise suggestion of Bro. McIntyre, the Grand Registrar, the provincial brethren were fully represented on the committee. We trust that we shall have a good report from it and that a reasonable proposal may be made which will command the sympathies of all. Grand Lodge has decided to perpetuate its Royal Grand Master's safe return by some donation, some memorial, and therefore the object ought to be, to try and discover a solution of the whole question, which will be acceptable to all. The committee has a large mission and full powers, and we hope, that in the discharge of its important duty to the Craft, it will, as we feel sure it will, ever keep before it, clearly and consistently, this one great end, the honour of our Grand Master, and the true interest of our Order. It is not a question, happily, into which our party spirit can enter, or on which antagonistic issues need be raised. We do not think that it would be becoming in us to attempt to discuss, as one or two brethren unwisely did in Grand Lodge, what the committee is likely to report, and what should be, so to say, the line it ought to take. It would be neither in good taste nor Masonic form for us to do so, now that the consideration of the subject matter is relegated to an independent committee to deal with and report upon. But we think we may say this; that if any of the Masonic Institutions are to be the channels through which this testimony of the gratitude of Grand Lodge is to be manifested to the public and the Craft, then all should, we venture to think, in some way or other, be put, so to say, on an equality. We make this remark in all deference, but we know that, thus expressing our humble opinion, we are also expressing the opinion of a good many zealous members of the Craft. And here we leave the matter to day, if not "sub-judice," "sub-committee," with every good wish for wise counsels, and a judicious and happy proposal, when in due time that Committee makes its report to Grand Lodge. After the expressed opinion of Grand Lodge it seems very difficult to suggest any other appropriation but a purely Masonic one of some kind or another. Grand Lodge having so decided we bow to its authority, though we could have wished that a larger view had been taken of the matter altogether. One brother has written to us as if there had been "unbrotherly feeling" displayed in the discussions which have arisen out of our worthy brother, the Past Grand Chaplain's original proposal. We are not aware of it, and it is impossible to suppose, that for a brotherhood like ours, so independent and so educated, differences of opinion will not arise. It would be very bad for us all if they did not. But we are "brethren," and having manfully spoken our minds on any subject, if need be, we must harmoniously "agree to differ."

PREJUDICES AGAINST FREEMASONS.

We gave last week from the "Thanet Guardian" the account of a curious episode at Margate, to which our attention was called at once by more than one correspondent. We confess we do not understand why the Watch Committee of the borough of Margate should make the profession of Freemasonry a disqualification for the office of the chief of the police in that good town. Perhaps some brother can throw some light on so extraordinary a proceeding, and we shall be glad if he will give our readers the benefit of his remarks in the pages of the "Freemason." In the meantime we will only say that such regulations of a municipal body are very absurd, and such prejudices very perverse. Freemasons are among the most orderly, loyal, well-principled of mortals, friends always to discipline and decorum, and habitual supporters of the law. What then, and who then, is the cause of such a ridiculous objection? When and by whom was such an instruction to the Watch Committee given, or is it the luminous idea of that intelligent body of citizens? We feel, that in the interests of many members of the police service who are Freemasons, we have a right to ask for an investigation into the matter, and for a reply to these questions. Such difficulties might be raised by an Ultramontane Town Council, or by those who take a hostile view of Freemasonry and Freemasons, but we do not, we confess, understand them when they emanate from an ordinary English municipal body, and we shall hope to hear that there is some mistake in the matter.

THE DETECTION OF CRIME.

The report of the Metropolitan Police, which we commented upon last week suggests several considerations to those who inhabit the metropolis, and are specially interested in the preservation and protection of their persons and property. Indeed, all are interested in the matter more or less, as the efficient working of our police system, alike in repression and in detection, is of paramount importance to the order and well-being of society, the peace and prosperity, and comfort of of us all alike. Nothing so much tends to detract from the progress of civilization, the true liberty of the subject, the conveniences of material affluence, and the simple tranquillity of domestic life, as a state of anarchy or lawlessness, a disposition to riot, outrage, or plunder, which things, as we well know, seriously affect the value of property, and weaken the just prescription of ancient laws and good government. Some of us may remember parts of the country which, before the introduction of the rural police, for instance, were very uncomfortable places to live in, and where quiet people, and timid people, were positively at the mercy of the "area sneak" by day, the crouching burglar by night, in which it was not always safe, for young women especially, to go out after dark, and where personal and general robberies were of daily occurrence. Some of us, we say, can recall in our memories to a similar state of things. Now all these happy amenities of ruffianism are things of the past, and we trust, under the auspices of a well organized urban and rural police, will never again occur. Why, as we write, we can even now recall an old familiar spot where henroosts were regularly robbed the moment there was poultry enough to make the "job" worth anything, where at Michaelmas, the farmers' geese and turkeys invariably disappeared "en masse," where sheepstealing was not unfrequent, and where the plundered were consoled with such a specimen as this of the facetious poetry of thiefdom:—

"You are rich, and we are poor,

When this is done, we'll come for more."

And ours are facts, not fictions—stern realities, which happened before our very eyes, not so many long years ago after all—not the creation merely of a facile and ornate imagination. From Col. Henderson's report it is apparent, we think, that detection follows crime, as a general rule, in the majority of the current crimes of civilization, and that we may fairly assert that the metropolis is well protected, alike at the West-end, as by the effective City police under Col. Fraser, from those offences which would gravely interfere with the happiness and social security of us all alike, and which jeopardize the preservation of property, or menace the public order, peace, and safety. But it seems to us that, notwithstanding this so far satisfactory state of things, there is a defect in our existing system which requires amendment and alteration. We allude to what we may term the "higher detection of crime and criminality." In our free country, and under our good old Constitution, we cannot have, as in other countries, a secret police, and much of the English jealousy on the subject is the fear, no doubt, that a high class body of detectives might be used for political purposes. Though we believe such an idea is a chimera, yet it is one which is characteristically English, and deserves to be treated with respect. That love for the Constitution, and that reverence for law and liberty combined, are, as it were, the clue to the real greatness of the English character, and the permanency and solidity of English institutions. As long as we hold to them fast and firm we are, humanly and politically speaking, safe. But though this be so, there is no reason why we should run into the other extreme and prevent our detective officers carefully and perfectly fulfilling their important "metier." We are all of us aware from time to time of many remarkable robberies, acts of violence, murders, crimes of special nature, which seem to defy detection, and evade the retributive punishment of a stern but tranquil justice. Why should this be so? Of course in all things and all organizations of this earth imperfection and incompleteness are to be found. Nothing is absolutely perfect here, free from actual flaw or possible failure. But still the defect of proper detection is so great a blow to social welfare, and so great a reflection on the administration of the law, and so undesirable on every account, that we should always make the greatest efforts, to use a common expression, to put everything into "ship shape," to tighten up all the links which go to compose the encircling chain of police supervision and detection, as against that "classe dangereuse" which preys, so to say, on the very "vitals of society." We doubt very much whether we do enough to encourage the "esprit de corps" of the detective police. In our humble opinion, detectives should be purely detectives, judiciously and carefully selected from the divisions, and employed solely for detective purposes. A policeman who is acting as a detective to-day, and may be standing at a crossing to-morrow, looking after the light carts and timid old ladies, loses that interest in his special work, which is absolutely essential for the very purpose of detection, and in order to encourage a class of "skilled detectives," we would give higher pay, and special allowances for emergencies, and for clothing, "coloured clothes," as the old soldier's term was, with occasional rewards, and good superannuation pensions. And we feel sure that the expense thus incurred, however it might startle some would-be economists, would not be thrown away, but would save in the long run a large amount of the property of the public, would raise the character of "Scotland Yard," and materially augment the safety of the metropolis. In all this we are not complaining of the detective system now in vogue. What it does do, it does well, it does very well, but we venture to think it might yet do better. There is in London, as elsewhere, in all large towns, and even in rural districts, a class of sleek but ill-conditioned scoundrels, male and female, (and the females are the worst—ask the police), who act as the "fences" of multitudinous light-fingered gentry and femininity. Without their aid and countenance, and "cheek," and skilled criminality, our pickpockets, and housebreakers, would be nowhere. It is this most dangerous class of all, with which only skilled detection can successfully cope, and until it does so, society must be alarmed, and social security impaired by those sadder and startling crimes of humanity which take away our breath for the moment, which apparently are undiscoverable by the police, and only serve to make the fortune of the secret receiver of stolen property, who battens on the plunder of a suffering public.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of, the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

INSTRUCTION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am a provincial brother, staying for a short time in London, and eagerly availing myself of every opportunity to witness the working of Metropolitan Masonry. Influenced by this motive, I visited the Emulation Lodge of Improvement with the most sanguine anticipations, from the high reputation which that lodge enjoys for the precision and accuracy of its working. I retired from the lodge a sadder, though not a wiser man. The Master "gabbled" the ceremony of the Third Degree with considerable fluency and tolerable correctness, but without any attempt at emphasis or impressiveness. The Wardens "bungled," as Wardens will, but did not deem it necessary to repeat correctly the parts in which they had blundered. The Deacons stood not "upon the order of their going," but stumbled, now against each other, now against the candidate, with charming "insouciance." The candidate evidently regarded the whole thing as a bore, and quite succeeded in communicating his feelings to one brother. The Instructor enunciated his corrections in a contemptuous tone of superb pococurantism, without troubling himself in the slightest degree to see them carried out. And this was the Emulation Lodge of "Improvement." Save the mark! In my little country town we should call it a "slovenly rehearsal."

I am, Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

RUSTICUS IN URBE.

THE WIDOW OF THE LATE BRO. FARNFIELD.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have been asked so many questions with respect to Bro. Henry Greene's motion to grant an annuity to my mother, that I think it only fair to state through the medium of your paper, that the notice of motion was given without any previous communication with my mother, brothers, or myself, and, therefore, of course, without our sanction. The notice was not renewed at my earnest request, as I am both able and willing to supplement the income left by my late father so as amply to provide for my mother and sisters.

Bro. Greene knows, and it is, therefore, almost unnecessary to state here, that we are deeply sensible of the good feeling which prompted him to act as he has done in the matter.

By inserting this letter you will greatly oblige, yours fraternally,

J. A. FARNFIELD.

[We publish this letter at the special request of our esteemed Bro. J. A. Farnfield.]

THE "FREEMASON."

Dear Bro. Editor,—

A few days back I accidentally called upon a brother Mason. It was towards the eventide, and the first thing that caught my eye after the formal salutations had subsided was the "Freemason." I took it up, but in so doing the—"there's nothing in it, as usual," was the observation. I put it down again, made no comment, but silently said, I shall get my own on reaching home. I very eagerly enquired, "has my 'Freemason' arrived yet?" The reply was "Yes; I devoured it at the same time I did my dinner, and certainly it helped to digest my solid menu." These are the remarks I wrote round the margin of the paper:—"I don't remember that I have ever read with such pleasure and delight the varied articles that appear in this week's issue; they are really full of intrinsic value, and show the thoughtfulness of the writers and the appreciative worth of the editor. Some of the following particularly drew forth marks of approval on the writer's part, viz.: 'Earnestness in the performance of Masonic duties'; 'Making Lodge Meetings attractive'; 'Let us be Sociable'; 'Some of the Peculiarities,' etc. All these short papers had a charm for me, and I came to the conclusion that there was something 'in it' worth reading and thinking about. More, I am inclined to think that if we Freemasons were more in 'the spirit' we should get at the core and inner part of the essence of our Order's power; but remarks depreciatory, made abstractedly, like the 'nothing in it,' are calculated to lower the blue Standard. I believe in ever raising it high up and above all others, so that our detractors may see rays of light emanate from it; and short papers, such as those mentioned, will soon draw down 'hearty good wishes' for the 'Freemason.'"

AUGEN MASS HABEN.

HISTORY OF THE CRAFT.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am a young Mason and naturally wish to know something of the history of the Craft. Would you, or one of your numerous subscribers kindly inform me of any book that bears on the subject. A reply will greatly oblige, yours fraternally,

[Obtain Findel's History, from Bro. Kenning, 198, Fleet-street.]

BRO. SIMPSON'S MOTION IN GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

May I ask why Durham, the University of the north, has been omitted in the motion proposed by the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Grand Chaplain?

If the project mentioned by him be accepted I certainly think north country Masons will feel very much chagrined that no notice is taken of their claims. As a member of the University of Durham, and an officer of Provincial Grand Lodge, I take the earliest opportunity of pointing out the great injustice of confining the scholarships to the older universities. There are as many old and influential Masons in the north, who, while anxious that the project brought forward by the Grand Chaplain should succeed, would still feel injured if their claims were not also considered.

I trust you will kindly give this letter a place in your valuable columns, and oblige

Very faithfully yours,

W. LEEMAN,

Prov. G. Chaplain of Durham.

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.

(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 5.—EDUCATION.—Continued.

As I am writing these papers for the purpose of information more than discussion, and am stating, I hope inoffensively, my humble views on the subject, having studied it, and practically attended to it for many years, I propose in this paper simply to deal with the matter from its purely scholastic aspect.

It is, I think, happily evident that we have, or soon shall have, sufficient accommodation in our elementary schools for all of school age who can attend them, but it is one thing to have the schools, it is quite another thing to fill them. Unfortunately, the difficulty of attendance is still a grievous difficulty for the schoolmaster. Of the 2,744,300 children on the registers, 2,221,745 were present on the day of inspection, and the average of the yearly attendance was 1,813,800. On both these points considerable improvement must be made, and though we cannot hope that the next report will testify that all the improvement we look for has been arrived at, yet we may fairly trust to a larger average attendance, and to an increased number present on the day of inspection. It will be a happy time for all true friends of education when they are told, that in one way or other the whole school age available for the elementary school is alike on the registers, and even in partial attendance, inasmuch as then our generation will have done its duty, of not allowing any little atom of the aggregate knowledge to grow up in utter ignorance in its very midst. It is to this end that all our efforts should be directed without party zeal or sectarian bias, to extend the area of education, and to increase the roll of the educated. And here there comes in a most important question, "You have the schools, and the children you are rapidly getting in. What about the education given?"

The report very properly complains that the actual education of a large number of the children is still imperfect, and this we must at once concede. But then we feel bound to say this. Education may be said to be partly in a transition state, and the numerous changes of the last four years have rather interfered with the unexcited discharge of the schoolmaster's duties. We are hardly yet settled down to our work, and we must not be too impatient for results, but must leave a good deal to time and toil.

In the meantime we may be satisfied of this, that the general tone and scope of education are rising amongst us, some think are already too high. I do not, for this reason mainly, that those who have had most to do with education know well the shortness of time in which we can educate the children in the elementary schools, and that if children wish to be fully educated they must build on elementary education, an after education of their own, whether in night schools, or Sunday schools or classes, or libraries, or lectures, and the like. I will defy any one (to lay down a minimum of education for a school without doing serious damage, alike to education and the child; and the aim of the true teacher is to impart as much as he or she can in a short time, in a thoroughly sound and lasting manner. I quite admit that the argument at first sight is a formidable one, "do not over educate the child of a working man, for instance, and simply give him the rudiments of a fair education, for if you do you may unfit for him his work." But when you come to look clearly into such an averment, you soon find out its fallacy and its unsoundness.

The child is sent to school to be taught the elementary portion of education, its rudiments, but with a view also, do not forget, to after improvement and self education. No one can seriously venture to contend that school education is all for the child. And what right, moral or individual, have you or I, to fix an arbitrary standard of elementary education, and say to A, B, C, D, "You are the sons and daughters of working people, and, therefore, I will only give you a certain amount of teaching, because if I inspire you with higher tastes, or put you in the way of acquiring higher branches of human learning, you will be rendered unfit for your station in life, and that calling which, humanly speaking, is to be yours?" No one has a right or warrant, so to speak, or so to act; and it is quite clear that those good folks who still advocate educating people to fill their proper places alone, who think the minimum is preferable to the maximum for a large class of our children, have no confidence in education per se.

Remember here, by education, I mean good, sound, useful, religious education, and that I would give liberally and loyally, and unstintingly to all. It is no valid objection to say, as some do, that some may make a bad use of education. So may some people do with anything here, without any exception. Does it belong to us to forecast the future, or limit the onward progress of events? Certainly not! We have no authority and no call to say "a little learning is a dangerous thing," and then build our theory of education on the application of this axiom to the poor little atom by an infinitesimal process of education.

No, we are to do our duty in our time and generation, we are to educate all who ought to be educated, and we are to leave the result confidently in the hands of a higher power than man. Hence, I would give to every child a thorough grounding in reading, writing, and arithmetic up to practice, in dictation, grammar, and history, in music, drawing, geography, and the use of the globes, and last, not least, book-keeping, double entry and English composition. It is impossible in an elementary school, it appears to me, to teach foreign languages, or the higher branches of arithmetic or mathematics. I believe a good deal of harm is done by cramming the children, for instance, with "vulgar fractions," decimals, and the like. I remember seeing years ago a beautifully written "Arithmetic Book, in which some most elaborate sums were entered in a most correct running hand." So I called the boy, and said to him "John Jones, do me this sum on your slate"—divide £10 15s. 6d. (or something to that effect) by 12. The boy looked bothered, glanced at the master, and the master said "You know how to do it, John." I took the slate, and wrote the "dividend," and said "Now, write down the 'Divisor' in its proper place, and do it. The poor boy was quite fast. When next I went to the school the master said to me "I have made John Jones begin from compound multiplication over again." He had done it all mechanically, without understanding it. Hence I am not for too much elaborate work in our schools, and certainly not for show or cram work at all, but for sound, simple, steady grounding in elementary knowledge. The higher work must come afterwards, out of school, or in a middle class school. For I venture to think that all boys should be carefully watched; those who manifest decided aptitude and parts of any kind should be drafted, through exhibitions and the like, to a higher class school, as a preparation for a still better education. Some say such an education as I have sketched out would unfit a boy for work. I do not believe it. Indeed, I know it is not the case. Even if it be so, and as there is no positive good without a probable evil in this world, we have no right to measure our gift or limit our work for fear of either being turned to evil rather than to good.

We are to try to educate elementarily, in the best way we can, for the present and permanent welfare of the child. I do not see why our boys should not have some technical education, though their time is limited, and some think even now we take up too many subjects. As regards the girls, I would add to the existing "curriculum," to use a fine word, the inestimable instruction of cookery. In nothing are our rural lasses, and no doubt our town girls, so deficient, and through no fault of their own.

How many a married couple would fare better, and make their money go much farther, if the wife was up to the first principles of cooking, and knew how to stew, and roast, and boil well, and to make the most of everything, and could turn her hands to many little dishes which would add a great deal to the working man's dinner, and to his children's health. As a rule, in a part of England where I have lived the best years of my life our girls knew how to fry ham, "collops" of bacon, and to make bread, and one or two other usual dishes, but that is all—and we teach them nothing at school about cooking. To stew meat with vegetables, or to make broth, the working classes positively do not know how, and there is enough wasted innocently amongst our hardworking people to make the food of many.

Hence every girl should be taught the elements of cookery, and apt scholars they soon would be. As it is they are so much ahead of the men that this and the next generation will, if they are to be lifted up out of that "slough of despond" which bad habits and bad training have brought many of us into, as often happens in the history of man, to the woman will owe it.

I for one do not disapprove of the girls attending to what is called "fine work" and the like, which some affect to think almost sinful in our schools. So long as the girls can mark, and hem, and sew, and knit well, they are quite right, it appears to me, for many reasons too long to dilate upon now, to take up the finer kind of worsted, tapestry, and crochet work.

On the whole I believe that education is progressing more rapidly than we sometimes think, and since I first began to turn my attention to the subject, alas! now a long while ago, what an improvement in all classes has been going on amongst us happily on every side.

So let us take heart; things are not so bad, I fancy, as they seem, and as I am a believer in a good, sound, religious education, I yet look forward to a time, perhaps when we of this generation are all in our graves, when an educated and God-fearing people shall manifest not only their continuance, alike in loyalty and patriotism to their Sovereign and country, but their great advance in self-restraint of conduct, and in general sobriety of manners, in peace and goodwill one with another, and when an educated person shall be the rule and an uneducated person the exception.

GRAND LODGE.—A SKETCH. COMMUNICATED BY OUR V.P.C.*

"If there's a hole in a' your coats
I rede you tent it:
A chiel's amang you taking notes,
And, faith, he'll prent it."

"And can I really go into Grand Lodge?" exclaimed I the other night, when at the close of a somewhat long day's business, finding that I could not return home till the morrow, I called upon one of my London brethren by way of killing a little of that (alas! often) too spare time. "To be sure you can, old fellow," said he; "just borrow a collar and jewel from our jolly old Tyler, sign your name in a book, get your bone, and there you are!"

I must confess to some little trepidation as I followed my courageous friend through the portals of the dread precincts, especially as at the very threshold I observed a Janitor who would doubtless bar my further progress; to him I addressed myself apologetically, "A young man from the country, but very desirous. . . . Hope I don't intrude; my uncle the late Paul P. Liston used—" "Here! come on," said my friend, "or we shan't get a seat," and without further delay I ascended the noble flight of steps, which (as nobody particular was expected, I suppose) was carpetless. At the top my friend left me for awhile, and I found myself, after clothing in my borrowed plumes, in the presence of the dreaded scrutineers.

"Your name, brother, and number of your lodge?"—"Smith, of No.—let me see—Um? ah, well, I'm exceedingly sorry, but I really forget."

"That's rather a pity, brother, as I'm afraid we shall not readily find you. But, perhaps, you have it on your case?"

Happy thought; so diving once more into the crowd of brethren at the sort of cloak-room provided for their accommodation, I sought my property. After a tremendous struggle with my various pockets I found my ticket, and recovering my missing number, I announced myself as Bro. Paul Pry Smith, of Lodge of Observation, No. 10,002, Mudford-on-Spree."

Having received my pass-check, I found my friend waiting, and passing through the porch, entered Grand Lodge, and beheld one of the finest sights I ever witnessed, but which I need not now describe. Very soon the noble strains of the fine-toned organ burst upon my ear, the procession entered, and a brother of firm but genial aspect took his place before the throne. Grand Lodge having been opened, and our revered Grand Secretary having read the minutes, I was struck with the eager cordiality with which the various gifts were voted to our distressed brethren. Then came a pause before entering upon what was evidently the attractive business of the evening—the giving a thank offering, honouring our Grand Master, and doing ourselves a capital turn by transferring a good round sum from one breeches-pocket to the other, all in one.

Then rose a worthy brother of genial mien, and whose "nostril scented battle from afar." With very "ore rotundo" he began—

"Mr. Frank Buckland recently, in speaking of oysters"—oh! delicious vision. At last, thought I, our very worshipful brother has discovered a splendid mode of carrying out our desire—the very ne plus ultra of selfishness—he is going to propose a vote to the cultivation of our delicious morsel. But think of my disappointment when I found that the oyster was a mere delusive illustration, intended only to "point a moral," and not "adorn a tale" (of oysters), for he only went on to say that Mr. Frank Buckland declared the necessity of heat for their production. Somehow he made out that we didn't want heat, at least, not such heat as was exhibited at the last Grand Lodge, which nipped in the bud the glow of eloquence in which I was going to propose, in the most self-denying manner, to give our very worshipful brother to the cause as a capital generator of the article in question.

To my great disappointment we heard no more of oysters, not even what they had to do with the subject in question, and so after extracting a little kindly mirth from the innocent suggestion of a dear old brother, that some future member of the committee shortly to be elected should first furnish us with a definite idea of what that committee in nubibus meant to do, and helping to put another genial brother in a glorious minority of one, I was fain, after Grand Lodge was over, to solace myself with a few natives in esse which substantial fact, perhaps, accounted for visions of the unveiling of a monument made of oyster shells to Mr. Buckland by a very worshipful brother, the proceedings being enlivened by fitful hammings of a refrain running somewhat thus:

"O wadsome pow'r the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as others see us;
It wad frae monie a blunder free us;
And foolish notion!"

[* We hope that we are not the victims of a "provincial" joke, but we trust to the guarantee of our V.P.C.'s neatly-printed card.—ED.]

* Our Very Provincial Correspondent.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORTH WALES AND SHROPSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of North Wales and Shropshire, over which Bro. Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., M.P., surnamed "The Prince in Wales," presides as the Provincial Grand Master, was held at the Public Hall, Wrexham, on Tuesday, the 5th inst. There was a very large gathering of the fraternity, thus demonstrating that Freemasonry has obtained a strong hold on those resident in the principality. The meeting was held under the banner of the Square and Compass Lodge, No. 1336, which was consecrated in 1871. The gathering was an important epoch in the history of the lodge, marking the date of the first Provincial Grand Lodge meeting in Wrexham, and the opening of a new lodge room at the Public Hall, elegantly and fittingly appointed, gave additional eclat to the meeting. The unusual assembly caused quite a flutter of excitement amongst the "natives," and the greatest interest appeared to be felt in the whole of the day's proceedings, especially in the procession to church, which took place at the close of lodge business. The arrangements made by the brethren of the "Square and Compass" were eminently satisfactory, and were generally approved by the visitors.

Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn, R.W.P.G.M., whose Masonic zeal is so well known throughout Wales, was present, and amongst the more distinguished brethren who supported him were Bros. J. S. Brownrigg, Prov. Grand Master of Surrey, and Past G.W. of England; T. Davison, P.S. G.W. Middlesex; C. Dutton, P.P.S.G.W. Cheshire; W. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P., P.P.S.G.W.; J. Peters, P.P.S.G.W.; W. Blakeway, P.J.G.W.; J. D. White, P.G. Treas.; W. H. Spaul, P.G. Sec.; R. J. Sisson, P.G.S.; A. Walker, P.G.S. of W.; R. Wood, P.G. D.C.; P. H. Evans, P.G.A.D.C.; J. Salmon, P.G. S.B.; J. B. Boucher, P.G. Organist; F. Parmeter, P.G. Pur.; W. Collender, P.G.S.; T. C. Roden, P.P. J.G.W.; Dr. Goldborough P.G.S.; E. H. Hankey,

P.P.G. Reg.; J. B. Hide, P.G. Tyler; W. B. Newnes, P.G.A. Tyler; J. Bodenham, P.G. Pur. Staffordshire, and others. The private members of the lodges in attendance numbered upward of 100, there being no fewer than 35 from the Square and Compass Lodge, and ten from that which bears the P.G.M.'s name at Mold.

The brethren assembled in the lodge-room at 1.30 p.m. for the transaction of some ordinary business, and after this had been disposed of a procession of the Provincial Grand Lodge was afterwards formed, and entered the room, headed by the P.G.M., who was received with tremendous cheering, which, if not strictly Masonic, was at least an evidence of his popularity with the brethren of his province.

After the Provincial Grand Lodge had been received and opened according to ancient form, the Prov. G. Secretary (Bro. Spaul) read the minutes of the meetings held at Bangor, Llandiloes, Newtown, Market Drayton, and Bridgenorth, the four last-named being for the purpose of consecrating new lodges. The minutes were unanimously confirmed. The Prov. G. Secretary read a telegram which he had received from Bro. Banks, Prov. G. St.B., stating that he could not cross from the island of Anglesea in consequence of a storm which was raging.

The roll of lodges was next called by the Prov. G. Sec., when it appeared that, with only two or three exceptions, the whole of the twenty-three lodges within the province were represented. The roll of Prov. G. Officers was also called, and it appeared that there were merely two absent.

The next business was to elect a Treasurer. Bro. J. D. White, anticipating his re-election, expressed a desire to retire from the position which he had held for many years, on account of the pressure of business. The brethren present, however, expressed a hope that he would continue in office, and on the motion of Bro. W. Bulkeley Hughes, P.P.S.G.W., seconded by Bro. W. Blakeway, P.G.J.W., Bro. White was unanimously re-elected. He submitted the balance sheet for the past year, stating that previous to the audit of January, 1875, there was a balance in favour of the Treasurer of £34 5s. 9d.; but he was happy to state that the account was now the other way, as there was a balance in favour of the Provincial Grand Lodge of £80 2s. 4d. Besides this sum in the Treasurer's hands, there was upwards of £200 in the bank, so that they were now in a very prosperous state.

The Prov. G. Secretary moved that, in future, copies of the books of bye-laws should be furnished by the Provincial Grand Lodge, instead of being supplied at the expense of private lodges. The motion was seconded by Bro. Hankey, P.P.G. Reg., and carried unanimously.

On the motion of Bro. Dr. Roden, P.P.G.J.W., seconded by Bro. Lewis, P.P.G.S.W., and supported by Bro. W. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P., P.P.G.S.W., it was resolved to vote the sum of twenty guineas from the Provincial Grand Lodge funds to aid the widow of the late Bro. Humphreys, formerly connected with the Segontium Lodge, No. 606, Carnarvon.

Bro. J. Salmon, P.G.S.B., moved that, in recognition of the four years' services as honorary Secretary performed by Bro. Spaul, the sum of 30 guineas be voted to him, in order that he might constitute himself a life governor of each of the three great Masonic charitable institutions in London. He remarked that it was very desirous that they should seek to increase the voting power of that province in connection with their charities, so that it might stand second to none in the country.—Bro. Peters, P.P.G.S.W., seconded the motion, which was carried by acclamation, and the compliment was acknowledged by Bro. Spaul, who signified his intention of devoting the whole sum to the charities in London.

Bro. D. P. Owen, P.M. 998, moved, "That any bye-laws of the Prov. Grand Lodge of North Wales and Shropshire, which purport to have a power over the funds of the private lodges of the province (except registration and benevolence), but more especially that in which the various lodges are compelled to purchase a copy of the bye-laws for each member of the lodges, should be rescinded, and the bye-laws (if any), wherein lodges are fined for non-attendance at Prov. Grand Lodge." Bro. Owen pointed out the occasional difficulty which many brethren had in attending the Provincial Grand Lodge meetings, and hoped the bye-law with respect to fines for non-attendance would be rescinded. The motion was not seconded, and therefore it fell to the ground.

The P.G. Master said that when he first presided over that province the lodges were not so numerous as they were now, and it was then thought advisable to make the appointments of P.G. Officers for two years, owing to the difficulty of finding brethren for promotion. Now, however, the number of Freemasons had so enormously increased, and the number of lodges as well, that he thought it possible to alter the plan of promotion. Although he was not going to alter it at that time, he thought it was well worth considering whether the same plan should not be adopted as that existing in private lodges—viz., to make the appointments of P.G. lodge officers only for one year. (Applause.)

The R.W.P.G.M. then appointed Bro. W. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P. for the district boroughs of Carnarvonshire, the R.W. Deputy Provincial Grand Master for the province of North Wales and Shropshire, and he was duly installed in his place.

The following brethren were appointed officers by the P.G.M., and also installed in their respective offices:—
G. Owen..... Prov. G.S.W.
J. Salmon..... Prov. G.J.W.
Rev. A. L. Taylor..... Prov. G. Chaplain.
Rev. T. Lloyd Kyffen..... Prov. A.P.G. Chap.
J. D. White..... Prov. G. Treas.
R. J. Sisson..... Prov. G. Reg.
W. H. Spaul..... Prov. G. Sec.
F. Parmeter..... Prov. G.S.D.
R. de la Poer Beraford..... Prov. G.J.D.

W. L. Banks	Prov. G.S. of W.
E. Wood	Prov. G.D.C.
W. Collender	Prov. G.A.D.C.
J. B. Bagnall	Prov. G. Swd. Br.
J. B. Boucher	Prov. G.O.
R. Lloyd Williams	Prov. G. Purst.
J. Thomas, W. Britton, W. Low, and J. Stokes	Prov. G. Stewards.
J. B. Hide	Prov. G. Tyler.
O. Newnes	Prov. G.A. Tyler.

Hearty congratulations having been given to Sir Watkin by representatives from the provinces of Surrey, Middlesex, Cheshire, and Staffordshire, the business of the Provincial Grand Lodge was brought to a close.

The brethren subsequently formed in procession, and proceeded to St. Giles's Church, Wrexham, in the usual order.

On arriving at the door of the church the procession halted. The brethren opened to the right and left, face inwards, so as to leave room for the P.G. Master to pass up the centre, he being preceded by his Standard and Sword Bearers; the P.G. Officers and brethren following in succession from the rear, so as to invert the order of procession. On leaving the church the brethren observed this order of procession by forming as they were on halting at the door of the church.

The service was full choral and was exceedingly well rendered by the choir of the parish church. Bro. J. F. Edisbury, Organist and Treas. 1336, was the Organist during the service, and Bro. Boucher, P.G.O., played the voluntaries, one of which was his own composition. The chants were by Elvey, Rimbault, and Farrant, and the selected hymns were from the "Hymns Ancient and Modern." The Psalms, which were also selected, were chanted.

The prayers were read by the Rev. M. H. C. Shelton, and the lessons by the vicar.

The sermon was preached by the [Rev. A. L. Taylor, P.G. Chaplain, who selected for his text Acts 20th chapter and 35th verse: "Ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive." Having shown how this precept was illustrated in the life of St. Paul, who addressed these words to the Church of Miletus shortly before his last journey to Jerusalem, the rev. gentleman said: Such is what we learn from the text; and if we are really convinced of its truth we shall be glad of the opportunity to manifest it by our offerings this day. It is, I am sure, needless for me to enter into particulars connected with the two important objects in whose behalf I am privileged to make an earnest appeal to you. To the heart of every one of my brethren the education and advancement in life of the [children of distressed or deceased Freemasons must commend itself most warmly, and I would, in language that is well known to every member of the Craft, remind them of that virtue which may justly be denominated the distinguishing feature of Freemasonry—I mean charity. I need not here dilate on its excellences. Doubtless it has often been felt and practised by you; it has the approbation of heaven and earth, and like its sister, mercy, it blesseth him who gives and him who receives. In a society so widely spread as that of Freemasonry, whose branches are spread over the four quarters of the globe, it cannot be denied that we have many brethren of rank and opulence among us; neither can it be concealed that among the thousands who range under its banners there are many who from circumstances of unforeseen misfortune or calamity are reduced to the lowest state of poverty and distress. It is in behalf, then, of the children of those who through age, sickness, infirmity, or any other unforeseen accident in life, may be reduced to want, and whose situation it is much more easy to conceive of than to express, that I do with all earnestness entreat for your liberal and bounteous aid this day, so that we may confirm the propriety of the title we bear, and show that brotherhood among Masons is something more than a mere name. And with respect to the other object in support of which a portion of the offerings this day are to be devoted, there is no need to show that the Wrexham Infirmary is a cause that plainly falls under the exhortation of the text, "Ye ought to support the weak." In caring for those who are unable to care for themselves to the extent their need requires, and at a time when for the sake of others the greatest care is indispensable, the Wrexham Infirmary has proved a true Samaritan and house of Bethesda; and we may show our appreciation of the benefits it has conferred, as well as enable it to continue its work of mercy, by making it, as I have said, one of the objects of your offerings this day. My brethren, it is the glory of our country that such provision for those who are unable to provide it for themselves is the rule and not the exception; that the advantages of medicine, skill, and care are extended to them during the time of sickness; and that they are nursed with the same unvaried care as the wealthiest and noblest in the land. It is not unfrequently happens that they return home not only healed in body but in the way of finding health for their souls. Such is the appeal to us. Let us respond to it as those who do understand in some measure the blessedness of which the text speaks. If we really love and serve Christ, we shall give because of the blessing by and by, because we shall be glad to minister to whatever helps to alleviate human suffering and misery. We shall give as those who see and feel the meaning of the words, "Christ loved me, and gave Himself for me," and thus give from a conviction that derives its principal satisfaction from a remembrance and realisation of the greatest of all God's gifts to us, even His own Son, which in its blessedness knows no end. Given in perishable money, it is written in books that will outlive the world. It will be returned a hundredfold in heaven. Works, we know, can save no man's soul, yet without works, the result of faith, there is no evidence of faith being saving, and, therefore, no guarantee of the soul's salvation. Brother in Christ, "be merciful after thy power. If thou hast much, give plentifully; if thou hast little, do thy diligence gladly, and give of that little, so gatherest thou thyself a good reward in the day of necessity."

Hymn 373, "Lord of Glory, who has bought us," was then sung, and a collection amounting to over £21 was made in aid of the North Wales and Shropshire Masonic Charitable Association, and the Wrexham Infirmary.

Bro. J. B. Boucher, P.G.O., then played a voluntary, and the procession left the church, proceeding down High-street to the Wynnstay Arms Hotel.

The banquet was served at this hotel by Bro. J. B. Murless, and about 120 brethren sat down under the presidency of Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart., M.P., R.W. P.G.M., being supported on his right by Bro. Lieut.-Gen. Brownrigg, C.B., P.G.M. of Surrey; Bro. W. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P., D.G.M. of North Wales and Shropshire; and on his left by Bro. W. Low, W.M. of the Square and Compass Lodge, No. 1336, and the officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge. The general company also included the following visiting brethren:—Bros. J. B. Murless, S.D.; E. B. Smith, I.P.M. 1432; W. Jones, 1488; R. Woodcock, W.M. 1369; T. Rymer, 86; Prescott; H. Lloyd, S.; Coxhead, D. Thomas, 721; J. Rae, J. Dutton, J. Williams, J.W.; R. C. Griffiths, J. Corbett, W.M.; J. D. Rowland, J.D.; W. Roberts, I.G.; A. J. Brereton, G. H. Adams, J. Ratcliffe, J. Vickers, 1477; G. B. Griffith, W.M.; W. P. Elliott, S.D. 597; T. R. Morris, W.M.; G. Brown, S.W.; D. P. Owen, P.M. 988; T. B. Humphreys, 1509; R. Roberts, 1369; J. Lloyd Kyffin, Bagnall, W.M. 17; J. Bodenham, J.W. 1575; J. Thomas, W.M. 1124; J. Smith, 201; J. B. Hide, P.M. 217; and others. The members of the Square and Compass Lodge, 1336, present were Bros. W. Low, W.M.; E. Smith, S.W.; J. C. Owen, J.W.; T. Bury, Sec.; W. S. Wilson, S.D.; Howel Davies, J.W.; J. F. Edisbury, Organist and Treasurer; J. W. M. Smith, Isaac Shone, E. Lovatt, and N. R. Griffith, Stwds.; C. K. Benson, Evan Morris, T. Eytton-Jones, J. Williams, R. Lloyd, G. Bradley, W. Garratt-Jones, R. W. J. Evans, J. W. A. Cooper, J. James, C. Bayley, J. Bradshaw, W. Turner, R. Barber, R. J. Williams, C. O. Williams, T. Manley, F. W. Mawer, T. Heywood, J. Milligan, W. Daniels, J. H. Kidd, J. Edwards, W. Pierce, G. Thomas, T. Jackson, E. Evans.

Dinner being over, grace [was said by the Prov. Grand Chaplain.

Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn, in proposing the toast of "The Queen and the Craft," remarked that the association was justified, inasmuch as Masons were amongst the most loyal of Her Majesty's subjects (applause), and had the highest respect for their gracious Sovereign. (Applause.) The toast was honoured in a right loyal manner.

The R.W.P.G.M. said they had honoured Her Majesty's health, and he would ask them to drink to the health of the ruler of the Craft (applause), the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M. of England. He much regretted that His Royal Highness was not able to attend their Eisteddvdod (hear, hear), but he believed he was advised not to make any arrangements on his return from India. He (Sir Watkin) had done his utmost to obtain a Royal visit to the town, but he was not successful. Under the circumstances, they must take the will for the deed. (Applause.) He hoped, however, that on some future occasion the Prince would come to North Wales, and if he did, he would find the Masons of North Wales and Shropshire were by no means the least loyal of Her Majesty's subjects. (Loud applause.) He would ask them to drink to the toast he had proposed (drunk with Masonic honours).

The R.W.P.G.M. next proposed "The Health of Lord Carnarvon, the Provincial Grand Master of England," who, he remarked, might be associated with North Wales, being the Constable of Carnarvon Castle. (Applause.)

The R.W.P.G.M. proposed, in suitable terms, "The Health of Lord Skelmersdale, the M.W.D.G.M., and the Officers of the Grand Lodge of England," coupling with the toast the name of Bro. J. S. Brownrigg, R.W.P.G.M. Surrey.

Bro. Brownrigg, who was most cordially received, in responding, said it afforded him great pleasure to visit that Provincial Grand Lodge, and to see Masonry flourishing so well in the provinces. He had the honour of attending a Grand Lodge in Shrewsbury some twenty-three years ago, and it afforded him great pleasure to be with them that evening, and to see Sir Watkin in the chair. (Applause.) He congratulated them on the advances Masonry was making. It was thought when the Marquis of Ripon retired from the Craft that Masonry would suffer. But what honour could have been greater than that the heir to the throne should succeed to the office? (Loud applause.) If they looked to Ireland they found an equally satisfactory state of things. Upon the death of the Duke of Leinster, the Viceroy—the Queen's representative in the Sister Isle (applause)—became the Grand Master of the Irish Masons. (Applause.) There was therefore cause for much satisfaction at the strides Freemasonry had made. He sincerely trusted that as it advanced in quantity so also would it advance in quality. (Applause.) The speaker concluded by giving some sound advice on Masonry, and wished long life and prosperity to the Provincial Grand Lodge.

Bro. Low, W.M. 1336, rose to propose "The Health of Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn." He said: I have now the honour of proposing to you what may be fairly called the toast of the evening (applause), which, in accordance with the well-known Spanish adage, that "God wine needs no bush," recommends itself to the hearts of all present quite independent of any remarks I may make. (Applause.) It will be sufficient for me to say that our most cordial thanks are due to our Grand Master, Sir W. W. Wynn, for his kindness in holding the Provincial Grand Lodge at Wrexham (loud applause), and for being present and presiding at our banquet this evening. (Renewed applause.) This is the first time since the consecration of the Square and Compass Lodge—some five-and-a-half years ago—that the brethren have had the opportunity of showing how they look up to him with that esteem, respect, and admiration which is founded upon an intimate acquaintance of many years (applause); and that he may long continue amongst us, in renewed health and strength, is, I am confident, the sincere heartfelt wish of every brother here this evening. (Loud applause.) I could say much of the generous, hospitable, and noble qualities of our Provincial Grand Master, but his presence forbids me doing so. This is, however, the less requisite, for which of you present does not know better than I can state the true worth of our "Prince in Wales?" (Loud and continued applause.) We often give our esteem and admiration where we cannot give our love, but in Sir W. W. Wynn we have a Provincial Grand Master whom to know is to love. (Applause.) May the blessing of the Great Architect of the Universe ever rest upon him, and the rays of heaven shed their benign influence over him. (Hear hear.) I need not add to these Masonic words, and must ask you to join heartily in drinking "The Health of Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn," and with Masonic honours. (The toast was most enthusiastically received with salute and running fire.)

Bro. Sir W. W. Wynn, in responding, was received with a round of applause. He thanked them for the honour done him, and the most kind way in which his health was drunk. He was exceedingly glad to see so many Masons in Wrexham, for he had been associated with the town from his earlier days. (Applause.) The first election he was at was at Wrexham (laughter), the first race he saw was at Wrexham (renewed laughter), and the first soldiers he saw were in Wrexham (laughter and applause). He was afraid he had, during the past year, unduly taxed the officers of the Grand Lodge. They had had to consecrate several new lodges, and through his illness to do the work of one or two years in three months. He thanked them, therefore, for their attendance, and trusted the new officers would not find their duties so onerous. There were many difficulties in the selection of the officers, and if he made a mistake in the choice they must forgive him (loud applause). The province had so grown that the difficulties were now greater than formerly. He heartily thanked the brethren for their attendance at the lodge and for the great kindness they had shown him during the many years he had presided over it. (Applause.) He hoped that when he was taken away from them his successor would find the lodge continue to prosper. Since he first presided over it it had doubled, and he hoped that Masonry in that province would continue to flourish and to excel not only in quantity but in quality too. (Loud applause.)

Bro. T. Eytton-Jones (Mayor of Wrexham) proposed "The Health of Bro. W. B. Hughes, M.P., the D. Prov. G.M., and the Provincial Grand Officers, Past and Present." He remarked that in the D.P.G.M. they had one who had the interests of Masonry at heart, and who was highly respected throughout the province. Referring to Past Provincial Grand Officers, he said in the death of Lord Harlech they had lost a valuable officer, as also they did in the decease of Mr. Dymock, a Mason from this neighbourhood. The Past Officers had been animated with a desire to do their duty to Masonry and were much esteemed in North Wales. (Applause.) He hoped some of the honours would on a future occasion fall to the Square and Compass Lodge. (Applause.)

Bro. Hughes, M.P., responded. He expressed his great obligations to the R.W.P.G.M. for conferring upon him the distinguished position of Deputy Grand Master. He did not express any desire for it, but having the appointment he meant to do his duty on all occasions. He felt thoroughly satisfied the appointment would give general satisfaction, not through any merits of his own, but because Sir Watkin had given the office to some one residing in the Principality. (Applause.) Having feelingly referred to the death of Lord Harlech, he concluded by stating that he should frequently visit the various lodges and assist in the performance of their Masonic duties. (Applause.)

Bro. Owen (Oswestry) proposed "The W.M.'s of the Province."

Bro. Low (Wrexham), responded, humorously remarking, that although he was the oldest-looking Mason, he was the youngest W.M. in the room.

Bro. Burton proposed "The Visiting Brethren," remarking that Lodge 1336 always accorded a most hearty welcome to those brethren who visited it.

Bro. Davidson, P.P.G.S.W. Middlesex, replied, and returned thanks to the R.W.P.G.M. for his invitation to the lodge that day. He was happy to say that that was not the first time he had attended it. Sixteen years ago he met the brethren on a similar occasion at Ludlow, and he could not forget the hospitable reception they all had at Wynnstay (applause), at a Grand Lodge meeting. To London Masons it was a real treat to visit the provinces and to see how well Masonry was flourishing. (Applause.)

Bro. White in giving "The Masonic Charities," said it was useless for him to enlarge on them after the striking sermon they had heard that day. The way in which the subject was introduced into the rev. gentleman's remarks must have made and undoubtedly did make a good impression upon them all. (Applause.) He hoped they would increase their subscriptions and their names and fame in connection with the charities. (Cheers.)

Bro. J. C. Owen, in a humorous speech, proposed "The Ladies," and Bro. White responded for the fair sex.

The Tyler's toast having been given, the company separated.

The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bros. J. F. Edisbury, and J. B. Boucher, and Bro. E. Wood, Shrewsbury, was the Prov. Grand Director of Ceremonies.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

A Special General Court of the governors and subscribers of this Institution was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall, to authorise the Building Committee to convert the present laundry to other purposes, and to erect a new laundry in the grounds adapted to the increased requirements of the Institution. Col. Creaton was called to the chair. The other brethren present at the meeting were Bros. H. A. Dubois, Thos. W. White, Thos. Massa, Capt. J. Wordsworth, John Boyd, Joseph Smith, James Terry, S. Rawson, H. Massey ("Freemason"), and R. W. Little, Secretary.

The Chairman said that the object of calling the meeting was simply that the work of erecting the new laundry, and converting the old one should go on simultaneously with the new building, which were being proceeded with. If they had waited till the Quarterly Court in October for authority to do this they would have been thrown back a month in their operations. If the brethren decided now to give the Building Committee authority to carry out the proposed works. Bro. Massa, the architect, would have instructions to prepare the plans. It was not necessary for him to go more into detail. It would be necessary to have a new laundry when an additional number of children were taken into the school, and it was better to have all the works done at the same time. He, therefore, moved in terms of the advertisement calling the meeting, but he might tell the brethren that the estimate cost of building the new laundry was £1400, and of converting the old laundry £1400. He could promise that the Building Committee would take care that the cost did not exceed those amounts.

Bro. Capt. J. Wordsworth seconded the motion.

In answer to Bro. Joseph Smith the Chairman said it was intended to convert the present laundry into class rooms, and Bro. Little said it would also provide for eleven additional girls.

Bro. H. A. Dubois said he supposed they would not require tenders from other builders, but that the work would be done by the builder at present on the premises at scheduled prices.

The Chairman said yes. It would be inconvenient to have two separate builders on the premises at the same time. The architect would see to the plans, and he (the Chairman) would guarantee that the price should not exceed £2800.

The motion was then put and carried unanimously.

The Chairman asked Bro. Massa how long it would be before his plans would be ready.

Bro. Massa said in about three weeks, and they would be in accordance with the Chairman's modified plans.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman concluded the proceedings.

THE MARGATE WATCH COMMITTEE AND FREEMASONRY.

A cynical philosopher has declared that the world is full of fools, and that he who would not wish to see one, must not only shut himself up alone, but must also break his looking-glass. There are, however, degrees in folly. Some men are always fools; they are ridiculous, or they are nothing, and never seem able to acquire the common sense of knowing when to preserve a judicious reticence, or to abstain from acts that reveal their innate vulgarity and consummate ignorance. We have a few choice specimens of this incorrigible class among our town councillors, as their recent conduct in reference to the appointment of a new Superintendent of Police clearly shows. We hear that these wiseacres enquired of each whether he was a Freemason? and on being answered in the affirmative, at once put the luckless Mason out of the competition. It would have been just as pertinent to have asked whether the candidate was a believer in the "thirty-nine articles," or had a weakness for Stilton? and as rational to have condemned him accordingly. All who know anything of Freemasonry will be justly indignant at such a paltry, contemptible, and in every sense of the word, mean attempt to affix a stigma on a noble and entirely inoffensive fraternity; distinguished only for its works of mercy and love.—"Kentish County News."

Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, P.G.M. for West Lancashire, occupied the chair at the dinner in connection with the annual show of the Royal Manchester, Liverpool, and North Lancashire Agricultural Society at Southport last week. His lordship is president for the year, and delivered a homely practical speech in proposing "Prosperity to the Society." He remarked that the prize offered to agricultural labourers who had been the longest time in one situation was limited to the labourers of tenant farmers, which, he thought, was a great mistake. For instance, he had in his employment a number of labourers who were unable to compete, which was very hard. He hoped that in future years an alteration would be made in this matter. He was that year the president of the Royal Agricultural Society, whose show for 1877 was to be held in Liverpool. He was happy to say that the Liverpool people had taken the subject of the meeting up warmly; and he hoped the society under whose auspices they had met that day would support it. He noticed that at the meeting of the council the other day there was some little opposition to the matter, but he hoped it would be withdrawn. He was a great advocate of agricultural shows, but he thought they should be large shows. Such shows were of the greatest benefit to the country.

A SECOND EDITION of the "FREEMASON" will be issued early Saturday morning.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

Reviews.

INSTALLATION MARCH.—This piece of music, composed by Bro. Seymour Smith, and dedicated to his friend, Bro. Brett, which has recently been published, is already very popular, and is likely to become still more so, we venture to prognosticate. It is composed, of course, to commemorate the installation of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and on that account, apart from its own merits, should be purchased by all Freemasons.

"MASONIC POINTS."—This little work will be found of considerable assistance, consisting as it does of a series of cues, for the guidance of officers and brethren in the working of the degrees of Craft and Royal Arch Masonry. A large number have already been sold, and we are informed that H.R.H. the M.W.G.M. has consented to receive a copy from the compiler.

"THE DAILY TELEGRAPH."—The "Bookseller" says: It may not be generally known that a Royal Edition of this paper is issued daily. On the death of the Prince Consort Her Majesty the Queen accidentally saw the "Telegraph," and was so touched by the loyalty exhibited in its obituary notice that she ordered a copy to be sent daily to each of the Royal palaces. Ever since then twenty-five copies have been especially printed on the finest, thickest, and whitest paper, and duly forwarded, pressed and folded, in accordance with the Queen's command. We have in our possession a copy of this Royal edition, and we must say that, in the matter of paper and print, it is really a remarkable specimen of a London daily newspaper.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, September 22, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16.

Lodge 1329, Sphinx, Bridge House Hot., London Bridge.
" 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney.
Chap. 1326, Lebanon, Red Lion Hot., Hampton.
R.C.C., 9, Villiers, Northumberland Arms Hot., Isleworth.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18.

Lodge 720, Panmure, Horns Tav., Kennington.
" 901, City of London

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

Board of General Purposes, at 3.
Lodge 704, Camden, Bull and Gate, Kentish Town.
Chap. 933, Doric, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-street.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

Lodge 700, Nelson, M.H., William-st., Woolwich.
" 1044, Wandsworth, Spread Eagle Ho., Wandsworth.
" 1382, Corinthian, George Inn, Cubitt Town.
Chap. 10, Westminster and Keystone, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maimore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.

House Com. Girls, at 4.
Lodge 217, Stability, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1227, Upton, Spotted Dog Tav., Upton.
" 1278, Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Approach-rd.
" 1320, Blackheath, Crown Hot., Blackheath.
Chap. 1365, Clapton, White Hart Tav., Clapton.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.

Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22.

Lodge 780, Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 23, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18.

Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Chester.
" 1502, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.

Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

Lodge 667, Alliance, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1225, Hindpool, Hartington Hot., Barrow.
" 1276, Warren, Stanley Arms Hot., Seacombe.
" 1325, Stanley, M.H., Kirkdale, Liverpool.
" 1570, Prince Arthur, 80, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
Chap. 605, De' Tabley, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
Lodge of I., 241, M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

Lodge 537, Zetland, M.C., Birkenhead.
" 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School, Liverpool.
" 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
" 1353, Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster.
Chap. 580, Unity, Wheat Sheaf Inn, Ormskirk.
Mark Lodge 31, Fidelity, Norfolk Arms Hot., Hyde.
De Grey and Ripon L. of I., 80, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
Harmonic L. of I., Mona Hot., James-st., Liverpool.
Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.

Lodge 203, Ancient Union, M.H., Liverpool.
" 343, Concord, Militia Mess R., Preston.
" 425, Cestrian, M.H., Chester.
" 605, Combermere, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
" 1299, Pembroke, Rawlinson's Hot., West Derby.
Chap. 240, Mariners' M.H., Liverpool.
Preceptory Wm. de la More, M.H., Prescot.
St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 23, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18.

Lodge 129, St. Mirren, 5, Moss-st., Paisley.
" 332, Union, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., S.S., Glasgow.
Encampment St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

Lodge 38, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st. Glasgow.
" 73, Thistle and Rose, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
" 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

Lodge 117, St. Mary, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
" 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow, 3 p.m.
Chap. 150, Shettleston, M.H., Shettleston.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.

Lodge 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 370, Renfrew, 8, High-st., Paisley.
" 465, St. Andrew, 69, Garragad-rd., Glasgow.
" 547, Stewart, M.H., Kilsyth.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 23, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18.

Lodge 44, St. Luke, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

Lodge 36, St. David, Ship Hot., East Register-st.
" 405, Rifle, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

Lodge 160, Roman Eagle, 62, Nicholson-st.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21.

Lodge 48, St. Andrew, F.M.H., 98, George-st.
" 226, Portobello, Town Hall, Portobello.
Cnap. 152, Perseverance, 86, Constitution-st., Leith.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.—
Craft Masonry.....	423
Royal Arch.....	423
Mark Masonry.....	423
Scotland.....	423
Ireland.....	423
A Spirit Medium.....	424
Slander.....	424
Masonic and General Tidings.....	424
Masonic Archaeology.....	425
Consecration of the Marlborough Lodge, No. 1620.....	425
Consecration of the Brownrigg Lodge, No. 1638.....	426
Lodge of Benevolence.....	426
Consecration of the West Smithfield Lodge, No. 1623.....	427
A Modern Lady Freemason.....	428
The Reaction.....	428
The Boys' School.....	428
French Freemasonry.....	429
The Concordia Institute.....	429
Hermetic Masonry.....	429
CORRESPONDENCE.—
A Masonic Reformation.....	429
The Swedenborgian Rite.....	429
A Worthy and Distressing Case.....	430
The Fluctuations of Masonic Literature.....	430
Instruction and Rustics in Urbe.....	430
The Widow of the Late Bro. Farnfield.....	430
A Little Friendly Gossip on some of the Topics of the Day.....	431
Masonic Notes and Queries.....	431
A Masonic Hero.....	431
The Platform of Freemasonry.....	431
A Novelty in Evening Entertainments.....	431
West Yorkshire.....	431
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	431
Advertisements.....	431

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

DERBY.—Arboretum Lodge (No. 731).—The ordinary monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, on Wednesday, the 13th inst. The following brethren were present:—Bros. Bennett, W.M.; John Smith, P.M.; G. T. Wright, P.M.; T. R. Gee, P.M., Treas.; J. C. Merry, I.P.M.; Brown, S.W.; T. Merry, J.W.; Sheffield, S.D.; Whittaker, J.D.; Holbrook, Org.; Fraser, I.G. Burton Day, Tyler; T. Smith, King, Holloway, Humber, A. Smith, and Bennett. Visitors: Bros. Boden, 353, and Heathcote, 1085. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the last lodge read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Bro. Joseph Bland, of the Commercial Lodge, Leicester, 1091, as a joining member, and he was unanimously elected. Mr. Cawthorne Webster, who had been elected at the previous lodge, was duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M., the charge being given by the J.W. The usual questions having been asked, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banqueting hall, where a comfortable supper awaited them; afterwards the usual Masonic toasts were given, with suitable songs, and a very pleasant evening was brought to a conclusion by the Tyler's toast.

WALTHAM.—King Harold Lodge (No. 1327).—The monthly meeting of the above lodge took place at the Britannia Hotel, Waltham New Town, Herts, on Tuesday, the 19th inst. The brethren present were Bros. W. Gilbert, W.M., P.G.J.W. Herts, in the chair; Thomas Reilly, S.W., P.G.P. Herts; Parker, P.M., P.P. G.P. Herts; J. K. Young, P.P.G.A.D.C. Herts; Chas. Lacey, P.M. 174, 1327, &c., &c., W.M. Tredegar Lodge, P.P.G.S.D. Herts; A. Malcolm, Sec. 1327, P.G.S. Herts; Sheldon, P.P.G.S. Herts; W. Bradstock, acting J.W.; J. Knight, D.C.; Fisher, I.G.; Creed, W.S.; Robinson, A. Clements, Bull, Newman, W. F. Cox, Eversfield, John Gilbert, Brown, Goggs, and others. Visitors: Bro. Osgathorp, and others. The business before the lodge was to pass Bro. John Gilbert; to elect the W.M., Treasurer, and Tyler for the ensuing year. The W.M., Bro. Gilbert, in an impressive manner, passed his brother (in a twofold degree), Bro. John Gilbert being his brother both in relationship and Masonry. Bro. Thomas Reilly, S.W., P.G.P. Herts, was unanimously elected the W.M. for the ensuing year, Bro. West, P.M. 1067, 1327, &c., and P.P.G.J.D. Herts, was unanimously re-elected as Treasurer, and Bro. Steedman, P.M., was re-elected Tyler. It was proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously, that a Past Master's jewel be presented to Bro. Gilbert, the W.M., in recognition of the valuable services he rendered to the King Harold Lodge during his year of office. In seconding this motion, Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., adverted in appropriate terms to the honour which the R.W. the P.G.M. of Hertfordshire, Bro. T. F. Halsey, M.P., had conferred on the King Harold Lodge in appointing its W.M. to the office of P.J.G. Warden. The lodge was closed, and the brethren retired for refreshment, spending a pleasant evening, which was enlivened by some excellent harmony.

NORTH WOOLWICH.—Henley Lodge (No. 1472).—The second monthly meeting since the new W.M., Bro. J. Ives, has filled the chair, took place on Tuesday, the 5th inst., at Bro. West's, the Three Crowns, and was well attended. The business before the lodge consisted of the raising of Bros. Vance and Day and the passing of Bro. Crampton to their several degrees, which was happily effected, the W.M. working the degrees in most excellent style. The following officers were present beside the W.M.:—W. Steele, S.W.; T. Geller, Treas.; J. Henderson, P.M. and Sec.; A. J. Manning, S.D.; W. T. Turner, J.D.; N. Stanford, I.G.; J. Plume, D.C.; J. A. Elder, W.S.; and P.M. Steadman, Tyler. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to supper, the visitors being cordially invited, and upon returning to the lodge-room the W.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, receiving at the hands of P.M. Henderson a well merited eulogium for the manner in which he carried out the duties of his responsible position, to which he returned a suitable reply, and the Tyler's toast concluded the business of the evening. Among the visitors were T. G. Day, W.M. 1076; W. Robinson, 1076; Shultz, 13; H. Green, 1076; G. Masters, 13; S. Smith, 1530; C. Jolly, 913; and others.

HAMPTON.—Hemming Lodge (No. 1512).—An emergency meeting of this prosperous lodge was held at the Lion Hotel, on Thursday, the 31st ult. There were present Bros. E. Hopwood, P.M. 141, W.M.; W. Hammond, P.P.J.G.D. of Middlesex, &c., I.P.M.; S. Hill, P.M. Canonbury, &c., S.W.; Hurst, J.W. and W.M. elect; J. Hammond, P.M. Jordan, Sec.; Walls, acting S.D.; Ockenden, D.C., acting J.D.; Jessett, I.G. The W.M., with the assistance of his officers, initiated Messrs. T. Phillips, T. Errington, C. Finch, and H. C. T. Murphy into the mysteries of the Craft. The I.P.M., by the permission of the W.M., passed Bro. Dr. C. H. Hill as a F.C., and the W.M. having resumed his position, raised Bros. C. V. J. De Fernex and E. Andrews to the degree of M.M. The visitors were Bros. G. W. Martin, P.P.G.O. of Herts, &c.; B. Sharp, P.M. 84, &c.; Güterbock, 173; R. Martin, 201; Pitt, Hyatt, Brooklyn, U.S. Previously to the lodge being closed, Bro. Sharp was elected a joining member, and several propositions were taken. Notwithstanding the numerous lodges in this division of Middlesex, this lodge, which was only consecrated in the autumn of 1874, has already its full complement of members at the present scale of fees, which scale, in future, in compliance with a by-law to that effect, will be increased. Upon the completion of the business, the brethren adjourned to an excellent collation, well catered for by Bro. Murphy. This being an emergency meeting, there was no regular programme of toasts, but the W.M. briefly gave "The Queen and the Craft," and "The Initiates." Bro. Murphy, in the absence of the other newly-elected brethren, responded. The proceedings were enlivened by the vocal and prose contributions of Bros. Martin, Jessett, Ockenden, Hurst, Walls, and De Fernex. Previously to the Tyler's toast, the I.P.M. proposed "The Health of the W.M.," in a few well chosen words, which toast having been heartily honoured, was briefly acknowledged by the W.M. The next regular meeting of this lodge will be held on the third Thursday in October.

Royal Arch.

BEDFORD.—Stuart Chapter (No. 540).—This chapter is still rapidly growing, and from the evident pains bestowed upon its working it is not likely to lose strength as it proceeds. The usual meeting was held at the Swan Hotel, Bedford, on Tuesday evening, when the following officers were present with many companions:—Col. Stuart, Z.; J. R. Bull, H.; A. Cookson, J.; J. M. Cuthbert, P.S.; Capt. Colburne, E.; and Capt. Green, 1st A.S. There was also present Comp. Barfield, P.Z. Mt. Sinai, No. 12, whose unremitting kindness in visiting the chapter and assisting the officers at all times cannot be too much praised. Two companions were exalted, the working having rather improved than otherwise since the last meeting—Bro. John Allan, Stuart Lodge, 540, Bedford, and Bro. Henry Hitchman, S.W. Lodge of Perseverance, 453, Kettering. The companions next elected the Audit Committee, appointing to it the officers of the chapter. The officers for the ensuing year were next elected as follows, Comp. Col. Stuart becoming, of course, the first P.Z. of the chapter:—Comps. J. R. Bull, H.; M.E.Z.; A. Cookson, J. H.; J. M. Cuthbert, P.S.; J. Rev. W. Tebbis, Chaplain, P.S.; Capt. Colburne, E., E.; W. J. Nash, N.; J. Trapp, re-elected Treas.; G. Reynolds, re-elected Janitor. There being no further business the chapter was closed, after which seventeen of the companions did their duty, when called to refreshment, as well and as willingly as when they had been called to labour.

Mark Masonry

TRURO.—Fortitude Lodge (No. 78).—At the regular meeting of this lodge, held at the Masonic Hall, Truro, on Tuesday, the 12th September, A.D. 1876, A.L. 5876, it was proposed by the R.W. Bro. William James Hughan, P.M. 78, Past Grand Mark Warden of England, &c., &c., seconded by W. Bro. James Charles Rodd Crewes, P.M. 78, Prov. G.S. of W. for Cornwall, and carried unanimously, "That in appreciation of his zealous and valuable services on behalf of Craft Masonry, and of his membership of the Centenary Lodge of Fortitude, No. 131, Truro, the R.W. Bro. James Homer Neilson, P.M. 620, Dublin, &c., Past Grand Warden of Egypt, P. Prov. G.M. of Venezuela, Grand Steward, &c., &c., be elected an honorary member of this Mark Lodge."

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

In pursuance of a charter from the Grand Orient of Egypt, bearing date about the 25th day of October, 1875, and a subsequent decree, bearing date the 20th March, 1876, the Supreme Grand Council of the Valley of New Zealand of the 33° of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite was, on the 9th day of June, 1876, opened at Dunedin with the grand honours of Masonry, by William Caldwell, John Hyde Harris, and Louis Court, Sovereign Grand Inspectors-General, the whole number of Inspectors-General being with one exception complete. The following is a list of the members of the Grand Council:—Wm. Caldwell, 33°, M.P.S.G. Com.; Honble. J. Hyde Harris, 33°, V.P.L.G. Com.; Wm. Hunter Reynolds, 33°, Ill. G.G. Sec., H.E.; Capt. Henry Kitchener, 84th Regt., 33°, Ill. G.T., H.E.; F. W. Thile, 33°, Ill. G.O., H.E.; Lewis Court, 33°, Ill. G. Marshal, H.E.; Thomas Sherlock Graham, 33°, Ill. G.C.G., H.E.; Wm. Byers Sealey, 33°, Ill. G.S.B., H.E.; Malcolm Niccol, 33°, Ill. G.S.B., H.E.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Caledonian Railway (No. 354).—The last of the series of special Masonic meetings held in connection with the visit of the British Association to Glasgow, now concluded, was that arranged by Lodge 354, and which took place in the Masonic Hall, at No. 30, Hope street, on Wednesday, the 13th inst. The attendance was agreeably, and at the same time, considering the size of the room, at times uncomfortably numerous, about one hundred brethren having signed the Tyler's book. Bro. Adam B. Ferguson, W.M. of the lodge, presided, and there were supporting him on the dais Bros. Alex. Bain, P.G.B.B.; James Balfour, P.G. Master of Ceremonies; David Reid, P.G.I.G. and I.P.M. Lodge St. Andrews No. 465; William Ferguson, D.M. Lodge Plantation; Dr. James Skirving, &c. The lodge being called to refreshment, the toasts of "The Queen and the Craft," "The Three Grand Lodges," and "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" were given successively by the Chairman, and duly honoured. The latter was coupled with the name of Bro. A. Bain, P.G. Bible Bearer, who, in acknowledging the compliment, said that, as they were all aware, the P.G.L. of Glasgow was in a very healthy and good working condition, and as all the lodges within the province were similarly situated it made the work of the P.G.L. much easier than once on a time it used to be. He hoped it would long continue to be so. The toast of "The British Association" was also given by the Chairman, and enthusiastically responded to; as was also that of "The Visiting Brethren," proposed by Bro. Colin McKenzie, J.W., and responded to by Bro. Dr. Freer, Govan, and John A. Mann (No. 27). A number of other toasts were also given and honoured in the course of the evening; the musical element being well represented by Bro. Hardy, pianist, James Houston, and a host of able amateur brethren.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—The second of the series of special Masonic meetings in connection with the visit of the British Association was given under the auspices of this lodge within their hall, at No. 30, Hope street, on Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., and turned out to be an exceptionally agreeable and successful occasion. The W.M. of the lodge (Bro. John Monro) presided, and was supported on the dais by Bros. Thomas Kingston, W.M. Lodge Whittington, London (No. 862, E.C.); D. M. Nelson, W.M. St. John, No. 34; James Mackie, W.M., and Colin Spalding, D.M. No. 7 (Lodge Hamilton Kilwinning); S. N. Morrison, P.M. No. 69, St. John, Alloa; David Murray, W.M. No. 103, Union and Crown; and Thomas Stobo, W.M. No. 581, Lodge Plantation. In the body of the hall were Bros. Adam B. Ferguson, W.M. No. 354, Caledonian Railway; David Reid, P.G.I.G. and I.P.M. No. 465, St. Andrews; John W. Browne, No. 219, Chicago, U.S., and a numerous gathering of office-bearers and brethren from various lodges within and without the province. On the lodge being called from labour to refreshment, the Chairman intimated that he had received notes of apology for absence from two English brethren, namely, Bro. George Bussey, of London, and Bro. Professor Sewill, F.R.G.S., F.G.S., &c., of Ilkley College, Yorkshire. He had to intimate further, that the latter brother had also forwarded to him a piece of Masonic music, his own composition, of which he begged the lodge's acceptance, and copies of which he had also sent for presentation to Lodges Union and Crown and Caledonian Railway respectively. The announcement was received with a hearty round of applause. Thereafter, the Chairman proposed the customary loyal and Masonic toasts, which were pledged with becoming enthusiasm. In proposing that of "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow," for the benefit of the strangers present, he went into some little detail as to the extent and importance of the province of Glasgow, mentioning, inter alia, that from it was drawn one-fifth of the total revenue of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. In the temporary absence of Bro. David Reid, P.G. I.G., the toast was coupled with the name of Bro. D.M. Nelson, W.M. of the senior lodge in the province, who in the course of a characteristic reply gave it as his opinion that, whatever might have been recent short-comings in the working of the P.G.L., and to which he had not been afraid to call attention, there was within the province of Glasgow material for the formation of a Provincial Grand Lodge second to none in the world. The toast of the evening, "Brethren of the Craft presently in Glasgow with the British Association," given in markedly appropriate and effective style by the Chairman, met with the heartiest reception. It was coupled with the name of Bro. Kingston (Lodge 862, E.C.), who in graceful and unaffected terms returned thanks for the compliment, and declared his inability to express how he felt the kindness and hospitality he had met with, not only within the lodge but generally during his brief visit to Glasgow. Other toasts followed, amongst which were "Lodge Commercial," by Bro. Spalding, coupled with the name of Bro. Monro, W. M., who replied; "The S. & J. Wardens," by Bro. D. M. Nelson, acknowledged by Bros. Oliver, and Graham; "The Press," which was replied to by Bro. W. H. Bickerton on behalf of the "Freemason." A most enjoyable feature of the evening was the presence of an unusual wealth of musical and histrionic talent, the songs, duets, and instrumental performances of Bros. Pentland and Peterkin, and some rarely humorous recitations of the old school by Bro. Fitzroy, filling up the frequent intervals to admiration.

Ireland.

The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Armagh, which embraces the counties of Armagh, Louth, and Monaghan, was held on the 30th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Francis-street, Dundalk, the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Maxwell Close, M.P., presiding; supported by Bro. John G.

Winder, J.P., Deputy Provincial Grand Master. The various lodges of the province were well represented:—Bros. Thos. A. Young, V.W.S.W.; James Whitla, V.W.J.W.; Robert Turner, W.S.D.; E. G. Fitzgerald, I.G.; acted for Bro. H. Handcock as Treas.; and Bro. F. E. Clarke as I.G., with Bro. J. J. Hesse as the Venerable Secretary of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

The report of the committee who were appointed to draw up a new code of rules for the government of the Provincial Lodge of Armagh was read by Bro. G. H. Smith, and the rules submitted, which, with one or two verbal alterations, were carried unanimously.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with. The local Board of General Purposes in several instances submitted two candidates for each office, but such was the enthusiastic spirit of harmony that prevailed in the Grand Lodge that all opposition was withdrawn, and the officers unanimously elected as follows:—Bros. G. H. Smith, 199, Armagh, V.W.G.S.W.; William Shimeld, 384, Louth, W.G.J.W.; A. K. Young, 223, Monaghan, W.G.S.D.; A. Murchie, 24, Armagh, W.G.J.D.; F. E. Clarke, 411, Louth, W.G.I.G. Very Worshipful Bros. H. H. Handcock, J. J. Hesse, Rev. Augustus Young, and Arthur Nelson, were severally elected as Treasurer, Secretary, Chaplain, and Organist to the Provincial Grand Lodge.

Bros. Richard Harvey, 85, and Hugh Leonard, 384, were elected as representatives of the province on the Board of General Purposes at the Grand Lodge of Ireland; and Bros. Arthur Nelson, Past Provincial G.S.W., and J. J. Hesse, Grand Secretary, as representatives of the Board of Instruction.

Bro. Smith read the report of the Banquet Committee, at which 175 brethren attended, after which the lodge closed, and the brethren retired to the Queen's Arms Hotel, where they dined, under the presidency of the Worshipful Master, Maxwell Close, M.P., whose health was drank with the customary Masonic honours, given with great enthusiasm.

A SPIRIT MEDIUM.

We take the following letters from the "Times" of Saturday, as they constitute, in our opinion, an admirable exposure of one of the latest and boldest attempts of charlatanism and imposture on the credulity of the present age. The matter has indeed become amusingly ridiculous.

To the Editor of the "Times."

Sir,—I trust that you will find space for a brief account of an interview with "Dr." Slade from which I have just returned. In consequence of the more than questionable action of Mr. Alfred Wallace, the discussions of the British Association have been degraded by the introduction of the subject of spiritualism, and the public has learnt—perhaps it is time they should—that "men of science" are not exempt as a body from astounding credulity which prevails in this country and in America. It is therefore, incumbent upon those who consider such credulity deplorable to do all in their power to arrest its development.

My friend Mr. Serjeant Cox having begged me to go and see the medium Slade, and having informed me that so distinguished a man of science as Dr. Carpenter had confessed himself "very much shaken" by what he has witnessed in Slade's presence, I wrote to that person and obtained an appointment for last Monday morning. Slade's chief "manifestation" is of this kind:—"I witness and Slade being alone in an ordinary well-lit sitting room, Slade produces a common slate and a small piece of slate pencil, which are laid on the simple four-legged table, at one corner of which the witness and Slade are seated. Slade then shows the witness that there is no writing on either side of the slate. He then places the slate horizontally close against the table, and below it, pressing the slate against the table, the little piece of slate pencil being supposed to be between the slate and the flat under surface of the table. The slate is so closely applied to the table that no hand or finger could possibly get between them in order to write. A noise as of writing is now heard proceeding from the slate, which is held by Slade or by the witness—the spirit is supposed to be at work. The slate is then removed, and a message is found written either on the under surface of the slate or on the surface which was facing the lower surface of the table. I watched Slade very closely during these proceedings, which were repeated several times during my interview last Monday, paying no attention to the raps, gentle kicks, and movements of the table, of which I will say nothing further than that they were all such as could be readily produced by the medium's legs and feet. I simulated considerable agitation and an ardent belief in the mysterious nature of what I saw and heard. At the same time I was utterly astounded to find the strongest reason to believe that, with the exception of the first message, which was written by Slade underneath the slate with (I believe) one finger of the hand which was holding the slate, the rest of the messages, which were longer and better written, were coolly indited on the slate by Slade while it was resting on his knee, concealed from my view by the edge of the table, and that the slate was subsequently placed by him in the position where the spirit-writing was to take place with the message already written upon it. I was led to form this hypothesis by noting the delay which always occurred between my being shown the slate with both sides clean and the placing of the slate against the table or over my head for the purpose of receiving the spirit-writing, which was then heard proceeding with the usual sound of scratching on a slate. This delay did not occur when Slade wrote with the finger of the hand by which he held the slate. During the delay Slade made various excuses; took up the little piece of pencil and bit it, and, also, invariably made a peculiar grating noise by clearing his throat. At the same time I heard distinctly on three occasions a low but perfectly recognizable sound of a pencil traversing a slate, and twice on looking quickly at Slade's right arm, the elbow of which was visible, while the rest was hidden by the table and purporting to be holding the slate, I saw movements from right to left and left to right which accorded with my hypothesis that he was using his hand in writing.

I left Slade with a promise to return to-day (Friday), and at once wrote to Mr. Serjeant Cox to tell him my explanation of the manner in which the thing was accomplished, and offering to put my hypothesis to the test by seizing the slate from Slade's hand when he professed it to be devoid of writing, and at the moment when the "spirit writing" was about to commence.

This morning I went with my friend Dr. H. B. Donkin, of Queen's College, Oxford, to test my hypothesis by this crucial experiment:—I had determined to seize the slate at the critical moment—at the moment when Slade professed that it was entirely untouched—and if the writing were already on the slate before the spirits were supposed to have begun their work I considered that I should have a demonstration of the truth of my hypothesis, which would be convincing to persons not already lost to reason. I explained to Dr. Donkin my hypothesis and my intention, and the result has completely justified my anticipation. As on last Monday, so to-day, Slade allowed me to hold the slate against the table in order to receive the spirit writing, saying that the spirit would probably write more distinctly for me than for him. The slate had been cleaned and was now declared by Slade to be devoid of writing, but writing was to appear on it in the usual way, accompanied by the scratching noise of the pencil. There had been the usual delay and fumbling on Slade's part when I put out my hand and immediately seized the slate away, saying:—"You have already written on the slate. I have watched you doing it each time." And there, sure enough, was the message already written, as I anticipated. My friend, Dr. Donkin, will give you a more detailed account of the events which occurred in his presence.

I am, Sir, faithfully yours,

E. RAY LANKESTER, F.R.S.,
Fellow of Exeter College, Oxford, and Professor of Zoology in University College, London.
Sept. 15.

To the Editor of the "Times."

Sir,—At the request of my friend Professor Lankester, I accompanied him in his visit to Slade the medium, in order to watch carefully what might happen, and to be able to corroborate or not the opinion he had formed as to the means employed.

A spirit message was soon written, the slate being held in opposition to the under surface of the table, the thumb alone of the medium's right hand being on the table. During the alleged writing a scratching was plainly heard, and at the same time a slight to-and-fro movement of the arm with some contraction of flexor tendons on the wrist was visible. The writing was imperfect and distorted, requiring the interpretation of an expert, and appeared on the surface of the slate, which faced downwards.

The result was in accordance with the theory of the agency of a minute piece of slate-pencil probably held under the nail of the middle finger.

The next communication was partly quite legible and in a straightforward, undisguised hand, but this time it appeared on the upper surface of the slate. Bearing in mind the hypothesis that this was really written before the spirit got to work under the table, I carefully watched Slade during a considerable interval before he replaced the slate. Whilst he was clearing his throat and making short remarks, I saw his right arm, now at some distance from the table, moving exactly as though he were writing on something placed on his knee. Owing to my position at the table, opposite him, I could not see his hand. Simultaneously I heard the scratching of the pencil, hardly at all obscured by the noises I allude to. After the replacement of the slate the spirit-scratching (this time as a ruse) was heard as before.

Before the next communication the spirits were asked if they could write for Professor Lankester. They agreed to do so. I observed the medium go through the same sort of manoeuvres as before, although even more deliberately, very little effort being made to hide a loud scratching while the slate was away from the table. After some little time Slade put the slate under the table, holding it as before, with his right hand, Professor Lankester being about to hold it with his left in a similar manner. Here let especial notice be given to the fact that at this moment the slate was said to be free from writing. Before any time was allowed for spirit-scratching to be heard, my friend, as agreed upon, sharply withdrew the slate, and in accordance with the prophecy displayed the message already written.

To make this exposure still more perfect I may add that the first of the two later messages referred to consisted of two words read by the medium as "Samuel Lankester" in answer to the question as to what spirits were present. The "Samuel" being very indistinct my friend suggested it might be "Edwin," which the medium said was quite possible. The last message was an answer to the same question, and the suggestion being adopted, the words "Edwin Lankester" were perfectly clear.

To any one not pre-disposed to believe in spirit agency at all hazards, the result of this séance is sufficient.

I am, Sir, yours faithfully,

HORATIO B. DONKIN, M.B., Oxon,
Assist. Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
September 15, 1876.

Owing to the extraordinary low tide in the Thames on Thursday, navigation in some parts was put a stop to. The tide has not been known to run so low for the past six years.

SLANDER.

Masonry teaches us to support a brother's character when he is absent, and consequently unable to defend himself from the tainted breath of defamation. It forbids us to retail slanders derogatory to our brother's reputation, which is a sacred deposit; and if once wounded, ten thousand words in vindication will scarcely be sufficient to repair the mischief which ten words have occasioned.

Masonry teaches this lesson in every part and point of every degree, aware that the evil consequences of slander are innumerable, whether by giving false testimony in a public cause or by injuring our brother by private defamation. This practice is the vilest of all robberies.

Injure his property, and you may make him reparation wound his body, and the physician may heal the wound but if his sacred reputation be touched, if his good name be taken away, it can never be restored, but may pursue his offspring after death; may descend to his children's children, and blast their prospects to the latest posterity.

Defamation is always wicked; the defamer is always despised. And what gratification can be found in a practice which elicits universal contempt? Can it be found in the lust of evil speaking, and cutting up reputations as with a sharp razor? Can any gratification proceed from the practice of private scandal at the expense of another's character and honest name? Does such a practice add to the slanderer's peace of mind or importance among his acquaintance? Does it confer a dignity not to be procured by other and more innocent means?

A negative answer may be safely given to these inquiries; and it is rather to be feared that every honest and upright man will regard him with the scrutinizing eye of a jealous suspicion, and shun him as a public nuisance. His deeds are baser than those of the assassin, in proportion as a man's unsullied fame is dearer to him than life.

The assassin kills the body of his enemy, and there the mischief ends; but the slanderer attacks the immortal part of man, and inflicts a stab in the hope of blighting his fame for ever. None can be safe where he finds admittance. The virtues wither around him, and fade and die before his baneful touch. His practices are made up of fraud and artful treachery. He dares not to bring the bold and open accusation, but looks and whispers death. To misconstrue motives; to place trifling incidents in contemptible points of view; to insinuate by mysterious signs and broken sentences that "more is meant than meets the ear," are his study and delight. They become, by force of habit, as necessary as the food which affords him nourishment, and this for no other purpose than the selfish aim of depriving his acquaintance of that estimation from which he can derive no benefit, and which can scarcely be restored by all the united efforts of charity and benevolence; for evil reports spread with unaccountable facility, and extend to distant parts where the evidence of their falsehood will never be heard, and thus the record is handed to posterity in all the decoration of unrefuted truth.

But it must be observed, on the other hand, that we are not to applaud the character and conduct of bad men merely to avoid the imputation of illiberality. If the actions of a brother betray baseness of heart, though it may not be commendable to magnify his vices, or make them a perpetual topic of conversation, yet it would be equally injudicious to praise him, or bear testimony to virtues which he does not possess. "None but a good man deserves to be loved or praised by any one." The course to be adopted under these circumstances is faithfully prescribed in those lectures which form the subject of discussion at all our meetings. "Always speak of a brother as well in his absence as in his presence; and even more particularly so, because when present he has an opportunity of defending himself. Never defame him yourself, nor suffer him to be defamed by others if in your power to prevent it, and if his conduct be so dishonourable that you unfortunately cannot speak well of him, adopt the distinguishing virtue of our science—silence or secrecy."

If a brother be calumniated falsely, it becomes a paramount duty to defend him in the face of the world. He who stands boldly forward to rebut a deliberate slander upon another's reputation I regard in the light of something more than a common friend; he reduces to practice the dignified theories of Masonry; his benevolence is pure and unsullied by human passion, and he richly merits the obligations of gratitude in this world, as he is in the hope of receiving the approbation of his Judge in the world to come.

Speak then no evil of your brother. If he have virtues (and surely all have some) let them be the theme of your discourse; if he have faults (and who is free from them?) mention them not; but in all your commerce with the world, "supply the wants and relieve the necessities of your brethren to the utmost of your power and ability; on no account wrong them, or see them wronged, but timely apprise them of approaching danger, and view their interests as inseparable from your own."—"Oliver's Antiquities."

An emergency meeting of the Brownrigg Lodge, No. 1638 (consecrated last Wednesday), will be held on the 28th.

Saturday week will be the last day for the exhibition of the Indian collection of the Prince of Wales at the South Kensington Museum. They will then be removed to the Bethnal-green Museum, in order that the inhabitants of the East-end may view them; and His Royal Highness has signified his intention of sending them over to the Paris Exhibition in 1878.

The Worshipful Company of Mercers have recently voted the sum of £150 to the managers of the Colet National Schools (St. Thomas, Arbour Square, Stepney, E.), for the erection of an entrance porch for girls and infants in Arbour-street, West.

MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGY.

There is a theory of Masonic history which is purely German in its origin, though it has a few supporters in Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry. It is, in fact, that which Lessing and Nicolai, and others stated, that Freemasonry is "Baconian," or rather, that it is the product of an Hermetic society, of which Bacon and Ashmole, and others, were members, and that it has nothing to do with the operative guilds. In fact, it brings Masonry out of some Hermetical meetings in the latter part of the 17th century. Unfortunately for this view, however ingenious, there is no real evidence, that I am aware of, in favour of it. A good deal is made to hinge on the "Nova Atlantis," which because it deals allegorically with Solomon's Temple, and a brotherhood of sages or philosophers, &c., &c., is supposed to be Masonic. I have read the Nova Atlantis; I cannot discern its Freemasonry. I am not aware, except as a general statement, that there is any actual evidence that Bacon was a member of a Hermetic society, though his studies were very abstruse; but assuming that there is, I am not aware again that he and Ashmole are ever brought together. I have read Ashmole's diary carefully, and it is very remarkable that his acquaintanceship with Hermeticism begins after that he was made a Freemason at Warrington, October 16th, 1646. His acquaintance with Lilly only began on the 25th October the same year, and the first "astrologers" feast which he attended was August 1st, 1648. He was present at a mathematical feast, it is true, at the White Hart, Old Bailey, probably the forerunner of the other, February 14th, 1647. He names, no doubt, many known writers on Hermeticism and Rosicrucianism, and the like, as the two Backhouses Sir John Heydon, Mr. John Booker, the Rev. Mr. Butler, Mr. Lilly, Mr. Moxon, Mr. Saunders, Mr. Vaughan, Rice Evans, Sir Edward Deering, and the then town clerk of London, and probably also Mr. Peter Arnold, Dr. Curren, Lord Ruthen, Mr. Smith, Mr. Melbourn, Mr. Jonas Moore, Dr. Ardie, Dr. Paget, Sir Robert Murry, and others, whom he names as "ingenious persons" or great chemists, all belonged to the same confraternity. He nowhere gives the full names of those present at the astrologer's feast, but, with the exception of Sir John Heydon, his acquaintance with all the "astrologers" commenced after his reception into Freemasonry. When we mention the meeting in 1682, March 10th, it is as something quite distinct from the astrologer's meeting. Indeed, in 1682 the astrologer's feast, which had not been held since November 2nd, 1657, was revived, it is said, by Mr. Moxon. None of the names of those who were present at the lodge in 1682 were in any way mixed up with the Hermetics; they were mostly members of the Masons' Company, though the meeting was not the meeting of the Masons' Company that year, neither was Ashmole a member of the Masons' Company. The theory, therefore, that Freemasonry was a product of Hermeticism at Ashmole's time is, in my opinion, utterly untenable. Ashmole knew nothing of the astrologers' practices when he was made a Freemason in 1646, and it is quite clear that Ashmole, with his love of the occult and the archæological, sought Freemasonry as an ancient institution then. His record now clearly demonstrates that the lodge was partly an operative lodge, admitting speculative members. So far, I believe, no one has been able to trace out anything of Mr. Richard Penket Warden, Mr. James Collier, Mr. Richard Sankey, Henry Littler, John Ellam, and Hugh Brewer, all of whom he specially names. Probably a search in the Register Books of the parish church at Warrington might tell us something about these old and worthy brethren. The Baconian and Ashmolean theory is, it is therefore quite clear, a chimera, based on no evidential authority, and utterly opposed to all the known facts of the case. That there may have been a connection between Hermeticism and Freemasonry I do not deny, but that Freemasonry emanated from an Hermetic association in the 17th century I certainly do. The further theory, that it was political, or in the interest of King Charles II., &c., is too absurd to dilate upon, the only apparent foundation for it being the fact that Ashmole served on the King's side in the civil wars. It is, on the contrary, as distinct as anything can be, that Freemasonry and Hermeticism were independent associations then, as I believe they have always been, and, however, perhaps either may have borrowed from the other, whether of formulæ or mystical teaching, which is a bare possibility, they were always self-existent and entirely different from each other. Historical criticism and evidential accuracy must, in my opinion, utterly savour and reject the Baconian or Ashmolean theory of Masonic origin and history.

CONSECRATION OF THE MARLBOROUGH LODGE, No. 1620.

Tuebrook, a pleasant suburb of busy Liverpool, was quite lively on Wednesday week, the 13th inst., on the occasion of the consecration of the Marlborough Lodge, No. 1620, which is started under the most promising auspices. The bells of the neighbouring church of St. John the Baptist rang out a merry peal at intervals during the day in honour of the specially interesting event, and the suburbanites of Tuebrook were quite in a flutter of excitement at the starting of a Masonic lodge in their midst. The need of a lodge in the neighbourhood has long been realised, and the petition for the setting up of the Marlborough was very cordially supported by a large number of brethren who have been long recognised as a felt power in the Order in this part of West Lancashire. The petitioning brethren are also well known in connection with the Craft, and give a guarantee of the strictly legitimate manner in which the business of the lodge will be carried on. The ceremony of consecration took place at the Derby Hall, Tuebrook, where the regular meetings will be held (a place admirably adapted for Masonic purposes), and between sixty and seventy brethren were present to witness the impressive and interesting ceremony. These included a goodly sprinkling of Provincial Grand Lodge officers, an excellent muster of Masters and officers, and a fair representation of "full privates." Amongst the brethren present were Bros. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec.; Dr. J. Kellett Smith, P.G. Reg.; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D.; J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; W. Doyle, P.P.J.G.D.; S. E. Ibbs, P.P.G.S.B.; J. Skeaf, P.G.O.; J. Pemberton, P.G.S.; P. Ball, P.G. Tyler; T. A. Collinson, P.G.S.; W. Pughe, P.M. 1182; J. E. Jackson, W.M. 667; J. Wood, Treas. 1094, 249 ("Freemason"); A. C. Wylie, J.D. 1264; S. Oxton, 1264; Dr. E. M. Sheldon, P.M. 1094; Dr. D. D. Costine, J.D. 216; W. Brown, 1229; R. Leason, Sec. 1393; G. Lunt, C. Tyrer, W. S. Bennett, 1299; L. Bagnall, 823; W. L. Lunt, P.M. 823; W. Woods, P.M. 1182, W.M. designate of the new lodge; J. Hayes, P.M. 249; J. Boyle; J. P. Bryan, 1035; R. R. Forshaw, jun., Sec. 1035; G. Robertson, 513; A. C. Forshaw, 1035; A. Hodgkins, 241; A. Woolrich, Sec. 1356, Treas. 1609; J. C. Robinson, J.W. 249; W. P. Jennings, J.D. 249; J. T. Aston, J.W. 203; J. Busfield, 216; E. Dutch, 1393; R. H. Evans, W.M. 292, P.M. 1393; G. J. Jones, 241; R. Reader, I.G. 292; D. Jones, P.M. 155; D. Gandon, 1305; T. J. Hughes, 216; C. Haswell, 203; J. Holme, J.D. 1299; S. Millikin, 823; G. Turner, P.M. 823; H. Hindle, H. Jackson, P.M. 1393; and others.

The position of presiding Consecrating Officer was assigned to Bro. Dr. J. Kellett Smith, P.G. Registrar, who took the chair at the commencement of the proceedings, the S.W.'s chair being occupied by Bro. W. Doyle, P.P.G. J.D., and the J.W.'s by Bro. J. Lunt, P.G.D.C. Bro. Dr. Smith was assisted in a generally impressive ceremony by Bros. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec.; R. Wylie, P.P.G. S.D.; J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; S. E. Ibbs, P.P.G. S.B.; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; Dr. E. M. Sheldon, P.M. 1094 (acting Chaplain); R. H. Evans, W.M. 292; and others. Bro. J. Skeaf, P.G.O., presided at the harmonium; and the exquisitely arranged musical service for the consecration by the talented P.G.O. was splendidly rendered by Bros. J. Busfield, 216; D. Jones, P.M. 155; G. J. Hughes, 216; C. Haswell, 203; and J. P. Bryon, Org. 1035.

At the conclusion of the consecration ceremony Bro. Dr. Smith, P.G. Reg., immediately proceeded to instal Bro. William Woods, the W.M. designate, in the chair of K.S., the presentation for this honour being made by Bros. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec., and R. Wylie, P.P.G. S.D. The first W.M. of the "Marlborough" subsequently invested the following brethren as the first staff of officers:—Bros. W. Pughe, S.W.; G. Lunt, J.W.; L. Bagnall, Treas.; H. Hindle, Sec.; S. Millikin, S.D.; C. Tyrer, J.D.; R. Leason, I.G.; J. R. Goepel, P.M.; P.P.G.D.C., D.C.; and M. Williamson, Tyler. On the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W., a cordial vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to the presiding Consecrating and Installing Officer (Bro. Dr. J. K. Smith) and the other brethren who assisted him in the ceremony, in recognition of the admirable manner in which the work had been done throughout. After upwards of a dozen propositions for joining and initiation had been made, the business proceedings were successfully brought to a close.

The brethren subsequently sat down to a récherché banquet, provided in the large room by Bro. W. Vines, P.M. 220 and 1299, of the Canton Hotel, Liverpool, whose catering, as usual, was of the best class. The W.M. (Bro. W. Woods) presided at the banquet, supported by the majority of the P.G. Officers who had been present at the consecration and installation. The W.M.

proposed the toast of "The Queen;" Bro. Dr. Smith, P.G.R., "The M.W.G.M., Bro. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family;" Bro. R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D., "The M.W. Pro G.M., Bro. the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon;" and the W.M., "The R.W.D.G.M. and P.G.M. W.L., Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, and the Officers of the P.G. Lodge, Past and Present," which was acknowledged by Bro. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec. "The Consecrating Officer and Installing Master" was next proposed and most felicitously responded to by Bro. Dr. Smith. "The Worshipful Master" was honoured with much enthusiasm, and "The Officers," "The Visitors," and "Poor and Distressed Masons" were the other toasts on a discreetly short list. Some excellent and appropriate harmony was given by the musical brethren already named, and special praise in due to Bro. J. Busfield, 216, whose artistic vocalisation elicited the heartiest approbation. Bro. Skeaf, P.G.O., was at the piano, and again proved "the right man in the right place."

Masonic and General Tidings.

The regular annual meeting of the Prov. G. Lodge of the Western Division of Lancashire will be held in the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, on Wednesday, the 4th prox., at 12 o'clock. Banquet at the Adelphi Hotel at 4 p.m.

The Installation ceremony will be rehearsed by Bro. M. S. Larham, P.M. 1539, W.M. 1216, at the United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, on Friday, the 29th inst., at 7.30 p.m.

The Kent Dale Lodge of Mark Masters, No. 195, will be consecrated on Tuesday next, by the V.W. Bro. F. Binckes, assisted by Bro. Col. Whitwell, M.P., and the V.W. Bro. J. Daniel Moore, 31. The W.M. designate is Bro. George J. McKay, and the Wardens, Bros. Robt. Godfrey and Wm. Cranston.

It is now understood that their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales will be the guests of Bro. Colonel Campbell, M.P., of Blythwood, on the day preceding their visit to Glasgow for the laying of the foundation of the New Post Office with Masonic honours, and that they will remain at Blythwood House overnight, driving up to Glasgow the following morning. A hearty welcome will doubtless be accorded them by the inhabitants of Renfrew, and it should not lose in enthusiasm when it is remembered that the Prince has special claims upon them, one of his titles being coupled with the name of that ancient and Royal borough.

On and after the 29th inst., the meetings of the Belgrave Lodge of Instruction will be held at the Constitution, Bedford-street, Covent Garden. We understand Bro. Pulsford, the well-known and popular Preceptor, will work the fifteen sections on Friday next, the 29th inst.

The special lodge of emergency, as announced in our last, was held on Monday last, the 18th inst., at the lodge-rooms, Havant, when and where the R.W. Provincial Grand Master of Hants and the Isle of Wight, Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., dedicated the new lodge-room. There was a very large attendance of the brethren. A report of the proceedings will appear in our next.

It is estimated that the aggregate yearly transactions in oysters in the city of New York is over 10,000,000 dols.

The Provincial Grand Lodge for the Province of Cheshire was held on Wednesday last, in the Market Hall, under the presidency of the Right Hon. the Lord De Tabley, R.W. Provincial Grand Master. After the business of the lodge had been transacted the brethren of a large number of lodges walked in procession to St. John's Church, where the sermon was preached by the P.G. Chaplain. The volume of the Sacred Law was borne by four Master Masons' sons, opened at the 10th chapter of Numbers. On leaving the church, the procession, numbering over 200, proceeded to the banquet, which was served at the Royal George Hotel, Lord de Tabley presiding. A full report will appear in our next.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.—Bro. S. B. Ellis, Hon. Secretary of the Sheffield Masonic Library, has voluntarily procured subscribers for fifty copies of Bro. Emma Holmes' forthcoming "Tales, Poems, and Masonic Papers," and forwarded them to Bro. George Markham Tweddell, of Stokesley. It has been suggested that if the Secretaries of lodges would generally give a fraternal hand a thousand subscribers might easily be obtained, and certainly the Craft ought to secure double that number.

P.G. LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.—The privilege of admission, it should have been stated last week, to the forthcoming P.G.L. of West Lancashire in Liverpool will be extended to "all invested officers." The banquet will be held at the Adelphi Hotel.

The Emperor of Austria has conferred the following decorations upon the military members of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught's suite who attended His Royal Highness on the occasion of the recent Austrian manoeuvres. Bro. Major Pickard has received the Cross of a Knight of the Order of Leopold; Brigadier-General Seymour, the Cross of a Commander of the Francis Joseph Order, together with the Star of the same Order; and Captain Lee, the Cross of the Francis Joseph Order.

A severe shock of earthquake, lasting thirty seconds, was felt in Sicily on Wednesday week. There was considerable panic at Messina, but no lives were lost nor any damage done to the buildings of the city. Some houses are stated to have been damaged at Reggio.

CONSECRATION OF THE BROWNRIGG LODGE,
No. 1638.

This new lodge was consecrated on Wednesday evening last, at the Swan Hotel, Thames Ditton, by the Provincial Grand Master for Surrey, Lieut. Genl. Brownrigg, C.B. The new lodge commenced its career by practising a virtue, which if followed up throughout its future career will alone merit success. Punctuality to the time appointed in the summonses for the lodges to open, is too rarely observed not to be noticed when it does occur; and this lodge, with commendable exactness, having been arranged for opening at three o'clock, marshalled its brethren some short time before that hour, and at the time appointed the Prov. Grand Master ascended the chair and placed the Rev. Ambrose W. Hall, his Prov. G. Chaplain, in the S.W. chair, and Bro. Thomas Long, his Prov. G.P., in the J.W. chair. The Rev. C. W. Arnold, G. Chaplain of England, acted as Chaplain, and Bro. George Porter, as I.G.

The complete list of brethren present comprised the names of Bros. Lieut.-Genl. Brownrigg, Charles Harris, George Porter, Arthur Stone, H. W. Linton, Colonel Burdett, Prov. G.M. Middlesex; Rev. Ambrose W. Hall, Prov. G. Chaplain Surrey; C. A. Greenwood, Prov. G. Sec. Surrey; Chas. Cathrow, P.P.G.S.B. Surrey; Cleaveland Phillips, 820; Henry Harris, 1515; Thos. S. Lamb, 820; T. Baker, 889; Bernard Sharp, 168 and 84 (Guernsey); Charles Jackson, P.M. 180 and 1420; G. Dixon, 66; E. H. Rogers (Cadogan); T. Hardy, 889; John Bond, 889; A. Nuthall, 889; Thomas Long, 889; Frederick Hunt, 889; William Hammond, P.H.D. Middlesex; C. W. Arnold, P.M. 1395; H. Massey ("Freemason"); and T. H. Byer, P.M. 889.

After the opening of the lodge, the Prov. G.M. immediately proceeded to constitute the lodge, and the following oration was delivered by the Rev. C. W. Arnold:—

Before the consecration of a lodge it is customary to make a few remarks on the nature and principles of Freemasonry; and in accordance with this custom I shall now briefly address to you. There are three great virtues that ought to be the characteristics of every Mason—Sincerity, Truth, and Brotherly Love. Without the two former the latter cannot exist. The love of Masons must be pure and unalloyed; their friendship sincere and genuine; their cordiality without hypocrisy. In fact, the true Mason will not live for himself but rather for those around him, despising selfishness. What a different aspect would this world wear if all men were but truly actuated by the principles of Masonry! No longer would our hearts shudder at the horrors of war; peace with her olive wand would descend from heaven; succour would come to the distressed; comfort to the afflicted; everywhere would be heard the voice of joy and gladness, and no complaining in our streets. What are the jewels which sparkle on your breasts but emblems of the virtues which ought to shine beneath, like the medals of the soldiers which tell of noble and heroic deeds. Small may be their intrinsic value, yet great are the truths they symbolize. We must contradict by our lives the statements of those who assert that trifles are the objects of our ambition and that our meetings are but an excuse for conviviality. God teaches us, and we are reminded by Masonry, that we came into the world poor and penniless; under the fostering care of the Great Architect of the Universe we have passed through the dangers of childhood and arrived at man's estate; we pass on by regular steps across the chequered flooring of the world, learning lessons as we go, looking up from nature to nature's God; in the Third Degree yet more knowledge is given to us, as we behold the emblems of mortality everywhere around and the star above whose bright light pierces even through the darkness of the tomb. Thus in every step in Masonry great lessons are inculcated and the best instruction given—how man must live on earth—how die—how rest in heaven, when he has ascended to those immortal mansions whence all goodness emanates. Just as King Solomon in that glorious building he erected in every ornament he used conveyed a message to his people, so the Mason is taught a lesson by everything around him which he sees and handles. But let us remember that these symbols are only useful as long as they inculcate and keep in view some truth, some vital principle. Above all Masonry directs us to the Volume of the Sacred Law to guide our actions and govern our faith. Thus is Masonry the handmaid of Religion, echoing the apostle's advice that "denying all ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world," and that now we see through a glass darkly, but the time is drawing near when Masonry and all other human institutions will have passed away, and we shall see the Most High as he is, in His temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. May He in His mercy grant that when that great day comes, our work may be done and we may be ready.

The ceremony of consecration was then concluded, and the Prov. G.M., assisted by the Rev. Chaplain, installed Bro. Wm. David May as W.M. The officers invested were Bros. F. Buckland, F.M. 205, S.W.; Edwin Wells, J.W.; George Porter, Sec.; Linton, S.D.; Stone, J.D.; and W. Lane, Tyler.

Seven propositions for joining and five for initiation were given in, and after the W.M. had stated that he would hold a lodge of emergency next Thursday, he closed the lodge, and with the same punctuality as that observed in opening the lodge the brethren sat down to their banquet. This was served in splendid style by Bro. C. Harris, the proprietor of the hotel, and won the warmest commendation of every brother present.

The toasts after banquet were proposed in due order, and after those of "The Queen" and "The Grand Master" had been honoured, Col. Burdett responded for "The Pro

Grand Master," &c. Having done this in a few words, he complimented the lodge on having the ceremony of consecration and that of installation so well performed by the Prov. G.M. and the Grand Chaplain. Referring next to Freemasonry particularly, he observed that the Order has flourished very greatly during the last few years, and the general idea had been that during the present year fifty lodges would be added to the roll. We had, however, only reached three quarters of the year, and already sixty-four lodges had been added. The Brownrigg was the 64th, and he felt confident that it would not be unequal to all the others, but that it would set a good example to all those lodges which would follow it.

The W.M. proposed "The Provincial Grand Master." The brethren ought to feel highly honoured by his having attended to consecrate their new lodge. This ought to induce the brethren—young members of the Masonic Order compared with their Provincial Grand Master—to try if they could not equal in their working the grand way in which he did the working that evening. He would particularly remark to them that the General had many other matters to occupy his mind, and yet he could devote some portion of his time to showing the brethren with what ability Masonic work could be transacted when a little attention and a real love of Masonry were brought to bear upon it.

Genl. Brownrigg responded for the toast of "The Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Officers," which the W.M. proposed in concluding his speech. Nothing but severe domestic affliction, or being himself in articulo mortis, would have prevented his being there that day, and in his happy Province of Surrey, consecrating the new lodge. The province had been increasing in numbers happily during the five years he had held the honour of holding the position of Prov. G.M. Five new lodges had been added, and he did not wish the increase to be at a greater rate than that. That was going on quite fast enough. He begged the brethren to bear one thing in mind, that as Masonry increased in quantity, so let them improve it in quality. Let them be careful of those they admitted into their ranks. He said this especially to the brethren as a young lodge; and he had felt it his duty to say the same thing lately at a very large Masonic meeting at the Provincial Grand Lodge of North Wales and Shropshire. He felt bound to say it again, for Masonry was very popular and fashionable at the present time. It was natural that it should be so, owing to the circumstances of the Marquis of Ripon, the late Grand Master's resignation, and the accession to the Grand Master's Throne of the Heir apparent of Great Britain. He would give the brethren some advice. There was no reason why, because a man was what was called a good fellow, or was a genial companion, they should make him a Freemason; there were other qualities than these necessary for a good Freemason; and in the Province of Surrey these other qualities were considered. Do not admit a man they could not thoroughly trust; do not admit him, merely because he was a good fellow. The more Masonry was extended the more would be expected of Freemasons. He was afraid that the brethren would almost think he was preaching them a sermon; but such was not his intention. He was an old man, and an old Mason, and he spoke from old experience, and it was with a sincere desire for the good of Masonry that he addressed the brethren in these terms.

The Rev. C. W. Arnold, who was also called upon to reply, said he had hoped to escape from this duty, as the Prov. G.M. had said everything thoroughly which he could have said. He must, however, correct a little mistake into which General Brownrigg had fallen. Instead of five new Surrey lodges having been added to the roll since General Brownrigg came to preside over the province there were six. One was the lodge at Woking, and then there were five in which he (the Rev. C. W. Arnold) had had the pleasure of assisting the Prov. Grand Master in consecrating since then. Therefore Masonry in the province had extended a good deal more than General Brownrigg led them to suppose, and consequently there was more cause for the brethren to think over what he had said. He hoped they would do so thoroughly and sincerely. He was very much pleased to come to this lodge and see so many Masons of the province gathered together. He might add that the working of a lodge, or the good working of a lodge, was not the only thing to be observed in Masonry. It was very essential; but the charities of Masonry had to be studied as well. Masons ought to improve in their work, and the more they met in lodge, the more mutual improvement there would be among the brethren. He hoped that the Brownrigg Lodge would be a good working lodge.

General Brownrigg proposed "Success and Prosperity to the Brownrigg Lodge." It would be worse than affectation, it would be absolute ingratitude on his part, if he did not express how very sincerely he felt the honour that had been done himself in the name given to this lodge. It proved to him that his poor efforts in the province had been appreciated, and that alone was very satisfactory to him. But had he been aware of the day on which it was intended to consecrate the lodge, he would have liked to ask that it should have another name given to it. Many of the brethren might not remember, but it was very vividly in his own memory, that on that day twenty-two years ago there was an action performed which, after a peace of very many years, he thought must have confirmed the confidence and the esteem that all Englishmen had in their army. That day was the anniversary of the battle of the Alma, and he should have been glad if the lodge had received that name instead of his own. He was present at the battle of the Alma, and the lovely day they now had was a counterpart of the lovely day on which that battle was fought. The valley of the Thames in which this lodge was being held put him in mind of the beautiful valley the English army crossed on the 20th September, 1854. They went through gardens in which melons and grapes were profuse, and with which the soldiers were very glad to quench their thirst. If it had not been for the results, the losing of many dear friends and comrades, it would have been a very beautiful field day; a more magnificent day he never saw. It was on this account he would have liked the lodge called Alma, as it was a lodge of his own province. However, he could not help feeling the honour of having his own name associated with it. He would desire that this youngest of the flock in his Surrey fold should emulate the others that were already in it. He could not help mentioning to them the kind reception he always met with in his province; there was but a single drawback to it, one little difficulty which the brethren had not forgotten. He wished all the brethren health and prosperity, and the lodge all the success which had attended its elder sisters.

The W.M. replied, and said he had always tried to be a good working Mason, and he should always endeavour so to be; and he would ask all the brethren to follow his example.

The W.M. afterwards gave "The Visitors" and "The Officers," for the last of which Bro. Buckland and Bro. Porter replied.

"The Press" followed, and Bro. Massey ("Freemason") whose name was specially associated with it, having responded, the brethren drank the Tyler's toast, and brought a most agreeable evening to a close.

EXTRACT FROM AN OLD MINUTE BOOK.

"Proceedings of the Grand Communication, March 4th, 1778. Grand Officers present. The several lodge dues paid. James Mackree, P.M. of 193, preferred complaint against John Robertson, a member of said lodge, for aspersing the character of Laurence Dermott, Esq., which charges were only proved in part, and the said John Robertson was ordered to declare in open lodge that he had not any intention of depreciating the character of the late R.W.D.G. Master, L. Dermott, Esq., which was done and adjusted. John Dover, P.M. of No. 8, preferred a complaint against Philip Thomas, Esq., late of No. 193, when the R.W.D.G. Master, thinking the charge of such trifling consequence as not to be heard, refused to entertain it. Proposed to Dine on St. John's Day with the Grand Officers—confirmed. Proposed that the Tickets be Half Guinea each—agreed to same nem. con. The several lodges to send the names of such brothers, Master Masons, to officiate as Stewards, to the Grand Secretary. To be laid before the next Quarterly Communication. It was agreed upon that Lodge No. 152, now held at Madras, in the East Indies, should have power by their present Master, a Past Master, to act as a Provincial Grand Lodge till a proper person, and full authority, be given to establish a Provincial Grand Lodge at Madras. Bro. Jas. Mackree, P.M. of No. 193 Lodge, was censured by the Grand Officers for exhibiting against John Robertson of said Lodge, the charge of forging the Duke of Athol's name by Laurence Dermott, Esq., and not fully proving the same."

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Joshua Nunn, P.G.S.B., Senior Vice-President, President, Bro. James Brett, P.G.P., Junior Vice-President, occupied the chair of S.W.; and Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P., took the chair of J.W. The other members of the Lodge of Benevolence present were Bros. H. Bartlett, W. Stephens, W. H. Myers, S. Rawson, Past Dist. G.M. for China; S. G. Foxall, A.G.P.; Joseph Smith, P.G.P.; W. T. Howe, and W. Hilton. Bro. H. G. Bass filled the position of Bro. John Hervey, G.S., in his absence. The other brethren who attended were Bros. J. Bingham, W.M. 1599; James Dawbarn, P.M. 213; Thomas Charles Chapman, W.M. 1524; G. W. Smith, W.M. 183; John Kelway, P.M. 446; T. Winterford, W.M. 1321; H. Somerville Burney, W.M. 1615; H. R. Cooper, Smith, W.M. 1523; Peter Le Page, jun., P.M. 143; W. J. Murless, W.M. 1489; T. W. Whitmarsh, W.M. 1150; B. W. Swallow, W.M. 1563; John Green, W.M. 27; H. W. Hemsworth, P.M. 1173; and Charles B. Payne, G.T., P.M. 27.

Grants of £110 made at last meeting were confirmed. The list of new cases number 17. One of these was discussed, and three were deferred. Grants were made to the amount of £285. Two were for £50 each, two for £25, three for £20, two for £15, four for £10, and one for £5.

The lodge was then closed.

Last week a rumour was in circulation in Dublin that Lord Chief Justice Whiteside was about to retire with a peerage, and that Vice-Chancellor Chatterton would be Chief Justice in his room. Mr. Whiteside's health has of late been feeble.

At Boulogne on Monday morning four young Englishmen were bathing at low tide opposite the Hôtel du Pavillon, when two of them fell into a hole, and being caught by an under current were drowned. The names of the two unfortunate gentlemen are W. Vinicombe, of Forest Hill, aged 25, and Mr. Herrold, aged 23.

Some disturbances recently occurred in Amsterdam in consequence of the abolition of the annual kermis, or fair. Bands of the lowest class of the populace paraded the streets and broke windows. The troops were called out to assist the police, and several rioters were wounded.

[The following appeared in our Second Edition of last week.]

CONSECRATION OF THE WEST SMITHFIELD LODGE, No. 1623.

On Thursday last this new lodge was consecrated at the new Market Hotel, King-street, Snow-hill. It has been started for the convenience of brethren (of whom there are many) in the ward of Aldersgate.

The brethren who took part in the ceremony were Bros. Joseph Smith, Thomas W. Adams, Frederick Walters, Alfred Black, H. J. Green, W.M. 1275; A. Tisley, Sec. 1538; A. Beasley, P.M. 780; C. W. Williams, J.W. 1275; F. H. Harvey, 1423; W. E. Williams, W.M. 1538; W. Platt, P.M. 23; J. W. Baldwin, P.M. 1423; W. Jones, P.M. 765; G. T. Wintle, P.M. 548; J. Taylor, W.M. 933; H. Bartlett, P.M. 147; J. T. Briggs, P.M. 157; C. Legg, W.M. 861; C. W. Wise, W.M. 1158; Capt. Reginald Williams, P.G.O. Middlesex, S.W. 1275; Col. J. Creaton, P.G. D.; H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"); J. Terry, Sec. Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution; Chas. B. Payne, P.M. 27, G.T.; James Willing, P.M. 1507; G. Mallett, J.W. 141; J. L. Waygood, W.M. 141; W. Hale, P.M. 135; W. Hilton, P.M. 780 and 1351; Edward Smiles, 1491; W. Sugg, P.M. 452; Wright, Meanwell, P.M. 861; G. Allison, 1298, Wm. Ough, P.G.P.; Michael Underwood, D.C. 1423; J. Johnson, 1423; G. Wallace, 95; F. Thurston, 72; Lieutenant Walter Cole, 1423; Hugh Cotter, W. C. Lovegrove, 554; R. Schroder, 217; H. J. Westmore, 217; C. J. Hogg, P.M. 58, P.G.S.; T. R. Bull, 228; H. Walford, 228; Bockett, 228; H. Keeble, P.M. 1275; J. Chambers Rowe, W.M. 780; A. G. Dodson, W.M. 188; G. Rumball, 141; J. Harries, 879; W. Stuart, P.M. 141; and E. W. Mackney, P.M. 194.

The ceremony of consecration was performed by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, who appointed Lieut.-Col. Creaton, P.G.D., as S.W.; W. Ough, P.G.P., J.W.; the Rev. P.M. Holden, Prov. G.C. Middlesex, as Chaplain; Green, I.G.; H. G. Buss, Prov. G.J.W. Middlesex, D.C.; Jas. Terry, Prov. G.D.C. Herts, D.C.; F. Walters, Sec., and Williams, Organist.

After the lodge had been opened in the three degrees Bro. John Hervey said,

Brethren,—It is customary, as you are all aware, on these occasions for the presiding officer to address some few observations to the lodge; but I can assure you I feel under considerable disadvantage, because as it has fallen to my lot to consecrate a great many lodges I find it perfectly impossible to discover anything new to say to every new lodge that I undertake to consecrate; but there is one thing I will venture to do on the present occasion, and that is to congratulate the W.M. designate and the members of the lodge which we are about now to consecrate upon having succeeded in the attainment of their wishes, that of getting a new warrant; and I hope as this lodge is to be a lodge, I may almost say, for the convenience of this neighbourhood, that it will be so supported by the brethren who live round about, and by those whom they introduce into the Order, as to merit the confidence of the Craft. Having a brother at the head of this new lodge so experienced as Bro. Smith, of course we cannot but expect a good deal from this new lodge, because when a brother has had much experience in the Craft he must of necessity be better able to govern than one who probably has never filled a Warden's chair, or gone through the chair of the Master; and under those circumstances we need not anticipate that there will be much difficulty in carrying the lodge through in a proper and gratifying spirit so far as the Craft is concerned. I, brethren, as you know, always, and I believe with good reason, impress upon the brethren the necessity of not admitting to the Craft candidates who are not fit to be introduced into the order; and although our good friend Bro. Joseph Smith is so experienced, yet those who are about to serve with him in this new lodge may not be so experienced as himself, and may be induced on very slight acquaintance, or not knowing who they are recommending to the lodge, to propose men who hereafter they will be sorry to see in the Craft. I may, though it is an oft-told tale with me, once more venture to impress it on the minds of those who are present that the whole existence of the Craft, one may almost say, depends upon its members being of that class who will preserve unity in the lodge, and who will not for the sake of the joining fee or the initiation fee, introduce brethren. It cannot matter to the members of a lodge whether in the first year they number twenty or thirty; it cannot matter certainly to them whether they are a small lodge or a large one; and I am sure it will be the experience of all those round this room that the smaller a lodge is the more manageable it is; the more comfortable it is; and I might almost go further and say, the more respectable it is. Now I do not wish to throw any discredit on large lodges where properly conducted, and where the members will pull together in one train; but in a large lodge the members cannot be so much under the control of the Master as in a small one; they will break out into or associate themselves into little coteries, and make more noise than desirable; and hence, I say, a small lodge is more comfortable than a large one. Now, brethren, there is another point I have insisted upon on two or three occasions, and once more I will allude to it, and that is the absurd and uncharitable system of blackballing for no other reason than that a brother is disappointed in a lodge. Nothing can be more uncharitable or un-Masonic; and I am bound to run the risk of being told that I have again told the same tale, and, that I am delivering a prosy address when I warn the brethren against what must be the destruction of every lodge in which it prevails, that of systematic blackballing without any object. A respectable man is put up as a candidate for membership to the lodge; here can be nothing said against him; he is everything you could desire or wish for; and yet when the ballot box is carried round the room the W.M. declares him not elected. What can be more humiliating to the lodge generally, or to the W.M. in particular? Brethren, I will not trouble you by any further observation of mine. I know presently you will have a beautiful discourse from the rev. brother on my left; and I shall leave him to give his advice to the lodge, and he will, I am sure, agree with me that the observations I have made are not out of place, although they may often have been reiterated from the Master's chair.

After this the ceremony was proceeded with as far as the delivery of the Chaplain's oration, when Bro. Hervey called upon the Rev. P. M. Holden to perform that office, whereupon,

The Rev. P.M. Holden said,—W. Sir, and brethren all, although the art or science of Freemasonry dates from the creation of man, the great subject of it, I might almost say, from the creation itself, yet the building of King Solomon's Temple is the great and all important era from whence is derived most of the Freemasonry, as it exists among us at the present day, and to the wise and glorious King of Israel, we are indebted for many of its mystic forms and hieroglyphic ceremonies. Now this Temple of King Solomon was erected in imitation of the Tabernacle of Moses, and the Court thereof from a design which his father, King David received in a vision from the Great Architect of the Universe, but far exceeding the tabernacle in grandeur and magnificence. King Solomon dedicated this temple to the Most High by assembling all the people, by bringing thither the ark of the covenant and the holy things, by devout prayer, by music and praises, by a feast of seven days, and a vast multitude of sacrifices. Every part of the temple had a symbolic meaning; its porch, its courts, its pillars, its altars, its decorations and vessels. The services, moreover, were of a typical and symbolic character, and most admirably calculated to impress the minds of the most ignorant among the worshippers with feelings of the deepest respect, awe and reverence to the Great Creator. The highest acts of adoration were accompanied with the sounds of many instruments, with the swelling chorus of a trained multitude of singers; whilst the prayers of the faithful ascended to the Great Architect amidst the perfume of incense which flowed from golden censers. Symbolic worship has ever been used from the very earliest times by all nations in their religious rites and ceremonies; but nothing so imposing and gorgeous has ever been seen or heard of in the world's history as the celebrated temple worship at Jerusalem. Now, brethren, a Freemason's lodge is neither more nor less than a very humble representation of King Solomon's Temple; and however feeble an imitation it may be, it enjoins by its symbolic teaching such estimable tenets and principles that if Masons will only strive to the utmost to make themselves acquainted with its ceremonies and mysteries they must become better fitted for the society of their brethren of the Craft, and certainly better members of the popular world at large. So full of meaning are the simple but beautiful symbols constantly before our eyes that the very poorest memory can retain their significance and practise the principles they represent in daily life and conduct. To carry the illustration further, the human body, I need scarcely remind you, has been described as "The Temple of the Most High," and as our "earthly tabernacle;" and the peculiar system of Freemasonry is such that by it we are enabled to build up body and soul "perfect in its parts," and full of "wisdom, strength, and beauty." Moreover, supported by fortitude, chastened by temperance, and guided in all our actions by faith and justice, we shall be able rightly and properly to maintain the fabric of this our earthly temple until time for us shall be no more. Then may we hope to obtain the passport to eternal life, and so at last gain admittance into the glorious lodge of our Supreme Grand Master above. The outside world, I am aware, sometimes brings the charge against us that Freemasonry is inconsistent with true religion, or, indeed, with any form of religion—a most unjust, cruel, and wicked charge; for in the ceremonial of Freemasonry, and more especially in the consecration ceremony, religion is always prominently, emphatically, and impressively brought forth. Now, the volume of the Sacred Law, which always lies open in the lodge, contains the unmistakable command of the Great Architect himself that His name should not be taken in vain; and while we therefore in our ceremonies invariably invoke His Name and implore a Divine blessing upon all our endeavours, it must be a very great hypocrisy on our part, and hypocrisy of the very blackest description, if we do not act under the feeling of religion with a desire to please God. Freemasonry must be one thing or the other; it must either be what I firmly believe it to be, a grand system of morality, or else a form of hypocrisy of which we, as honest men, should be thoroughly and heartily ashamed. It is also with infinite pride and satisfaction that we can all bear witness and acknowledge that Freemasonry, though ranging under its banners men of every variety of creed, is wholly and entirely free from any religious controversy or bitterness. Those who are not Masons sometimes think it is a kind of religion of our own; but it is not so, for this simple reason that Freemasonry never touches on the mode or manner of the worship of God; it simply inculcates and enforces as strongly as it possibly can the one thing which must form a part of every true religion, that we should do to our neighbours as we would our neighbours should do to us, and act honourably, honestly, and unselfishly in all our dealings with mankind, not merely from the idea of doing them good, still less for the idea of getting credit to ourselves; but for the highest and grandest motive of all, to please the Most High God. I do not for one moment consider that Freemasonry is a higher principle or a loftier inducement to right action than religion. It is not a substitute for religion in this respect, and God forbid that I should say so; but at any rate Freemasonry unquestionably does this: my brethren, it includes those men who perhaps have hardly any one thing in common, whose profession, whose business, and whose position in life would naturally always keep them entirely apart; and it enables them, I say, to meet together, to know one another, to esteem and respect one another, to love one another, and above all, to speak upon questions which probably they would never touch upon otherwise—questions as to what is right and what is wrong, as to what is noble and what is mean; and in fact, that which is the sum total of religion is the subject about which Masons can openly talk in lodge, and which they would never think of doing without that feeling of shyness and reserve which exists in a greater or lesser degree in every man's mind and bosom where there is not this open communion which Freemasons so thoroughly enjoy and appreciate. In this way I am positive that Freemasonry does an incalculable amount of good. I mention this at the establishment of a new lodge because it is of the greatest importance that these points should be more or less made known to new members before they are initiated. I say advisedly "before they are initiated," for although a candidate comes into Freemasonry blind with regard to our secrets and mysteries and our ceremonies, he should at any rate, I think, be acquainted with the grand principle upon which the ancient Order is founded, and as to what will be expected of him should he become a member of the Craft. May I venture to add Worshipful Sir, and I am sure, from what you have said, you will bear me out in the expression of this opinion, and also other distinguished Freemasons present, that the greatest care, I feel, should be taken in the admission of candidates, and I am sure this should be strictly attended to, as I feel positive, with you, sir, that upon it depends the future prosperity and success of this lodge. It only remains for me, Worshipful Sir, to thank you and all the brethren present, for the very kind manner in which they have been pleased to listen to this very imperfect address, I admit, and which, perhaps, I cannot better conclude than, with your permission, sir, reciting the following lines, which were delivered at the installation meeting of an American Lodge:—

"When, ages back, the Temple rose,
Majestic 'neath the rising sun,
The Sacred Scroll was then unrolled,
The glorious Brotherhood begun.
And proudly down the tide of years,
Amid the rocks that frowning lay,
The vessel with Masonic flag,
Has kept its safe and steady way.
The crew are pledged to noble deeds,
To battle bravely for the right,
To hold truth's standard ever up,
To scatter darkness by the light,
To help a fallen brother rise,
To feed the poor, assist the weak,
To drive with tender pitying hand,
The tear from off the widow's cheek.
Base slander, serpent-like, and foul,
Shall die beneath Masonic heel,
The sword shall from its scabbard leap,
When woman's honour makes appeal.
When raging heat on battle field,
Strives every battered pulse to smother,
The feeble foe with sinking strength,
Gives mystic sign that makes him brother.
On land or sea, in every clime,
Where'er the tongue of man is spoken,
Is found the pure and spotless square,
The Masons' ever honoured token.
Their creed holds all that's good and true,
No Christian teaching can be surer
The prayer we list at mother's knee
In spirit is not better, purer.
Curs'd be the man who falsely takes
The sacred oath for selfish gain,
Who stains his armour casitiff like,
And brings reproach upon the name.
But blessed shall the brother be
Who purely wears the signet given
Till God, the Great High Priest, shall call
The sacred lodge above in Heaven.

The Rev. brother was much applauded as he resumed his seat on the termination of the above address. The lodge ceremony was then performed, and Bro. Joseph Smith was installed first W.M. of the lodge. Bro. Adams was invested as S.W., and Bro. Frederick Walters as Secretary, with many complimentary remarks by the W.M. On the motion of the W.M., seconded by Bro. F. Walters, the thanks of the lodge were unanimously voted to the Consecrating Master, and all the officers who had assisted him, and they were elected honorary members of the lodge. Bros. Hervey and Holden responded for the honour; and a vote of thanks was afterwards passed to Bro. Williams for the musical portion of the ceremony. Propositions for joining and initiation were then given in, and the lodge was closed. A very nice banquet, supplied by Bro. Butt, followed, and the usual toasts were proposed. Afterwards Bro. Hervey responded for the "Grand Officers," and proposed "The W.M.'s Health and Prosperity to the West Smithfield Lodge," for which the W.M. replied.

Bros. Buss, Terry, and Hogg responded for "The Provincial Grand Officers," and Bro. A. Beasley for "The Visitors."

Bro. Adams replied for "The Officers," and Bro. F. Walters for "The Secretary."

Bro. H. Massey responded for "The Press," and Bro. Butt to a special toast proposed by the W.M. for the landlord of the house, who had provided an excellent banquet and had been so punctual that the dinner having been ordered for five o'clock, all the brethren were sitting down enjoying it by five minutes after that hour.

Bros. E. W. Mackney and W. Platt amused the brethren with some pleasant singing, and Bro. Holden gave several recitations.

The next meeting of the lodge will be held on 18th

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

We do not undertake to return rejected communications. Will Bro. C. Van Dalen, of Berlin, kindly forward his address to the Editor.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ASHTON.—On the 17th inst., at 142, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury Park, N., the wife of Robert Ashton, of a son.
BINNEY.—On the 16th inst., at Hamilton-road, the wife of J. R. Binney, Esq., of a son.
FRY.—On the 18th inst., at Woodburn, Darlington, the wife of T. Fry, Esq., of a daughter.
GRANT.—On the 16th inst., at the Hall, Headcorn, Kent, the wife of J. H. Grant, Esq., of a son.
HARRIS.—On the 17th inst., at Long Parish House, Hants, the wife of H. Harris, of twin daughters.
SAMPSON.—On the 15th inst., at Blenheim-crescent, Kensington Park, the wife of R. Sampson, of a son.
SMITH.—On the 18th inst., at Avenue-road, Regent's Park, the wife of C. Smith, Esq., jun., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

BROGDEN—RUDGARD.—On the 18th inst., at Holy Trinity, Bridlington Quay, Thomas Skilbeck, son of the late R. Brogden, of Tockwith, near York, Esq., to Margaret, widow of the late J. R. Rudgard, Esq.
DODD—ANDERSON.—On the 19th ult., at the Cathedral, Bombay, Charles A. Dodd, Captain Bengal Staff Corps, to Margaretta, daughter of A. Anderson, Esq., M.D., C.B.
DRAY—COOK.—On the 19th inst., at the parish church, Eynesford, by the Rev. Wm. Brewer, Thomas, second son of William Dray, Esq., of Farningham, Kent, to Amy, youngest daughter of Samuel Cook, Esq., of The Priory, Eynesford, Kent.

DEATHS.

ALDIS.—On the 30th ult., at Isleworth, Emily Arabella Brome, widow of C. J. B. Aldis, Esq.
AVELING.—On the 2nd inst., at St. Catharine's, Canada, in his 31st year, William Arthur, third son of the Rev. Dr. Aveling.
LAMB.—On the 17th inst., at Baddow-road, Chelmsford, Stephana Lamb, aged 69.
LAMTOW.—On the 16th inst., at Lansdowne-place, Brighton, Hedworth Lambton, Esq., aged 79.
MAITLAND.—On the 14th inst., at Mount Wise, Devonport, Frances Lorne Mary, wife of Major J. H. Maitland, R.E.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1876.

A MODERN LADY FREEMASON.

A curious case has occurred in Hungary, where a Countess Hädick has been received as a Freemason in an Hungarian Lodge, under the Grand Orient of Hungary. She is described as "a highly educated lady, and well versed in Masonic literature" especially. Having studied Masonic history and ritualism, "she applied for initiation;" we are further told she was "balloted for and regularly initiated." On the fact coming to the knowledge of the Grand Orient of Hungary it "declared the initiation null and void" on the ground that a woman was "incapable of being a Freemason." So the case stands at present; but a question has arisen, whether, as she has been actually initiated, she can be refused admission into a Freemasons' Lodge. When we consider the case carefully, two main points present themselves, namely, the theoretical and the practical side of the question. Theoretically, we apprehend the act of the lodge and of the members was ipso facto illegal, no woman being capable of admission properly, and the rules and laws of Freemasonry only contemplating and dealing with men. But a question comes in here, almost necessarily—has the G. Orient of Hungary taken altogether the right view of the case, and dealt with it entirely "jure latomico"? Much of course must depend on the laws of the Grand Orient itself, but we are inclined to think that a doubt may fairly arise as to the actual power of the Grand Orient to declare the initiation "null and void." It is one thing to condemn a W.M. and a lodge for an act of illegality per se, it is quite another thing, to declare an act, even if illegally committed, "null and void." And especially is this the case as regards an initiation. "Once a Mason always a Mason" is an old Masonic adage, and we confess that we do not exactly understand how the countess's initiation, performed in open lodge, can be declared "null and void," or how having been formally, (if illegally), made a Mason, she can be unmade by any "ex post facto" decision. The Grand Orient of Hungary could, we apprehend, order the initiation to be repeated, but can it declare it "null and void." In England we sometimes repeat ceremonies on account of informalities, or technical defects, but we are not aware of any decision declaring an initiation and the like "null and void" on any ground. In fact, we do not see how that can be said or done. It is competent for the Grand Lodge to refuse a certificate on the ground of an improper reception, without which Countess Hädick could not gain admission into a regular lodge, but she then continues a "Mason unattached." The whole blame, of course, lies on the W.M. and the lodge, as they must have known that they were acting in defiance of the unchanging Masonic law on the subject. No one could, we feel strongly, have found fault with any decision which the Grand Orient of Hungary could have come to, as to the actual wrongdoing of the Master and brethren of the offending lodge. But there come in here further and wider questions. Is Countess Hädick, by the decision of the Grand Orient, precluded from all Masonic membership with any lodge? Is the original wrong of this admission so great that nothing can repair it? Does the sentence of the Grand Orient of Hungary so annul Countess Hädick's initiation, that she must still be considered as a profane? On the strict letter of the law she was inadmissible for initiation, but having been duly (though improperly) initiated, what then? Our readers will see what a nice point of Masonic jurisprudence crops up. Now, we venture to say, looking at the matter fairly, broadly, and liberally, that we are inclined to think the best course for the Grand Orient of Hungary will be to make an exceptional case of it, to recognise the "fait accompli," though with the distinct declaration that the act, being absolutely illegal per se, would entail exemplary punishment on any lodge and Master so offending again, and, if need be, to enact a special law on the subject. Such a course of proceeding would be better, we think, than the declaration that the act is "null and void" per se, as in that case much may be advanced by Masonic casuists, we apprehend, which may give rise to many and somewhat difficult questions. At the same time this initiation of a lady is a curious fact in itself, at the present time, and deserves to be brought before the knowledge and attention of our many intelligent readers, and we shall be glad to hear the opinions of any of our brethren on the subject.

THE REACTION.

We have been from the very first persuaded that the follies of the Ultramontanists would react upon themselves, and that they would eventually be condemned and disavowed by the sober-minded members of the Roman Catholic Church. This view of ours is very much confirmed by a paragraph contained in the "Times" of Saturday last, and which is to this effect under the head of "Malta:" "Among the British residents, and especially among the military and youth of Malta, unabated indignation continues to prevail against the Roman Catholic Bishop for excommunicating the Maltese journal 'Fenice' for upholding Freemasonry." Surely the excommunication of a newspaper for simply being friendly to Freemasonry is a very "strong order" indeed. We beg at once, in the name of our brotherhood, to tender to the publisher and editor of the "Fenice" our sincere sympathy against this latest exhibition of Ultramontane folly. Some of our readers may remember how in olden days, another Roman Catholic Archbishop of Malta distinguished himself by one of the most intolerant missives ever penned by mortal man, and how he drew down upon himself the eloquent and indignant remarks of our good old Bro. Dr. Oliver. But that is a thing of other days and certainly not worth reading now, except as a literary curiosity contained in that great museum and collection of human absurdity and rancour—the Past. That in 1876 another Roman Catholic Archbishop should repeat the old stage trick and surround it with the rockets and red lights of Ultramontane violence is not surprising, though very saddening. As we have often asked before, will not Roman Catholics themselves try to put a stop to and stamp out this bitter and ruthless intolerance, worthy of the darkest days and the foulest crimes of the Inquisition? What the Roman Curia can hope for by the countenance and continuance of this system of persecution we cannot profess to understand or even to imagine. This fury of Ultramontanism, this unwise and perverse alarm, this unceasing illiberalism, and this monstrous parody on every profession of a religion of peace and love and reconciliation, is, we have every reason to believe, not only looked upon with great distrust and disapproval by a large section of the Roman Catholic clergy and laity, but is also, we feel persuaded, most adverse to the religious claims, and most detrimental to the spiritual character of the Church of Rome itself. A great deal of the hostility which the Romish Church conjures up against itself, is directed not against the Romish Church so much, quâ the Romish Church, as against its absurd pretensions, and its unreasonable hostility, both to the peace and progress, the liberty, and the conscience of mankind!

THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

At this time of the year we think it well to call the attention of our readers to some educational tests which the Boys' School has passed through during the twelve months which have elapsed since Dr. Morris's accession to power, and which reflect equal credit on the teachers and the taught. We congratulate Dr. Morris on this undeniable proof of careful teaching and scholastic progress. We are anxious to do so, as many erroneous statements have been circulated on the subject, and so much party feeling has been improperly thrown into all the questions of the Boys' School management, that we deem it only fair to those who seek efficiently to conduct this most important institution to state what are the official facts of the case. Since Dr. Morris assumed the Head Mastership, three examinations have been attended by pupils from the Boys' School.

First of all came the Cambridge Local Examination, Christmas, 1875, with the following result:—

I.—CAMBRIDGE LOCAL EXAMINATION, CHRISTMAS, 1875.

JUNIORS.—Honours—First Class:—W. Beaumont (distinguished in English and Divinity); R. Bryant (examined for the first time, distinguished in English and Mathematics); H. G. Shaw (the only three in the first class at the London main centre). Second Class:—W. R. Parker. Third Class:—W. H. Sutton. Satisfied the Examiner:—C. D. Green, F. Harvey, F. E. Ladd; F. D. Lane, F. Lond, E. E. Oates, W. H. Packwood, E. G. Sweet, and C. R. H. Uwias.

II.—SCIENCE AND ARTS EXAMINATIONS, MAY, 1876.

The following boys were passed:—

- (1.) Theoretical Mechanics:—R. Bryant, and H. G. Shaw.
- (2.) Inorganic Chemistry:—R. Bryant and H. G. Shaw.
- (3.) Mathematics:—1st Class, 2nd Stage, R. Bryant; 1st Class, 1st Stage, W. Beaumont, G. Shaw, C. D. Green; 2nd Class, 1st Stage, W. R. Parker, A. J. Walkington, W. H. Packwood, F. E. Ladd, F. Lond.
- (4.) Physical Geography:—Passed Advanced Stage, W. R. Parker; 1st Class, 1st Stage, H. G. Shaw; 2nd Class, 1st Stage, W. Beaumont, W. H. White, H. Godsmark, C. D. Green, G. S. Croydon, W. Sparkes, F. Lond.
- (5.) Magnetism and Electricity:—1st Class advanced, H. G. Shaw; 1st Class, elementary, R. Bryant, C. D. Green, W. R. Parker; 2nd Class, elementary, W. Beaumont, W. Jones, F. Lond.
- (6.) Drawing:—(a) Full certificate, W. R. Parker and H. G. Parker (prize). (b) Practical Geometry, Heeley, White, Rose, Newman, Croydon, Haskins, Bryant, Parker, Shaw. (c) Model Drawing, Heeley, Parker, Booser. (d) Free-hand, Pawley. (e) Perspective, Parker, Shaw.

Thirdly, The Oxford Local Examination, June, 1876, gives us for the first time the satisfactory assurance that the education of our boys is progressing very satisfactorily.

III. OXFORD LOCAL EXAMINATION, JUNE, 1876.

Seniors who obtained the degree of "Associate in Arts" (the school never gained this distinction before this year) were:—R. Bryant (mentioned in the Second Class Mathematical list), W. Beaumont, W. R. Parker.

These facts have all been separately mentioned in our pages, but we think it well, for many reasons, that our readers may see at one comprehensive glance what have been the results of the last twelve months so far. As we said before, we feel that great credit is due to Dr. Morris for his zealous labours, and his evident endeavour to elevate the whole tone of the School in all things, and we beg to tender to him our hearty good wishes, alike for the continuance and success of his valuable efforts, as well as for the utility, progress, and prosperity of our Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

FRENCH FREEMASONRY.

The following appeared in the "Times" of Monday. The "Temple" says:—"The annual French Masonic Congress has just completed its labours, after five long sittings. The Congress considered Article 1 of the Masonic Constitution relative to philosophic dogmas, and containing a declaration in favour of the 'Great Architect of the Universe.' The discussion was very long and animated. After deliberation it was decided by 110 to 65 that there was ground for revising it and harmonizing it with another article which recognizes absolute liberty of conscience. All the lodges in France will, therefore, be invited to consider the question of a revision, and to send the result of their deliberations to the next year's Congress." We most deeply regret such a decision on the part of the French Grand Orient, not only in the best interests of Freemasonry, but because we are sure it will tend to make the chasm now existing as between English and French Freemasonry wider, and impossible to bridge over. But we shall recur to the subject shortly.

THE CONCORDIA INSTITUTE.

We are glad in another column to call attention to a Communiqué from Switzerland, with respect to this Institution, conducted by our esteemed brother and correspondent, Dr. Bertsch Sailer. We recommend it to the careful perusal of our many readers, on every ground of Masonic fair play and toleration.

HERMETIC MASONRY.

We have been requested to announce that in the "Masonic Magazine" for October will appear a republication of the first printed allusion to the Grand Lodges of England and Ireland, and Speculative Freemasonry. This reprint is exceedingly interesting to the High Grades, inasmuch as in it Hermetic Masonry is stated to exist in 1721, and members of the Speculative Grand Lodge are asserted to be members of the same. Anticipating a large sale of this Masonic archaeological treatise, we recommend all those who wish to make sure of early receipt of the October magazine to apply at once to The Publisher, 198, Fleet-street.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

A MASONIC REFORMATION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I hope yourself and your numerous circle of readers will not be alarmed at the revolutionary character of the heading of this communication, nor at the suggestions which I am about to make, which, I must admit, if acted upon, would cause what our French neighbours would term a "bouleversement" of all the present rules and regulations for the government of the Order in the dominions of her Britannic Majesty.

As my suggestions (should you admit them into your columns), will, no doubt, give rise to considerable discussion, I will arrange them under different heads, as follows:

First. To establish a General (or really United) Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of Great Britain and Ireland, and the colonies and dependencies of the British Crown—the jurisdiction of which should be paramount and supreme over all Freemasons and bodies professing to be Masonic in the British Dominions. The constitutions of the General (or United) Grand Lodge should provide laws for the general government of the Craft, so as to assimilate on main points the government and work of Freemasonry, leaving minor arrangements to be made by the subordinate Grand Lodges, suitable to local conditions and circumstances.

Secondly. To place the Grand Lodges of England, Ireland, and Scotland under the jurisdiction of the General (or United) Grand Lodge, at the same time retaining the power of electing their Grand Masters, and to establish (or continue) Grand Lodges for India, Canada, Australia, South Africa, and other colonies in which Masons exist in sufficient numbers to justify such a course, all of which shall owe allegiance to, and be under the jurisdiction of, the General (or United) Grand Lodge, and having exclusive jurisdiction over their respective territories, and which shall have the power of making laws to govern the Craft according to the local requirements, but in accordance with the constitutions of the General Grand Lodge.

Thirdly. The territories of the various Grand Lodges, when expedient, shall be divided into District or Provincial Grand Lodges, to be presided over by District or Provincial Grand Masters as at present.

Fourthly. To place every order which claims to be Masonic (and whose claims to be connected with Masonry can be sustained) under the jurisdiction and control of the General Grand Lodge, the Supreme Grand Master whereof shall be, ex officio, the head of all such Orders, and shall be represented by a Deputy appointed by him.

Fifthly. That all quasi-Masonic orders which cannot prove their claim to be considered as Masonic shall be suppressed, and that all regular Masons shall be forbidden to have any connection with any bodies or orders professing to be Masonic which are not recognized and governed by the General Grand Lodge and its Supreme Grand Master.

I have no doubt, from the well-known loyalty of British Freemasons, that the brethren in all parts of the British dominions would hail with delight the opportunity of ranging themselves under the banner of the Heir to the Throne—the more so as no loss of dignity would be sustained by the officers of the present Grand Lodges, whose Grand Masters should remain elective as at present, and on the members of which would devolve the election of the Supreme Grand Master of the General Grand Lodge. Moreover, my scheme would open up additional honours to be awarded as rewards of merit and recognition of distinguished services to the Craft.

I merely throw out the crude suggestions as they have occurred to my mind, and leave to abler hands than mine the task of filling in the details and the work of bringing crude matter into due form.

Should my ideas find favour, I should be glad if some influential brethren would take the initiative, and bring the matter into notice in the proper quarter, being myself only,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

A MASTER MASON.

[We insert this letter, as we are always favourable to discussion and free opinion, but we confess we do not exactly see at what our worthy brother is driving, or what it is he wants to do. This proposal appears simply impracticable.—Ed.]

THE SWEDENBORGIAN RITE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I received under enclosure last week a very interesting letter from Bro. Samuel Beswick, who is now residing in Canada. Those who take an interest in high-grade Masonry will not, I am sure, be displeased, if I send extracts for your acceptance. Personally I disagree with that portion of Bro. Beswick's letter which attributes the modification of York Masonry to the Swedenborgian Rite, unless its Sixth Degree led to the establishment of the Degree of Ark Mariners. I think the rite's universal acceptance of the three York Degrees proves its more recent date.

Yours truly and fraternally,

JOHN YARKER,

W.M. of Emanuel Lodge and Temple.

Chorlton Road,
Manchester, Sept. 16, 1876.

Bro. Beswick, after alluding to his labours as a C.E. and writer upon the rite of Solomon's Temple, says:

I am glad to see you are getting along with the Primitive Rite. The English has bothered us to death most, but we have always refused. Our men seem to desire to keep it exclusively American. Give my respects to Bro. Yarker of England; tell him I am a native of Manchester.

The Swedenborgian Rite never had six degrees. It always recognised three prevailing degrees now known as the York Rite of the three degrees, but which was a very different thing in Germany and Sweden to what it has become since the revision in 1717. The York Rite was originally a very simple and meagre thing, without the lectures, &c., which now form part of the ritual. When it formed part of the old guilds, &c., the ritual was very simple and short. The Swedenborgian Rite always recognised these three first degrees, and its advocates had a great deal to do with influencing the revision of the York Rite in 1717 and afterwards. Hence the Swedenborgian Rite never really had six degrees; its first three degrees were always the three recognised, symbolic degrees of the country, no matter what its form might be. It never regarded these three first degrees as essential to itself, and hence it accepted the members of the three symbolic degrees as duly qualified for initiation without actually working them as part of its own degrees. This is the reason why Masonic writers differ so much in describing the degrees of the Swedenborgian Rite, because the German, French, and English three blue degrees differed after the revision of 1717 in England, and yet all writers agree in naming six degrees of the Rite.

Thus Dr. Oliver in his "Landmarks" (Vol. II.) says: Swedenborg admitted only six degrees:

- | | |
|-----------|-----------------------------|
| 1. E.A.P. | 4. Enlightened Theosophist. |
| 2. F.C. | 5. Blue Brother. |
| 3. M.M. | 6. Red Brother. |

The first three are really the common three degrees of the York Rite. Swedenborg followed the common usage of his day. The Swedish system of thirteen degrees also reckoned its first class to consist of the three symbolic degrees of the York Rite of that day and place.

The first three degrees named by Mackay in the Swedenborgian Rite are also the three symbolic blue degrees of the York Rite, and his Fourth Degree of Illuminated Theosophite is the same as Oliver's Fourth Degree of Enlightened. They have simply translated the name differently, that is all. The Swedish Rite was gotten up by Zinnendorf for the Grand Lodge at Stockholm, and was constructed from points taken mainly from the Swedenborgian Rite—a spurious outbirth. So was the Illuminés of Avignon by Perneti in France, so was Chartannier's seven degrees, and had nearly the same titles. Chartannier was a member of the Swedenborgian Church in London, and also a member of the Rite. So you see the Swedenborgian Rite never had six degrees, and it has never lost any. The true names of the Swedenborgian Rite is green, blue, and red; the rest was added at different times and places.

If you will look at my work, "Swedenborg and Freemasonry" (p. 167), you will see that the degrees are given and called:

- | |
|--|
| 4. Enlightened Freemason or Green Brother. |
| 5. Sublime " or Blue " |
| 6. Perfect " or Red " |

We worked for a long time under these names, but gradually agreed to adopt those we have now in use. Oliver's description and Mackay's description are correct for the Fourth Degree, but they have lost the true name of the Fifth and Sixth Degrees—namely, 5 Sublime and 6 Perfect; they got hold of the blue and red part of the name only.

I got the degrees in England from those who originally got them from Chartannier, member of the Swedenborgian Rite, and one of the men who began the first Swedenborgian Religious Society in England. It was held in London, and the Religious Society was called the Theosophical Society of the New Jerusalem. You will see in this name the same as that of the Fourth Degree of the Swedenborgian Rite, called Fourth Illuminated (or Enlightened) Theosophist. Along with Chartannier were Springer (Swedish Consul), C. F. and Aug. Nordenskjöld, and others. These gentlemen were all Swedes—fellow countrymen of Swedenborg—excepting Chartannier, who was a Frenchman. The two brothers Nordenskjöld were also members of the Swedenborgian religious first society in London above named, but subsequently went back to Sweden. The Swedenborgian Rite in England was always worked in private—the members were never organized into lodges. This was the case in Sweden and Europe generally; the lodges worked without charters, there being no Grand Lodge to give charters until the revival in 1717. The Rite was worked in Sweden and Berlin, Prussia. It was there where Abbé Pernetti and Zimmerman got the degrees so as to enable them to fabricate their spurious Swedish degrees—see my work. Whether it is now working there or not I cannot tell; it was hunted down in Germany and Sweden for awhile, and in Sweden at last was confined to the aristocracy. I have no doubt it is there now, but confined as an aristocratic rite to a few. My work supplies all the necessary information; but the name Rose Croix, as applied to Swedenborg, should be substituted for the name Scotch Rite. I did not use the name; in its modern form, which implies other degrees also, now included in the A. and A. Rite of 33°, which is really modern.

Dr. Oliver says in his "Landmarks" (vol. II., p. 50): "In 1767 Chartannier made an attempt to introduce the system of Swedenborg, or rather a modification and extension of it, into this country (England) without success." Some of his degrees were:—1, 2, 3, as before (3. Blue York Rite Degrees); 4, Apprentice Theosophist; 5, Fellow Craft Theosophist; 6, Master Theosophist; 7, Sublime Scotch Degree, Celestial Jerusalem; 8, Enlightened Theosophist; 9, Red Brother Theosophist.

You well know that Chartannier manufactured these degrees out of the Swedenborgian Rite, taking the plan and even the names.

A WORTHY AND DISTRESSING CASE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Bro. Nicholas Donnithorne, who was born at Marazion, Cornwall, July, 1789, and was initiated in the Royal Cornwall Militia Lodge, No. 618 (now 330, "One and All," Bodmin), on the 10 April, 1812, is now suffering from paralysis, and is subsisting entirely on the free-will offerings of his brethren. He has outlived all his relatives, and depends upon the Craft for support. Bro. John Coombe, P.M. 450, P.S.G.D., Hayle (where our aged brother now resides) has been the Almoner of the Cornubian Lodge for some years, and has been most generous in his attention to the wants of this aged brother, who has been nearly sixty-five years a Mason. He has, in fact, been in receipt of a weekly sum collected through Bro. Coombe's instrumentality, and we understand the lodge has appealed for assistance from the Grand Lodge Fund of Benevolence. His case certainly is a most deserving one, and Bro. Donnithorne comes from a Masonic stock, his father having been a member of the Craft for many years, and on his death in 1803, the officers and members of his regiment (in which he was sergeant-major) erected a tablet to his memory.

Yours fraternally, W. J. HUGHAN.

THE FLUCTUATIONS OF MASONIC LITERATURE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I do not often send you a specimen of my writing, but I am impelled by a sense of my duty as a Past Master of eight years' standing (having filled the chair of an ancient lodge during the year 1868) to thank you in the interests of Freemasonry (which I dearly love) for your wisely and judiciously written article, "The Fluctuations of Masonic Literature," which, with gratification intense, I read in the "Freemasonry" of this day's date. Your leader has not appeared one day too soon; it must commend itself to the consciences of all brethren who think, and I hope it will also to those "whose practice is the very reverse of their profession." Many times, after perusing the "Original Correspondence" in the "Freemason," I have mentally asked myself whether such and such a letter can possibly have been written by a brother who still remembers the answer to the question, "What are the principles upon which it (Freemasonry) is founded?"—letters—full of sarcasm, not "brotherly love"—innuendoes, suggesting on the part of other brethren anything but "truth." Why this should be so I cannot explain; this I know, that if a brother must be reproved through the pages of a publication, open to the eyes of the "cowan" as well as to the eyes of the Craft, such reproof should be conveyed in the terms of our "profession" as laid down in the "principles" of our noble Order. Let me then, as one in authority, recommend, urge, nay, insist upon a greater regard being shown to our assumption of being a loving, relieving, truthful association of brethren, by abstaining from the use of pens dipped in gall; for, take it as you will, my brother, let it be known by these presents to all the world, that any man, although he is a member of a lodge, and nominally a Freemason, is really not one unless he is a man of uprightness, a man of sound judgment, and a man of strict morals. A name to live by is not sufficient for us.

Yours faithfully,

P.M. CRAFT AND MARK, AND A P.P.G.O.
Sept. 9, 1876.

INSTRUCTION AND "RUSTICUS IN URBE."

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am sorry to see the letter by a brother "from the country" respecting the "Emulation Lodge of Improvement."

My experience as a member for several years, and an occasional attendant, has been the very reverse of his, and having been the means of inducing many to attend its meetings, all of whom have been delighted with the "working," the account that our Bro. "Rusticus" gives is to me all the more remarkable.

Of course, I know that the "Masonic season" has not yet commenced, and that as the meetings are held weekly, sometimes a "rusty" brother may be put in the chair, and his officers may not be "bright;" but even then we must not forget that the object of the assembly is to secure improvement, and to suppose that possible suggests a want of complete perfection in the members occupying the chief chairs.

Our brother's experience must be vastly different to mine—unless, indeed, the meeting in question formed an exception to the general rule—if the work of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement at any time can truly be termed a "slovenly rehearsal," or such as to justify the inappreciative remarks of "Rusticus in Urbe."

As I think attacks of the character in question should not be anonymous, I am all the more anxious to place on record my testimony in opposition to the statement of our brother.

Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN, P.G.D.

Truro, 16th September, 1876.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I should be obliged if you, or any of your numerous readers, will kindly refer me to that portion of our Book of Constitutions which will enable Grand, or Provincial Grand Lodges, to vote away its money to any charities other than those connected with Freemasonry.

Yours very fraternally,

AN OLD P.M., ONE, &c.

THE WIDOW OF THE LATE BRO. WILLIAM FARNFIELD.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I trust you will kindly insert the accompanying letter in reply to the communication of Bro. J. A. Farnfield which appeared in your issue of the 16th inst.

I confess, from a feeling of delicacy, I did not personally consult Bro. Farnfield with regard to my proposed motion, although I had several interviews with his brother-in-law, Bro. R. R. Davis, who supplied me with all necessary data; I was simply actuated by a desire to render a service to the family of my old friend the late Assistant Grand Secretary and I think it would have been far more courteous in Bro. Farnfield to have conveyed to me before the June meeting his desire that the motion should not be proceeded with.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

H. GREENE.

Greville Lodge,
18, Greville-place, Kilburn Priory,
Sept. 20th, 1876.

Greville Lodge,
18, Greville-place, Kilburn Priory,
Sept. 18th, 1876.

Dear Bro. J. A. Farnfield,—

I think it would have been but courteous to have communicated with me before sending your letter to the "Freemason," as had you done so, probably we might have arranged something that would have satisfied enquiring brethren as to why my motion respecting a proposed annuity for your mother was dropped out of the paper, without making me to appear as an officious meddler in what did not concern me, by giving my notice of motion "without having in any way" communicated with your mother, your brother, or yourself. I have before me a number of letters from Bro. R. R. Davis (your brother-in-law), all expressive of thankfulness for the step about to be taken, and one of them encloses in your handwriting a memo. of your late father's estate. Another of Bro. Davis's letters refers to an interview with your brother Herbert, from whom (as you were absent) he obtained particulars of your father's government pension. For obvious reasons of delicacy your mother was not informed of the contemplated proceedings, and the same motive prevented me from applying direct to yourself, but as it was impossible to obtain the necessary data to go before Grand Lodge without applying to you, Bro. Davis undertook to do so.

Your statement to the "Freemason" that no communication was made to any of your family, and, therefore, the notice of motion was given without your sanction, is not consistent with the facts I have related. I think, in justice to myself, I must send a copy of this letter to the "Freemason," but before doing so I wish to apprise you of my intention.

Yours fraternally,

H. GREENE.

J. A. Farnfield, Esq., 90, Lower Thames-street.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are the medicine most in repute for curing the multifarious maladies which beset mankind when dry, sultry weather suddenly gives place to chilly, drenching days. In fact, these Pills offer relief even if they fail of proving an absolute remedy in all the disturbances of digestion, circulation, and nervous tone which occasionally oppress a vast portion of the population. Under the genial, purifying, and strengthening powers exerted by this excellent medicine the tongue becomes clear, the appetite improves, digestion is quickened and assimilation is rendered perfect. These Pills possess the highly estimable property of cleansing the entire mass of blood; which, in its renovated condition, carries purity, strength, and vigour to every tissue of the body.—ADVT.

A LITTLE FRIENDLY GOSSIP ON SOME OF THE TOPICS OF THE DAY.

BY PHILANTHROPOS.

(Written Especially for the "Freemason.")

No. 6—EDUCATION.—Continued.

In this, my last paper on the subject, for the present, I wish to point out what I believe to be the undoubted truth, that the two systems—the denominational, with Government grant or without, and the Board School, with a rate in aid—can co-exist, and that there is plenty of room and work for both.

In the first place, it is clear that, for a long time to come, the denominational system, to use a common expression of the day, has the pull in numbers. At present these numbers stand as 13,217 schools, against about 1500 in round numbers, and the number of children on the registers, 2,744,000, as against 450,054, that is to say, under Government inspection. Of course this latter number is gradually increasing by many schools not under Government inspection, but we must bear in mind that even this large number does not by a long way represent the full numerical proportion of the voluntary system.

The National Society, for instance, to which the Corporation of London have recently, upon the motion of Alderman Sir Robert Carden, voted the sum of £525 in aid of its funds, has a direct or indirect relation with a large number of the voluntary schools. That society, it may be stated, was founded in 1811, and since then has expended nearly a million in building and enlarging schools, erecting and maintaining colleges for training teachers, inspecting and organising schools, and supplying the best school-books and apparatus at the lowest possible cost. The society's grants have produced contributions from other quarters of at least £12,000,000. The society has founded or assisted in founding, and now helps to maintain, 25 training colleges, which send forth annually nearly 1000 teachers, whose qualifications are certified by the Education Department. Mainly owing to the pecuniary help, advice, and encouragement given by the society, there are, at present, 9499 schools, which give a sound secular as well as religious training. Those schools have on their rolls 1,735,985 children, of whom 1,175,289 are in average attendance. It has also contributed £43,190 towards the building of schools in Middlesex, of which £33,202 has been paid to schools in the City of London and its vicinity, and £9900 to the districts of London south of the Thames. At present the society directs its efforts to build and enlarge schools and protect the 14,000 schools in union with the society.

When, then, we have subtracted from the actual number of children under inspection in schools, with Government grants, this last number of children and have added to them the children inspected in schools without grants, itself containing 57,196 scholars, we arrive at the large number of 1,057,196 children in round numbers also under the denominational voluntary system, and this calculation makes no allowance for dames' schools, private venture elementary schools, which are almost purely denominational. For the 14000 schools in connection with the National Society do not represent the real number of denominational schools, and indeed, we apprehend that the exact proportion just now is about 15,000 denominational schools, as against 1500 Board Schools, a very great margin indeed. On the whole these figures are very striking and very suggestive. They demonstrate unmistakably to all who have ever looked into the subject, or carefully studied it, the happy advance of education amongst us, and they encourage the hope that in the good Providence of God we may yet, in a few years, overtake the real educational want of our people, and make up for the apathy and ignorance on the subject. And we also, it appears to me, have got to this, that it is most unwise on the one hand to attempt to enforce one system of education, and most wrong on the other to keep up a spirit of hostile criticism and angry complaint as between the two opposing systems. The systems are not necessarily opposed to each other, nor are they, nor need they be, in any sense, questions for the secular politician or for the religious partisan. The legislature has, in my opinion, very wisely decided to set up a Board School where there is a proved deficiency of educational means, and which no voluntary body or denomination can supply; and agreeing, as we all do, in the absolute need and unfailing blessing of education, per se, for man, we surely cannot be so selfish or so sectarian, that because we cannot have our own ideas carried out, we will either oppose all Board School schemes of labour and extension on the one hand, or all denominational work on the other. It will have been seen from the remarks I have made that I am personally most favourable to the denominational system, but, as a good patriot, freeman, and philanthropist I accept the decision of the superior legislature, loyally, the more so, as it tends, in my humble opinion, greatly to promote the spread and improvement of education amongst us. Let us hope that we have heard the last of the outcries of the alarmist, or the theories of the politician, let us trust that the good work of education will go on and prosper, and for my part, I at once say, that if the Board Schools can give a better education than elementary teaching they have a right to win in the race. In fact, the whole question becomes one of demand and supply and of actual merit, reality, and performance. In the long run the working classes will send their children where they can get the best education. If the religious schools give the best education they will assuredly send them there, for on the whole they are in favour of a religious education, let the stump orators say what they like. But if the Board Schools give a better education than the denominational schools they will attract the children of our labor-ous classes, who are hourly alive to the value and importance of a good sound education for their children. Whatever the result of this friendly contest may be, though it will take some little time to shew, probably when another generation has taken our places, let us confidently assume that education will be the gainer by this honest and useful rivalry, and dismissing that dreadful incubus on all social improvement amongst us, the clamour of the unthinking, the complaints of the polemical, and the appreciation of the "partially educated," let us welcome all efforts, whether denominational or School Board, which aid to plough up the great heavy fallow field of ignorance and give to thousands of immortal beings the inestimable culture of instruction, the real and abiding blessings of a sound and useful education.

Multum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

THE GRAND MISTRESS AND FREEMASONRY.

My attention has been directed to Dr. Swift's Miscellanies of 1751 (Vol. 14, 2nd edit.) by Bro. W. R. Bainbridge, P.M. 721 and 1276, who has kindly forwarded the portion referred to.

Bro. Bainbridge has several times thus kindly obliged me. The MS. sent, however, is not quite suitable for publication at the present time, some of the language being very choice in its character, but it is of sufficient importance as a Masonic curiosity to be placed in the department of Notes and Queries.

It is entitled "A Letter from the Grand Mistress of the Female Freemasons to George Faulkner, Printer."

According to this letter Mr. Faulkner was selected as the printer of the supposed female Freemasons, and the writer proceeds to inform him that "our female lodge has the whole mystery as well as any lodge in Europe, with proper instructions in writing; and, what will seem more strange to you, without the least taint of perjury." A gentleman of this lady's acquaintance, it appears, was initiated one evening in a regular lodge, the members of which neglected to take a pledge from him of secrecy, but agreed to do so the next day, when the candidate was to attend, but he had decamped and revealed the whole of the ceremony to the favoured ladies, who there and then formed a "female lodge." What those secrets are the lady proceeds to communicate, and certainly the account is most trustworthy and correct in every particular as may be supposed. What matters it, if the report differs from what we know of Freemasonry? The anti-Masons have long ago settled the matter by virtually deciding that they, not we, are the judges.

The signs are most amusing, and the words (esoteric of course) are equally so. The grips too, are valuable for the uninitiated. The importance of the contribution may be gathered from the statement that "a Bee has, in all ages and nations, been the Grand Hieroglyphic of Masonry." . . . "What moderns Masons call a lodge was, for the above reasons, by antiquity called a Hive of Freemasons." When a new lodge is formed "for the same reason it is called Swarming."

The Guardian (a male evidently) of the female lodge is frequently referred to in terms of respect and even of awe, and the post of Deputy Guardian was at that time vacant. Whether it has since been filled or not we cannot say. The lady tells us that the "Freemasons' song" ("Come let us prepare," &c.) "was written by one Anderson, as our Guardian tells us," which will be news to many.

The letter is signed by Thalestris.

W. J. HUGHAK.

A MASONIC HERO.

Nearly all the papers in the colony have noticed in some shape or other the Masonic installation of Sir Donald M'Lean, which took place in Wellington last month, and each more or less complimented the Installing Master, Bro. J. Lazar, of Hokitika. It has fallen to the special correspondent of the "Hawke's Bay Herald," however, to enlarge upon the subject beyond the measure of others. He has been more than pleased, even captivated, with the "grey beard and glittering eye" of Westland's worthy representative on the occasion. The following is what he says of Westland's District Grand Master:—"Among the districts, however, which share the honours of the day, Westland bears the pre-eminence. She sent us one Mason, her District Grand Master, Mr. Lazar, who was more than a host in himself. To him were entrusted the lofty duties of Installing Officer, and it is hardly too much to say that if the civilised world had been ransacked it would not have been possible to find one to whom they could have been entrusted more worthily. It is no derogation to the honours accorded to Sir Donald M'Lean to say that Mr. Lazar, and not he, was the true hero of the day's proceedings. Mr. Lazar is the sort of Grand Master that we dream about, but hardly expect to see the like of in these modern days. Those who remember their first impressions on reading Coleridge's marvellous conception of the Ancient Mariner, with his grey beard and glittering eyes, can form some idea of Mr. Lazar's appearance. A man who would be striking any where, in the Grand Lodge, with all its imposing surroundings, his appearance of extreme old age—he is between 70 and 80—together with his gaunt and powerful frame, and his energy of voice and action, gave him the aspect rather of the presiding genius of the ancient Craft than of an ordinary mortal.

After the installation about an hour elapsed, and then came the banquet. Most of those who had been at the former also attended the latter. The two long tables extending the whole length of the Oddfellows' Hall, together with one across it at the top, were completely filled.

Donald M'Lean occupied the chair, supported on his right by Mr. Lazar, and on the left by Dr. Donald, Mr. Rolleston, Major Atkinson, Messrs. Stout, Bastings, Kentish M'Lean, Reynolds, and others of only local or only Masonic eminence, occupied the seats adjoining. The dinner was cold, and the price charged for it, £2. 2s. per head, was at any rate adequate; however, no one who was present, I feel sure, would willingly miss it if it were to come over again. Mr. Lazar was again better worth hearing and seeing than everything else put together. We then beheld our venerable guide and instructor throw aside his severity and enter more heartily than the youngest of us into the convivial festivities of the evening. The songs which he sang, and there were two or three of them (comic), brought the whole audience to their legs to shout their enthusiastic applause with waving glasses and deafening cheers. Vocal talent of no mean order was displayed by several of the brethren. The songs sung by Bro. Bastings, M.H.R., next to those of Mr. Lazar, attracted most admiration.—"West Coast Times."

THE PLATFORM OF FREEMASONRY.

The cardinal virtues of Masonry are Temperance, Fortitude, Prudence, and Justice. Each one of these constitutes a plank of equal importance in the Masonic platform. Securely dovetailed together after the plan of a wise architect and builder, and strengthened with the cement of love and unity, they form a structure not only strong, but enduring. With its four corners resting upon four imperishable stones, brotherly love, relief, truth, and charity, firmly planted upon the solid rock of fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man, it forms a foundation for the institution of Freemasonry that has stood the test of many centuries past, and that will endure till time shall be no more. It has needed no repairs in the past, does not need any in the present, and will never need any in the future.

Time but adds to its strength, and years to its durability. The waves of fanaticism break harmlessly over it, the winds of bigotry cannot shake it, nor the fires of intolerance destroy it. All these elements of discord and dissolution are powerless to accomplish its destruction.

Freemasonry has nothing to fear from its enemies without, so long as Masons are true to the noble principles which constitute its foundation, and which are found in every stone in this beautiful mystic temple, even up to the cap-stone itself. To be true to them, they must have a thorough knowledge of their import, and this information is essential to a proper discharge of their duties as Masons. In Operative Masonry no one can become a skilful workman who does not apply himself diligently during the term of his apprenticeship; and the same is equally true in Speculative Masonry. Masons must learn Masonry before they properly practice it themselves or teach it to others. This can not be done in a day, a month, or a year, but years of study are necessary. Some learn the ritual quickly, and think that is all there is of it. Others go through without learning anything at all. A few only ever become well-informed Masons. In this lack of Masonic knowledge among so large a portion of the membership lies the greatest danger to the institution itself. They are in a position to do it much greater harm than those who assail it from without. Once inside, they become an element of weakness, for they are just as liable to go wrong as right. They have never learned how to observe the cardinal virtues of Masonry, or to practise the tenets of their profession. They are apt to think the platform needs some changes or repairs, and imagine themselves competent to furnish the plans. Some seem to think the temperance plank of more importance than all the rest, and are ready to sacrifice prudence and justice in their efforts to enlarge its dimensions. Brotherly love and charity are rolled out from under it, leaving it to topple and break to pieces. The beautiful structure, contrived by wisdom, constructed by strength, and adorned by beauty, in their hands becomes a shapeless mass, with scarcely a trace of its former grandeur.

A NOVELTY IN EVENING ENTERTAINMENTS.

Probably in no section of any Masonic division in the United Kingdom do entertainments in the shape of picnics, garden parties, balls, concerts, &c., exist more largely than in the Liverpool portion of West Lancashire, and in connection with these fêtes there are several worthy brethren who specially distinguish themselves in connection with arrangements, organisation, and successful carrying out. The ladies of these Masonic "lords" have observed their proceedings, discovered weaknesses and flaws in the working out of the pleasure-making schemes, and recently they determined to show their stronger-minded partners and friends "how the thing ought to be done." The ladies figuratively put their heads together, and after this combination of all that is "great and good" they appointed an excellent executive committee from amongst their own number, elected a Chairwoman, Vice-Chairwoman, Secretary, Treasurer, Mistress of Ceremonies, and vigorously set about getting up "our ladies' first annual garden party and bal al-fresco." After many anxious meetings of the fair ones, considerable cogitation, and the display of super-excellent generalship, the result of their efforts was experienced on Wednesday evening, the 13th inst., at Durham Hall, Bootle, near Liverpool, the residence of Bro. R. Brown, the much valued Honorary Secretary of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, who kindly threw his house and grounds open for the special occasion. The result of the ladies' efforts was eminently satisfactory. No better place for the purpose could have been selected, and all the male guests (the great majority of whom were Masons and "veterans" in getting up entertainments) were loud in their praises of the ingenuity and originality shown in connection with "Our Ladies' first Garden Party. Inside the hall the splendid suite of rooms was utilised to the greatest advantage, there being supper, lounging, dancing, cards, smoking, and nearly every variety of rooms, some gaily festooned with flags, enlivened with evergreens, and generally decorated in the best taste. Outside the hall there was a perfect fairy scene. Myriads of many-coloured Chinese lanterns were hung amongst the trees and round the balconies, while flags floated bravely in the breeze, and the whole of the striking picture was lit up with more than noon-tide brilliancy by means of the lime-light; when the dancers, in their gay dresses, moved blithesomely in the mazy dance on the green, under trees, and amid the many-coloured lanterns, the lime-light in the meantime being brought to bear on the picture, the ensemble was of the most picturesque and charming description. Nor were "our ladies" unmindful of the necessary "creature comforts." The party began to arrive about four o'clock, and at five tea was served on the lawn. Then there were dancing and amusements till eleven o'clock, when a magnificent supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Eve, one of the executive, whose husband (Bro. Eve) is so well known as a public caterer of first rank. Mrs. Brown (wife of Bro. Brown), as chairwoman, presided at the head of the table, and delivered a very neat and pointed speech in proposing the toasts to "The Gentlemen and Ladies." Bro. W. Doyle, P.P.G.S.D.; Bro. W. Coates, 1356 and 1609; and Bro. G. Hutchin, W.M., 241, were called upon to respond for the toast of "The Gentlemen." "The Ladies," was responded to by Mrs. Barton; and then Mrs. Brown gave "The Ladies' Committee," affording Mrs. Eve, Mrs. Firth, Mrs. Douglas, and Mrs. Morrison an opportunity of displaying the natural grace and eloquence with which Nature has endowed them. Thus the hours passed pleasantly away, the gentlemen thoroughly enjoying the extremely pithy and pointed speeches of their "better halves." Then there were more dancing and kindred amusements, soup at a later hour, and busses conveyed the jolly party to town at an early hour. The whole entertainment proved a great success, and "our ladies" clearly demonstrated that they are quite equal to the "lords of creation" in carrying out garden parties and al-fresco balls.

WEST YORKSHIRE.

The following notice has been issued in Leeds:—

"Leeds, September 15th, 1876.—Dear Sir and Brother,—You are respectfully requested to attend a meeting of the Masters, Past Masters, and Wardens of the Leeds lodges, to be held at the Masonic Hall, Great George's-street, on Tuesday, the 19th inst., at seven o'clock in the evening, to take into consideration the desirability of forming a 'Charity Fund,' similar to those in existence in East and West Lancashire. Bro. Hardon, who has taken an active interest in the formation of the Lancashire Funds, has kindly promised to attend and give any information and explanation that may be required.—James Walker, W.M. 289; James Bedford, W.M. 304; J. C. Malcolm, W.M. 306; C. G. Cooper, W.M. 1042; Wm. Fleming, W.M. 1211; Wm. Glover, W.M. 1221; Rd. Akroyd, W.M. 1331."

BRO. EMRA HOLMES' NEW BOOK OF TALES, POEMS, AND MASONIC PAPERS.—One or two of our London contemporaries, notably the "Civilian," the special and clever representative of the Civil Service, the "Freemason," "Masonic Magazine," &c., and several of the leading provincial papers at Sunderland, Hartlepool, Lowestoft, Bristol, Ipswich, Colchester, and Boston, and, we believe, also at Peterborough, Durham, Scarborough, Birmingham, Harwich, Darlington, Seaham, Stockton, Middlesbrough, and other places, have favourably noticed the proposed publication of Bro. Emra Holmes' new book. The "Bristol Times" of the 29th ult., in welcoming the work, states that Bro. Holmes is the son of the late Mr. Marcus Holmes, a very well-known Bristol artist, and his mother is still remembered as the authoress of "Scenes in our Parish." Bro. Markham Tweddell, who edits the work, is author of "Shakespeare and his Times," "The Bards and Authors of Cleveland and South Durham," "The History of the Stockton and Darlington Railway," "The People's History of Cleveland," and other well-known antiquarian tomes and works of practical utility. Amongst the latest subscribers to the little book are Lord Leigh, the Marquis of Bristol, and Lord Cottesloe, better known as Sir Thomas Freemantle, the late respected chairman of the Board of Customs. The price to subscribers only will be 2s. 6d.—"Woodbridge Reporter."

The Mayor of Margate has, let us hope, been maligned. The "Thanet Guardian" contains a statement which seems incredible, accustomed as we are to magisterial eccentricities. The Watch Committee met to appoint a Superintendent of Police. There were six applicants, and, says the "Guardian," "We have been informed that each candidate was asked whether he was a Freemason, and that, on one answering in the affirmative, the Mayor stated that the answer was fatal to his candidature." Can this be true? Is it possible that even if the Mayor could be bad enough to act in such a fashion, there was no man on the Watch Committee with the courage to protest against such an outrage? If it is true, one would be curious to know how far the Mayor of Margate carries his silly prejudice against a noble, philanthropic Order? Would he regard the fact of the Prince of Wales being Grand Master as fatal to his righteous claims to the Crown?—"Funny Folks."

The fees paid on the registration of trade marks were £1957 3s. in the year ended the 31st of March last.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

SOUTH AFRICAN INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, 1877.—An International Exhibition will be held in Cape Town in 1877, in a building to be erected for the purpose, by consent of the Colonial Government. It will include manufactures of all kinds. The date fixed for the opening is Feb. 15, and everything intended for the Exhibition must be shipped from London not later than during the first week in December, 1876. Intending exhibitors should communicate immediately with Mr. Edmund Johnson, Commissaire Délégué, at the European Central Offices of the Exhibition, 3, Castle Street, Holborn, London. The Exhibition will be arranged in the following classes:—Class 1.—Alimentation. Class 2.—Chemicals, perfumery, medicines, and surgical appliances. Class 3.—Furniture. Class 4.—Fabrics, clothing, watches, jewellery, ornaments, precious stones. Class 5.—Means of transport, travelling equipments, harness, saddlery, &c. Class 6.—Hardware, edge tools, cutlery, metal work of all kinds. Class 7.—Machinery, materials, and construction. Class 8.—Agricultural, &c. Class 9.—Science and education. Class 10.—Miscellaneous.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, September 29, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23.

Lodge 1541, Alexandra Palace, A.P., Muswell Hill.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25.

Lodge 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

Lodge 141, Faith, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 186, Industry, M.H., Masons' Avenue.
" 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
" 1441, Ivy, Surrey M.H.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27.

Lodge 507, United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell.
" 753, Prince Fredk. Wm., 7, Queen's Ter., N.W.
" 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
" 898, Temperance in the East, Newby-pl., Poplar.
" 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
Chap. 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
" 907, Royal Albert, White Hart, Abchurch-lane.
R.C.C., St. Andrews, Regent M.S., 68, Regent-st., W.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anclery.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.

Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 141, Faith, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 766, William Preston, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 1421, Langthorne, Swan Hot., Stratford.
" 1524, Duke of Connaught, Pownall-rd., Haggerston.
Mark Lodge 18, Northumberland.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Northern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 30, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25.

Lodge 148, Lights, M. Rooms, Warrington.

Derby L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

Lodge 1393, Hamer, M.H., Liverpool.

" 1629, Dramatic, M.H., Liverpool.

Chap. 721, Grosvenor M.R., Liverpool.

" 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.

Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

Mark Lodge 11, Joppa, M.R., Berkenhead.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27.

Lodge 32, St. George's, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.

" 86, Loyalty, M.H., Prescot.

" 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.

" 484, Faith, Gerard's Arms, Ashton-in-Makerfield.

" 580, Harmony, Wheatheaf, Ormskirk.

" 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.

" 758, Ellesmere, M.H., Runcorn.

Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

Chap. 1052, Callender, Pub. H., Rusholme.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.

Lodge 594, Downshire, M.H., Liverpool.

" 950, Hesketh, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.

" 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., Whit-le-Sprung.

" 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.

" 1393, Fermor, M.H., Southport.

Chap. 292, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.

" 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School, Kirkdale.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 30, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25.

Lodge 103, Union & Crown, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.

" 292, St. John, Bishop-st., Rothsay.

" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.

" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.

Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

Lodge 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

" 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.

" 426, Prince of Wales, M.H., Renfrew.

" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmuir.

" 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingstone.

Chap. 67, Cathedral, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27.

Lodge 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Hurlford.

" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st., Maryhill.

Chap. 73, Caledonian of Unity, 213, Buchanan-st.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.

Lodge 167, Free Operative, M.H., Biggar.

" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.

Chap. 117, Govan, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

Lodge 51, London Kilwinning, Com. Hot, Newmilns.

" 118, St. Bride, M.H., Douglas.

" 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.

" 153, Royal Arch, Cogan-st., Pollokshaws.

" 195, St. John R.A., Lemnox Arms, Campsie.

" 199, St. Andrew, M.H., Cambarnauld.

" 236, St. John, Wilsontown Iron Works, M.H., Forth.

" 244, Union, Black Bull Inn, Stonehouse.

" 347, St. John Operative, M.H., Rutherglen.

Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30.

Lodge 28, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Kirkintilloch.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, September 30, 1876.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25.

Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

Lodge 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra Hall, Cockburn-st.

Chap. 40, Naval and Military, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27.

Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.

Lodge 392, Caledonian, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

Lodge 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

HOUSE, Garden, and Orchard to be LET or SOLD.—The Poplars, a convenient Ten-roomed House; stable, coach-house, offices, cottage, &c., detached; one or two acres of garden and orchard; 700ft. of fruit wall; trees in full bearing; chicken-breeding house, pigeries, &c.; immediate possession; rent from £90; half a mile from Lee Station.—Apply to Mr. Drewett, Burnt Ash-hill, Lee, S.E.

TO LAND OWNERS AND OTHERS.—

The advertiser, many years with a Firm of Auctioneers, seeks an engagement as Land Steward, or place of trust. Highest credentials. Address, Brother, Messrs. Deacon, Leadenhall-street.

WANTED.—Care of Offices, Chambers, or

House by an old Pupil of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. Husband is also in want of some light employment. Satisfactory references can be given. Address S. A. M., office of the paper, 198, Fleet-street, London.

A PENSIONED SERGEANT-MAJOR

(W.M.) requires employment in a trustworthy position. Has been accustomed to the management of officers' Messes.—Excellent character and references.—Address C. A., Post Office, 218, Blackfriars-road.

WANTED, by the Advertiser, a Situation as Bank or Office Messenger, or any place of trust. Exemplary character. M.M.—Address W. L., 4, Priest Dale Cottages, Ordnance-place, Chatham.

NEW MASONIC SONGS.

"Hail Masonry." Post Free, 12 Stamps.

"Entered Apprentice." Post Free, 9 Stamps.

"No Sect in the World can with Masons Compare." Post Free, 12 Stamps.

"Love and Unity." Post Free, 12 Stamps.

"Here's to Health in a Song." Post Free, 24 Stamps.

"Friendship, Love, and Truth." Post Free, 18 Stamps.

NOTICE.—The above being sung at all Masonic meetings, should be in every Brother's possession.

MESSRS. TURNER & SONS' MUSIC WAREHOUSE, DEANSGATE, MANCHESTER.

Just published.

ENGLAND'S MUNICIPAL GLEE, THE MAYOR AND CORPORATION.

By J. YARWOOD.

Post free 18 Stamps. J. TURNER & SONS, Music sellers, Manchester.

Sixth Edition Now Ready—Very Popular.

"HERE'S TO HIS HEALTH IN A SONG."

Written by R. R. BEALEY; Composed by J. M. BENTLEY.

Price, post free, 2/1.—Turner and Sons, 1, St. Mary's Gate, Manchester.

New Masonic Song, post free 18 stamps.

FRIENDSHIP, LOVE, & TRUTH,

Composed by J. Batchelder, 8, Queen's-road, Manchester, Author and Composer of upwards of 300 songs, melodies, &c.

H.R.H. Prince Leopold has been graciously pleased to receive a copy of the above song, and has honoured Bro. Batchelder with a letter expressing his pleasure in accepting the same.

Copies may be had from the Composer, 8, Queen's-road, Manchester.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR

BOYS.—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are respectfully solicited on behalf of GORDON ROGERS (Aged 9 Years), Son of the late Bro. Wm. Friday Rogers, P.M., who was initiated into the Lodge of Confidence, No. 193, in 1858, served the Office of W.M. 1864, and was appointed Secretary in January, 1866, on the death of his Father, who held that office over thirty years.

He was a subscribing member from the date of his initiation until his death in April last. He has left a Widow and Seven Children (one of which was elected into the Masonic School for Girls last year) quite unprovided for, and who are unable to render her any assistance. She, therefore, urgently appeals to the Governors and Subscribers for their Votes and Interest on behalf of her Son.

The case is strongly recommended by: Bro. Alderman and Sheriff H. Hadley, Vice-President, P.M. 55

M.E.Z. 3, P.P.G.D.C. 1, Upper Thames-street, E.C.

" F. Bonney, W.M. 193; 1, Horselydown Lane.

" H. T. Reed, S.W. 193; 16, Tottenham Court Road.

" E. W. Fithian, J.W. 193; 8, Fairfield Grove, Kennington Lane.

" G. S. F. Warne, P.M. and Treas. 193; 9, Gresham-street, E.C.

" J. Shackell, P.M. and Sec. 193; 298, Goswell Road.

" S. Webb, P.M. and Dir. of Ceremonies 193, 434, Oxford-street.

" J. Burch, P.M. 193; 30, St. Mary Axe.

" B. D. Kershaw, P.M. 193; New River Head.

" F. H. Clemow, 193; Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.

" W. Harding, 193; 3, Ave Maria Lane, E.C.

" J. Roberts, 193; 195, Shoreditch.

" R. J. Hutton, 193; 240, City Road.

" J. Coutts, P.G.P., P.M. 27, 1310, 1346, 1537; P.Z. 177, 382;

" M.E.Z. 1548; 30, James-street, Covent Garden.

" J. E. Walford, P.M. 177, and P.Z. 145.

" J. F. Weatherhead, 193; 2, Claremont Villas, Kew Bridge.

" H. Lea, J.D. 193; 552, Oxford-street.

" G. Lamb, V.P., P.S.A. and P.M. 198 and 504; P.Z. 7 and 24; R. T. 31; P.P.S.G. Warden, Hertis, 12; Coventry-street.

" J. Shepherd, P.M. 21 and 201; Holland-street, Clapham, Road.

" R. Griffiths, 193; 7, Highbury Grange, Islington.

By whom Proxies will be gratefully received, and also by Mrs. Rogers, 115, Central-street, St. Luke's, E.C.

PRESENTATION

PAST MASTERS' JEWELS, LEVELS, &c.

A Large Stock now on view at Bro. G. KENNINGS Show Rooms, Little Britain and Aldersgate-street, London.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	433
Instruction.....	434
Royal Arch.....	434
Scotland.....	434
Provincial Grand Lodge of Cheshire.....	434
Continental Freemasonry.....	435
Valuable Presentation to an Esteemed Brother.....	435
Laying Foundation of New Docks at Ayr.....	435
Proposed Central Masonic Hall for Glasgow.....	436
Masonic Demonstration at Grangemoor.....	436
Masonic and General Tidings.....	437
Obituary.....	437
Arrangements for the Visit of the Prince of Wales to Glasgow.....	437
Papal Utterances.....	438
Spiritualism.....	438
Ultramontane Violence.....	438
The "Philadelphia Keystone".....	439
The Concordia Institute.....	439
The Girls' School Election in October.....	439
The "Saturday Review".....	440
The Concordia Institute.....	440
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Freemasonry in Venezuela.....	440
The Widow of the Late Bro. Farnfield.....	440
Dedication of a Masonic Hall at Havant.....	440
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	440
Advertisements.....	L. II. III. IV. V. VI.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

CLAPTON LODGE (No. 1365).—The installation meeting of this successful lodge was held on the 21st inst., at the White Hart Hotel, Clapton. The brethren present on the occasion were very numerous, and among the visitors were several well-known members of the Craft. The W.M., Bro. Richard Wyatt, presided, having Bro. Wm. Stephens, P.M., in the S.W. chair, and Bro. George R. Soper, W.M. elect, in that of the J.W. Of the other brethren present were Bros. Vine, P.M. 173; W. Murlis, W.M. 1489; Somers, W.M. 1602; Cusworth, S.W. 813; Hobbs, S.W. 749; Felton, S.W. 1613; H. J. Felton, Herold, and Cockrane, 1056; Papmaugh, 9; Withers, 299; Verdon, 188; Allen, 733; Keast, 813; Green, 861; Perrin, 765; Glaskin, 569 and 1489; Humphreys, 1364; Hawthorn, 1489; and Collier, 1314. After the opening of the lodge, the confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, and the disposal of some other lodge business, the W.M. elect, Bro. Geo. R. Soper, J.W., was presented to Bro. Wyatt, who formally installed him as Master of the lodge. The ceremony was very impressively rendered by the retiring W.M. The brethren appointed and invested as officers were Bros. J. Bodkin, S.W.; Cogan, J.W.; Murlis, Treas.; W. Lutwyche, Sec.; Simms, S.D.; A. McMillan, J.D.; Finch, I.G.; and Verry, Sec. The brethren afterwards closed down, and adjourned to banquet, which was admirably served, and after the cloth was cleared the usual toasts were given and honoured with the greatest enthusiasm. "The Health of the W.M." was cordially drunk and eloquently responded to. Bro. Wyatt, P.M., experienced the gratification of being the recipient of an elegant Past Master's jewel, a gift which was feelingly acknowledged by him. Bro. Wm. Stephens, P.M., responded for the toast of "The Masonic Charities." All the visitors replied in turn for the toast of "The Visitors." The gathering was a most happy and successful one, and will be long remembered by all who had the opportunity and pleasure of being present.

CHAUCER LODGE (No. 1540).—An emergency meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Friday, 22nd September, at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Bro. T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.S.B., Middlesex, P.M., W.M., presided. He raised Bro. G. Newman to the Third Degree, passed Bros. Paul Levy, W. N. Phillips, T. Harding, and C. Winstanley to the Second Degree. Bro. T. J. Hooper Wilkins, P.M., initiated his friends Messrs. Charles Stephen Hodges and William Carter into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. All the work was well done. Agreeably to the notice of motion given by Bro. T. J. Hooper Wilkins, the sum of twenty guineas was unanimously voted from the lodge funds towards the testimonial to be presented to Bro. T. J. Sabine, in recognition of his services as the first W.M. and one of its founders, it being understood the vote of the lodge funds would be supplemented by private donations of the members. Business being ended the lodge was closed and adjourned to Saturday, October 21st, to meet early in the afternoon. There were present besides those named Bros. J. C. Mason, S.W., and W.M. elect; E. S. Stidolph, J.W.; Rev. H. J. Hatch, Chaplain; F. Walters, P.G. J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Secretary; G. H. Wright, P.M., as S.D.; C. W. Hudson, J.D.; H. Faija, C.E., I.G.; A. J. Hawkes, D.C.; C. T. Sparks, W. Klingenstein, C. Graham, H. Levy, H. Blackwell, R. C. Harrison, R. H. Willats, and others. The visitors were Bros. Leonard Van Bollen, 1275; L. Beck, S.D., 1559; L. Alexander, P.M. 188; C. H. McKay, 97; P. Branly, 20; Walter Downing, P.M. 20; Joseph Blenn, W.M. 1017; C. G. Rushworth, W.M. 1309; W. T. Lover, J.W. and W.M. elect 1178; Mark Van Bollen, Mount Lebanon, American Constitution; and others whose names we regret we could not ascertain.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude (No. 281).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic rooms, at the Athenæum, on the 13th inst. Bro. Thomas Atkinson, the W.M., occupied the chair of K.S. There was a numerous attendance of members and visiting brethren. The lodge was opened with solemn prayer in the First Degree, after which the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. There being no special business before the lodge, Bro. Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of E., at the request of the W.M. kindly gave an address on "How to prove a Mason," and in the course of his remarks the worthy and eminent brother forcibly urged upon his younger brethren in the Craft the necessity of never allowing the person whom they were proving to learn anything from them, but to let the stranger give the initiative in the signs, &c. He said further, that though a person might by chance give a correct answer to some of the questions that would necessarily be put to him, they should not be satisfied with that, but proceed further, till it was proved beyond any doubt that the person was a Mason before being admitted to a lodge. The address was listened to with much attention by those present, and was rendered additionally interesting by Bro. Moore relating several instances that had come under his own personal observation, showing the necessity for adopting the course which he advocated. A cordial vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Dr. Moore at the conclusion of his remarks, and the usual proclamations having been made, the lodge was closed with the formalities of the Craft.

DEPTFORD.—Royal Oak Lodge (No. 871).—An emergency meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Thursday, 21st September, at the White Swan Hotel, 217, High-street, Deptford. Bro. H. J. Tuson, W.M., assisted by Bros. F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; G. Andrews, P.M., D.C.; J. J. Pakes, S.W.; H. J. Fisher, Org.; J. G. Vohmann, I.G.; H. W. F. Fellows, F. H. Burr, W. O. Lockhead, W. Simmons, E. James, R. Mason, W. H. Truelove, J. G. Thomas, W. Abbott, W. White, A. Macers, G. Eve, L. Michaels, and others. The visitors were Bros. G. H. Kitson, 548; David Smith, 1326; and some more, whose names we were unable to ascertain. The work done was passing Bros. L. Michaels, W. White, and W. Abbott to the Second Degree, initiating Messrs. Gustav Wildermuth, John Buchele, and Joel Davis into Freemasonry. Bro. G. Andrews, in an admirable manner, gave the Lecture on the Tracing Board in the Second Degree, also the charge to the newly-initiated members. All business being ended, the lodge was closed, and adjourned until Thursday, October 26th, to meet at five o'clock p.m. As there was not any banquet or refreshment, the brethren separated directly the lodge was closed, and adjourned.

PLUMSTEAD.—United Military (No. 1536). The regular monthly meeting of this large and prosperous lodge took place on Friday last, the 8th inst., at Bro. Plaisted's fine Hall on Angelsea Hill, a great number of the brethren of the lodge as well as visitors being present. Bro. W. Weston, the W.M., presided, supported by the following officers: G. Spinkes, S.W.; Picken, J.W.; W. Murphy, Treas.; T. Cooper, Sec.; H. Shaw, S.D.; J. McCaffery, J.D.; D. Deeves, D.C.; Harding, Org.; Ritchie, I.G.; and J. Lackland, Tyler. The P.M.'s present were Bro. F. G. Pownall and Bro. R. Croisdale. The lodge being duly opened two brethren were passed to the Second Degree and three received the benefit of the Third degree. The lodge was then resumed and the W.M. presented Bro. Cooper, the Secretary, with a very handsome Secretary's jewel, as a mark of respect from the lodge and as a recognition of the valuable services rendered to it by him since its formation. Bro. Cooper returned thanks, and assured the W.M. and lodge of his intention, if possible, of doing still more for the prosperity of it, and thanked them cordially for their splendid present. The lodge was then closed, and refreshments partaken of, the usual toasts being duly honoured. The visitors included T. Butt, W.M. 700; T. Ward, P.M. 700; T. D. Hayes, J.W. 913; A. Jessup, Treas. 913; A. Wallis, 913; J. W. Virgo, 702; C. Morton, 700; E. T. Robertson, 398; J. Brewster, 398; G. Shultz, 13; G. H. Baker, 13; W. McDaniel, 13; W. Osborne, 1428; A. Brookson, 1424; G. Fraser, 700; W. G. Douglass, 1463; B. Norman, 13; C. Jolly, 913; and others.

HATFIELD.—Cranbourne Lodge (No. 1580).—The first season of this lodge came to a termination on Tuesday, 19th inst., when the brethren met at the Red Lion, Hatfield, to select a Master, elect a Treasurer, and, as Hertfordshire summer Masons, to close their lodge until the flowers next May again welcome them to Hatfield. The weather last Tuesday was all that could be desired for a country ramble, but the brethren resisted all temptations, and opened lodge in the old coaching inn which stands near the Hatfield Station. The brethren welcomed back to his chair Bro. Bowyer, who is still suffering from the effects of an accident, which had necessitated his absence at the previous meeting, and the Senior Warden's chair was filled by Bro. Mather, P.M. of the Upton Lodge, Bro. Bonsor occupying the J.W.'s chair. There were also present Bro. E. Massey, Prov. G.S. of Herts, as P.M.; Bro. J. Terry, as Sec. Bro. P.M. Cook, as Treas.; Bro. Cox, S.D.; Bro. Halford, J.D.; and Bro. Killich, as I.G., Bro. Hillier being absent through illness. The first business was the balloting for a joining member, Bro. Crutch, W.M. of the Burdett-Coutts Lodge, and the ballot being clear the elected brother acknowledged the kindness shown him, while the lodge congratulated itself upon having won to its ranks another good man and brother equal to its high standard; for all, or nearly all, in it can at least work the three degrees, while not a few can also instal. The election then proceeded for the Master for the ensuing year, and Bro. Mather was unanimously elected to that high position. Bro. Cook was then re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Steadman again chosen Tyler. The business of adopting a set of bye-laws was discharged under the advice of the able and experienced Secretary, and the lodge then closed in the usual manner. The brethren were indulged with the time for a short walk, and then sat down to a pleasant dinner. The Chief of the State was with all loyalty toasted, and the chiefs of the Craft received the honours ever accorded to them by the brethren, not forgetting the provincial dignitaries in the Craft, Bro. Murray responding. The W. Master and the W.M. elect had their high merits acknowledged, and responded to the toasts of their health. The hospitality of the lodge was spoken to by the visitors—Bro. J. White ("Freemason"), P.M. of 228; Bro. Dobson, of Newstead, No. 47 (Nottingham); and Bro. Burdors, J.D. of the Highgate Lodge. During the evening Bro. Bedell, Bro. Matthews, Bro. Briggs, and others gave some interesting selections of music and poetry, and so passed the time pleasantly until the trains for London were nearly due, when the brethren left the red-brick town behind them.

STAINES.—Musgrave Lodge (No. 1597).—A meeting of this promising lodge was held on Saturday, the 16th inst., at the Angel and Crown, Staines. Present: Bros. J. M. Levick, W.M.; F. Keily, Prov. G. Treas. Middlesex, S.W.; E. Amphlett, J.W.; T. H. Edmonds, P.G.S., S.D.; R. Sindall, acting J.D.; J. Dunn, I.G.; Gillard; Wilson, P.M.; E. Fairlie, and several other brethren. The business consisted of the passing of Bro. H. F. Bing, the initiation of Messrs. A. Paterson and R. G. Jewell, which ceremonies were rendered in that excellent manner for which the brethren of this young lodge are gaining so high a reputation in the Province of Middlesex. The next business was to consider the bye-laws, which were submitted, and after one or two trifling alterations were adopted. The period having arrived for the election of the W.M., Treasurer, and Tyler for 1877, the ballots proved unanimous in favour of the following brethren:—Bros. F. Keily, as W.M.; J. M. Levick, as Treas.; and Gilbert, Tyler. A Past Master's jewel was voted to the W.M. on his retiring from the chair; also that a recommendation should be forwarded to the Prov. Grand Master for Middlesex for the same brother's advancement to Provincial Grand Lodge. Other Masonic business having been brought before the lodge, it was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet under the presidency of the W.M. The usual Masonic and loyal toasts having been duly honoured, the London brethren returned to town at an early hour.

HERVEY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—The members of the above lodge met in large numbers at the Clifton Arms, Fulham-road on Thursday evening, Sept. 21, in response to a circular inviting their attendance to consider the proposition (of the Secretary and Preceptor of the lodge, Bro. G. King, jun.) that the lodge should be removed to a more central position, as the attendance for many months past had materially decreased, and greatly impeded the object for which the lodge was formed—viz., to afford members of the mother lodge (1260) an opportunity of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the workings of the degrees, and fit themselves to fill any office they might be appointed to. The lodge was opened at eight p.m., and on being resumed to the Third Degree, the W.M. (Bro. G. Harrison, W.M. 1260) rehearsed the ceremony of raising, Bro. Cox kindly volunteering as a candidate. On resuming the lodge to the First Degree, and the W.M. rising for the third time, Bro. King rose to lay before the brethren his proposition that the lodge be removed to a more central position, and informed the brethren that Bro. Beeton, of the Punch Tavern, Fleet-street, had offered to accommodate them with a room that was in every way suitable for the purpose, and as the majority of the brethren of the Hervey Lodge resided in localities to which the present lodge-room was a long distance removed, he felt confident that if his proposition was carried it would be for the comfort and convenience of all the members connected with it. There was also another consideration, and that was an intimation from Mr. Gordon, the landlord of the Clifton Arms, that as the attendance had been so small he would have to make a charge for the room, to recoup himself for the cost of gas, firing, &c. The proposition was seconded by Bro. Spalding, and after some remarks from Bros. Ward, Bigwood, and King (senior P.M.) the W.M. put it to the lodge, and it was carried unanimously. Bro. King, jun., begged to thank the brethren for their unanimity of opinion, and before the matter was done with would propose that the nights of meeting be altered from Thursday to Friday, that alteration to take place on removing to the new lodge quarters. This proposition having been seconded by Bro. Burley, was put and carried unanimously. Bro. Withers then rose to propose that, as an inducement for the members of the lodge to attend in large numbers, the Fifteen Sections should be worked on a convenient day, and, after some desultory remarks, it was eventually decided that Bro. G. King, jun., be invited to work them on the last Friday in October. The Secretary having informed the brethren that an opening supper would take place in October at Bro. Beeton's, and he would be glad to take the names of those brethren who intended to be present. This ending the business for the evening, the lodge was closed in due form. Among the brethren present were Bros. King, sen., P.M. 1260; G. King, jun., P.M. 1260; Harrison, W.M. 1260; Goodane, as S.W.; Portway, as J.W.; Withers, S.D.; Ward, I.G.; and Bros. Salmon, Steward, Cox, Gonier, Spalding, Burley, Bigwood, Butter, Ballard, Alexander, and others.

Royal Arch.

TORQUAY.—St. John's Chapter (No. 328).—The quarterly meeting was held at the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, September 19th, at 5 p.m. The principal chairs were taken by Ex. Comps. Perry, Z.; Murray, H.; Warren, J. There were also present Ex. Comps. Rev. R. Bowden, Dr. Hopkins, Harland, P.Z.'s; Comps. Bradnee, E.; Hurrell, N.; Pigott, Pr. Suj.; Fullwood, S. Soj.; Morgan, as J. Soj.; and several others. The Board of Installed Principals having been opened, the companions were admitted, and the chapter was opened. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for the following as candidates for exaltation, which proved unanimous in their favour: Bros. G.

Perry, W. Taylor, C. Johns, W. A. Goss, jun., of whom all were present except the first, who was stated by the M.E.Z. to have expressed regret at his unavoidable absence. All due preparations having been made, the candidates were admitted and exalted to the rank of R.A. Companion, the ceremony being performed by the newly-appointed officers, except that Scribe E. very satisfactorily took the most arduous part of the duties of Pr. Soj. At the close of the symbolical lecture from the second chair, the M.E.Z. stated that as he had now worked the ceremony for the first time, he was equally prepared to give the mystical lecture, but he thought the companions would like to hear it from the lips of an esteemed P.Z. and honorary member, who, having left the district and gone to reside at a great distance, could but seldom visit the chapter, and whose finished style and excellent working always conveyed instruction to his juniors and pleasure to those of the same standing. He, therefore, called upon Ex. Comp. Dr. Hopkins, P.Z., to perform the duty, who of course complied. On the proposition of the M.E.Z., seconded by Ex. Comp. Rev. R. Bowden, P.Z., Ex. Comp. T. Lidstone, P.Z. of No. 106, was elected an honorary member. Ex. Comp. Murray, H., announced to the chapter that since the last meeting a circumstance had occurred of a very gratifying nature; first, because by it a high compliment was paid to one who had merited it by a long series of eminent services rendered with great skill and ability, in every department of Freemasonry, as well as by his independence and modesty in never seeking honours, but rather patiently submitting to see them bestowed on others when he might fairly have claimed them—no other than their highly esteemed M.E.Z.; and secondly, because it afforded proof that at last the successful labours of Freemasons at Torquay were beginning to be appreciated by the Most Ex. Prov. Grand Superintendent, though previously they had been but scantily recognized. The companions would therefore be pleased to hear that their esteemed chief in the first chair had been offered and had accepted provincial honours. This announcement was received with applause, which was suitably acknowledged by the M.E.Z. No other business offering, the well conducted and successful meeting terminated, and the chapter was closed in ample form at 7.30.

Scotland.

DUNDEE.—Lodge Ancient (No. 49).—Owing to the improvement of the Murraygate, the members of this lodge had to vacate the premises in which their meetings were held; but they have now had built for them a fine new hall, the consecration of which was arranged to take place on the afternoon of Friday, the 29th inst., by the Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Lord Ramsay. The building is situated near the top of the Murraygate, and consists of two storeys. The upper portion will be used as the principal hall for Masonic purposes. It is about 32 feet long by 18 feet in breadth, and has a very cheerful and comfortable appearance. During the day it is lighted by glass in the roof, while at night two chandeliers, having numerous burners, serve this purpose. At the north end there is an orchestral gallery, and behind that w.c. and lavatory accommodation. The hall has been painted very beautifully, and at the south end there are transparencies of the patron saints, St. Andrew and St. John. There are also two terpsichorean figures, and around the walls are hung paintings in oil of several brethren who have held the position of R.W.M. The lower hall is of similar construction, and access may be had to the upper hall through it, although there is a separate entrance. There are a number of ante-rooms, and the convenience of the members has evidently been studied in the details.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Thistle (No. 87).—Unusual interest attached to the regular meeting of this lodge on Tuesday, the 19th inst., by reason that, for the first time, the brethren assembled in their own new hall—being another added to the not very great number of Masonic halls in Glasgow. For a considerable time Lodge 87 held their meetings in the hall of the Star Lodge, 219, at No. 12, Tron-gate, but about a year ago they removed westward, and became tenants of Lodge Commercial, 360, at No. 30, Hope-street. Soon, however, a very general desire for a change arose among the members, and that they should have a hall of their own; and this, as we have stated, is now carried out. The new premises are situated at No. 30, Cathedral-street; and in addition to the lodge hall proper, which is 40 feet in length by 17½ feet wide, include all the requisite "adjacent" accommodation in convenient arrangement, and on an ample scale. The decorations of the hall, not yet quite completed, are befittingly chaste and quiet. The ceiling is covered light blue and the walls medium blue—the latter panelled with light blue styles, the two tints being separated by a neat border running between them. The lower portion of the walls, that is for five feet upwards from the floor, is in oak colour, with a suitable border dividing it from the blue. The dais, elevated a couple of steps above the floor of the hall, is unenclosed. The meeting on Tuesday evening was naturally a numerous one, including not a few visiting brethren who came up to see the Thistle in their new quarters. The W.M., Bro. James Booth, presided, and office-bearers and past office-bearers of the lodge present on this opening occasion were Bros. James W. Burns, I.P.M., John Miller, and John Fraser, Past Masters; J. G. Ritchie, S.M.; Walter Stewart, S.W.; Robert Barr, J.W.; Thomas Paton, Treasurer; William Wilson, Secretary; and John McLachlan, S.D. The lodge, having been opened, the Chairman said that before beginning business he had simply to welcome them all into their own new home, and he hoped as long as they remained in it they would be prosperous. The Secretary (Bro. Wilson) then read the minutes of last meeting, which were passed nem. con., and thereafter the Chairman intimated that the following gentlemen had made application for admission into the Order and into Lodge Thistle, and each had been duly proposed and seconded, viz:—Messrs. John M'Nee, And. Myles, Charles Bone, Jas. S. Wills, Walter Walker, Henry Noble, and Robert Graeme, reporter. There being no objections, the candidates having been prepared were brought in, and received the E.A. Degree at the hands of the W. Master. Prior to the ceremony of initiation, the following were duly affiliated as members of Lodge 87, viz:—Bros. Robert Kennedy, of Lodge Cadder Argyle, Chryston, No. 147; and James M'Allan, of Lodge St. John's Operative, Rutherglen, No. 347. There was no other business of importance before the lodge, which was thereafter closed in due and ancient form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Plantation (No. 581).—A very influential and largely-attended meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Monday, the 18th inst., in the Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street, Plantation; Bro. Thos. Stobo, W.M., in the chair, with Bro. Joseph Henry, acting S.W., and Bro. Andrew Imrie, as J.W. On the lodge being opened, and minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, it was unanimously agreed to, that a large deputation be present to take part in the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the Post Office in Glasgow on the 17th of next month. Applications were then read and sustained from eight gentlemen seeking admission into the Order, and were duly initiated into the E.A. Degree. Thereafter four E.A.'s were passed to the F.C. Degree, both ceremonies being performed by Bro. Wm. Ferguson, D.M. Other business of an agreeable nature was disposed of, and the lodge was then closed in due and ancient form.

GLASGOW.—St. Mungo Encampment.—A special meeting of this encampment was held in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, for the annual election and installation of office-bearers, who were appointed as follows:—William F. Shaw, Eminent Commander; Robert Bell, Past Eminent Commander; Thomas Clanachan, Deputy Commander; James O. Park, Captain-General; David Reid, Recorder; John A. Ferguson, Treas.; John Kay, Marshal; John Tweed, First Aide-de-Camp; Thos. W. Brownlie, Second Aide-de-Camp; James McLeish, First Warder; Peter Douglass, Second Warder; Rednie Currie, First Captain; Robert Grange, Second Captain; James Louttit, Third Captain; James Chalmers, Standard Bearer; Danl. Baker, Drill-Instructor; G. W. Wheeler, Prelate; James B. Hardie, Sentinel.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF CHESHIRE.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the highly important division of Cheshire, of which Bro. the Right Hon. Lord De Tabley is the universally popular head, was held in the Market Hall, Knutsford, on Wednesday afternoon, the 20th inst. The rapid growth of the fraternity in the Province of Cheshire was never more clearly illustrated, as, notwithstanding the fact that the place of meeting was very much out of the way and particularly difficult of access from nearly every part of the division, there was the largest gathering of Masons which has ever yet been witnessed under the De Tabley banner. Moreover, the assembly was not only the most numerous, but by far the most influential of recent years, and the ensemble as witnessed in the Market Hall was of the most brilliant description. The weather was delightfully fine, and as the brethren gathered from all points of the compass, the "natives" gathered to witness the sight with unusual interest, while the village church bells rang a merry peal. The whole of the thirty-nine lodges in the province were represented, with but one exception—the Mersey Lodge, No. 477, Birkenhead, which was at Knutsford, but not present in the Provincial Grand Lodge owing to some private reason which did not transpire. Some of the lodges gathered in strong force (the Stamford Lodge, 1045, Altrincham, of which Bro. Captain Hardy, P.M., was the acting W.M., having no fewer than thirty-one officers and brethren in the room), and the grand total of the distinguished assembly could not have numbered less than 400. The great room in the Market Hall was admirably adapted for the meeting, and all the arrangements here—carried out by the brethren of the De Tabley Lodge, No. 941, Knutsford (under whose Masonic banner the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting was held)—must have given complete satisfaction to all who were at the meeting.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord De Tabley, R.W.P.G.M., was present and presided, and amongst his brilliant staff of Provincial Grand Lodge Officers and distinguished visitors on the dais with him were the following:—Bros. G. Cornwall Legh, D.P.G.M.; the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., P.P.G.J.W.; Aeneas J. M'Intyre, Q.C., Grand Reg.; J. Hervey, Grand Sec.; H. S. Alpass, Prov. G. Sec. West Lancashire; Horatio Lloyd, P.G.S.W.; J. Wood, P.G. Reg.; E. H. Griffiths, P.G. Sec.; C. Dutton, P.P.G.S.W.; J. Hampson, P.P.G.J.D.; Wilmot Eardley, P.G.D.C.; J. A. Birch, P.P.G.S.D.; S. Gilbert, P.P.G.P.; J. Salmon, P.P.G.S.D.; J. Beresford, P.P.G.S.D.; T. Wainwright, P.P.G.S.D.; J. E. Williams, P.G.S.D.; M. H. Bradley, P.G.S.; the Rev. J. W. N. Tanner, P.P.G.C.; R. Sykes, P.G.P.; J. Lonax, P.P.G.C.; R. T. Bowden, P.G.S. of W.; T. Bowers, P.P.G.A.D.C.; J. Tomlinson, P.P.G.S.B.; G. Burrows, P.P.G.J.D.; W. Fair, P.P.G.S.B.; Rev. R. Hodgson, P.G.C.; J. Travis, P.G.O.; E. G. Simpson, P.P.G.J.D.; H. Howard, P.P.G.J.D.; J. P. Platt, P.P.G.J.W.; R. Mellor, P.P.G.J.D.; R. Newhouse, P.P.G.A.D.C.; T. H. Kirk, P.P.G.O.; W. Blackshaw, P.P.G.S. of W.; W. Berry, P.G.S.; J. Turner, P.G.S.; J. Hibbert, P.P.G.J.D.; W. Greatrix, P.P.G.P.; J. C. Cheetham, P.P.G.S.B.; S. Wilkinson, P.P.G.S.D.; R. Beales, P.P.G.J.W.; H. Bulley, P.P.G.J.W.; Rev. J. S. Darvell, P.G.C.; G. Barlow, P. Prov. G.O.; F. Jackson, jun., Prov. Grand Treas.; J. W. Arrowsmith, P.P.G.S.B.; and others. Amongst the other brethren present from the district were Bros. W. Nicholls, P.M.; J. Siddley, P.M.; J. Hodgkinson, P.M.; J. Burgess, P.M.; D. Kinsey, I.G.; C. Sherwin, C. R. Walton, S.D.; J. McHattie, W.M.; John J. Cannah, W.M.; J. E. Williams, P.M.; W. C. Hunt, P.M.; T. M. Lockwood, J.W.; S. M. Ramsden, N. McNemie, W.M. 605; R. B. Nicholls, W.M.; R. Kenyon, J. B. Cutter, P.M.; J. W. McGill, P.M.; J. Hulme, P.M.; J. Leach, Llewellyn Makin, S.W.; S. Carter, J. Twiss, P.P.G.O.; T. Arden, W.M.; Thomas Walton, I.G.; J. Wakefield, R. Finlow, W. R. Bainbridge, P.M. 721 and 1276; E. Furnivall, Thomas Brown, 941, 1546; G. Richardson, 1055, 1565; J. H. Evans, J.D.; G. Barber, 1565, 1588; Rev. E. Bagot, LL.B.; Rev. W. N. Truss, J. Cavannah, W.M.; J. E. Coates, C. P. Murray, J.W.; James Crook, S.W.; H. W. Smith, I.G.; W. R. Watson, J. Bott, J. Jennison, John Hardy, P.M., acting W.M. 1045; J. L. Owen, 1045, 1565; W. Gibson, W.M.; Renshaw, J.W.; T. Kent, J. Harrison, J. Hamilton, I.G.; J. Worthington, Tyler 1045; M. Alcock, Tyler 941; W. Taberer, 1045, 941; H. Douglas, E. Herd, W. Wood, J. Blackhurst, S.W.; T. Bolshaw, J.D.; W. Lowe; J. Watson, P.M.; J. Knott; R. Robson; C. C. Imison, P.M.; E. Aston, W.M.; John Fothergill, P.M.; T. Gregson; J. Collier, jun.; R. Rigby, I.P.M.; W. R. Wass, J.W.; C. Rigby; C. Gerrard, 1,844, 758, S.D.; G. Moss; W. Lyon, Tyler 758; T. Kingston; J. C. Waterworth; W. Mellor, I.G.; G. Coxhill, J.D.; W. Matthews, S.W.; John Dennis, P.M.; J. Holland, Sec. 428; T. Davies, P.P. J.G.D., and W.M. 428; H. Brant; H. Claude Lisle, P.M.; E. Butterworth, and others.

The Prov. Grand Lodge was received in due form by the assembled brethren, the prayer at the opening being offered by Bro. the Rev. R. Hodgson, P.G.C. Letters of apology were read from Bros. G. W. Latham, P.P.G.J.W.; Captain Bennett, P.G.J.W.; Captain Cope, P.P.G.S.W.; Rev. C. W. Spencer Stanhope, P.P.G.C.; and R. Baker. The roll of the P.G.L. Officers was read by the P.G. Sec., and showed a more than usually large attendance. The minutes of last P.G.L. meeting at Hyde, and special meetings held at Chester, Crewe, Parkgate, and Newton Moor were read.

Bro. Lord De Tabley then said that in rising to address the Prov. Grand Lodge, as was his custom on the occasion of their annual meeting, he must endeavour to express the very great satisfaction he felt in being enabled to meet his brethren of the P.G. Lodge once more in Knutsford. By meeting them there that day he was reminded of the last time in which they assembled in the same town, in the year 1865. He could never forget the proud moment when, on that occasion, he was installed in the chair of Provincial Grand Master by the Marquis of Ripon, who was then the Deputy Grand Master of England; and when he (Lord De Tabley) looked back on his eleven years of office, he could not but be grateful to the Great Architect of the Universe for the fruits of plenty and prosperity with which He had blessed the growth of Masonry in the Province of Cheshire. (Applause.) At that time there were only 26 lodges in their division, but now they numbered 39. (Hear hear.) At that period they had scarcely a vote for any of the charities which were the pride of the Order, but now, by the liberality of this P.G. Lodge, he was a Vice-Patron of the three great Masonic institutions in London, and the D.P.G. Master also occupied the same proud position. By the singular munificence of the brethren Bro. Dutton was a perpetual Vice-President of the Boys' School, and Bro. Howard was also a Vice-President of the Girls' School. Moreover, there was scarcely a Master in the province who was not a life governor of some of the charities. He did not say this in any spirit of boasting or self-glorification, but to show those illustrious brethren of the Grand Lodge who had honoured them with their presence that day that the light of Freemasonry was burning brightly in the Province of Cheshire, as it was in every province in the great dominions of their M.W. Grand Master. To what was this owing? It was due to the zeal, harmony, and brotherly love exhibited by all the members of their lodges, and by their constant endeavour to act together and promulgate the great principles of the fraternity. (Applause.) Everywhere he went he found the existence of these truly Masonic principles. Only on two occasions he had had to deal with irregularities which had crept into lodges—two instances of offences against the spirit of Masonry; and in one especially the spirit of disunion had prevailed so largely that, on the report of a committee, he had had to suspend it for twelve months. He could only pray that the spirit of love would be restored amongst the members, and that at the end of the year this lodge would again take its place amongst others in the province. Referring once more to what had been done by the brethren, his lordship said a pulpit had been presented to the cathedral at Chester as the result of individual contributions. It was thought that the funds of the Prov. G. Lodge should not be devoted to a gift for any one particular place, but the brethren of that province, devoted as they largely were to the Established Church, came forward with that liberality which is so prevalent amongst them, and presented a pulpit worth £470. (Applause.) Then, last of all, they had from the funds of the P.G.L., and by private subscriptions, purchased a perpetual presentation to the Boys' School in London. Under these circumstances they could not but feel that they had endeavoured to carry out the duties devolving upon them in connection with their charities. (Hear hear.) He was glad to see the influential gathering that day, and he was certain that in the fulfilment of his duties he would have their sympathies and support. He hoped to meet them next year at Seacombe, where he intended to hold his next Provincial Grand Lodge meeting. (Loud Applause.)

The P.G. Treasurer submitted his financial statement, from which it appeared that £414 5s. 10d. was invested on account of the P.G. Lodge, £470 14s. 9d. for the Fund of Benevolence, and £1250 had been paid for the perpetual presentation to the Boys' School. To raise 500 guineas, £398 had to be borrowed from the bank, but towards that he had received £213, and, with certain sums received, the debt to the bank had been reduced to nearly £250, which he hoped would be paid off by next year. The P.G. Treasurer concluded by pointing out the necessity for Secretaries of lodges sending in the returns without delay.

On the motion of the P.G.M., seconded by Bro. G. Cornwall Legh, the accounts were passed, and Bro. F. Jackson was re-elected the P.G. Treasurer.

Bro. Wood, P.G. Reg., moved, and Bro. the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton seconded, a motion to the effect that a silken banner, emblazoned with appropriate Masonic emblems, should be provided for the use of the Provincial Grand Lodge, at a cost not exceeding £20.—The P.G.M.: You will all remember how our banner came to an untimely end while battling with the breezes on Newton Moor. (Laughter.) The motion was carried unanimously.

The P.G.M. then invested Bros. H. Lloyd, Marwood, Sutton, J. P. Platt, and J. Hanson with charity jewels, as they had served the office of Steward to one or other of the charities.

Bro. Lord De Tabley next invested the following as his officers for the ensuing year:—

The Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P.	Prov. G.S.W.
T. Marwood	Prov. G.J.W.
Rev. E. R. Parr	Prov. G. Chaplain.
J. Wood	Prov. G. Reg.
E. H. Griffiths	Prov. G. Sec.
E. Simpson	Prov. G.S.D.
John Siddeley	Prov. G.J.D.
F. Smith	Prov. G.S. of W.
R. Baker	Prov. G.D.C.
J. McGill	Prov. G.A.D.C.
S. F. Gosling	Prov. G.S.B.
J. Beech	Prov. G.P.
J. Travis	Prov. G.O.
J. Burgess, W. Nicholls, J. Hodgkinson, D. Kinsey, C. Sherwin, and J. Whitlow	Prov. G. Stewards.

On the motion of the P.G.M., Bro. Captain Cope was re-appointed the Chairman of the Fund of Benevolence, and the proceedings were brought to a close, votes of thanks being subsequently passed to Lord Egerton for the use of the hall, and to the Rev. H. Barnacle, vicar, for the church accommodation.

A procession was formed, and nearly the whole of the brethren proceeded to St. John's Church, where an excellent sermon was preached by Bro. the Rev. E. R. Parr, P.G.C., from Philippians iv., 8: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." The musical service was under the direction of Bro. J. Travis, P.G.O., assisted by Miss Travis, Mrs. Hilton, Bros. Stafford, Dumville, Roscoe, Throop, and other vocalists. The collection, amounting to £17 10s. 3d., was on behalf of the Provincial Fund of Benevolence.

A banquet was subsequently served at the Royal George Hotel, but there the arrangements were not quite so satisfactory as could have been desired. The tables were inconveniently crowded, and a number of brethren had to retire without dinner. Bro. Lord De Tabley presided, supported by Bro. Aeneas McIntyre, Q.C., G. Reg.; Bro. J. Hervey, G. Sec.; Bro. G. Cornwall Legh, D.P.G.M.; Bro. the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., P.G.S.W.; and a host of other distinguished brethren. After giving the toasts of "The Queen," and "The M.W.G.M. the Prince of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," Bro. Lord De Tabley submitted "The Prov. G.M., the D.G.M., and the other Officers of Grand Lodge." In doing so, he said he had that day been honoured with the presence of two Grand Officers, one of whom—Bro. McIntyre—they might reckon as one of themselves, and most glad were they to see him on all occasions; and the other was their most distinguished brother in the Craft, Bro. John Hervey, who had kindly come down from London to be present on that occasion. Both of these distinguished officers were well-known in the Craft, and he gave the toast of their health with the greatest heartiness.

Bro. McIntyre, whose name was coupled with the toast, in the course of an eloquent speech, said he considered it indeed a great privilege to return thanks on that occasion for the Officers of the G.L., and he was quite certain that Cheshire, which was so strong in Masonry, would fully appreciate the services rendered by the brethren whom he then represented. After referring to the excellent qualities possessed by the Earl of Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale, Bro. McIntyre said it was in the province of Cheshire that he put his foot on the first rung of the Masonic ladder, and he would never forget the kindness shown to him when he was the ruler of the Cestrian Lodge. He concluded by proposing "The Health of the P.G.M.," to whom the province owed its present proud position in connection with the charities, and also with reference to the numerical strength and position of all the lodges.

Lord De Tabley, in responding, said it was with feelings of profound gratitude to the Great Architect of the Universe that he found himself presiding over that province. Not alone through his efforts, but principally through the efforts of those who had supported him, had Masonry in that province been raised to the present proud position, he was glad to say, which it held amongst the other provinces in England. He could only pray that the lodges under his control would continue to work with that love and harmony which he desired so much to see. The great hindrance to this was over zeal in some cases. Lodges got over-energetic and over-wild, as it were, thus tending to cut them up into sections. His lordship concluded by cautioning them against these dangers, and strongly advising the brethren to cultivate the true spirit of Masonry.

Bro. G. Cornwall Legh responded for "The D.G.M. and the other Prov. Grand Officers;" Bro. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec. W. Lancashire, and Bro. Bodley, P.G. Sec. Oxfordshire, for "The Visiting P.G. Officers;" and Bro. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., P.G.S.W., for "The W.M. of the De Tabley Lodge," "The Visiting Brethren," "The P.G. Stewards," and "All Poor and Distressed Masons," were the remaining toasts.

CONTINENTAL FREEMASONRY.

The following appeared in the "Glasgow News":—

Monsignor Nardi, in his description last winter of Lord Ripon's reception at the Vatican, was naturally led to refer to British Freemasonry, and he was careful to explain to his Roman readers that this was a very different thing from Continental Masonry. It consisted, he said, in eating and drinking, which was sometimes too freely indulged in to be conducive to health, but it was comparatively a harmless institution; and although Lord Ripon on joining the Roman Catholic Church necessarily resigned the presidency of it, no reproach could be cast on him for his long connection with it. Indeed, the fact of his willingness to abandon Masonry, as a sacrifice called for by the Church, redounded to his credit, and made his conversion the more noteworthy. This semi-apology for British Masonry naturally attracted notice, contrasting as it did so strongly with the unmeasured denunciations habitually lavished by Roman Catholic authorities on the Craft in general. It was refreshing to find that, even on Roman Catholic testimony, all Masons were not revolutionists and atheists, and that some were only venial offenders, blameable for belonging to a secret society, but not chargeable with grave delinquency.

It is sometimes alleged that the Pope himself was formerly a Mason, and that this accounts for his animosity against the Craft. A more pointed retort would be that the Roman Catholic Church has not always set its face so rigidly against secret societies. During the reign of the First Napoleon such organisations were formed—some of them designed to rescue the Pope from captivity at Fontainebleau, others to bring back the Bourbons—and they continued to exist under the Restoration. We do not say that they were sanctioned by the Vatican, but it is certain that its censure would have led to their dissolution, and that that censure was withheld. M. de Carne relates that on visiting a high official of the French Foreign Office in 1825 his hand was shaken in a very peculiar manner, his friend interlacing his fingers with his own, and evidently expecting some corresponding word or gesture. He was afterwards told that he had lost a chance of political advancement by not being posted up in this Legitimist grip.

Even now there are rumours of an Ultramontane secret organisation in the South of France, entitled the King Jesus Society, and Republican papers have urged Government to proceed against this alleged conspiracy. Without discussing these recriminations, however, we are bound to say that Continental Freemasons appear fully to reciprocate the ill-will cherished towards them by the Roman Catholic Church. It is notorious, indeed, that they are anti-Roman Catholic, and, almost without exception, anti-Conservative. It is needless to discuss whether they spontaneously adopted this attitude, or whether it was forced upon them by their opponents. It is sufficient to take things as we find them, and to remark that while a loyal Roman Catholic could not join the Masonic lodge, a stray Conservative who happened to do so would find himself a fish out of water. French Masonry in particular is a Radical body. Just twelve months ago M. Littré, the disciple and successor of Comte, was admitted into its ranks in the presence of M. Gambetta and other leading Radicals. He had a subject allotted him on which to read a paper, and with significant irony the subject thus chosen was "Man's Duty towards God." M. Littré, of course, affirmed that the existence of a God was problematical, and that man could have no duties towards a hypothetical being. In a few days the annual Congress of French Masons resolved, by 110 to 65, that the recognition in their First Article of a Great Architect of the Universe ought to be expunged. The resolution does not take effect until it has been considered by all the lodges in the country, but it will very probably be ratified; and in any case it indicates the temper of a large section of the Craft towards not merely Romanism, but all religious belief. Thus, so far from disguising their scepticism, they openly avow it.

The moral of all this is, that from whichever quarter the hostility originated, Roman Catholics and Masons on the Continent are at daggers drawn, and that many at least of the latter are not only anti-Romanists but Materialists. British Masonry, therefore, Mgr. Nardi is quite right in saying, is sui generis. It is not revolutionary, and it is not irreligious. It embraces men of all parties and creeds, and men of almost all classes, including clergymen. Its aims are not merely harmless, but laudable. It is in no way responsible for the tenets or objects of Continental Masonry. The only pity is that two bodies of such different complexions should have one common name and a semblance of identity.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Good Digestion.—With the weather alarmingly changeable, and foul miasmas penetrating to the very sources of life, the skin will become inactive, and the digestion impaired, unless corrected by suitable means. Holloway's Pills are universally acknowledged to be the safest, speediest, and best corrective of impurity. Loss of appetite, acidity, flatulency, and nausea are a few of the inconveniences which are remedied with ease by these purifying Pills. They strike at the root of all abdominal ailments; they excite in the stomach a proper secretion of gastric juice, and regulate the action of the liver, promoting in that organ a copious supply of pure, wholesome bile, absolutely necessary for digestion. These Pills remove all distention and obstruction.—ADVT.

VALUABLE PRESENTATION TO AN ESTEEMED BROTHER.

One of the distinguishing features of Freemasonry is that its adherents rarely forget valuable services; and the brethren connected with the Everton Lodge, No. 823, fully exemplified the article of Masonic faith at their usual monthly meeting at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, on Wednesday evening, the 20th inst. The Everton is one of the most numerous lodges in the province of West Lancashire, and while great credit is due to all the Masters who have filled the chairs, special praise is due to Bro. William John Lunt, P.M. and Treasurer, who has most effectually contributed by his efforts to the present material prosperity and standing of the lodge. While in the chair he distinguished himself as a Mason of a high order, and during the last ten years he has fulfilled the onerous duties of Treasurer in a manner which has gained for him the universal esteem of the entire membership. This esteem took a practical form at the last meeting, when Bro. Lunt received a testimonial which was valuable and appropriate. Bro. W. Wilson, W.M., was in his place, supported by Bros. J. Houlding, S.W.; H. Ashmore, J.W.; J. Holland, P.M.; a large gathering of the "Everton" members, and about thirty visitors, including a number of the members of Boards of Guardians, Bro. Lunt belonging to the West Derby Union.

After the usual lodge business, Bro. W. Wilson, W.M., on behalf of the officers and members of the lodge, presented Bro. W. J. Lunt, P.M., Treasurer, with a most beautifully chased silver salver and skeleton time-piece (supplied by Wordley and Co., Lord-street), as a token of their great appreciation of his services to the lodge. Bro. Wilson's remarks were most suitable to the occasion, and in the course of an excellent speech he complimented Bro. Lunt on his consistency as a member of the fraternity, practising out of the lodge those principles which he was taught within it. Bros. J. Houlding, S.W., and J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C., P.M. 823, also bore testimony to the many admirable qualities shown by Bro. Lunt in every portion of his public, private, and Masonic relations and duties.

Bro. Lunt acknowledged the gift in a neat and concise speech, remarking that ascertaining there was a desire on the part of the brethren to show him some mark of respect he would have preferred it had assumed a form in which the members generally could have participated—say a scholarship or something of that nature; but as the brethren had preferred it should be personal to himself, he had no alternative but to submit to the "stern will" of those who sought to do him this honour. In the course of his remarks Bro. Lunt pointedly and happily referred to the prominent principles of Freemasonry, and the various watchwords of the Craft, stating that the liberty of conscience, natural equality, and mutual dependence of its members, the non-political, unsectarian rules which were fostered within the walls of every Masonic lodge, tended to show that there was something more in Freemasonry than that which pedantry and bigotry gave it credit for; in fine, that their guiding principles had made the Order what it was—a bond of unity which brought peace on earth and good will among men. Bro. Lunt then referred to his early connection with the lodge, the way in which it had been conducted, and the progress it had made; and concluded by cordially thanking the brethren for their very handsome gift.

After voting five guineas for the Masonic gift to Chester Cathedral from the lodges in West Lancashire, the brethren retired to the barqueting-room, where a merry meeting of the most enjoyable kind was held. Amongst Bro. Lunt's guardian and ex-guardian colleagues, and other friends present, were Bros. J. Jones, P.M. 216; G. Fowler, 216; H. Pearson, P.M. 249; Major Turner, P.M. 823, Lancaster; H. Gillmore, 216; Bevan; J. Lunt, P.G. D.C., &c.

LAYING FOUNDATION STONE OF NEW DOCKS AT AYR.

With weather such as would have satisfied even the most fastidious; with all the pomp and ceremony of the Craft, and in presence of a vast assemblage of persons, the foundation or memorial stone of the new dock at Ayr was laid on Tuesday with due solemnity by Sir James Fergusson, Bart., of Kilkerran, Past Provincial Grand Master Mason of Scotland.

Not for a considerable number of years has an event occurred in the quaint town of Ayr which has caused so much commotion, and scarcely ever has any ceremony been performed which has been looked forward to with a greater degree of interest by the inhabitants. The fact of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master having kindly consented to lay the stone with what is known as full Masonic honours, was naturally the means of causing numbers of the members of the secret Craft from all parts of the West of Scotland to wend their way to Ayr. So large was the contingent from Glasgow that it was found necessary to bring a special train into requisition to convey the Freemasons to their destination. Before proceeding further, it may be interesting to give a brief description of the dock, to advert to the causes which led to its construction, and to refer to the progress of the operations. In the first place it may be mentioned that the present harbour is faulty in many, if not every respect—its area is too limited, the water is too shallow, and it is, in short, totally unsuitable for the rapidly increasing trade of the port of Ayr. In a district like that of Ayrshire where, in the interior of the county, the coal trade is making such terrible strides and is considered capable of being more extensively developed, increased facilities for shipment were absolutely necessary if the town desired to maintain their connection with the shipment of that industry. The present docks could not be said either to be sufficiently large or commodious to admit of a development of this branch of trade, and, consequently, the Police Commissioners resolved to take measures for an enlargement of the harbour by the construction of an additional dock. Grave, and, in fact, insurmountable difficulties at first presented themselves to the carrying out of such a scheme; but the Commissioners did not remain long in a quandary until Mr. James Baird, of Cumbusdoon, with that liberality for which he was so much admired, came forward and generously offered to advance the sum of £120,000 to the Harbour Trustees. Following up this, the Glasgow and South Western Railway Company gave £10,000, and the remainder of the money required having been provided from other sources, contracts for the erection of the dock were solicited. Plans were prepared by Mr. Meik, C.E.; and the contract was given to Mr. Walter Scott, Newcastle. In June, 1874, operations were commenced, but about a year was spent in the construction of a coffer dam, and in shutting the sea back from the base of the work. In November last year the first block of masonry was deposited in its place in presence of a few gentlemen, and since that time rapid progress has been made with the works.

The whole works will, it is expected, be completed by November, 1877.

With regard to the proceedings we now describe, although one o'clock was fixed as the hour at which the procession would be formed, it was nearly two before the Freemasons, volunteers, halberdiers, and others got into proper order. At the latter hour the bell of the Town Hall commenced to toll, sending forth a funeral tone, and this acted as the signal for the procession to start.

The Grand Lodge was composed of Sir James Fergusson, Bart., Past Provincial Grand Master of Ayrshire, acting Most Worshipful Grand Master; Bro. Charles Dalrymple, M.P., acting Deputy Grand Master; Wm. Mann, Substitute Grand Master; Wm. Hay, S.G.W.; Rev. Inglis, acting G. Chap.; John Laurie, G.S.; R. Wylie, G. Treas.; Roger Montgomery, M.P., S.G.D.; R. W. Cochrane Patrick, J.G.D.; D. Murray Lyon, P. Prov. G.M. for West Indies; J. T. Middleton, G.A.; Capt. G. F. Cult, of Gartsherrie, S.B.; C. W. M. Miller, G.D. of Music and Representative of Saxony; R. Davidson, G.O.; A. T. Apthorp, G.M.; Robert Morrison, President of the Board of Stewards; R. S. Brown, F. S. Law, H. H. W. Finlay, and J. Taylor, G. Stds.; and W. M. Bryce, G.T. The lodges represented were—366, Daily; 565, Patna; 519, Kilwinning Stranraer; 505, Burns, St. Mary, Hurlford; 498, St. John, Catrine; 442, Neptune, Ardrossan; 334, St. John, New Cumnock; 250, Union, Dunfermline; 242, Houston, St. Johnstone; 230, St. Barnabas, Old Cumnock; 204, St. Paul, Ayr; 198, Royal Arch, Maybole; St. Mungo, Mauchline; 178, Scotia, Glasgow; 169, Thistle and Rose, Stevenston; 165, Royal Arch; 155, St. Barchan, Kilharchan; 149, St. Andrew, Irvine; 138, Operative, Ayr; 135, St. James, Tarrbolton; 129, St. Mirren, Paisley; 126, St. Andrew, Kilmarnock; 125, St. James, Newton-on-Ayr; 124, Kilwinning, Ayr; 86, Navigation, Troon; 68, Doric Kilwinning, Port-Glasgow; 51, Loudoun Newmilne, Kilwinning; 22, St. John's, Kilmarnock; 18, Dumbarton, Kilwinning; 8, Journeyman, Edinburgh; 5, Canongate, Leith.

A detachment of the local volunteers and Artillery Brigade, as also a contingent of the 26th Fusiliers from Glasgow, and the band of the latter regiment, also took part in the procession. All along the route crowds of people were stationed, and every window and house top from which a view of the procession could be got was occupied. Flags, banners, and decorations of almost every conceivable kind floated from the various public and private buildings; the ships in the harbour were decked in their gayest bunting, and even the itinerant showmen (who, by the way, have taken full possession of the street which skirts the river) exhibited what stock of cloth they possessed so as to complete the "general effect." Arrived at the dock, the procession was drawn up, and the Right Worshipful Masters who were to take a prominent part in the proceedings were accommodated with places in front of the foundation stone. Rev. Bro. Inglis, Kilmaurs, having offered up prayer, the usual Masonic ceremony was gone through—Masonic implements were applied to the stone, corn and wine and oil poured on it, and after the customary few knocks with the mallet, the stone was declared to be duly laid. The band, which had frequently struck up when not required, immediately after this played the Masons' Anthem, and the fact of the ceremony having been completed was heralded by the firing of a number of shots from the big guns situated on the shore. The loud cheering which prevailed having ceased,

Bro. Sir James Fergusson said: Right Worshipful Officers of the Grand Lodge, Brethren, the Provost of Ayr, Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having completed the appropriate ceremony of laying the foundation stone of this grand work, I have now in words of my own, in the first place, to express the gratification which I feel in being privileged to perform this interesting ceremony. I must allude, in the first place, to one to whom I bear much respect and regard—the Grand Master Mason of Scotland, deeply regretting that he is prevented, by severe illness, from performing his duty to-day; but I am not the less highly honoured by being privileged to do his duty. I would congratulate the Provost and Magistrates of this ancient burgh the trustees of the harbour, and all concerned in the work on this event, which is not only the laying of the foundation stone, but the placing, as I may say, of the chief corner stone of the great dock of Ayr. (Cheers.) For this block of granite brought from the most distant part of the kingdom—the mines of Cornwall—is destined to bear the great gates of the dock through which we trust commerce in abundance in future years may pass. (Loud cheers.) Let me say one word upon the ceremony which has just been performed. The Grand Lodge, on the invitation of the Harbour Trustees, have come here to lend to this opening ceremony all the importance which it is in their power to confer. It is for them to bring to the practical part of the work their contribution of symbolical ceremony; which, let me tell you, is no idle form, for if the ministration of justice in the kingdom is surrounded with certain features of majesty, so ought the great industrial triumphs of peace, to be surrounded by fit ceremonies of respect. (Applause.) Our friends are here engaged in a work which has called forth the highest enterprise, that could not have been undertaken without acts of public munificence and great enterprise, and it was fitting that the Grand Lodge of Scotland should come here to wish success to the work, and to lend all the importance their presence can confer. I regret this day that one is not by our side who through his life did so much for the encouragement of works of value to his fellow citizens. (Applause.) But for James Baird's public spirit we could not have hoped that the great work could have been undertaken. (Applause.) Although we may hope that in the future the commerce of Ayr will be amply sufficient to pay for the construction of works of even larger grandeur than the present undertaking, still, at this moment, it would have been difficult and onerous to the town to have found the funds, had it not been that the great man who has passed from amongst us came forth with his open and generous hand. Not to all is it given to see in his lifetime the success and completion of works of usefulness, and though it is an example for those who can do something in their lifetime for the permanent advantage of their fellow countrymen so to do and though the author of the work has passed away, he has secured to his fellow citizens, for the future, the means of completing it, and in this, as many other works, his monument stands and will stand for ages as an example to Scotchmen if they succeed in life to dedicate the good things of this world that came to them not only to founding a family, which I trust will long endure, but to works of usefulness which will be for the good of their children's children in ages to come. (Cheers.) In conclusion, Sir James wished an abundant measure of success to this grand work, so honourable to those who had undertaken it, and, he would add to the country at large. (Cheers.)

Mr. Weir—On behalf of Mr. Whitelaw, who unfortunately, like the Grand Master, is prevented from being here to-day through illness, and on behalf of this great assemblage and of the town of Ayr, I beg to propose a vote of thanks to Sir James Fergusson and his brother Freemasons, for attending here to-day and laying this stone in a proper manner and with full Masonic honours. (Cheers.)

Mr. Scott in a few appropriate remarks presented the trowel to Sir James Fergusson, who replied.

Provost Goudie—It is a matter of great regret to the Harbour Trustees of Ayr, and, I am sure, to the whole community, that Mr. Whitelaw should have been prevented by illness from being present on an occasion like this, fraught with so much importance to the burgh and town of Ayr. I have the honour and pleasure of presenting to Mr. Weir, on behalf of Mr. Whitelaw, this beautiful silver trowel, and I ask him to have the goodness to present it to Mr. Whitelaw with the best wishes of the Harbour Trustees for his renewed health and vigour, and as a fitting memorial of the interesting ceremony and proceedings of this day. (Cheers.)

Bro. Weir, in acknowledging receipt of the trowel, spoke as follows:—I have great pleasure in taking possession of this trowel for Bro. Whitelaw, and I may say that I will take the first opportunity of presenting it to him. He is quite conscious of the high honour which has been paid to him to-day, not so much on his own account but on account of the position he has taken in the management of the affairs of the late Bro. Baird, who took such a great and practical interest in the success of this dock, and which has been so handsomely acknowledged by Bro. Sir James Fergusson and the Provost. I know Bro. Whitelaw is very much disappointed at not being present to-day; and I need scarcely say that this beautiful trowel will be held as an heirloom by him, and that he will look upon it as a tribute of respect to him, paid to the memory of the late Bro. Baird. (Cheers.)

Bro. Walter Scott, Newcastle-on-Tyne, contractor for the works, presented the silver trowel to the Grand Master for presentation to Bro. Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, and in doing so said he was sorry Bro. Sir Michael was not present himself. He hoped that the undertaking would be a success, and that the contractor would leave Ayr with more capital than he brought into it.

A large and influential company assembled in the Assembly Rooms at four o'clock, when a elegant recherche dinner was partaken of.

MASONIC DEMONSTRATION AT GRANGEMOUTH. LAYING FOUNDATION OF INSTITUTE AND OPENING WATERWORKS

On the 19th inst. Grangemouth held high holiday, the occasion being the laying of the memorial stone of the Public Institute by the Earl of Zetland, and of the opening of the waterworks by the Countess of Zetland.

Early in the morning the town was astir making preparations for the grand event, which promised to be very successful. Shortly before 10 o'clock numerous bodies arrived in the town to take part in the double ceremony, and at 10.30 these assembled at the railway station, along with the local bodies and a detachment of the 1st S.A.V., under the command of Lieut. McKay, for the purpose of meeting a number of delegates from the Freemasons of Leith, Falkirk, &c.

The Earl and Countess having joined the procession in their carriage, the great bulk of the processionists marched to the Public Institute, while the Masonic body went to their lodge room, where the Earl was affiliated. He was then conveyed to the institute, where a number of gentlemen had assembled to witness the ceremony, and among them Sir Wm. Edmonstone, Bart., M.P.; Sheriff Bell, Provost Russel, Falkirk; T. D. Brodie, S.S.C., Edinburgh; F. Anderson, Inchyra, Grange; Rev. Dr. Ogilvie, Falkirk; Rev. Messrs. Holden, Sinclair, and Lambie, Grangemouth Messrs. Wilkie and J. Fairlie, Grangemouth, &c. Mr. Finlay Anderson having presented a silver trowel to the Earl from the Grangemouth Young Men's Christian Association, the stone was laid in its place, and the usual masonic ceremonies gone through. The Earl of Zetland returned thanks for the hearty manner in which the Countess and himself had been received on this their first public visit to Grangemouth. The day's proceedings were to him of an interesting character, for he believed that it was now a century since the foundation stone of the town buildings had been laid by his ancestor, Sir Lawrence Dundas. He believed that Grangemouth was advancing rapidly, and to show this compared the present shipping trade with that of 1840. He spoke of the good that might be done by means of the institute, and again expressed the pleasure he had in being present. The procession, having been reformed in its original order, walked to a field, about half a mile distant from town, on the Bu'ness Road, where a fountain has been erected.

Here Miss Mackay presented a beautiful bouquet to the Countess, who turned on the tap in connection with the fountain, and declared the works open. Mr. J. S. Mackay, Chief Commissioner of the burgh, presented her ladyship with a silver cup from the Commissioners of the burgh, on the occasion of the opening of the new waterworks by her ladyship. The Earl returned thanks on behalf of her ladyship, after which the large assemblage dispersed.

The institute is of a very plain but substantial character, and consists of two flats. The front of it faces Bridge Street, which street is the principal entrance. The ground flat is to be devoted chiefly to the inner comforts of man. After passing through a lobby, the dining room, 20ft. 9in. by 26ft. 8in., and which will accommodate between 70 and 80 people at dinner, is entered, while on either side of it is a coffee room and smoking room. The dimensions of the former are 19ft. 6in. by 15ft.; it will accommodate about 40 persons at a time. On the right hand side of the entrance lobby is a room which may be fitted up as a smoking room. The second flat, which is entered from the front by a staircase, consists mainly of a large hall, 41ft. by 37ft. 6in., which will accommodate from 400 to 450. The building is to be crowned with a spire, the height of which from the ground is 62ft., and in which is to be placed a clock and bell. Messrs. A. & W. Black, Falkirk, were the architects. It is estimated to cost £2100, of which £1450 has been subscribed.

PROPOSED CENTRAL MASONIC HALL FOR GLASGOW.

In pursuance of an idea which he has for a long time entertained, the Provincial Grand Master of Glasgow, Bro. Walter Montgomerie Neilson, of Queenhill, has at length put before the brethren of the province a project for the acquisition of a Central Masonic Hall. It is much to be regretted, he says, that in Glasgow Freemasonry is only known by the outer world as lodging in inaccessible chambers in obscure localities. Almost everywhere else, even in small towns, Freemasonry has a location, a Masonic building worthy of the order; and he holds it is as a discredit to the second city of the Empire, and a disgrace to the Craft that, in a province containing 26 working lodges, it has not proper premises for the meetings of its Provincial Assembly, and suitable offices for the transaction of its business. With a view to remedy this state of matters he has had purchased, in Berkley Street, a building which is now held at the disposal of the brethren of the province, at the price paid for it. It will give accommodation for the meetings of the Prov. Grand Lodge, and any other lodges that may choose to use it, in a hall 44ft. by 22ft., with organ and choir annex of 22ft. by 14ft.; a suitable reception room 21ft. 7in. by 14ft. 10in., and a clothing room in the street floor; a small lodge room, or Prov. Grand Committee room, Master's room, Secretary's room, large lavatory and W.C. on the first floor; smoking room, W.C., and two living rooms for keeper on the attic; and an excellent kitchen, with an ample cellar and store rooms in sunk floor. He would have preferred, he says, a situation not quite so far west, but the position has many advantages and nothing at a reasonable price could be got nearer to the present place of meeting of the Prov. G. Lodge in Buchanan Street. Berkley Street is a fine wide thoroughfare close to the Public Halls, within tramway access from all quarters; and from the rapid increase of the city westwards, will soon be in its centre. The cost of the building as it stands is about £1500; and it could be altered, decorated, and put into possession of the Prov. Grand Lodge for about £3000. The P.G. Master proposes to raise this sum, first, by subscriptions from the wealthy members of the Craft in two forms—by donations and investments—the investors agreeing to forego interest, and to hold the property redeemable by the Craft as they may accumulate funds; second, by every lodge forming a building fund committee, and engaging to raise a sum according to its ability within a given time, say five years; and third, by every candidate for admission to Freemasonry paying a small sum to the building fund in addition to the ordinary fees. For his own part, the P.G. M. intends to subscribe £200 to the investment and £100 to the donation fund, and he will endeavour, he says, to obtain a subscription of every gentleman in Glasgow who is a Freemason. He deprecates, however, being left to work single-handed, and asks and expects all brethren who have any heart in Freemasonry to come forward and put their hands to the work, in the formation of a central committee, and to write to him direct that he may be able at once to make the necessary arrangements. If the brethren decline to adopt the scheme, the property referred to will be sold, the P.G. Master bearing any loss that may result from the transaction; and, with great regret, he says he will be obliged to abandon all hopes of his fond expectations being realised — of seeing Freemasonry in Glasgow elevated to the honourable position it holds elsewhere. On receipt of the communication embodying the scheme of which the above is an outline, a special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge was summoned for its consideration, the result being the formation of a committee for the furtherance of the object, said committee consisting of all the Masters of lodges within the province, together with the Prov. Grand Depute and Substitute Masters, P.G. Senior and Junior Wardens, and the P.G. Secretary, Bro. John Baird, P.G.S.M., being appointed convener. Meantime the committee have instructed the Masters of the various lodges in the province to bring the matter at once before the members, and endeavour to obtain an expression of their feeling on the subject, so that the same may be fully reported at the next meeting of the committee.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE VISIT OF THE PRINCE OF WALES TO GLASGOW.

A meeting of the Lord Provost and Magistrates was held on the 26th inst. in the City Chambers for the purpose of making final arrangements for the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The meeting was private, but we understand that a complete scheme of the arrangements was agreed to. As no communication has been received from His Royal Highness to the contrary, it was taken for granted that the date of the visit would be Tuesday, the 17th October. On the previous evening the Prince and Princess, with two of the Royal children, will be the guests of Bro. Col. Campbell, M.P., at Blythswood. Leaving Blythswood on Tuesday morning, their Royal Highnesses will come by train to St. Enoch Station of the Union Railway, arriving there at a quarter-past ten o'clock. Previous to that time St. Enoch-square, and the approach to it from Argyle-street, will be lined by the Hussars and the 26th Cameronians. Their Royal Highnesses will be received at the station by the Lord Provost and Sir Edward Colebrooke, Lord-Lieutenant of the county, along with Sheriff Dickson. The Lord Provost and Magistrates will wear their official robes, and his Lordship will present the Magistrates to their Royal Highnesses. The Prince of Wales's charger is to be brought from London to bear his Royal Highness, but we understand it will be suggested to the Prince that he should enter the Royal carriage at the station with the Princess and their children, and drive to the Green, where the review of the Volunteers will immediately take place, His Royal Highness, in the dress of a Field-Marshal, there mounting his charger, and reviewing the troops, while the Princess will, it is expected, be accommodated on a portion of a grand stand to be erected, where seats will also be provided for a select company. After the review their Royal Highnesses, accompanied by their suite and the Lord Provost, will proceed along Argyle-street, Main-street, Anderston, and Elderslie-street to the residence of the Lord Provost, where they will partake of luncheon. In the meantime the Grand Lodge of Freemasons will open the lodge in Burnbank Hall, and dressed in the regalia of the Order, will proceed to his lordship's residence and accompany the Prince and Princess of Wales and suite and the Lord Provost along Woodside Crescent, Sauchiehall-street, and St. George's Square. Entering the square by St. Vincent Place, the Royal party will then proceed along Queen-street and George-street, to the north-east corner of the square. From this point a platform covered with an awning, and having a stand on either side for spectators, will run along the whole east side of the square to that part of the new Post Office where the foundation stone is to be laid. At the George-street end of the platform, His Royal Highness will be received by the Lord Provost, and conducted along the covered way to the Post Office, where the Freemasons will already have taken up their position, it having been arranged that they shall leave the procession at the corner of St. Vincent-place and Queen-street, and march along St. Vincent-street to the Post Office. Immediately on the Prince's arrival there, he will be presented by the Lord Provost, in name of the Corporation, with a loyal and dutiful address, and thereafter His Royal Highness will lay the foundation stone with Masonic honours. The Princess and Princess and suite will afterwards return to the residence of the Lord Provost, where they will be entertained to dinner along with a select party who are to receive invitations. The Lord Provost and Magistrates have agreed to recommend the inhabitants of the locality adjoining his lordship's residence, as well as the University authorities, to illuminate their buildings in the evening, while their Royal Highnesses take their departure to the train by which they will leave the city.

The Lord Provost and Magistrates also agree to recommend the citizens to observe the day as a general holiday.

The annual banquet of the Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1524, will be held at the Havelock Tavern, Albion-road, Dalston, on Wednesday, 4th October, at seven p.m. Bro. T. C. Chapman, P.G. Stwd. Herts, W.M. 1524, will preside.

A Grand Council of the Illustrious Knights K.H. 30° will be held at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden Square at 4.45 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 11th.

Bro. Wm. Toye was installed, on Thursday week, W.M. of the Burdett Coutts Lodge, No. 1278.

Obituary.

BRO. FREDERICK GOODYER, P.P.G.S.W. LEICESTERSHIRE.

The sad and unexpected intelligence of the death of Frederick Goodyer, Esq., the Chief Constable of Leicestershire, on Tuesday, the 12th instant, from disease of the heart, was received throughout the county with a feeling of regret at once deep and wide-spread. Only a few weeks have elapsed since this gentleman, who was so well-known and deservedly respected, tendered to the county magistrates his resignation of that responsible and important position, which he had filled for nearly forty years with such conspicuous ability; and intimated his intention to retire from his public duties, in order to gain that rest he had so well earned; but before he had been permitted to relieve himself from the labours and cares inseparable from his high official position it pleased the G.A.O.T.U. to call him to the Grand Lodge above, with a suddenness quite startling. Our deceased brother was in his sixty-eighth year. Bro. Goodyer was of an ancient and respectable family, long seated in the south of England; his great grandfather, Mr. John Goodyer, having been Mayor of Guildford, in Surrey, about the year 1729. Bro. Goodyer's grandfather served as a captain in the British army during the American war. This gentleman "got through" much of the family property. His son, Mr. Landera Goodyer (the late Bro. Goodyer's father), held a responsible post in the Phoenix Fire Office. He was the father of a large family, his youngest son being the subject of this notice; the eldest held a commission in the Spanish Legion, and died, in active service, in Spain. The eldest daughter became the second wife of Benjamin Hick, Esq., of Bolton, whose son, John Hick, Esq., now sits as one of the members for that town in the House of Commons. The only surviving issue of Bro. Goodyer's parents is Mrs. Godfrey, wife of John Godfrey, Esq., of Northampton. No male descendant now remains of the once numerous family of Mr. Landera Goodyer. Our deceased brother was for many years an active and esteemed member of the Craft. Bro. Goodyer was initiated into Masonry (together with five other candidates, one of them being the present Clerk of the Peace for the county, Bro. W. Napier Reeve) on the 26th March, 1846, at the first meeting (under dispensation) of the John of Gaunt Lodge, then No. 766, now 523, under the Mastership of Bro. Kelly, now P.P.G. Master. After passing through subordinate offices and the Wardens' chairs, Bro. Goodyer was elected W.M. of his lodge in the year 1854, and performed his duties with zeal and ability. He had also held several offices in the Provincial Grand Lodge. In 1854 he succeeded Bro. Kelly in the Prov. Grand Secretaryship, and after discharging the duties most carefully and efficiently for three years, he was promoted to the rank of P.G.S.W. in 1859. After being exalted in the Chapter of St. Augustine, formerly attached to the John of Gaunt Lodge, on the removal of the warrant to the lodge at Ashby de-la-Zouch he joined the Chapter of Fortitude, No. 279, in which, in the year 1866, he filled the office of Second Principal, but did not proceed to the first chair. In Mark Masonry he was one of the founders of the Fowke Lodge, No. 19, having, with a few other Leicester brethren, been advanced in the old Newstead Mark Lodge, at Nottingham, early in 1858, and was nominated in the warrant as Senior Warden of the Fowke Lodge, the W.M. being Bro. Kelly, the Provincial Grand Master of that degree for Leicestershire. Bro. Goodyer was also one of the founders of St. Peter's (Craft) Lodge, No. 1330, at Market Harborough, and a few months ago he joined the Albert Edward Lodge, No. 1560, lately established at Leicester, but had not been able to be present at any of its meetings. We believe his last attendance in Masonry was at the installation of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as G.M. at the Albert Hall. The remains of our lamented brother were interred in the Leicester Cemetery on Monday, the 18th inst., a large number of spectators being present both along the streets through which the procession passed, and at the cemetery. The funeral arrangements were simple and unostentatious in character, the mourners wearing neither hat-bands nor scarves. At the head of the cortege marched seventy-six members of the County Constabulary, four abreast, followed by Deputy Chief Constable Bail, and five superintendents. After the mourning coach containing the chief mourners came a carriage containing four superannuated superintendents of the police force. At the principal entrance to the cemetery, which was reached in the midst of a drenching downpour of rain, the procession was joined by a considerable number of members of the Order, headed by the Past Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Kelly, by whom, as before mentioned, the deceased was, thirty years ago, initiated into Masonry. Among many others present were Bros. Toller, P.P.G.S.W.; Partridge, P.G. Sec.; Rev. J. Owen Pictor, B.A. (rector of Desford), P.P.G. Chaplain, by whom the funeral service was performed; Major Freer, P.P.G.S.B. (who, together with his colleague, T. T. Paget, Esq., chairman of the Leicester Bench, attended as representing the county magistrates); Rev. C. H. Wood, W. Napier Reeve (Clerk of the Peace for the county); Dr. Buck, P.P.G. J.W.; Charles Morris, P.P.G.S.W. (clerk to the Leicester Bench); Joseph Haines, P.P.G.T.; Edwin Clephan, P.P.G.J.W.; and others; also Richard Toller, Esq., Clerk of the Peace for the borough; G. Harrison, Esq., Borough Coroner; many members of the Town Council, and other leading inhabitants both, of the town and county. After the ceremony in the chapel, the solemn service was completed at the grave in the midst of brilliant sunshine, and a last sad farewell was then taken by his sorrowing relatives, brethren, and friends (including the numerous body of police, who had lost in him a kind and considerate chief) of the earthly remains of the departed. The inscription on the coffin was, "Frederick Goodyer, born 17th March, 1808, died 12th September, 1876." Peace to his remains.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The General Committee of Subscribers to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls met on Thursday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. H. A. Dubois (in the chair), Lieut.-Col. Creaton, John Boyd, Herbert Dicketts, R. B. Webster, Raynham W. Stewart, Thos. Massa, Henry Venn, F. G. Baker, Hyde Pullen, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Peter De L. Long, and R. Wentworth Little, Sec.

Colonel Creaton gave notice of motion for the next Quarterly Court that the Chairman of the Building Committee should sign cheques for the works in progress at the school. This arose out of the circumstance that the House Committee had lately signed a cheque for £1000 for the builder, and the House Committee has no power to deal with the funds of the institution except for servants' wages.

A third Assistant Governess was then appointed, on account of the increased number of the children in the school.

Col. Creaton moved that Bro. Muggeridge, who has resigned his office of collector to the institution, should receive a pension of £150 a year from the 1st January next.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart seconded the motion, which was put and carried unanimously.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart gave notice of motion for next Quarterly Court that the office of collector be abolished and an additional clerk be appointed in the Secretary's office. He also gave notice of motion for next General Committee that the salary of the Secretary be increased by £100 a year.

The brethren then proceeded to consider the petitions of candidates for election, and placed two cases on the list.

Authority was given to the Chairman to sign cheques for salaries, &c., to the amount of £354.

The House Committee was appointed as the committee to enquire into the office and duties of collector, and a vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

Masonic and General Tidings.

PRINCE LEOPOLD'S VISIT TO ST. ANDREWS.

—Bro. H.R.H. Prince Leopold arrived on Tuesday at Mount Melville, near St. Andrews, the residence of Bro. John Whyte Melville. The Prince, who since Monday has been the guest of Mr. W. B. Skene, of Pitlour, journeyed by way of Cupar in a carriage and four, with two postilions. The day was observed as a holiday, and the Royal visitor was accorded a cordial welcome. The streets were lined by the Volunteers and Fife Light-Horse while His Royal Highness was passing through.

The annual banquet of the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55, will be held at the Wheat-sheaf Hotel, Hand-court, Holborn, on Tuesday, 3rd Oct., at seven p.m. Bro. A. J. Melhuish, S.W. of the mother lodge, will preside.

Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Zetland, R.W.P.G.M. North and East Riding, of Yorkshire, laid the memorial stone of the Public Institute at Grangemouth on Tuesday last.

We learn that the Earl of Limerick, M.W.G. M.M.M., has fixed to hold a movable meeting of the Grand Lodge of Mark Masters (for the second time) at Leicester, on Wednesday, October 25th, on which occasion a new Mark Lodge, the Simon de Montford, No. 194, will be consecrated, and the Mayor of Leicester, Bro. Barfoot, installed as the first W.M. The R.W. Prov. G. Mark Master, Bro. Kelly, summoned a meeting of the Provincial Grand Mark Lodge for the 28th inst., to make the necessary arrangements.

The ceremony of consecration will be rehearsed on Monday evening, Oct. 9th, by Bro. Terry, at seven o'clock, at the Marquis of Ripon Lodge of Instruction, Pembury Tavern, Amburst Road, Hackney. Bro. Wm. Stephens, P.M., will perform the Installation ceremony on this occasion. Brethren are requested to appear in full Masonic clothing.

Bro. S. C. Hall, in a preface to a new edition of his "Book of Memories," states that he is occupied in preparing a volume of "Recollections of a Long Life." He published a book so long ago as 1820, was intimately acquainted with Ireland so far back as 1816; and commenced the "Art Journal" in 1839; having been an editor upwards of 53 years.

THE VATICAN.—The "Berlin Post" states that the Pope has determined to solemnize the anniversary of the humiliating punishment inflicted centuries ago upon the German Emperor Henry IV. at Canossa.

The "Masonic Magazine," containing the dedication to "Long Livers," and a reference to some Hermetic Grades, is out, and can be obtained at 198, Fleet-street.

RE-OPENING OF THE ABERDEEN MASONIC HALL.—The decorations of the Aberdeen Masonic Institute, in Exchange-street, for which a considerable sum was raised by means of a bazaar some months ago, is now completed and the re-opening of the rooms for the use of the brethren of the Craft for club and meeting purposes, was inaugurated last evening by an appropriate ceremony, in which the several city lodges took part. A report of the proceedings will appear next week.

The students of the Islington School of Science and Art on Wednesday evening received the Queen's prizes at the hands of Bro. Sir John Bennett.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

We do not undertake to return rejected communications.

The following stand over:—Cestrian Lodge, Chester, 425; Lodge of Lights, Warrington, 148; Caledonian of Unity; Royal Arch Chapter, 73; Prov. G. Lodge of Somersetshire; Renfrewshire East Prov. G. Lodge; St. Andrew, Royal Arch, No. 321.

BOOKS &c. RECEIVED:—"Masonic Eclectic;" "The Chosen People of Israel and England;" "La Chaine d'Union;" "Cassell's Popular Educator;" "The Philadelphia Keystone;" "New York Square."

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BLADON.—On the 22nd inst., at Vealdens-road, New Wandsworth, the wife of C. E. Bladon, of a daughter.

BURTT.—On the 24th inst., at Villa-road, Brixton, the wife of E. W. Burtt, of a son.

BURT.—On the 22nd inst., at The Hatch, Redhill, Surrey, the wife of Mr. T. W. Burt, of a son.

CHARLTON.—On the 22nd inst., at Lime-tree-villas, the wife of T. Charlton, prematurely, of a daughter.

CORBETT.—On the 22nd inst., at Berne, the Hon. Mrs. Corbett, of a son.

MELLOR.—On the 20th inst., at Otterhead, Honiton, the wife of A. Mellor, Esq., of a daughter.

MONEY.—On the 25th inst., at Summerfield, Weybridge, the wife of the Rev. G. E. Money, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

HARDING—SCOTT.—On the 21st inst., at St. John's, Cheltenham, John Harding, of Rockfield, Monmouthshire, to Caroline Mary, daughter of the late H. E. Scott, C.E.

LOWNDES—CHESTER.—On the 19th inst., at the parish church, Chicheley, Charles W. Selby Lowndes, Capt. 93rd Highlanders, to Fanny Maria, daughter of Col. C. M. Chester.

MASSA—DIXON.—On the 23rd inst., at Neuchatel, Switzerland, Bro. Thomas Massa (P.M. 59), of Plaistow, Essex, to Emily Jane, daughter of the late J. Dixon.

DEATHS.

COBET.—On the 20th inst., at 2, Clarence-road, Croydon, 1vo Leo Anthony Cobet, aged 44, late of the firm of Hofman, Schedk, and Co., Vine-street, Minorities.

BENNETT.—On the 23rd inst., John Leighton Wade Bennett, Esq., of Woodmancote-place, aged 74.

DUTTON.—On the 23rd inst., at Cheshunt, Herts, in his 42nd year, Joseph Fitzpatrick Dutton, Esq.

LAWRENCE.—On the 23rd inst., at George-street, Edinburgh, George Alfred Lawrence, Esq.

LEACH.—On the 19th inst., at Ramsgate, Rose, wife of Edwyn Evans Leach, of Laurel Brook, Perry-hill, Lower Sydenham.

RAARSBERG.—On the 12th inst., at the residence of Bro. W. H. Edwards, 3, Falmouth-road, London, Bro. Sophus Raarsberg, of St. Nicholas Lodge, No. 93, and St. George's Royal Arch Chapter, No. 21, Scotch Constitution.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1876.

PAPAL UTTERANCES.

The good old Pope seems very hard put to it for something to say to the pious who flock to him at Rome in sympathy and devotion. We need, therefore, make allowance for many of his epea pteroenta, for little acerbities of utterance, and pathetic outpouring of the "vials of wrath," for denunciations which are meaningless, and prophecies which do not turn out to be true. No doubt the kindly and facetious old gentleman is rather "hard-up," to use a profane expression, just now, both for a grievance and "gravamen." He is not in any way uncomfortable, his captivity is a myth. He is, as the French say, "bien logé, bien nourri," in the finest palace in the world, and when he becomes morbid and melancholy, and thinks himself peculiarly ill-used, he has nothing to do but to step into that glorious building, in which true-hearted piety might indeed find a home, and religion might exercise its soothing influence over the complaints of the oppressed, or the sufferings of the sorrowing. But the good old man prefers, not to "wash his dirty linen at home," but to take all the world into open council with him, as he unfolds to them the sad recital of his wrongs and injuries, of his annoyances and worries, of his "hard lines," of his diminished dignity. It is impossible, of course, to hide from any one that a great change has come over the Eternal City in many ways. Without going into the old question of the pontifical sovereignty, (about which a great deal on pure grounds of political consideration may be said, doubtless, on both sides of the question), we all must feel that it is not, perhaps, unnatural for one who has been the actual earthly ruler, to feel a little chagrined that he is no longer No. 1, in "Roma la Santa," and that practically he has to pay obedience to the Supreme Civil Power. Hence this "kicking against the pricks," this resistance to a "fait accompli," to the inevitable march of affairs, to the altered circumstances of the age, and of human opinion. After all, in his Spiritual Sovereignty, the Pope is but reverting to the earlier, and some may think the purer and happier days, of the Roman Primacy. Though some may deem that the Chief Bishop of Rome should be independent of all earthly power or sovereign, so to say supreme "suo jure," yet he must be a very careless reader of history who is not also aware that it is this very theory of earthly supremacy which has encouraged the worst pretensions and led to the most detestable acts of the see of Rome. And looking at the question religiously, it seems very doubtful, per se, whether such can be a true or befitting condition at any time, of the Church of Him who said, "my kingdom is not of this world." The admixture of the spiritual and civil power in the Pope of Rome has often been gravely arraigned, and solemnly condemned. Perhaps, few ever except on the ground of the good old rule, "Stare super via antiquas," would wish to see the existence amongst us of a spiritual and temporal power combined. The teaching of the day, and the sympathies of us all, point rather to temporal things for temporal rulers, to spiritual things for spiritual rulers, and the subordination of all persons, lay or clerical, to the supreme ruling power of the State, in all matters that are of earthly politics, of social arrangement, and of normal regulation. While, then, we do not altogether condemn Pio Nono for his "larmoyante" tone, as regards his own position, and that of his communion, we cannot say that we either much pity him or sympathize with him. On the contrary, we think that he shows, in his constant attacks on the tendencies of the age, a want of self control, a lack of moral dignity, and an ignorance of what the progress of society and the necessities of the hour imperatively demand. His best "rôle" would be, as the French would say, in our humble opinion, to "make the best of a bad bargain," not to "cry over spilt milk," or combat the unavoidable and the irrevocable, but while maintaining firmly his own principles of dogma and duty, to seek to tighten up the bonds of discipline, and strengthen the outworks of his own Church. The Church of Rome must always have a great influence, necessarily alike on the destinies of nations, and the progress of the world, and if her influence could be exercised for the peace and welfare of the human race, it seems a "thousand pities," and even a cruel unkindness, to pervert it to increase the contests, and deepen the animosities of mankind. One of the good old Pope's bugbears just now is the Masonic Order. This seems to be his "bête noir" and as he is the centre of the Romish system, all the "lunæ minores" take their cue from him. Nothing is too bad or too wicked to lay to the charge of this "pernicious sect," these "children of Antichrist." Now, these are hard words, and foolish words, and untrue words, utterly undeserved by the Freemasons, and we regret to see them form the staple of the daily invectives of the benevolent Pontiff, or making up the jeremiades of cardinals, and the normal utterances of Roman Catholic dignitaries everywhere. According to them the Freemasons are at the bottom of all the opposition to the Church of Rome just now. This is an absurd invention of the Roman Curia, and a gross blunder; no grosser was ever committed, amid those many which often make the thinking doubt alike the astuteness and intelligence with which it has been generally credited. Freemasonry cares nothing and knows nothing about the Papacy or Roman Catholicism per se, except when they attack the principles, or impinge on the circle in which Freemasonry habitually moves and acts. Indeed if the Church of Rome would leave the Freemasons alone, and cease to denounce them, and arraign them, and excommunicate them, Freemasons would take no further notice of Roman Catholicism or Ultramontanism. It is only because the Roman Catholic authorities lose no opportunity just now of assailing the character, and impugning the motives of Freemasons, their words and acts, their principles, and their professions, that Freemasonry seems to be thrown into active collision with the Church of Rome. Romish teaching is not ours, certainly; but with that we have nothing to do. We do ask, however, as we have a right to ask, for liberty of thought and action, the sanctity of the conscientious opinion, toleration, charity, peace and justice. The good old Pope is not responsible, let us hope and believe, for all the nonsense which the Roman Curia puts into his mouth. But then what comes of his personal infallibility? Having pointed out these facts for the appreciation of our readers, as we are bound to do, we are glad to add that the benevolent Pontiff himself is still in excellent health and extreme vivacity.

SPIRITUALISM.

We are deeply sorry to note that this absurd monomania is again venturing to obtrude itself on public attention, and to claim even the commentaries of scientificists, and the approval of learned professors of something or other. In our humble opinion no greater audacity of charlatanism was ever publicly put forth for the deception or debasement of mankind. It constitutes in itself a burlesque on all the laws of evidence, a parody on all the "outcome" of right reason, and is, we venture to conceive, an insult alike to the intelligence of the age, and the general progress of general or scientific education amongst us. In some recent correspondence which has appeared in our pages, it is clear to us, despite the grave averments of those who evidently are very easy of belief, and very much disposed to be partizans, that the position of Dr. Lankester and Mr. Donkin is unshaken. The manifestations they behold can only be produced somehow by "legerdemain," by skilful manipulations of one kind or another. How they are performed matters nothing in the argument, neither does it really concern us to know; it is sufficient for us that they are "illusions" of the senses, and certainly utterly unworthy of the name of "spiritualism," too ridiculous to be in any way connected with the world unseen. To believe that such a ridiculous, and we will add, contemptible, act per se, as writing on a slate—the hand on or under table—is an act of a disembodied spirit, or manifestation of the great spirit world, is not only an outrage on the common sense of humanity, but is, we believe, a great dishonour to religion. It is, in fact, nothing more or less than a revival in this our age of that theory of the "fraus pia," of the "lying miracle," of the "unveracious legend," which has done in the past, and still is doing at this very hour, so much harm in this world of ours, sapping the faith of thousands and making all religion to many a "mockery, a delusion, and a snare." It is a grave reflection on scientific study amongst us, when at any rate we are supposed to have mastered both the reality and the laws of "cause and effect," to be gravely told that such "conjuring tricks" are manifestations and emanations from the "spirit world." The subject is a very serious one, and we will add, a very sad one, in these its most recent ebullitions and exhibitions. That educated men can write as they do write, and seriously propound the theory, that because they do not understand how Mr. Slade has certain words scratched by a slate pencil on a slate, therefore they are to assume that they are supernaturally written, is to us, we confess, one of the most alarming amid the many chapters in the grave history of human delusions. On the arguments of some of these hasty inductionists, events which they cannot understand or explain, and which are marvellous, per se, become "spiritual," or "supernatural," and we can at once see, to what lengths such a "petitio principii" may lead some of us, and what a hopeless fallacy is involved in such false grounded premises! All that can be said by those who dissent from Dr. Lankester and Mr. Donkin's reasonable explanation of the whole matter is, that they do not understand what they see, and cannot explain it! Admitted! But they can go no further. Such is a state of mind not unnatural and not uncommon after some many of the clever "coups" of the professors of the "necromantic art," or "digitation," or whatever you like to term it. At times such clever illusions baffle the closest scrutiny of the most observant, and defy the explanation of the most understanding. But were we to attribute them to "spiritualism," or "supernaturalism," or the like, we should be properly laughed at for our pains, and not unreasonably classed either among the most credulous or the most gullible of mortals. And why should we treat a falsely called "spiritualism" in any other way, or consider the acts and movements and manifestations of alleged spiritualists (we object to the term altogether), on any other principle, either of induction or deduction, of observation or explanation? That these tricks may be skilfully performed we do not dispute, and difficult to explain we do not doubt, but that they have a right to be called "spiritual," or "supernatural," in any sense whatever, we do utterly deny! We consider such an allegation as a perverse misuse of words, a distinct violation of the great canon of "cause and effect," a simple defiance alike of all the laws of evidence as we previously pointed out, and a distinct rejection of the first principles of scientific study amongst us. As an illustration of what we have said, the following letter appears in the "Times" of Thursday last, an amusing commentary on the value and reality of these mountebank tricks, aping the name of spiritualism. "A friend of mine who has just returned from America tells me that he a short time since attended a séance, at which the medium obtained messages from several celebrities of both ancient and modern times, and, among others, one (at the request of my friend), from Bucephalus, who condescended to inform the company that he 'still took great interest in literary pursuits, particularly in connection with education.'"

ULTRAMONTANE VIOLENCE.

We should not recur to this subject, (for it is a very wearisome and painful one), were it not that hardly a day passes without some fresh outrage, as Moliere so well says, on "tout ce qu' on revere." Indeed, the violence of the Ultramontanes just now is quite unaccountable, just as this unscrupulousness of word and action on their part is both alarming and saddening in the highest degree. Let us try and realize the following in the "Times" of Saturday:—"Manuel, Bishop of Minorca," issued instantly two tremendous "Pastorals," from which, as they lie before me on the table, I extract the following to show their tone, tenour, and animus. Pastoral I. :—"Putrid members must not touch sane members, neither must Protestants approach Catholics. . . . We will excommunicate, to the third generation, all Protestants and Freemasons!" Then, another "Pastoral" said "Lord Ripon, chief of the Freemasons, and a son of Gladstone (un hijo de Gladstone) have embraced Catholicism; and we shall soon chant a joyous Te Deum for the disappearance of all this leprosy of heresy (lepra de heresia)." The Bishop gave a practical turn to the theories and ideas hinted at in his "Pastoral," for, in his capacity of "visitor" of the Roman Catholic Public Schools of Mahon, he openly turned out of the school, and forbade instruction to the son, aged 12 years, of Mr. Robinson, a gentleman of high respectability, ex-American Consul. Later on in August the following little incident occurred :—A few Custom-house employés, and quay and dock labourers, and loiterers attended Mr. Binion's school, and dared to offer up a prayer to God, in his newly purchased church. Down went the Sub-Governor, D. Antonio Castaneira, the Jefe, or Chief of the Custom-house, and said, "Give your employés to understand that they run a chance of losing their place if they attend such school and place of worship." The Spanish Protestants in the whole Island of Minorca only number about three hundred professed and enrolled members. What can any Freemason or lover of toleration think of the following :—"The culminating act of intolerance on the part of the Sub-Governor of Mahon was committed on the night of the 30th of August, an act which every paper, or nearly every paper, whether in Madrid or the provincial towns, has stigmatized as 'illegal and wicked.' It was this,—I will state it as briefly as possible. On the 30th of August the Methodists (Spaniards) had their usual 8 p.m. meeting for prayer and song. At 9 p.m. they commenced their usual sonorous hymn; suddenly, the Sub-Governor entered the chapel, and, advancing to the platform, denounced the 'singing' as an act of 'public manifestation,' and, therefore, contrary to the wording of Article XI., and said, that 'this was the last time he should speak; henceforth, he must act.' The hymn was stopped; the rough voices died away; one short prayer was offered up, and the congregation of 'Spanish Protestants' dispersed to their humble homes and cottages. The above narrative is strictly true in every particular. I have summarized it from authentic MS. copies and printed letters and pastorals. Most of the Spaniards of Mahon are free-thinkers; what a pity it seems that the few who would meet together for prayer should be thus interrupted, and their worship denied them or curtailed." Now what the Roman Catholics hope to gain, as we point out in another leader to-day, by this cruel and violent utterance we cannot conceive. In our humble opinion it can only lead to a wide reaction, and such a reaction will, we also believe, aid to extend happily the more tolerant principles and teachings of Freemasonry. And if the intolerance of the Ultramontanes is simply awful to every thoughtful and well-regulated mind, be the religion of the individual what it may, what can we say of their unscrupulousness? It is in our opinion equally fearful, for acts are done in the name of religion which are purely immoral per se, and then defended with a virulence of denominational eloquence, an unconscionable impudence, and a rowdy vulgarity, of which we know no parallel, even in the darker ages of the world's history. Civilization and progress, culture and refinement, seem only to have increased the ardour of the intolerant, and the defiance of the unscrupulous. Let us also ponder over the last public effusion of a R.C. bishop, and his manly and straightforward manner of dealing with a complaint of a poor mother, that her boy, not yet arrived at "years of discretion," had been perverted to the Roman Catholic persuasion, "auspice," the Bishop himself. Let all those who affect to doubt that Rome is "semper eadem," bring home to themselves what this meek "Bishop and Pastor of the Flock" so humanely and so modestly declares :—"The Roman Catholic Bishop of Nottingham, Dr. Bagshawe, a fortnight ago baptized a gentleman of 15, named Drake, without the consent or knowledge of his mother, and notwithstanding the boy has no father. On being remonstrated with by Mrs. Drake the Bishop sent the following letter :—"The Cathedral, Nottingham, September 10, 1876.—My dear Madam,—Your son is of age and intelligence quite sufficient to make him fully responsible to God for that which is a man's most solemn duty—the choice of his religion. In this one must obey God rather than man. When, therefore, your son applied to me for religious instruction and aid it was not lawful for me to deny his request, or to refuse him any ministrations; neither could I refer him to any other authority than his own conscience for the choice which he had to make. Allow me to say that I did not re-baptize your son. I performed a ceremony conditional only, as there is reason to fear that in the Church of England the Sacrament of Baptism is sometimes administered incorrectly and invalidly. Regretting the pain which your son's reception may have caused you, I remain, my dear Madam, yours truly, EDWARD, Bishop of Nottingham." Here is Ultramontaniam setting at nought parental authority, mocking the religious scruples of the poor widow with unholy sneers, just as it denies the liberty of conscience, advocates the persecution of all non-Roman Catholic, and is even not averse to outrage the graves of the departed, to punish the living, and to insult the dead. We confess that we deeply mourn over this mockery of, and parody on, all true religion.

THE GIRLS' SCHOOL ELECTION IN OCTOBER.

Thirty-six candidates are on the voting papers for the next election of the Girls' School; of these fifteen are from London, and twenty-one from the provinces. It may be interesting to note now from what classes our orphans come, as it demonstrates in a remarkable manner the contrasted claims on our great charities. Officers, 2; scholars, 2; surgeons, 1; merchants and manufacturers, 5; officials, 1; traders, 12; clerks and agents, 4; non-commissioned officers, 1; licensed victuallers, 5; miscellaneous, 3; total 36. Surely in this case, as in many more, comment is needless. "Verbum sit sapienti."

THE CONCORDIA INSTITUTE.

By some unaccountable blunder of the printer, the Communiqué with reference to this institution did not appear last week, as it ought to have done. We print it this week immediately after the leaders.

THE "PHILADELPHIA KEYSTONE."

In our impression of August 19th we were glad to say some friendly words with reference to this very useful and valuable Masonic journal. In the impression of the "Keystone" of September 9th we find the following words as regards ourselves, which we reproduce here, even at the risk of being charged, among other high crimes and misdemeanors, with being egotistical :—"The handsome tribute just received from the London "Freemason" (which stands at the head of the Masonic press of Great Britain and Ireland, and indeed of the English-speaking world) we value higher than any that has ever been awarded us, and it shall stimulate us to increased efforts to produce a Masonic newspaper that shall contain the news of the world in a readable shape, together with original articles upon leading topics of interest to the Anglo-Saxon Craft."

THE CONCORDIA INSTITUTE. (COMMUNIQUE.)

At St. Gall there exists an international establishment of education and instruction called the "Concordia," founded and directed by Bro. J. Bertsch-Sailer. The M. of Lodge "Concordia," Bro. Scherrer Engler, has warmly recommended this establishment by writing to several lodges, after other brothers had convinced themselves of its being in every way worthy of recommendation.

Such a document has also fallen (in what way or by what means we will not examine here) into the hands of the Ultramontanes. It is true that this establishment has long since been a thorn in the side of this party, because its principal dares to accept Protestants and "even Jews" among his scholars, and to teach religion in a tolerant spirit contemporaneously to the members of various denominations, but always in the most considerate and objective manner, and without touching upon those points wherein the different denominations deviate. But as they could not get hold of either the Principal or his school, the indisputable fact of his being a brother offered them a welcome opportunity for carrying on after their wily and jesuitical fashion a war of destruction against the Institute "Concordia."

The said letter has appeared in several Ultramontane journals of Switzerland, accompanied by violent and passionate marginal notes, in which the fathers of families are distinctly warned not to send their sons to be educated at the Concordia. Furthermore, a kind of lampoon in folio was extensively published and sent to the "spiritual fathers," that they might use it for their own purposes, and many copies were even directly or indirectly put into the hands of the parents of some of the Concordia scholars. Where these means were found inadequate, the priests and their abettors called on the parents of the scholars in order to caution them against this bad establishment. The whole plan was well organized, for they attacked the "Concordia" almost unanimously in Switzerland, in France, and in Italy.

And what reproaches are cast against this establishment in these interminable articles? On what grounds does this public admonition against the Institute "Concordia" in St. Gall stand? Dr. Bertsch-Sailer is a Freemason and recommended by Freemasons, consequently his school is a danger to morality and religion. That is the quintessence of Ultramontane indignation for which they have wasted so much printing-ink; this is the crime with which, in a truly priestly spirit, they charge Bro. Dr. Bertsch-Sailer, and propped up by which the Ultramontanes do not scruple to undermine the scholastic credit of a school which, as is clearly proven by numerous facts, takes the education of youth not merely as regards instruction but also in matters of religion and high moral principles, very seriously.

That the newspaper articles in question are written especially against Masonry and the assaults directed against the Institute "Concordia" as quite secondary, and but the means to this end, will be evident to any one who has read them. To be sure a by-end is attained; the most zealous propaganda being made in favour of a jesuitical college or an Ultramontane paper. Unfortunately it cannot be disputed that this priestly manoeuvre has seriously injured the numbers of the Institute "Concordia." Let us hope however, that fathers will soon come to the conviction that the Freemasons do as much good to humanity as their antipodes, the Jesuits, do harm. As soon as the public become aware of this truth, and the prejudices against the Masonic orders have lost ground, an establishment conducted on Masonic, that is to say on humane and enlightened principles, will be preferred to any other, and especially to one with more or less strongly pronounced jesuitical tendencies.

Our brethren require no further explanation here, for every Freemason knows that our union is neither dangerous to religion nor to morality, on the contrary that our duty makes us of necessity show the greatest tolerance to every individual.

But the "Concordia" recommends itself the most on account of the many religious, moral, and good principled Swiss, Italian, French, Spanish, and American youths, who have left the establishment thoroughly fitted to enter upon various professions. We submit it to the judgment of all unbiased people who know this institute, whether the jesuitical establishments have so clear a conscience in this respect as Brother Dr. Bertsch-Sailer, principal of the "Concordia" in St. Gall, and we trust that the future will show the capability of this institute, conducted on Masonic principles, to hold its own against the innumerable clerical establishments, though they are overfilled with pupils. The fidelity of their convictions, the noble aspiration, the indomitable courage, and the firm union of the Freemasons vouch for this result. These attributes of our old and numerous brotherhood, which have manifested themselves so often and in so brilliant a manner, will also on this occasion prevent our enemies from blazoning forth a nefarious triumph.

THE "SATURDAY REVIEW."

The "Saturday Review" is never flattering to Freemasons, and the following critique on "Masonic Portraits by J.G." is quite in keeping with its usual tone. We think it well to give it in extenso:—"The general composition of the Freemasons' Society shows that it is quite possible to be a Freemason without being a fool, but it is obvious enough that there is a considerable proportion of fools among the body. 'J.G.' is one of those undesirable members who discredit the brotherhood by a kind of drivelling absurdity which seems to be the natural effect of lodge meetings operating on a weak temperament. 'J.G.' informs us that he 'would not have ventured to publish his sketches' of distinguished Masons 'in a permanent form if his own inclination had been consulted,' but they have been 'favourably received by the Masonic world,' when they appeared in one of the organs of Freemasonry, and he has been 'constrained' by the pressure of friends to republish them. He adds that they are 'freed from those blemishes which are inseparable from periodical writing.' We do not know how far the original style of these sketches has undergone a change, but as they now stand they are certainly marked by the blemishes of the lowest penny-alining. The work is, in fact, a curious mixture of impudent familiarity and fulsome adulation, and we should imagine that such of the persons here described as have any sense of self-respect must be anything but pleased at finding themselves held up to public view in such a ridiculous light."

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

FREEMASONRY IN VENEZUELA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I happen to be a member of a committee that takes a deep interest in the progress of South America. One of our representatives there, in writing to announce that the President and Congress of the United States of Venezuela had decided on asserting the independence of the Church of Venezuela, and throwing off the yoke of the Roman Church, writes thus in reference to the remarkable man who is President:—"I consider the President, Guzman Blanco, is a man of great talent and ruling power, and has kept the country in comparative peace during the last six years. He has suppressed all the monasteries and convents in the country, and turned their houses into useful institutions. The other day he inaugurated a magnificent Masonic temple, built at the expense of the State. He is improving the city and country wonderfully, and establishing schools throughout; and last, not least as regards England, he is making arrangements to pay interest on the National Debt."

Such are some of the things this extraordinary man is doing, and the future of this very beautiful and fertile country seems hopeful. Hitherto it was in a state of chronic revolution.

I think it will be interesting to find Bro. President Blanco and his brother Masons doing such truly Masonic work, and making Masonry a blessing and a praise upon earth.

Yours fraternally,

R. J. SIMPSON.

THE WIDOW OF THE LATE BRO. FARNFIELD.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you be kind enough to insert the enclosed letter addressed by me to Bro. H. Green, in reply to his communication of the 18th inst., which appeared in the "Freemason" on Saturday last. You will see that I requested Bro. Greene to forward my letter to you for publication with his, as it was my wish that the two should both appear in the same number of your paper, but I presume, owing to my being absent from town, Bro. Greene did not receive it early enough to publish with his on Saturday last.

Yours faithfully,
The White Hart Hotel, Margate.

J. A. FARNFIELD.

Sept. 27, 1876.

Dear Bro. Greene,—

Your letter of the 18th inst. has been forwarded to me here, and as Bro. Davis is at present also staying in Margate, I have taken the opportunity of seeing him before replying to you, and knowing that you were actuated by the kindest motives, I cannot but regret that you feel annoyed at my letter to the "Freemason;" but when I was told from more than one source that my brother's and my own incomes had been published in order to show that there was no need for the application, and to ground opposition, I thought it quite in order that I should disavow any hand in the motion. Soon after my father's death Bro. Davis told me that you purposed appealing to Grand Lodge on behalf of my mother, and I at once stated I did not wish it, although I am bound to say his views throughout have differed from my own excepting as to the terms in which the notice of motion was couched. I heard nothing further, and concluded the subject had dropped until I saw that notice of motion had been given, and Bro. Davis called upon me, as from you, to know what my father had left. As you had proceeded with your notice, I thought the better way was to give the information which I did, and again repeated to him that I regretted the step about to be taken. With respect to my brother Herbert, it appears that Bro. Davis met him on the steamboat, and casually asked him if he knew what my father's pension from the Government was, and he, having the papers in his pocket (being on the way to the War Office) shewed them to him; but the whole of this took place after the notice of motion was given and made public. The two interviews I have mentioned are all I heard of the matter, and I leave it to you to say if I am not strictly accurate in my statement to the "Freemason." If you decide on publishing your letter, I must ask you will do the same by this my reply,

Believe me, dear Bro. Greene, yours sincerely,

J. A. FARNFIELD.

The White Hart Hotel, Margate,
Sept. 20th, 1876.

DEDICATION OF A MASONIC HALL AT HAVANT.

Monday, September 18, was appointed for the dedication by the R.W. the Prov. G.M. of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight (Bro. W. Wither Bramston Beach, M.P.), of the Carnarvon Lodge, No. 804, which has been erected in the vicinity of the railway-station at Havant. The flourishing condition of the lodge induced the members to provide a building to be set apart for the purpose of Freemasonry, and so recently as the 10th April last the Prov. Grand Master attended at Havant to lay the foundation stone, the ceremony being performed according to the ancient customs of the Craft. The weather was unpropitious, and the result was that the attendance of brethren on that occasion was somewhat limited. Since then the work has been pushed on with considerable vigour, under the superintendence of Bro. H. R. Trigg, architect, of Hayling Island, a P.M. of the Carnarvon Lodge, and Past Prov. Grand Superintendent of Works. The building consists of a lofty lodge-room, with retiring-room for the W.M. adjoining, a committee-room and Tyler's room at the entrance, and the usual offices. The contract for its construction was entrusted to Bro. G. Barnes, of North-End, who has carried on the work in the most satisfactory manner. The building of the lodge having been completed nothing remained but to have it properly dedicated, in order that the Freemasons of Havant may regularly assemble within its walls.

Shortly after three o'clock the lodge was "close tyled," and the Provincial Grand Master, accompanied by the Provincial Officers, entered and was received with the customary tokens of respect by the brethren. Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., the Provincial Grand Master, was supported by the following officers of P.G. Lodge:—

Bros. J. E. LeFeuvre, P.G. Sec., as D.P.G.M.; H. Abraham, S.G.W.; F. Pineo, J.C.W.; M. E. Frost, G. Treas.; E. G. Holbrook, G. Reg.; S. S. Pearce, G.S.D.; J. B. Atkinson (Lymington), G.J.D.; Puntis (Basingstoke), G. Dir. Cir.; E. Groves, G.A.D.C.; J. R. Willson, G. Pur.; G. Sherman and G. R. Johnson, G. Stewards; J. W. Pillow, G. Org.; J. Exell, G. Tyler—with the exception of some of the Stewards nearly all the Provincial Officers appointed recently being in attendance. Among the Past Provincial Officers were Bros. H. Ford, P.S.G.W.; J. T. Kirkman and H. Cawte, P.J.G.W.; Capt. E. V. Haldane, P.G.S.D. (Monmouthshire); J. Parkes, P.G.D.S.B.; J. Maltby, P.P.G.S.B.; R. Osborne, P.P.G. Org.; also J. Weeks, W.M. Carnarvon Lodge, and the following P.M.'s, officers, and members of that lodge (which was strongly represented):—Bros. J. N. Hillman, J. Purnell, Thos. Francis, Harrison, and H. R. Trigg, P.M.'s; J. Clay, S.W.; T. P. Hall, J.W.; G. Carter, S.D.; C. H. Liddle, J.D. and Org.; W. Bull, I.G.; W. King, G. Barnes, J. Southwood, R. W. Green, Walter Sims, F. Spurgeon, George Woodman, G. T. Gourd, C. A. Gourd, F. Gourd, C. H. Burr, H. Robins, and Harry Kimber. Among the visitors were Bros. J. Whale, W.M. 309; L. A. B. Cole, W.M. 208; W. Edgeler, I.P.M. 928; Eugene E. Street, J.D. 56; O. N. Wyatt, S.W. 38 (Chichester); J. Grant, P.M. 151; Joseph Cole, S.W.; Henry Pierson, J.D.; and F. C. Masters, I.G., all of 928 (Petersfield); J. R. Hayman, 257; H. J. Dowse, 257; F. Feltham, 257; S. Gamblen, S.D. 309; F. J. Dennis, S.D. 694; J. Leggett, J.W. 1428; W. Bolton, S.D. 777 (Guilford); Thacker, (Minerva Lodge, Hull); S. R. Ellis, P.M.; H. J. Guy, S.W.; W. Payne, J.W.; W. D. Parkhouse, C. G. Adames, Bacigalupo, E. Smith, A. Yearworth, E. Bastable, J. L. Edwards, and W. H. Speering, all of the Royal Sussex Lodge, Portsea; George Bond, S.W.; W. Lenanton, George Arney, T. B. Palsgrave, F. White, and G. L. Greer, of the Portsmouth Lodge, No. 487; Joseph Hill, 1425; J. Gieve, 1069; C. B. Whitcomb, P.M.; John Liddle, G. Foster, W. Scott, M. Dowd, and R. Dwyer, of Gosport Lodge, No. 903.

The Grand Master intimated that the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. W. Hickman, was absent in consequence of indisposition, and he asked the Prov. G. Secretary, Bro. J. E. Le Feuvre, to act as his substitute. It was then announced that the Grand Master, assisted by his Grand Officers, would dedicate the lodge to virtue, Masonry, and universal benevolence. The opening solo and chorale, composed by Bro. C. H. Liddell, organist of the lodge, was effectively rendered by Bros. Carter, Liddell, Blackmore, and Sperring, Bro. Pillow presiding at the harmonium.

The Grand Master then called upon Bro. Henry Ford, P.P.G.S.W., to offer some observations upon Freemasonry.

Bro. Ford said that if it were not his duty to obey the Grand Master's command, he should still have felt it a pleasure to take part in the proceedings of the day. It was no ordinary occasion that brought them together. They were met to consecrate for futurity a building in which he hoped the principles of Freemasonry, without any admixture, would never cease to be taught. He believed that upon such an occasion it was usual to enter into a dissertation upon Freemasonry, but upon the present occasion he thought he should ill discharge the duty imposed upon him were he to occupy their time for more than a few moments on the subject that was entrusted to his keeping. He could not say that it was difficult to speak on any Masonic question, or for any one to give a reason for the hope that was within him, for he believed they had, he was about to say, divine principles. But on the present occasion he should content himself with very little more than a cursory allusion to the characteristics that ought to mark Freemasonry wherever it was found. It taught loyalty to the throne, it taught them to obey the institutions of the country in which they lived, to reverence be laws, and to respect the obligations imposed upon them, living, as they did, under free institutions and in a free country. Need they wonder at the persecution to which Freemasonry was exposed in other countries which were governed by a constitution very dissimilar from theirs? Freemasonry, besides, taught them, as one of their first obligations, to reverence the Volume of the Sacred Law. Otherwise, why was it that when they assembled on an occasion like the present, or at their ordinary meetings, they had the Sacred Volume open before them, showing them that within its pages they discovered the principles which animated their Order and bound them together? It had struck him that they were not sufficiently careful to look to the pages of that volume for a justification of the practices Masonry enjoined, and the conduct they endeavoured to obtain from every member of their Order. In both books of the Sacred Volume they found many and many a justification, "Let brotherly love continue." "Be kindly affectioned one to another, in honour preferring one another." It struck him that in those few words they had a summary which embraced almost every principle of their Order, and these certainly were the principles which they were disposed to present to their neighbours as the leading characteristics of their faith. Oh, if they acted more upon those principles, if they permeated their conduct and lives in every step they took, how different the tone of Masonic society would be, how much better all of them would be as citizens, how much more would they give effect to the principles that governed and guided their Order! Besides a reverence for the Sacred Law they ought to remember that they had a duty to one another as individuals, which ought to be discharged whether they were Freemasons or whether they were not, but which Freemasonry intensified—he referred to the Divine principle of doing unto your neighbour as you would desire him to do unto yourself. This was what Freemasonry taught them to do. Oh, that they acted more and more upon those principles, and so enabled the outer world to say, "Lo, how these Masons love one another." If they could only effect this they would be doing much in the interests of their Order. There was no principle of morality which was not inculcated by Freemasonry. They were taught their duties as citizens and as individuals. But they had other duties to perform amongst themselves, which every Mason would immediately recognise when he alluded to those principles which were inculcated upon them, and which were intended to regulate their private life. They undertook the solemn obligation, when they entered the walls of a Freemason's lodge, not to forget that they had obligations to live sober, steady lives, and to present themselves an example to their fellow creatures and to their fellow Masons. They were to show by their moderation, in every action of their lives, that they were governed by a desire to promote virtue and advance science. Permit him to say how rejoiced they ought to be to find themselves in a little town like this, assembled on such an interesting and important occasion. Let them hope that those principles to which he had cursorily and imperfectly referred would animate the breast of every member of Lodge Camarvon and permeate society at Havant, and that the members of the lodge might never forget that their fellow-townsmen looked up to them to prove that they were Masons and that there was something real and consistent about their Order. He hoped they would never forget the day on which they assembled to dedicate a building which was worthy of their Order, and which reflected the greatest possible credit upon them. He hoped that it would remain for many years a monument of their devotion to the principles of the Craft. He congratulated them upon having arrived at the accomplishment of their object, and he offered an earnest prayer not only that the building might be permanent, but that the principles of Freemasonry might be, not merely co-existent, but last far beyond it, and that every member, now and in the future, might be blessed with health, wealth, and prosperity. (Loud applause.)

"The Glorious Majesty of the Lord" having been sung, Bro. Trigg said that having been entrusted with the superintendence and management of the workmen in the construction of the edifice, and having now completed his charge, he begged leave humbly to thank the Grand Master for the honour bestowed upon him by the appointment, and also to return to him the implements which were entrusted to him at the laying of the foundation stone, and he expressed a hope that the work so far completed might be crowned with his (the Grand Master's) approval, and that of the brethren. (Applause.)

The Provincial Grand Master said it was very gratifying to him, having so very recently attended to lay the foundation stone of the building, and having entrusted its management to his (Bro. Trigg's) intelligence and skill, to see the result which had attended his labours. He must certainly congratulate him, not only upon the ability he had shown, but upon the management he must have evinced to have caused the building to have been erected in such a speedy and expeditious manner. He thought, as Bro. Ford had said, that every credit was due to the Masons of this lodge for having carried into execution such a building as this. But they must not forget that it was to him (Bro. Trigg) they were indebted for having given effect to their resolutions and their endeavours, and he was certain that all would join with him in approval of his skill, and in thanking him for this testimony of his ability. (Applause.)

"Hail, Masonry Divine," was then sung, after which The Acting Deputy Prov. G. Master, Bro. Le Feuvre, said it was some months since he had the great gratification of attending with the Grand Master, and assisting in laying the foundation stone of the building in which they were now assembled. Since that time the building had made rapid progress, and now approached completion. Complete it was not, for one act yet remained to be accomplished. Addressing the P.G.M., the Acting D.P.G.M. said: In every hope and confidence that on the foundation stone has been erected a superstructure which will receive your approval, perfect in all its parts, honourable to the builder, and worthy of the brethren of this lodge and neighbourhood, and in the name of the Carnarvon Lodge, I have the extreme gratification of asking you to consecrate it for the purposes of Freemasonry.

The P.G.M. expressed the great pleasure he should have in acceding to the request, and with the assistance of the P.G. Wardens proceeded to perform the ceremony in due Masonic form, the vessels for the corn, wine, and oil used on the occasion having been lent by Bros. H. W. Emanuel and Sons, of Ordnance-row, Portsea. At the conclusion of the impressive ceremony,

Bro. G. R. Johnson (of the Theological Training College, Chichester), who, in the absence of the P.G. Chaplain, officiated as Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Great Architect of the Universe, look down and bless this hall, which has been this day solemnly dedicated to Masonry, Virtue, and Universal Benevolence, guide those who shall govern and rule here, so that the true principles of Masonry alone may be taught, pure and unsullied, and our labours being now ended grant that we may separate in unity and brotherly love.

The Provincial Grand Master, addressing the brethren, said it was unnecessary for him to detain them with any lengthened address upon Freemasonry, considering that the time was rather limited, and that Bro. Ford had given them such an able and excellent address upon the subject. But still he could not allow this ceremony to conclude without addressing a few words of congratulation to them. He thought it must be a subject of great satisfaction to the members of the Carnarvon Lodge that they had seen their labours crowned with such success. Certainly, when he and others attended on the occasion of laying the foundation-stone the elements were not propitious, and they had great difficulties to contend with. To lay a foundation-stone in a pouring rain was by no means an agreeable occupation (laughter); but at the same time the brethren were undaunted by that inauspicious commencement, and by the skill of the architect and the energy of the contractor they had been able to carry it to an auspicious end. It was a great gratification to the brethren of any lodge to have a building in which they could assemble and worthily celebrate their mysteries, because it showed, in the first place, that they must have a high appreciation of the Order into which they had entered, or they would not have thought it worth while to take the trouble to provide such a building. But the purposes of Freemasonry were so high and inspiring that they might well lead any Freemason to make great exertions in the cause. He addressed many who had been Freemasons for many years; he addressed others who had recently entered into the Order, but he was sure that one and all were imbued with the right principles of their Order, and were resolved to do their best to carry them out. They should remember certain principles on which their ancient brethren proceeded. What were the great principles which directed them in the erection of those stately and superb edifices of old, which did honour to their skill and taste? Wisdom, strength, beauty—skill to design, strength to carry out the work, and beauty to embellish it. These were the principles on which many edifices were in former days erected. It was not possible, in the present day, to emulate those edifices, but they could do their best to emulate the virtues of their ancestors and to try to carry out those principles which actuated them in executing those magnificent works. To erect a building alone would be little, unless the brethren who were assembled therein were resolved to carry on the purposes of Freemasonry to their fullest extent, and certainly if they did their best, as Bro. Ford had said, in their generation, to show to the outer world that they had entered into Freemasonry for no private gratification of their own, but simply to carry out its grand and magnificent principles, they would do something to show their appreciation of the Order which they had entered. Universal benevolence was one of its leading principles, and they should show it not only to their brethren within these walls, but to others in the outer world with whom they might be brought in contact. And, as Bro. Ford had said, Freemasonry should have a great influence upon their lives, and prove to others with whom they were brought into connection that it had an ameliorating influence upon them. He did think there was something in Freemasonry which softened the asperities of the outer world, and had an ameliorating influence upon their minds. He really thought that if they mused awhile upon its principles there was something which had a beneficial effect upon their conduct in life. As Bro. Ford had said, the volume of the Sacred Law lay open before them, to regulate their actions in the paths of virtue and peace. What more ennobling influence could be exercised on the human mind than was exercised by that Sacred Volume? Let them remember that it was one of the great lights of Freemasonry, and that every Freemason ought to act according to its principles. Let them, then, do their best to act as faithful and true Freemasons, and so long as the brethren in that lodge chose to emulate the example which had been set them by their predecessors of old, and by the many excellent Freemasons whom they had known in life, so long would Freemasonry flourish in that building, and so long would they have reason to congratulate themselves upon the work which they had inaugurated that day. (Loud applause.)

After the lodge had been closed the brethren adjourned to the Town Hall, where about 80 sat down to a banquet, which was served by Bro. J. Purnell, of the "Dolphin" Hotel. The P.G.M. having been compelled by another engagement to leave at the close of the banquet, the chair was occupied by Bro. Weeks, W.M. of the Carnarvon Lodge, and under his genial presidency the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to, and an agreeable evening was spent.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, October 6, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2.

Lodge 12, Fortitude and Old Chland., Ship and Turtle.
" 25, Robert Burns, F.M.H.
" 69, Unity,
" 144, St. Luke's, M.H., Basinghall-st.
" 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
Chap. 28, Old King's Arms, F.M.H.
" 91, Regularity, F.M.H.
" 1056, Victoria, Masons' Hall, Basinghall-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3.

Colonial Board at 3.
Lodge 7, R. York of Perseverance, F.M.H.
" 101, Temple, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 172, Old Concord, F.M.H.
" 217, Stability, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 742, Crystal Palace, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.
" 765, St. James's, Bridge House Hot.
" 1257, Grosvenor, Caledonian Hot., Adelphi.
" 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, C. of G.H. Tav., E.
" 1298, Royal Standard, Wellington Club, N.
" 1381, Kennington, Surrey Tav., Kennington Oval.
" 1397, Anerley, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
" 1472, Henley, Three Crowns, High-st., Woolwich.
" 1549, Abercorn, Abercorn Hot., Great Stanmore.
Chap. 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.
" 1269, Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4.

Lodge 511, Zealand, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1491, Athenæum, Athenæum, Camden-road, N.W.
Chap. 55, Constitutional, Private Rooms, Leytonstone.
Precep. 129, Holy Palestine, Masonic Hall, Regent-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Haydock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5.

Lodge 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 45, Strong Man, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue.
" 192, Lion and Lamb, Cannon-st. Hot.
" 227, Ionic, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Bridge House Hot.
" 1351, St. Clements Dane, 265, Strand.
" 1445, Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., E.
Chap. 174, Sincerity, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union, Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6.

Lodge 706, Florence Nightingale, M.H., Woolwich.
" 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1489, Marquis of Ripon, Balls Pond-road, N.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
 Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
 Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
 Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
 Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
 Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
 Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
 Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
 Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
 St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
 Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
 Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
 Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
 Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
 Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
 Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 7, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2.

Lodge 113, Unanimity, Bull Hot., Church-st., Preston.
 " 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.
 " 703, Clifton, Clifton Arms, Blackpool.
 " 1045, Stamford, T.H., Altrincham.
 " 1051, Rowley, M.R., Athenæum, Lancaster.
 " 1264, Neptune, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1380, Skelmersdale, Queen's Hot., Waterloo.
 Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
 Skelmersdale Red Cross Conclave, M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3.

Lodge 673, St. John's M.H., Liverpool.
 " 897, Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helen's.
 " 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverston.
 " 986, Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston.
 " 1256, Fidelity, Bull Hot., Poulton-le-Fylde.
 " 1384, Equity, Walker's Com. Hot., Widnes.
 " 1476, Blackpool, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.
 Chap. 203, St. John of Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.
 Mark Lodge 161, Walton, St. Lawrence Schools, Liverpl.
 Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4.

Lodge 730, Ellesmere, Royal Oak Hot., Chorley.
 " 1013, Royal Victoria, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1061, Triumph, M.H., Lytham.
 " 1335, Lindsay, 20, King-st., Wigan.
 " 1354, Marquis of Lorne, M.R., Leigh.
 " 1203, W. Lancashire, Com. Hot., Ormskirk.
 Chap. 86, Lebanon, M.H., Prescott.
 " 477, Fidelity, 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
 De Grey and Ripon L. of I., N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
 Harmonic L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5.

Lodge 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1473, Bootle, Assembly Rooms, Bootle.
 Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.
 Alpass Preceptory, M.H., Liverpool.
 St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6.

Lodge 680, Sefton, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
 " 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.
 " 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.
 " 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.
 Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 7, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2.

Lodge 124, Kilwinning, Union Tav., Ayr.
 " 129, St. Mirren, 5, Moss-st., Paisley.
 " 138, Operative, Blue Bell Hot., Ayr.
 " 237, St. John, Masonic Arms, Girvan.
 " 332, Union, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., S.S., Glasgow.
 Chap. 53, Dumbarton, Elephant Hot., Dumbarton.
 " 119, Rosslyn, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
 " 173, St. John, M.H., Largs.
 " 177, St. James's, M.H., Coatbridge.
 " 406, St. John Dalziel, M.H., Motherwell.
 " 433, St. Thomas, Eglington Hot., Dalmeilington.
 " 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
 " 442, Neptune, M.H., Princes-lane, Ardrossan.
 " 497, St. John's, Brewery Lesser Hall, Catrine.
 " 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3.

Lodge 0, Mother Kilwinning, M.H., Kilwinning.
 " 4, Glasgow Kilwinning, 162, Kent-rd., Glasgow.
 " 21, Old St. John, M.H., Lanark.
 " 86, Navigation, Navigation Arms Hot., Troon.
 " 117, St. Mary, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
 " 126, St. Andrew, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
 " 128, St. John, M.H., Shettleston.
 " 166, St. John, M.H., Airdrie.
 " 198, Royal Arch, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
 " 202, St. Clement's, Com. Hot., Kilmarnock.
 " 233, Hamilton, Spalding's Hot., Hamilton.
 " 331, St. Peter's, Portland Arms, Galston.
 " 354, Caledonian Itinerary, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow, 3 p.m.
 Chap. 87, Shamrock and Thistle, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5.

Lodge 11, St. John's, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
 " 22, St. John, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
 " 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 149, St. Andrew, Masons' Arms, Irvine.
 " 157, St. John, M.H., Beith.
 " 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
 " 290, Blair, White Hart Hot., Dalry.
 " 320, St. John, R.A., M.H., Ardrossan.
 " 370, Renfrew, 8, High-st., Paisley.
 " 465, St. Andrew, 69, Garngad-rd., Glasgow.
 " 547, Stewart, M.H., Kilsyth.

Chap. 114, Baron of Renfrew, M.H., Renfrew.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6.

Lodge 7, Hamilton Kilwinning, M.H., Hamilton.
 " 114, Royal Arch, M.H., Cambuslang.
 " 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.
 " 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.
 " 156, St. Barchan, Masonic Arms Inn, Kilbarcan.
 " 175, St. John, St. John's Hall, Greenock.
 " 215, St. Andrew, M.H., Strathaven.
 " 217, Cumberland, Kilwinning, Port Glasgow.
 " 242, Houston, Cross Keys Hot., Johnstone.
 " 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.
 " 335, Argyle, Drill Hall, Dunoon.
 " 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 408, Clyde, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 459, Kelburne, Cumbræ Hot., Millport.
 " 512, Thornetree, School House, Thornliebank.
 " 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Lanark.
 Chap. 112, Paisley, St. Mirren's Hall, Paisley.
 " 458, St. John, Wilson's Hall, Busby.
 " 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 7, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2.

Lodge 429, St. Kentigern, Royal Hot., Penicuik.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3.

Lodge 5, Canongate and Leith, 86, Constitution-st.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5.

Lodge 97, St. James's, St. James's Hall, Writers' Court.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6.

Lodge 291, Celtic, of E. and L., Ship Hot., [E. Register-st.

TO CITY MEN.—Good, comfortable Apartments may be obtained by applying to Mr. J. Burchell, Advertising Agency, 55, Coleman-st., E.C.

CARPENTER and JOINER wants constant Employment; capable of the Repairs on an Estate—M.M.M., Messrs. Deacons, 150, Leadenhall-st., London

WANTED an active Canvasser.—Apply 11 to 5 at Mr. J. Burchell's Advertising agency, 55, Coleman Street, E.C.

HOUSE, Garden, and Orchard to be LET or SOLD.—The Poplars, a convenient Ten-roomed House; stable, coach-house, offices, cottage, &c., detached; one or two acres of garden and orchard; 700ft. of fruit wall; trees in full bearing; chicken-breeding house, pigeries, &c.; immediate possession; rent from £90; half a mile from Lee Station.—Apply to Mr. Drewett, Burnt Ash-hill, Lee, S.E.

TO LAND OWNERS AND OTHERS.—The advertiser, many years with a Firm of Auctioneers, seeks an engagement as Land Steward, or place of trust. Highest credentials. Address, Brother, Messrs. Deacon, Leadenhall-street.

WANTED.—Care of Offices, Chambers, or House by an old Pupil of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. Husband is also in want of some light employment. Satisfactory references can be given. Address S. A. M., office of the paper, 198, Fleet-street, London

A PENSIONED SERGEANT-MAJOR (W.M.) requires employment in a trustworthy position. Has been accustomed to the management of officers' Messes.—Excellent character and references.—Address C. A., Post Office, 228, Blackfriars-road.

WANTED, by the Advertiser, a Situation as Bank or Office Messenger, or any place of trust. Exemplary character. M.M.—Address W. L., 4, Priest Dale Cottages, Ordinance-place, Chatham.

NOTICE TO THE CRAFT.

HARMONIUM for SALE.—Six rows Vibrators, 12 Stops, and Walnut Wood Case. Cost £30; will take £20 for it. Nearly new; suitable for the Lodge or Church.—Apply to J. Taylor, 2, Swallow-street, Piccadilly.

NEW SPECIALITY IN CIGARS.

A. OLDROYD, Leyton, E.,
 Wishes to inform the Public that he is appointed Agent for

THE ALGERIAN CIGARS.

(Awarded Three Prize Medals.)

PALATINAS, 14s. 6d.; sample bundles of 25,	3s. 9d.
CAZADORS, 21s.	5s. 6d.
DAMITAS, 18s. 6d.	4s. 9d.
MEDIANOS, 25s.	6s. 6d.
P.A. 37s. 6d. per box of 100	9s. 6d.

N.B.—These Cigars are manufactured in, and from, Tobacco grown in Algiers.

With Index and Preface, in Twelve Imperial Folio Parts, 5s. each, or bound in one handsome volume, £3.

THE FREEMASONS' LIBER MUSICUS,
 Dedicated by express permission to H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES, M.W.G. Master. Edited by DR. WILLIAM SPARK, P.M., P.P.G.O., W.Y.—298.

This Work contains 215 pp. and 118 Musical Compositions, suitable for the Ceremonies of the Masonic Order; First, Second, and Third Degrees; Consecration and Dedication of Halls and Lodges; Programmes, Toasts, Songs, Trios, Choruses, &c., for Banquets and other Festive Gatherings; Laying Foundation or Corner Stones; Installation; Mark Masonry; Royal Arch; Masonic Funerals; Voluntaries; Marches, &c., &c.

HANDSOME CLOTH COVERS, with gilt lines, and lettered, for Binding (similar to those used for the "Graphic" and "Illustrated News"), price 5s. each.

LONDON: "FREEMASON OFFICE," 198, Fleet Street.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are respectfully solicited on behalf of GORDON ROGERS (Aged 9 Years), Son of the late Bro. Wm. Friday Rogers, P.M., who was initiated into the Lodge of Confidence, No. 193, in 1858, served the Office of W.M. 1864, and was appointed Secretary in January, 1866, on the death of his Father, who held that office over thirty years. He was a subscribing member from the date of his initiation until his death in April last. He has left a Widow and Seven Children (one of which was elected into the Masonic School for Girls last year) quite unprovided for, and who are unable to render her any assistance. She, therefore, urgently appeals to the Governors and Subscribers for their Votes and Interest on behalf of her Son.

The case is strongly recommended by:

Bro. Alderman and Sheriff H. Hadley, Vice-President, P.M. 55 M.E.Z. 3, P.P.G.D.C.; 1, Upper Thames-street, E.C.
 F. Bonney, W.M. 193; 7, Horsleydown Lane.
 H. T. Reed, S.W. 193; 16, Tottenham Court Road.
 E. W. Fithian, J.W. 193; 6, Fairford Grove, Kennington Lane.
 G. S. F. Warne, P.M. and Treas. 193; 9, Gresham-street, E.C.
 J. Shackell, P.M. and Sec. 193; 298, Goswell Road.
 S. Webb, P.M. and Dir. of Ceremonies 193, 434, Oxford Street.
 J. Burch, P.M. 193; 30, St. Mary Axe.
 B. D. Kershaw, P.M. 193; New River Head.
 F. H. Clemow, 193; 3, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 W. Harding, 193; 3, Ave Maria Lane, E.C.
 J. Roberts, 193; 195, Shoreditch.
 R. J. Hutton, 193; 240, City Road.
 J. Coultas, P.G.P., P.M. 27, 1310, 1348, 1357; P.Z. 177, 582 M.E.Z. 1348; 30, James-street, Covent Garden.
 J. E. Walford, P.M. 177, and P.Z. 145.
 J. F. Weatherhead, 193; 3, Claremont Villas, Kew Bridge.
 H. Lea, J.D. 193; 552, Oxford-street.
 G. Lam, W.P., P.S.A. and P.M. 198 and 504; P.Z. 7 and 21; K.T. 31; P.S.S.G. Warden, Herts, 12; Coventry-street.
 J. Shepherd, P.M. 21 and 201; Holland-street, Clapham, Road.
 R. Griffiths, 193; 7, Highbury Grange, Islington.
 By whom Proxies will be gratefully received, and also by Mrs. Rogers, 115, Central-street, St. Luke's, E.C.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

—October Election, 1876.—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are earnestly solicited on behalf of WILLIAM BECK.

Son of the late Bro. David Davison Beck, of Greenwich, P.M. 186 and 1306. The Father was a Contractor, but owing to losses in trade and illness, left a Widow and Five Young Children totally unprovided for, the Creditors taking everything.

The case is strongly recommended by the following brethren:—

Bro. James Brett, P.G.P., 14, Sidney-road, Homerton.
 C. A. Cotterburne, P.G.P., 29, Dean-street, Soho.
 John Boyd, P.G.P., Jermyn-street, St. James's.
 George Kelly, P.G.S., P.M., 46 and 63, King-street, Westminster.
 E. J. Page, V.P., P.G.S., P.M., 23, 800, and 1387, 188, Kennington Park Road.
 W. L. Holt, P.G.S., W.M. No. 5, 9, Victoria Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W.
 J. R. Stacey, P.M. 180, 181, Gibson-square, N.
 James Lewis Thomas, P.M. 142, 493, 1328, and 1415, 26, Gloucester-street, Pimlico, S.W.
 Edward Clark, P.M. 1194 and 1329, 19, Buckingham-street, Strand.
 H. A. Collington, P.M. 79, 140, 871, 1320, 1, Edward-street, Greenwich.
 A. J. Brown, late 79, 55, Trafalgar Road, Greenwich.
 S. Webb, P.M., 198 and 1387, Oxford-street.
 W. Battlett, P.M. 186 and 1306, 6, Tottenham Court Road.
 J. E. Wylie, P.M. 186, 33, Chapel-street, Grosvenor Square.
 W. Mann, V.P., P.M. 144, 188, 1306 and 1381, 5, Broad Sanctuary, Westminster, S.W.
 T. S. Mortlock, P.M. 186, "Tredgar Arms," Lichfield-street, Bow Road.
 C. W. Noehmer, P.M. 186, 138, Blue Anchor Road, S.E.
 J. Seck, P.M. 186, S.W. 1428, 132, Grange Road, Bermondsey.
 N. B. Headon, P.M. 1428, 62, Friday-street, E.C.
 William Stephens, P.M. 1365 and 1460, "Stag Tavern," Brooksbury's Walk, Homerton, E.
 George Dyer, W.M. 186, 90, Regent-street, W.
 Proxies will be thankfully received by William Mann, 5, Broad Sanctuary, S.W.

PRESENTATION

PAST MASTERS' JEWELS, LEVELS, &c.

A Large Stock now on view at Bro. G. KENNING'S Show Rooms, Little Britain and Aldersgate-street, London.

A FREEMASON'S WIDOW, with limited means, can be accommodated with a Comfortable Home; Good Bedroom, Board with the Family, for 12s. per week. A servant kept. N.B. No objection to one child (female), to be charged extra.—Address G.N., Post Office, New Barnet.

MUSIC FOR CONSECRATIONS, &c., &c.

—Parties made up from the following Artists:—Bros. Stedman, Geo. Fox, Hodges, Beckett, Henry Parker and Thurlay Beale. Ladies if wished. For terms and all particulars, address Bro. Stedman, 1, Berners-street, W.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	443
Instruction.....	444
Scotland.....	444
The Cant of Masonry.....	445
Provincial Grand Lodge of Somerset.....	446
Masonic Hall at Redruth.....	447
Re-opening of the Aberdeen Masonic Hall.....	447
Masonic and General Tidings.....	447
The Cant of Masonry.....	448
Masonic Archaeology.....	448
We Will Not Go to Canossa.....	449
The Next Boys' School Election.....	449
Hermetic Masonry.....	449
Emulation Lodge of Improvement.....	449
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Freemasonry in Venezuela.....	450
A New Lady Freemason.....	450
Ultramontane Violence.....	450
Prov. G. Masters.....	450
Grand Lodge Funds.....	450
The Sister Systems—Masonry and Christianity.....	451
Consecration of the Kent Dale Lodge of Mark Masters.....	451
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	452
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—An emergency meeting of the Great City Lodge was held on Saturday, Sept. 30th, at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, for the purpose of clearing off some of the business in relief of the installation meeting, which will take place a fortnight hence, and considering that the usual autumnal holidays have scarcely concluded, there was a fair attendance of members. Bro. J. Hamilton Townend, W.M., presided; Bro. Seex (W.M. elect), S.W.; and Bro. Stanley, J.W.; and most of the other officers were in attendance. The lodge having been duly opened, the first business was to pass Bros. Stephens and Styles to the Second Degree, which was ably done by the W.M. The lodge was resumed to the First Degree, when a ballot took place for four candidates in addition to one favourably balloted for at the last lodge. The ballot being successful, the following gentlemen were severally initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry, viz., Mr. Oppenheimer, Mr. Samuel Dorman, Mr. William Shaw, Mr. George Frederick Luticke, and Mr. John Peacock Turner. The ceremonies were performed by the W.M. with his usual care and ability. In the absence of Bro. Brown, who had given notice of motion "That a Past Master's jewel of the value of ten guineas be presented to J. H. Townend on the termination of his year of office," Bro. Thompson ("Free-mason"), said that he should have much pleasure in submitting the motion in the absence of the brother in whose name it stood on the paper, for he believed that when they remembered the courteous, kind, and genial manner with which their W.M. had discharged his duties during his year of office, he thought that they would all agree with him that this was a compliment he had fairly earned, and one that he well deserved. He would not occupy their time in descending upon his many good qualities as they knew them as well as he did, but would simply confine himself to moving, in the terms of the motion, "That a Past Master's jewel of the value of ten guineas be presented to Bro. J. H. Townend on the termination of his year of office." Bro. Moody, P.M. and Secretary, seconded the motion, which was put and carried unanimously. Some other business was disposed of, and the lodge was closed in due form and with solemn prayer. The members afterwards re-assembled. Very slight refreshments and the loyal toasts having been disposed of, Bro. Headon, I.P.M., said he rose to propose "The Health of their W.M.," and although that was the last time he should have an opportunity of doing so, he found it almost impossible to vary the terms in which he had so many times spoken of him. They all knew his worth, and he should therefore ask them to drink with all cordiality the health of their W.M. The W.M., in responding to the toast, said he need hardly say that he was not going to make a speech, although that was the last opportunity he had of rising to thank Past Master Headon for the very kind manner in which he had proposed the toast. He would, however, take that opportunity of thanking the officers of the lodge and the brethren generally for the indulgent way in which they had received any shortcomings on his part on account of the difference of his ritual to that of the lodge, but he could assure them that their kindness would never be obliterated from his memory. He had received very substantial assistance from Bro. Headon, and he really did not know what he should have done without him. He thanked them for the kindness and cordiality he had received from every member of the lodge, and he should not quit the chair with regret but with pleasure, as he believed that Bro. Seex, his successor, would be able to carry out the duties of the lodge more ably than it had been in his power to do. He had, as he said, been greatly indebted to his predecessor, Bro. Headon, for during his year there had not been a single hitch in his working, and he had carried out his duties to his (the W.M.'s) admiration, and he believed to that of every member of the lodge. He proposed "The Health of Bro. Headon, their Immediate Past Master." Bro. Headon thanked the brethren for the very cordial manner in which the toast had been received, and, as it was a compliment he had been in the habit of receiving, he should defer making a speech until the next occasion. The W.M. then referred to the addition of five new members, who were one and all known to some members of the lodge, and he believed were men of the right sort, and would do credit to them. He proposed their healths. The newly-initiated members severally returned thanks. The W.M. said that whatever they had to offer to their visitors, whether it was only bread and cheese, or anything else, they always gave them a hearty welcome and the right hand of fellowship. They were honoured that night with the presence of Bro. Constantine, from Jamaica, and he hoped when he returned he would be able to say that the Great City Lodge had given him a hearty welcome, and he asked the brethren to cordially drink his health. Bro. Constantine briefly thanked the brethren for the kindness with which he had been received. The W.M. next gave "The Officers of the Lodge," for which they severally responded, and the Tyler's toast brought a very agreeable evening to a close.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1524).—The September meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday week, and was attended by a goodly number of both members and visitors. The following officers were present: Bros. Chapman, Prov. G. Stwd. Herts., W.M.; J. B. Shackleton, J.W.; W. H. Lee, P.M., Sec.; J. Symes, S.D.; N. Green, J.D.; H. S. Meyer, J.D.C.; W. H. Brand, I.G.; and Gilchrist, Tyler. Members: Bros. H. G. Buss, Prov. G. J. W. Middx.; F. Brasted, C. Johnson, E. Harding, H. G. Moon, John Varney, C. W. Smyth, E. Dignam, A. Ferrar, and F. A. Kelly. Visitors: Bros. Jas. Pinder, G. Young, 820; Oscar Dietrich, W. E. Gompertz, P.M. 869; and W. Morgan, 1385. The business before the W.M. was the raising of Bro. Dietrich, the passing of Bro. Lorkin, and initiation of Messrs. Polak, Hill, Stokes, and Stevenson, the whole of the ceremonies being performed by the W.M. in a very creditable manner. Bro. J. L. Payne (nephew of the Grand Tyler) was successfully balloted for and duly elected. After the ceremonies were over, Bro. W. H. Lee rose and informed the brethren of the loss they had all sustained by the death of Bros. Henry Lister and James Alford, which sad intelligence was received with the greatest regret by all present. Bro. Lee proposed, and Bro. Shackleton seconded, a vote of condolence with the family of Bro. Lister, the W.M. following with a few remarks, in which he stated how great was his regret at the loss of so dear a friend and brother. A similar vote was proposed for the relatives of Bro. Alford by Bro. Symes, and seconded by Bro. C. Johnson. Both propositions were carried unanimously. The vacancy caused by the lamented death of Bro. Lister was filled by the W.M. appointing Bro. Shackleton, S.W.; Jas. Symes, J.W.; Neville Green, S.D.; W. Brand, J.D.; H. Meyer, I.G.; and C. Johnson, Steward. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren shortly afterwards sat down to supper; at the termination of which the usual toasts were given and duly responded to.

WEST SMITHFIELD LODGE (No. 1623).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held at the New Market Hotel, Snow-hill, on Wednesday, 30th ult. Bro. J. Smith, P.G.P., P.M., W.M., presided. There were present Bros. F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Sec., who acted as I.P.M.; T. W. Adams, S.W.; G. S. Elliott, J.W.; J. Howes, P.M., S.D.; J. Johnson, J.D.; T. Butt, as I.G.; E. Mallett, Assistant Sec.; and others. Amongst the large number of visitors we noticed Bros. E. B. Grabham, P.S.G.W. Middlesex, W.M. 19; H. Potter, P.M. 11; A. Stevens, I.G. 1298; E. Mallett, J.W. 141; Leonard Van Boole, 1275; David Smith, 1326; T. Tremere, 1309; and some whose names we could not ascertain. Bro. D. Smith was raised to the Third Degree; Bro. L. Van Boole passed to the Second Degree; Messrs. T. M. Butt (a Lewis, son of the host), W. Snow, and W. B. Delafons were initiated into Freemasonry. All the work was done well. Apologies were received from the absent candidates. It was announced the Secretary had induced the J.D., Bro. J. Johnson, to become Steward to represent this lodge at the forthcoming anniversary of the Boys' School festival, to be held in 1877. Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., P.M., W.M., presented the lodge with a handsomely bound volume of the Sacred Law. It was accepted with pleasure, and, on motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved that the best thanks of the lodge be given him for his welcome present, and the same be entered in the lodge minute book. The lodge was closed and adjourned to Thursday, Oct. 19, at 2 o'clock p.m. Banquet and dessert followed.

WARRINGTON.—Lodge of Lights (No. 148).—The regular monthly meeting of this old lodge was held on Monday evening, the 25th ult., at the Masonic Rooms. The W.M., Bro. W. H. Robinson, was supported by Bros. Thos. Tunstall, S.W.; Joseph Pickthall, J.W.; and a large number of members and visitors. The lodge was opened in form, when the minutes were read and declared to be correctly recorded. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree, when Bro. Ferguson claimed preferment, and having sustained his claim was entrusted and retired. The lodge was opened in the Third Degree, and Bro. Ferguson re-admitted and raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason in ample form by the W.M. On the lodge being closed down, Bro. John Armstrong, S.W. 1250, and Treasurer of No. 148, rose to propose a vote of congratulation to two brethren who had and were about to have high Masonic distinction bestowed upon them. They all felt that the lodge was complimented by these appointments. Bro. Bowes had done much for Masonry in Warrington, but his able services were not confined to West Lancashire, for he was well-known in the Northern Province of Cumberland and Westmorland as in Warrington. He (Bro. Armstrong) had it on the best authority that Bro. Bowes had for many years ever been ready to afford help in the north whenever needed, and Lord Bective, M.P., the R.W. Prov. G.M., acknowledged the obligations of the province when he appointed Bro. Bowes Junior Grand Warden at the great meeting at Kirby Lonsdale a few weeks since. They one and all congratulated Bro. Bowes on the well-merited honour which had been bestowed upon him. Bro. Sharp, P.M., &c., was the other worthy brother upon whom the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale was about to confer a similar honour. Bro. Sharp while he occupied the chair of K.S. rendered their beautiful ceremonies in a manner they all appreciated, and they congratulated him most sincerely. Bro. Tunstall, S.W., seconded the motion, which was carried by acclamation. Bros. Bowes and Sharp acknowledged the compliment in suitable terms. Bro. Bowes proposed a vote of congratulation to Bro. James Paterson, I.G., on the occasion of his marriage; this was seconded by Bro. J. R. Young, S.D., and carried unanimously. The Prov. Grand Lodge circular having been read, and there being no further business, the lodge was closed with the usual solemnities, and the brethren separated in harmony.

CHESTER.—Cestrian Lodge (No. 425).—This popular and influential lodge met for the first time after the summer vacation on Thursday evening, the 21st ult., at the Grosvenor Hotel. There were present Bros. J. McHattie, W.M.; Robinson, I.P.M.; Dr. Taylor, S.W.; T. M. Lockwood, J.W.; Knox, S.D.; Smith, J.D.; F. A. Dickson, I.G.; Cuzner, Organist; W. C. Hunt, P.M., Sec.; Minspall, Treas.; W. Mathews, S.W. of the Lodge of Independence, and a large number of the brethren, among whom were Bros. C. Dutton, P.P.G.S.W.; J. E. Williams, P.G.S.D.; J. Salmon, P.P.G.S.D.; and F. Smith, P.G.S. of W. The business included the passing of Bro. Marples and the raising of Bro. Oldreive, both ceremonies being impressively rendered by the W.M. The brethren were then called to refreshment, which was served in a room adjoining the lodge. The W.M. presided, and, at the conclusion of the repast, proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were enthusiastically received. In responding to the toast of his health, which was proposed in flattering terms by the I.P.M., the W.M., after expressing the pleasure it gave him to meet the brethren once more, proceeded to review the position of the lodge. The Cestrian, he was happy to say, was in a most flourishing condition, greater than it had ever been in before, and in point of voting power was the most influential lodge in the province. He had supplemented the amount voted to him as Steward for the Masonic Boys' School with a sum which he had collected among the brethren of the lodge; and this had enabled him to hand over at the recent festival £113 to the funds of that deserving institution, thus constituting the Master and Wardens of the lodge a Vice-Patron and Vice-Presidents of the school in perpetuity—a position, he believed, unique among the private lodges in the country. The lodge had now 162 votes per annum in respect to the Masonic Charities, which, with the 100 votes in possession of private members of the lodge, and the co-operation of other lodges in the province, would enable them to carry any candidate whose cause they might espouse. It was possible that some alteration might be made in the present mode of voting, but even that, he felt sure, would not affect the influential position of the lodge. The W.M. then advocated the claims of the Cheshire Masonic Educational Institution. It was not a building, as some erroneously supposed, for the reception of children, but a fund which provided for the education of the children of deceased or indigent Cheshire Masons. They all knew that brethren sometimes fell from affluence to poverty, and consequently became unable to give their children that education which they intended them to have. In such cases the fund came to the aid of the embarrassed parent, and defrayed the cost of the child's schooling. They all knew the value of a good education in these days, and would therefore appreciate the beneficial operations of the fund. The brethren, too, had subscribed liberally to the Freemasons' pulpit which had been placed in Chester Cathedral, that noble pile which had been rescued from decay by the zeal and energy of Dr. Howson, and he trusted that the doctrines preached from that pulpit would always coincide with those bright and glorious principles on which the Craft was founded. Freemasonry was growing in power and influence every day; the fact that the brethren in England and Wales had subscribed upwards of £30,000 to the Masonic charities last year was a telling proof of its vitality; and its Divine teachings were being conveyed into the remotest corners of the earth. After one or two other toasts had been proposed the brethren were called to labour, and the lodge was closed in due form.

BEDFORD.—Stuart Lodge (No. 540).—This lodge held its first meeting after the summer recess on Wednesday evening, September 27th, when there were present Bros. Capt. Green, W.M.; Col. Stuart, P.G.S.W., &c., &c., S.W.; A. Cookson, P.M., acting J.W.; Rev. C. Breerton, Chaplain; Capt. Colburne, S.D.; Billson, P.M., acting J.D.; Coombes, I.G.; Dr. Prior, P.M., Sec.; Sergeant, P.M., Treas.; Piper, Org.; and J. R. Bull, P.M., Steward. Amongst the many brethren present were Capt. Polhill-Turner, M.P., P.M.; Whyley, P.M.; Stafford, Thompson, Leslie, Harris, and others. Bro. Kilpin was raised to the Third Degree, the W.M. and officers performing the ceremony in a very effective manner, Dr. Prior giving the traditional history. Twenty-two brethren sat down to an excellent supper provided by Bro. Wicks, of the Swan Hotel. As this was the last occasion of his catering for the wants of the brethren his health was drunk with "hearty good wishes" for his enjoyment of a well-earned retirement, which kindly expressions of brotherly feeling having been suitably acknowledged by him, the brethren separated after a very enjoyable evening.

SOUTHEND.—Priory Lodge (No. 1000).—The first meeting of this lodge after the recess was held at the Middleton Hotel, Southend, on the 28th ult., the W.M., Bro. Dr. E. E. Phillips, P.M. 379, Prov. J.G.D., presided. There were also present Bros. A. Lucking, P.M. 160, Prov. A.G.D.C.; I.P.M.; F. Grayson, acting S.W.; G. Glasscock, acting J.W.; F. Wood, P.M., P.P.S. G.W., Treas.; J. A. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P.P.G.D., Sec.; J. R. Hemmann, P.M. P.P.G.D., Org.;

Rev. H. J. Hatch, W.M. 160, P.P.G.C., acting Chaplain; W. Chaplin, S.D.; W. P. Belliss, J.D.; Thos. Hales, S.W., acting I.G.; Rev. T. W. Herbert, P.M., P.P.G.C.; H. Hicks, W. Wallis, F. V. Jillings, S.W. 260; P. Benton, jun., H. Hassall, G. F. Wood. Visitors: Bros. W. Pisse, P.M. 160, P.P.J.G.W.; D. Nash, jun., 160; B. J. Abbott, 25. After the usual preliminary business Bro. W. H. Norman was passed to the Second Degree. The ballot having proved favourable Mr. H. Smith was initiated into the mysteries of the Craft, the work being well done. Two gentlemen having been proposed for initiation the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. The Tyler's toast brought a very successful meeting to a close.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Lodge (No. 1051).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Atheneum, on the 2nd inst. Bro. H. Longman, the W.M., occupied the chair of K.S. There was a fair attendance of members and visiting brethren. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, and Bros. T. Bell and G. H. Chippindall having given proficiency as Craftsmen, were entrusted, and retired. The lodge was then raised to the Third Degree, and Bro. Bell having been re-admitted was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the working being gone through by Bro. John Hatch, P.M. 281. Bro. Chippindall was then re-admitted and raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason by Bro. Longman, the W.M., the working tools being presented by Bro. T. Atkinson, W.M. 281. The lodge was then closed down to the First Degree, and the usual proclamations having been made, which elicited hearty responses from the visiting brethren, the lodge was closed in due form.

WESTERHAM.—Amherst Lodge (No. 1223).—On Thursday, the 28th ult., this lodge was well attended, a number of London brethren having honoured the W.M., Bro. R. Durnell, with a visit. At the banquet which followed, Bro. Hadley (the new host, an old P.M.) catered most royally. The visiting brethren expressed themselves much pleased with their reception, and the pleasures of the evening were much enhanced by the excellent singing of Bro. T. Mortlock, P.M., Bro. Wood, P.M., and Bros. Weldon and Gosden.

LIVERPOOL.—Dramatic Lodge (No. 1609).—The monthly meeting of this promising and excellently-worked lodge was held on Tuesday, the 26th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, where there was a numerous gathering of the brethren, and several distinguished visitors, amongst whom was Bro. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec. West Lancashire. Bro. Joseph Bell, W.M., occupied his place in the E., and amongst his chief and subordinate officers present were Bros. W. J. Chapman, S.W.; L. Courtenay, J.W.; J. Skeaf, P.G.O., Org.; A. Woolrich, Treas.; H. J. Loveday, Sec.; J. Atkinson, I.G.; and Bro. G. Hutchin, W.M. 241, previously elected a joining member, acted as P.M. Mr. J. H. Walton was initiated into the Order, and five brethren were passed to the Second Degree by the W.M., whose working, along with that of his admirable Wardens, elicited general commendation. The bye-laws for the lodge were submitted, and after the month of installation had been altered from June to September, to suit the convenience of another lodge, they were passed unanimously. The sum of three guineas was voted from the funds of the lodge for the relief of a brother from another lodge, who was in distress, and it was resolved that the "Dramatic" should be represented at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge by the W.M. and his two Wardens. After several propositions for joining and initiation had been made, the lodge was closed according to ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment in the Old Hall. During the evening capital songs and recitations were given by Bros. D. Saunders, L. Courtenay, W. J. Chapman, R. J. Cotton, R. Brough, W. Hildyard, &c., and the proceedings terminated soon after seven o'clock.

MOLD.—Sir Watkin Lodge (No. 1477).—This lodge held its first meeting for the winter session on Monday, the 18th ult., in the magnificent Masonic Hall, Mold, when upwards of sixty brethren were present, among them being Bro. J. Salmon, P.J.G.W. of the province, and Bro. Horatio Lloyd, P.G.S.D. Cheshire. Although, comparatively speaking, the Sir Watkin Lodge is yet in its infancy, it has already attained a popularity second to none in the Province of North Wales and Salop, within whose jurisdiction the lodge is held. It has already on its books over 100 subscribing members, including the R.W. P.G.M. of the province, Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., M.P., whose name the lodge, by special permission, bears, besides some six or seven honorary members. On Monday night Bros. Haverfield and Lloyd were raised to the Third Degree, the ceremony being effectively rendered by Bro. J. Salmon, who takes a deep interest in the success of the lodge.

INSTRUCTION.

DEPTFORD.—Wellington Lodge (No. 458).—Of late there has been a very marked increase in the attendance at this lodge of industry, held at the White Swan, High-street, Deptford, under the ministrations of Bro. Past Master Griffin, the popular Preceptor, whose assiduity to the onerous duties entailed by his important post has been instrumental in rendering many young Masons capable of working a ceremony within a few months of their initiation. As a Preceptor Bro. Griffin has a wide-spread popularity, perhaps not enjoyed by all those who hold similar offices, for there are sometimes circumstances that render the position of Preceptor a somewhat unenviable one, and his working and ruling now and again are criticised in a manner not always strictly Masonical, but Bro. Griffin has a happy method of pleasing all, and this we can plainly see has all to do with his popularity. On Monday evening last there was the now usual numerous attendance to hear Bro. Ernest Smith, 1559, work the initiation ceremony for the second time in this lodge, the W.M. having for his officers Bros. Bridgland, 933, S.W.; Church, J.W. 147, J.W.; H. Gloster, J.W. 1531, S.D.; Milburn, 13, J.D.; and Nevins, I.G.; Bro. Gibson impersonating the candidate. Among the brethren present we noticed Bros. West, P.M. 548; and Dr. Chittenden, W.M. 548. The first four sections were worked by Bros. Church, Marketis, and Shaw, and on the second rising of the W.M. it was resolved that certain new furniture be purchased, Bros. Chittenden and Gibson at the same time promising a portion of the same. The White Swan is becoming quite a temple of the Craft, and is to S.E.E. Masons what the Masonic Hall is to those further north. The lodge-room proper is second to none in the metropolis, and the room in which the instruction is given is sufficiently spacious to accommodate a hundred. We wish the Wellington Lodge of Instruction the success it deserves. We learn that the Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Star Lodge, Marquis of Granby, New Cross, on the 4th Saturday in October, Bro. Shaw, Preceptor, Pythagorean Lodge.

UNITED PILGRIMS' LODGE (No. 705).—A very full meeting of the members of this lodge was held on Friday evening, the 29th ult., at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road, for the purpose of being present at the rehearsal of the ceremony of installation by Bro. M. S. Larham, P.M. of the Surrey Masonic Hall Lodge, and W.M. of the Macdonald Lodge. This beautiful ceremony was ably rendered by Bro. Larham, and when the brethren below the chair were requested to retire it was found that there were eight Past Masters present, showing the interest that was felt by old members of the Craft to witness the proceedings. At the close of the business it was unanimously agreed to that a cordial vote of thanks should be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Larham for the very able manner in which he had performed the duties of Installing Master, to which he made a very brief and pithy reply. Sections of the First Degree were then worked, and the lodge was closed in due form, and with solemn prayer.

BELGRAVE LODGE (No. 749).—There is, perhaps, in Masonry nothing better calculated to test the sincerity, and gauge a brother's appreciation for the beautiful rituals and ancient traditions of our Craft, than an observance as to his attendance at Lodges of Instruction, which are so plentifully (yet none too plentifully) scattered over the face of our great metropolis as to eradicate what was once a common excuse on the part of the backward, "I have no Lodge of Instruction near me." Again, we live in an age when brethren of vast Masonic experience, letter perfect in the ceremonies, beyond reproach in the rendering of our Fifteen Sections of intellectuality, and masters of the ancient charges and traditional histories of the Craft of crafts, voluntarily afford instruction and tuition to those brethren who come in search of it. Such a one as this is our esteemed Bro. T. Pulsford, P.M. 1158, and Preceptor of the Belgrave and Southern Star Lodges of Instruction, whose name is a household word to a vast body of Freemasons in the south-eastern, as well as in the west-end districts. His efforts have long been, are, and, we trust, long may be, appreciated and recognised by all who know him, and that "it cannot be said that he has laboured in vain" was practically demonstrated on Friday evening 29th ult., when several of his pupils distinguished themselves in the working of the Fifteen Sections in the Belgrave Lodge. Such an occasion as the one under notice is to the hardworking and industrious Mason a "fête day," and is looked upon much in the same light as is the annual Speech Day by the Westminster scholars. The surest test of the popularity of the Preceptor in charge will be found in the number of visitors who troop to hear his "working," and do him honour on his own territory; and the large attendance at the opening of the lodge, subsequent and continuous arrival of new comers throughout the evening, amply testified to the general popularity and high esteem in which Bro. P.M. Pulsford is held, both as a Preceptor and in private life. Friday was the first occasion of the lodge having met at the Constitution, Bedford-street, Covent Garden, and we would here remark that the inauguration of the new lodge-room was marked by new furniture, ornaments, and jewels, as well as the aprons and collars being worn and used, a circumstance that speaks well for the flourishing condition of the lodge funds. Precisely at 7 p.m. Bro. Pulsford, P.M. 1158, assumed the chair of K.S.; and appointed as his officers Bros. Mander, P.M. 1021, S.W.; Tolmie, 861, J.W.; Wise, I.P.M. 1158, P.M.; Lowe, 1582, S.D.; Spink, 117, J.D.; Leaper, 1275, I.G.; Beavis, 1158, Sec. Lodge having been in due form and with solemn prayer opened for the business of the evening, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, the First Lecture was worked as follows:—

FIRST LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Wise, P.M. 1158.
2nd " " Spink, 177.
3rd " " Ernest Smith, 1559.
4th " " Hurdell, 1348.
5th " " Farwig, I.G. 180.
6th " " Tolmie, 861.
7th " " Cull, 1446.

Lodge having been opened in the Second Degree, the Lecture was worked as follows:—

SECOND LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Mott, J.D. 87.
2nd " " Stewart, I.G. 1158.
3rd " " Mander, P.M. 1201.
4th " " Beavis, 1158.
5th " " Bentley, P.M. 193.

The lodge having been opened in the Sublime Degree, the following brethren assisted the W.M. in working the

THIRD LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Saul, S.D. 1201
2nd " " Plenderleith, 177.
3rd " " Sadler.

Lodge was then resumed to the First Degree, and the W.M. rose for the first time, whereupon Bros. Taylor, 144; Woods, 145; Brown, 862; Kent 879; Bevan, 1158; Wray, 1257; and Boswell, 1339, having been duly proposed and seconded were elected joining members. Dues collected with exactitude. The W.M. having risen for the second and third times, Bro. P.M. Wise proposed and Bro. Mander, S.W., seconded, that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes for the very able manner in which the W.M. had worked the Fifteen Sections. It is needless to say that this was carried with acclamation, and the W.M. enthusiastically received when he rose and replied. He concluded by proposing a vote of thanks to the brethren who had assisted him in his work. This having been seconded it was put and carried, Bro. Mander returning thanks on behalf of himself and fellow workers. Bro. Beavis, Secretary, having read a letter from Bro. Batty, W.M. Belgrave Lodge, 749, sanctioning the removal of the lodge from the Lyceum Tavern to its present quarters, and all Masonic business being now at an end, the lodge was closed in due form, and with solemn prayer. We were pleased to see that no brother was called upon to work more than one section, which points to the proficiency of the brethren connected with this lodge, and we fully believe had it been necessary a second fifteen could have been selected from the remainder of the brethren to go through the same work. In addition to those brethren taking part in the proceedings, and enumerated above, we noticed Bros. Batty, W.M. 749; Watts, W.M. 1201; Ball, 144; Goddard, 168; Vine, 173; Jones and Jennings, 178; Belgrave, 179; Greenwall, 128; Pike, 299; Jeffery, 452; Block, Rositter, Holloway, 1158; Vine, 1260; Limebeer, 1275; Arnold, 1319; Mitchell, 1360; Burr and Morphew, 1446; and one or two more whose names we were unable to obtain owing to their early departure. We cannot conclude our notice without tendering our warm congratulations to Bro. P.M. Pulsford on the well-established success of his endeavours, and trust that upon many future occasions we may see the Belgrave Lodge of Instruction as well attended on its Fifteen Section night as it was on the present celebration.

WHITTINGTON LODGE (No. 862).—This Lodge of Instruction held its weekly meeting on Wednesday last, at the Black Bull, Holborn. Bro. Marston, W.M. Regan, S.W.; Horne, J.W.; Kohler, S.D.; Tate, J.D.; Higgins, I.G.; Bingemann, P.M. The lodge was opened in the three degrees. Bro. H. Higgins was raised to the degree of Master Mason. The lodge was resumed to the First Degree. Bro. Regan was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. On the proposition of Bro. Bingemann, seconded by Bro. Marston, Bro. William Long, P.M. 435, P.Z. 1056, was unanimously elected Preceptor. This Lodge of Instruction meets at the above place every Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

STAR LODGE (No. 1275).—At the weekly meeting of this flourishing Lodge of Instruction held on Saturday, the 31st ult., at the Marquis of Granby, New Cross, after Bro. Speight, jun., S.W. 147, had ably worked the ceremony of installation the following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year:—Bros. Govan Macdonald, W.M. 1158, Preceptor; C. J. Hogg, P.M. 1275 and P.G.S. Treas.; H. Keeble, P.M. 1275, Sec., 1559, &c. Church, J.W. 147, Assist. Sec.; Bros. H. Green, W.M. 1275, P.M. 1538 J.W. 1559; H. Jenkins, and Ernest Smith, 1559, Auditors. A report of the seventh anniversary banquet of this lodge, held on Thursday evening, must stand over until our next.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The members of this important lodge of instruction met at 111, Cheapside, on Thursday, the 28th ult., at 6.30 p.m. The lodge having been opened, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Seex, W.M. elect of The Great City Lodge, proceeded with the ceremony of installation, and inducted Bro. James Stevens, P.M. 1426, into the chair of K.S. It need hardly be stated that Bro. Seex performed his difficult task with great ability, and in a manner alike creditable to himself and to the distinguished lodge over which he is called upon to reign during the next twelve months. Bro. Stevens then invested his officers:—S. Browne, S.W.; A. Goodman, J.W.; W. Parker, S.D.; W. H. C. Wiltshire, J.D.; J. K. Pitt, I.G.; J. W. Colmer, Treas. In accordance with previous announcement, Bro. Stevens gave a complete explanation of the Tracing Board of the First Degree, to the great edification and delight of the brethren present. On the motion of Bro. Taylor, W.M. of the Doric, 933, a cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Seex. Bro. Seex, in response, said he felt he had been highly honoured in having been called upon to work the ceremony he had performed in such an important lodge as this. A vote of thanks to Bro. Stevens, proposed by Bro. Poore, Preceptor, and seconded by Bro. Colmer, Treas., was carried with acclamation. Bro. Stevens, in reply, said he considered it a duty to impart what knowledge he possessed, and in doing so it always afforded him the greatest pleasure. No greater compliment could be paid to him at any time by members of the Craft than by requesting his services. Bro. Taylor, W.M. 933, was elected a joining member. Among the brethren present were the following:—Bros. Constable, Blackie, Morgan, jun., Noehmer, McMurray, and others.

Scotland.

RENFREWSHIRE EAST PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE. A meeting of the Renfrewshire East Provincial Grand Lodge was held on Saturday, 23rd ult., in the hall of Lodge Paisley St. Mirren, No. 129, for the purpose of considering in what way the members of the lodge would assist in welcoming his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Glasgow on the occasion of his forthcoming visit to lay the foundation stone of the new Post Office there. Bro. Col. Campbell, M.P., of Blytheswood, P.G.M., presided, and was supported by Bro. James Caldwell, Craigielea, Substitute Master. Bro. James Gilmore, No. 129, officiate as Senior Warden, and Bro. J. Peters, No. 153, as Junior Warden. There was a large attendance. The P.G. Master stated that he had had an interview with the authorities in Glasgow, and had ascertained the arrangements so far as made for the Prince of Wales's visit. The Masonic brethren would assemble very likely at Burnbank, where they would be joined by Grand Lodge. A procession would be formed, and the brethren would proceed by way of the Lord Provost's house, when, after the Grand Lodge had passed, they would be followed by His Royal Highness and the Princess of Wales and Royal party. It would be impossible to accommodate the whole Masonic body at the place of ceremony in George Square, and as the general public would have largely to share in the proceeding, it had been decided that on the arrival of the brethren at the square they would open up on either side of the road and along the route, and remain there till after the ceremony, when the Royal party would return to the Lord Provost's house by the way they came. He suggested that a committee be appointed to communicate with the Grand Lodge, and also with the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, and thereafter on learning the definite arrangements send information to all the lodges in the province. This was agreed to, and the following appointed:—Bros. Col. Campbell, M.P., James Caldwell, James Gilmour, J. Peters, A. Macpherson, ex-Bailie Fisher, A. Wallace, and J. Carswell. Bro. H. S. Edmunds suggested that if the Masons were to line the sides of the streets it was but fair that the senior lodges should proceed first in the procession instead of as in the usual way, and thus they would be arranged, as they were entitled to be, nearest the place of ceremony. It was agreed to forward this suggestion to the Grand Lodge.

GLASGOW.—Caledonian Chapter of Unity (No. 27).—The annual convocation of this flourishing, highly recommended, and well-conducted chapter took place in their chapter-rooms, 213, Buchanan-street, on Monday evening, the 25th ult. The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved of. Comp. Wheeler, First Principal of the chapter, then read a letter received from Mr. Wm. Johnstone, purser on board the steam ship Nova Scotian, accompanied by a newspaper from Baltimore, announcing the sad death of Comp. William Strathern, a member of the chapter, in the following terms:—"Died among strangers.—Chief engineer Wm. Strathern, of the steam ship Nova Scotian, who was severely injured on Wednesday last, whilst the steamer was making a landing at Locust Point, died at the Maryland University Hospital on Sunday afternoon from the effects of his injuries. The body was taken in charge [by Messrs. Hughes and Co., undertakers, by direction of the agents of the company, Messrs. Schumacher and Co. The officers and seamen of the vessel, to the number of nearly one hundred, and the members of Warren Lodge, No. 51, of A.F. and A.M. Worshipful Master Aldershaw, assembled at the Masonic Temple, and paid the last sad rites to the memory of the deceased. The body was encased in a handsome rose-wood casket, heavily ornamented with silver, and profusely covered with flowers, the gift of the officers of the ship. The services at the grave were impressive, and conducted by the Rev. Mr. Gardner, of the Castren Avenue M.C. Church. The procession formed [and proceeded to Baltimore Cemetery, where the final interment took place, with Masonic honours. Mr. Strathern was a native of Glasgow, aged 37 years, and has been married only 6 months. He was held in high estimation by the officers of the Nova Scotian, and was one of the most faithful and efficient officers in the service of the company. The mournful occurrence has cast a gloom over the officers and men of the vessel and his numerous friends in Baltimore, and much sympathy is expressed for his young wife, who is yet in ignorance of her husband's sad death in a foreign land."—Baltimore "American and Commercial Advertiser," Aug. 16th, 1876.—Comp. Jas. Balfour (who had known Comp. Strathern personally) and others gave expression to their feelings, and spoke in high praise of the honesty and integrity of the deceased companion. Comp. Wheeler then read a letter which he had prepared for the Worshipful Master, officers, and members of the Warren Lodge, No. 51, Baltimore, thanking them for their kindness shown in performing the last sad rites to the memory of their deceased friend and companion, Wm. Strathern. Thereafter a brother, who had received the Mark Degree at last meeting, received the degrees of Most Excellent Master and Holy Royal Arch respectively. The election and installation of office-bearers were then proceeded with, when they were duly installed into their respective offices by Comp. James Guthrie, Z. of Chapter No. 67, in a very able and efficient manner, viz.: Comps. George Wm. Wheeler, P.Z.; George McDonald, P.P.Z.; John Kinnaird, P.H.; Walter Gunn, P.J.; James Balfour, Scribe E.; Thos. Yule, N.; John Bannerman, Treas.; William Hay, 1st Soj.; Frederick Jenkinson, 2nd Soj.; David Broadfoot, 3rd Soj.; Angus Nicholson, Capt. of the Vails; Wm. Jamieson, Janitor: and at the same time and place the office-bearers of Glasgow Chapter No. 50, were installed by the same companion. A Board of Installed Principals was afterwards formed, when the Principals belonging to the above chapters were installed and placed into their respective chairs, and saluted by the companions present. Thereafter the companions of both chapters adjourned to the banqueting room, Comp. Wheeler in the chair, when toast, song, and sentiment prevailed, and the last toast of the evening brought this happy and harmonious meeting to a close.

At the quarterly court of the Scottish Corporation held at the hall in Crane-court, Sir John Heron Maxwell, Bart., presiding, it was announced that Bro. the Marquis of Hartington, R.W.P.G.M. Derbyshire, would occupy the chair on the occasion of the 21st anniversary festival, which will take place on St. Andrew's Day, November 30.

THE CANT OF MASONRY.

The following appeared in the "Hampshire Post" of the 22nd ult.:

A new Masonic lodge has been dedicated at Havant during the present week. The fact itself would scarcely be worth recording were it not for the other fact, that the lawyers, tailors, butchers, and tradesmen of all sorts, who usurp the name of "Masons," and who are vain enough to think that they inherit in some mysterious way the honour and glory of having erected Westminster Abbey, Solomon's Temple, the Pyramids of Egypt, and the Tower of Babel, appear to think that they have really achieved something extraordinary. Havant is not a large place, and we suspect that the new lodge, about which so much fuss has been made, would not strike one by its size. It contains, as we are given to understand, a lodge-room, a retiring-room for the use of the W.M., a committee-room, a Tyler's room, and the usual offices, by which is probably implied a supper-room, a kitchen, and a wine cellar. Though limited in extent, we trust the construction of the new lodge does fuller justice to the architectural genius of the Craft than some lodges nearer home. Above all things, we hope that it is water-tight; for notwithstanding their adoration of the ancient Craftsmen, the Havant Masons fought shy when the foundation stone was laid, because of the wetness of the day, and even the Provincial Grand Master himself was obliged to confess that laying a foundation stone in a pouring rain was by no means an agreeable occupation. Many of the edifices of former times, Mr. Beach remarked, were erected on the principles of wisdom, strength, and beauty, and it was not possible to emulate them in the present day. This is scarcely flattering to the skill of modern Masons; but if Mr. Beach's notions of architecture are derived from the style and character of the buildings in which the Order are accustomed to assemble, he is to be pardoned. On the principle that those who drive fat oxen should themselves be fat, it might naturally be supposed that the descendants of the old builders would have been enthusiastic patrons of art, and that they would have held their periodical symposia in lodges of perfect design and workmanship. With all their pseudo reverence for the ancient Craftsmen, however, we know that their lodges have no architectural pretensions whatever;—that while some few of them combine composite columns of a nameless order with stucco walls, the vast majority hide themselves away down blind alleys and narrow "culs de sac." If, then, the fraternity refuse to follow their exemplars in a matter of placing one stone above another what ground is there for thinking that they will copy them in the supposed divine consecration of their lives? The idea that architecture reached its culmination in the days of cathedral building is an assumption merely, and one which can only have the effect of making the self-styled "Masons" entertain false and humiliating notions of the capabilities of modern art. The great difficulty now is to raise money, not alone for the service of God, but for any transcendent purpose whatsoever. Were the Freemasons to raise the funds, we doubt not there are many men among us capable of erecting a cathedral. It is not the want of skill which leads the Methodist to rest content with his barn-like chapel, or which prompts the Nonconformist to build places of worship without curve or embellishment of any kind. When the old cathedrals were built, land and labour were cheap, and they were raised by a Church which represented the undivided religious aspirations of the country.

Despairing of being able to emulate the noble edifices of former days, Mr. Beach advised the brethren to emulate the virtues of their ancestors, and to endeavour to carry out those principles which actuated them to execute the noble works which they achieved. The advice would be admirable if we were only convinced that the principles referred to were excellent. The virtues of our ancestors is a very wide term; and if the truth were known we should find that the motives of the old stonemasons did not greatly differ from those of other men. Our ancestors were for the most part unmitigated ruffians. The artificer who assisted one day in creating the long-drawn aisle and fretted vault was probably engaged the next in shaping a dungeon. The noble baron who enriched an abbey, or gave away his land to the Church, did so in many cases as a sort of expiation for an offence for which he richly deserved hanging. If Mr. Beach means that the men who built our cathedrals and minsters did so as a practical act of worship, and that by such works they are to be judged, we think him mistaken; at the same time, any truth which his remarks contain must equally apply to the painter, or the singer, or the composer. And they must apply with still greater force to the monks. Indeed, it is utterly impossible to justify this exclusive admiration of the old Masons. In the language of Josh Billings, "The more we think on it, the more we can't tell. As near as we can recollect now, we think we don't know. Much mite be ced both ways, and neether wa be rite." There can be little doubt that the first members of the fraternity were really Masons, and we should not be surprised to learn that the Order was originally a Trade Union, the purpose of which was to reduce the hours of labour and to practice benevolence in the way of demanding higher wages. Surely if exemplars were wanted it is not necessary to go farther than Christ and His disciples and apostles.

This brings us to the consideration: Are Christianity and Masonry consonant in principle? Mr. Henry Ford, who occupied a conspicuous position at the dedication of the Havant Lodge, says they are. If this be true, then, surely Masonry is superfluous. If they are not so, then Masonry must be mischievous. Mr. Henry Ford is a great master of rhodomontade, and in his defence of Masonry he appears to have surpassed himself. He expounded Scripture, lamented the depravity of modern Masons, put himself forward as the apostle of sobriety, and performed a number of other astonishing transformations. Some of his observations are particularly suggestive. "They undertook," he remarked, "the solemn obligations when they entered the walls of a Freemasons' lodge, not to forget that they had obligations to live sober, steady lives, and to present themselves an example to their fellow creatures and their fellow Masons." We are afraid Freemasons have often treacherous memories. Possibly, however, Mr. Ford wished it to be implied that it was only within their lodges that the obligation held good. Certainly, it is not easy to distinguish by the superior morality of the lives of Masons the efficacy of the "Divine principles." In fact, in this sense, as in other senses, the pretensions of Masonry are all moonshine. The Order, however, has its political as well as its religious and moral aspect; and here, again, we find the deliverances of Mr. Ford by no means satisfactory. Mr. Ford is, as many may know, a Conservative, and just in the same way that he finds the principles of Masonry founded upon the Sacred Volume (which is open at all lodge meetings), he appears to find the principles of Conservatism embodied in Masonry. Ergo, there is a direct connection between Conservatism and Christ. This is the case, we must observe, in England. In less privileged countries it is possible that Masonry may be found on the side of Revolution. Hence it is probable, that had Mr. Ford been a Spaniard or a subject of the Pope, he would have blossomed into a full-flavoured demagogue by virtue of the true Masonic principle which he holds. Masonry, he observed, "taught loyalty to the throne, it taught them to obey the institutions of the country in which they lived, to reverence the laws, and to respect the obligations imposed upon them." But as it is sometimes a virtue in a citizen to resist and depose a Prince, and to defy, instead of reverence, the laws of his country, Mr. Ford was careful to state that his optimism was qualified by the circumstance that they were living under free institutions and in a free country. In other countries, in which to preach Conservatism would be tantamount to asking the road to be content with his position under the harrow, the Freemasons, it appears, are subjected to great persecutions, and Mr. Ford does not wonder at it. Thus it happens that the political principles of Masonry are different in different countries. In Turkey, for instance, a P.P.G.S.W. might be justified in tracing the "Divine principles" to the Koran, and impressing upon the assembled brethren the solemn duty of abstaining from wine, resisting the brutal ferocity of the institutions under which they lived, and of encompassing by all possible means the deposition of another Sultan.

The Havant Lodge, it will be observed, was dedicated to "Masonry, Virtue, and Universal Benevolence." Masonry, in fact, was placed before both virtue and benevolence, and it is notorious that many Masons attach more importance to their Masonry than to all the virtues in the world. Of all the shams of the Order the assumption of Universal Benevolence is the greatest and most preposterous. What the mysteries of the fraternity consist in we know not, but we imagine that the brethren must never hear the words without putting their tongues in their cheeks. To talk of mysteries, and signs, and tokens in connection with a principle of such transcendent importance to humanity seems to us little short of criminal! Were a body of men to possess a panacea for the evils of society, so far from keeping the secret close tyed and known only to the initiated, they would preach it from the house-tops. This duty would be, in fact, so imperative and morally binding upon them, and the reason why the Masons do not reveal their secret is no doubt that they have none to reveal. And this surmise is farther strengthened by the fact, which is in itself not insignificant, that the tenour of their lives—as compared with those of men who have only the principles of Christianity to guide them—affords no proof that the practice of their great moral prescription produces any visible result. On public grounds, indeed, it is not hard to believe that the operations of Masonry as a secret society are actually pernicious. Even its vaunted virtues give a colourable support to the conviction. It is related that when the passage of the Alle was forced by Plottoff at the head of his Cossacks, the French officer owed his life to the fortunate incident of his giving the Russian Commander the Freemason's sign just as his lance was about to pierce his breast. The circumstance is recorded by Sir Robert Wilson, but was disputed by the "Edinburgh Review," whereupon Sir Archibald Alison remarked that a similar act saved the life of his father-in-law, Lieutenant Colonel Tyler, during the American War. In both these cases, we apprehend, everything turns upon the point whether the deaths of the officers were necessary, and the clemency exercised will appear virtuous or vicious in accordance as we answer the question. If their deaths were not necessary, killing them would have been murder; if necessary, the duty of a soldier was clear. In either case favouritism was culpable; and were it extensively followed a State would be driven to the alternative of making the practice of Masonry a treasonable offence in time of war. The duty of a soldier to his country is not unlike that of a constable to the community, and the one who protects a dangerous enemy because of his Craft, is just as culpable as the other who allows a thief to escape for the same reason. It is this favouritism which makes modern Masonry the power which it is. To a professional man his Craft is sometimes worth more than his skill in the way of custom. To a candidate for an office, for a contract, or for anything else which a public body can give, it means influence and votes. And as we are far from thinking that all virtue, skill, ability, and conscience are associated with the mystic tie, it is possible that the practice of Masonry may sometimes shut out virtue, skill, ability, and conscience from all public employment and offices of trust, whereby the community at large undoubtedly suffers.

The manager of the "Graphic" has received a telegram stating that two medals have been awarded to that paper, for its exhibit at the Philadelphia Exhibition,

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF SOMERSET.

On Friday week a large and influential meeting of Freemasons took place in Bridgwater, which was this year selected for the holding of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Somerset, under the banner of the Lodge of Perpetual Friendship (No. 135), the head quarters of which are established at the Royal Clarence Hotel. The Town Hall was handsomely and elaborately fitted up as a lodge-room, chiefly under the direction of the W.M. (Brother J. C. Hunt) and I.P.M. (Bro. G. Ricks), of the above-named lodge. The services of Messrs. Davis and Son, Fore-street, Mr. Willis, St. Mary-street, who erected a fountain in the centre of the hall, and Mr. S. Dyer, nurseryman, who lent a large number of shrubs, ferns, &c., and other tradesmen, were called into requisition, and their contributions and workmanship, combined with the use of the Masonic shields belonging to the Bridgwater Lodge, and the banners of the respective lodges in the province, served to make the decorations very pretty and effective. At the rear of the platform were a splendid portrait of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the M.W. Grand Master of England, and beautiful views of the Royal Masonic Institutions for Boys and Girls. In anticipation of the visit of the M.W. the Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, Pro Grand Master of England (Provincial Grand Master), there was a large muster, and most of the distinguished brethren in the province, including the present as well as the past P.G. Officers, were present. To the great disappointment of the brethren, however, his lordship did not attend the meeting, Lord Donoughmore, the Senior Grand Warden of England, being the bearer of a letter expressive of the deep regret experienced by his lordship at his inability to be present, a pressure of his official engagements preventing it. The lodge was opened at half past one o'clock under the able presidency of Brother R. C. Else, the V.W.D.P.G.M., who was supported on his right by Lord Donoughmore, the S.G.W. of England, and Bro. S. Geo. Homfray, the D.P.G.M. of Monmouthshire. The whole of the seats in the body of the hall, as well as on the temporary platform which had been constructed, were occupied, the brethren of the various lodges being ranged under their respective banners.

The present officers of the P.G. Lodge in attendance were Bros. S. W. Preston (Bath), P.G.S.W.; A. Perkins (Wells), P.G.J.W.; Robert C. Bailey, P.G. Chaplain; E. Turner Payne (Bath), P.G. Treasurer; W. Cox, P.G. Registrar; F. R. Prideaux (Bridgwater), P.M. 291, P.G. Secretary; W. H. May, P.M. 135 (Bridgwater), P.G.S.D.; J. A. Bright, P.G.S. Works; R. Baker, P.G. Dir. Cer.; P. S. Saunders, P. Assist. G.D.C.; W. Long, P.G.S.B.; Albert Down, P.G.O.; W. Channing (Taunton), P.G. Pursuivant; W. Woodward (Burnham), P. G. Tyler; A. J. Salter, P. Assist. G. Tyler; George Ricks and R. Treiving (Bridgwater); H. J. Tayler, and A. W. Butley, P.G. Stwds.

The other brethren present included representatives of the following lodges:—Royal Cumberland, Bath, No. 41; Royal Sussex, Bath, No. 53; Perpetual Friendship, Bridgwater, No. 135; Unanimity and Sincerity, Taunton, No. 261; Love and Honour, Shepton Mallet, No. 285; Rural Philanthropic, Highbridge, No. 291; Brotherly Love, Yeovil, No. 329; Lodge of Honour, Bath, No. 379; Lodge of Science, Wincanton, No. 437; Benevolent Lodge, Wells, No. 446; Pilgrims, Glastonbury, No. 772; Parret and Axe, Crewkerne, No. 814; Royal Albert Edward, Weston, No. 906; Royal Somerset, Frome, No. 973; Royal Clarence, Bruton, No. 976; Nyanza, Ilminster, No. 1107; Lodge of Agriculture, Congresbury, No. 1199; St. Kew, Weston-Super-Mare, No. 1222; Vale of Bridlington, No. 1296.

Amongst the brethren present, who attended as visitors, not belonging to any lodge in the province, were Bros. Rev. George Knowling, P.M. 189, P.G. Chaplain (Devon); George T. Pain, P.J.G.D. No. 410; J. McGowan, Nova Scotia; Alexander Bailly, jun., No. 444; Percy P. Hunt, 493; and A. Pratt, P.M. No. 22.

A choral party, under the conductorship of Brother C. Lucette (choir master of St. Mary's, Bridgwater), took up a position upon the platform, behind the seat of the P.G.S.W., and was composed of the following brethren:—Bros Drayton (vicar's choral at Wells Cathedral), Dr. Winterbotham, H. W. Batten, J. Parker, J. Treiving, W. L. Leng and G. Bond (Bridgwater), J. Hutson (East Brent), and Jas. Turlie, Taunton. Brother W. Bayley Marshall, of Bridgwater, Organist of "the Rural Philanthropic," No. 291, presided at his own harmonium with great ability, and the anthems, &c., (in which Brother Drayton took part of bass solo), were effectively rendered.

Brother Else, the V.W.D.P.G.M., in opening the lodge, expressed the regret he was sure they all experienced that the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Provincial Grand Master of Somerset, had been prevented from attending, and read the letter just received from his lordship, who stated that it was with the greatest regret he was unable to be present, and that public business of an important nature detained him in London, but that he indulged the hope that he might have an opportunity, later in the year, of visiting his brethren in the province.

Lord Donoughmore, having been introduced by the D.P.G.M., explained that he had been requested by the Earl of Carnarvon to attend for the purpose of further expressing the sincere regret felt by his lordship in being unexpectedly, at the last moment, detained in town; and remarked that he could readily understand the disappointment they all felt in consequence.

The lodge having been duly opened,

Brother F. R. Prideaux, P.G. Secretary, called over the roll of the lodges in the province, nineteen in number, and found they were all represented.

The Prov. G. Secretary next read the minutes of the Prov. G. Lodge held at Wells, on the 6th September, last year, and they were confirmed and signed.

Brother E. T. Payne (P. G. Treasurer) next read a statement of accounts for the past year, showing a balance in hand amounting to £170 15 10d.

The correctness of these accounts having been certified by Bro. Perkins, P.G.J.W., who, with other brethren, had audited them, they were received and adopted on the proposition of Brother Inskip, seconded by Brother Wm. Cox.

Bro. Bartrum (Bath) suggested that the P.G. Lodge should pay the expenses of its meetings, instead of these being thrown upon the lodge established in the town they met in. The matter was briefly discussed, and attention drawn to the fact that it could not be entertained, inasmuch as no notice had been given of it on the agenda paper. Bro. Stothert (Bath) said his experience was that all lodges esteemed it a high honour that the P.G. Lodge should be held under their banner. (Hear hear.) The subject then dropped.

On the motion of Bro. Perkins, P.G.J.W., seconded by Bro. Meyler (Taunton), it was resolved that such a sum as might be necessary to increase the funded property of the province to the sum of £450 should be devoted out of the balance in the Treasurer's hands.

On the motion of Bro. Perkins, seconded by Bro. Payne, it was also resolved that the sum of ten guineas be entrusted to the hands of such brethren as would serve the province in the office of Stewards in the three Masonic charities during the ensuing year, as a donation from the Provincial Grand Lodge.

The D.P.G.M. having declared all offices vacant, Bro. Inskip proposed, and Bro. Dr. Woodforde seconded, the re-election of Bro. E. T. Payne as Prov. G. Treasurer. They both expressed the indebtedness of the lodge to Bro. Payne for the valuable services he had rendered in that capacity for so many years, and the D.P.G.M. in submitting the resolution, said it would be perfectly impossible to elect any brother more competent to discharge the arduous and responsible duties than their highly-esteemed Bro. Payne, whose re-election was agreed to with acclamation.

Bro. Payne, in acknowledging the compliment, said he had been elected unanimously to the office for seventeen years. They had now 867 Masons under the banners of the nineteen lodges in the Province of Somerset, and of these seventy-two were initiated and forty-four had joined from other lodges during the past year. He entertained no doubt, in fact he confidently believed, that not only an increase of numbers but quality had been looked after, and that the greatest possible care had been exercised in all the lodges with regard to the selection of good and upright men for initiation. Such an accession would add strength to the Order, and their Treasurer knew it also added to the funds. He thought, therefore, he was justified in congratulating those assembled in the Prov. Grand Lodge upon the extremely satisfactory position of affairs generally.

The D. Prov. G.M. then said it became his pleasant duty to invest those officers who had already been appointed for the ensuing year, and whose names had been submitted to and approved of by the M.W. Prov. G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon.

The list of newly-appointed officers, who were invested, is as follows:—

Dr. Samuel Bryant, P.M. 1096	Prov. G.S.W.
George Ricks, P.M. 135	Prov. G.J.W.
Rev. T. L. Challen, 973	Prov. G. Chap.
Rev. Francis Reed, 261	Prov. G. Chap.
E. T. Payne, P.M. 53	Prov. G. Treas.
H. A. Simmons, P.M. 53	Prov. G. Reg.
F. R. Prideaux, P.M. 291	Prov. G. Sec.
Edward Bath, P.M. 772	Prov. G.S.D.
C. L. F. Edwards, P.M. 1199	Prov. G.J.D.
W. M. Forty, P.M. 291	Prov. G.S. of W.
W. Clarke, P.M. 285	Prov. G.D. of C.
S. Jones, P.M. 1222	Prov. G. Asst. D.C.
George H. Cook, W.M. 379	Prov. G.S.B.
Thomas J. Leaman, P.M. 1197	Prov. G. Org.
John Milborne, P.M. 329	Prov. G. Purst.
John Fry, P.M. 437	Prov. G. Ast. Purst.
A. Villar, W.M. 261, John T. Dunsford, Sec. 291, F. Wilkinson, S.W. 41, J. C. Hunt, W.M. 135, W. Hickman, J.W. 135, John Hughes, 814	Prov. G. Stewards.
W. Woodward, 291	Prov. G. Tyler.
A. J. Carter	Prov. G. Ast. Tyler.

The Prov. Grand Secretary next read the report of the Charity Organisation Committee of Somerset for the past year, the same being approved of and adopted on the motion of Bro. Reeves (Weston-super-Mare), seconded by Bro. Rev. W. W. Martin.

Bro. Payne moved, "That the thanks of the Prov. G. Lodge are eminently due, and are hereby accorded, to our esteemed V.W.D.P.G.M. (Bro. Else), for the care, kindness, and attention he has bestowed in carrying out the work of the Charity Organisation Committee."

Bro. Ashley seconded the proposition, which was submitted to the meeting by Lord Donoughmore and agreed to by acclamation.

Bro. Else, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, expressed the pleasure it afforded him to assist in carrying out the work in question, which he thought to be the very essence of Masonry. He then proposed a vote of thanks to the eminent Masons who had that day attended the lodge. They were especially indebted to Lord Donoughmore, who had come there by the special invitation of Lord Carnarvon to represent the reasons which had prevented his lordship from honouring them with his presence, and also to Bro. Homfray, the D.P.G.M. of Monmouthshire, who had also come from a distance, and he moved that the thanks of the Prov. Lodge be presented to them, and that the vote be entered on the minutes of that day's proceedings.

Bro. Inskip seconded the motion, which was agreed to.

Bro. Lord Donoughmore, in acknowledging the compliment, said that as it had been the means of bringing him amongst them he was, perhaps, the one who should feel the least regret at the absence of the Earl of Carnarvon. He should not fail to convey to his lordship the deep regret which he knew was experienced by them all, and which he was certain was fully shared by his lordship, at his unavoidable absence, caused entirely by the pressure of his official work. He (Lord Donoughmore) should not forget to mention the extreme kindness and cordiality with which he had been received, and for which he returned them his very sincere thanks. It afforded him great pleasure to come there, for two reasons—in the first place, because it had given him the opportunity, he hoped, of rendering some slight service to the noble brother who presided over that province; and secondly, because it had afforded him the opportunity of attending the Provincial Grand Lodge of Somerset, and meeting there so large a muster of his brethren. It was very gratifying to him to think that his name was to be recorded on the minutes of such a lodge.

Bro. Homfray, D.P.G.M. of Monmouthshire, also returned thanks for the kindness with which he had been received on that, as on previous occasions, in the Provincial Grand Lodge of Somerset. If any of the brethren of the province would care to visit the one which he represented they might, he said, rely upon it that the right hand of fellowship would be held out to them.

Bro. E. T. Payne, Prov. G. Treasurer, proposed that the sum of ten guineas be given from the alms fund to the trustees of the Bridgwater Infirmary.

Bro. Prideaux, Prov. G. Secretary, seconded the proposition, which he said had been suggested by him as being connected with the infirmary, and it was unanimously agreed to.

The lodge was then closed.

The banquet, which immediately afterwards took place in the Royal Clarence Hotel Assembly Room, was attended by about one hundred brethren, including nearly the whole of the Past and Present P.G. Officers. The V.W.D. Prov. G.M., Bro. R. C. Else, occupied the chair, being supported by Lord Donoughmore and Bro. Homfray, the D. Prov. G.M. of Monmouthshire; the Vice-Presidents being the P.G.S.W., Bro. Dr. Bryant, and the P.G.J.W., Bro. Ricks.

The D. Prov. G.M. having proposed the first toast, "The Queen and the Craft," which was loyally responded to,

Bro. Lord Donoughmore proposed "The M.W. Grand Master, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales." His lordship remarked that when they remembered the exalted station of H.R.H., his excellent social qualities, and the manner in which he had endeared himself to all with whom he came into contact, they ought to feel thankful that he had accepted the proud position he now held in Masonry. No allusion appeared as yet to have been made in this province to the very successful foreign tour which H.R.H. recently completed, but he was perfectly certain that the feeling of Somersetshire men was the same as in other parts of the nation, namely, one of great satisfaction at the success which attended his visit to India, and of gratitude for his safe return to this country. (Applause.)

The D. Prov. G.M. next proposed "The M.W. Pro Grand Master of England; the M.W.D.C.M. Lord Skelmersdale, and the Officers of the Grand Lodge, Past and Present." He remarked upon the importance of having at the head of such a lodge a staff of officers who were thoroughly efficient, and said he was perfectly satisfied that in their Pro or acting Grand Master (the Earl of Carnarvon) they had the very best officer that could be selected throughout the length and breadth of the land, for in him they had an eminent statesman, a distinguished nobleman, and a faithful and true Mason. In the Deputy Grand Master they had also the right man in the right place. With regard to the officers of the Grand Lodge, their visits to this province were like those of the angels, being few and far between; but what, on this occasion, they lacked in quantity they had in quality. Reserving for a special toast the name of Lord Donoughmore, he should couple with this one the names of their estimable P.G. Treasurer, Bro. Payne, and his excellent friend from Newport, Bro. Homfray, the D. Prov. G.M. of Monmouthshire.

Bro. Payne, in responding, alluded to the attention that was being given by the Grand Lodge to the manner in which they should commemorate the prosperous journey of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to India, which had, he believed, cemented more firmly the bonds of union between her people and those of England. Some difficulty had been experienced in dealing with this question, not that there was the least hesitation as to the money which should be expended, but simply as to the mode in which it should be expended, some being in favour of a great national edifice being erected, and others thinking that it should take the form of education. The matter was still sub-judice, and he had no doubt it would be well considered, and that in due time a report would be brought up in which there would be pointed out a very proper and appropriate method of indicating their feeling of thankfulness, and showing to future generations the manner in which they regarded their present Grand Master. (Applause.)

Bro. Homfray having also acknowledged the last toast,

The D. Prov. G.M. said in consequence of the unfortunately enforced absence of the Provincial Grand Master, they were favoured with the company of Lord Donoughmore. (Applause.) He (the speaker) was perfectly satisfied that he was uttering the sentiments of all the brethren present when he said they felt very thankful indeed to his lordship for having travelled so many miles to come there and to tell them personally how much Lord Carnarvon regretted his inability to attend, and that they considered it an additional honour when they remembered that Lord Donoughmore at the present moment occupied the position of Senior Warden of England. Addressing his lordship, Bro. Else remarked that Somersetshire men had strong hands and warm hearts, and that though they might have a rather funny way of expressing themselves, they gladly welcomed him amongst them, and sincerely hoped that this would not be the last occasion on which he would favour their Provincial Grand Lodge with his presence. In conclusion Bro. Else proposed "The Health of Lord Donoughmore," which was responded to with enthusiasm.

Lord Donoughmore, in responding, said he knew, in coming to Bridgwater, that the mission he had to fulfil was a disagreeable one, but he trusted to their kindness and forbearance. He was bound to say, however, that he never expected anything like so kind and cordial a reception as had been given to him. He could not agree with his friend the D.P.G.M., that the manner of expressing themselves was at all odd, but it certainly was very warm, very kind, and very much more than he deserved. As to the kind invitation to come there again they might rest assured if it was ever in his power to avail himself of it he would gladly do so. They would all understand how much, in these critical times, the attention of their Provincial Grand Master (the Earl of Carnarvon) was occupied. Not only were the Turks disagreeable (laughter), but the Fijians, the Kaffirs, and other foreigners were disquieted, and he was sure that Lord Carnarvon must sometimes, and especially on such occasions as the present, wish them all at the bottom of the sea. He hoped that the next time he (Lord Donoughmore) came amongst them, if again privileged to do so, it might be with Lord Carnarvon, whose humble representative he then was.

The D. Prov. G.M. next proposed, in eulogistic terms, "The Health of the R.W. the Provincial Grand Master of Somerset, the Earl of Carnarvon," whose unfortunate but unavoidable absence they all so much regretted.

The toast was very cordially responded to, and acknowledged by Lord Donoughmore, who spoke of the very efficient substitute for Lord Carnarvon which Brother Else, the D. Prov. G.M., had proved himself to be. As a stranger, it was with some diffidence that he took upon himself to propose the health of their D. Prov. G.M., though he must add that he did so with a great deal of pleasure. He was the more encouraged to do so by the kindly reference to him in the toast-list (referring to the quotation from Henry IV., "A braver place in our heart's love hath no man"), by the cordiality with which the mention of Bro. Else's name had been received that evening, and also because he knew how greatly his services were appreciated and valued by the Masons of Somersetshire generally.

The toast was very warmly received.

Bro. Else, D. Prov. G.M., who was applauded on rising to respond, said as time was rolling away so very rapidly, and many of the distinguished brethren had to leave by an early train, he would not inflict a lengthy speech upon them, more especially as he was sure they must be almost tired of hearing his voice. (Cries of "No" and "Never.") He would, therefore, only briefly, but most heartily and most cordially thank, first of all, the Senior Warden of England (Lord Donoughmore) for the more than flattering and too kind manner in which his lordship had been pleased to propose his health; and next, he would thank them all for the very enthusiastic manner they had been good enough to respond to it. Before sitting down he desired to thank every brother with whom he had come into contact since he had had the honour of holding that collar for their uniform kindness. He hoped that for many years to come he might have the honour, and the privilege, at these Provincial Grand Lodge meetings, of sitting at the right of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon.

The remaining toasts on the list included "The Provincial Grand Officers," "The Visitors," "The W.M., Officers, and Brethren of the Receiving Lodge," responded to by Brother J. C. Hunt, W.M. No. 135; "The other Lodges of the Province," and "The Host and Hostess," the D.P.G.M. paying a well-deserved compliment to Brother Leaker, who suitably responded.

NEW MASONIC HALL AT REDRUTH.

The "Architect" recently contained an illustration of the new Masonic Hall at Redruth, with the following description:—"Of late years there has been a strongly-expressed desire on the part of the Freemasons in the Province of Cornwall to possess lodge-rooms entirely unconnected with hotels; and the movement under the leadership of the Provincial Grand Master, the Earl of Mount Edgumbe, has been so far successful that nineteen out of the twenty-six lodges in the province now possess suitable premises of their own. 'The Druids' Lodge, Redruth, contains, with one exception, the largest number of members of any lodge in Cornwall, and their new building is also amongst the largest and most important Masonic buildings in the country. It contains on the ground floor banquet hall, 35 feet by 25 feet, retiring room, residence for the Tyler, &c. On the first floor are the large room, 45 by 25 feet, and 21 feet high in the centre; robing-room, candidates' room, &c. The lodge room has a circular ceiling of plaster prepared for decorations, and is divided into panels by moulded ribs. The building will be heated by hot water. The front is constructed of local Evan stone of warm grey colour, and Box-ground Bath stone dressings. The dressings were prepared at Box from the architect's details, and delivered at Redruth without the slightest mishap. The carving was done by Mr. Harris Hems. The figure over entrance is supposed to represent a Druid. The contractors are Messrs Gray and Tamblin, of Redruth. The total cost of the building, including gas fittings, hot water pipes, &c., is about £1200. Mr. James Hicks, of Redruth, is the architect, from whose drawing, exhibited this year at the Royal Academy, our illustration is taken."

RE-OPENING OF THE ABERDEEN MASONIC HALL.

The decorations, which were entered into under competitive designs, are of a very superior kind. They are being done with a view to being specially effective under gaslight, and care has been taken to give them as much of a symbolical character as is consistent with artistic unity of effect. The principal hall, which is 50 feet in length, 32 in breadth, and 24 in height, claims the first notice. It is on the first floor, and is lighted by three windows at one end, which look into Imperial Place. These, which were put in when the buildings were erected, are filled with stained glass, with appropriate emblematic devices. In the decorations just finished, the feature of the hall has been duly respected, both in regard of tone and details. The ceiling is divided into three circular panels, and in the largest of which—the centre one—are painted the signs of the Zodiac, and in the smaller two, figures representing the seasons—all upon a blue ground. These of the ceiling are formed by means of a red band of a simple yet effective character; and the spaces between the three circles are filled in with a diaper pattern on a soft green ground, the whole being enclosed by a border of a zig zag pattern on a dark green ground, heightened with gold. Round this border runs a coloured frieze, which is broken up by six medallions containing representations of Masonic insignia. Within the moulding separating the cove from the ceiling, runs a blue and orange golphish ornament, cove itself forming a soft band of olive green, ornamented with conventionalised Scotch thistle. The general tone of the cornice is a buff colour, some of the members being relieved by gilding, and red and blue lines. The walls are divided about equally into two parts—the upper part consists of a series of arches of the early Gothic order, filled in with a device of conventionalised flowers, the spandrels being decorated with red shields on a blue ground, emblazoned with the compasses, square, &c., in gold. The frieze, which forms a prominent feature of the wall decoration, is executed in various rich colours, and within it, corresponding with the position of the arches, are a series of quatrefoil medallions containing the Masonic jewels, in rich colours on a gold ground. The frieze runs in line with the foot of an orchestra balcony at the end of the hall. The lower part of the wall or surbase, above the dado, is painted to represent drapery in olive green, which hangs in folds from the medallions on the frieze. This part of the decorations is highly artistic in its conception and execution. The folds of the drapery are suggested by simple lines, which produce a much more artistic effect than a more realistic or imitative treatment. The dado consists of wood, panelled and painted in imitation of antique oak. The decorations speaking generally, are a combination of Roman and early Gothic.

The same taste and skill have been brought to bear in the decoration of the ante-rooms. The wardrobes are remarkable for a novel treatment of the panels. These are painted pale blue with ornamental device in a darker shade of the same colour, while the stiles are painted a rich chocolate, the effect of this striking contrast being to make the panels stand out like embossed glass. The club-room is painted in a not less artistic manner, and with even greater elaboration of detail. The principal feature of this room is a frieze consisting of six medallions containing fruit and flowers, and joined together by a festoon of vine leaves—all hand painted. The staircase is painted in two soft shades of green, relieved with an effective border. The harmony of colours throughout is perfect, and the designs pleasing and suggestive. They are finely coated with a soluble varnish, which possesses this great advantage that when the decorations are cleaned it comes off and can be renewed again, leaving the painting unimpaired by the process. The whole work has been done under contract by Messrs. Dobbie and Sons, George-street, Edinburgh. The design, selected from a large number sent in for competition, was by Mr. Louis Söden, decorative artist, Edinburgh, under whose personal superintendence the work has been executed. The ventilation was carried out under the direction of Mr. James Matthews, architect of the building.

The formal opening of the institute took place on the 19th ult., in the hall, in presence of a large number of the brethren of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the city. Bro. Dr. Beveridge, R.W.P.G.M., presided, and the other office-bearers present were Bros. James Rettie, Depute P.G.M.; George Milne, Senior P.G. Warden; John Crombie, Junior P.G. Warden; Dr. Robert White, P.G. Sec. and Clerk; A. Yeats, P.G. Treas.; A. I. M'Conochie, Senior P.G.D.; W. M'Kenzie, Junior P.G.D.; G. Shackle, jun., P.G. Jeweller; John Adlington, P.G. Director of Music; Robert Milne, P.G. Librarian; A. Dakers, P.G. Bible-Bearer; Archd. Rennie, P.G. Auditor; John Laing, P.G. Inner Guard; and D. Campbell, P.G. Tyler.

The Right Worshipful Master gave a narrative of the steps which led to the erection of the institute, which cost £3000, raised by shares on the joint-stock principle. The decorations, he intimated, had cost about £500, this sum having been raised by means of a bazaar, and entertainments of various kinds. He congratulated the body on the success with which the decorations had been carried out, and remarked that they could now boast of having, without exception, the finest lodge-room in Scotland.—"Aberdeen Journal."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Preventible Diseases.—Many are the maladies, which at all seasons and in all districts silently work their way into the human system, through miasma, noxious vapours, and deteriorated air, which could all be disposed of by a few doses of the so admirable PILLS. The vitiated gases enter the lungs as we breathe, and contaminate the blood, which will convey the poisonous particles throughout the body, unless some purifier such as these PILLS be taken to cleanse it. Let the poison lurk where it will, thither will it be followed and confronted by this never failing antidote. Holloway's Pills expel all harmful matters from the circulation, and cleanse the solids likewise from all treacherous impurities tending to induce disease.—ADVT.

Masonic and General Tidings.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.—The annual meeting of this large and important province was held on Wednesday last, the 4th inst. at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, to which all W.M.'s, P.M.'s, and invested officers were invited. A full report of the meeting will appear in our next publication.

At the recent sale of the effects of Mr. Chas. Watkins, the well-known Photographer of Parliament-street, we learn that the negative, with copyright, of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in Grand Masonic Regalia, was knocked down, after eager competition, to Messrs. Marion and Co., of Soho-square, at the handsome price of £185, the largest sum, we believe, ever paid for any single plate of this genre.—"Figaro."

The annual festival of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, No. 256, will take place at Freemasons' Hall on Friday, Nov. 24th, on which occasion the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master, has kindly consented to preside.

Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, who has entered on his thirtieth year of office as Treasurer to the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, will take the chair at the festival which is to be held on the 24th prox.

The quarterly meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire will be held on Wednesday next in the New Promenade Room, Harrogate, at one o'clock p.m., under the banner of Lodge 1001.

We are authorized to state, that, to the great regret of the Provincial Grand Master and brethren of Surrey, Bro. Wm. Frederick Harrison has resigned the office of Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and that he will be succeeded by the R.W. Bro. Rev. C. W. Arnold, Grand Chaplain.

The Rose Lodge, No. 1622, will be consecrated this (Saturday) afternoon, at four o'clock, at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road. The ceremonies will be performed by the V.W. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, assisted by Bros. Buss and Terry. The officers designate are Bros. David Rose, P.M. 73, W.M.; Jas. Garner, J.D. 975, S.W.; and Alfred Allworth, W.M. 1261, J.W.

The quarterly convocation of the Metropolitan College of the Rosicrucian Society will take place at the Royal Masonic Hall, 8, Air-street, Regent-street, on Thursday, the 12th October, at 5.30 p.m. A banquet will be provided, at seven o'clock.

THE QUEEN AND THE LIVERPOOL CORPORATION.—At a recent meeting of the Liverpool Corporation a letter was read from the Home Secretary on behalf of the Queen, stating that Her Majesty had received the address of the Council on the occasion of the return of the Prince of Wales from India, and had expressed admiration of the tasteful manner in which it was illuminated. A letter was read from Sir W. Knollys on behalf of the Prince of Wales, thanking the Council for their congratulations to His Royal Highness, and expressing the earnest wish of himself and the Princess for the welfare of the borough of Liverpool.

Bro. William-Simmonds Hammond having been appointed District Grand Master for Tasmania, has been pleased to appoint Bro. Charles Toby, of Hobart Town, as District Grand Secretary.

FREEMASONS' TAVERN COMPANY.—At the annual meeting of this company, held on Saturday (Mr. F. Bennoch presiding), it was stated that the directors had remodelled the organisation of the tavern, pending negotiations for the disposal of the business. Mr. E. Dawkins who had considerable experience with the late Mr. Francatelli, had succeeded him as manager. The year's trading had unfortunately resulted in a deficiency. Mr. A. M. Walls was re-elected a director, and the auditors, Mr. H. Chatteris and Mr. B. Baker, were re-appointed.—"City Press."

A contemporary says:—"The new Masonic lodge to be held at the Queen's Arms, Kilburn-gate, will be opened next month with all the form and ceremony usually indulged in by the Craft on such occasions. The lodge, which is essentially a winter one, will meet once a month during October, November, December, January, and February. It was found that when the lodge was first proposed that so many persons were willing to join that, as the accommodation is limited, some restrictions had to be put upon its members, and finally it was decided to make the initiation fee £10 10s., and to limit the number of members of the lodge to fifty. The fittings of the room and other accessories are said to be of the finest workmanship, being in oak and silver and gold, and it is anticipated that the Kilburn Lodge will be as select and stylish a lodge as any in London. Bro. Bartley has spared no expense in rendering his premises worthy of the great brotherhood, a contingent of which will meet at his house in future."

A NUT FOR FREEMASONS.—A lady—the Countess Hädicke—has been received in a Hungarian lodge. The Grand Orient of Hungary declares the election null and void. But then comes in the maxim, "Once a Mason, always a Mason." Masonic casuists are asking, "What is to be done—how long will the Masonic secret be kept now?"—Glasgow Paper.]

The Duke of Cambridge has sent a donation of £10 in aid of the Pension Fund of the Universal Beneficent Society, 15, Soho-square.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors, Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

We do not undertake to return rejected communications.

The following stand over:—Memorial to the late Bro. Wescoe; Reports of Lodges, 893, Millbrook; 332, Hadley; 321, Bonill; Chapter 111, Ardrossan; Mark Lodge, 146, Lancaster; Prov. G. Mark Lodge of Somerset; Red Cross Conclave, 33, Portsmouth.

REMITTANCES RECEIVED.

	£	s.	d.
Adcock, Thos., Montreal (P.O.O.).....	1	4	0
Bate, O. H., The Cape (P.O.O.).....	0	6	0
Brady, H. S., St. Helena (P.O.O.).....	0	7	0
Brady, J., Bermuda (per Admiralty, Cash)	0	9	0
Clayton, Capt., India (P.O.O.)	0	17	0
Cruft, C., Indiana (P.O.O.).....	1	1	0
Cunningham, J., Gibraltar (P.O.O.)	2	0	0
Dantes, S. Africa (P.O.O.).....	0	14	1
Dowling, R., St. Helena (P.O.O.).....	0	13	9
Eichbaum, U.S.A. (B. of E.)	1	4	0
Hayward, F. A., Victoria (Cash)	1	0	0
Laurie, G., Constantinople (Cash).....	0	12	0
Meyer, C. E., U.S.A. (Cheque)	0	12	0
Peake, H. H., Ballarat (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Pickthall, T. W., S. Africa (P.O.O.)	1	4	0
Simpson, W. H., New Zealand (P.O.O.)	5	0	0
Stuart, D., Peru (Draft)	1	4	0
Sutton, Gen., U.S.A. (B. of E.).....	3	0	0
Toby, C., Tasmania (P.O.O.)	2	0	0

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

APPLETON.—On the 29th ult., at Dan-y-Graig, Forest-hill, Mrs. Walter P. Appleton, of a daughter.

ARMSTRONG.—On the 28th Aug., at Meean Meer, Punjab, the wife of the Rev. W. F. Armstrong, of a daughter.

BROWN.—On the 25th ult., at Penn-fields, Wolverhampton, the wife of W. A. Brown, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

LANG—M'LELLAN.—On the 21th ult., at Blairvaddick, Row, Dumbartonshire, R. Hamilton Lang, Imperial Ottoman Bank, Bucharest, to Margaret, daughter of W. M'Leilan, Esq.

OVERTON—SANDERS.—On the 25th ult., at St. Peter's Church, Brighton, by the Rev. R. E. H. Raines, Arthur, third son of Mr. J. T. Overton, of Sutton Lodge, Surrey, to Caroline Harriet, youngest daughter of the late Mr. W. S. Saunders, of Burstow Lodge, Surrey.

DEATHS.

ALLEN.—On the 30th ult., at Newport, I.W., John Allen, Esq., aged 73.

BONCEY.—On the 24th ult., Bro. C. Boncey, Life Subscriber to the Licensed Victuallers' Institution, and Steward of the "Albert Edward" Saloon Steamer, aged 56.

CLARIDGE.—On the 23rd ult., at 231, Queen's-Road, Peckham, John Joseph Claridge, late of the Old Kent-road, in his 61st year.

DUFF.—On the 29th ult., at St. George's-Road, S.W., aged 65, Eleanor, widow of the late A. Duff, Esq.

EADIE.—On the 22nd ult., Francis John Eadie, of 6, Fleet-lane, Farringdon-street, aged 31.

EDMONDS.—On the 1st inst., at Hunter-street, Brunswick square, Harry Tarrant, son of Bro. T. W. Edmunds, aged five years.

The Freemason.

SATURDAY, OCT. 7, 1876.

THE CANT OF MASONRY.

Such is the polite reading which the "Hampshire Post," of September 22nd, gives to its solitary and singular leader, which we print in another column for the information of our brethren. We shall all feel at once how polite it is and how true. It seems that the actual cause of this intemperate and silly ebullition of a weak pen, and a weaker understanding, was the dedication of a new lodge at Havant, on the 1st ult., by our distinguished Bro. P.G.M. W. Beach, M.P., and "notamment," as the French say, a speech delivered by Bro. Henry Ford. An account of the proceedings and speeches appeared in our last impression, and we cannot, for the life of us, see what can possibly have aroused the indignation of our irate and unreasoning contemporary. We do not perceive that in anything which Bro. Beach, according to his wont, well said, or Bro. Ford addressed to his brethren, there is any ground for faultfinding, or complaint. We, of course, are never bound by the "dicta" of individual speakers, and had Bro. Ford (he seems to be the chief offender in our contemporary's "jaundiced eye") proclaimed anything contrary to Masonic tenets, we should not have defended his utterances, simply because he was a Freemason. But we confess that we are at a loss to understand what it is which our contemporary has really to animadvert upon. He may not like Freemasons, he may not approve of Freemasonry. Some do not; but at any rate he may be civil in his epithets and reasonable in his remarks. We do not quite gather, after more than one perusal, what it is even which he is pleased to term the "Cant of Masonry." Is it Bro. Beach's truthful declaration that we were once an operative body, and are now a speculative body? Or is it Bro. Ford's assertion that we are loyal, peaceable, and patriotic, tolerant, truthful, and benevolent? The writer of this childish article seems to have got into his noddle, (not, we fancy, a very strong one, by this specimen of his writing), that somehow or other Freemasonry is used by Freemasons for the purpose of private advantage, or personal advancement, and that by its secret organization Freemasons are enabled to favour one another at the expense alike of the public purse, and individual merit. Greater nonsense never was penned, a grosser delusion per se never was fostered, or propagated by any one. After a long experience of Freemasonry we can safely assert that we have never known an instance where Freemasonry has been used for any other purposes than for those purely Masonic in themselves. Such a perversion of our system and teaching is forbidden by the first principles of our Order, and to state publicly that such is the "way" of the Masonic "world," is alike contrary to truth, and a direct calumny on a very upright, conscientious, and patriotic body of men. Bro. Ford nowhere, that we see, claims for Freemasons any alleged superiority over other men. Neither does he, as the "Hampshire Post," appears to fancy, assert for Freemasonry the "status" or influence of a "religion." He may possibly point out that Freemasonry inculcates loyalty to the sovereign and obedience to the laws of the state where Freemasons happen to be, that Freemasons are good citizens and true patriots, and that the unchanging teaching of Freemasonry is a pure morality, the morality of the Bible, that morality without which the noisiest professions are worthless, and the most abstract speculations a snare. Why is Bro. Ford to be blamed for such views and statements, true in themselves and very well expressed? We pause for a reply? Is it that this foolish "accuser" of our "brethren" is so opposed to Freemasonry that he can neither afford to be fair, nor is willing to be just? Is it that disbelieving Freemasons, he does not shut his eyes to the fact, that such an exposition of Masonic principles is likely to find many admirers, and, therefore, as one sang of old:

"Vixque tenet lachrymas Quia nil lachrymabile cernit?"

And having said this we will make a little confession. It is perfectly true that Freemasons like other mortal beings are sometimes inconsistent. If we all acted up to our professions here, what a very different world this would soon be, but it is "old as the hills" that profession and practice, preaching and performance, do not always go hand in hand now. While the world lasts we shall ever have before our eyes this patent proof of the great infirmity of humanity, and as Freemasons are only human like any one else, they cannot and do not claim any exemption whatever from those many weaknesses which betray our common origin, those many shortcomings which mark ever on earth the best and the wisest of us all. That in Freemasonry, as in everything else of this lower world, we may find many flaws, many incongruities, many errors, we do not for a moment deny, and that we do not all act up to the goodly precepts of Freemasonry is undoubtedly and undeniably true. But such, we may well also bear in mind, is the unchanging condition of our race. We do not deny either that Freemasons, like everybody else, do not always mean what they say, or say what they mean; as in every brotherhood of earth, there are those who bring no credit on its fair name, but we distinctly deny that there is, or need be, any "Cant in Freemasonry," inasmuch as its professions are always truthful, and its actions are ever real. That Freemasonry does not benefit society and the age in which we live is a perverse paradox, worthy of the superficial Ultramontane or the sneering Jesuit. No society can fail to have utility and blessing for man and for the world, which loudly proclaims, with no views of self-interest or egotistical self-laudation, the ever needful truths of toleration, liberality, respect for law and order, and the fervid maintenance of the sacred rights of personal liberty, independence, and the individual conscience of the homo. Freemasonry, as a friendly brotherhood, seeks to enrol all men in its peaceful army, who neither atheists nor libertines, and leaving the defence of dogmatic and doctrinal teaching, to the religious body or church, can agree in recognising the fatherhood of God, and the brotherhood of man. Surely if Freemasons can unite men of various beliefs, in deeds of charity and sympathy, it does a good act, it represents a true thing; and we feel persuaded that if Freemasonry is only sincere in upholding its own great principles of thought and action, it has before it both a goodly mission and a noble work.

MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGY.

[In consequence of press of matter we continue these papers here, instead of in a separate column as an individual communication. The "we" has taken the place of the "I," that is all the difference.]

There is a theory of Masonic Archæology which has now to be considered, namely, that the real History of Freemasonry begins from the Revival of 1717. There is no doubt a very great difficulty by historical or documentary evidence in linking on Freemasonry, for instance, to the Guild System, but that was to be expected from the nature of the case! No one contends that we are aware of, that our Masonic ritual today, by way of illustration, is "totidem verbis," the same as that of the guilds, for that would be an absurdity. In the history of all human associations, the beginnings are simple and unornate, it is only in their maturity and development, that they become systematized and artificial, if we may so write. No doubt in 1717 the then existing ritual was enlarged and elaborated adhering to the leading principles and landmarks, and it is just possible that in early days, the local lodges only admitted to the degree of Fellow craft, and that the Grand Lodge or Grand assembly as a specially convened Master's Lodge gave alone the Third Degree. This would explain Dermott's evidence, which though not altogether reliable, is not to be absolutely despised or rejected! But because we have some difficulties to contend with (there are difficulties in everything) are we to jump to the conclusion that in 1717 a few speculative Masons adopted and adapted the terminology and ritual of the operative guilds to their own purposes, or that of a purely social, benevolent, didactic, festive club? We feel persuaded that such a theory is most unsound, in itself, critically indefensible, and historically untenable. We believe "au contraire," that our own accounts are substantially true, and that for some time previous to the beginning of the eighteenth century the operative guilds had been opening wide their portals to speculative members. It is quite clear, we think for instance, that in 1746 among the Freemasons at Warrington, when two speculative Masons were admitted, Elias Ashmole, and Col. Henry Mainwaring, while Mr. Richard Penket Warden, Mr. James Collier, and Mr. Richard Sankey, were either gentlemen "generosi" or speculative Masons, Henry Littler, John Eliam and Hugh Brewer, were in all probability operative Masons, but all members of the same lodge. Those who met in 1717 were clearly not all operative Masons, though some one has foolishly said so, and in fact they well represent the twofold character of Masonic lodges or guilds then. That they then endeavoured to revive an old association, not to found a new one, we are perfectly persuaded also, and they did what all ever do in such circumstances. They no doubt made some changes and modifications in the original system, which time and altered circumstances rendered absolutely needful. We see all this, we think, clearly, in the early regulations of Grand Lodge of 1721, they were altering an old institution, adapting it as best they could, not starting a new one, and we note how very carefully they handled all the traditions and precepts of the past. Anderson in 1723 went back simply to the guild legends, deriving all his history and the like from them, one could have wished, with freer criticism, and with a greater power of rejection. We mean, as regards the actual history of Freemasonry. But it is not right to blame Anderson for what he could not do; what he did do he did well. Probably any bolder treatment of the subject would not have been acceptable to the Grand Lodge of that day. He did what he was told to do, and we are not disposed to quarrel much with him because he so strenuously adhered to the old guild legends, and gave them to the Craft, he being an educated man, "quantum valeant." Anderson has latterly been very hastily condemned and unduly deprecated, but we are bound, it appears here, to do him justice, as the first who sought to put in a simple readable form, the confuse chronology, the doubtful declarations, and the quaint legends of the old operative guilds. We must reject, then, any theory of Masonic history which starts with the assumption that all the years previous to 1717 are "prehistoric" as far as Freemasonry is concerned. We not only do not believe anything of the kind, but as we have said before, we feel convinced that such a view of our history is as delusive and uncritical as well can be. It is one thing to admit a difficulty in the matter, it is quite another thing to propound a theory of one's own, which ruthlessly sweeps away, and on grounds utterly indefensible, a fair and reasonable explanation of our true Masonic history. To suppose that all our old ceremonial dates only from 1717 is positively puerile, to assert that we have no evidence of any earlier Freemasonry than the 18th century, because the oldest MS. ritual only dates from the third decade about the 17th century, is to mistake entirely the value and bearing of evidence. We have often said that rituals like minute books are valuable portions of evidence, but they are not all, or the most important. They do not prove a great deal, because if they assume to prove the exact date of Freemasonry, they can only be used, properly, as to their exact date, and can legitimately be made to go no further back. But such an argument is, as we know, untenable. There is plenty of evidence to prove for instance that before 1700 Freemasonry existed in this country, had a ritual and secrets of its own, and we have MS. evidence of a ritual or portion of Catechetical teaching, (if Mr. Wallbran was correct,) as early as the middle of the 17th century

Even those who fix the date of the hand writing of the Sloane MS., 3329, at the first fifteen years of the 18th century, do not deny that the verbiage and archaisms are the middle of 17th century; at least, Mr. Sims, of the British Museum, does not; and we, therefore, have always felt, and feel still, on this and on many other grounds, needless to recapitulate here, that the theory of the 1717 origin, is, as we have often put it, a critical mistake, and an unsound proposition.

"WE WILL NOT GO TO CANOSSA."

We have often said that as Freemasons we are not politicians, and therefore have no right to mix ourselves up with the strife of parties, or the war cries of faction. We repeat the assertion to-day; and amid many of its distinguishing features not one is more remarkable in the weekly pages of the "Freemason" than its entire abstinence from anything like political prepossessions, or party utterances. It is impossible, indeed, in a journal like this, of great circulation and of increasing influence, which is perused and appreciated, as we know, wherever the English language is spoken and Anglo-Saxon Masons love to congregate, (to say nothing of many kind foreign readers)—it is impossible, we repeat, not sometimes to dwell upon the passing incidents of the great world of politics all around us, and which act and re-act on Freemasonry. But when we do so we speak as Masonic philosophers, utterly indifferent to the success of this or that party, merely looking at things and men in the great broad light of abstract truth and practical common sense, and especially from a pure Masonic point of view, in respect of those unchanging principles of our Order, of which time has attested the lasting worth, and of which, as a fraternity we may be all justly proud. When, then, we take up Prince Bismarck's famous words to-day, it might seem to the hasty inductionist that we were contradicting our own statements, and trespassing on forbidden ground. But such would be a great fallacy and a greater mistake. We, as Freemasons, have been taught from our entrance into Freemasonry to acknowledge the central and civil Government of any State as supreme, as an authority to which the peaceable, loyal, and patriotic will always pay lawful obedience and ready respect, the fidelity of patriotic citizens or the fealty of devoted subjects. When, then, we are told to-day that an Ultramontane party in the Church of Rome is urging on a kind but weak old man to revive one of the worst acts of a spiritual despotism, our sympathies as Freemasons and patriots, for we are both, naturally are roused in admiration of the seasonable words of a distinguished statesman, and the rightful aspirations of a great people. Though the subject is not directly Masonic, it is indirectly so, inasmuch as the Church of Rome claims, by virtue of an absolute and spiritual sovereignty, to excommunicate all Freemasons, even where they meet as peaceable citizens, permitted so to do by the laws of the land. The Ultramontane organs openly avow that the object of this foolish and perverse commemoration is to represent to all the superiority of the spiritual over the temporal power, the subjection of the Princes of this world to the supreme and infallible Sovereign Pontiff. This is, in truth, the great struggle which Germany has been going through recently, the claim of a spiritual power to override, overrule, and dispense with the laws of a temporal power, and which Prince Bismarck sought to repudiate in the name of the German people by these now historic words. But here we stop, as if we advance much more we shall find ourselves in the midst of political contests and "burning questions," from which, as Freemasons, we wisely keep aloof. But this we may say. Such an idea and such a proposal are alike childish and senseless, a direct challenge to a remarkable people, both numerous and proud, and deeply humiliated by the memory of such an act of hyper-spiritualism, such an invasion of the rights of temporal sovereignty. One of the gravest wrong-doings of the Church of Rome has been that in its invidious policy it has too often sought to make both vassals and puppets of earthly sovereigns and of temporal rulers, has subjected them to personal humiliation and degradation in the eyes of their subjects, who have never forgotten the scandal, and never pardoned the disgrace. What the Romish Church hopes to gain as regards Germany by this unpolitic and silly act we cannot venture to conceive. By the last census, the population of Germany has risen to 42,726,844 souls, being an increase of 1,703,749 in four years. This census, which was taken December 1, 1875, proves that Germany is increasing at the rate of above 400,000 a year, and though it has been stated that Germany lost about 250,000 men in the war with France (an estimate we fancy far too large) the present growth of Germany is alike most rapid and wonderful. In this mighty empire, in 1871, there were found to be 25,579,700. Protestants of all bodies, 594,313 persons of other persuasions, including Hebrews, and 14,867,463 Roman Catholics. It is believed that in 1878 the returns, when complete, will show a large increase of the Protestant population over the Roman Catholic, and we feel persuaded, from what we remember of the German people, that this foolish proceeding about Canossa will shake the faith of thousands of the German Roman Catholics. As Freemasons, we must deeply sympathise with our German cousins in their struggle to uphold the independence of their temporal sovereignty, as against an encroaching spiritual power, much as we regret that any embittered conflict ever should arise as between the State on the one hand and a religious body on the other. But after all, from the date of Hildebrand's outrageous humiliation imposed on Henry IV. at Canossa we may really date that struggle as between the temporal and spiritual powers which soon after led to bloody wars, and imposed great miseries on the German people. This strife has continued ever since more or less, and has culminated in the recent open warfare as between the State and Roman Catholic Church. Why then revive these hateful memories? We trust that the Pope's advisers may think better of so absurd a proposal in the interest of peace and goodwill, and that the hidden advisers of an infallible Papacy may carefully avoid the perpetration of such a gross and stupid blunder in the best interests of the Roman Catholic Church itself. Its only effect can be to make the contest in Germany more embittered and reconciliation less possible. Let the Church of Rome give up these ridiculous claims of infallible absurdity, and devote herself to the spiritual enlightenment, the moral education, the religious care of those many millions who claim her as their spiritual mother, but whom the folly and violence of Ultramontanism will undoubtedly otherwise, ere long, rend from her fold, at a time, let us remember, when the usurpation of a so-called spiritual authority in temporal matters is undoubtedly repugnant not only to the sympathies and sentiments of the age, but to countless Roman Catholics themselves.

NEXT BOYS' SCHOOL ELECTION.

Of the candidates for the next Boys' School election, 21 come from the metropolis, 36 from the Provinces. The contrasted classes which send these orphans to the Masonic Boys' School are as follows, and let our readers carefully note them:—Traders, 25; medical practitioners, 1; solicitors, 2; licensed victuallers, 2; hotel manager, 1; official, 1; clerks, 6; commercial travellers, 5; schoolmaster, 1; architects, 1; bank manager, 1; civil engineer, 1; contractors, 1; merchants, 4; manufacturer, 1; master mariners, 11; miscellaneous, 4; in all, 37. Who can venture to say that our Boys' School is not needed with such a list of applicants? or who can lay down arbitrarily and dogmatically what the maximum or the minimum of an education can be or should be when carried on for so many contrasted classes of our community? With such a long list before us, and with the noble return of 1876 always present to our memories, we regret that the authorities of the Boys' School have not seen their way to a permanent increase in the number of inmates. 21

HERMETIC MASONRY.

Much interest has been attracted to the "Dedication to Long Livers" printed in extenso in the October "Masonic Magazine." We have read it ourselves with much attention, and its statements require a good deal of thought, and careful consideration. If its assertions are correct, and there seems no reason to doubt them, Hermetic Masonry of some kind was known to the Craft in 1721. We are informed that to our worthy Bro. W. J. Hughan, of Truro, well-known for his zeal in Masonic Archæology, the editor is indebted for the loan of this somewhat scarce work. Bro. Albert Mackey called attention to the same work in the "Voice of Masonry" a short time back, and we understand that Bro. W. J. Hughan mentioned the existence of the book originally to Bro. Albert Pike, a distinguished member of the American High Grades, and that he gave Bro. Mackey the information about it, which led to the publication of it, first of all in the "Voice of Masonry." It was at Bro. W. J. Hughan's suggestion that the "Dedication" was printed in the "Masonic Magazine."

EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

We call attention to the advertisement in another page of the annual festival of this distinguished and most important lodge. It appears that at the meeting this year our very distinguished Bro. the Earl of Carnarvon, Pro Grand Master, will preside, and that our worthy and able Bro. G. S. John Hervey, who has been Treasurer for thirty years, will take the chair of the lodge. Thirty-six Present and Past Grand Officers have consented to act as Stewards, and among those who will work the "Sections" we find the names of some of our most distinguished brethren and Masonic workers. It will, therefore, be a treat of a very high order for metropolitan and provincial Masons. A handsome silver inkstand, designed by the eminent architect, Bro. J. Gibson, Deputy Master of the Prince of Wales Lodge, will be presented to our much esteemed and excellent Bro. John Hervey, in commemoration of the occasion. We shall recur to this very interesting anniversary.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

ULTRAMONTANE VIOLENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Allow me, as a Mason of some year's standing, to express my disapprobation of the interference in religious questions which has for some time marked the columns of the "Freemason." Some of the opinions advanced have been most offensive to myself and others, as I know from private correspondence.

If Freemasonry is a religion, or pretends to be so, it is false, and all the attacks of the Roman Church upon it are fully justified. If, as I always have been taught, it is simply "a system of morality" from which religious and political controversy is on principle carefully excluded, then it is a system which all men, Romanists included, may fairly join, without either betraying their own faith or having their religious or political feelings wounded.

The way to meet the attacks of the Romanist is to show that they are unmerited. But to attack the Roman Church for its conduct towards non-Masonic Protestants is to justify their charge that we are politico religious revolutionists.

What on earth have we Masons got to do with the Bishop of Minorca and the Spanish Protestants, any more than with the Protestant and infidel persecution of the Roman Church in Prussia?

Such questions would never be allowed to be discussed in lodge, and I venture to think that the same rule should apply to Masonic periodicals.

Your fraternally,

A P.M. OF 30 YEARS' STANDING.

[In reply to a Mason of thirty years' standing, the Editor, as a Mason of thirty-four years' standing, hopes that he does not require to be taught by any one, what Freemasonry forbids or allows in free, fair discussion. He openly denies the allegation that the pages of the "Freemason" are in any way sectarian or political, and above all, that any attacks are made on Roman Catholics qua Roman Catholics, or that there ever has been any interference in religious matters in the pages of the "Freemason." The attacks of the Roman Catholic authorities, or rather the Ultramontane party, on Freemasonry have been so many and so virulent, that it is the duty of all good Freemasons openly to protest against them and repudiate them. The story of the Spanish Protestants at Minorca, is not in itself and by itself a Masonic question, but in this particular it is one of several acts, which go to make up a bright specimen of Roman Catholic intolerance. When a Christian Bishop gives to Protestants and Freemasons the epithet of "putrid" he lays himself open to the just animadversions of all Masonic writers. The "Freemason" has always advocated openly the just rights of Roman Catholics, as our correspondent must well know, and always will advocate them; and no one paper has so manfully upheld the great principle of toleration as the "Freemason." But the violence of Ultramontanism just now is undeniable, and must be resisted openly. If the tolerant and Masonic views of the "Freemason" are not realized by a "Mason of thirty years' standing," the fault does not belong either to the editor or the publisher. We are a little amused to note that our good correspondent, who blames us for saying anything, actually takes a distinct and not very moderate part himself in the great German contest.—EDITOR "FREEMASON."]

PROV. G. MASTERS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Private lodges elect their Masters yearly, Grand Lodge elects its Master yearly, Provincial Grand Mark Lodges elect their Masters every three years, and Prov. G. Craft Lodges are not allowed to elect their Masters at all—he is elected by the Grand Master, and not yearly, but for life, and the members of the lodge have no voice in the matter. Can this be right? If Grand Lodge elects its Master yearly, why should not the members of Provincial Grand Lodge have the same privilege? I should be glad if some brother could tell me.

Yours very fraternally,

AN OLD P.M., ONE, &c.

FREEMASONRY IN VENEZUELA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Bro. R. J. Simpson's letter in your last suggests many considerations, political, historical, and Masonic, if I may use such a word.

With the political we have in the "Freemason" nothing to do, and you would not allow me to dilate upon them. I will therefore confine myself to the historical and Masonic.

I am a little inclined to think that our good brother the Provincial Grand Chaplain has allowed the fervour of his "cloth" to dilate a little too much on the purely controversial question in respect of the See of Rome, as a claim to Masonic admiration. President Blanco's acts must of course be judged by the circumstances and necessities of the case, and can hardly be fitly commented upon by us at this great distance from the scene of action. But abstractedly, the "suppression" of "monasteries" and "convents," and even the quasi "independence" of the Church of Rome, do not in themselves necessarily constitute a claim to Masonic admiration. With all such matters Freemasonry proper has nothing to do, and ought not to be associated with, pro. or con., as Freemasons in all such questions are, very properly, neutral. All I think that can be fairly said is, that they are praiseworthy if a protest, so to say, against overweening intolerance, if they lead to a diffusion among a Roman Catholic population of the blessed principles of toleration. For it is one thing, bear in mind, simply to suppress "monasteries" and "nunneries," and "religious foundations" from a desire for "confiscation," "plunder," and the like, to add to the income of a State, it is quite another and a very proper thing to say to a religious body like the Church of Rome, "You are forming an 'Imperium in Imperio,' you have no patriotic interest in the well being of the community, and are only careful of the behests of an alien power, and therefore 'pro bono publico,' we affix a minimum to your numerous establishments on the one great principle of self defence and the safety of the State." But religious bodies of all kinds have a right to have brotherhoods and sisterhoods if they think fit, and it is a denial of general religious freedom, entirely or arbitrarily to suppress them. Masonically, President Blanco's inauguration of a Masonic temple is highly commendable, (though I could have wished it to be independent of the State), and his anxiety to consider the interests of the bondholders is greatly to be lauded commercially. So let us hope (keeping, however, first principles always before us, not secondary ones), that this "enlightened" ruler will happily progress in a cause of evenhanded justice and legality, and pave the way for a pleasant future of peace, order, and religious liberty among the turbulent republics and suffering populations of South America.

I am, yours fraternally,

TOLERATION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

There is hardly a Mason, I feel sure, that will fail to rejoice with Bro. Simpson in the improvements, moral and social, carried out in the distant state of Venezuela, but I deem it a duty, in the interests of that Freemasonry to which he ascribes these and other actions of President Blanco, to take most serious exception to a portion of the letter, which I think fraught with mischief to the Craft as well as calculated to mislead those who, though not of us, are still I hope not against us.

Let me, to prevent misconception, state once for all that I write in no captious spirit, and that I am actuated by no partiality to either party in question, for I am ignorant of the merits of the case, but that I must protest against any action taken against any body of religionists as being such religionists, in the name of Freemasonry, or against any action of the kind being wrongly ascribed to it, as may be the case here.

It may be that our worthy Bro. Simpson has inadvertently obscured his true meaning by mingling actions prompted by different motives, such as inaugurating the Masonic Temple and freeing the Church together, and so have made both come under the heading of "Freemasonry in Venezuela," in which case the sooner a correction is made the better; or it may be that President Blanco, stung by the onslaughts of Ultramontanism upon Freemasonry, have ascribed his actions to a wrong motive, namely, to his Freemasonry, and thus, whilst following out a course of procedure perfectly legitimate and proper in itself, have placed Freemasonry in that position which it never has held, and never can hold—an opponent to a religious system.

It is quite possible that President Blanco may have found the Romish authority in Venezuela opposed to the march of modern progress, quite as possible that he may have considered the monasteries and convents as so many abuses needing suppression, and with this view he may have suppressed them. Even further than this, he may have deeply resented the attitude of the Roman Church towards Freemasonry, and in its name have proceeded to extremities of retaliation, but here Freemasonry must be held to have given no consent to such a use to its name. Freemasonry may be wrongfully blamed, and will clear itself. Freemasonry may be attacked and ward off the blow; but an aggressor, or even avenger, in such a contest as this Freemasonry can never be. There is but one strife in which Freemasonry can ever engage, and that is in warring against ignorance and vice. Freemasonry is a system of morality, but not (although the embodiment of the vital principle of all true religion) a form of religion; so far, therefore, from interfering with any man's creed, it carefully respects (and herein lies its strength), every man's religious belief provided it acknowledge the Almighty Father of all.

Hence, whilst Freemasonry may support and rejoice in the peace-working rule of President Blanco, so soon as he embarks in a crusade against any religious system whatever, Freemasonry stands aloof, as having no interest in the issue, let the motives of the contest be ever so good in themselves and ever so urgent for the welfare of the state.

Pray pardon the length to which this vindication of Freemasonry has extended, and believe me, dear Sir and Brother, with fraternal greetings,

Faithfully yours,

W. T.

A NEW LADY FREEMASON.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Sir,—

Although I do not come under the class termed brethren, yet as I am a brother's wife I hold a slight claim on the society, and venture to give my opinion on the subject of the initiation of the Countess Hädick. I consider that the W.M. and the Lodge of Hungary have set such a good example to England which would be well for all Freemasons to follow. You, as a body of men, pretend to give all honour to women. You may in word, you do not in deed! This lady is described as being highly educated, and well versed in Masonic literature especially. Now, where on earth lies the objection to her being a Freemason? No man ever governed a country as does our Queen, and a woman is as capable of keeping a secret as any man. For my own part, I respect Freemasonry in all things except its secrecy, and the way the women are treated, such as being termed blind, profane, and not fit to be trusted with a secret. How much better would it be, and more conducive to real happiness, if a man and his wife could converse freely on such a good subject, help and aid one another in Freemasonry as in all other things. I do not say a woman should attend lodge meetings; no, her place is at home; but when her husband attends the meeting he would, were there no secrets between them, feel more light-hearted, and have a better conscience were he to confide in his wife, and hasten home to tell her how well they were prospering; and every Freemason that has a good wife knows he would then meet with her most hearty approval. Trusting you will acknowledge this,

I remain, yours most respectfully,

A FREEMASON'S WIFE.

THE FUNDS OF GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?" applies as well to the "United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England" as to any individual member of that same kingdom. This being the case, we need no more expect to find it make a law that it may spend its money at any future time in any specific way it chooses than to find the British legislature solemnly putting upon the statute-book that Parliament shall hereafter have the power to dispose of the public money in such a way as shall seem to it desirable.

The only restrictions we find in the Book of Constitutions are (1) that the Board of General Purposes, which has "charge of the finances of the lodge," shall not "incur any extraordinary expense without the previous sanction of the Grand Lodge," ("Board of General Purposes," 10 and 19); and (2) that "no motion for a grant of money . . . shall be made until communicated to the General Committee . . . nor until it shall have been handed up in writing to the Grand Master. After having been perused and found by him not to contain anything contrary to the ancient landmarks of the Order, the motion may be proposed, and, on being seconded, the question shall be put thereon. If carried and confirmed at the next ensuing meeting of Grand Lodge, it becomes law," ("Grand Lodge," 8.)

The purposes which come within the "ancient landmarks" are evidently here not confined to "charity," to which a special fund is devoted ("Fund of Benevolence" 1).

Provincial Grand Lodge may form a fund "for charitable and other Masonic purposes," and "may make such regulations as they may deem necessary for the application of this fund" ("Prov. G. Lodge," 4).

The way in which Grand Lodge and Provincial Grand Lodges have understood these regulations may be seen from the numerous occasions on which the former has voted sums of money to the Masonic Charities, at one time to their general funds, at another to their buildings; to the erection of a statue in Grand Lodge itself, and recently, and perhaps best example of an extraneous object, to the "Palestine Exploration Fund;" whilst the latter have assisted in the restoration of various cathedrals and churches. On more than one occasion "lodges," as well as individual "brethren," have presented jewels, plate, &c., to illustrious brethren ("Remarkable Occurrences in Freemasonry"—"Freemason's Calendar and Pocket Book"). Many private lodges follow the same course with respect to Past Masters' jewels, &c., as well as contributing out of lodge funds, to hospitals and other local charities.

It seems, then, quite clear that Grand Lodge can devote its funds to any purpose whatever that the Grand Lodge may deem not inconsistent with "the ancient landmarks of the Order."

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

MONETA.

THE SISTER SYSTEMS: MASONRY AND CHRISTIANITY.

At the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Cheshire, recently held at Knutsford (fully reported in last week's "Freemason"), a sermon was delivered by the Rev. E. R. Parr, the newly-appointed P.G. Chaplain, in the old Church of St. John, which deserves to be given in extenso, as embracing many excellent points which ought to be of interest, especially to our Christian brethren. We, therefore, give the full text of the sermon this week.

Bro. Parr took his text from Philippians iv. 8: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." The rev. gentleman said:—"This is one of the numberless texts in the volume of the Sacred Law which inculcates the active principles and duties which are alike common to Christianity and to Masonry. And because it is so, I have chosen it as the text from which I wish to-day to address a few thoughts to you, my brother Christians and brother Masons. And here, let me say, by way of preface, that the connection between Christianity and Masonry is much more close and intimate than many suppose. In all ages of the world's history, whether sacred or profane, there have been many systems of morality and legislature devised which had in view the amelioration and improvement of mankind. But of all those systems, ancient or modern, none seems to have effected so much good, reached so far, or laid the same hold on the affections and will of their followers as the sister systems of religion and morality, Christianity and Masonry, have done. I call them deliberately sister systems, for they are both founded on the same book—the volume of the Sacred Law; they both inculcate the same grand principles—brotherly love, relief, and truth: and they both teach us how, "in every pursuit, to have eternity in view," an eternity in which both inspire in us the hope that we shall "ascend to those immortal mansions where the just will most assuredly meet their reward." Such being the case, is it to be wondered that wherever one of these systems has won her way, that there the other has been sure to follow? And that wherever the lamp of one system has burned brightly and clearly, just in proportion has the other been prosperous, happy, and successful. Taking them as systems, undoubtedly Masonry is historically the older of the two, inasmuch as the building of King Solomon's temple, and many other events recorded in Masonic history, took place long before the birth of Jesus. But though Masonry is thus old, and though the careful student can trace many and distinct evidences of its continued existence all down the stream of time, especially in the history of religious nations, still there are few Masons who will not readily admit that speculative Masonry, as it is now known and practised by the brotherhood, is a system which has found its full development in a much more recent date; and that, while some of its records go back to, and are lost in, the mists and obscurity of the dark ages; still, as the healthy and vigorous tree we all see it now to be, gathering under its branches the good of all nations, its renewed growth must be allowed to be of more recent centuries. And, what is very strange—and yet not strange—to say, its growth has been most vigorous in those countries where Christianity is professed in its purest and least corrupted form. In proof of this, just let me remind you of the relative states of Masonry in the Southern States of Europe, where, as far as it dare, the religion of those countries ignore the Craft, and would, if it could, persecute the brethren even unto death. For example, take Malta, where only last week the Roman Catholic Archbishop of the island anathematized the Craft and all who practise it. But, on the contrary, turn your eyes to Northern Europe, where undoubtedly the people, as a rule, profess a purer system of Christianity, and what do you find is the state of Masonry there? Why, in words well known to Masons, we may say, among these nations "generals and statesmen, and even monarchs themselves, are promoters of the art, have not thought it derogatory to their dignity to exchange the sceptre for the trowel, have patronised our mysteries, and joined in our assemblies." And, conversely, by a very strange dispensation of Providence, those nations are well known to be much more happy and prosperous where pure Christianity and Masonry are cultivated and joined hand in hand, than are those nations where both are ignored and persecuted. Consider the state—the wretched and unhappy state—of many of the countries and provinces of South and South-Eastern Europe at the present moment, where Christianity is professed, but in an impure form, and where Masonry is almost unknown, and then compare with their wretched state that of our own happy, prosperous, and religious England, where both systems march along often hand in hand, certainly never warring one against the other! And as it is in the present, so it seems to have been in the past. It was about seven years ago—I remember it well—before I was made a Mason myself, I was one day walking in Chester Cathedral with one whose memory will long live in the grateful and affectionate remembrance of English, and especially of Cheshire Freemasons—I allude to the late Edward Gardner Willoughby—when, calling my attention to what I had always before considered but an ornament of church architecture, an ornament which, let me say in passing, is found in the architecture of many of our cathedrals and ancient parish churches, he said, "This is a Masonic emblem, and wherever you see it, either here or elsewhere, it is the work of a Mason. A Mason either made the plans or helped to carry them out in the building." And, though Masonry is every year developing out more and more into what we call "free or speculative Masonry," yet I am happy to think that the brethren prove that they are still willing to acknowledge the connection that I have been trying to show which exists between Christianity and the Craft; and, at the same time, to maintain our ancient traditions by contributing, as they have done, some particular work of art to most of the restored cathedrals in England. And this, you know, brethren, has been notably the case in our provincial Cathedral of Chester, where two bright gems in that beautifully restored edifice, the pulpit and the sedilia, are the gifts of the brethren of this and the neighbouring province. Bright gems they are in themselves, and worthy of those who gave them; but it is not for this, as a Mason and a Christian minister, I prize them most—for, had it seemed right and necessary to our governors we could have given gifts ten times the value—but it is because that in those two gifts there are signs and emblems which will show our children's children that Masonry and Christianity went hand in hand in this 19th century of grace in the restoration of that sacred pile. It is for reasons such as these, among many others, that I, as a Christian minister of the Established Church of this country, am thankful to be able to address you all, as brother Christians and brother Masons, from this the pulpit of one of our parish churches. It is for reasons such as these that we, as loyal subjects and as good Masons (and where is the Mason that is not a loyal subject), are all thankful to the Great Architect of the Universe that the Heir Apparent to the Crown of this great country is at once a believer in the truths of Christianity, and, at the same time, the Grand Master of English Freemasons. So much for the external features of Christianity and Masonry, for which I claim a strong similarity and strange concordance. But when we come to examine into the inward principles on which both systems are founded, we find the lines of agreement are still stronger and more striking. My text is one which we are proud to make our motto, whether as Christians or as Masons. I have read you the words as given in our authorised version, words, simple, beautiful, and full of meaning, but the meaning may perhaps be brought out more fully, and the translation will be quite as literal, perhaps more so, were we to read it as follows:—"Finally, brethren, whatsoever is true, whatsoever is venerable, whatsoever is just, whatsoever is pure, whatsoever is endearing, whatsoever is of good report—if there be any virtue, if there be any praise, let such things be your treasure"—lit., "reckon those things of most account" (Conybeare and Howson). And I ask you, brethren, are not Christianity and Masonry entirely consonant in such a statement as this? Certainly they are! Thank God, the principles of Christianity are world-wide and world-known. They are stated too often from the Christian pulpit; they are published too often by the Christian press; they may be read even by the child; so frequently from this the volume of the Sacred Law, and I need not now detain you to show you what the world knows, that the principles of Christianity are pure, lovely, and heavenly. These principles are many and varied, countless almost in number, and extending to every duty of this life. But, though they are so, they may be all summed up in the golden rule of our great Master and Teacher, Jesus Christ, "that we must love the Lord our God with all our heart, and with all our mind, and with all our soul, and with all our strength, and our neighbour as ourself." And, more than this, that in doing the latter, loving our neighbour as ourself, we are often thereby doing most the will of our God and Heavenly Father, and showing most our love to Him! Some of you have heard the Arabic legend, so beautifully rendered into English verse by Leigh Hunt, that you will pardon me if I introduce it here, as an example of what I am now trying to press upon you. It is known as the legend of "Abon Ben Adhem and the Angel," and runs as follows:—

Abon Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw, within the moonlight, in his room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
An angel writing in a book of gold;—
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The vision rais'd its head,
And, with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abon. Nay, not so,"
Replied the angel. Abon spoke more low,
But cheerily still, and said, "I pray thee then,
Write me as one who loves his fellow men."

The Angel wrote and vanish'd. The next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And show'd the names whom love of God had bless'd,
And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest.

We need not have, however, to turn to the story of an Arabic legend for the greatest and highest teaching on such a subject. No! The whole tenor of the inspired word is a continual insisting on such principles as these, and the life of Jesus—the Great Master—is but one bright and prolonged instance of their being put forth into practice; while the teaching of "the beloved Apostle" is so full of it, that I shall here content myself by one quotation, where this duty—of shewing our love to God by our love to our fellow men—is more strongly insisted on than in any other place I know—"He that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" This, I say, represents the truest Christianity when carried out fully into practice in our lives; this represents the truest Masonry also. It is not the saying, but the doing. "He who doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven" is the best Christian and the best Mason. I need not detain you now, brethren, to show you what you are shown in every lodge when you assemble, or inculcate duties upon you which it is the study of every good Mason ever to practise, or vindicate principles which every true Mason holds as dear as his own life. Standing in this pulpit to-day, I would simply remind you ever to act worthy of those principles, and thus forcibly impress upon the outside world "the dignity and high value of Freemasonry." For if you do, then I am sure that we shall all show forth "that when a man is said to be a Mason, the world will know that he is one to whom the burdened heart may pour forth his sorrows and find consolation, to whom the distressed may pour forth his suit and find relief; that he is one whose hand is guided by justice, and whose heart is expanded by benevolence." Brethren, I had a great deal more to say to you to-day—a great deal more than I had prepared to say—but the duties of this day have been so long and arduous, and, as those duties are yet far from finished, I prefer ending what I have said to you with this word "Benevolence." For, while it reminds us of many good and estimable qualities, it also reminds us of that "Fund of Benevolence" of ours, which is at this moment impoverished by our having contributed such a magnificent sum as we have done towards the Boys' School in London. You know what has been done, and how Cheshire is now in the proud position of being able to have a permanent appointment of a deceased brother's child in that fine school. Further words of mine, I feel sure, are not needed to draw forth an expression of your sympathy in behalf of this fund. And, in appealing to you to-day to contribute to it, as good Christians and good Masons, I know I shall not be appealing in vain! Amen.

CONSECRATION OF THE KENT DALE LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS, No. 195.

The lodge was opened at 4.30 p.m. on Tuesday, the 26th ult., by the V.W. Bro. F. Binckes, Grand Secretary G.L.M.M.M., who appointed the V.W. Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., P.P.G.W.M. Lancashire, as S.W.; Wor. Bro. E. Simpson, W.M. Moore Lodge, 146, as J.W.; and the Rev. W. Beeby, P.G.C. Cumberland and Westmorland, as Chaplain; Bros. George Potter, 60, M.O.; W. Hall, 146, S.O.; R. Godfrey, J.O.; Geo. McKay, Secretary pro tem. and D.C.; Jos. Crookill, 146, S.D.; and others. After the lodge was opened, the R.W.D.P.G.M. M.M. of Cumberland and Westmorland, and P.G.W. of England, Bro. Col. Whitwell, entered, and was saluted according to ancient custom. There being six candidates for advancement to the honourable degree of M.M.M., the V.W. Bro. F. Binckes proceeded with this beautiful ceremony in his usual careful and impressive manner, to enable the candidates to be present at the consecration, the lodge being already constituted by the warrant issued by the M.W.G.M.M., Bro. the Earl of Limerick.

The consecration ceremony was then performed by the V.W. Bro. F. Binckes, assisted by the R.W.D.P.G.M.M.M., Bro. Col. Whitwell, M.P., and the V.W. Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., P.P.G.W.M.M.M. Lancashire, the oration being delivered in an effective and very impressive manner by the Installing Officer, Bro. F. Binckes.

The lodge being duly dedicated and constituted, Bro. Binckes proceeded with the installation of Bro. George J. McKay, who was presented to the Installing Master by Bro. Col. Whitwell, M.P., and duly installed into the chair of A. All the brethren under the Degree of I.M. having entered the lodge, the usual salutations were made, and the following brethren invested by the newly-installed W.M.:—Bros. Robert Godfrey, S.W.; W. Cranston, J.W.; Jas. Gooding, M.O., by proxy; A. J. Nelson, S.O.; R. B. Hunter, J.O.; Jas. Pickthall, Treasurer; W. F. Robson, Registrar; F. W. Watson, Secretary; O. G. Grayson, S.D.; and others.

The V.W. Bro. F. Binckes, V.W. Bro. J. Daniel Moore, and Wor. Bro. E. Simpson were elected honorary members. A hearty vote of thanks having been expressed to the consecrating officers, several brethren proposed for advancement, and the usual proclamations having been made, the lodge was duly and solemnly closed with prayer by the P.G. Chaplain, when the brethren adjourned to the Commercial Hotel, where a very recherché banquet awaited them, provided by the worthy host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Barrow.

Ample justice having been done to the good things provided, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were heartily given and responded to, and the brethren separated at an early hour, having given three cheers to nine worthy brethren, who had to drive a distance of seventeen miles to Lancaster.

THE MASONIC MAGAZINE.—We take the following from the "Philadelphia Keystone":—"The London 'Masonic Magazine' for September contains a number of interesting and valuable Masonic papers. Brother Hughan furnishes an exact copy of the 'Rawlinson MS.,' from a transcript made about A.D. 1730. Bro. Woodford, the editor, gives a review of the 'Domesday Book,' together with a fac-simile page of the original Latin from the Book, which makes a handsome frontispiece to this number of the Magazine. Our recent editorial article in 'The Keystone' on 'The Goose and Gridiron' is also reproduced, together with the illustration accompanying it. In connection with it the editor kindly remarks:—"We note that 'The Keystone' has just reached its decennial anniversary, and we beg to offer the editor and publishers our fraternal good wishes and hearty sympathies. A better conducted paper we do not know." Thanks, Bro. Woodford. Praise from 'Sir Hubert' is praise indeed.

A NEW INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT.—It appears that the minds of the people about Dinapore, Patna, and the neighbourhood have lately been seized with the belief that the British soldiers have orders to decapitate all natives abroad after sunset, or found in secluded places. The heads are deposited in the Masonic Lodges, and thence distributed over foreign countries, and by their means the Sarkar is accounted able to gain intelligence of all political intrigues. So implicitly is all this nonsense believed that no native servant will stir abroad after dark, and even "respectable men of business" are said to accept the general delusion. This delusion is said to represent a well-known ancient superstition, and there have been times when such terrors on the part of the people were not quite so imaginary as they are now. But the fact that even now they readily do believe such things of us is very significant. It is said, too, that equally such rumours have found credence even in Calcutta, and that quite recently.—"Allen's Indian Mail."

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS. For the Week ending Friday, October 12, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7.

- Gen. Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 1194, Villiers, Grotto Hot., Twickenham.
" 1572, Carnarvon, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 1607, Loyalty, Alexandra Palace, N.
" 1622, Rose, Surrey M.H., Consecration.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 10.

- Lodge 59, Royal Naval, F.M.H.
" 193, Confidence, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 957, Leigh, F.M.H.
" 1571, Leopold, Woolpack Tav., Bermondsey, S.E.
Chap. 22, Mount Zion, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3.

- Lodge 167, St. John's, Holly Bush Tav., Hampstead.
" 180, St. James's Union, F.M.H.
" 198, Percy, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 211, St. Michael, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 228, United Strength, Old Jerusalem Tav.
" 548, Wellington, White Swan Tav., Deptford.
" 917, Cosmopolitan, Cannon-st. Hot.
" 933, Doric, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1269, Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anrley.
" 1538, St. Martin's-le-Grand, M.H., Masons' Avenue.
" 1604, Wanderers, F.M.H.
Chap. 185, Jerusalem, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Steyne.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11.

- Com. R.M.B.I., at 3.
Lodge 3, Fidelity, F.M.H.
" 9, Albion, Regent M.H., W.
" 13, Union Waterloo M.H., Wm.-st., Woolwich.
" 15, Kent, F.M.H.
" 87, Vitruvian, White Hart, College-st., Lambeth.
" 147, Justice, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
" 238, Pilgrim, 101, Queen Victoria-st.
" 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tav., Burdett-rd., E.

- Lodge 1017, Montefiore, F.M.H.
" 1260, Hervey, F.M.H.
" 1305, St. Marylebone, Eyre Arms, St. John's Wood.
" 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st.
" 1503, Francis Burdett, Albany Hot., Twickenham.
" 1523, St. Mary Magdalen, Star Hot., Greenwich.
Grand Council Ill. Knights K.H. 30°, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12.

- Lodge 19, R. Athelstan, Cannon-st. Hot.
" 206, Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 860, Dalhousie, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 879, Southwark, Southwark Park Tav.
" 1076, Capper, Marine Hot., Victoria Docks.
" 1216, Macdonald, Hd.-qtrs. 1st. Surrey Rifles, S.E.
" 1457, Bagshaw, Bald-faced Stag, Buckhurst Hill.
" 1471, Islington, Cock Tav., Highbury.
" 1558, Duke of Connaught, Surrey M.H.
" 1599, Skelmersdale, M.H., Masons' Avenue.
Chap. 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hot.
" 140, St. George's, Globe, Royal Hill, Greenwich.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6.

- Lodge 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1420, Earl Spencer, Northcote Hot., Wandsworth.
Chap. 33, Briannic, F.M.H.
Precep. D., Mount Calvary.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Constitution, Bedford-st., Covent Garden.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 14, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 9.

- Lodge 314, Peace and Unity, Militia Mess R., Preston.
" 1021, Hartington, H.M., C.H.B., B-in-Furness.
" 1350, Fermor Hesketh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1398, Baldwin Castle, Dalton-in-Furness.
" 1496, Trafford, Northumberland Hot., Old Trafford.
Derby L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Mark Lodge 165, Egerton, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.
Red Cross Conclave of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10.

- Lodge 178, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.
" 241, Merchants, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1250, Gilbert Greenall, M.R., Warrington.
Chap. 537, Zion, M. Chambers, Birkenhead.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11.

- Lodge 281, Fortitude, Athenæum, Lancaster.
" 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, 80, N. Hill-st.
" 1547, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 673, St. John's, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12.

- Lodge 216, Harmonic, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
" 333, Royal Preston, Vic., Garrison Hot. Fulwood.
" 477, Mersey, M.R., Birkenhead.
" 786, Croxteth United Service, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1035, Prince of Wales, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
" 1182, Duke of Edinburgh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1213, Bridgwater, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Mariners L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13.

- Lodge 185, Perseverance, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1289, Rock, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 14, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 9.

- Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 204, St. Paul, George Inn, Ayr.
" 205, Garthland St. Winnoch, Eagle, Lochwinnoch.
" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 307, Union and Crown, M.H., Barrhead.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 384, Athole, Washington Hot., Kirkintilloch.
" 503, St. George, Oddfellows' H., Helensburgh.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
Chap. 76, Abbey, 8, High-st., Paisley.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10.

- Lodge 230, St. Barnabas, Black Bull Hot., Old Cumnock.
" 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.
" 426, Prince of Wales, M.H., Renfrew.
" 441, Glasgow, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.
" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmuir.
" 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingston.
Chap. 17, Greenock, M.H., Cathcart-st.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11.

- Lodge 178, Scotia, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 333, St. George, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st., Maryhill.
Chap. 113, Partick, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12.

- Lodge 88, New Monkland Montrose, T.H., Airdrie.
" 109, St. Marnock, Crown Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 203, St. John Operative, Olive H., Airdrie.
" 334, St. John's, Castle Inn, New Cumnock.
" 557, Blantyre Kilwinning, C.H., High Blantyre.
" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.
Chap. 50, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13.

- Lodge 18, Dumbarton, Church-st., Dumbarton.
" 147, Cadder Argyle, M.H., Chryston.
" 153, R.A., M.H., Pollokshaws, Cogan-st.
" 170, Leven St. John, Black Bull Inn, Renton.
" 427, St. Clair, M.H., Cambusnethan.
Chap. 144, St. Rollox, 69, Garngad-rd., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 14, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 9.

- Lodge 145, St. Stephen, St. James's Hall, Writers' Court.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10.

- Lodge 1, Edinburgh, Mary's Chapel, Waterloo-pl.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11.

- Lodge 2, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John's-st.

- Chap. 1, Edinburgh, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12.

- Lodge 8, Journeyman, Blackfriars-st.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13.

- Chap. 56, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John-st.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

Second Application—October Election, 1876.

The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are earnestly solicited on behalf of

JAMES HENRY BATELY,

Orphan, aged 10 years.

The Father, Bro. James Batley, P.M., formerly a Chemist, of the Triangle, Kennington, was initiated in the Fortitude and Old Cumberland Lodge, No. 12, in November, 1852; joined the United Pilgrims' Lodge, No. 507, in March 1854, and continued a Subscribing Member till February, 1866; was Steward for R.M. I.B. in 1862. He died in 1866, leaving five children, the present Candidate being then but a fortnight old. The case is specially recommended by the following Brethren, by whom Proxies will be thankfully received; also by the Petitioner, Mrs. Elizabeth Prince, of 213, King's Road, Chelsea, who, through reverse, and being again a Widow, is compelled to apply for her son's admission to this valuable Institution:

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., P.D.G.M. for Middlesex, 11, Abchurch Lane.

Leopold Ruf, P.M. and Treas., P.Z. No. 12, Lowther Arcade.

J. Nunn, P.M. No. 72, P.Z. 72 and 720, 376, Kennington Road, S.E.

W. H. Pannel, C.C., 1, Guildhall Chambers, E.C. Lodge No. 180.

Henry Smith, P.M. Royal Arthur Lodge, No. 1360, 36, Buckingham Palace Road.

W. Carter, P.M. and Treas. No. 141, 96, Pimlico Road.

E. J. Page, Vice-President, P.G.S., No. 23, 188, Kennington Park Road.

George Kenning, Vice-President P.M., P.Z., P.G.D. Middlesex, Upper Sydenham.

H. M. Collier, 12, Canonbury Square, Islington.

J. Funge, P.M. No. 69, 19, Sloane Street, Chelsea.

R. Shingleton, St. Luke's Lodge, No. 144, 118, King's Road, Chelsea.

C. L. Marshall, P.M. Neptune Lodge, No. 22, "Palmerston Tavern," Camberwell.

Innos, 50, Beaufort Street, Chelsea.

FREEMASONRY.

THE ALBURY M.S.

A succinct history of the amalgamated guild of Masons and Freemasons, and of the development of the symbolic system. 8vo. By post, on remittance of 1s. 1d. to

CLAYTON & SONS, Publishers,

17, BOUVERIE-STREET, FLEET-STREET.

TO RESTAURANT AND HOTEL PROPRIETORS, &c.
GAIN, BUTCHER, 23, SEETHING-LANE,
Great Tower-street

Supplies Hotels, Luncheon-Rars, Coffee Houses, &c., with Joints, Chops, Steaks, &c., at lowest possible rates.
Branch Establishments—Gipsy-hill, Norwood; 306, Walworth-road.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—

Craft Masonry.....	453
Instruction.....	455
Scotland.....	455
Mark Masonry.....	455
Red Cross of Constantine.....	455
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	455
Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire.....	456
Consecration of the Bayard Chapter Rose Croix.....	457
The Difficulties of the Masonic Press.....	458
Female Freemasonry.....	459
Emulation Lodge of Improvement.....	459
A Recent Masonic Sermon.....	459
CORRESPONDENCE:—
The Funds of Grand Lodge.....	459
Hermetic Masonry, or Long Lives.....	459
Female Freemasonry.....	459
Ultramontane Violence.....	460
Consecration of the Rose Lodge, No. 1621.....	460
Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Cumberland.....	461
A New Intelligence Department.....	461
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	461
Obituary.....	461
Freemasonry in Canada.....	461
Masonic and General Tidings.....	462
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	462
Advertisements.....	I. ii. iii. iv. v.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—The first meeting of this thriving and old established lodge was held at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Tuesday, the 26th ult. There were present the following officers: Bros. Kennett, I.P.M., acting W.M.; Davis, S.W.; Mallett, J.W.; Dailey, J.D., acting S.D.; Walls, acting J.D.; Bye, I.G.; Rumbald, W.S.; Whitley, D.C.; Past Masters Carter (Treas.), Stuart (Sec.), Hopwood, Taylor, Green, and Themans. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Kennett raised Bro. Smith to the Third Degree most impressively. The W.M., Bro. Waygood, having arrived, and assumed his position, passed Bro. Barrett, and initiated Mr. Henry Stokes into Craft mysteries. The election of W.M. for the ensuing year then took place, and Bro. Davis, S.W., was almost unanimously elected to the chair of K.S., and that brother made an excellent reply for the great honour accorded to him. Bro. Carter, P.M., was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Longstaffe re-appointed Tyler. The members elected to audit the annual accounts were Bros. Whitley, Heapley, Walls, Clark, and F. Browning, and the third Tuesday in October was the night appointed for the purpose. The Committee of the Benevolent Fund was re-appointed, and Bro. Morrison added to their number. Upon the motion of Bro. Taylor, P.M., Bro. Carter, P.M., the Treasurer to the lodge, was unanimously elected an honorary member, as a slight recognition of the great service rendered by him to the brethren. Previously to the lodge being closed, Bro. Kennett, I.P.M., proposed, in a very neat speech, that the customary Past Master's jewel should be voted to their W.M., Bro. Waygood, which motion having been seconded, was unanimously carried. The brethren and visitors, to the number of sixty-three, then adjourned to the banquet, which was well served in the Pillar Room, under the superintendence of Bro. Smith. [The visitors were Bros. Clement, I.G. 1310; Bennett, 177; Foster, late 1105; Moss, 1185; Wray, 1257. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave the usual royal and Craft toasts, which were duly honoured. "The Health of the W.M." was proposed by the I.P.M., and briefly responded to by Bro. Waygood. Bro. Stokes, the initiate, having been toasted, made an able reply. "The Visitors," and other toasts, followed in quick succession. In the intervals, Bros. Robinson, Walls, Mallett, and others contributed some harmony, and the Tyler's toast having been given, the brethren adjourned until the last Tuesday in October, when Bro. Davis, W.M. elect, will be duly installed.]

ST. JOHN'S LODGE (No. 167).—On Tuesday evening the annual meeting of the members of this ancient lodge for the installation of the W.M. was held at the usual quarters, the Holy Bush, Hampstead. The lodge was opened by Bro. T. M. Jackson, W.M., who was supported during the evening by the following brethren:—Bros. H. Hollis, P.M.; Ralph Firbank, P.M.; W. W. Alexander, P.M.; J. Ware, P.M.; T. A. Adams, P.M.; E. Barge, P.M.; John Stanage, S.W.; J. F. Rowe, J.W.; H. Cornick, Treas.; J. R. Thompson, Sec.; John Yeomans, S.D.; C. Muller, J.D.; W. Keil, I.G.; F. Adlard, P.M., M.C. There were also seventeen other members of the lodge present, and the following visitors:—Bros. G. J. Turner, J.D. 157; Joseph Piget, W.M. 753; H. Burn, P.M. 731; W. Butterfield, W.M. 1085; J. Lane, P.M. 1085; H. May, I.P.M. 212; Jas. Hopkinson, 432; J. S. Gallilee, J.W. 178; Robert Berridge, W.M. 21; Thos. H. Howenden, 21; J. F. Wirest, 753; Wm. Paxon, 167; C. Koester, P.M. 435; James Burford, 173; Thomas Claiser, 23; R. Clouser, 23; P. Dickenson, S.W. 1298; J. Forwood, 1288; D. Pitney, 72; and H. Massey ("Freemason"), P.M. 619. There was one raising to be performed, and for this purpose Bro. H. Hollis, P.M., ascended the chair, and in due form imparted the secrets of the Third Degree to Bro. J. G. Humphreys. Bro. Firbank, P.M., afterwards took the post of W.M., and installed Bro. John Eldridge as Master of the lodge. Bro. Eldridge appointed as his officers Bros. J. F. Rowe, S.W.; John Yeomans, J.W.; H. Cornick, Treas.; J. R. Thompson, Sec.; C. Muller, S.D.; W. Keil, J.D.; Davis, I.G.; F. Adlard, D.C.; H. Hollis, P.M., W.S.; and Bro. Steedman, T. When the ceremony was completed, the W.M. commenced his year of work by initiating Mr. Bellamy into the Order, and gave ample proofs of his ability to preside over the lodge in the capacity of Master. The lodge was afterwards closed, and the brethren adjourned to a banquet which was well supplied by Bro. H. Baker, the proprietor of the Holy Bush. As it was late in the evening when the time came round for the proposing of the various toasts, the speeches in which this was done were made very brief, none of them occupying more than a couple of minutes in delivery. Bro. Robert Berridge, W.M. 21, and Grand Steward, was called upon to reply on behalf of the Grand Officers, Bro. T. A. Adams, P.G.P., having been obliged to leave early on account of his advanced age. Bro. Berridge replying more for the other Grand Officers than for himself, said that the Grand Officers as a body were very useful brethren, and they managed Grand Lodge affairs so thoroughly and so well that he was sure they deserved well of the whole of the Craft. The W.M. in the course of proposing "The Health of the Visitors," said that the St. John's Lodge was always glad to receive them. It was a very old established lodge and there were many old members belonging to it. It had always been a great pleasure to them to see old faces among them, and a great many of those then present he had frequently seen before from his young years in Masonry. Bro. G. J. Turner replying, said: he must express his most unqualified recognition of the lodge's hospitality. He visited a good many London lodges, although he was not a very old man, he was a Mason of twenty years standing, but still in the blue, yet he had never seen greater hospitality exhibited than he had experienced that evening. Bro. Berridge also replied, saying that he could not let that opportunity pass by without expressing his great pleasure with the working of the lodge. It had given all the brethren very much pleasure indeed to see how well not only the W.M., but the P.M.'s and officers had worked the different ceremonies, particularly Bro. Firbank, P.M., in the ceremony of installation. In proposing the toast of "The Initiate," the W.M. reminded the brethren of the careful and ready way in which Bro. Bellamy had answered all the questions put to him. Bro. Bellamy said he had to thank the brethren for accepting him as a brother Mason in that most honourable and ancient lodge. He must also thank Bro. Fry for having proposed him, and he hoped that his Masonic career would not disgrace his proposer. He should try and attend all the meetings of the lodge, so as to learn as much of his duties as would render him an efficient Freemason, and enable him to perform the work which was expected of every brother. Bro. Fairbank, P.M., who was chosen to reply to the toast of "The P.M.'s," addressing the officers of St. John's Lodge, said the W.M. wished him to attempt to express his feelings. He thought that if even the St. John's Lodge had a good and efficient set of officers it had them now. The W.M. had known the lodge many years; he had gone through all the offices, and was thoroughly conversant with the duties of each; he had seen the officers working upward from the lowest point, and from the highest down to the lowest he had satisfied himself that all his officers were able to perform their duties. He was quite sure that his duties during his year would be very much lightened by the efficiency of his officers. The Treasurer and Secretary were the best known officers of the lodge, having filled their respective offices for a long time. The Treasurer certainly knew how to take care of the funds, and the Secretary was very active in getting them in. The S.W., in reply, said that all the officers would do their best in working the lodge efficiently; and the J.W. added that emulation was his motto, and he should endeavour to surpass, if possible, his predecessors in office. The Treasurer, in his reply, advocated success to the charities, and the Secretary acknowledged the compliment which had been paid to him by the observations of Bro. Firbank. The Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant evening to a close, and the brethren afterwards returned to town.

LION AND LAMB LODGE (No. 192).—The first meeting of the session of the above lodge was held on Thursday, the 5th inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel, Cannon-street. Present: Bros. Cohu, W.M.; Arkell, S.W.; Jones, J.W.; Kenning, Treas.; Marsh, Sec.; Legg, S.D.; Fellowes, J.D.; Rickwood, I.G., and about fifty other brethren. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed; Bros. Geo. Statham and J. Pinder were raised; Bros. R. J. Sutherland and H. Carter were passed; Messrs. C. Gale Sparrow, James Cook, Richard James Dart, and J. Darnell were initiated. Bro. Chas. Arkell proposed that the lodge be removed from the City Terminus Hotel, which, on being duly seconded and put, was lost by a large majority. Some other routine business having been done the brethren dined together, when the usual toasts were given and acknowledged. The W.M., Bro. Thomas Cohu, most ably presided, both in the lodge and at the banquet.

THE WILLIAM PRESTON LODGE (No. 706).—The first meeting of this lodge for the coming season was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Thursday, the 28th ult., when the following brethren were present:—Bros. John Pringle, W.M.; Mansfield Newton, S.W.; W. E. Newton, J.W.; Captain Kain, P.M. and Treasurer; W. Worrell, P.M., and Secretary; S. D. Ewins, S.D.; Dr. Cutmore, J.D.; E. Kidman, I.G.; A. Brown, P.M.; B. Abbott, P.M.; G. Newman, P.M.; W. Jerrett Miller, P.M.; also Bros. R. Lyon, B. G. Austin, G. Paull, W. Drake, P. Steinmann, Dr. Atwood, W. F. Smart, J. R. Williams, A. Grant, G. Castle, G. Smithers, jun., W. B. Broomhall, W. J. Collins, W. Johnston, R. Seaman, W. W. Brierley, F. Juer, F. G. Barnes, J. F. Honey, H. F. Partridge, R. Gunner, L. G. Reindhardt. Visitors: Bros. E. Paull, 1586; H. Paull, 1586; John A. Moss, 227; R. Harvey Bastow, 3; J. C. Dorosing, late 108; H. Garrod, P.M. 749; L. B. Pillin, J.W. 180; W. Hopekirk, P.M. 179. The business of the evening consisted of the passing of Bros. Brierley and Castle, the raising of Bro. Dr. Atwood. The report of the Audit Committee was received and adopted, and the Secretary congratulated the brethren on the financial position of the lodge. Bro. W. E. Newton, J.W., was elected as the W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. Capt. Kain was again most unanimously elected Treasurer, and Bro. Grant, Tyler. All business being then ended the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent dinner, presided over by the W.M., Bro. John Pringle. On the cloth being removed the W.M. proposed the usual loyal toasts, but on rising to propose the toast of the Past Masters, he said he did it on this occasion with great feelings of sorrow, as the brethren were all aware they had recently lost their much respected brother, the late lamented Dr. Whiteman, the father of the lodge, and his good qualities were so well known to all the members of the lodge, that he, the W.M., felt he could not speak all that he intended to say, so he would therefore call upon Bro. Capt. Kain to respond to the toast and make a few observations on their recent bereavement. In responding to the usual toast of the P.M.'s, Bro. Capt. Kain as Senior P.M. said: I rise with very solemn feelings on this occasion, to return thanks for my health having been drank as one of the P.M.'s. Some of the visitors who have favoured us with their company for the first time this evening will have discovered that this is a "Banner" Lodge, of which there are but few, and they may observe that as usual the W.M. and each P.M. is sitting under his own banner, they will also see that a banner in the background behind me is draped with black, that, brethren all, is the banner of our lamented brother, Dr. Richard Harland Whiteman, P.M., the so-called father of this lodge, and I may observe that he is only the second P.M. who has died since the consecration of the lodge, now nearly twenty years ago. The motto under his coat of arms is, "Absque Devusse spero," which being herald's latin may be freely translated as meaning "I am called a Whiteman and I hope I am without stain." Brethren, the motto, though covering as you will observe a pun, was most appropriate, his character was stainless. For nearly those twenty years at our meetings has his portly presence and his benign and venerable face been seen under that banner, and who, brethren, ever saw a frown or even a shade over that benevolent countenance and when, which was seldom, there was the slightest ruffle on the surface of this lodge caused by differences of opinion, who does not remember his calm and measured tones and persuasive voice successfully pouring oil on the temporarily troubled waters; and at the banquet how well we remember and how much we shall miss his genial and humorous speeches. For nearly twenty years, as I have said, he has at our meetings sat under that banner, and was only absent when required by his professional duties as a distinguished accoucher, and which absence he would pleasantly term, assisting at an initiation. As I have also said, he was called the father of the lodge, a title of which he was proud, brethren, that title I have now the honour of claiming at your hands; he is taken, I am left; his mantle has fallen on my shoulders, and I pray for Divine assistance to bear it as worthily as he did; but it cannot be for long. I am his senior in age, and am therefore fast approaching the end of the time allotted for man. The time may not be far distant when my place here will be vacant, when my banner will be draped with black, when my punning motto, "Si je puis"—"if I am able"—will be commented on, and when I hope some P.M. will have a kindly word for my memory. But the fall of a brother in the race of life cannot stop us in our social, domestic, and business avocations; we shed a tear over the fallen and pass onward to our duties in this life till it is our turn to fall. This is fully exemplified in the profession to which I have the honour to belong. When a soldier dies he is borne solemnly to his grave by his comrades with arms reversed, marching with measured steps and slow to the melancholy strains of the "Dead March in Saul." If a cavalry soldier, his charger is led fully mounted as if for war, but with a vacant saddle, the stirrups occupied with the warrior's vacant boots, heels to the front. The awe-inspiring burial service is read, and the heart and the ear throbs with those three solemn sentences,—earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust—each sentence accompanied by the thud of falling earth resounding on the coffin. Who that has witnessed a burial has not been moved at the scene, and may have shed a tear, and felt a rising in the throat? But to the soldier the sharp words of command are given, "Attention!" "Front turn!" "Quick march!" the band strikes up a merry tune, generally "The Lass I left behind me," and so they merrily march back to their duties. So, brethren, must it be with us. We have in spirit followed our lamented brother to his last home; we have in imagination heard the solemn service read over him, and with moistened eyes and beating hearts, have heard those sounding thuds. But like soldiers, we must be up and doing; we must close our ranks, fill up the vacant place, and march onwards to our duties in the battle of life, its victories, and its defeats, its joys and its sorrows, till at length the time comes when one by one we are called by the Great Commander-in-Chief to share with our departed brother the reward prepared for those who like him, have done their duty, and have fought and fallen in the good fight. Brethren, let us in solemn silence drink to his memory.

PERFECT ASHLAR LODGE (No. 1178).—The installation meeting of this lodge, held at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, on Thursday, 6th inst., Bro. J. A. Smith, W.M., opened the lodge punctually at half-past four o'clock. There were present Bros. F. H. Ebsworth, P.M., Treas.; G. J. Grace, P.M., W.S.; C. Deakin, P.M.; J. H. Hainsworth, P.M.; Dr. Dixon, P.M.; F. Walters, P.G.J.D. M. J. Essex, P.M., Sec.; W. Batchelor, S.W.; W. T. Le J.W. and W.M. elect; F. Garbett, S.D.; J. St. J.D.; J. Wootton, I.G.; and forty others. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. Hooper, 879; Rogers, 463; Lenner, 879; Plummer, 177; Edwards, 619; Beddoe, 548; Smith, 1257; P. Magee, 548; Hogarth, 1107; Groen, 73; T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, W.M. 1540; T. J. H. Wilkins, P.M. 73; Mott, 1391; Kent, W.M. 1571; Ashton, 1571; Ringwood, 834; J. W. Sutton, 73; Farrer, 1462; J. Stephens, 73; Buck, 1196; Willett, 1571; Bowen, 1571; Hawkes, 65; Nicholson, 101; Rutherford, 188; Percy, 228; Cook, 177; and some others whose names we would not learn. The work, done in an able manner, was initiated Mr. F. T. Bayley into Freemasonry, and installing Bro. W. T. Lover, W.M., who appointed as his officers Bros. W. Batchelor, S.W.; F. Garbett, J.W.; J. A. Smith, I.P.M.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M., Treas. (re-invested for 7th time); Frederick Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M. Sec. (re-invested for 9th time); J. Stock, S.D.; J. Porter, J.D.; T. Simpson, I.G.; J. H. Harmsworth, P.M., D.C.; G. J. Grace, P.M., W.S. (re-invested for 3rd time); W. Y. Laing, P.M., Tyler (re-invested for 9th time). A vote of thanks was given to Bro. J. A. Smith for his doing the ceremony of installation, the same to be entered on the lodge minute book. Afterwards at the banquet table a five-guinea Past Master's jewel was given him, which had been unanimously voted to him from the lodge funds. An important notice of motion was unanimously agreed to. The report of the Audit Committee was received, adopted, and ordered to be entered on lodge minute book. Some candidates were proposed for initiation. The lodge was closed and adjourned until Thursday, December 7th. Banquet and dessert followed. The usual toasts were given and responded to. An agreeable evening was happily spent.

KENNINGTON LODGE (No. 1381).—The opening night after the recess of this lodge was held at the Surrey Club House, Kennington Oval, on the 3rd instant. The lodge was opened at 4.30 in the afternoon by the W.M., Bro. Everett, P.M. Domestic, assisted by Bros. Higgins, S.W.; Reeves, J.W.; Walls, S.D.; Kohler, J.D.; Speedy, I.G.; Marsden, W.S.; Gardner, I.P.M.; Page, P.M., &c., Treas. & Stuart, Sec.; Mann, P.M., &c.; Koch, P.M.; Drysdale, P.M. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. raised Bro. King, passed Bro. Wardley, and initiated Messrs. W. G. Webster and H. J. Fischel into the Craft. The three arduous ceremonies were most excellently carried out by the W.M., and their impressiveness was greatly enhanced by the accompaniments of Bro. Ellis, jun., Org. Previously to the closing of the lodge, the W.M. rose and stated that he took that opportunity of expressing his thanks to those brethren of the lodge who had supported his Stewardship at the last festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. He said that, as they were aware, Bro. Page, their esteemed Treasurer, had been appointed by the lodge to act as Steward, but that brother very kindly gave way, and he (the W.M.) was enabled to take up a list of nearly £60, which was, he thought, a very respectable sum considering the age and strength of the lodge. Several propositions having been taken, the lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet. The visitors were Bros. Littell, P.M. 866, late 1381; Palmer, J.W. Domestic; Dr. Jones; Field, 177; Scott, 1558. The cloth having been removed, the W.M. stated that it was not his intention on that occasion to bore them with long speeches, but as they knew there were certain regular toasts to propose, he must crave their indulgence while he gave a short preface to each. The first toast, he said, required but little introduction, because as Englishmen they were proud to live under the benign rule of their Royal lady Victoria, and as Freemasons they were bound to honour their ancient institution on all occasions. He therefore called upon them to drink to "The Queen and the Craft." In proposing "The M.W.G.M.," the W.M. said that at their last meeting H.R.H. was in the distant East, and it must be very gratifying to them to think in the interim that he had returned home safe and in good health, and that many beneficial results, arising from his visit, were already apparent in India. This toast was received with excellent fire. "The Health of the Pro G.M., Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present," followed. The W.M., in introducing this toast, said the Craft were to be congratulated upon possessing two noblemen who carried out the duties of their high Masonic station so well as the Earl of Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale. The latter in particular was a most enthusiastic Mason, and never missed an opportunity of honouring, and aiding by his presence every great Craft gathering. He was sorry that the Kennington Lodge had not a member possessing Grand Lodge honours, but he hoped that that would not be always the case. In conclusion he expressed an opinion that whilst Freemasonry was supported by the prominent members of the English aristocracy it must ever flourish. The I.P.M., in giving the toast of "The W.M.," said that he was glad that the pleasing duty had devolved upon him of proposing the health of their W.M., for the manner in which Bro. Everett had discharged the arduous duties of the chair since his election was a proof that the lodge had elected the right man in the right place. He personally considered it an honour to serve under their W.M., and he (the I.P.M.) would endeavour to assist him in every way during the remainder of his year of office. Previously to this toast being drunk, Bro. Mann, P.M., having obtained the permission of the I.P.M., stated that he wished the brethren to know that their W.M. had very handsomely presented the lodge with a valuable harmonium, which, as they were aware, would greatly heighten the impressiveness of the various ceremonies. He was sorry that the matter had not been mentioned in the lodge, but at the next meeting a vote of thanks would be moved to the W.M. for his liberal and considerate addition to the lodge furniture. The W.M., in his reply, expressed his thanks to the I.P.M. for proposing his health, and the brethren for responding to it so warmly. He assured the brethren that he was proud of holding the position of W.M. in the Kennington Lodge, and he was pleased to think that his humble efforts to promote its interests were so ably seconded by his officers. With respect to the harmonium which he had presented, he wished to say a few words. The summer festival in connection with the lodge, had out of consideration for the great loss he had sustained by the death of his mother and two sisters been most kindly put off by the brethren, and as it had been his intention to have been personally at some expense in order to have increased the comforts of the brethren on the occasion he thought that the best thing he could do, as the outing did not take place, and also to commemorate his year of office, was to present the brethren with an instrument, that the solemnity of the lodge working might be increased. He then proposed "The Initiates," which toast having been drunk, Bros. Webster and Fischel responded very neatly. They stated that they had long desired to join the Craft, and they expressed their thanks to their proposers for having given them that opportunity, and in conclusion that they were profoundly impressed with the ceremony of their initiation, and that they hoped some day to fill the proud position so ably occupied by the W.M. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. gave as his opinion that the interchange of lodge courtesies was one of the principal supports of the Craft. By visiting different lodges the brethren had opportunities of studying the various workings, and of making new and cementing old friendships. In conclusion, he called upon Bro. Dr. Jones to reply to the toast. That brother, in the course of a very long and eloquent speech, said that he was proud at having his name coupled so prominently with the toast. He was reminded forcibly of the words in Dante's "Inferno," "Abandon hope, all who enter here;" but that inscription could not be used in connection with the Kennington Lodge, for when he entered its portals he found unbounded hospitality, charming geniality, and perfect harmony prevailing. He had visited nearly every city and town in England and many places abroad, and he had always found that a Freemason had a sure passport and an introduction to every society. He desired the newly initiated brethren to bear in mind that they had that day entered an institution which, notwithstanding the denunciations of Pope and Kaiser, had stood for ages, and would stand until time should be no more. When they came to consider the vast hold that Freemasonry had taken throughout the habitable globe and the great benefits it conferred, it was astonishing that men could be found weak enough to sneer at its virtues, its philanthropy, and above all to impugn the divine principles of religion that it eliminated. In conclusion, he wished to assure the brethren that even after forty years' experience of the Craft he was as proud of it as on the day when he first saw the "light." "The Past Masters' Toast" followed, and was responded to by Bros. Gardner, Mann, and Koch. In giving "The Health of the Treasurer and Secretary," the W.M. expressed the great obligations he was under to those popular and worthy brethren. Without the hearty and valuable co-operation of those important officers, no W.M., he said, could hope to carry out the duties of his position with satisfaction to himself and to the approval of the brethren. This toast having been duly honoured, Bros. Page, Treasurer, and Stuart, Secretary, responded. In the course of their respective replies they said that the majority of the members were such good paymasters that their duties were rendered comparatively easy, and they were, as old Masons, delighted with the great progress that the Kennington Lodge had made, both as regards numbers and the status of its members. They were also gratified that their respective duties had been so warmly recognised by the W.M. in the proposing and the brethren in receiving the toast. The toast of "The Officers" followed, and was responded to by Bros. Higgins, Reeves, Walls, and Marsden. The Tyler's toast, at eleven, terminated the proceedings.

MARQUESS OF RIPON LODGE (No. 1489).—Yesterday week the installation meeting of this young lodge was held in the hall of the Metropolitan Societies' Asylum, Balls Pond-road, when Bro. W. H. Murlis, W.M., opened the lodge. After some formal business had been transacted, Bro. Wm. Stephens, P.M., ascended the chair, and installed Bro. T. E. Jessett as W.M. for the year. The W.M. then invested the following brethren with their collars and jewels of office:—Bros. Walford, S.W.; Dr. Symonds, J.W.; W. Stephens, Treas.; W. H. Murlis, Sec.; John High, S.D.; Hastings Miller, J.D.; Glaskin, I.G.; W. Grist, D.C.; Chas. Smith, W.S.; and Gilchrist, Tyler. The installation was the only ceremonial business before the lodge, all other work having been wisely cleared off at a former meeting, and the brethren thereby spared the necessity of sitting in a warm room for an excessive number of hours. After the installation ceremony was perfected, the W.M. decorated Bro. Murlis with a handsome Past Master's jewel; and subsequently a vote of thanks was passed, and ordered to be recorded on the lodge minutes, to Bro. Stephens for performing the installation. Lodge was closed at an early hour, and the brethren afterwards partook of a choice banquet, supplied by Bro. W. Grist. When this had been done ample justice to, the usual toasts were proposed and honoured, and Bro. E. P. Albert, G.P., was called upon to respond for the G. Officers. This having been done, Bro. Murlis, I.P.M., proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and Bro. Jessett, in the course of his reply to the toast, said he should endeavour to fulfil the expectations that the brethren were kind enough to entertain of his work. Before sitting down he proposed "The Health of the I.P.M.," and, referring to the jewel which had already been presented to Bro. Murlis, said that brother had thoroughly deserved it by the faithful discharge of his various duties while in the chair of the lodge. Bro. Murlis responded, and said that although the brethren had been pleased to consider him as advancing the interests of the lodge, he thought that Bro. Wm. Stephens should have been associated with the toast, that brother having exerted himself very much to bring the lodge to a state of great efficiency. Bro. Binckes's name having been associated with "The Visitors," he in the course of his reply referred to the high name which the Marquess of Ripon Lodge had already secured for itself in the Craft, and said he was sure that the name would never be tarnished in any shape or way, but that it would be handed down to those who succeeded to its Mastership, to emulate the good deeds of those who had gone before them. Although he had been called upon to reply as a visitor he took that opportunity of thanking the brethren for what they had done for the Institution with which he was more immediately connected and he did no more particularly because he had been frequently invited to the lodge, but had not previously been able to attend. When proposing "The Masonic Institutions" the W.M. announced that the first year of the lodge's existence, when Bro. W. Stephens was W.M., he acted as one of the Stewards for the lodge, and in the course of that year £300 was subscribed on the lists for the Institutions. This year a similar sum was collected. Bro. James Terry, Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, replied to the toast, and after acknowledging the healthy support which was given by the whole of the Craft to the Institutions of the Order gave, an account of the rapid increase which of late years had been made in the benefits these charities had conferred on the Craft to meet its increasing requirements. The other toasts were afterwards given, and the brethren separated after enjoying a delightful evening, in which music and singing were plentifully introduced.

PUTNEY.—The Royal Commemoration Lodge (No. 1585).—The meeting of the members of the above lodge took place on Wednesday, the 4th inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Putney, when the W.M., Bro. Joseph Wright, who was supported by the whole of his officers, had a full compliment of work before him. The lodge was duly opened, and the minutes of the first regular meeting, held in April, and the emergency held in June, were read and confirmed. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree and the examination having been undergone Bros. Mansell, Cook, Harrison and Russell were afterwards raised to the Third Degree in the usual careful manner of the W.M., who also gave the traditional history. Bros. Hatfield, Eykyn and Weston, were passed to the Second Degree, having been found duly qualified. Ballot was taken for Mr. Matthews and Mr. Foghill. The former being a Lewis, he with Messrs. Easton, Pardoe, Maryon and Williams were duly initiated by the W.M. in the ancient mysteries. Whilst the candidates were being prepared, the first and second sections were worked with the kind assistance of Bro. Collings, the D.C. Such a happy idea as this, in so young a lodge, speaks well for those who have the privilege, we may so term it, of belonging to a body of Masons, who thus use the spare moments to such good advantage. The W.M. on rising as usual, had three candidates proposed, there being the same number for admittance will again exceed the compliment allowed, so that this young lodge at present bids fair to become as popular as any going. This having brought the business to a close, the meeting was adjourned to November. At the banquet that followed, the usual toasts were given, and in reply to that of "The Visitors," P.M. Bro. Wise responded, and thanking the W.M. and brethren in his own name and for the other brethren for the kind way they had been received, and the pleasure they had experienced. P.M. H. Smith, the Secretary, in a very humorous speech proposed "The Health of the W.M.," who rose to reply. On the completion of Bro. Cook's song "The Health of the Initiates" was the next toast (the E.A. song being given by a lay brother); they returned thanks in a very brief manner. The other toasts that followed were, "The Treasurer and Secretary," "The Officers" and "The Lay Members," all of which were duly responded to. This pleasant evening, both in and out of the lodge, was brought to a close in the usual manner by Bro. Stead, the Tyler.

THE WANDERER'S LODGE (No. 1604).—This vigorous young lodge met on Tuesday evening at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, where the W.M., Bro. Geo. D. Roe, (P.P.G.S. Western Division South Wales), presided. In the absence of the Senior Warden the W.M. was assisted by Bro. Alfred Brookson, S.D., as his principal officer, and Bro. D. Evans, J.W., being obliged by urgent business to retire immediately after the opening of the lodge, another brother had to be deputed to fill his place. The other brethren present were Bros. Halpin, Chaplain; Meredith, Acting I.P.M.; F. J. Wray, J.D.; G. Boulton, I.G.; C. Fuller, Geo. Cox, Stewards, and the following brethren: Geo. Saunders, F. Newman, J. Harper, Keen, J. Wade, J. Brown, W. Duncan, E. Hornblower, H. Bennett, G. Collins, W. Gordon, W. S. Parsons, W. Sheffield, C. A. Cotebrune, P.G.P.; J. Huds-peth, B. Barton, A. J. Hardy, G. Morrison, S. Corbett, L. Marchant, John Guy. Amongst the visitors were: Bros. F. C. Pratt, 957; C. Cooke, 913; E. C. Massey, 1297 ("Freemason"); H. Dowdney, 145; G. Schultz, 13; G. Gillem, 192; H. S. Cooper, 228; R. J. Clapham, 398; W. Leeman, P.P.G. Chap. West Yorks, and P.G. Chap. Durham. The lodge having been opened in due form the following candidates were balloted for and approved, Mr. Geo. S. Reilly, Quartermaster Sergeant Royal Engineer Horse Guards, War Office, S.W., proposed by Bro. Young and seconded by Bro. Scott, Secretary, and Mr. George D. Head, late Sergeant-Major Tailor 5th Regiment, Examiner Royal Army Clothing Factory, Pimlico, S.W., proposed by Bro. Young and seconded by Bro. Harper. The ceremony of initiation was performed separately for each of these candidates, after which Bros. W. Sheffield, W. Keen, R. Ball, and J. Wade were passed, and Bro. George Saunders was raised to the Sublime Degree of M.M. We cannot too highly praise the working of Bro. Roe, which for impressiveness is rarely equalled, and considering that both his principal officers were absent the precision with which the ceremonies were performed reflects great credit on the assistant officers, particularly on Bro. Brookson and Bro. Wray. After the performance of the ceremonies was concluded, and six or seven initiates and joining members had been proposed by the W.M. and others, the lodge was closed in due form and adjourned, and the brethren retired for refreshment, consisting of a good supper, in the adjoining tavern.

After the removal of the cloth, the customary loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to by the brethren, Bro. Cottebrune, P.G.P., returning thanks for "The Grand Officers." In proposing "The Health of the Initiates," which toast was made to include all candidates since June, the W.M. said that he would wish to impress upon them that Freemasonry was not a thing which can be learned in a day, a month, or a year, but that it was a worthy structure formed in wisdom, constituted in strength, and adorned by beauty, and that its lessons afforded pleasure, recreation, and profit. It was in that light he wished the brethren to regard Freemasonry. Bro. Meredith, as I.P.M., proposed "The Health of the W.M.," in doing which he referred to the energy and able working of Bro. Roe, and attributed to his exertions, and the interest he took in it, the prosperity of the lodge. In returning thanks, the W.M. disclaimed all right to be considered the cause of the success of the lodge, which he said was due rather to those who had assisted him. He acknowledged himself very proud of this six months' old lodge, and particularly of the attention that was made to the sound of the Master's gavel, and of the interest which the brethren took in the working of the ceremonies. The assistance he thus received rendered his work as Master comparatively easy, and very much a labour of love. After proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. gave the toast of "The Press." They had present among them a representative of the "Freemason," a publication to which the Craft was greatly indebted for the fair and impartial manner in which it recorded proceedings like the present, and for the benefits it conferred on the Craft generally by spreading abroad a knowledge of matters that were interesting to Masons. He coupled the toast with the name of Bro. Massey. Bro. Massey returned thanks, expressing the pleasure it gave him to be in the position to do so, and to attend these meetings, especially when he had the gratification of sending the "Freemason" a favourable report of the working of the lodge, and added that he had seldom seen the ceremonies worked in a more impressive manner than he had at the Wanderers' Lodge. W.M.: Another toast, brethren, and rather a painful one. One of the founders of this lodge is going to cause the first gap in it. Bro. Guy, I am sorry to say, is going away to Spain. Some of us might be going to Egypt soon, and might see him. All of you know him well, and know his natural characteristics are so exceptional, that I need hardly say a half a dozen words to cause you to drink his health most heartily. I am sure you will be sorry to lose him, and will wish him health, happiness, and prosperity, and a safe return to England. The toast was received with much cordiality, and Bro. Guy returned thanks, after which the Tyler's toast concluded the proceedings of a pleasant evening.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Lodge (No. 41).—The first meeting after the summer vacation was held at the Masonic Hall on Thursday, Oct. 5th. The lodge was opened at quarter to eight by Bro. Brown, W.M., supported by Bros. Clark, I.P.M.; Capt. Peel Floyd, Cooper, Moutrie, Rubie, P.M.'s of 41; Dr. Hopkins, P.M. 43 and 958; Reeves, P.M. 906; and the following officers:—F. Wilkinson, S.W.; Carey, P.M., as J.W.; Ashley, P.M., Treas.; C. Wilkinson, Sec.; Braham, S.D.; Robinson, as J.D.; Hunt, as I.G.; Radway, Steward; Bigwood, Tyler; and several members. The minutes of the last regular and also of an emergency meeting were read and confirmed. On the proposition of the I.P.M., seconded by the J.W., the Secretary was directed to write to Bro. Davis to express the pleasure with which the members heard of his progress towards convalescence after long and severe illness, and to offer their congratulations and sincere wishes for his complete recovery. Mr. Yeomans, previously balloted for, was admitted properly prepared, and duly initiated by the W.M. Bro. Cooper, P.M., gave the charge with his wonted care and impressiveness, and the symbolism of the working tools was explained by the S.W. Bro. Hunt read the report of the Library Committee, from which it appeared that the books have been arranged in the book-case in the ante-room and catalogued; that the old documents, charter, and minutes from 1733 are deposited in an iron chest in the custody of the Treasurer. The proposed rules for the management of the library were read and agreed to. On the proposition of Bro. Rubie, seconded by Bro. Carey, a vote of thanks was passed to the Library Committee for their efficient services, and they were requested to direct their attention to some valuable documents and pictures, which were mentioned by the W.M. as suffering from damp, and to take measures for preventing further mischief. In the absence of the Director of Ceremonies Bro. Clark brought forward his proposition to change the hour of meeting from 7.30 to 8. A discussion ensued, in which the W.M., Wardens, Treasurer, and Dr. Hopkins took part in opposition to it. When put to the vote, the proposition was negatived, and in consequence of the remarks made in favour of early hours, the W.M. promised during the remainder of his term of office to open punctually at the time named in the summons. A letter from Bro. Tudor Trevor was read, chiefly in reference to the subscriptions of non-resident members, the result of which was notice of motion by Bro. Ashley on the subject. The Worshipful Master represented to the brethren that at a recent provincial meeting the several lodges were specially directed to attend with banners, but, as the Cumberland Lodge does not possess one, he could not comply with the request; he therefore suggested a consideration of the matter with a view to supply the deficiency before the period of another provincial meeting, considering that it is specially incumbent on No. 41 to set a good example, as being the oldest lodge in the province. The S.W. announced that Bro. Mealyard was present in the lodge for the last time previous to his departure for New Zealand, which led to a cordial expression of good wishes for his success in his new position, and the hope that he might there find many who would hail him as a brother, and afford him practical proof of the beneficial results of connection with the Order, of which he is as yet but a young member. A candidate for joining was proposed by the acting J.W., and seconded by the Secretary. The lodge was closed at 10.15.

WINDSOR.—Etonian Lodge of St. John (No. 209).—The first meeting of the season was held at the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., the W.M., Bro. W. R. Denne, presided, supported by Bros. Wilson, P.M., Treas., acting S.W.; Hume, J.W.; Carter, I.P.M., P.G.D.D., Sec.; Roberts, S.D.; Schiemann, J.D.; Nicholls, I.G.; Strange, P.M., P.P.G.S.D., D.C.; Dixon, P.P.G.D.C., P.M.; McIlwham, P.M.; Stedwell, P.M.; Mitchiner, Cousins, Andrews, Legg, Evans, Waterson, Scollery, and others. Visitors: Bros. Tolley, P.M. 771, P.P.G.J.D.; Bingham, P.M. 771; Powell, P.M. 771; Willett, 771; Chorley, W.M. 865; Cantrell, W.M. 1501; Whittaker, 73 I.G.; and others. Three gentlemen underwent the ordeal of the ballot, and were all unanimously elected, two, however, Messrs. Pitts and Miller, were not present; the other (Mr. Dick Radclyffe) was initiated into Freemasonry by the W.M., who also passed Bro. Mitchiner to the Second Degree. Two propositions for joining members having been received, the lodge was closed in due form. There is every appearance of a continuance of the success which has characterised the lodge during the last few years.

HADLEIGH.—Virtue and Silence Lodge (No. 332).—We had the great pleasure of attending the regular meeting of this lodge, held at White Lion, Hadleigh, Suffolk, on Thursday, the 28th ult., and seldom have we seen better working than upon that occasion. Amongst those present were Bros. A. J. Grimwaile, W.M.; W. Gardiner, P.P.G.P., P. Acting S.W.; J. King, J.W.; W. Hart, P.M., P.P.J.G.D., S.D.; S. Cooper, J.D.; H. Nolding, P.M., P.P.G.P.; J. S. Muriel, P.M.; E. B. Powell, P.M., P.P.G.S. of W.; F. Grimwaile, Sec.; C. J. Grimwaile, E. W. Archer, H. W. Hitchcock, Org.; and others. Visitors: Bros. William, W.M. Stour Valley, No. 1224; J. Hills, P.M., P.P.J.G.W. 1224; Emra Holmes, P.M., P.P.G.R., and P.P.G.D. Pixley, P.M. 98. The lodge having been duly opened, Bro. C. J. Grimwaile, was raised to the sublime degree of a M.M., the ceremony being performed in an admirable manner by the W.M., who was ably assisted by his Wardens and other officers. Mr. H. Jones was subsequently initiated into Masonry, and we could not but remark on the faultless elocution of the W.M. in conducting both ceremonies. After the lodge was closed the brethren adjourned to the supper-room, where a substantial repast was done ample justice to, and mine host of the White Lion catered well for his guests. The cloth being removed, the usual toasts were proposed from the chair and duly responded to. The W.M. coupled "The Past and Present P.G. Officers" with the name of Bro. Hills, who, in returning thanks, remarked on the perfect way in which the ceremonies had been gone through by the W.M., and paid a very high compliment to the working of the Lodge. The W.M., in proposing "The Visitors," coupled the toast with the name of his old friend Bro. Emra Holmes, and alluded to the publication of his new volume of tales and Masonic papers, stating that he hoped a good many of the brethren would get the work, as he intended to have a copy which he would not lend to anyone. A brother might otherwise say, "Oh yes, the tales are very good, but as I have read them I don't want to lend a copy. So he gave them fair notice that he should not his copy. Bro. Holmes, in responding, thanked the brethren for the cordial way in which they had received him. He could not but bear his testimony to the admirably impressive manner in which the W.M. had conducted the ceremonies that evening, and it gave him real pleasure to see a lodge so well worked as he had done that night. With regard to Bro. Grimwaile's allusion to the book he was bringing out, he could only say that he hoped his Masonic brethren generally would help him in an effort to render assistance to a literary brother in distress. He had no pecuniary interest in the work, but he did hope to see it successful for the sake of the friend to whom he had given the copyright. Other toasts, including "The W.M.," proposed by the acting S.W., and modestly responded to by Bro. Grimwaile, followed. Bro. Hitchcock, the owner of a beautiful tenor voice, and other brethren, contributed to the harmony of the evening, and a most agreeable meeting was brought to a close by the advent of Bruce's witching hour of eleven.

MILLBROOK.—Lodge Meridian (No. 893).—At a regular meeting of this lodge, holden in the School Rooms, Millbrook, on Monday evening, 2nd inst., a presentation was made to the Right Hon. the Earl of Mount Edgumbe, I.P.M. of the lodge, and G.M. of the Province of Cornwall. The ceremony of opening the lodge was duly performed, with Bros. W. Cawse, W.M.; W. H. Clark, P.M., S.W.; T. W. Hutchens, J.W.; W. Henwood, P.M., Sec.; W. H. Bickford, P.M., P.P.G.S.D., S.D.; W. Harris, P.M., J.D.; J. R. Richards, I.G.; and a large number of brethren and visitors, among whom we noticed P.M.'s W. Veale, J. R. Worth, Rev. P. Newnham, Filmer, and J. D. J. Moysey. The Earl arrived, and was received with grand honours. Having taken his seat as I.P.M. by the request of the W.M., Past Master J. R. Worth in appropriate and feeling terms presented to his lordship, in the name and on behalf of the Past Masters, officers and members of the lodge, a Past Master's gold jewel, accompanied by an address (beautifully illuminated on vellum by Bro. Trethewey, P.M. 159), thanking his lordship for the active interest he has taken in the lodge since its formation. In reply, the Earl, after eulogising the workmanship of the jewel, and also the artistic illumination of the address, stated that it fell to his lot to propose "The Prosperity of Lodge Meridian" at the banquet immediately subsequent to the consecration of the lodge, and that he had used his best endeavours to promote and maintain that prosperity. He also expressed his great satisfaction that the lodge, now numbering 75 members, was holding its meetings in a private building, instead of, as formerly, in a house of public resort. After thanking them for the practical proof just given of their esteem and recognition of his services in the past, his lordship promised, as far as his time would permit—and the demands upon it were heavy—he was still at the service of the lodge, either to advise or to assist with his presence, or in a practical and tangible manner should it ever be needed. The inscription on the jewel was, "Presented by the brethren of Lodge Meridian, No. 893, to the R.W. Bro. the Earl of Mount Edgumbe, P.G.M. of Cornwall, in recognition of the honour conferred on the lodge by his service in the office of Worshipful Master therein for the year 1875-6. His lordship then retired, and the other business of the evening was proceeded with.

Mark Masonry.

LANCASTER.—Moore Lodge (No. 146).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Athenaeum, on the 25th ult., Bro. E. Simpson, R.W.M., occupying the chair of King Solomon. The following brethren were balloted for and advanced:—Bros. John Tilly, William Curtis Edmonds, John Thomas Jackson, and Bro. James Aldous. There were several visiting brethren present, amongst whom we noticed Bros. Binckes, G.S., M.M.M.; G. J. McKay (W.M. designate 196), W. Cranston, and others. The lodge closed with the usual formalities.

Red Cross of Constantine.

PORTSMOUTH.—Naval and Military Conclave (No. 35).—The quarterly meeting was held at the Masonic Hall, Sept. 26th, 1876. The throne was occupied by the Int. Gen. of Hants, Sir Knt. Dr. C. Knott, assisted and supported by his Deputy, Sir Knt. J. Clark; W. Sharp, M.P.S.; C. Groom, V.E.; Ja. Harrison, Sen. Gen.; B. Simister, Jun. Gen.; J. Clay, P.S., as H.P.; A. R. Robinson, Rec.; J. W. D. Pillow, P.P.Org., Org.; G. Rose Johnson, as Prefect; W. Tuck, S.B.; C. G. Adames, as Herald; W. Crofton, J. Skeens, E. Smith, and J. Collins; with G. Copus, Sentinel. The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for the following candidates for installation: Bros. A. Nance, jun., W. H. Sperring, T. R. Crook, and Lieut. S. G. T. Bourke, R.N., W.M. 1428, and being favourable, they were (with the exception of Bro. Crook, who was absent from severe indisposition) duly admitted, installed and proclaimed. The Historical Oration was then delivered by the acting H.P. in his usual impressive manner. This being the evening for election of M.P.S., Viceroy, and Treasurer for coming year, the members unanimously elected the highly respected Viceroy, C. Groom, as their ruler for 1877, the Sen. Gen., Jn. Harrison, Viceroy; and Josiah Clay, P.S. and Treas., was again re-elected by acclamation, he having worthily occupied that position with credit to himself and the great benefit of the conclave from its commencement in December, 1870. There being no further business the conclave was closed in ample and solemn form by the Int. Gen.

The usual meeting of Mount Olivet Commandery St. John the Evangelist, was held the same day, when Sir Knts. B. Simister and G. R. Johnson were duly received into that exalted degree, the Traditional Oration being delivered by Bro. Knt. A. R. Robinson, P. Com. St. John, &c. Bro. Knt. John Clark, the present P.P., and M.E.C., was re-elected to that office for the coming year, and the commandery was sealed and closed in due form.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Saturday afternoon last, at Freemasons' Hall, when there was an average attendance of the brethren. The chair was occupied by Bro. Benjamin Head, who was voted thereto unanimously. The other brethren who attended were Bros. John Symonds, Jesse Turner, A. H. Tattershall, Wm. Mann, Alfred H. Diaper, W. F. C. Moutrie, A. Durrant, John Boyd, H. C. Levander, Hyde Pullen, R. B. Webster, S. B. Ellis, S. Rosenthal, J. G. Chancellor, Richd. Tyrrell, James Winter, H. Massey ("Freemason"), and Frederick Binckes, Secretary.

One petition was received, and one was deferred for additional information. Outfits were granted to two of the ex-pupils of the school.

Three vacancies were declared for the election of next Monday in addition to the 12 already on the list, thus making 15 candidates to be admitted to the school out of an approved list of 57 boys.

The brethren afterwards adjourned.

A supplement of four pages will be issued gratis to our subscribers next week, and will contain, among other interesting matter, a full report of the proceedings at the Masonic demonstration in Glasgow on the 17th inst.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

By command of Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, M.W.D.G.M. of England, and R.W. Prov. G.M. of West Lancashire, the annual meeting of the Freemasons of the western division of Lancashire was held on Wednesday, the 4th inst., in the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, for the transaction of the annual business of the province. In consequence of the limited accommodation at the hall in Hope-street, the attendance for the first time was confined to the Prov. Grand Officers (past and present), W.M.'s, P.M.'s, Wardens, and officers of lodges in the division, and even with this limitation the lodge-room was crowded to its utmost extent, and as the brethren appeared in their collars and jewels of office the picture was exceedingly striking. Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, P.G.M., occupied his place on the throne, and he was supported by Bros. the Right Hon. Lord Lindsay, P.G.M. Aberdeenshire, W.; the Hon. F. Stanley, D.P.G.M.; C. Fryer, P.G.S.W.; W. C. Deeley, P.G.J.W.; Rev. J. M. Morgan, P.G.C.; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; Dr. J. Kellett Smith, P.G. Reg.; H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; J. C. Gillman, P.G. S.D.; J. Lunt, P.G.D.C.; W. Bowden, P.G.S.B.; J. Skeaf, P.G.O.; J. Pemberton, P.G.S.; T. A. Collinson, P.G.S.; G. Cornfield, P.G.S.; J. F. Roberts, P.G.S.; P. Macmurdow, P.G.S.; W. Laidlaw, P.G.S. of W.; W. Doyle, P.P.G.J.D.; Colonel Thos. Birchall, G.S.D., and P.P.G.S.W.; R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D.; J. B. Lambert, P.P.G.S.D.; E. Friend, P.P.G.J.D. Cheshire; R. C. Mellor, P.P.G.J.D.; J. W. J. Fowler, P.P.G.D.C.; S. E. Ibbis, P.P.G.S.B.; G. Remington, P.P.G.J.W.; W. J. Sly, P.G. Purst.; E. Mocatta, P.P.G.S.B.; C. Sherlock, P.G.P. Reg.; J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; Reuben Pearson, P.P.G.R.; J. Bowes, P.P.G.J.W. Cumberland and Westmorland; R. Wilson, P.P.G.S.D.; J. Prescott, P.P.G.J.W.; J. W. Turley, P.P.G.J.D.; Rev. H. G. Vernon, P.P.G.C.; F. Binckes, Past G.S. (Secretary of the Boys' School, London); J. Terry, P.G.D.C. Herts (Secretary of the Benevolent Institution); J. P. Platt, P.P.G.J.W. Cheshire; T. Marwood, P.G.I.W.; H. Bulley, Past G.S.B.; T. A. Lowe, P.P.G.S.B.; J. Baxendale, P.P.G.S. of W.; G. Broadbridge, P.P.G.D.C.; T. Wylie, P.P.G.J.W.; B. W. Rawson, P.P.G.S. of W.; R. Martin, jun., W.M. 1182; J. Bell, W.M. 1609; R. Brown, P.M. 241 (Hon. Secretary West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution); F. Knight, W.M. 1325; J. W. Burgess, S.W. 1325; J. H. Bradshaw, J.W. 1325; H. Nelson, P.M. 1505; J. T. Callow, W.M. 1505; T. Roberts, W.M. 673; W. T. May, P.M. 673; R. Pearson, P.M. 673; Clark, P.M. 673; H. Burrows, S.W. 673; D. Jackson, J.W. 673; S. Tickle, S.W. 220; D. S. Davies, S.W. 216; W. J. Chapman, S.W. 1609; L. Courtenay, J.W.; T. Horne, W.M. 1356; B. B. Marson, P.M. 1356; Hugh Williams, P.M. 1264; J. Winsor, W.M. 203; J. E. Jackson, W.M. 667; G. Hutchin, W.M. 241; W. L. Lunt, P.M. 823; H. Hunt, P.M. 594; R. Ing, P.M. 594; J. Harding, P.M. 148; J. W. Williams, J.W. 1356; J. Lloyd, W.M. 249; G. Musker, Sec. 1182; H. Ashmore, P.M. 1325; H. Pearson, P.M. 249; C. Leatham, P.M. 220; Rev. T. W. Richardson, S.W. 1380; P. R. Thorn, P.M. 1182; A. J. Henchberg, W.M. 1502; P. B. Gee, P.M. 1264; A. C. Wylie, J.D. 5264; J. Hocken, P.M. 673; H. Jackson, P.M. 1393; J. Wood, Treas. 1094 ("Freemason"); R. R. Martin, P.M. 1094; J. Beesley, P.M. 216; J. McKune, P.M. 216; G. Morgan, P.M. 1035; J. Hayes, P.M. 249; T. Evans, P.M. 1356; W. Woods, W.M. 1620; W. Pughe, S.W. 1620; G. Lunt, J.W. 1620; M. Corless, P.M. 673; P. M. Larsen, P.M. 594; W. Vaughan, W.M. 724; J. S. Dixon, P.M. 1264; J. Lecomber, S.W. 594; Capt. T. Berry, W.M. 155; J. A. Edginton, P.M. 1182; J. Davison, P.M. 724; A. Morrison, J.W. 1570; P. W. Oglesby, S.D. 823; R. P. France, W.M. 594; W. Wilson, W.M. 823; J. L. Houghton, J.W. 594; J. Thornton, P.M. 1182; W. S. Vines, P.M. 220; W. Archer, P.M. 1086; W. Cottrell, P.M. 823; W. Shortis, P.M. 724; Rev. J. Rees Jenkins, Sec. 216; H. Firth, Sec. 667; F. Bell, W. 1398; H. Johns, P.M. 1473; J. Ellis, J.W. 667; T. Buxton, W.M. 1345; J. W. C. Browne Cave, Sec. 1547; J. Parkin, J.W. 1547; C. Heden, Treas. 1325; T. Molyneux, S.D. 897; and others.

The Craft lodge was duly opened by the Masters of the oldest lodges in the province, Nos. 32, 86, 249, and others, and the Prov. Grand Lodge was afterwards received in the usual manner.

The P.G. Secretary read the roll of lodges in the province, when it appeared that every one in the large division was represented, with one exception, this absence being caused by the illness of the W.M. The minutes of the previous annual meeting, held at Preston last October, and a special Provincial Grand Lodge in Liverpool in April, were also read and confirmed unanimously.

The P.G. Treasurer, Bro. T. Armstrong, submitted the financial accounts of the P.G. Lodge, the Fund of Benevolence, and with reference to the money payable to the charitable fund, from which it appeared that the receipts for the year 1875-6 from the Provincial Grand Lodge fees amounted to £679 11s. 5d.; for the Fund of Benevolence, £1616 8s. 11d.; and for the Charity Fund, £199 11s. 6d. The balances were as follow:—Charity Fund, £180 13s. 6d.; P.G. Lodge fees, £297 2s. 7d.; and the Fund of Benevolence, £1484 16s. 7d.; total £1962 12s. 8d. Bro. Armstrong added that there were now only three lodges in arrears, whereas there were ten the previous year.

Bro. R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D., moved the reappointment of Bro. Armstrong as the Prov. Grand Treasurer, stating that they could not have a better man for the position.

The motion was seconded by Bro. G. Broadbridge, P.P.G.D.C.

Bro. W. J. Lunt, P.M. 823, said no doubt it was necessary, as far as possible, that the brother elected to this office should secure it by the unanimous vote of the brethren; and although he had not one word to say against Bro. Armstrong (than whom a worthier brother could not be found, and who had fulfilled his duties with the greatest advantage to the Craft), yet it was desirable, especially in a large province like West Lancashire, where honours could not be scattered broadcast, that the honours should be divided at times amongst the brethren. He therefore proposed that Bro. Major George Turner, P.M. 823, should be appointed to the office of P.G. Treasurer, and referred to him in complimentary terms as a Mason, and the high position occupied by the lodge with which he was connected.

Bro. W. Cottrell, P.M. 823, seconded the motion, and as this was the only honour in Provincial Grand Lodge which the brethren had the power of voting he thought they should exercise their privilege and change this officer occasionally.

After some remarks from Bro. J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; Bro. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; and Bro. W. Shortis, P.M. 724, the P.G.M. put the matter to the brethren, when 117 voted for Bro. Turner and 76 for Bro. Armstrong. Bro. G. Turner was accordingly declared elected, and as he was absent at Buxton he was invested by proxy with the collar and jewel of the office, Bro. W. J. Lunt being his representative.

The P.G.M. then appointed and invested the following as his officers for the ensuing year:—

The Hon. F. Stanley, M.P.	Prov. D.G.M.
W. Horner, 32	Prov. G.S.W.
W. Sharp, 148	Prov. G.J.W.
The Rev. H. Bethell Jones, 1387	Prov. G. Chaplain.
G. D. Pochin, 1375	Prov. G. Reg.
H. S. Alpass, 155	Prov. G. Sec.
E. B. Harding, 1496	Prov. G.S.D.
W. J. Sly, 1051	Prov. G.J.D.
J. Pemberton, 1264	Prov. G.S. of W.
T. A. Collinson, 1350	Prov. G.D.C.
Joseph Roberts, 1313	Prov. G.A.D.C.
G. Cornfield, 1225	Prov. G.S.B.
J. Skeaf, 216	Prov. G. Org.
P. Macmurdow, 1499	Prov. G. Purst.
H. W. Johnstone, 113, H. Jackson, 1393, B. B. Marson, 1356 and 1609, W. Vines, 220, J. McKune, 216, and T. W. Sergeant, 203	Prov. G. Stewards.
P. Ball (re-elected)	Prov. G. Tyler.
W. H. Ball	Prov. G. Ast. Tyler.

The sum of £65 was voted for the relief of various widows and distressed brethren from the funds of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

Bro. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec., then submitted his annual report as follows:—

Since the last annual meeting of Provincial Grand Lodge the following lodges have been consecrated:—The Morecambe Lodge, No. 1561; the Prince Leopold Lodge, No. 1588; the Liverpool Dramatic Lodge, No. 1609; the Marlborough Lodge, No. 1620. The condition of the lodges in the province is generally satisfactory. Several of the lodges have raised the amount of their initiation and joining fees, with the view of preventing unfit persons being proposed for initiation. I am informed that the sedilia in Chester Cathedral, provided by the Masons in West Lancashire, is put up, and that it is very much admired, and also that Masonic emblems are introduced with good effect. Fifty years have just elapsed since the county of Lancaster was divided into two provinces. There were then in the western division 23 lodges with 467 subscribing members; we have now 75 lodges with nearly 5000 members. (Loud applause.) The Egerton Lodge, No. 1030, which formerly met in a house in the eastern division, has removed to Heaton Norris in the western division, and although I have made the usual application for a return of their members, I have not received it. It will be necessary, I think, to take further proceedings in this matter, on which I shall be glad to receive instructions.

Several brethren suggested that a special effort should be made to raise the sum which was still due for the sedilia, and donations of five and ten guineas were given by several brethren.

The P.G.M. instructed the P.G. Sec. to write to the Master of the Egerton Lodge, calling his attention to the omissions which had been made, and requesting an immediate return of the number of members. Failing this, steps would at once be taken to bring the lodge under some punishment for neglect.

Bro. R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D.; Hon. Secretary to the Hamer Benevolent Fund, presented the following third annual report of that charity:—

Your Committee have much pleasure in presenting the Third Annual Report, and heartily thank the lodges and brethren for the increased support given to the fund during the year, and for the desire evinced by so many brethren to promote its best interests.

One petition has been presented during the year, and your committee unanimously recommended that brother to be placed on the fund, but before their recommendation could be confirmed by the Provincial Grand Lodge, as required by the bye-laws, the brother died, and this brought before the committee the desirability of modifying the laws, so as to obviate the necessity of an applicant having to wait perhaps many months before receiving the assistance which he so much needed.

After due consideration the following resolution was passed by your committee, and they hope it will meet with your approval.

That in the event of there being no Provincial Grand Lodge meeting within two months of the date of any recommendation of the committee, a special meeting of the vice-presidents and life governors shall be called, to consider the recommendation, and, if necessary, empower the Treasurer to pay to the applicant the amount recommended.

The report was adopted, the committee appointed for the ensuing year, and it was resolved to invest the further sum of £270 in Mersey Dock bonds.

Bro. J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C., moved—
That a sum of not less than 100 guineas be paid from the charity fund to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

The motion was seconded by Bro. R. Wylie, and carried unanimously.

On the motion of Bro. R. Wylie, seconded by Bro. Goepel, the following motion was also agreed to:—

That the sum of 50 guineas be voted out of the charity fund, in the name of the R.W. Prov. G.M., to the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution.

Bro. Broadbridge, P.P.G.D.C., next moved—

That the P.G. Secretary summon a meeting of the committee of the Mott memorial fund during the month of October, in order to obtain a report and close the same, and thus carry out the object for which the fund was formed.

It was incidentally stated that the fund had reached £700, and it was highly desirable it should now be closed.—The motion was seconded by Bro. R. Wylie, and, after some discussion, was agreed to.

Bro. Armstrong, P.P.G. Treasurer, presented the jewel of his former office to the P.G. Lodge, and on the motion of Bro. Broadbridge, seconded by Bro. W. J. Lunt, a cordial vote of thanks was given to Bro. Armstrong for his valuable three years' services, and it was also agreed that he should be presented with a P.P.G. Treasurer's jewel.

The annual court of governors of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution was then held, and the reports of Bro. R. Brown, P.M. 241, the excellent Honorary Secretary of the institution, were adopted. The annual report for the past year, after expressing satisfaction with the growing prosperity of the charity and the increased usefulness of the institution as shown in the addition of a large number of children on the foundation, further stated—

A reference to the accounts will show that the income for the year, including donations and subscriptions from the brethren and from lodges, proceeds of the annual ball, and fees from the Provincial Grand Lodge, &c., amounts to £636 18s. 6d.; whilst the income from invested funds amounts to £515 12s. 7d.; and, after making all necessary payments, there has been added to the invested funds of the institution, and available for a continuance, and, if necessary, an extension of its usefulness, the sum of £868 16s. 4d., making a total invested fund of £12,683 17s. 8d. It will also be seen on reference to the report that a sum of £430 9s. 11d. has during the year been expended for the education and advancement of children, being an increase of £141 14s. 4d. over the payment in 1874. These results cannot but be gratifying to the officers and brethren of the province; and whilst the prosperous state of the finances evokes expressions of thankfulness and pleasure, the increasing demands on the funds of the institution call for continued exertion on the part of the Masons of West Lancashire, inasmuch as it will be seen that whereas there were in 1874 on the funds 48 children, the number in the present report is 61; and at the date of the issuing of this report there are applications for the election of 23 additional children. Your committee cannot close this report without referring to the noble and generous example shown by the brethren of the Lodge of Harmony, Ormskirk (580), in having, in addition to the former contributions of the lodge, subscribed the handsome sum of £63, thus constituting the principal officers of the lodge and almost every member life-governors of the institution. Your committee also remark with pleasure the fact that most of the newly-constituted lodges in the province have inaugurated the commencement of their labours by placing on record their generosity, showing thus early in their career that they are not unmindful of the great principles of Freemasonry. It is the earnest desire of the committee that their charity and their prosperity may go hand in hand, and that they and all the brethren who have so liberally supported this great institution may here and hereafter reap the reward of good deeds well done.

The committee for the coming year was appointed, thanks were voted to the officers for their services of the past year, and the Provincial Grand Lodge resumed.

Bro. Dr. J. K. Smith, P.P.G. Reg., gave notice that at the next meeting of the P.G. Lodge he would move that in future every primary application to the fund of benevolence be relieved in a sum not exceeding £15, and that every subsequent application be relieved by a sum not exceeding £10; and further, that a sum of £1000 be invested in bonds of the Mersey Dock Board at 4½ per cent., and that the sum accruing therefrom be devoted to the Masonic charities.

The business proceedings were then brought to a close, and the P.G.L. and Craft lodge were closed in due form.

Upwards of 100 brethren subsequently dined at four o'clock at the Adelphi Hotel, under the presidency of Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, who was supported by a large number of Grand Officers and Provincial Grand Officers. The banquet, supplied under the direction of Bro. Ludlow, manager of the hotel, gave satisfaction.

The P.G.M., after giving the toast of "The Queen," proposed "The M.W.G.M. the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal Family." His lordship said they drank this toast in two senses—first, as the future King; and secondly, as their Grand Master. He now spoke of him in the latter capacity, and he was quite sure they all felt proud of the heir to the Throne ruling over them, and especially when His Royal Highness did so with the full intention of ruling to the best of his ability, as every one could see. He (Lord Skelmersdale) knew the deep interest the Prince took in Masonry; and although his numerous engagements kept him from being always present at Grand Lodge, yet he always did so when it was possible. He was afraid the Masonic Order never claim the Duke of Edinburgh as one of its number (and that was not his fault), but they had two other members of the Royal family who were their brethren; and he thought it was a fact of which they ought to be proud that three out of the four Princes of the Royal House belonged to Freemasonry. (Loud applause.)

Lord Skelmersdale, P.G.M., next gave "The Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro G.M., and the other Officers of the Grand Lodge," remarking that in their Pro G.M. they had one of the best working Masons in the country. He knew his work most thoroughly, and could go into a lodge and work it all through its degrees without the smallest difficulty. He had a most wonderful memory, and was well fitted for the work which he was called on to perform. (Loud cheers.)

Bro. Colonel Birchall, P.S.D., responded, and said that during the period he had occupied a position in the Grand Lodge he observed that all who had been invested were actuated with a desire to perform the duties with zeal and a due regard to the benefits of the Order. He was quite sure that every Grand Officer who had been appointed felt most deeply the honour which had been conferred upon him, as no greater privilege could be conferred on any Mason than to become a member of the Grand Lodge. Bro. Birchall then referred to the benign influence exercised by Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., over the large and important Province of West Lancashire. For a long time this province had been in the cold shade of forgetfulness in high quarters, but now they had their P.G.M. the Deputy G.M., who had secured Grand Lodge honours almost on the first opportunity for brethren in his division—honours for which the brethren generally felt very grateful. (Hear, hear, and applause.)

Bro. Sir Gilbert Greenall, M.P., Past G.S.W., also replied, and said it had been his privilege and honour to be associated with the Grand Lodge through the kindness of Lord Zetland. He had always felt proud of being possessed of those functions, not so much from personal feeling, but because they reflected honour upon the province with which he was connected. He had always found that the value and the cardinal principles of the Grand Lodge were recognised in their assemblies, which had invariably shown their loyalty to those principles and those associations which bound them together, and he also found that their lodges looked up with reverence, affection, and respect to the corner stone of the Grand Masonic Lodge. (Applause.) Sir Gilbert thanked the brethren cordially for the manner in which the toast had been received, and said he had had special pleasure in being present that day to see an old and valued friend receive P.G. honours at the hands of Lord Skelmersdale.

Bro. Col. Birchall, G.S.D., next submitted what he called the toast of the evening, viz., "The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, M.W.D.G.M., and R.W.P.G.M. West Lancashire." Since the advent of his lordship to the chair Freemasonry had progressed with redoubled success, and they ought to be proud of their Masonic head.

The toast was received with immense enthusiasm. Lord Skelmersdale: Bro. Birchall and brethren,—I thank you most heartily for the proposal and reception given to this toast. I feel your kindness most deeply, and also the appreciation shown of any little thing I do in this province. There is no encouragement like a knowledge of the fact that those with whom you associate appreciate your works. That appreciation I have found in this province in an eminent degree, and I do hope it will continue. (Loud cheers.) Bro. Birchall has flattered me too much. (Cries of "No, no.") Brethren, will you allow me to say I am the best judge of that—(laughter)—and I do say he has. I have, however, tried to do my best, and will try to do so as we go on. Brethren, as you know, this is a very large province; it is, I believe, the second largest province in the kingdom, containing as it does no fewer than 75 lodges; and with this magnitude of our Masonic borders it is difficult to please every one. With respect to the division of the purple, you will see the difficulty here when I say it takes nine years to go round the lodges, and when this can only be given to one in even the largest lodge the division is all the more difficult. I wish I had four times the number of offices to give away, as there are plenty of good brethren in the province. I say this now, because I saw to-day there was a sort of feeling that the office of P.G. Treasurer had not been given to the lodge for several years. The last time I had the pleasure of addressing you I spoke of the restoration of Chester Cathedral, with its far famed style; but I do hope every member of the lodge will understand I never meant to ask one single individual to help that fund against his conscience, nor for one single second did I ever intend the contributions should be put as a tax upon the lodges. (Hear hear, and applause.) Here was a great work going on in the diocese, and I thought that those of them who were churchmen should show their appreciation of the restoration by helping on that work. I hope there will be no difficulty in completing our share of the work. I see no difficulty, but once for all I must say I never intended to tax you in any way, but to be a purely voluntary gift. I was extremely sorry we were obliged to restrict the attendance at Provincial Grand Lodge to-day to the officers of our lodges, but circumstances would not allow any other arrangement. If we could find a place large enough to seat the whole 5000 Masons in this province I should be delighted to allow every one the privilege of being present; but next year, when we meet, I hope some arrangement will be made by which the majority of the brethren will be able to attend. Brethren, I thank you, and must apologise for leaving you now, as I have a houseful of guests at home. The P.G.M. left at this stage amid cordial cheering, and his position was then taken by Bro. Colonel Birchall, G.S.D., who proposed "The Hon. F. Stanley, W.D.P.G.M., and the P.G. Wardens." Bro. Horner, P.G.S.W., and Bro. Sharpe, P.G.J.W., responded to the toast.

Bro. Birchall also gave "The Provincial Grand Masters of the Adjoining Provinces," which was acknowledged by Bro. Bowes, P.G.J.W.

"The Provincial Grand Officers, Past and Present," given by Col. Birchall, was coupled with the name of Bro. Mocatta, P.P.G.S.B., who said he was not only the oldest member of the P.G. Lodge, but probably also the oldest member of the Craft in the province, having been a Mason since the year 1819, a period of fifty-seven years. (Cheers.) He need not speak to them of the value of Freemasonry, but if they referred to the Masonic journals of 1843 and 1844 they would there find how much benefit Masonry had been to him in connection with his life and property. He felt great pride as an old Mason that the Craft was not deteriorating, but, on the contrary, making great progress; and he was equally proud to find that an old friend and brother had that day been honoured with office by the P.G.M. Bro. Mocatta advised all young men who travelled to join the Order, as it would be of great advantage to them; and he concluded by stating that he was particularly happy in having both a son and a grandson belonging to the Craft, one being a P.M., and the other Chaplain of the lodge to which he belonged.

The P.G. Chaplain (Bro. the Rev. Bethell Jones) also responded, and stated that his ambition had that day been fully gratified. He was only five years old as a Mason, and it was doubtless owing to the fact that he was connected with the Established Church that he occupied the position in which he had been placed that day. He had set his heart upon being P.G.C., but he had said nothing about this determination until he had received the letter from the P.G. Sec., telling him of the choice of the P.G.M.

Bro. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec., said that "from time immemorial it has been customary" to put the "Worshipful Masters of the Province" in the hands of the P.G. Sec., and the wisdom of this arrangement would be apparent to every brother, as he (the P.G. Sec.) was supposed to know more about them than any other. With one exception he had received returns from the 75 lodges, but he must complain about the occasional delay in taking notice of his "communications," and when he visited the offending lodges they seemed to be aggrieved at this course of personal visitation about the neglect. (Cries of "No, no," and laughter.) It gave him great pleasure to propose this toast, because he knew the W.M.'s were very carefully selected by the brethren, and they did their duties very conscientiously. He had also great pleasure in referring to the attention paid to the ritual, the admirable working in the lodges, and the exceedingly small amount of disagreement which prevailed.

Bro. Tyrer, W.M. 86, acknowledged the toast.

Bro. Col. Birchall: The toast of the charities will be proposed by Bro. Binckes, the Secretary to the Boys' School, London, whose seductive eloquence had been able to open the hearts and purses of brethren in every province in England. (Applause.)

Bro. Binckes said he did not know he ever rose with greater pleasure than on that occasion to propose so noble a toast as "The Charities of the Province." He had been for years the official representative of one of the great London charities; Bro. Terry was there as representing the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution; and but for ill-health Bro. Little would also have been there as the representative of the Girls' School. These London institutions belonged to the whole Craft (hear hear); every one had an equal claim upon them; it simply happened that these institutions were centred in the metropolitan district, but that fact did not confine their working. Some time ago it was considered that district institutions would interfere with the interests of the great central institution—that there would be a rivalry—but he had lived to see that this fear was without foundation, and he for one most heartily and cordially welcomed the establishment of these relief institutions in the various provinces which were large enough to support them. The fact that there was now an invested capital of upwards of £13,000 in connection with the institution in West Lancashire showed how greatly they had prospered, but he was sure that no one would neglect the great central institutions on account of this.

Bro. Wilson, Hon. Treasurer, responded, and said he hoped the brethren would take care that the successful enthusiasm they had shown in connection with their institution would not give place to coolness, then to indifference, and subsequently to total neglect. He said that the larger claims which were now being made on the fund ought to lead to greater liberality on the part of the brethren.

Bro. Alpess, P.G. Sec., proposed "The Ladies," which was acknowledged by Bros. J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C., and R. Wilson.

A charming selection of choice music was capitally given during the evening by Madame Bosanneck, Mrs. Skeaf, Bros. D. Saunders, J. Barfield, C. Haswell, A. Child, J. Queen, T. J. Hughes, and H. Ashmore. Bro. J. Skeaf had charge of the musical arrangements, and presided at the piano.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Health's Defences.—None save the strongest can with impunity pass through the sudden transitions from wet to dry, from cold to muggy weather so prevalent during the late autumn and early winter months. Influenza, bronchitis, cough, sore throat, diphtheria, or quinsy will attack those most vulnerable of their health; but they can readily arrest any of these complaints by rubbing Holloway's Ointment twice a day upon the skin adjacent to the affected part, and by assisting its corrective action with appropriate doses of his Pills. This well-known, safe, and easy mode of treatment efficiently protects the invalid both from present and future danger without weakening or even depressing the system in the slightest degree.—ADVT

CONSECRATION OF THE BAYARD CHAPTER ROSE CROIX.

On Monday afternoon this new chapter of the Rose Croix Degree was consecrated at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden-square. The ceremony of consecration was performed by Capt. Philips in the unavoidable absence of the Earl of Carnarvon. Capt. Philips, P.M., S.G.C. 33°, was assisted by the other members of the Council, consisting of Genl. Clerk, F.R.S. 33°; Dr. Hamilton, 33°; Major Shadwell Clerk, 33°; Col. Adair, 33°; Hugh D. Sandeman, 33°; Raphael Costa, 33°; S. Rawson, 33°; W. Hyde Pullen, 33°; R. W. H. Giddy, 33°; Col. Hutton, 33°, of Canada; Thos. Jowitt, 32°; John Hervey, 32°; Gen. Brownrigg, C.B., 31°; Chas. Grillon, 31°; Capt. Perkins, 31°; Geo. Lambert, 31°; A. F. Godson, 31°; J. Keene, M.D., 30°; H. R. Cooper Smith, 30°; John Read, 30°; J. L. Thomas, 18°; Geo. Powell, 18°; Donald M. Dewar, 18°; Rev. Ambrose Hall, 18°; T. L. Fox, 18°; John Hodges, 18°; Jas. Stevens, 18°; Rev. H. G. Morse, 18°; Col. Douglas, 18°; and R. De Lacy, 18°.

The brethren having assembled in the hall and formed the Arch of Steel, the Supreme Council, 33°, entered in order, the organ playing the March from Eli.

The procession then passed three times round the hall, and the M.P.S.G. Commander assumed his seat and addressed the chapter.

After the Grand Chaplain had offered prayer, the Grand Marshal addressed the M.P.S.G. Commander, and the M.P.S.G. Commander called on the Grand Marshal to read the warrant. This having been done, the M.P.S.G. Commander gave declaration of constitution, and a short voluntary was performed on the organ.

The Grand Treasurer General passed round the chapter sprinkling corn, the choristers chanting, "May the Almighty giver of all good things shower down upon it His best blessing."

Then the Grand Chancellor passed round the chapter pouring out wine, the choristers chanting, "May the Almighty give us thankful hearts and grant that we may be ever ready to relieve the wants of others."

Afterwards the Grand Secretary General passed round the chapter pouring out oil, while the musical brethren chanted "May He, whose Name is Love, grant that the brethren meeting in this chapter be ever of one heart and one mind, and may they always do unto others as they would it should be done unto them."

The Grand Chaplain then passed round the chapter with the censer of incense. The altar was lighted; there was more music; roses were sprinkled, and the M.P.S.G. Commander gave consecration and dedication. The stone was opened, and the Anthem, "I have surely built thee an House," was chanted; then the Grand Marshal proclaimed that the chapter had been consecrated, and the proceedings were closed with a flourish of trumpets.

The following candidates were then perfected:—Bros. Sir Thomas Dyer, Bart., J.P., Bayard Lodge, 1615; Robt. Fyers, Bayard Lodge, 1615; Captain W. S. Gilbert, Bayard Lodge, 1615; Captain Arthur Palliser, D.L., J.P., Royal Body Guard, 1383; Richard Joyes Emerson, P.M. 1206, P. Pro G.J. Warden for Kent; James Walter Waldron, 1383; Henry William Green, 108; John Sandilands Ward, 172; William Leyland Fielden, late of 13th Lt. Dragoons, Bayard Lodge, 1615 and Captain Kilner A. A. Brasier Creagh, J.P., late Military Train, 1067. Afterwards Ill. Bro. Lieut.-Col. Burney, 31°, P.M. 697, P. Prov. S.G.D. Essex, P.P.G. Commander Essex, was installed Most Wise Sovereign by Ill. Bro. Major Shadwell Clerk, M.W.S. 33°, G.A.S.C., and the following brethren were appointed to office:—High Prelate, Rev. C. J. Ridgeway, 18°; 1st General, F. Richardson, 30°; 2nd Genl. the Chevalier Habieth, 30°; G. Marshal, E. Henslowe Bedford, 18°; Raphael, Capt. Leeson, 18°; Herald, Capt. W. S. Gilbert, 18°; Captain of the Guard, Robert Fyers, 18°; Recorder, Capt. W. F. Portlocke Dadson, 32°; Treasurer, Capt. Compton, 30°; Almoner, Sir Thos. Dyer, Bart., 18°; and Dir. Cers., J. Sandilands Ward, 18°.

Votes of thanks were afterwards passed to the Consecrating Officer and the Installing Officer, and to Col. Hutton, 33°, Supreme Council of Canada, for his attendance.

A banquet followed at the Café Royal, Regent-street, and the customary toasts were duly honoured.

A meeting of the Supreme Council was held at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden Square, on Wednesday last, when Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, M.W. Pro Grand Master, was advanced to the 33°. Many influential members of the Craft were present. A full report will appear in the Second Edition, which will be published early Saturday morning.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., will install the Rt. Hon. Lord Suffield, as R.W. Provincial Grand Master for Norwich, on the 20th proximo. His Royal Highness will first attend a public meeting on behalf of the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital. Immediately after the installation the Prince will proceed to Gunton Hall, the seat of Lord Suffield. There will be no banquet. Further particulars will appear in due course.

A meeting of the members of the London Masonic Club was held on the 11th inst. A report of the same will appear in our second edition.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Royal Arthur Lodge of Instruction, No. 1363, held at the Princess Head, York Road, Battersea, on Tuesday next, at 7 p.m.

Bro. Henry A. Dubois, Prov. S.G.D. Middlesex, Secretary Surrey Masonic Hall Co., has removed his offices from 2, Gresham Buildings, Basinghall-street, to 115, Chancery Lane. ■

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

We do not undertake to return rejected communications.

BOOKS, &c., RECEIVED:—"Hand and Heart;" "New York Dispatch;" "Philadelphia Keystone;" "North British Daily Mail;" "Nuova Era Maconica," Palermo;" "The British and Foreign Paper Trades' Review;" "The Craftsman;" "Masonic Herald;" "Proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Royal and Select Masters of the State of Ohio."

The following stand over:—

Harmony Lodge, No. 438; Hartington, No. 1085; Greymouth, No. 1233; Emulation, No. 1505; Star Lodge of Instruction, No. 1275; Fernor Hesketh, No. 1350; Napthali, No. 266; Shamrock and Thistle and Cathedral Chapters, Glasgow; Fortescue Mark Lodge, No. 9; Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Leicestershire; "the Cant of Freemasonry." (letter)

Bro. Burn's letter received, and will be attended to.

A letter from the editor of the "Masonic Magazine" relative to "Long Livers" will appear in our next.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ARNOTT.—On the 9th inst., at Chichester, the wife of H. Arnott, of a daughter.

BLIND.—On the 5th inst., at Albert-road, N.W., the wife of R. Blind, Esq., of a son.

BOYS.—On the 4th inst., at Deal, the wife of Commander H. H. Boys, R.N., of a daughter.

BROMLEY.—On the 10th inst., at Bath, the wife of J. M. Bromley, Esq., M.A., of a son, stillborn.

MARRIAGES.

COATES—SOWERBY.—On the 5th inst., at Beelsby, Lincolnshire, Thomas, son of T. Coates, of Beelsby, to Mary Elizabeth, daughter of J. Sowerby, jun.

M'LELLAN—TOMKINS.—On the 26th ult., at Woolville, King's County, Nova Scotia, David M'Leilan, Esq., to Jane Harrison, daughter of F. J. Tomkins, Esq., of London.

STRONACH—LYALL.—On the 3rd inst., at Peterhead, Aberdeenshire, John Stronach, Esq., of Dimbula, Ceylon, to E. Grace, daughter of the late J. Lyall, A.M.

DEATHS.

AUSTIN.—On the 10th inst., Elizabeth Ann, wife of J. J. Austin, of Great Percy-street, aged 38.

CAPPER.—On the 8th inst., at Albion-terrace, Southampton, Mabel, daughter of the late M. Capper, Esq., aged 17.

CLARK.—On the 7th inst., at Dundarach, Aberfoyle, Perthshire, Thomas Clark, Esq., A.R.S.A.

CLOSE.—On the 6th inst., at Springfield, Pembroke, Katherine Richmond, infant daughter of D. R. Close, Esq.

TWEDDALE.—On the 10th inst., at Yester House, Haddingtonshire, Bro. the Right Hon. George, Marquis of Tweddale, aged 90.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCT. 14, 1876.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF THE MASONIC PRESS.

The position of the Masonic Press and the rôle of a Masonic editor are not ever a "bed of roses." There are difficulties attendant on all journalism, on all editorial labours, but the Masonic press is very heavily weighted for the race. Owing, in the first place, to the peculiar teaching and aspects of Freemasonry, the normal difficulties of all journalism are increased a hundred fold. For Freemasonry, be it remembered, assumes a position of absolute neutrality in all matters purely political and religious, that is to say, it passes no opinion on those questions which divide mankind in the two great "zones" which are respectively marked—"religion" and "politics," and hence the serious difficulty of a Masonic editor. It is a most arduous labour, requiring great care and greater skill to avoid in treating on the current subjects of the hour, whether entirely or only quasi-Masonic, impinging on one side or the other, and touching, however gently, those neutral sections of thought, teaching, and discussion. We had flattered ourselves that we had done so. We had hoped that our abstinence from all political or denominational preferences was as clear as it was avowed by us, was as distinct as we believed it to be consistently Masonic on all occasions. It appears, however, that we have been in error all this time, self-satisfied deceivers. A correspondent of thirty years' Masonic standing informs us that our remarks upon "Ultramontaniam" have been for some time exceedingly "offensive" to him and to others. We are exceedingly sorry for the announcement, and regret the use of so hard a word, as we had reason to believe that our language was not unacceptable to a very large circle of readers. For we have, in our own opinion, been alike most careful, moderate, discreet, and fair. We have not said even half what we might have said, or a third of what we felt on the facts submitted to us. We have, from the first, endeavoured to point out to our brethren that the habitual violence and unseemly language of the Ultramontane press, and of many high Roman Catholic authorities, were one thing, the rights and feelings of our Roman Catholic brethren, quite another. While we have endeavoured openly, as we always shall, (pace our correspondent), to maintain intact the undoubted rights of Roman Catholic Freemasons, we shall always denounce that bigotry which refused the rites of the Roman Catholic Church to Bro. Armourer-Serjeant Johnson; that brutality which in a distant country disturbed the body of a poor departed Freemason, and used the sacred symbol of the Cross as if to hallow a deed of sinful violence and wrong. From time to time we have to read the outrageous language of the Ultramontane advisers of the Pope, of Cardinals, Archbishops, and Bishops of the Roman Catholic persuasion, of lesser lights and petty imitators; and what are we to do? Are we to leave them all unnoticed? Are we to pass by them in silence or in contempt? Is it not, on the contrary, our bounden duty to enlighten our readers as to attacks which are daily and hourly made, and which impose often on the weak-minded and the ignorant, and are yet as mendacious as they are unmerited? We think so; and we feel sure that on this point we shall have the warm approval of our much-maligned and insulted Craft, alike as to the propriety of the course we have pursued and the moderation of the language that we have employed. For, be it remembered always, alike to the praise and credit of the "Freemason," that it has never condescended to join in any partizan clap-trap or intolerant language against Roman Catholics quâ Roman Catholics. We have, on the contrary, often been discreetly silent when others have been loquaciously open mouthed; we have restrained the barbed arrows of invective when others have been loud in heated denunciations of the Church of Rome as a religious institution per se. We have always advocated freedom of conscience, and "liberty of prophesying," as well for Roman Catholics as for any one else, and we defy the most captious critic, and the most hasty assailant, to point out a single passage in which we have done despite to the great principle of absolute and Masonic toleration. Certain unwise words and unseemly acts of the Roman Catholic authorities have come before us, and we have dealt with them practically, and treated them conscientiously, and we must beg to tell our worthy correspondent that we shall continue to do the same, whenever in our humble opinion the paramount interests of Freemasonry require such notice, or demand such animadversions in respect of Ultramontane tactics, or ignorant "accusers" of our "brethren." Our correspondent has seized with great adroitness on a little incident in respect of some humble Protestants at Minorca, which we transferred to our pages, and demands, somewhat excitedly, "what has this to do with Freemasonry?" We never said that it had, but we used it as a fair and passing illustration of the rabid temper of Ultramontaniam just now, which seems to spare neither friend nor foe, and which seeks, by a violence of language and of action, to recall to the thoughtful the worst days and the gravest horrors of an inquisitorial regime. As advocates of the right of unlimited toleration per se, of the sanctity of the human conscience, of freedom of worship, we are bound, as it appears to us, to protest in our humble pages, from time to time, when as it would seem intolerance runs riot, and bigotry becomes rampant in our very midst. The classing by the Bishop of Minorca of Freemasons and Protestants together, and declaring that "putrid members must not touch sane members," is a gross insult not only against all religion and common sense, but to the whole of the Masonic fraternity, and deserves to be noticed and branded as such before our entire Order. If we are wrong in our view of the situation, we are at any rate in very good company. We can remember a speech addressed to Grand Lodge by our most distinguished Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, in which he denounced the intolerance and persecution of Roman Catholicism as respects Freemasons everywhere, and if his remarks were justified then, ours are a "hundred fold pertinent to the occasion, and befitting now. His eloquent address at that period was supported warmly by several brethren, and though the Grand Lodge, probably most rightly, did not think well to set a precedent of any sort of condemnation of any religious body, yet there was a general concurrence of opinion that such remarks were fully borne out in themselves by the known facts of the case. But it is one thing to admit a fact, another to establish a precedent, especially for our English Grand Lodge, which has always manfully and nobly avowed distinct and absolute toleration. We admit that circumstances change with times, but never in our recollection has the Ultramontane School betrayed so much childish fear or so much unreasoning intolerance of Freemasonry as now. And under such circumstances we repeat, are we to sit still, "dumb dogs," under most violent anathemata, public excommunications, and shameful incriminations? In our opinion, it is neither our duty, nor will it be our resolution, to submit to unparalleled outrages of so-called religious language, and these direct insults of Ultramontaniam. Why it is not a few months ago that one of the Spanish Bishops called our G. Master, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, "the arch heretic" (herejote), simply because he was a Freemason, and are we Freemasons to go on "mealy mouthed" and with "bated breath," talk of such things, and simply protest by our moral teaching and action against them, for such a course of action is unworthy of us all? We say certainly not; we have, thank God, liberty of speech, and liberty of the press as Englishmen and Freemasons, and we shall continue to use the one and the other, in the future as in the past, with moderation and calmness, and above all with fairness and truth.

A Second Edition of the "Freemason" will be issued on Saturday morning. Copies may be obtained direct from the office by forwarding to the publisher 2d. in stamps.

THE EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

The Emulation Lodge of Improvement commenced its regular season last Friday evening with the ceremony of installation, which was very ably performed in the presence of a large assemblage of the brethren by Bro. C. A. Murton, P.G.D., and formerly Secretary of the lodge. The annual festival of the lodge will be held on the 24th November. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, having entered on his 30th year of office as Treasurer of the lodge, the committee are desirous of making this the occasion of testifying to Bro. Hervey the sincere esteem entertained towards him by those who, during his long period of his office, have profited by the teaching of the lodge, and their high appreciation of his services. The Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master, has kindly consented to preside at the banquet. Bro. Hervey will take the chair of the lodge, which will be held in the Grand Lodge Hall, and eight sections of the lectures will be worked by Past Grand Officers, who in former years were active working members. A handsome silver inkstand has been expressly designed for the occasion by the eminent architect, Bro. John Gibson, Deputy Master of the Prince of Wales's Lodge, to be presented by the Stewards to Bro. Hervey. Seventy brethren, among whom are forty Grand Officers, have volunteered to act as Stewards.

A short account of the origin of this celebrated lodge may be interesting to our readers. At the union of the lodges in 1813 the working of the ceremonies was found to differ very widely. A resolution was therefore passed at the lodge of reconciliation that the ceremonies of opening and closing, and of the three degrees should be worked in the same manner in all lodges under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of England. To carry out this resolution the Grand Master requested Bro. Dr. Samuel Hemming to gather together the scattered elements of the work, and to arrange them into a system which might receive the approval of Grand Lodge, and be generally adopted. Bro. Hemming undertook the task, but after a delay of some years, he became imbecile, and was unable to complete it. Bro. Dr. Williams was then nominated by the Grand Master to carry out the work which had been intrusted to Dr. Hemming. Bro. Williams undertook the duty on the understanding that he should not be required to complete the labours of Bro. Hemming, but should be permitted to reconstruct the ritual from the original elements. On the completed system of Bro. Dr. Williams, the Emulation Lodge of Improvement was first worked under the Preceptorship of the famous Peter Gilkes, who was a contemporary of Dr. Williams. He was succeeded by his friend and pupil, the late Bro. Stephen Barton Wilson, whose work is rigidly adhered to by the present committee, several of whom had the benefit of his personal instruction. The uncompleted work of Dr. Hemming was followed by Bro. Peter Thomson, and is still taught in several lodges of Instruction. We shall recur to the subject a little later, as the time for this interesting anniversary of the lodge draws near.

FEMALE FREEMASONRY.

A lady correspondent, who terms herself a brother's wife, as our readers will remember, in our last issue, advocates, if we understand her words aright, the admission of her sex generally to Freemasonry. She does not apparently see her way to Androgyne Masonry, that is, the meeting of the two sexes on equal terms in the lodge-room, but she appears to wish to have a sort of feminine initiation. Well, we have read her letter with great care, and, with every wish to please, we think it right, for fear of any mistake on the subject, to say at once that, in our humble opinion, not only will the subject itself not bear ventilation in any way, but that such a proposition, is not only impossible on every Masonic principle, and is absolutely condemned "ab initio" by the very facts and nature of the case. To admit ladies to Freemasonry is in itself, as we contended just now, so hopeless a proposition in our opinion, that we must decline to discuss it in our pages, in the best interests, we feel sure, of Freemasonry. We can only look upon it as an impracticable proposal, as a chimerical aspiration. We make these remarks in all good feeling and respect to our fair correspondent, whose motives we fully appreciate, but whose suggestions we certainly reject. Such a proposition is at variance with every rule and ancient canon of Freemasonry, and would, we feel assured, be at once rejected by the good sense and deliberate opinion of our entire fraternity. At proper times, indeed, and under safe guarantees, we welcome the presence of the gentler sex amongst us, and we are inclined to encourage their pleasant associations, and kindly smiles, at many of those festive occasions when the brilliancy of the gathering is enhanced and the overflowing gaiety of our brethren is properly restrained by the attractive influences of female companionship. Perhaps, too, we hardly utilize the female element in our open meetings so much as we might fairly and fitly do. But for the present the door of the lodge-room is barred against them, and must continue to be so, and we cannot hold out any hopes that, as Freemasons, we shall either change our deliberate opinion in this respect, or even permit a discussion of so unpractical a subject in our crowded columns. For the ladies themselves, our fair and friendly sisters, we entertain the highest sentiments of sympathy and respect. We are glad to think that their gentle natures approve and their warm hearts appreciate our Masonic system, secret though it be to them, and we are always gratified to know and to find that, despite this male exclusiveness of ours, they can associate themselves in all of true and kindly interest, alike with our mysterious reunions, our public assemblies, and our meritorious charities. To them we shall always offer, as we do to-day, the homage which is their just due, which their virtues and graces emphatically demand from all men, but especially Freemasons. But we can go no further, and say no more; and to their earnest and vicarious request for admission within the guarded door of the lodge-room our only possible reply can be, if with much of sympathetic regret, "Non possumus." With respect to Countess Hâdick's reception, that is, as we look at it, a purely exceptional case, and must continue to be so, and is certainly not to be used as a precedent, or proposed for imitation. Ungallant as it may appear at the first blush to say so, and harsh as it may seem to some to close the iron portals of Masonic lodges rigorously against the wives, and sisters, and daughters, and sweethearts of Freemasons, still it must be done, as all precedent teaches and bids, and we must, unmoved by smiles or tears, without fear and without hesitation, nerve ourselves to our duty, as men, as Britons, and as Freemasons. Having said this we will add, that perhaps occasions may be found or "improvised," when ladies may be admitted to meetings in the lodge-room, but not of course during lodge hours, or in the midst of Masonic work. That we hold to be both a grave impropriety, and an utter impossibility. We quite agree with the admirable remarks of "Another Freemason's Wife" in our issue of to-day.

A RECENT MASONIC SERMON.

In our last impression a sermon by our reverend Bro. E. R. Parr, P.G.C., for Cheshire, appeared. In order to avoid any possible misapprehension, we feel bound to remind our readers that though the views therein expressed are not ours, yet, that there is, and always has been, and probably always will be, a very influential school of Christian Masons amongst us, those, for instance, who, like Dr. Oliver, like to find Christian symbolism in Freemasonry. And we have always felt that this symbolism may exist, especially if our theory of guild continuation be correct, as the guild teaching was undoubtedly Christian. We, however, hold, as our readers know, that Freemasonry is universal, as our formularies teach, and therefore Bro. Parr's sermon, though eloquent and ingenious, can only be taken as the expression of the individual opinion of an able brother. Some foreign writers hold Freemasonry to be pure "humanitarianism," others an "eclectic philosophy," others Deism, or Theism, and some, as our good Bro. Parr, a Christian system, apparently a sister to Christianity. Now all these views we conceive to be ultra-Masonic, and cannot be laid down and asserted dogmatically, though we do not wish to dispute the right of Freemasons to hold such views subjectively, so long, that is, as they do not seek to force them upon us objectively as absolute Masonic teaching. All that we can properly say, it seems to us, ex cathedra is, that Freemasonry is a "system of morality based on allegory, and illustrated by symbols," excellent, most excellent, in itself, inasmuch as its morality is the morality of the Word of God, but that it is not a system of religion, and never was intended as a "religio" to any one. We have thought it well to make this last explanation, as we always object to "non-naturalism" in every shape, and we desire to mould and base all our Masonic teaching simply and honestly on the acknowledged and official statements of our great Order. Bro. Parr's sermon is a very able one, and deserves perusal, and will, no doubt, find favour with many.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

THE FUNDS OF GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have read with attention the letter of "Moneta" in your last number, and in reply beg to say, that it is not always "lawful for me to do what I will with my own," and Grand Lodge before it can do as it likes with its own must make a law to enable it to do so.

That great judge, Blackstone, is reported to have said that Parliament can do anything, except it be to make a man into a woman, or a woman into a man. I suppose "Moneta" thinks with the learned judge that Grand Lodge can do the same.

The quotations given by "Moneta" do not serve him. Yours, very fraternally,

AN OLD P.M., ONE, &c.

FEMALE FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I read with considerable interest the letter from a Freemason's wife in your journal of Friday, although I cannot agree with her opinion respecting women being Masons, and I consider the W.M. of the Hungary Lodge very unwise to initiate one, even if she were a countess, and well versed in Masonic literature. I do not think it a woman's province; her place (as your correspondent admits) is "at home."

I respect Freemasonry in the highest degree, also its secrets, and in my opinion there is not a Mason living who would style women blind, profane, and not to be trusted with a secret—unless to his misfortune he had met with such a one; but God forbid we should all be classed under such a lowering demonstration.

As a rule I think we are held in the highest estimation by the brethren, and they are never happier than when surrounded by us at the festive board, and why a man should feel lighter hearted, and have a better conscience, by divulging the secrets of the Order to his wife I cannot imagine, unless there was shame attached to it instead of being an institution founded on the best and purest principles of religion (this is no secret). I honour it for my husband's sake, he having entered heart and soul into it, and am proud to say it was through my earnest solicitations he joined the mystic Order, and I feel the greatest interest in everything connected with Masonry, and we can, and do converse freely upon the subject although I am not a participator in the secrets; and what true wives with a kind, good husband, would begrudge him attending his Masonic meetings, after the toil and harass of business, because she was not enlightened into its secrets?

I am afraid your correspondent's letter will cause many of the brethren to say (slightly altering the text), "Curiosity," "thy name is woman."

Apologising for trespassing on your valuable space, Believe me, yours faithfully,

ANOTHER FREEMASON'S WIFE.

HERMETIC MASONRY; OR, "LONG LIVERS."

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I feel sure that you will not refuse me a few lines of explanation in regard to the work entitled "Long Livers," to which I see, with much pleasure, that you are giving prominence. This book has been known to a few Masonic students for some years. Bro. Matthew Cooke, about six years ago, furnished me with some extracts from it, which I published in 1872 in my work upon "Speculative Freemasonry" (page 113). This I did with the consent of Bro. Cooke, provided the name of the book was not given. Finding, however, accidentally, that the work formed a part of the library of Bro. F. G. Irwin, of Bristol, I gave further prominence to the same in the pages of a contemporary, which published my letter on the 24th July, 1875, as you will see by the enclosed printed slip, which I have sent to many brethren both at home and abroad. I scarcely feel sure that I agree with you when you say that it is a description of certain Hermetic grades; I consider the language to refer to the Royal Arch degree in Alchemical jargon, at the same time I feel assured, from much undoubted evidence, that all degrees above the three first originated in the Hermetic knowledge of certain Speculative Freemasons, and if this is also your meaning, I am at one with you. My only object in writing to you is to do full justice to other brethren in their prior knowledge of the existence of this valuable work, and I feel sure that the well-known candour of your able editor will excuse my taking up your space with this explanation. I always find that Bro. Hughan is ready to give credit where it is due, but I find also that there are a many who palm off the discoveries of others as their own.

I remain, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,
JOHN YARKER.

Manchester, Oct. 7th, 1876.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

My friend, Commander C. Scott, R.N., J.P. (P. Prov. G.W. of Devon, &c., &c.) has fraternally reminded me of a fact I had lost sight of, and which you evidently also have done in your appreciative notice of the reprint of the introduction to "Long Livers" of 1722, by Eugenius Philalethes, the whole of which is to be found in the current number of the "Masonic Magazine."

The first allusion to this scarce and curious work is to be found in Bro. Yarker's "Speculative Freemasonry," and it appears, Bro. Matthew Cooke had then a copy of the work, which he intended to reprint. Copies of this strange little book of 1722 are to be found in the private libraries of Bros. Carson, of Cincinnati; Bower, of Keokuk; Irwin, of Bristol; and others, and in the Masonic libraries of Pennsylvania (Philadelphia), and Sheffield (Yorkshire), and probably some others.

Its peculiar Masonic value, however, apparently has been quite overlooked from its issue until the present decade of this century.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

Truro, 10th Oct., 1876.

ULTRAMONTANE VIOLENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Permit me to say a few words in refutation of an attack made upon you by "A P.M. of 30 Years' Standing" in your last. You have no reader, I believe, more assiduous than myself, and therefore none more conversant with the line of argument you have consistently adopted about this subject at issue, whence I feel sufficiently presumptuous to add a line even to your own editorial note.

You have long observed the intolerant attitude of Ultramontanism towards Freemasonry; you have further observed that this attitude has been professedly based upon charges known to be false; you have therefore set yourself to defend Freemasonry by proving these charges to be groundless, and at the same time by drawing attention to the reckless manner in which such charges are made, not only upon Freemasonry, but upon every other system that Ultramontanism supposes itself opposed to; you have also drawn attention to the numerous acts of persecution (notably those in Minorca) of which Ultramontanism has been guilty, in order to show what would be the character of its dealings, if only its power were equal to its will, with Freemasonry as a system and Freemasons as individuals. But in all this defence of yours not one word has there been of counter attack or even of vengeful reprisal, still less of any disapproval of the Roman Catholic religion, nothing more than a simple refutation of slander, and slander of such a nature that if left unanswered the outside world would have been fully justified in regarding the Ultramontane condemnation of Freemasonry as righteous and urgently called for.

Such being the case, P.M.'s letter declares your refutation to be wrong, and therefore (if he has well considered his subject, and I will not insult him by imagining that he would make such a charge without due forethought), leaves him only a choice of one of these positions: either supposing that Ultramontanism has wrongfully slandered and abused Freemasonry, then he would have it that it is the duty of every Freemason to bear the reproach without any attempt at refuting it, and so leave the outside world suppose us really the "leprosy of heresy" that Ultramontanism pronounces us to be; or, supposing that Ultramontanism has not wrongfully slandered and abused Freemasonry, then he acknowledges at once that Ultramontanism is right, and that we are therefore all that it describes us.

Perhaps our worshipful brother will kindly inform us upon which horn of this dilemma he would find the more comfortable seat; as for me, I prefer, Sir, to second your refutation of all such slanders, and so rest clear, not in our own eyes only, but in those of all the world.

I remain, dear Sir and Brother, faithfully and fraternally yours,

A MORE MODERN P.M.

CONSECRATION OF THE ROSE LODGE, No. 1622.

On Saturday last, the 7th inst., the consecration of the Rose Lodge (1622) was celebrated at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road, when a large number of the members of the Craft assembled to do honour to the occasion. Our V.W. Bro. John Hervey, P.G.D., G. Sec., was the officer appointed by the Grand Master to perform the ceremony, in which he was assisted by Bro. H. G. Buss, Prov. G.J.W. Middlesex, and Bro. James Terry, Prov. G.D.C. Herts. Among those present were Bros. T. E. Webb, 503; F. Cozens, 907; Vockins, 1429;

R. Challoner, 1178; W. R. Ramsay, 1539; G. S. Edwards, 975; Robt. Vorse, 1329; Kitson, 548; C. Sims, 1558; W. W. Mason, 1185; Charles Denton, 169; S. P. Harvey, 1539; E. H. Bayley, H. Bartlett, 147; W. H. Lee, 1524; M. S. Latham, 1559; Hodges, 795; Webster, 174; Chaplin Henry, 201; A. R. Cranch, 1216; J. Harris, 657; J. A. Lyon, 162; Godfrey, 1261; J. Claus, 1539; Thompson, 1158; W. C. Canton, 1475; Gammon, 795; D. A. Ashford, 1441; G. T. Carter, Stephens, Dobson, Palmer, Cockett, J. N. Kirby, J. Gornar, Alfred Allworth, J. A. Burgan, A. W. W. Stead, W. W. Pritchett, W. C. Thue, G. P. Coltar, and E. C. Massey ("Freemason").

The brethren having been marshalled in due order by Bro. Buss, who acted as Director of Ceremonies, entered the lodge-room in procession, and Bro. Hervey, the Presiding Officer, took the chair, and appointed his Wardens pro tem., after which the lodge was opened in due form in the three degrees.

Bro. J. Hervey then addressed the lodge as follows:—Brethren, you are all perfectly well aware of the object we have in view in meeting here to-day—namely, to add another link to the chain—another lodge to the long roll of lodges under the English Grand Lodge. I am sure that it is a matter of great gratification to all round this room, as it is to the Craft in general that we find lodges increasing and multiplying; and we hope and believe that the materials of which they are composed are not only increasing in number, but also improving in quality. Brethren, without such improvement I should be sorry to see the members of the Craft multiplying as they are now doing, because we must all desire that with increasing numbers there may also be found an improvement in the standard of education among Masons. I do not mean of position in life, because I do not think it necessary to be in a high position to be either a good man or a good Mason. We all of us ought to have one desire in view—to do our duty in the station that it has pleased God to call us to. If we do that, if we follow the precepts handed down in the Craft, worldly position does not matter, we are worthy of being made Masons; but if a man does not apply to his ordinary domestic life something of the precepts which he hears in his lodge, those precepts are thrown away, and I do not think that that man is altogether a worthy member of the Craft. Brethren, I have so often dilated, when I have had an opportunity of pointing it out, upon the necessity or caution, that I will not on the present occasion again impress upon your minds those ideas that are ever uppermost in mine. I will only say that unless a man is one whom you know as a good man, who carries out the ordinary duties of life worthily, I hold that you ought not to introduce him into your lodge. Any one whom we would not introduce to our own families we should hesitate to introduce into our lodges. If a man is one whom you can with confidence introduce to your family, then he is a proper person to be made a Mason. I have also impressed another thing very much upon the Craft lately, and that is a very objectionable course that is often taken in a lodge by a disappointed member, of blackballing every member who is presented for candidature. I cannot stigmatise such a course sufficiently. A man who will do such an act is covertly staining the character of another, of whom he probably knows nothing, merely to vent his own spleen. Worshipful Master designate, I hope that no such course will be taken in your lodge, and I hope too, that if it is, no step will be left untried to rid the Craft of such an objectionable character. I will not detain you longer, as we have a lengthy ceremony to go through, upon such points as these. As to the nature of a Freemason's lodge Bro. Terry will probably have something to say. I will only add that I came here to-day to consecrate this lodge with great pleasure. I have consecrated a great many in my time, and I can say that I scarcely know of one that I have consecrated that has not prospered, and I trust that the Rose Lodge, No. 1622, will not be an exception to the number.

Bro. Terry, as Chaplain, delivered the opening prayer, at the conclusion of which the acting Secretary, Bro. J. A. Burgan, addressing the Presiding Officer, informed him that certain brethren had petitioned Grand Lodge to grant a warrant for a lodge to be called the Rose Lodge, and that the M.W. Grand Master had been graciously pleased to grant them such warrant, and he requested the presiding officer in accordance with the warrant to form and consecrate the new lodge.

The presiding officer replied, directing that the brethren who had signed the petition should be placed in order on either side of the covered lodge board. This having been accomplished by the Director of Ceremonies, the acting Secretary was called upon to read both the petition and the warrant of constitution, which he did. The presiding officer then inquired of the brethren whether they approved of the officers named in the petition and warrant, which they answered in the affirmative in due Masonic form.

Bro. Terry then as Chaplain delivered an oration on the nature of Freemasonry and upon the formation and functions of Masonic lodges. This masterly composition was delivered in so able a manner by Bro. Terry that those present could not fail to be deeply impressed by it.

At the conclusion of this address the Anthem (133rd Psalm) was sung by the professional brethren present, Bro. G. T. Carter, Bro. Chaplin Henry, and Bro. Symons, under the direction of Bro. F. Cozens, who presided at the harmonium.

The first portion of the dedication prayer was then repeated by the presiding officer, followed by the invocation, after which the scripture lesson appointed for the occasion was read by Bro. Terry, and after the singing of a hymn the lodge board was uncovered, and the presiding officer, assisted by the Wardens pro tem., proceeded to consecrate the lodge with the emblems of plenty, happiness and unity, the choir singing the while

When once of old in Israel,
Our early brethren wrought with toil,

Jehovah's blessing on them fell;
In showers of corn, and wine and oil.

When there a shrine to Him alone
They built, with worship, sin to foil;
On threshold and on corner-stone,
They poured out corn, and wine and oil.

And we have come, fraternal bands,
With joy, and pride, and prosperous spoil;
To honour him by votive hands,
With streams of corn, and wine and oil.

The Presiding Officer then dedicated the lodge, and delivered the second portion of the dedication prayer, and the ceremony concluded with the Vesper hymn, "Guide me, oh thou Great Jehovah."

The Presiding Officer then constituted the lodge, which was afterwards resumed to the Second Degree.

Bro. David Rose, P.M. 73, W.M. designate, was then vouched for and presented by Bro. Buss for installation, and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed he was presented and installed into the chair of K.S., and proclaimed and saluted in due form. The W.M. then invested his two principal officers as designated in the warrant, viz., Bros. James Garnar, J.D. 975, as S.W.; Alfred Allworth, W.M. 1261, as J.W.

It was proposed and seconded that Bro. T. E. Webb be the Treasurer of the lodge, which was carried unanimously, and Bro. Webb was thereupon invested by the W.M., who then proceeded to appoint and invest his assistant officers as follows:—Bros. J. A. Burgan, Secretary; W. C. Thue, S.D.; A. W. Stead, J.D.; W. W. Pritchett, Prov. Grand Org. Herts, I.G.; G. P. Coltar, D.C.; W. Hamlyn, W.S.; and Bro. Church having been elected by a show of hands, was summoned and invested as Tyler of the lodge.

The oration having been delivered by Bro. Terry, the W.M. rose for the first time and made the usual inquiries, and before resuming his seat, proposed the names of three brethren as joining members. The S.W., in response to the inquiry, proposed an initiate, the J.W. proposed four initiates and one joining member, the J.D. proposed one initiate, the S.D. proposed one joining member and two initiates, and the Secretary proposed one initiate, a total of fourteen proposed members.

The W.M.: Brethren, there is a duty that should have taken precedence of this business. I have to propose a vote of thanks to Bro. John Hervey for his kindness in coming forward this evening to consecrate our lodge, and I beg to propose that he become an honorary member of the lodge; also that Bro. Terry and Bro. Buss be made honorary members and participate in the vote of thanks.

The proposition was seconded by the S.W. and carried unanimously.

Bro. Hervey: W.M. and brethren, when I say that if our exertions this evening have been gratifying to you and satisfactory to the brethren, I am sure it will be ample reward for what we have done. The performance of this ceremony is in most cases a labour of love, and I am satisfied that the two brethren who stand up with me would have felt the vote of thanks which you have been good enough to propose that we should receive would have been ample recompense for the service. As, however, you have proposed to make us honorary members, we accept it with thanks. I do not think that we can have all the functions of full members, as suggested by our Bro. J.W., in putting the motion, as it is contrary to the Book of Constitutions, which prescribes that honorary members shall not have the privilege of voting, &c., &c. (J.W.: I was speaking out of the fullness of my heart.) However, sir, I am sure we are gratified if our services have been acceptable to the brethren, and thank you for the compliment you have paid us.

The lodge was then closed in due form, after which the brethren adjourned to the banqueting hall where an elegant repast was served à la Russe. Between forty and fifty brethren sat down to dinner.

After dinner the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed, and some very good singing from the musical brethren enlivened the intervals between the speeches.

Bro. J. Hervey having responded for "The Grand Officers" went on to say W. Master, you have said a good deal about me in the lodge-room, and about the brethren who assisted me in the ceremonies, and you cannot say anything more to the purpose at the banquet table. Allow me, therefore, before I sit down to return thanks for the Consecrating Officers, not but the brethren will regret the loss of the speech which they would have heard from you, but they will rejoice at not seeing me get up again to speak. Bro. Hervey proceeded to make some flattering comments on the constitution of the lodge, and the efficiency of its Master, and concluded by proposing "The Health of Bro. Rose," and "Success to the Rose Lodge."

Bro. Rose: Brother officers and brethren, I thank you very sincerely for the very kind manner in which Bro. Hervey has put this toast, and to you for the manner in which you have received it. I should certainly have liked very much to introduce myself the vote of thanks to the Consecrating Officers for the simple reason that I had reserved for the banquet table the bulk of my remarks, but we must also consider his comfort, as he has already had a great deal of exertion, and feel bound to consider his wishes as to the curtailment of this stage of the business of the evening. In thanking Bro. Hervey I echo his wishes for the prosperity of the lodge, and trust that I shall never be found wanting in the performance of the important duties of that post which has this day been entrusted to me.

The toast of "The Officers of the Lodge," "The Masonic Charitable Institutions" (to which Bro. Terry responded), and the Tyler's toast were also duly honoured, and brought to a close a highly successful meeting.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF CUMBERLAND.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons was held on the 27th ult., at Maryport, under the auspices of the Whitwell Lodge, 151, of which Bro. J. Gardiner is W.M. Prov. Grand Lodge was opened and presided over by the Right Hon. the Earl of Bective, R.W.P.G.M.M.M., assisted by Colonel Whitwell, M.P., W.D.P.G.M.M.M., and Bro. F. Binckes, G.S.M.M.M., London. The usual business of the lodge having been transacted, the P.G.M. appointed his Provincial Officers as follows:—Colonel Whitwell, D.P.G.M.M.M.; J. Nicholson, P.G.S.W.; W. Pratchit, P.G.J.W.; M'Kay, M.O.; Cooke, S.O.; Henry, J.O.; Beeby, C.; Wheatley, P.G.T.; Pe de B. Collin, P.G.R.M. and P.G.S.; J. R. Tickle, P.G.S.D.; J. Barr, P.G.J.D.; W. B. Gibson, P.G.S.B.; Potter, P.G.D.C.; J. Smith, P.G.O.; J. Gardner, P.G.J.W.; E. Tyson, P.G.I.G. The brethren subsequently sat down to a sumptuous banquet, prepared by Miss A. Banks.

The lodge having been duly opened, the following brethren were advanced to the honourable Degree of M.M.M., viz.—Bros. J. Gooding, R. B. Hunter, Pickthall, Robson, Watson and Grayson.

The ceremony of consecration was then proceeded with in a most able manner by the Consecrating Officer. A board of Installed M.M.M. was then formed, and Bro. McKay was duly installed, the ritual being given in a very impressive manner. On the re-admission of the brethren the Newly-Installed Master received the usual salutations, which were given under the direction of the Installing Master. The W.M. then proceeded to install his officers as follows:—Bros. Godfrey, S.W.; Cranston, J.W.; J. Gooding, M.O.; W. Hall, S.O., pro Nelson; Hunter, J.O.; J. Pickthall, Treas.; Robson, Reg.; Watson, Sec.; Grayson, S.D.; Stanton, J.D.; pro Lisson; J. Crokell, I.G., pro Thoniber. The Installing Officer having addressed the brethren in a most impressive manner, it was unanimously resolved, on the motion of the W.M., seconded by Bro. Godfrey, that Bros. Binckes, Dr. Moore, and E. Simpson, be made honorary members. The usual proclamations were then made, and the lodge closed according to ancient custom. The brethren then adjourned to the Commercial Hotel, and sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided by the newly-installed officers. The usual toasts consequent on such a gathering were given, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The monthly meeting of the Committee of this institution was held on Wednesday afternoon in the library, Freemasons Hall, Col. Creation in the chair. There were also present Bros. S. Rawson, Benj. Head, H. G. Warren, Joseph Smith, W. Hale, Thos. W. White, J. Newton, M. Levy, C. A. Cottebrune, James Brett, A. H. Tattersall, R. Wentworth Little, C. F. Hogard, Raynham W. Stewart, H. Massey ("Freemason"), W. Hilton, Dr. Jabez Hogg, and James Terry, Secretary.

The Secretary read the report, and afterwards authority was given to sign cheques which had been recommended by the committee's report. In the report there was a recommendation for an increase of £20 a year in the salary of the clerk in the Secretary's service. The petitions of four males and five females were then received, and the petitioners were placed on the list for next election, after which Col. Creation gave notice of motion to come on at the next meeting of the Committee that the Secretary's salary be increased £100, to commence from December next.

The Committee then adjourned.

Obituary.

THE RT. HON. GEORGE, MARQUIS OF TWEEDDALE.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Bro. the Rt. Hon. the Marquis of Tweeddale, Past Grand Master of Scotland, which sad event took place on Tuesday last, at his residence, Yester House, Haddingtonshire. The deceased peer, who was in his 90th year, had been ill for some time, and recently he was severely burned by falling into the fire in his dressing room at Oxenford Castle, as noticed in our columns a short time back. He was the eighth marquis in the peerage of Scotland and a representative peer for Scotland, having, as the result of a long military career, attained the distinction of Field-Marshal, Knight of the Thistle, and the Grand Cross of the Bath.

LORD MAYOR'S DAY.—Subjoined is the official route of the forthcoming civic pageant on the 9th of November, on the occasion of the Lord Mayor elect, Sir Thomas White, going from the Guildhall to Westminster, to be presented to the Barons of the Exchequer. The cortege will leave the Guildhall about one o'clock, and proceed by way of King Street, Cheapside, St. Martin's le Grand, Aldersgate Street, Jewin Street, Fore Street, London wall East, Wormwood Street, Houndsditch, Minories, Postern Row, Tower Hill, Great Tower Street, Eastcheap, Cannon Street, St. Paul's Churchyard, Ludgate Hill, Fleet Street, Strand, Charing Cross, and Parliament Street. The return journey will be by the Thames Embankment, Queen Victoria Street, Queen Street, and King Street to Guildhall.

A report of the annual banquet of the Star Lodge of Instruction, No. 1275, is unavoidably crowded out, but will appear in the issue for the 21st.

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded by day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

THE VISIT OF THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES TO GLASGOW.

The arrangements at Renfrew for the reception of the Prince and Princess of Wales on the 16th inst., are now taking a somewhat definite shape, and there is every probability that the Royal burgh will for the time present a gayer appearance than on any previous occasion within its ancient history. From the railway station to the new municipal buildings the road will be lined with the 2nd Battalion Renfrewshire Rifle Volunteers. At a point on the route will be erected two platforms at the expense of Colonel and the Hon. Mrs Campbell, for the convenience of the tenantry of the Blythswood estate, and the children attending the Blythswood Sunday school. The address, which is to be presented to the Royal visitors in front of the new municipal buildings, has been drawn out by Professor Robertson, assisted by Mr Herron (town clerk), and Mr W. M. Wilson, writer, and it has been forwarded to the Prince of Wales for his approval. The municipal authorities of Renfrew intend on the occasion to depart from the usual stereotyped rule of presenting the address in either a gold or silver casket. They have been kindly furnished by Lady Anne Speirs, of Elderslie, with a piece of the timber of the "Wallace Oak," which grew at Elderslie, and from this they have arranged to have manufactured a handsome casket, which will bear the armorial crests of the burgh and a suitable inscription. For the purpose of permitting as many of the community as possible to witness the ceremony of presenting this address, a platform to hold about 2000 persons will be erected in front of the Town Hall. On the same evening, a grand invitation ball will be held in the Town Hall, at which it is expected there will be a gay and fashionable assemblage, but it is not anticipated that either of the Royal visitors will attend it. The town will be elaborately illuminated. A select party of distinguished ladies and gentlemen are to have the honour of dining with the Prince and Princess of Wales at Blythswood House in the evening, amongst whom will be the Duke of Buccleuch and Lady Mary Scott, Earl and Countess of Bredalbane, Earl of Dunmore, Lord and Lady Colville of Culross, Lord Carington, Sir Michael and Lady Octavia Shaw Stewart, Lord Provost of Glasgow, and Miss Bain, Mr Sykes, M.P., Mr. Andrew Cockerell, Miss Knollys, lady-in-waiting on the Princess of Wales, Mr. Knollys, Private secretary, and Col. Teesdale, equerry-in-waiting.

THE OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

The official programme of the order of proceedings to be observed by the members of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, the Masters of Lodges, and the brethren generally upon the occasion of the demonstration of Tuesday, the 17th inst., at the laying of the memorial stone of the new Post Office buildings in George Square by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, has just been issued by Bro. John Laurie, Grand Secretary, under order of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master Mason of Scotland, Sir Michael Robert Shaw Stewart, Bart. It announces that the members of Grand Lodge will assemble in the Albany Academy, 44, West Cumberland Street, at 1.30 p.m. precisely, when and where Grand Lodge will be opened, and thereafter adjourned for the ceremonial of the day. The daughter lodges will muster in Burnbank Grounds, Great Western Road, at half-past twelve o'clock noon, the lodges being enjoined to enter by the north-east gate, where they will be received by the assistant Marshals and conducted to their respective divisions. Any lodges arriving after 1.30 p.m. will have to take the junior position in the procession; and after the leading column has marched off no lodge will be allowed to join in. The Grand Lodge having been adjourned, the members thereof will put themselves under the immediate direction of the Grand Director of Ceremonies. The daughter lodges will be under the entire control of the Grand Marshals, and will be arranged according to seniority on the roll. Upon a given signal the procession will move off in the following order, viz.:—Band of music, office-bearers and members of daughter lodges, four abreast, the senior lodge in front, the commissioned officers of Provincial Grand Lodges, according to the seniority of their provinces on the roll; the office-bearers of the Grand Lodge. The route of the procession will be by Woodlands Road, Lynedoch Street, Park Street East, Park Circus, Park Street West, Park Terrace, Kelvingrove Park, Park Gardens, Claremont Terrace, Woodside Terrace, Woodside Crescent, Sauchiehall Street, West Nile Street, St. Vincent Street, a nd St. Vincent Place. When the procession has reached the triumphal arch at George Square it will halt, take open order, and the whole of the lodges in the rear will follow the like example, so that Grand Lodge may pass through the ranks to the platform. The whole line of brethren will "stand fast" in their rank until His Royal Highness returns down the same, en route to the residence of the Lord Provost. The ceremony being over, the Grand Lodge will proceed by the north side of George Square, George Street, and John Street, to the City Chambers in Ingram Street, where Grand Lodge will be closed. The brethren will then disperse. Full Masonic costume is enjoined on the occasion, viz.,—Black, with white gloves and white tie. Bands of music brought by lodges are to consist of not less than eight performers, and all must be under the complete control of the Grand Director of Music as to their place in the procession. We may add that the major portion of the lodges in the province are exhibiting their anxiety to make as creditable a show as possible on the auspicious occasion, and we think it only wants the element of favourable weather to render the day a memorable one in the annals of the Craft in Glasgow.

FREEMASONRY IN CANADA.

GREAT PRIORY OF CANADA.

The first meeting of this body held under the warrant issued by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, was held in the City of Montreal on Thursday, the 10th August, Col. W. J. McLeod Moore presided. The patent of this appointment as Great Prior of the Dominion of Canada was presented and read, after which he was duly presented and installed in accordance with the rites of the Order. After the reading of his address, the election of officers was proceeded with, and the following is a list for the present year:—Col. W. J. McLeod Moore, Supreme Great Prior; S. B. Harman, Great Sub-Prior; Daniel Spry, Toronto, Chancellor; F. J. Menet, Toronto, Constable; J. Greenfield, Kingston, Marshal; Edson Kemp, Montreal, Registrar; J. R. Kerr, Toronto, Provincial Prior, Central Ontario; James Seymour, St. Catharines, Provincial Prior, Western Ontario.

The annual excursion and picnic of the Barrie Masonic fraternity being fixed to come off yesterday August 9th, on board the Steamer Lady of the Lakes, to and at Longford, great preparations were previously made for a pleasant and agreeable time, and when the auspicious morning arrived, the brethren and friends, with their wives, families and other social connections, turned out in such numbers as to fill both the lower and upper decks of the well trimmed and capacious Craft, Lady of the Lakes, as she cast loose from her moorings at the Northern Railway Wharf, on the morning of August the 9th. The party was accompanied by excellent brass and quadrille bands, and the trip to Longford was thoroughly enjoyable. On reaching the secluded but lovely spot selected for the picnic, the scene that presented itself to the view was really grand. Little groups were here and there scattered on the green sward, screened from old Sol's scorching glances by the umbrageous foliage of convenient trees, to the number of at least 300 people—all enjoying the luxuries which their well-filled baskets afforded. After their appetites had been thus satisfied, the band struck up exhilarating music, and soon a merry crowd were exercising themselves to its measured time, in the mazes of the dance, on a large platform erected for that purpose. Under the management of the committee the arrangements were all well carried out, and gave general satisfaction. Everybody seemed well pleased with the day's amusement.—"Barrie Examiner."

At the meeting of Holy Land Conclave, of the Order of Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, held in the Masonic Hall, Toronto-street, Toronto, the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. J. B. Nixon, 18°, Sov.; R. J. Howenden, 32°, V.S.; Wm. Brydon, 32° 1st G.; John McKee, and G.; F. J. Menet, 32°, Treasurer; J. Ross Robertson, 18°, Recorder; A. S. Irving, 18°, Herald; Joseph Purvis, 18°, Prelate; George Watson 18° Prefect; J. L. Dixon, Sentinel. The officers were duly installed by the M.P.S., Bro. Daniel Spry, 32°. The Order of Red Cross has been organized and in working order in this city for some years, and is in a flourishing condition. This is the oldest of the outside orders of Masonry, its establishment dating back to A.D. 313. Its ritual is beautiful and impressive, and year after year the order increases in efficiency and numerical strength. The Order bids fair to become eventually the leading as it is believed to be the most valuable Order of Knighthood in existence, not only on account of its sublime teachings and beautiful ceremonies, but because of its undisputed ancient origin.—"Toronto Telegram."

A NEW INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT.

The following letter appeared in the "Times" of October 6th, and alludes to a paragraph which we published last week:—

SIR,—In the interesting little note of your issue of today headed "A New Intelligence Department," taken from "Allen's Indian Mail," it would appear that the natives about Dinapore, Patna, and neighbourhood have lately been seized with the belief that the British soldiers have orders to decapitate all natives found abroad after sunset or found in secluded places, the heads being deposited in the Masonic lodges, and by their means intelligence can be gained of any political intrigues. How like one Asiatic people are to another, to believe such childish nonsense, is seen from the fact that some years ago, when I resided in the city of Batavia, gas was introduced there, and while the streets were all opened preparatory to laying the pipes and the gasworks were being erected, the natives got an idea into their heads that under each gasometer two barrels full of children's eyes were to be put; a sort of ghost called a "choelik" going abroad at night and scooping them out of the children's heads; and this impression was so general that like the natives of Patna and Dinapore, the Malays of Batavia would not issue from their homes at night. The Dutch authorities at last got tired of this folly, which really seized the immense native population of Batavia like a mania, and severely punished one or two of the natives, who ought to have known better, and possibly did, and after this the nuisance abated. "Allen's Indian Mail" says that the fact that the natives can believe such things of our soldiers is very significant, but it is only significant to any thoughtful mind how very unfit such people are to rule themselves. Just one word more about Masonic lodges. The Universal name for them among the Malays is "Roema Sétan"—Devil's Houses.

I remain, your obedient servant,
Thatched House Club, St. James's-street.
October 5th.

JOHN PEEB.

Masonic and General Tidings.

THE EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT (under the sanction of the Lodge of Unions), No. 256.—The annual festival of this famous lodge will take place at Freemasons' Hall, on Friday evening, November 24th, on which occasion Bro. the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W., Pro Grand Master, has kindly consented to preside. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, who has entered on his thirtieth year of office as Treasurer, will take the chair of the lodge, which will be opened in the Grand Hall, at six o'clock precisely. The following sections will be worked by Past Grand Officers, viz.:

FIRST LECTURE.

- 4th Section by W. Bro. J. C. Parkinson, P.G.D.
 5th " " C. A. Murton, P.G.D.
 6th " " C. C. Dumas, P.A.G.D.C.
 7th " " J. A. Rucker, P.G.D.
- SECOND LECTURE.
 2nd " W. Bro. R. Grey, P.G.D.
 3rd " " H. J. P. Dumas, P.G.D.
 4th " " Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.
 5th " " T. Fenn, P.G.D.

Among the many Stewards for the evening, we hear, are the following:—V. W. Bros. the Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, S.G.W.; the Hon. Wm. Warren Vernon, J.G.W.; Sir Albert W. Woods, P.J.G.W.; J. B. Monckton, President of the Board of General Purposes; W. Bros. C. A. Murton, P.G.D.; H. J. P. Dumas, P.G.D.; J. A. Rucker, P.G.D.; J. C. Parkinson, P.G.D.; R. Grey, P.G.D.; T. Fenn, P.G.D.; C. C. Dumas, P.A.G.D.C.; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.

The Friends in Council Chapter, No. 1383, of the Holy Royal Arch, was consecrated on Thursday last by Most Excellent Comp. Lord Skelmersdale, Grand H. of England. A Second Edition of the "Freemason" will be issued early on Saturday morning, in which a full report of the proceedings, both at the ceremonies of consecration and at the banquet, will appear.

Bro. Ex-Sheriff Sir Fredk. Perkins, M.P., has been elected Master of the Loriners' Company for the ensuing year.

On Thursday week Mr. Kent, C.C., invited a few friends to an elegant luncheon at the Albion. The immediate object of the gathering was to welcome the Mayor of Hull, on a contemplated visit to London. He was, however, unable to be present, owing to ill-health. There were a few toasts drunk, and, in proposing one of them, the host explained that the reunion was attributable to a kind reception he had met with in Hull during a recent visit to that town. Mr. Charles E. Lewis, M.P., replied for the Houses of Parliament, and Mr. McGeorge, C.C., to the commerce of the City. Amongst those present was Mr. Gresham, chief clerk at the Mansion House justice room, who previously occupied a similar position at Hull.—"City Press."

Bro. Sir George Elliot, Bart., M.P., has been elected Master of the Needle Makers Company for the ensuing year.

We are pleased to hear that Bro. Wordley, the eminent chronometer maker and jeweller, of 84, Cannon-street, has just secured a large contract to supply the South India Railway with their clocks and watches. The order consists of 112 station clocks and 64 watches for the use of the guards. These are all made to suit the climate of India, and we believe this is the largest order that has been executed by the trade for some time, and was only secured after very sharp competition with several of the oldest firms in the City. We believe that Bro. Wordley, although but a young Mason, is working hard, hoping soon to take up a prominent position in the Craft.

The Mount Edgcumbe Lodge of Instruction, No. 1446, was re-opened on Wednesday week, and will meet at 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's, every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m.

The Upper Norwood Lodge of Instruction (previously named the "Sydney") meets every Monday evening, during the winter months, at the White Hart Hotel, Church-road, Upper Norwood.

Bros. Dr. Ramsey and Æ. J. McIntyre, Q.C., have been elected Wardens of the Needle Makers Company for the ensuing year.

Warwick has just expended £25,003 securing a good water supply, and the works were formally opened on Wednesday by the Mayor. The supply of water, it is stated, will be more than sufficient for the requirements of the town. It has been obtained from a bed of sand, and is supposed to be practically inexhaustible.

Bro. Sir Frederick M. Williams, M.P., R.W. D.P.G.M. for Cornwall, has subscribed £500 to the Cornish Bishopric Fund. This sum, with the £2000 which the Episcopate Committee have agreed to transfer to the Cornish Bishopric Fund as announced by the Earl of Devon at Plymouth, will secure Lady Rolle's gift of £40,000.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, October 20, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14.

- Quart. Gen. Court Girls' School, at 12.
 Lodge 176, Caveac, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
 " 1361, United Service, Greyhound Hot., Richmond.
 " 1423, Era, King's Arms Hot., Hampton-st.
 " 1426, The Great City, Cannon-st. Hot.
 " 1612, West Middlesex, The Institute, Ealing.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
 Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
 Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.
 MONDAY, OCTOBER 16.
 Quarterly Gen. Court Boys' School, at 12.—See Advt.
 Lodge 21, Emulation, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
 " 58, Felicity,
 " 720, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.
 " 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 901, City of London, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 " 907, Royal Alfred, F.M.H.
 " 1201, Eclectic, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
 Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
 Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
 Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
 Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
 St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
 Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
 Upper Norwood, White Hart Ho., Church-rd.,
 Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.
 TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17.

- Board of Gen. Purposes, at 3.
 Lodge 30, United Mariners, Guildhall Tav., City.
 " 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hot.
 " 733, Westbourne, Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
 Chap. 11, Enoch, F.M.H.
 " 19, Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 186, Industry, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
 Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
 Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
 Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
 Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
 Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
 St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
 Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
 Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
 Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
 Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
 Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
 Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
 St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.
 WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18.

- Gen. Com. Grand Chapter, at 3.
 Lodge of Benevolence, at 6.
 " 140, St. George's, Trafalgar Hot., Greenwich.
 " 619, Beadon, Greyhound Tav., Dulwich.
 " 700, Nelson, M.H., William-st., Woolwich.
 " 1044, Wandsworth, Spread Eagle, Wandsworth.
 " 1349, Friars, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.
 " 1382, Corinthian, George, Glengall-rd., Millwall.
 Chap. 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
 " 857, St. Mark's, Surrey Masonic Hall.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
 Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
 Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
 New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
 Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 Mount Edgcumbe, 19, Jermyn-st., St. James's.
 Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
 Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anclery.
 Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
 Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
 Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
 United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
 Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
 Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
 Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19.

- House Com. Girls' School, at 4.
 Lodge 49, Gibon, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 " 55, Constitutional, Inns of Court Hot.
 " 169, Temperance, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
 " 174, Sincerity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 " 179, Manchester, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 181, Universal, F.M.H.
 " 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch, Hoxton.
 " 1139, South Norwood, Public Hall, South Norwood.
 " 1287, Great Northern, F.M.H.
 " 1339, Stockwell, Tulse Hill Hot., Tulse Hill.
 " 1425, Hyde Park, 1, Craven-rd., W.
 " 1475, Peckham, Surrey M.H.
 " 1507, Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
 " 1512, Hemming, Lion Hot., Hampton.
 Chap. 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.
 Mark Lodge, Bon Accord, 2, Red Lion-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
 Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
 Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
 Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
 Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
 The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
 High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
 Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
 Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.
 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20.

- House Com. Boys' School, at 4.
 Lodge 1589, St. Dunstan's, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 Rose Croix, Invicta, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
 Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Belgrave, Constitution, Bedford st., Covent Gard

- Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
 Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
 Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
 Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
 Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
 Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
 Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
 Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
 St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
 Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
 Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
 Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
 Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
 Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
 Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 21, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16.

- Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Chester.
 " 1502, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.
 Chap. 32, Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 995, Furness, M.H., Ulverston.
 Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17.

- Lodge 667, Alliance, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1225, Hindpool, Hartington Hot., Barrow.
 " 1276, Warren, Stanley Arms Hot., Seacombe.
 " 1325, Stanley, M.H., Kirkdale, Liverpool.
 " 1570, Prince Arthur, 80, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Chap. 605, De Tabley, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
 Lodge of I., 241, M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18.

- Lodge 537, Zetland, M.C., Birkenhead.
 " 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School, Liverpool.
 " 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
 " 1353, Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster.
 Mark Lodge 31, Fidelity, Norfolk Arms Hot., Hyde.
 De Grey and Ripon L. of I., 80, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Harmonic L. of I., Mona Hot., James-st., Liverpool.
 Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19.

- Lodge 203, Ancient Union, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 343, Concord, Militia Mess R., Preston.
 " 425, Cestrian, M.H., Chester.
 " 605, Combermere, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
 " 1299, Pembroke, Rawlinson's Hot., West Derby.
 St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20.

- Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 21, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16.

- Lodge 129, St. Mirren, 5, Moss-st., Paisley.
 " 332, Union, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., S.S., Glasgow.
 Encampment St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17.

- Lodge 33, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 73, Thistle and Rose, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 87, Thistle, 30, Cathedral-st., Glasgow.
 " 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
 " 556, Clydesdale, 106, Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18.

- Lodge 117, St. Mary, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
 " 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 Chap. 150, Shettleston, M.H., Shettleston.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19.

- Lodge 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 370, Renfrew, 8, High-st., Paisley.
 " 465, St. Andrew, 69, Garrad-rd., Glasgow.
 " 547, Stewart, M.H., Kilsyth.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20.

- Lodge 31, St. Mary Coltness, Com. Hot., Wishaw.
 " 306, St. Thomas, 90, Wellgate-st., Larkhall.
 " 321, St. Andrew, R.A., Public Hall, Alexandria.
 " 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.
 " 408, Clyde, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 471, St. John, Stane Inn, Shotts.
 " 496, St. Munn, Arcnadam, Kilmun.
 " 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21.

- Lodge 512, Thorntree, School House, Thornliebank.
 " 524, St. Andrew, M.H., East Kilbride.
 " 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 21, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16.

- Lodge 44, St. Luke, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17.

- Lodge 36, St. David, Ship Hot., East Register-st.
 " 405, Rifle, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18.

- Lodge 160, Roman Eagle, Iona Hot., 62, Nicholson-st.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19.

- Lodge 48, St. Andrew, F.M.H., 98, George-st.
 " 226, Portobello, Town Hall, Portobello.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20.

- Chap. 152, Perseverance, 86, Constitution-st., Leith.
 Chap. 83, St. Andrew, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—

Craft Masonry.....	463
Instruction.....	464
Royal Arch.....	464
Scotland.....	465
Masonic and General Tidings.....	465
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	467
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	468
Annual Banquet of Star Lodge of Instruction.....	468
Consecration of the Kilburn Lodge.....	468
Consecration of the Friends in Council Chapter.....	469
Supreme Council, 33 rd	469
Obituary.....	469
The Royal Visit to Glasgow.....	470
The Last Quarterly Court of the Girls' School.....	470
Masonic Archaeology.....	470
Bro. Muggeridge.....	471
French Freemasonry.....	471
CORRESPONDENCE:—
The Cant of Freemasonry.....	471
Long Lives.....	471
Information that may be useful to the Brethren.....	472
The Funds of Grand Lodge.....	472
Female Freemasonry.....	472
Freemasonry in Germany.....	472
Freemasonry in South America.....	472
London Masonic Club.....	472
Golden Wedding of Bro. C. Moore and the "Masonic Review".....	472
The Prince of Wales in Glasgow.....	473
Lodge of Benevolence.....	476
Masonic Meetings for next Week.....	476
Advertisements.....	476

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

LODGE OF UNITED STRENGTH. (No. 128).

—The first meeting of this old lodge was held on the 10th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, the Old Gate of St. John of Jerusalem, St. John's-lane, Smithfield, being at this time in the hands of operative Masons. The work of amending and renovating the Old Gate and its meeting rooms have occupied Messieurs les Ouvriers so long that the members of the lodge were in hopes of taking their ease in their accustomed quarters; but the lodge had proposed one thing while the working man, what with strikes and his love of taking his ease in his inn, had disposed of matters in another way, converting the "Gate A Hoy!" of Shakespeare, the loved resting place of Dr. Johnson, the birthplace of newspaper literature, and the venerated sojourning spot of "all sorts and conditions of men," to say nothing of the thousand and one historic associations going back into the very mist of time—into a sort of builders' workshop, in all but one particular—that the workmen are not so ready to leave it as they are the places where they are supposed to labour. The W.M., Bro. Robert Griggs, provided for the emergency by arranging that his lodge should meet in Great Queen-street, and upwards of 60 brethren and visitors attended the summons. In support of Bro. Griggs were P.M.'s John While ("Freemason"), Cooper, Crump, Winsland, Bottrill, James Terry, P.G.D.C. of Herts, Davis, Robards, and Hillhouse. Among the visitors were many from Bedfordshire, the list including Bro. Hazelgrove, I.P.M., 475 (Luton), and Bro. W. Phillips, W.M. of the same lodge; Bro. J.C. G. Hill, W.M. of the Highgate Lodge, 1366, and J. W. Parker, an E.A. of the same lodge; Bro. Timothy, of 87; W. Crow, of the Chilton Lodge; T. Goode, of 1888; F. Howell, W.M. of 1470; W. Randall, J.W. of 1470; H. Blackwell, of 1540; R. Leach, P.M. 861; and Bro. Rosier, of 188, Joppa. The S.W.'s chair was occupied by Bro. Hill, the J.W.'s by Bro. Square; Bro. Halford, S.D.; Bro. Killick, J.D.; Todd, I.G.; and the other officers were in their places, but Bro. Harty, the Organist, unfortunately had an enforced holiday, being divorced from the instrument he loves through the want of a key. The W.M., on the opening of the lodge, explained the circumstances which had necessitated the meeting being held where the lodge had now assembled, and the members at once voted a suspension of the bye-laws. The five brethren who were initiated at the previous meeting of the lodge were then presented, with Bro. Parker, of the Highgate Lodge, and having passed a satisfactory examination were entrusted. The ceremony was repeated again and again by the W.M., whose I.P.M. had a perfect sinecure, the Master's memory and work needing no correction even in the tiring reiteration of the ritual. The ballot was then taken for the admission of Mr. M. Mousley, and the result being unanimous, the candidate was admitted and initiated in due form. In the course of the other business it was announced that the Treasurer, P.M. Winsland, had given three guineas, in the name of the lodge, to the fund for the relief of the sufferers by the fire in Clerkenwell, and the lodge confirmed the action of the Treasurer, with thanks for his promptitude. The lodge having closed with reverent thanks to the Most High, the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet, provided in a style worthy of the reputation of the best days of the tavern, a reputation, we have reason to hope, will rise again to its lustre of former days. The W.M. proposed the usual toasts connecting the loyalty of the Craft with loyalty to the State, and spoke in his usual happy style. The initiate was welcomed among his new brethren with all honours, and made a most favourable impression. "The Health of the W.M." was proposed by the I.P.M., who expressed his thankfulness that the lodge had a Master so fitted as their Bro. Griggs. The toast was accepted with all honours, and was duly acknowledged. "The Visitors" were toasted, and the brethren had the opportunity of listening to some very excellent speeches in reply, and Bro. Howell gave an especially pleasant discourse on Masonic principles, and in the course of his remarks expressed his regret that the heavy work in a London lodge often rendered it impossible for the additional ceremonies which are promised "if time permit," as he thought that much was taught by these parts. "The Past Masters" were then toasted, and their several merits were descanted upon. "The Officers" were toasted, and Bro. Terry, in his reply as the Steward of the lodge, made an exceedingly clever and witty speech, "roasting" one of his brother Past Masters in good-tempered fashion. The Tyler's toast ended the evening's pleasant re-union.

ST. CLEMENT DANES LODGE (No. 1351).—The first meeting of this lodge for the present season was held at 265, Strand, on Thursday, 5th inst., and as this was the occasion of the installation of the W.M., there was a good muster of the brethren as well as visitors, amongst whom were Bros. John Hervey, G.S.; Joseph Smith, P.G.P.; Edwin Lott, P.P.G.J.W. Jersey; R. Tynell, P.M. 179; Clemow, St. Dunstan's Lodge; T. Wingham, J.W. 25; W. F. Tubby, P.M. 11; J. W. Attwell, S.W. 334; H. Potter, P.M. 11; T. M. Lockwood, J.W. 425; and others. The lodge being opened in due form, the minutes of the last meeting and the report of the Audit Committee were read and confirmed. The W.M., Bro. Steward, then passed Bro. Osborne to the Degree of Fellow Craft. Bro. Franklin was elected a joining member. Bro. Charles J. Livett was then installed in the chair of K.S., and saluted by the brethren. Bro. Betts, P.M., was the Installing Master, and elicited the applause of the brethren for the eloquent and impressive manner in which he delivered the charges. The W.M. then invested Bros. G. Wilson, as S.W.; H. Porter, as J.W.; T. Parker, Treas.; Wm. Hilton, Sec.; J. Wigg, S.D.; Butler, J.D.; J. Perryman, I.G.; E. Barnes, D.C. The W.M. then initiated Mr. Joseph Wheeler into the mysteries and secrets of ancient Freemasonry, and other business being concluded, the lodge was closed in due form, and with solemn prayer, and adjourned. The brethren then partook of a very handsome banquet, and the cloth being removed, the W.M. gave "The Queen and the Craft," "The M.W.G. Master," "The Earl of Carnarvon, D.G.M., and other officers of Grand Lodge, Past and Present" Bros. John Hervey, G.S., and J. Smith, P.G.P., replied, and in the course of their remarks congratulated the W.M. "upon the really excellent style of his working, which had been a great Masonic treat." In giving the toast of "The P.M.'s" the W.M. took the opportunity of presenting Bro. Steward, the I.P.M., with a magnificent P.M.'s jewel, unanimously voted him out of the funds of the lodge. The other toasts were duly given and honoured, and the Tyler's toast concluded the list. During the evening Bros. Lott and Wingham (R.A.M.) enchanted the brethren with some brilliant pianoforte performances, while the W.M. and some of his officers contributed some songs and glees, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. It is, perhaps, worthy of remark that although this lodge is now only commencing its sixth year, the present W.M., and the Installing Master were both initiated in it.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The anniversary and installation meeting of The Great City Lodge, No. 1426, was held on Saturday, Oct. 14th, at the Cannon-street Hotel, and was most numerously attended. Bro. J. Hamilton Townend, W.M., presided; Bro. Seax (W.M. elect), S.W.; Stannay, J.W., and all the other officers were present, together with the following array of visitors:—Bros. T. Fenn, P.G.D., Prince of Wales Lodge, 259; John Hervey, G. Sec.; Dr. Cox, P.G. Chap.; Peacock, Loyalty, 1607; Wooton, P.M. Union and P.G.D.C. Kent; Light, Prince of Wales, 959; Field, I.P.M. Burgoyne, 902; Guggenheim, Concordia, Switzerland; T. Poore, P.M. Panmure, 720; Driscoll, P.M. United Mariners, 30; Taylor, W.M. Doric, 933; Beattie, Buckingham, 591; Nunn, Dobie, 889; Marcus, Kennington, 1381; Raymond, Royal Kensington, 1627; Partridge, W.M. Neptune, 22; Lancaster, Polish National, 534; Medwin, Lion and Lamb, 192; Reed, 1601; Kitson, Wellington, 548; Dyer, Old Union, 46; Walter, Egyptian, 27; Saul, Eclectic, 1201; Carruthers, P.M. (Mayor of Reigate), Surrey, 416; Smith, P.P.G.S.W. (ex-Mayor of Reigate), Surrey, 416; Soppett, Constitutional, 55; Hawksley, Urban, 119; Dixon, P.M. Mount Lebanon, 73; Cottebrune, P.G. Purs. City of Westminster; Swallow, W.M., and Scott, Sec., City of Westminster; Steward, P.M. Chislehurst, 1351; Groom, Friars, 1349; Mann, P.M. 186; Oliver, P.M. Prince of Wales, 959; Noehmer, P.M. Industry, 186; Spencer, Mount Lebanon, 73; Gilbert, Industry, 186; Jonas and Birdseye, Panmure, 715; Huntley, Mount Lebanon; White and Turner, City of Westminster; Morgan, Gladsmuir, 1385; Cargill, W.M. Gihon, 49; Addriott, Marylebone, 1305; Dakin, P.M. Harmony, 580; Dyer, W.M. Industry. The lodge having been opened and the minutes of former meetings read and confirmed, the W.M. proceeded to initiate Mr. Christopher Linner Cartwright and Mr. Lughen Constantine Libersart into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. This having been concluded, the next business was the installation of Bro. Seax as Worshipful Master. Having been duly presented and certain matters proceeded with all the brethren below the degree of Installed Master were requested to retire. A Board of Installed Masters, thirty in number, was then formed, and Bro. Seax, the W.M. elect, in due form installed as W.M. for the ensuing year. The brethren below the chair having been admitted, the new W.M. received the customary salutes, and he then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. Stannay, S.W.; Freeman, J.W.; the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Chaplain; Headon, Treas.; Moody, P.M. Sec.; Blackie, S.D.; Catchpole, J.D.; Hamer, I.G.; Taylor, D.C.; H. Jenkins, Org.; Keble and Hook, Stewards; and Steedman, P.M., Tyler. Bro. Townend, the retiring and Installing Master, then delivered the customary addresses, and at the conclusion was warmly applauded. The report of the Audit Committee was then received and adopted. Bro. Headon, P.M., moved "That a jewel of the value of five guineas be presented to Bro. James Freeman, with the thanks of the brethren, on his resignation of the office of Treasurer, which he has held since the establishment of the lodge." Bro. H. Thompson, P.M. ("Freemason"), seconded the motion, which was put, and carried. Several propositions having been made, the lodge was closed in due form and with solemn prayer, and the brethren adjourned to the large hall for the banquet that was to follow. About 200 sat down, the W.M. presiding, supported by the Grand Officers and the newly-initiated brethren, of whom seven were present, some of them having been admitted at a lodge of emergency held a fortnight ago. At the termination of Deacon. The toast was most cordially received. Bro. the Rev. Dr. J. E. Cox, P.G. Chaplain, said: The Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Great City Lodge, and those other brethren who are here present, will receive from myself, as the representative to-night of Grand Lodge, I am assured, my warmest thanks for the manner, in which they have taken notice of the toast of our esteemed Deputy Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Officers of Grand Lodge. It is always a satisfaction to myself to have to return thanks for this toast, because, when received as it has been to-night with so many demonstrations of satisfaction, and with so much enthusiasm, it is an assurance to my mind that the Officers, Past and Present, of Grand Lodge live in your esteem, and that you are disposed by every means in your power to strengthen their hands in their efforts to promote the usefulness and the welfare of our noble and venerable Order. (Hear, hear.) I believe, amongst newly made Masons—and I may call the Deputy Grand Master a newly made Mason in comparison with myself—there is no brother in the Craft who desires more earnestly to promote its welfare, or to support its grand and benevolent purposes, and the more I see of those who are associated with him as leading members of that assembly, the more am I persuaded that the great principles of Masonry are advancing, and that they are becoming of more and more value as time goes by. (Hear, hear.) It is a great satisfaction to myself to mark the peaceful relations which at the present time exist in Grand Lodge. At the time when I first became a member of the Craft there was much division, and I regret to say, much un-Masonic feeling demonstrated therein; but those times happily have passed away, and with the peace of the present time we have also the augmentation of those great benefits which Masonry stands foremost to promote and confirm—I mean the noblest principles for the development of charity—(Hear, hear.)—not only charity in the matter of giving of that substance, with which the Great Architect of the Universe has blessed us, but in the manifestation of that noble feeling which suffereth long, and is kind, which envieth not, and which seeks to promote the welfare not only of the brethren themselves, but of society at large. (Hear, hear.) And my mind is more peculiarly directed at this moment to the matter of charity, because at this season two important events are being carried forward. On this day an election has taken place of candidates for the Girls' School, and on Monday next fifteen boys will be admitted into the kindred Institution; and with reference to the first and foremost—as it always will be in the estimation of the brethren—the Girls' School, I have been charmed to-day to see an engraving in the "Builder" newspaper, showing what is the intention for the enlargement of that Institution, and for the increase of benefit to the youthful female children of our decayed and deceased brethren; and then next I turn my attention to the Boys' School, in which my heart has been always deeply interested, and with which, without boasting—I am sure you will pardon me for saying it—I have taken an earnest and a continual interest. (Hear, hear.) At the present time, especially, I rejoice to know that a subject, which has had my consideration for at least a quarter of a century is very near its fulfilment. My esteemed and worthy brother on my left hand (Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C.), has in some degree stolen my thunder; but for that I heartily forgive him. He has had more opportunity of assisting the working out of this most important subject than I have had, but I am with him, as you are, I am sure, heart and soul in the promotion of his scheme for the establishing of exhibitions in our Universities, which shall be the means of giving that completed form of education to those children of higher intellect, who, had their parents been spared to them, or had their prosperity increased, would have had the opportunity of finishing its course by means of the highest educational privileges this land can afford. Although it has not been my province to carry out that which I so much desired myself, yet it will be my happiness to assist my worthy brother and others in the promotion of that great object, and when it shall please the Great Architect of the Universe to call me hence, nothing will be looked back upon by myself with greater satisfaction than that in my position as a Past Grand Chaplain of England, and as a Minister of the Truths of the Great Architect of the Universe, I had been enabled in some way to do something for the alleviation of the suffering of mankind. (Hear, hear.) I will not detain you at much greater length, because I have said almost as much as you can bear to hear, (No, no), and as much as I have to say; but there is one subject—of which I have been reminded by an observation of your Worshipful Master—which has quite gone home to my heart. In mentioning my name he stated that I was the Father of Grand Lodge. I cannot lay claim myself to that position, for there is one brother, and a brother clergyman also, older than myself, (Bro. the Rev. Sir J. W. Haycs), who is the Father of Grand Lodge; but I stand next to him, for I have been a member of that Grand Lodge for thirty years. (Hear, hear.) And in those thirty years you may suppose how many I have seen depart hence, whose memory is treasured in our regard, and whose works for the benefit of Masonry and mankind are registered in the Grand Lodge above. (Hear, hear.) It cannot be in God's Providence that I shall remain much longer in this sublunary the banquet grace was well sung by Miss Jessie Royd and Messrs. Bernard, Daniel, Morgan, and Bamford. The W.M. said the first toast he had to bring under the notice of the brethren was that of "The Queen." Masonry and loyalty had ever gone hand in hand, and to show their attachment to the Queen he coupled her name with the Craft. This was followed by the National Anthem, the solo parts by Miss Jessie Royd, and it was enthusiastically applauded. The W.M. next gave "The Most Worshipful Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales," whose renown as a Mason was known and acknowledged by all. This toast needed no explanation from him, and he was sure that it would meet with a hearty response. The toast was cordially received, followed by the solo and chorus, "God bless the Prince of Wales," with the following new verse by Bro. Hook, the Organist of the lodge:—

"True Masons greet, with one accord,
Our Master once again!
And thank the World's Great Architect,
Our prayers were not in vain.
Again our Prince amongst us,
Each loving heart now hails,
From danger now, as in the past,
God shield our Prince of Wales."

This new verse was loudly applauded. The W. Master said the next toast to which he wished to call the attention of the brethren was that of "The Right Worshipful Pro. Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon," and said he believed that his services were unequalled by any member of the Craft. Holding such a high position he was entitled to their respect and esteem, and he trusted that his health would be drunk in proper form, and with all due enthusiasm. The toast was duly honoured. The W. Master said the next toast he had to propose was a very comprehensive one, as it was "The Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present." It was superfluous on his part to remark that the Grand Lodge was the ruling body of the Craft, and was formed of those members who had obtained distinction in it, and there was a further distinction to those who had become Grand Officers. It was composed of Past and Present Grand Officers, and they had both amongst them in the lodge that evening. He believed that there were present the oldest members of Grand Lodge, Bros. Dr. Cox, the Rev. R. J. Simpson (a member of their own lodge), Bro. Hervey, the Grand Secretary; Bro. Fenn, P.G.D.; and Bro. Cottebrune, P.G. Purs. He was proud to see them present, and he gave them all a hearty welcome. He connected with the toast the names of Dr. Cox, P. Grand Chaplain; and Bro. T. Fenn, Provincial Grand state; but so long as I am spared I will work for Masonry, as I have endeavoured to do during the years I have been a member of the Craft, and it will be, I repeat, a satisfaction to myself when I go hence and be no more seen to die with the conviction that my name will live amongst those members of mankind, who have striven to promote the welfare and the increase of Masonry, to shew that it is the mother of civilisation, and to prove that it is the great benefactress of the human race. (Hear hear.) Bro. T. Fenn, P.G.D., said—It is rather an awkward thing at this period of the evening to be called upon to respond second to a toast, when one has to speak after so exhaustive and excellent a speaker as our excellent Bro. Cox. There is, however, one subject which he has left untouched, as probably it has not come under his immediate knowledge. The Grand Officers would be undeserving of the honour, which has been conferred on them, and of the compliment which your Worshipful Master has paid them, were they not desirous on all occasions to do all in their power, and to avail themselves of every opportunity to advance the interests of the Craft. I cannot better, perhaps, illustrate the desire which the Grand Officers appear to me always to have in that direction than by mentioning to you that on the 24th of November the annual festival of the Emulation Lodge will take place. On that occasion eight sections will be worked by eight Past Grand Officers, and the Earl of Carnarvon, our Pro. Grand Master, will take the chair. The chair in the lodge will be filled by our very excellent and worthy brother Hervey. The Stewards will be also forty Grand Officers. That may be illustration enough to shew the interest which they take in the working of Freemasonry, and I am sure to a lodge which claims to have a Lodge of Instruction of its own, this must be very interesting information, and I hope to yourselves, brethren, it is equally gratifying. I feel bound to admit that perhaps it is not exactly alone love for the Emulation Lodge of Improvement that that lodge is so mixed up and so bound up with my Masonic life. I wish I could but think so; there is something else at the bottom of it. I don't know why I should not be prepared even to admit it, because I am sure you will all yourselves join in the same feeling which has predominated in myself. Our Bro. Hervey enters on his 30th year of Treasurership, and it is out of respect for him that this great meeting is about to take place. I will not detain you longer, Worshipful Master, but I cannot sit down without congratulating you on the progress you are making, and on the excellent manner in which you keep up the working of this lodge. It has afforded me, I assure you, great pleasure to be present to-night, and I hope when on any future occasion I may be asked to attend this lodge I may observe the same strict adherence to good working, with the same advance and prosperity, which I have the pleasure of congratulating you upon to-night. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Townend, I.P.M., said the toast he had the honour to submit he felt sure would be received with acclamation when he told them that it was "The Health of Bro. John Seex, W.M. of the Great City Lodge." He had always found him most excellent in working the ritual of the lodge, and he had endeared himself to all by his genial disposition during the time he had held the different offices since the consecration of the lodge, and the manner in which he had performed his duties must be satisfactory to every member. He felt assured that the lodge would never suffer while he filled the chair, and he hoped he might have as happy a year in it as he (Bro. Townend) had. He asked them to drink to "The Health of their W.M." The W.M. said he felt obliged to them for their compliment, and nothing should be wanting on his part to render him worthy of the position in which, by their kindness, he had been placed, for there was a great responsibility in being placed at the head of one of the most important lodges in the City of London. In proportion to the fame and renown of the lodge, so concurrently were the difficulties and responsibilities of the W.M. He thanked them for the kindly feelings and the joyful congratulation which one and all had tendered to him. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was one that was always received with great enthusiasm in The Great City Lodge. They had rarely met without having one or more initiates, and on many occasions they had five. They had had two that evening, and five at a lodge of emergency held only a fortnight ago, and he believed that they would all prove true and good members. He gave "The Health of the Initiates," for which they severally returned thanks. The W.M. next gave "The Visitors," bidding them welcome, and, having read the list of them, said it would be invidious on his part to call upon any one in particular to respond to the toast. Bro. Cottebrune, P.G. Purs., Bro. Swallow, W.M. of the City of Westminster Lodge, and Bro. Dyer, W.M. of the Industry Lodge, severally returned thanks. The W.M., in giving "The Health of Bro. Townend, I.P.M. and I.M.," said the manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair had secured for him the esteem of the brethren, and he had then the honour of presenting him with a substantial mark of their gratitude, by placing on his breast the jewel which had been voted to him, and long might he live to wear it with pleasure, as it was the jewel of the Great City Lodge. He then attached the jewel amidst cheering. Bro. Townend, I.P.M., said he rose with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure, regret because he ceased to be the Master of one of the greatest lodges in the City of London, and with pleasure because he knew he left the chair with the good will of the brethren, and particularly so as he had received every assistance from the present W.M. of the lodge. In that lodge they worked the Emulation Lodge ritual, whilst he was brought up in the Stability, and he wished that the two modes of working could be brought together, as he believed that they might advantageously adopt a portion of each ceremony and omit the rest. He saw that he had to return thanks as I.P.M. and I.M., and most heartily did he thank them for their kindness, and for the jewel they had unanimously voted to him. He could not say that it was the proudest moment of his life, as he gave a preference to his mother lodge, in which he had worked up to every office, from that of Inner Guard, and when he went home after quitting the chair in that lodge he thought he was in the proudest position and the greatest man in Masonry (a laugh). The next toast was "The P.M.'s," for which Bros. Headon and Stevens returned thanks. Bro. Hervey, G. Sec., in proposing "Prosperity to The Great City Lodge," said he well recollected that it was three years ago when he had the gratification, with two other brethren, of performing the ceremony of consecration and installation, when more than 200 members were assembled. On that occasion he was supported by two Wardens, one of whom was Bro. Fenn, then present, and one who was now no more, Bro. Savage, who was second to none in the Craft, and whose loss had been severely felt. With what he had seen of the working of the lodge that evening he was well satisfied, and therefore he thought there was no one better qualified to propose the toast that had been entrusted to him. He was gratified to see the prosperity of the lodge, and, therefore, he need not wish prosperity to it, as that had been already achieved, and he would add one word to the toast he had to propose, and that was "Continued Prosperity to the Great City Lodge, and might its prosperity in the future be greater than it had been in the past." The toast was heartily responded to. Some other toasts were given, and the business of the evening, harmonious throughout, was brought to a close.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1558).

—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday week, at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell. There was a large amount of business on the agenda paper, which with discussions upon the minutes and the report of the Audit Committee caused the evening's proceedings to be very much protracted. Upon the reading of the minutes the W.M., Bro. William Snowden, proposed that so far as related to the election of Bro. W. S. Cackett to be W.M. for the ensuing year, said minutes should not be confirmed, and the proposition having been seconded, a discussion ensued upon certain matters of which the W.M. complained, which, however, ended in the confirmation of the minutes. In like manner a discussion ensued on the presentation of the Auditor's report upon the accounts for the past year, which ended in a resolution not to confirm same until presented in a different form, in which they were to be printed for the use of the members. The ceremony of raising was then proceeded with, Bro. James Dann, Secretary of the lodge, being the presiding officer, who raised Bros. F. Slater, G. E. Brace, and T. C. Corfe to the Sublime Degree of a M.M. Bro. Horace Kember was passed to the degree of F.C. The next business on the paper was the installation of Bro. W. S. Cackett, S.W., the W.M. elect, who was presented to the Installing Master by his predecessor, Bro. Snowden, and having given his assent to the various requirements prescribed by the Book of Constitutions was obligated, and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed he was presented, and formally installed into the chair of K.S. Having been proclaimed and saluted in the customary form, Bro. Cackett proceeded to appoint his officers as follows:—Bros. Thos. Sleep, S.W.; Walter Mitchell, J.W.; Snowden, P.M., Treasurer; James Dann, P.M., Secretary; Runnaces, S.D.; Chalk, J.D.; Boyton, I.G.; Power, D.C.; Taylor, W.S. When the usual orations had been delivered by Bro. Mann, who deserves the highest praise for the admirable working of all the foregoing ceremonies, and who, we understand, has worked all the ceremonies during the past year, the W.M., Bro. Cackett, resumed the lodge to the First Degree, and the ballot was taken for the following candidates for installation, viz.:—Mr. G. Le Touzel, Mr. William Allen, and Mr. J. Wallace, which being declared in their favour they were admitted and initiated into the mysteries of the First Degree by the W.M., who performed the ceremony with skill and ability. The W.M. then rose and said that he had a very pleasing duty to perform, which was to present to the I.P.M. the Past Master's jewel that had been voted him by the lodge, which he proceeded to place on his breast with a few words of congratulation and good wishes as to the future. Bro. Snowden having acknowledged the compliment, the W.M. again rose and said that he had another pleasing duty to perform, and that was to present to their worthy Secretary, Bro. Dann, a jewel which had been subscribed for by some of the brethren as some slight recognition of the obligations they were under to Bro. Dann for the services he had rendered during the past year, and the efficient manner in which he had performed the duties of his office, and other duties that did not appertain to that office. He then proceeded to attach the jewel (which was of peculiar construction combining the characteristics of a Past Master's and a Secretary's jewel) to Bro. Dann's breast, an act that was greeted with hearty applause by the brethren. There was also exhibited a handsome portrait album, which was presented to the lodge by the outgoing W.M. for the proper preservation of the photographs of the members of the lodge. Before the closing of the lodge Bro. Penrith proposed that a vote of thanks to the I.P.M. be recorded on the minutes for the handsome album with which he had presented the lodge, which was seconded by Bro. Simms, and carried. The S.D., Bro. Runnaces, proposed that an illuminated testimonial on vellum framed and glazed, should be presented to Bro. Snowden for his conduct throughout his year of office, which was seconded in three places at once, and a committee, including the names of Bro. Walter Mitchell, J.W., and about half-a-dozen other brethren, was appointed to see the resolution properly carried into effect. One initiate was proposed by the I.P.M., and after some little conversation the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet. Among the members present were Bro. Snowden, Bro. Cackett, Bro. Thos. Sleep, Bro. Dann, Bro. Walter Mitchell, Bro. Chalk, Bro. E. W. Boyton, Bro. C. E. Power, Bro. Scott, Bro. T. C. Cape, Bro. J. Dixon, Bro. F. Taylor, Bro. W. Bott, Bro. J. E. Pentridge, Bro. J. Emms, Bro. Chas. Sims, Bro. C. McIlvoy, Bro. Peach, Bro. F. Slater, Bro. F. R. Smith, Bro. Harold Kember, Bro. John Laram, Bro. John Kemp, Bro. W. Rowlands. Visitors: Bro. Geo. Adamson, P.M., 199 and 1208, P.G.D.C. Kent; Bro. Larham, P.M., 1539; Bro. C. F. T. Starke, 72; Bro. B. Cooke, 1207; Bro. Massey ("Freemason"), 7; Bro. Ramsay, 1539; Bro. P. Doyson, 382; Bro. B. R. Bryant, 1329; and Bro. John Read, P.M., 88. At the conclusion of the banquet, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed by the W.M., in very few words, and were all cordially responded to. The I.P.M. proposed "The Health of the W.M.," who returned thanks and proposed that of "Bro. P. M. Dann," the Secretary of the Lodge, who in returning thanks commented on the success the lodge enjoyed during its first year, and expressed his hopes that its prosperity might continue. He also again referred to the handsome jewel that had been bestowed on him by some of the members of the lodge, for which he again thanked them. The intervals between the toasts were pleasantly enlivened with some very good vocal music from Bro. R. De Lacy (of St. Paul's Cathedral), assisted by Bro. J. Hodges (gentleman of H.M. Chapel Royal), Bro. J. Thornton (principal tenor, St. Paul's Cathedral), and Bro. Edwin Moss, also of St. Paul's. Bro. J. Read presided at the piano.

HEYWOOD.—Lodge Naphtali (No. 266).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, on the 5th inst., Bro. S. Partington, W.M., presided. The lodge was opened with solemn prayer in the First Degree, after which the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. A. Eastwood was balloted for, and initiated by the W.M. Bro. J. Fitton was examined, and entrusted. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, and Bro. J. Fitton was passed by the W.M. Bro. W. Hamilton was examined and entrusted. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree, and Bro. W. Hamilton was raised to the sublime degree of a M.M. by the W.M., assisted by Bro. A. Wolstenholme, P.M., P.S.G.D., and the lecture by Bro. John Cass, P.M. The lodge was closed in form, and with solemn prayer, at 8.45 p.m. This lodge has taken rapid but sure strides within the last few years, it is now comfortably fixed in the new Masonic Hall rooms, within the recollection of present members it could not open and close without assistance from some other lodge; at the present time there is no ceremony but can be worked now by its own members, and the lodge stands second to none in East Lancashire for efficiency in the ritual and working of Masonry, as a knowledge by several of the prominent Provincial Officers.

DERBY.—Arboretum Lodge (No. 731).—The ordinary meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, on Wednesday, the 11th inst., when the following brethren were present:—Bros. Bennett, W.M.; Jno. Smith, P.M.; T. Roe, jun., P.M.; G. T. Wright, P.M.; F. Iliffe, P.M.; T. R. Gee, P.M.; Treas.; J. C. Merry,

Scotland.

INSTALLATION OF THE P.G.M. OF LINLITHGOW.—On the 13th inst. Bro. the Hon. Peter M'Lagan, Esq., M.P., was installed as Provincial Grand Master of the county of Linlithgow by Bro. Henry Inglis of Torsonce, assisted by a deputation from the Grand Lodge of Scotland, consisting of William Officer, S.G.W.; David Kinnear, J.G.W.; John Laurie, G.S.; John Davidson, S.G.D.; P. Sinclair, J.G.D.; A. Dott, G.S.; Rev. William Bennie, Bathgate, Chaplain. A procession was formed and marched from the lodge to the Royal Hotel. Deputations were present from several lodges in the neighbourhood, and all assembled in the hall of the Working Men's Club. The lodge having been opened in Apprentice Degree, the ceremony of installation was duly performed. Bro. Inglis complimented Bro. M'Lagan on the high position he had attained, and had no doubt Masonry would benefit from having such a member. Bro. M'Lagan replied, and hoped to do his duty in a Masonic point of view as well as he had done, not only as a citizen, but as a member of the legislature of this great empire. After the installation a banquet took place. Bro. M'Lagan presided.

CONSECRATION OF A MASONIC HALL IN DUNDEE.

On Friday week a meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Forfarshire was held in Dundee, for the purpose of consecrating the new hall of the Lodge Ancient, No. 49. The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Lord Ramsay, presided, and amongst those present were Bros. Lord Inverurie; Sir John Ogilvy, Bart., R.W.P.D.M.; the Rev. Crabb Brechin, the Chaplain; James Yeaman, M.P.; Colonel Guthrie, of Carlogie; David Small, Bailie Drummond, William M'Donald, Alexander Kelt, and others. The charter of the lodge was read, and it may be mentioned that it dates as far back as the time of William the Lion. A cake and wine banquet was subsequently held, at which Bro. Lord Ramsay occupied the chair. A number of toasts were drunk, and a very pleasant afternoon was spent.

POLLOKSHAW.—Royal Arch Lodge (No. 153).—On Friday, the 6th inst., the Royal Arch Lodge received its annual visitation from the Provincial Grand Lodge, Renfrewshire East. The Provincial Lodge was headed, in the absence of Bro. Colonel Campbell of Blythswood, P.G.M., by Bro. ex-Bailie Caldwell, Paisley, P.P. Substitute Master, who was accompanied by Bro. James Gilmour, P.S.W.; Bro. J. Peters, P.G.W.; Bro. Andrew Wallace, P.S.D.; Bro. Alex. M'Pherson, P.G. Treasurer, and Bro. J. Carswell, P.G. Marshal. The lodge having been duly opened by Bro. Peters, R.W.M., a careful examination of the books, &c., took place. The P.G. Substitute Master thereafter expressed the great gratification it afforded to the deputation to find such accuracy displayed in the keeping of the records of the lodge's transactions. The working of the lodge, too, he stated, was everything that could be desired. The business having been finished, the lodge was called from labour to refreshment, and a social and happy hour was spent.

GLASGOW.—Cathedral Chapter (No. 67).—By authority of dispensation from the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland, this chapter met in the Masonic Hall, 22, Struthers-street, Calton, on Tuesday, October 3rd, 1876. The chapter being constituted, Comp. James Duthie, Z., in the chair, Comp. G. Pridie, H.; Comp. D. Ronald, J.; Comp. J. Forrest, Acting Scribe N.; Comp. S. Bisland, 1st Sojourner; Comp. Mercer, of 87, and Sojourner; Comp. J. Negal, 3rd Sojourner, and a number of companions present. The Holy Royal Arch Chapter was opened by the three Principals, all companions standing to order. The dispensation being read by the M.E.Z., the election of new office-bearers was proceeded with, when the following were duly elected for the year: Comps. David Ronald, Principal Z.; George Pridie, Principal H.; Samuel Bisland, Principal J.; John Mason, Scribe E.; William Hamilton, Scribe N.; James Wood, Treas.; Robert Trainer, 1st Sojourner; John Booth, 2nd Sojourner, John Negal, 3rd Sojourner; Andrew Crawford, Janitor. The only election contested was that of the Janitor by Comp. Hamilton proposing a very old member of the chapter in opposition to Comp. Crawford, who, he said, did not attend to the duties of the office himself, as he ought, but allowed his servants or assistants to do the work which he himself ought to do. Comp. Ronald spoke in support of Comp. Crawford retaining the office, and said that the companion proposed to oppose him had never been attending the chapter since he (D. Ronald) became a member. The First Principal, Comp. Duthie, said that it made no difference to the chapter whether the Janitor or his servant did the work, so long as the work was done, and that the Janitor was responsible, and that the chapter only came into contact with him, and not with his servants. The M.E.Z., after taking the votes of the chapter, declared Comp. Crawford duly elected as Janitor by a majority of four votes. There being no further business, the chapter was closed by the Three Principals, all companions standing to order.

GLASGOW.—St. Andrew's Chapter (No. 69).—This chapter met on the 10th inst. The following companions from other chapters were present, namely:—M.E.P.P.Z. James Duthie, Cathedral, No. 67; M.E.P.Z. G. W. Wheeler, Caledonian of Unity, 73; M.E.P.P.Z. James O. Park, Thetis, 122; M.E.P.P.Z. J. Shields, Robert Burns, 143. The chapter was opened by Companion Thomas M. Campbell, Z.M.S.E.R.A.C. of S., when the following office-bearers were installed:—Thomas M. Campbell, M.E.P.Z.; William Harper, M.E.P.H.; Robert B. Prout, M.E.P.J.; J. H. Lash, E.S.E.; William Thomas, E.S.N.; James Blackwood, E. Treasurer; John McInnes, First Sojourner; William H. Stark, Second Sojourner; Adam Collie, Third Sojourner; William Bilsland, Superintendent of Works; John G. Allen, Captain of First Vail; William Pascoe, Captain of Second Vail; Robert Brand, Captain of Third Vail; David Ramsay, Janitor. The ceremony was performed by the M.E.P.Z., assisted by M.E.P.Z.'s Duthie and Wheeler. The auditor's report, which was read, showed the chapter to be in a flourishing condition. A vote of thanks was passed to the visiting companions. The chapter then adjourned to refreshment. After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts, the toast of "the S.G.R.A. Chapter of Scotland" was given, and "the Provincial Grand R.A.C. for Lanarkshire," replied to by Companions Duthie and Wheeler; Thetis Chapter, and Companion Park, who replied; Robert Burns Chapter, and Companion Shields, and replied to. Companion Duthie proposed a special toast viz., "to the Prosperity of the St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, 69, and the Health of Companion Campbell, its much respected Principal," and passed a high eulogium on him for his known ability as a Royal Arch Mason, being well-known to be the best demonstrator of that degree in Glasgow, if not in Scotland. He had always found him willing and able to instruct any one, as well as assist any chapter requiring his services, and this very chapter was a proof. When the meeting had been called for the purpose of ascertaining whether the chapter was to be declared dormant, he at once came forward, and, although at a great disadvantage to himself, accepted the office of Principal. This was in the month of April last. Since then he had added eleven members to the roll, and at present there are six applications for exaltation, and without saying anything more, he had much pleasure in proposing the toast, which was drunk with true Royal Arch honours. Comp. Campbell replied in a short but instructive speech, impressing on the companions the beauties of the Royal Arch, their duties in the chapter and to each other, stating that this degree was the zenith of Masonry; every one should strive to attain it and study its sublime secrets; and he was happy to state that he had fourteen candidates for the Royal Ark Mariners and Red Cross Degrees, which were the completion of the Royal Arch. The toasts of "Comps. Harper, P.M.," proposed by Comp. Park, and "McInnes, First Soj.," by Comp. Wheeler, "A. Purdie, Past S.E.," by Comp. Campbell, "The Visiting Companions," and "M.E.Z. Shields" having been given and replied to, the toast of the evening was given, and the chapter was closed in due and ancient form. The companions separated, after enjoying a very pleasant as well as instructive evening.

ARDROSSAN.—Neptune Kilwinning Chapter (No. 111).—This chapter continues to enjoy marked prosperity, under the able direction of its originator and present Z., Comp. James Robertson, whose zeal and accomplishment as a worker and ruler cannot be surpassed. The office-bearers for the year 1876-77 are as follows:—James Robertson, P.Z.; Francis Goodwin, P.P.Z.; David Goodwin, P.H.; Peter Sharp, P.J.; Thomas M'Nider, S.E.; John Robertson, S.N.; Wm. Ross, Treasurer; Charles Adair, 1st Soj.; John Kelly, 2nd Soj.; Caldwell Anderson, 3rd Soj.; Wm. Marshall, 1st Standard Bearer; Alexander Ritchie, 2nd Standard Bearer; Henry Barr, Janitor. The auditors gave in their financial report, which was highly satisfactory.

Masonic and General Tidings.

SOUTHWARK LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 879).—At this flourishing South London lodge, held at Bro. G. Freeland's, the Southwark Park Tavern, Southwark Park, the Fifteen Sections are announced to be worked on Wednesday evening next, at 7 p.m., by Bro. C. W. Kent, P.M., the Preceptor of the lodge. A treat is in store for all who care to enter an appearance.

BELGRAVE LODGE (No. 749).—Bro. Watts W.M. 1201, will work the installation ceremony at this lodge on Friday next, at 8 p.m. The lodge meets at the "Constitution," Bedford-st., W.C., under Bro. Pulsford's Preceptorship.

At the meeting of the Norwich Town Council on Tuesday last, it was officially announced that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., had signified his intention of visiting Norwich on the 20th prox., in order to instal Lord Suffield as Provincial Grand Master for Norfolk, and further, in order to be present at a meeting for advocating the claims of the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital. Bros. A. M. F. Morgan, P.D.G.M.; H. Barwell, P.G.S.; and Col. L'Estrange, P.S.G.W., have been deputed to make the necessary arrangements. The hospital has appointed the Rev. Canon Neville and Sir William Foster as a reception committee. The Town Council has resolved to appoint a committee, consisting of the Mayor and four councillors, to co-operate with the committees appointed by the fraternity and the hospital, to make arrangements for the reception of the Prince.

Bro. Sir Edward Lechmere, M.P., who has taken a prominent part in the alleviation of the sufferings of the wounded, is about to visit the seat of war in the East.

The Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct, has been let to Messrs. H. J. and W. J. Roberts, sons of Mr. Roberts (Bertram and Roberts), and will be opened as soon as the furnishing of the premises has been completed.—"City Press."

A Bill-y is rather smart in defining as "The people's champion" Willing, who is willing to stick up for anybody.—"Funny Folks."

Bro. J.E. Saunders, P.G.D., will preside at a public debate upon "The Permissive Bill," to be held at the Albion Hall, London-wall, on the 24th and 31st inst.

Japan has now officially entered the International Postal Union.

SURREY MASONIC HALL.—At a meeting of the Surrey Magistrates, held at the Sessions House, on Thursday, an application was made for a music and dancing licence, and upon hearing Bro. Edward Clark, Bro. H. A. Dubois, and Counsel, the Magistrates unanimously granted the licence.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Plunket, Grand Chaplain Grand Lodge of Ireland, has been elected Bishop of Meath by a large majority on a two-thirds vote of each other. The next in favour was Dean Daunt.

Bro. Alderman and Sheriff Hadley and his brother, Mr. Jonah Hadley, entertained the Lord Mayor Elect (Sir Thomas White) and Miss White at Cranbrook Park, Ilford, on Wednesday.

The "Glasgow Herald" reports that on Saturday, workmen laying pipes in connection with the New River Supply Works discovered, about four feet beneath the surface of the Green, a beautiful Roman bowl, in a perfect state of preservation.

Mr. Sims Reeves has, it is said, accepted an offer by telegram of an engagement to sing at 50 concerts in Australia for £15,000.

The London and North-Western Railway Company have just issued a new book of rules to their servants. One new rule provides that no company's servant shall enter a railway refreshment room for the purpose of taking drink whilst on duty, on pain of dismissal.

The "Sheffield Daily Telegraph" says Messrs John Brown and Co. have successfully rolled the thickest armour-plate yet produced. It is twenty-four inches thick.

While we British are suffering from an oyster famine, our Transatlantic cousins are rejoicing over the advent of the season for their beloved bivalve. To give an idea of the immense quantity of oysters consumed in the States, the "Albany Sunday Press" states that in New York City no fewer than 4,000,000,000 are eaten in one season, and the direct oyster trade in the United States employs some 200,000 men, the capital invested being estimated at £10,000,000. An oyster famine across the Atlantic would be a real calamity.

The display which is to be made at Delhi, when on the 1st of January, 1877, Queen Victoria is proclaimed Empress, will cost £50,000 sterling.

Her Majesty has contributed 100 guineas, and the Prince of Wales £25, to the fund for the relief of the persons who suffered loss by the recent whirlwind at Cowes.

The Brighton coach left London on Saturday morning for Brighton for the last time this season, having been running very successfully since the early part of June.

The Duke of Abercorn has resigned the office of Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and the Duke of Marlborough has been appointed his successor. The new Viceroy was born in 1822, and succeeded his father in the title in 1857. He was educated at Eton, and at Oriel College, Oxford. He represented Woodstock in the House of Commons during the years 1844-5, and subsequently from 1847 to his accession to the peerage. In 1866-7 he filled the office of Lord Steward of her Majesty's Household under the administration of the late Earl of Derby; and in 1868 he was Lord President of the Council, retiring with his colleagues in the Ministry upon the accession of Mr. Gladstone to power after the general election of that year. His Grace is a Knight of the Garter, Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of Oxfordshire, a trustee of Rugby School, and a governor of the Charterhouse. He married, in 1843, Lady Frances Anne Emily Vane, eldest daughter of the third Marquis of Londonderry. Their eldest son is the Marquis of Blandford, who married, in 1860, Lady Albertha Frances Anne Hamilton, daughter of the Duke of Abercorn.

Mr. Manisty, Q.C., has been appointed to the vacant Judgeship in the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Judicature.

The marriage of the Hon. Miss Palmer, eldest daughter of Lord Selborne, to Dr. Ridding, Head Master of Winchester College, is to take place at Blackmoor on the 26th inst.

On Saturday evening the Duke of Edinburgh reached Malta in her Majesty's ship Sultan from Besika Bay, and on Sunday the Duchess arrived in a Russian yacht from Smyrna. On Monday afternoon their Royal Highnesses landed at Pinto Pier, where they were received by the Governor, the naval, military and civil authorities, and a guard of honour, and proceeded, followed by thirty-five carriages, through the Right Marina Gate, where the garrison saluted them, and through the Porto Reale, where a second salute was fired, to the Valetta Palace where another guard of honour was stationed. They lunched with the Governor and Lady Von Straubenzee, covers being laid for fifty, and afterwards proceeded to the Saint Antonio Palace, their future residence. The weather has lately been stormy, and on Sunday Night the flagstaff on Fort Saint Elmo was shattered to pieces.

The Duke of Connaught was present at the Exhibition Palace, Dublin, on Saturday evening, at an assault of arms given in aid of the Drummond Institution for the Orphan Daughters of Soldiers. There was a large and distinguished gathering, and His Royal Highness was received with much enthusiasm. The audience stood and cheered while the Prince entered and when he left the palace. He was received by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress. He wore the undress uniform of his regiment, and was accompanied by several of his brother officers. He appeared to take much interest in the proceedings, and conversed very freely with those around him.

I.P.M.; Jno. Brown, S.W.; T. Merry, J.W.; W. Cooper, Sec.; Sheffield, S.D.; Whittaker, J.D.; Knight, D.C.; Fraser, I.G.; Day, Tyler; Burton, King, R. Bennett, Windover, Baldock, Fowkes, Holloway, Slater, Cay, Vincent, Bower, Humber, and Webster; also Bros. Pipes, sen., W.M. 1085; Pipes, jun., Sec. 1085; and other visiting brethren. The minutes of the last lodge having been read and confirmed, Bro. Webster advanced to the pedestal, and answered the questions leading from the First to the Second Degree satisfactorily. He then retired for preparation, and was afterwards passed to the Second Degree by the W.M. Bro. Humber having answered the test questions leading from the Second to the Third Degree, retired, when Bro. Humber was re-admitted, and was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason by the W.M., assisted by Bro. Merry, I.P.M., in ancient and solemn form. The lodge was resumed in the First Degree, and two gentlemen were proposed for initiation. The W.M. received the congratulations of the brethren, and the lodge was then closed. The brethren afterwards sat down to a substantial supper in the lower hall, and spent a very pleasant evening, the usual Masonic toasts being duly honoured. The W.M. referred to the ceremony which would take place on the 25th inst., when the foundation stone of the New Library and Museum would be laid by Bro. M. T. Bass, M.P., and called upon the members of the lodge to be present on that occasion as numerous as possible.

DERBY.—Hartington Lodge (No. 1085).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, on Wednesday evening, October 4th. The lodge was opened at 7.45 p.m. in the First Degree. The brethren present were—Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; J. Worsnop, P.M.; W. Heathcote, S.W.; J. O. Manton, as J.W.; M. H. Bobart, Treas.; Geo. Pipes, Sec.; T. Hills, S.D.; Josh. Heathcote, J.D.; W. M. Butterfield, as I.G.; Thos. Slinn, Tyler; Hextall, Hill, Johnson, Russell, Steele. Visitors—Bros. John Smith, P.P.J.G.W.; Thos. Roe, P.M., 802; G. T. Wright, P.M. 731; Burton, 731; R. Bennett, 731; Whittaker, 731; T. Merry, 731; A. Frazer, 731; Witton, 731; M. K. Frith, Great City, 1426; A. W. Guthrie, 711, South Africa; Josh. Dee Chorlton Lodge, 1387; Stone, W.M. 787; W. F. Hawkins, S.W. 787; Loverock, 787; E. Marshall, 787; W. E. Webster, 787. The minutes of the last lodge being read and confirmed, the charge was delivered to Bros. Gore and Pragnell by the S.W. The examination in the test questions being gone through and answered in an efficient manner by these two brothers, they were passed to the Second or F.C. Degree, in ancient and solemn form, by the W.M. Grand Lodge certificates were presented to Bros. Johnson and Geo. Hill. The nomination of a gentleman as a candidate for Freemasonry brought the business to a close. The brethren adjourned to the banquetting-room, where an unusually excellent spread awaited them. Everything was done to render this meeting one of the best that could possibly be held, in consideration of a number of the brethren of the Beaureper Lodge, 787, paying this lodge a return visit, and to evince to them the cordial reception they received at the hands of the Beaureper brethren on the occasion of a visit to their lodge some few months ago. After the cloth was removed the usual Masonic toasts were given, and most heartily responded to. The evening was very much enlivened by suitable songs from the brethren, and brought to a close at an early hour, the whole of the brethren separating with the utmost good feeling and brotherly love.

LIVERPOOL.—Fermor Hesketh Lodge (No. 1350).—The monthly meeting of this lodge took place on the 9th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Bro. Richard Collinson, W.M., in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and the brethren at once proceeded to ballot for a candidate, which proving unanimous, he was properly prepared and duly initiated into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, when the W.M. passed a brother to the degree of Fellow Craft. The lodge was then closed down to the First Degree, when a sum of money was voted towards the sedelia for Chester Cathedral. One of the officers then gave the following important notice of motion:—"That as a feeling for exclusiveness has arisen among the members, in order to keep the funds in a healthy state, that the initiation fees be raised from £6 6s. od., to £10 10s. od., and the subscription to £5 5s. od. per annum instead of £2 2s. od. Nothing further appearing, the lodge was closed in due form after solemn prayer by the W.M."

LIVERPOOL.—Emulation Lodge (No. 1505).—The annual installation meeting of this excellent lodge was held on Friday evening, the 6th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool. Bro. J. T. Callow, W.M., occupied the chair at the commencement of the proceedings, and he was supported by Bros. H. Nelson, I.P.M.; H. Morris, S.W. (W.M. elect); W. E. Quayle, J.W.; J. Hocken, P.M.; Treas.; W. H. Corbin, Sec.; T. Large, J.D.; J. Capell, I.G.; H. Coulson, J.S.; J. Skeaf, P.G. Org.; W. H. Ball, Tyler; Rev. H. G. Vernon, P.P.G.C.; J. Purvis, R. Foote, &c. The visitors included Bros. W. Doyle, P.P.G.J.D.; Councillor Forrest, W.M. 1547; J. Busfield, 216; H. Burrows, S.W. 673; Hugh Williams, P.M. 1264; J. Hughes, W.M. 220; T. Roberts, W.M. 673; R. H. Evans, W.M. 292; T. Clark, P.M. 673; J. Pemberton, P.G.S.; R. Martin, jun., W.M. 1182; R. R. Martin, P.M. 1094; W. T. May, P.M. 673, &c. Bro. Henry Morris was most effectively installed in the chair of W.M. by Bro. J. Hocken, P.M., Treas., and the following were invested officers of the lodge:—Bros. J. T. Callow, I.P.M.; H. Nelson, P.M., D.C.; W. E. Quayle, S.W.; W. H. Corbin, J.W.; J. Hocken, P.M., Treas.; J. Capell, Sec.; T. Large, S.D.; H. Coulson, J.D.; R. Foote, I.G.; A. McKenzie, S.; H. H. Smith, S.; and W. H. Ball, Tyler. The sum of ten guineas was voted from the funds of the lodge towards the presentation of a testimonial to Bro. J. T. Callow, I.P.M. The brethren subsequently banqueted, and the musical programme was furnished by Bros. J. Busfield, H. J. Atkinson, J. Queen, A. Child, Hobart, and Skeaf, P.G.O.

INSTRUCTION.
WELLINGTON LODGE (No. 458).—Monday night's proceedings and attendance at the White Swan, High-street, Deptford, is a proof of what can be really done at short notice, and under pressure by an energetic Preceptor, who sets his mind on a thing worth doing, it is sure to be done well. The night in question was the "Fifteen Section" night, and through the enforced absence through illness of the esteemed Bro. Secretary, the announcement was not made to the lodge until less than a fortnight before, but Bro. Preceptor Griffin put his shoulder to the wheel, and his efforts bore good fruit, the issue being that at seven o'clock on Monday evening Bro. Shaw (the most obliging man and Mason, Preceptor or otherwise, we know of), Preceptor of the Pythagorean Lodge, assumed the chair, having as his S.W. Bro. Pulsford, P.M. 1158, &c., the other offices being filled as follows: Bros. Church (J.W. 147), J.W.; Hutchings, J.D.; Gibson, I.G. Lodge having been opened in the First Degree, the Lecture was worked as follows:—

FIRST LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Bridgland.
2nd " " Gibson.
3rd " " Ernest Smith.
4th " " Brown, P.M.
5th " " Cobley.
6th " " Pulsford, P.M.
7th " " Shaw.

Lodge was opened in the Second Degree, and the following was the working of the

SECOND LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Waterman.
2nd " " Hutchings.
3rd " " Church.
4th " " Beavis.
5th " " Musto.

The lodge having been opened in the Third Degree, the Sections were worked as follows:—

THIRD LECTURE.

1st Section by Bro. Griffir, P.M.
2nd " " Brown, P.M.
3rd " " Church.

With such a pair of nonpareil Preceptors as Bros. Shaw and Pulsford to rule, direct, and assist, it is almost superfluous to say that the work was got through expeditiously and well. The brethren assisting in the working were as nearly perfect as possible, each having been suited to his pet section, save in the instance of Bro. Brown, who at short notice did double duty, and right well did he acquit himself. Bros. Wells, Southern Star Lodge, 1158, Ford, and Dana, Chislehurst, 1531, were elected joining members, and the customary vote of thanks to the W.M., officers, and brethren assisting in the workings having been proposed, carried, and responded to, lodge was closed in due form. In addition to those brethren above enumerated we noticed Bros. West, P.M.; Batt, P.M.; Davies, P.M.; Pitt, H. Freeman, Caterson, Gambrill, Lenniker, Ford, Dana, Denn, W. Porter, H. Shaw, Upton, Nevins, Butler, Gloster, Williams, Thompson, Fieldson, Roper, Nell, Tewson.

HERVEY LODGE (No. 1260).—The members of the above lodge having unanimously decided to remove their lodge to so central a position as the Punch Tavern, Fleet-street, met there on Thursday, Oct. 5th, to inaugurate that event, and the opening of the winter season, by a supper, which was placed on the table in the well-known complete style of the host, Bro. F. Beeton, and after the brethren, numbering nearly twenty, had done hearty justice to it and the capital wines provided, the cloth was cleared, and the Chairman (Bro. G. Harrison, W.M. 1260) rose to propose the loyal toasts, and, prefacing his remarks with the observation that having met there on that occasion more for the purposes of conviviality and good fellowship, he should be brief. In a few well chosen words gave "The Queen and the Craft," and "The M.W.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present;" and it is needless to add that these toasts met with a hearty reception. The Vice-Chairman (Bro. Ward) then proposed "The Health of the W.M.," which was well received, and in responding to it Bro. Harrison assured the brethren that nothing had given him greater pleasure than being honoured with such a goodly attendance, which he felt sure augured increased prosperity to the lodge, and before sitting down would ask the brethren to drink "The Health of the Vice-Chairman," "than a better one" it would be a difficult task to find. Bro. Ward, in responding, concluded a capital speech by proposing the toast of the evening, "Success to the Hervey Lodge of Instruction," which was received and drunk in a manner worthy of the lodge. Bro. G. King, jun., P.M. and Sec., replied, and assured the members present that he felt very proud of the position the Hervey Lodge had attained in the Craft, as having been connected with it at its birth, and had a great deal to do with the rearing of it in its youthful days. He was confident that at the present time it was well able to stand alone, and not unlikely would be a support and help to other younger lodges. The W.M. then gave "The P.M.'s of the Hervey Lodge," and Bro. King, sen., P.M., responded in his usual terse and cheerful manner. The Vice-Chairman having proposed "The Officers," Bro. Southwood as S.W., was the first to reply, and thanking the brethren for expressions of sympathy to him during his late dangerous illness, was much pleased to find he was sufficiently strong to be among them that evening. And in a most eloquent manner he asked all the brethren there for their support and help in the forthcoming election for the Girls' School, when as most present were aware the little daughter of a late officer of the lodge (Bro. Kingcombe, I.G.) would stand for election a second time, and as only 404 votes were polled last time, he need not inform the brethren that they would have to strain every nerve to obtain the number to ensure no further disappointment, and in response to the appeal, the brethren one and all assured him of their best support. Bros. J. Sandiland Ward and Goodacre having also responded, the W.M. proposed the toast of the visitors, and expressed his pleasure in seeing such distinguished brethren among them and drew the notice of the brethren to the special qualities of each. Bros. Baker, Withers, Radcliffe and Williams responded. The Vice-Chairman then rose to propose the next toast of the evening, that of "The Host," Bro. Beeton and his wife, Mrs. Beeton, and in the name of the brethren would express the satisfaction that was felt at the very genial way in which both had acted to ensure a pleasant meeting. Bro. Beeton responded, and expressed his thanks for the kind treatment he had received from the lodge, and added nothing in his power should be left undone to ensure the comfort and convenience of the brethren at all times. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close, and the brethren departed "each on his own way," expressing satisfaction and enjoyment at such a pleasant meeting. Among the brethren present were Bros. G. Harrison, Ward, G. King, jun., King, sen., Baker, J. H. Southwood, J. Sandilands Ward, Goodacre, Binley, Bigwood, Withers, Radcliffe, Salmon, Steward, Beeton, Williams Portway, and others.

MARQUESS OF RIPON LODGE (No. 1489).

—On Monday last the ceremony of consecration was ably rehearsed by Bro. Jas. Terry, and the installation by Bro. Wm. Stephens, the Preceptor. The meeting was fully attended, the members and visitors of the surrounding lodges appearing in full Craft clothing. Several handsome presents were made, the whole of the present furniture being the voluntary offerings of the members. We have no doubt, from the position of the lodge and the efficiency of many of its members, that it will continue to be well attended. This being the anniversary of its establishment, a very nice dinner was provided. Bro. Stephens presided, Bro. W. J. Murlis occupying the vice-chair. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts followed. Bro. Terry responded for "The Charities," giving an interesting account of the progress made, and the large increase annually accruing to the different funds of the Order; thanked the members of the lodge for their great liberality, hoping they would continue in the good work they had commenced, and that in future years their subscriptions would be, as heretofore, not less than three figures in the pounds' column. A vote of thanks to the chair and vice-chair brought this very successful meeting to a close.

Royal Arch.

BEADON CHAPTER (No. 619).—A convocation of this chapter was held on Thursday evening, Oct. 12th, at the Horns Tavern, Kennington; Comp. W. H. Green, M.E.Z., presiding. The business of the evening, after the confirmation of the minutes, was to elect, already balloted for, Bros. Henry Thompson, P.M. of 177 and 1158, and of 1426 ("Freemason"); John Welch, of the Fidelity Lodge, 3; and James John Chapman, of the Alexandria Lodge, 1541. After this an election took place for M.E.Z. for the ensuing year, and Comp. W. Seaman, the present H., was unanimously elected to that high office. Comp. Corke was elected as H., and Comp. Wier as J. A ballot took place for S.E., and the choice fell upon Comp. W. H. Green, the retiring M.E.Z. It was agreed unanimously that a jewel of the usual value should be presented to Comp. W. H. Green, the retiring M.E.Z., for the zeal and ability with which he had discharged that office during the last two years, and a compliment was agreed to be conferred upon Comp. Angres, for his services as S.E. Some other appointments having been made, the companions retired to the banquetting room, where many good things awaited them. On the withdrawal of the cloth, after the formal toasts had been given, the M.E.Z. said there was always a most important toast to be given on such occasions, and that was to drink the health of their newly-exalted companions. They hailed their coming amongst them, as it was always the desire of the Beadon Chapter to receive an infusion of new blood, as an evidence of their progress, and at the same time it gave stability to their proceedings. With all the Royal Arch honours, he proposed "The Health of their Newly exalted Companions, Thompson, Welch, and Chapman," feeling sure that they would become worthy members of their noble Order. This toast was warmly received, and on Comp. Thompson being requested to return thanks for the other newly-elected companions, he said he regretted that the task had fallen upon him, as he was then in much the same position as he was in the Craft lodge 20 years ago at his initiation, not knowing in what exact terms he should address them in acknowledging the high honour that had been conferred upon him in being admitted to that supreme degree of Freemasonry, and he believed he might say the same of his brother companions who had gone through the ceremony with him. He felt, as they did, impressed with its importance, and he hoped and trusted that they would not prove themselves unworthy members of the degree into which that night they had been received. Some other toasts having been given the proceedings terminated at 11 o'clock, in the true spirit of Freemasonry.

A gentleman, who withholds his name, has offered, through Messrs. Agnew, a marble copy of the Venus de Milo as a contribution to the Liverpool Art Gallery, and the offer has been accepted.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The Quarterly Court of the Governors and Subscribers of this Institution was held on Saturday last at the Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Lieut.-Col. J. Creaton, Vice-patron, in the chair. There were likewise present Bros. Geo. Jeffery, E. B. Grabham, Richard H. Forward, H. Browne, George Bolton, John Boyd, J. L. Hine, C. A. Cottebrune, Isaac Wilcox, Samuel Geo. Myers, John B. White, Thos. W. White, A. H. Tattershall, R. B. Webster, E. F. Storr, Thos. James, W. H. Radley, Edward Harris, Capt. John Wordsworth, W. H. B. Tomlinson, H. A. Dubois, Thos. H. Waterworth, Alfred Partridge, Edw. Spooner, H. S. Tyerman, E. H. Hewett, H. Hacker, J. Wordsworth, Joseph Clever, John Bodenham, Dr. Ramsay, Charles Godtschalk, Geo. Phythian, Hyde Pullen, George Kenning, J. L. Russell, F. R. Eames, J. J. Berry, Thos. Francis Peacock, Charles Lacey, W. Adamson, John Johnston, Wm. Roebuck, Thos. J. Sabine, V.P., T. Davies Sewell, W. Mann, W. Buck, Joseph Smith, William Hale, Geo. Wilson, H. M. Levy, F. W. R. Vine, James Terry, John G. Stevens, J. E. Walton, Wm. Lane, Jas. Horwood, John Vaughan, Heather Bigg, Wm. F. C. Moutrie, Dr. W. R. Woodman, T. Allen, Chas. Jardine, Henry Smith, J. Hamilton Townsend, Herbert Dicketts, F. G. Baker, W. Mason, George Neall, A. Weston, John Thompson, J. Jonas, B. H. Swallow, W. H. G. Rudderforth, Frederick Adlard, E. Ludworth, John Faulkner, Vincent Ambler, M.D., F. B. Dargave, Brackstone Baker, Edw. Cox, H. Massey ("Freemason"), John Read, R. W. Hedges, H. G. Warren, Benj. Head, H. Muggeridge, E. S. Snell, John Emmens, Capt. Phillips, F. Binckes, G. M. E. Snow, F. H. Ebsworth, Raynham W. Stewart, Alfred H. Diaper, H. Potter, D. Betts, Thos. Meggy, Chas. Greenwood, M. S. Larham, John Symonds, A. D. Loewenstark, L. Finch, Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, and R. Wentworth Little, Sec.

After the minutes had been read,

Col. Creaton said that the next business on the paper being a matter personal to himself, he would leave it to some other brother to move in it.

Bro. H. A. Dubois moved, "That instructions be given with reference to signing cheques in connection with the new buildings, and that Col. Creaton be authorised to sign such cheques as Chairman of the Building Committee."

Bro. Samuel Rawson seconded the motion.

A slight discussion, originated by Bro. J. Symonds, took place with reference to the Building Committee, which Bro. Symonds contended was only a portion of the House Committee, nominated by that body. The discussion, however, came to nothing, and

Col. Creaton said that there was no question as to there being a Building Committee, as it was resolved by the House Committee that there should be a Building Committee. At a meeting of that Committee, he (Col. Creaton) was elected permanent Chairman.

The motion was then put and carried.

Col. Creaton said the next business was the consideration of a motion, notice of which stood in his name. He believed it was well understood by all of the brethren that the Collector of the Institution, Bro. Muggeridge, had resigned his office in consequence of failing health. Bro. Muggeridge had held the office for a period of 20 years with very great credit to himself and also with very great satisfaction to the brethren. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) Now that he had become, he might say, older, and his health was failing, he (Col. Creaton) thought that the least the brethren could do was to give Bro. Muggeridge some substantial mark of their recognition of his past services. (Hear, hear.) It was quite unnecessary that he should say much to the brethren on the point, because they all knew Bro. Muggeridge as well as he did. He would therefore move, "That in consideration of the services rendered by Bro. H. Muggeridge, Collector, for upwards of 20 years, he be awarded a retiring pension of £150 per annum." (Cheers.)

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart seconded the motion, and in doing so said he had known Bro. Muggeridge's good qualities and his efficiency in the discharge of his duties. He had supported him in his election, and now felt great pleasure in seconding Bro. Col. Creaton's motion, for Bro. Muggeridge thoroughly deserved the proposed recognition of his efforts on behalf of the Institution. (Great cheering.)

The motion was carried unanimously amidst great applause.

Col. Creaton then proposed that the said pension should commence from 1st January next. (Applause.)

Bro. Muggeridge, who had left the room before the motion was brought on, was here called in, and was received with loud and long continued applause.

Col. Creaton, addressing Bro. Muggeridge, said he had very great pleasure, and he was sure every one in that room shared in that pleasure, in informing Bro. Muggeridge that the Court had unanimously carried the motion which he (Col. Creaton) had given notice of, that he (Bro. Muggeridge) should receive £150 a year for the remainder of his life as a retiring pension, and that it would commence from the 1st of January. He did not think it was necessary to ask Bro. Muggeridge to say anything.

Bro. Muggeridge, who was quite overcome with the loud cheering which followed this short address, was then assisted out of the room.

The next business was the consideration of Bro. Raynham W. Stewart's motion:

"That the office of Collector be not filled up, but that an additional clerk be appointed to assist the Secretary."

And to receive the Report of the Committee of Inquiry as to the Collectorship, if ready for presentation.

Bro. Hedges read the following report of the Committee appointed to consider the subject of the office of Collector to the Institution.

1st. That the office of Collector be abolished.

2nd. That the duties of Collector be discharged in the Secretary's office.

3rd. That a second clerk be appointed in the Secretary's office.

4th. That the salaries of the clerks in the Secretary's office be as follows:—Senior, £140; Junior, £50.

Bro. Raynham Stewart in bring on his motion said that the Committee had, without his knowing it, come to nearly the same conclusion as he had himself. He thought that the collection of the subscriptions should be managed in the office, and be under the control of the Secretary. For this purpose they should have additional assistance, because there was already a great deal of work in the office. But his great object in giving his notice of motion was that there were very many complaints that he heard from brethren of commission having to be paid on large sums of money which never passed through the hands of the Collector at all. Some £10,000 or £12,000 a year was paid in, and out of this only £2000 went through the Collector's hands. It was said upon that, by the brethren, why should they pay on the whole amount a sum as commission which might go for the benefit of the Institution? He thought that the Collector's place should not be filled up, but that additional clerks should be nominated. If £12,000 was paid into the Secretary's office there must be additional labour in making out the receipts, sending the voting papers, &c. He hoped the brethren would agree with him, and make an experiment of his plan. If it did not at the end of a twelvemonth turn out to their satisfaction, they could then alter it. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. H. A. Dubois seconded the motion.

Bro. Dr. Ramsay thought it desirable that the Secretary should tell them what the sums formerly paid into his office were. No doubt they had considerably increased. What also were the duties which would occupy the proposed additional clerk while he was not collecting.

Bro. Little said he thought one of the greatest proofs of the increase of the work in the office had just been stated. In the four years ending 1872 only £21,000 had been received, of which the Collector brought in two-thirds. During the subsequent 3½ years £33,000 had come in, and of this over £18,000 had passed direct through the Secretary's hands. He need scarcely say there was a vast amount of correspondence connected with the receipt of such a sum. The lists had to be made up, and frequently 100 receipts had to be given for the sums on one list. All this work had to be performed in the office. It had been his impression for some years past that if he were to ask Stewards to send moneys to him a large amount which was now received by the Collector would come to the office without the intervention of the Collector.

Bro. B. Head asked whether the Secretary would be kind enough to say how much he had paid for extra work last year.

Bro. Little replied that they paid for no extra work excepting for making out and sending the balloting papers, which cost £5. The other institutions, however, had the same expense.

Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., thought that before they made this proposed great change they ought to know how it was made out that the salaries were to be paid to the additional clerk, how the change would work, and whether the same amount of money would be got in—whether the brethren would bring the money to the office which they were in the habit of paying the collector. For himself he did not think they would get half the money they did before. A Collector who had nothing else to depend upon but his commission was very vigilant, and would call upon brethren several times. Brethren who did not want him to wait on them would send a cheque. But if the newly-proposed official was paid a salary instead of commission he would not have the same inducement to be active. Where would all the taxes be if collectors were not employed, and how much would ever be paid if they depended on people taking them to the offices. Before he voted for Bro. Stewart's motion he wished to know what the clerk was to receive, and what were his proposed duties.

Bro. H. G. Warren thought the new step was suicidal. They had been informed that £18,000 had been paid into the office, and £14,000 to the Collector. The Collector should be paid on what he received only. If it was found that the commission on this would not pay the Collector, let it be raised to a small extent, and let all assistance be given to the office that could be given by having an extra clerk if it was necessary. This was better than doing away altogether with the Collector. Having a Collector would produce greater results than brethren were aware of. It frequently happened when a Collector called that the brother on whom he called would ask him if he knew Bro. So and So, and if he did not know him would tell him to call on such brother and mention his name to him, and ask him for a subscription because he knew he would subscribe. He (Bro. Warren) had had considerable experience in charities, and he had always seen that without a Collector they never got their money in well. For seven years he acted as honorary secretary of an institution which was started with nothing a year, and which now had £5000 a year. They employed a collector, and what was the result? He himself, as secretary, had to be out three or four mornings weekly, his mornings not being of any value to him; but that was not what they could ask the secretaries of any society to do, and especially the Secretary of a society of such magnitude as the Masonic Institutions. He believed nothing could be worse for institutions than not to have a collector. Give all the assistance in the office they liked; further, let them pay a commission to a Collector, and when the Secretary wanted additional assistance in the office, let him call off the Collector and pay him for the assistance he gave in the office. But let them not do away with the Collector. The very name on the front page of their books was an advantage, and of greater necessity than they thought for. Every one knew the name of the Collector; but every man did not remember the name of the Secretary or the place to go to. The Collector's name came before a man three or four times in the course of the year, his card being left each time he called. Even his (Bro. Warren's) own subscriptions would not always be paid if he did not get gentle reminders, and he was not singular in that respect. He said he should conclude by opposing the motion.

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford wished permission to say a few words on the other point which pressed upon other brethren in the same way as it did upon him. He was formerly connected with a large province which greatly supported the charities of the Order. Many of the brethren present would confirm him when he said that one of the great objections and complaints was, that where subscriptions were raised in the provinces, bona fide for the charities, a commission on them was paid to a collector in London, who had nothing whatever to do with the matter. Many brethren in the provinces gave great care and attention and spent much time in collecting money for our institutions; and after they had paid the money they were told that a commission on it was paid to the collector. (A Voice: That clearly is wrong.) If by any arrangement that could be made this (to use a vulgar expression) system of "sweating" the provincial returns could be stopped, a great deal might be said in favour of the appointment of a Collector. It appeared, however, to him, with due submission to Bro. Warren that the proposal of the Committee was good as a tentative measure. If it did not work, and the prognostications of Bro. Warren were found to be true, there would be no difficulty in going back to the old system. They might try it for twelve months. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

Bro. John Symonds said it had been a complaint for a long time past that commission was paid on money sent direct to the office. If they would be sure of getting a Collector like Bro. Muggeridge, by all means let them have one. Bro. Muggeridge took to the collection from the interest he felt in the Institution, and the Institution benefitted by it. When he took to it the subscriptions were small, but Bro. Muggeridge never complained. Now there was a growing tendency to send the subscriptions direct to the office of the Secretary. What was the result of that if they said the Collector was to have no commission on it? Why, the Collector would have to go after all the single guineas, the difficult ones to collect, and while the Institution was increasing in prosperity, the Collector would have his emoluments diminishing. He would have all the trouble of calling three or four times to the East of London to collect a single guinea; after all, the guinea might be sent to the office, and the Collector would get nothing for it. He thought this might be remedied by the entire responsibility of the collection on the Secretary. It was not intended that the proposed additional clerk should be the Collector, but that he should be for the work of the office.

A Brother said it seemed an anomaly to pay commission to a Collector for work he had not done. Bro. Warren's proposition might be altered so as to make commission payable on London sums, but not on moneys sent to the office.

Bro. Warren's idea was that commission should be paid on the sums collected by the Collector, and for this purpose it would be better to give him 6 or 7½ per cent. than 5 per cent. on money with which he had nothing to do. If the Collector was done away with, in twelve months the Institution would lose £1000. There would be no real authority if any and every clerk was delegated to do the duties of Collector. Let it be one man, and there let it stand.

Bro. Thos. W. White said that the intention of the Committee was to recommend that the collection should be put in charge of the Secretary, who was to send a clerk out to collect; in other words, to arrange for the collection.

Bro. H. Smith (West Yorkshire) said his province sent up large sums, never less than a few hundreds. Was it right they should be taxed? Let the Collector who really collected the money have 5 or 10 per cent. for it. He was in favour of the motion as a tentative proposal.

In answer to the question, Bro. Little said the Collector now received commission on four different scales, and a great anomaly was created.

The Chairman said the question now was as to the abolition of the office. The commission to be paid could be settled afterwards.

Ultimately an amendment by Bro. Joseph Smith, seconded by Bro. Levy, was carried that a committee be appointed to go into the whole subject and report to a Special Court. Bros. Raynham W. Stewart, H. G. Warren, John Symonds, Joseph Smith, W. Hale, D. Betts, Dr. Ramsay, S. Rawson, and Col. Creaton were appointed as the committee.

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford moved, and Bro. Raynham W. Stewart seconded, that the report be made to a Special Court, and this having been carried, the election of eight girls was proceeded with.

The Scrutineers appointed were Bros. A. H. Tattershall, R. B. Webster, Thos. W. White, Major Finney, Raynham W. Stewart, J. J. Berry, Dr. Woodman, Dr. Sewell, H. C. Levander, L. S. Tyerman, S. Rawson, J. Jardine, Hyde Pullen, Capt. Wordsworth, and John Boyd.

The names of the successful candidates will be found in our advertisement columns.

Votes of thanks to the Scrutineers and Chairman concluded the proceedings.

After the ceremony of the presentation of the Elcho Shield at Guildhall on Saturday, there was a banquet at the Mansion House Station Restaurant, at which Mr. Wells, M.P., presided. The toast of "The English Eight" was proposed by Captain Field, of the Hon Artillery Company.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The Quarterly Court of Governors and Subscribers of this Institution was held on Monday at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. John Symonds, Vice-Patron, presided. Among the other brethren present were Bros. Col. Creaton; H. Hacker, Richard H. Townend, C. A. Cotterburne, Raynham W. Stewart, S. Rawson, Dr. F. W. Ramsay, H. Levy, H. A. Dubois, Charles Godtschalk, Alfred H. Diaper, H. Browne, George A. Taylor, Wm. Stephens, G. Bolton, Edward S. Snell, John Boyd, W. H. B. Tomlinson, Capt. John Wordsworth, Henry Smith, Prov. G. Sec. West Yorkshire; Wm. Mann, the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, George Thompson, Henry C. Burt, Frederick Adler, H. Massey ("Freemason"); Edward Sewell, M.A.; G. R. Sherwill, Wm. F. C. Moutrie, Hyde Pullen, James Robins, Thomas W. White, W. H. Spaul, Wm. Lane, W. N. Lash, Henry W. Binckes, W. Hickman, D.P.G.M. Hants and Isle of Wight; Benjamin Head, John Vaughan, P.G.S.W. Warwick; Mathew Miles. John Wordsworth, 1019; James A. Birch, Isaac W. Petly, J. L. Hine, S. Rosenthal, John Sutcliffe, Henry Moore, James Terry, James Stevens, Fred. W. Smith, 58; James Waldram, H. Coward, John Read, Dr. F. J. Lilley, F. H. Ebsworth, Edward Harris, Thomas Meggy, George Newman, Major Finney, N. B. Headon, E. H. Thillay, W. Parsons, H. Garrod, Edward Cox, John G. Stevens, Edward Moody, and Frederick Binckes, Secretary.

Events having occurred to cause three vacancies since the balloting papers were sent out, the vacancies for three additional boys beyond the twelve announced on the voting papers were declared, making fifteen boys to be elected at this meeting. After the other formal business had been disposed of,

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart moved that Bro. Captain Wordsworth, of Leeds, be elected a Trustee of the Institution. Bro. Captain Wordsworth took great interest in the Institution, and among his acts it might be narrated that he came up from Leeds as many as twenty times in the course of the year at his own expense to attend the different meetings of the Boys' School. This alone shewed that he took great interest in the Institution, and he (Bro. Stewart) did not think the brethren could better testify their appreciation of his services than by electing the brother who was one of the working bees, as a Trustee. While mentioning this he might say he hoped that Captain Wordsworth might have health and strength to discharge his duties as Trustee for many years to come the same as he had his other offices in connection with the Institution. (Hear hear.)

Bro. Levy seconded the motion.

The Chairman, after the motion had been carried unanimously, informed Captain Wordsworth of his election, and welcomed him as one of the body of which he (the Chairman) was one.

Capt. Wordsworth, in acknowledging the compliment, said he hoped he should zealously discharge his duties in his new character, and that he should do in the future as much as it had been said he had done in the past. He had been many years on the House Committee, and he trusted he should still remain on it to discharge his duties. The Institution's work was not yet finished; indeed, it was a long way from finished; and he hoped the Institution would be so enlarged as to accommodate more boys. He had no objection next year to subscribe a hundred guineas as a special subscription towards building the new school for 50 or 100 young boys opposite the present school at Wood Green. (Cheers.) The site was already purchased, and it only remained to erect the building. (Applause.)

The election was then proceeded with, and at 5 o'clock the result was announced. The names of the successful candidates will appear in our next advertisement.

Votes of thanks to the Scrutineers and the Chairman brought the proceedings to a close.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE STAR LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

It was on the 5th of October, 1869, that the first meeting of this lodge of instruction, held under the warrant of the Star Lodge, 1275, under the Preceptorship of Bro. Comb, took place at the Marquis of Granby, New Cross, where ever since it has from week to week afforded profitable and intellectual entertainment to the brethren, not only in its immediate neighbourhood, but to many from afar. On Thursday week the seventh anniversary of what has proved a vast school for Masonic learning was celebrated by the annual banquet, an event of no small moment to those at least who have from Saturday to Saturday, with diligence and perseverance, met to expatiate on all that is bright and glorious to the good and true Mason. To our mind the annual banquet of a lodge of instruction is a matter of importance, inasmuch as it serves to reward the assiduous and painstaking Mason for his twelve months' labour. It likewise offers to the brethren the opportunity of showing their regard and appreciation of the Preceptor by flocking round him and thanking him through the President for his kind care and instruction in the past; and finally, it is truly an occasion when it is well for brethren to dwell together.

There was a fairly numerous gathering of the members of the lodge and their friends, over whom Bro. C. J. Hogg, P.M. 1275, &c., P.G.S., presided, having as his Vice-Presidents Bros. H. Keeble, P.M. 1275, J.W. 73, Sec. 1559, and Hon. Sec. of the Star Lodge of Instruction; and H. Green, W.M. of the Mother Lodge, 1275, P.M. 1538, J.D. 1559. Glancing round the table we noticed the familiar faces of Bros. Govan Macdonald, W.M. 1158, Preceptor; C. G. Dilley, P.M. 147, 1155, Past Preceptor of the lodge; Jobson; Speight, jun., S.W.; Waterman, J.D.; Church, J.W. 147; W. Simmonds, J.W.; Ernest Smith; T. Grumant; Moss; Cowley, 1559; H. Gloster,

J.W. 1531; Schulze, 13; Hartnup, 933; Tong, 73; H. Shaw, H. Jenkins. The names of the others we were unable to obtain. Masonic grace having been offered, the lodge was duly declared open in the Fourth Degree. We have had the good fortune to attend a great number of banquets, Masonic and civic, among others; hence we flatter ourselves on a judgment second to none in the matter of discerning the appreciation of "feeders." Rarely have we witnessed a more appreciative assembly, willing to accommodate themselves to whatever reigned supreme in their immediate vicinity. Our esteemed President, supported right and left by Past and Present Preceptors Dilley and Macdonald, visited with sore affliction a mighty joint of beef; far away in the west the well-knit frame of Bro. Keeble towered behind a monstrous joint of "biled swarry," whilst firmly established in the south, in the very thick of the "appreciative," ever obliging Bro. Green divided his attention between the poultry yard and pigsty, his handling of the carving knife and fork as reflecting on the fowl, being a past master-piece of skill, and made, forsooth, the brethren in his vicinity forget the pangs of hunger in their admiration for the marvellous carving transacted beneath their gaze. Leg and wing, a quick succession, bade adieu to breast and body, falling gracefully right and left beneath the fell swoop of the Green-handled knife. From "feathered fowl to bristly swine," anon the nonpareil carver deftly whisked a slice of ham, in shape the acme of gentility, in thickness as near approaching transparency as makes no matter. "Oh! it was a sight to see how Bro. Green cut ham for me," remarked a certain brother to us later in the evening. Over the sweets Bros. Hogg, Keeble, Green, Jobson, and Smith found abundant if "light" employment, and after cheese and celery had been "trifled" with becoming languor, the cloth was drawn. Now came the moment for Bro. H. L. Jenkins to distinguish himself, which he did by dispensing the juicy grape with an open hand and an outstretched arm, both far and near, Bro. Green responding with the appetising walnut.

The President having proposed in succession the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, to which it is needless to say a full and hearty reception was given.

Bro. Hogg rose and gave the toast of the evening, "Prosperity to the Star Lodge of Instruction." In doing so he dwelt at considerable length on the importance of lodges of instruction in general as a means of teaching and perpetuating the esoteric ritual of the Order, more especially referred to the immense amount of good the Star Lodge in particular, had accomplished, not only in educating its members, but in the vast help it had extended towards those excellent institutions connected with Freemasonry by means of the charitable association connected with it. He would mention—and he did so with a large amount of pride as the Treasurer of that association, that at its winding up in a few months' time they would have contributed to the Benevolent Institutions very close upon one thousand pounds. (Cheers.) Was not this a proof of the hearty co-operation of all connected with the lodge, and ought they not to be proud of the result of their endeavours? This result has in a very great measure been produced by the assiduous and indefatigable exertions of the present Preceptor of the lodge, Bro. Macdonald, whose name it afforded him great pleasure to couple with the toast. They all knew how earnestly and zealously he had set himself to work for the welfare of the lodge, and he thought that they would one and all agree with him when he said that right well had their Preceptor acquitted himself of the duties attached to his onerous office. The brethren received the toast with loud cheers, and drank to it with the warmest enthusiasm, and Bro. Macdonald upon rising to respond was met with such an ovation as for the moment to prevent his proceeding. The popular Preceptor in thanking the brethren for the hearty manner in which they had received him assured the brethren that all he had done was not half what he would have liked to have done had perfect health and circumstances permitted. From the moment of his first connection with the Star Lodge of Instruction he had taken a deep and lively interest in its welfare, and he had striven as Secretary, alike as Preceptor, to advance its interests. Since he had been elected to fill the responsible position of Preceptor he had become more than ever anxious for the future success of the lodge. There was that in the position he filled that reminded him of the responsibility clinging to his actions, in the way he conducted the business of the lodge, and above all, the manner in which he worked the ritual. No doubt the brethren present would call to mind their first impressions of Masonry as engendered by the delivery of the ritual at their several initiations. To some he had little doubt but that the beauty was in a measure lost by the feeling of nervousness that, more or less, naturally assailed them, and they failed to understand and fully appreciate at that time the beauties of Freemasonry, but a very poor idea being then conveyed to them as to what Masonry really was by the quick succession of unfamiliar words and the unskillful manner in which the W.M. may have performed the ceremony. To eliminate from the working those obscure phrases and inграмmaticisms that render it impossible even for the most astute intellect to follow the ceremony was the object of every Preceptor, and while he endeavoured to fix on his pupils one particular line of working, would not have the brethren assume that this was "Macdonald's working." On the other hand, it was essentially "Star working." Thanks to Bro. Dilley, in whose footsteps he followed, he thought that under him the working in the Star Lodge of Instruction was second to none. He had under the kind tuition of Bro. Dilley accomplished what few hoped for, but as to attaining perfection it was indeed difficult to say when such a degree could be arrived at, seeing that every day something fresh was introduced in the general working of the rituals of the Craft. He trusted that they had a happy and prosperous year before them, and that, although a Preceptor's berth was not a bed of roses, as he had to put up with so many different tempers, he hoped that should he speak somewhat harshly to them at any time they would remember that it was for their own good and the reputation of the lodge. Bro. "Mac" sat down amidst a storm of applause.

"The Health of the President" was then proposed by Bro. P.M. Dilley, who dwelt on the long and praiseworthy services he had rendered the lodge, having since its formation on the 5th October, 1869, constantly attended its meetings. The toast was drunk amidst great applause and Bro. Hogg briefly thanked the brethren for the manner they had received the toast, and assured them that while he had health and strength it would be his pride and pleasure to support the interests of the lodge. Before resuming his seat he would ask them to drink to the health of Bro. Secretary Keeble and his Assistant Secretary, Bro. Church. He had no doubt Bro. Keeble would be able to give them a good account of their last year's work. Bro. Keeble responded in his usual neat style, and gave the following very gratifying statistics of the work of the past year. There had been 52 meetings with a total attendance of 1167, giving an average of 22½, no fewer than 55 new members having been admitted. Starting with a balance of £1 12s. 2d., they had received during the past twelve months from dues £12 7s. 6d., making a total of £13 19s. 8d., of which sum they had expended £11 8s. 0d. in Masonic charity, while the expenses of the lodge were nil. This report was very favourably received by the brethren. "The Health of Bro. Dilley, the P. Preceptor of the Lodge," was proposed by Bro. Hogg in an eulogistic speech, and Bro. Dilley, in thanking the brethren for the toast, congratulated them on their continued prosperity. The Tyler's toast brought a very agreeable evening to a close.

We must not forget to mention that Bros. H. Shaw, Church, Moss, Gloster, and H. L. Jenkins entertained the company with some capital songs.

CONSECRATION OF THE KILBURN LODGE.

The ceremony of consecrating the new Masonic lodge in Kilburn took place on Tuesday week at the lodge-room, Bro. Hartley's, the Queen's Arms. The usual forms and ceremonies were observed, and everything passed off with the most unequivocal success. His Royal Highness the Worshipful Master deputed Bro. Terry, Prov. G.D.C. Herts, to consecrate the lodge, who has performed the ceremony on no fewer than sixty-two previous occasions. He stated that notwithstanding the number of consecrations he had attended, he had never attended at one where he had met with anything so happy, or at which the whole business had been more successfully gone through. The ceremony commenced at half-past three. Bro. Carter, from the Albert Hall, and a number of gentlemen from the Chapel Royal, went through the musical portion of the ceremony, which took about two and a-half hours. At the conclusion of the ceremony of consecration, the W.M. was installed and the officers were appointed. The following is a list:—Bros. George Killmark, P.M. 391, S.W.; Charles Brewer, J.W.; George Everett, W.M. 1311, Treas.; Samuel Brooks, Sec.; James W. Cuff, S.D.; George Fitchett, J.D.; George Goody, I.G.; Alfred H. Wilson, Stwd.; and Charles Thomas, Tyler.

The brethren then sat down to a most sumptuous dinner, consisting of six courses, supplied by Bro. Hartley in the best possible style. After dinner the following toasts were proposed:—"The Queen;" "The Most Worshipful Grand Master;" "The Most Worshipful Pro Grand Master;" "The Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers;" "The Worshipful Master;" "The Consecrating Officer;" "The Visitors;" "The Masonic Charities;" and "The Officers." The musical portion of the proceedings was in the hands of Bros. Carter, Hodges, and Seymour Smith.

Within two minutes of the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, is situated what is fairly designated "one of the sights and one of the comforts of London," The Holborn Restaurant, having under able management, now existing for some time, attained a world-wide reputation. To many of our town readers the proximity of the Holborn Restaurant to the Masonic Hall is well known, but to country and suburban friends it will serve as a landmark, to direct their footsteps to one of the first dining establishments in the metropolis, its central position by no means the least recommendation. At The Holborn every article served is of the best quality, the wines excellent, and the attendance good. Private dinners—and the establishment is equal to the serving of all and every luxury that may be desired—can be ordered, whilst the famed Table d'Hôte every evening from 6 to 8.30 offers all the attractions of the chief Parisian establishments, with the quiet and order essential to English customs. This Table d'Hôte can be enjoyed, accompanied by a selection of high class music, for the modest sum of three shillings and sixpence, and includes soups, fish, joints, entrees, &c., &c., with dessert, truly a marvel of cheapness. Luncheons are also provided at a nominal cost. There are also coffee, tea, chess, smoking and retiring rooms—in a word, all the appointments desirable for so complete an establishment. The numerous Metropolitan meetings of lodges, now commencing, cause brethren from all parts to congregate, and to many The Holborn will prove a boon, a comfort, and a delight. We would briefly add that in directing attention to 218, High Holborn, we feel assured that no visitor will regret the visit or leave disappointed.

Bro. William Sawyer, the well-known journalist, and Mrs. Sawyer, celebrated their silver wedding on Monday, when they entertained a select circle of friends to dinner at the Holborn Restaurant.

CONSECRATION OF THE FRIENDS IN COUNCIL
CHAPTER, No. 1383.

On Thursday evening this new chapter was consecrated at the rooms of the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree, 33, Golden Square, by Lieut.-Genl. Brownrigg, Prov. G. Sup. Surrey, acting as Z; Comp. H. C. Vernon, P. Prov. G. Sup. Worcester, as H.; Comp. John Hervey, G.S.E., as J.; and Comp. Hyde Pullen, P.G.D.C., as S.E. The complete list of companions present on the occasion comprised the names of Comps. Lieutenant-General Studholme Brownrigg, C.B., the Earl of Limerick, Provincial Grand Superintendent, Bristol, H. C. Vernon, John Hervey, Dr. R. Hamilton, S. Rawson, H. D. Sandeman, General Doherty, General H. Clark, Hyde Pullen, the Hon. R. H. Giddy, Dist. G.M. Griqualand, Lieut.-Colonel, H. Somerville Burney, Capt. Philips, Major Shadwell Clerke, Major Barlow, Dr. Woodford, Lieut.-Colonel Randolph, Capt. Compton, Rev. — Ridgway, J. M. P. Montagu, D.P.G.M. Dorset, C. H. Godson, Charles Fendelow, Capt. W. F. Portlock Dadson, Christopher Atkinson, Rev. — Newnham, Capt. Leeson, and H. Massey ("Freemason"). At the termination of the ceremony of consecration, the installation of Principals of the Chapter was proceeded with, but as all the Principals were either Past or Present Grand Superintendents of provinces or districts, they were not entrusted again with the secrets of their respective chairs, but were simply placed in them. Comp. Dr. R. Hamilton, District G. Sup. Jamaica, was placed in the chair of M.E.Z.; Comp. S. Rawson, P.D. G. Sup. of China, H.; and Comp. Hugh D. Sandeman, P.D. G. Sup. Bengal, J.

The officers appointed were Comps. Hyde Pullen, S.E.; Colonel Adair, S.N.; Lieut.-Col. Burney, Treas.; Major Shadwell Clerke, P.S.; Major Barlow, First A.S.; and Lieut.-Col. Randolph, Second A.S. Several companions were proposed as joining members, and nine brethren were proposed for exaltation. Committees for the forming of the bye-laws, &c., were formed, and the resolution for the next meeting of the chapter was carried, when it was arranged that it should be held on Saturday, the 21st inst.

The chapter was then closed, and the companions adjourned to the Café Royal, Regent-street, to banquet. When this had been partaken of, the M.E.Z. proceeded with the toasts, and after giving that of "The Queen and Royal Arch Masonry," proposed with great warmth "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, G.Z. of the Order."

Lieut.-Genl. Brownrigg in responding said he thought nothing could be more favourable at the commencement of this chapter than the fact that the three Principals who occupied the chairs were all Past Grand Officers, and with their experience he had no doubt that they would be able to lead this young chapter to prosperity. He would not dilate very much upon the subject which the M.E.Z. had been good enough to bring before them. They all knew it was an old story that all the matters were arranged in Grand Chapter as well as in Grand Lodge with great regularity. He was old enough to remember very stormy days indeed there, but thank God that was now all over. The last time he attended Grand Lodge he had the honour of filling the chair of First Principal. The chapter then assembled at seven o'clock, and he was enabled to catch the eight o'clock train from Waterloo. From this fact the companions might easily imagine how speedily the business of Grand Chapter was settled. (Cheers.)

Lieut.-Genl. Brownrigg next proposed the toast of "Success and Prosperity to the Friends in Council Chapter," coupling with it the name of the M.E.Z. He said that by the permission of the M.E.Z. he was allowed to propose this toast, and he hoped the companions would do justice to it. He was sure that all who had been present that day must have been struck with the singular beauty of the chapter, the decorations of which in all his Masonic life he had never seen equalled. He had been brought there that day by a lady who had been invited to inspect the temple before the companions began business, and the impression made on her mind was the most extraordinary she had ever known. Of course, with that vague idea which ladies had of the Masonic Order, he did not think she at all expected to see what she saw, and he was rather curious to know when he met her again what the full effect on her vision had been. With respect to the Chapter, he thought its very name promised a success; its constitutions certainly promised it a success which hardly any chapter could have. He would not say anything more. The hearts of the consecrating officers were all with the companions of the Chapter that day, and he was quite sure all of them would join with him in drinking "Prosperity and Success to the Friends in Council Chapter," in appreciation of the way in which the Chapter was officered. (Applause.)

Dr. Hamilton, M.E.Z., in replying, said that on behalf of the other Principals of the chapter and himself, he begged to return thanks for the manner in which their health had been proposed and drunk, as well as for the hearty way in which the prosperity of the Chapter itself had been received. All he would say was that the Principals and the officers would do their very best to give it that success which had been wished for it that evening. He said he had another toast to propose, "The Health of those companions who had so kindly assisted in the consecration of the Chapter." He was sorry to say there were but two or three present who were at the consecration. He would like to have seen Comp. Hervey, their esteemed friend, at the table that evening; but other duties had called him away. At the same time they might put it on record that his name was included in that of the officers who had consecrated the chapter. With the toast he begged to couple the name of Comp. H. C. Vernon.

Comp. Vernon, in responding, said it had been a great honour to him to have been permitted to be present at this consecration as one of the consecrating officers. He could only say that he had been exceedingly pleased with everything that had taken place, and with the conduct of affairs that day. He had never seen a consecration more completely arranged or the work better done in the whole course of his experience of some 25 years. In returning his thanks for the toast, he wished prosperity to the chapter in every way.

Dr. Hamilton, M.E.Z., then proposed "The Principal Sojourner, Major Shadwell Clerke." It might not be known to companions who were present that in a great measure the trouble and worry of getting up the chapter had devolved upon Major Shadwell Clerke. He was amply seconded by their excellent companion Capt. Philips, but it was he who, to use the old Scriptural expression "bore the heat and burden of the day." It was to his good taste they were indebted for the excellence of the arrangements they had seen that evening. In all the Chapters he had been he had never witnessed a prettier display than that of the chapter over which he had the honour to preside. He would give "The Health of their Principal Sojourner, Major Shadwell Clerke," and he would add that he was "a jolly good fellow."

Major Shadwell Clerke, P.S., responded, and said that he assured the companions he had very great difficulty in replying to such flattering remarks. He felt that he was put in an invidious position, because there were other companions who could reply very much better than himself. The two Assistant Sojourners were brimfull of eloquence; but as his name had been coupled with the toast he was obliged to say a few words. It was a very great pleasure and gratification to him to have an opportunity of putting his shoulder to the wheel in starting this chapter. He had looked forward to it some years; it was a matter of mutual congratulation to all the companions, because it completed the circle of their Masonic duties at Golden-square. They ought all to be gratified at hearing from the lips of General Brownrigg and Captain Vernon that their small efforts had met with their approval; and it should be an incentive to them to go on and carry out their labours in the way in which those companions had been kind enough to say they had begun them. As far as the officers of the Chapter were concerned, he might be their mouthpiece, and say that their future efforts should not be wanting to bring the chapter to the position of a representative chapter in ritual. On behalf of the officers of the chapter he begged to thank them very much for the excessively nice way in which the toast had been proposed and received.

Col. Randolph said it had become quite natural to him to return thanks in many Masonic bodies, and with the most sincere feelings of gratification for himself he begged to return thanks for the toast.

Dr. Hamilton M.E.Z., then proposed "The Visitors," a toast which he said was everywhere received among Masons with the greatest cordiality, because Masons always had the strongest feeling of hospitality.

The Rev. — Ridgway responded, but felt that after having enjoyed himself very much, the being called upon to make a speech was very much like a black spot on a fair skin. He hoped, however, at some future time to be permitted to come to the chapter again and experience similar enjoyment to that which had been afforded him that evening.

Dr. Hamilton, M.E.Z., next proposed "The Masonic Press." They had already gone through all the hierarchy of Masonry, but had not yet drunk that fourth estate to which they were all so much indebted. Masonry had benefited very much by the press and the publicity which it had given to their proceedings. These proceedings had been most ably put before the world by the press generally, but by no portion of it more ably or with greater faithfulness than by the "Freemason." It was a great pleasure to him that the press was represented at that meeting by the companion whom he had frequently had the pleasure of meeting in many assemblies, and he might inform the companions that all the proceedings which that companion had recorded had been faithfully and honestly committed to the world.

Comp. H. Massey ("Freemason"), said that as the order of the evening was short speeches he could not better conform to the edict from the chair than by simply thanking the M.E.Z. for the very flattering observations he had made.

Dr. Hamilton, M.E.Z., next said that there was one toast more which however did not enter into the list of the formal toasts. They had among their officers in the chapter a most excellent companion, well known to every one in Royal Arch Masonry and in the Craft at large, a companion who had done more he thought than the majority of other companions. He alluded to their veteran companion, Hyde Pullen (hear hear), and he could not at a Royal Arch meeting let the evening pass over (although perhaps he might not have been able to bring him in the ordinary list of toasts) without doing himself the satisfaction, and doing also the satisfaction to every companion present, of drinking his good health. (Cheers.)

Comp. Hyde Pullen, in reply, said it was with some diffidence he ventured to reply to this toast, and for this reason, that it had come so late that if he had had an idea or thought at an earlier part of the evening about it, it would have flown away, and become obliterated by the kindly sentiments which were being expressed. But he would thank the Most Excellent for his considerate mention of him, and for the kind words which he had used in presenting his (Comp. Pullen's) character before the companions (which he felt he did not deserve). He believed he had striven as far as he possibly could to deserve what the M.E.Z. had said of him; and he would endeavour to continue to deserve those kind expressions. He was not sorry that the M.E.Z. had asked him to reply to this toast, because it had occurred to his mind that they were met that night upon the joyous occasion of the formation of a new chapter, the success of which he was sure they would quite understand he earnestly and ardently prayed for. Not only did he pray for it, but feeling that while he prayed for it, that prayer would be granted he saw that success must attend its operations. There was another point which had forcibly struck him, that they were strangely and curiously governed, if he might so term it, by the three Principals of their chapter. The M.E.Z. represented the West India interests; the H. represented the great district of China; and the J. represented a third large portion of the earth in the quarter of Bengal. So that really that chapter comprised a very large share of the whole habitable globe, condensed as it were in that small compass. Those companions had exhibited themselves already as leading Masons in those vast dominions, and they had met with success in each and all. When these immense domains were represented in the one small chapter surely success must attend it. (Hear, hear.) Another point he would remark upon. The night previous they had met as a body representing the whole earth itself. There were on that evening members present from all parts of the world. It was a gathering they could never forget when they considered it in this light. They had among their brethren in their own immediate circle members who had power over all the earth; and he thought they could congratulate themselves upon having met together in the manner in which they had. But especially that evening he was most grateful to the M.E.Z. for his mention of his name. He augured nothing but the most unbounded success for the chapter on account of the three Principals being Masons who had met with success in their Masonic career over the three great parts of the globe he had mentioned. This chapter must be an example to all other chapters on account of having for its three Principals Masons so distinguished as Comps. Dr. Hamilton, Samuel Rawson, and Hugh D. Sandeman. (Cheers.)

This closed the proceedings of the evening, and the companions separated at an early hour.

[The above appeared in our Second Edition of last week.]

SUPREME COUNCIL, 33°.

A meeting of the Supreme Council, 33°, was held on Wednesday, at 33, Golden-square, Capt. Philips, P.M. P.S.G.C., 33°, presiding. The other members of the Council present were Gen. Clerk, F.R.S., Dr. Hamilton, Major Shadwell Clerke, Col. Adair, Hugh D. Sandeman, Raphael Costa, S. Rawson, W. Hyde Pullen, Hon. R. W. H. Giddy, Col. Hutton, of Canada, Major Barlow, C. J. Banister, Chas. Fendelow, and C. J. Vigne, P.M. P.S.G.C.

After the formal opening of the proceedings and discussion on the affairs of the degree, the Right Hon. Lord Skelmerdale was advanced to the 33rd Degree.

Afterwards a meeting of the 32nd Degree took place. Capt. Philips presided, and conferred the 32° upon Gen. Brownrigg, A. F. Godson, Capt. Thrale Perkins, and Chas. Horsley.

Subsequently there was a meeting of the 31st Degree, when Capt. Philips again presided, and advanced Lord Donoughmore, 30°.

A meeting of the 30th Degree was also held, and again Capt. Philips presided. The brethren on whom this degree was conferred were Capt. Walter Hylton Jolliffe, the Rev. Ambrose Hall, Col. C. W. Jolliffe, Chas. Compton, Col. J. N. Sargent, Frederick Jennings, E. H. Thiclay, W. Roebuck, H. H. Riach, Henry Greening, Samuel Jones, and R. Kalley Miller. There were present at the meeting of the 30° the brethren who attended and who were advanced in the superior degrees, whose names are given above, besides Colonel Thos. Goddard, C. H. Gregory, Dr. Woodford, Major Molineux C. A. Newnham, Colonel Hugh Somerville Burney, and John Lambert Sim, Francis Turner, Philip Montagu, J. D. Barnes, C. H. Driver, the Chevalier E. Habicht, John Chandler, James Keene, Thomason Harrison, John Boyd, C. Harding, W. Russell, C. Hammerton, Dr. John J. Griffith, John Kirke, C. E. Willing, who presided at the organ, John Read, Colonel Hutton, 33° Supreme Council, Canada, and D. E. Pierre, 32° of the Supreme Council of Colon Cuba, were present as visitors. A banquet was subsequently given at the Café Royal, at which Capt. Philips presided, and gave the usual toasts. Most of the brethren above-mentioned were present, the company numbering altogether about sixty brethren.

[The above appeared in our Second Edition of last week.]

Obituary.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE BRO. WM. WESCOE.

Remembering as we do the many excellent traits of character possessed by our late friend Bro. William Wescoe secretary to the Heywood Waterworks Company it is with much pleasure that we state to our readers and the public generally that on Thursday, the 21st inst., the ceremony of unveiling a monument to his memory, lately placed in the Heywood cemetery by the brethren of the Heywood Lodge, of which he was a most active member for the space of twenty years. The ceremony, was performed by the present W.M., Bro. John Partington, in truly Masonic form, who spoke in high praise of the late brother's excellencies and force of character, who, he said, was held in much esteem, not only by the brethren of his lodge, but by all with whom he came in contact. He alluded in the most touching manner to his untimely death, which, as will be remembered by many, occurred under circumstances of a painful character. The monument is a very handsome piece of work, in the form of a Masonic pedestal, on which are carved several Masonic emblems, and surmounted by an open bible and terrestrial globe. The work has been executed by Mr. James Lord, a member of the Heywood Lodge, and is exceedingly creditable.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON"

from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

NOW READY, Price 9s. Each.

VOLS. 1 & 2

OF THE

MASONIC MAGAZINE

198, FLEET-STREET, LONDON.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

Answers to Correspondents.

ERRATA.—In the letter from "Another Freemason's Wife," for lowering demonstration, read "denomination." Bro. JOHN CONSTABLE.—Declined with thanks.

The following reports, &c., stand over:—Mount Lebanon Lodge, 73; High Cross, 754; Blair, 815; Eclectic, 1301; Waldram, 1327; Era, 1423; Francis Burdett, 1503; Jerusalem Chapter, No. 185.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BAKER.—On the 12th inst., at Cheltenham, the wife of T. Y. Baker, of a son.
KENT.—On the 11th inst., at Trent Villa, Netherwood-road, West Kensington Park, W., the wife of John Kent, of a son.
STUBBS.—On the 13th inst., at Kettel Hall, Oxford, the wife of the Rev. W. Stubbs, M.A., of a son.
WILSON.—On the 1st inst., at Grove Hall, Knottingley, the wife of M. A. Wilson, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

BECKWITH—WADE.—On the 12th inst., at Evercreech, Somerset, H. J. Beckwith, Capt. 53rd Regt., to Kathleen, daughter of R. C. Wade, Esq., of Clonbraney, Co. Meath.
WOOD—COLENUTT.—On the 5th inst., W. Wood, jun., of Fishmongers' Hall, to Ruth, eldest surviving daughter of J. Colenutt.
WHITE—SMYTHE.—On the 10th inst., at All Saints, Maidstone, Alfred Starnes, son of A. White, of Nettlesed Court, to Adeline Rimmellou, daughter of J. Smythe, of Fairview, Maidstone.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCT. 21, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S VISIT TO GLASGOW.

The reception which the loyal citizens of Glasgow have accorded to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales our illustrious Head, has been most warm and gratifying in every respect. We have always said, that in no portion of our Order, and under no Constitution, has the Grand Master of English Masonry Grand Patron of Scottish Masonry more zealous and devoted adherents than in North Britain, and we are rejoiced to know that never has the Prince of Wales and his amiable and charming Consort been more enthusiastically welcome than in Glasgow. With Baillie Nicol Jarvie, there are few of us who, having read the accounts of the public reception and the Masonic demonstration, will not say with that excellent personage, most warmly and sincerely, "Let Glasgow flourish." It has added to its previous high prestige, by the admirable and remarkable manner in which it has taken up and carried through all the necessarily complicated arrangements which go to make up a great public ceremonial of the kind. Nothing seems to have been wanting to the occasion, everything appears to have been in perfect order and harmony, no unseemly hitch of any kind marred the pleasantness and progress of the day's proceedings from first to last; and we trust, as we believe, that such an "Alba Dies" in the annals of that great and flourishing city will have left an ineffable souvenir in the warm hearts and friendly memories of thousands. The Masonic arrangements appear to have been very complete, and reflect great credit on all by whom they were compiled. 8000 Masons are said to have taken part in the procession and gathering, and the loyalty of Scottish Freemasonry has been gallantly shown forth in the presence of their fellow citizens, nay, we may say, of the world. We congratulate the Grand Lodge of Scotland both for its able programme and goodly muster, just as we warmly felicitate our brethren, in Glasgow especially, on the success which has attended all their zealous efforts, and the complete and entire harmony of action which has resulted from their thoroughly Masonic union and sympathies. We give an account of the day and its work elsewhere, and especially a resumé of the Masonic demonstration, which, while it is in itself most creditable to our Scottish brethren, will be warmly appreciated, we know, by all Anglo-Saxon Masons. We unfeignedly rejoice to note how well and how right Royally our august Chief responds to all the many claims made upon his time and interest, whether in the routine discharge of the duties of his exalted station, or in his sympathetic appearance in many public assemblies of Her Majesty's subjects; and we trust, as loyal Freemasons, that all of good and happiness may attend on his onward and important career, and on the private and public life of himself and his gracious and gentle Consort.

THE LAST QUARTERLY COURT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

The results of the last Quarterly Court of this interesting and important Institution must have been most satisfactory to all friends of the School. Not only was there a large attendance of Governors, but the tone and temper of the meeting were very encouraging to all who wish, by careful and progressive improvements, to keep our great metropolitan institutions up to the level of the age, and in entire harmony with the wishes and feelings of the brethren. Our old friend and excellent Bro. Muggeridge, to whom we allude in a special article, received on his retirement from the onerous duties of Collector a very hearty greeting, and the expression of a very fraternal recognition of his many and meritorious services to the School and to Masonry, and his "Honorarium" for his lengthened "Collectorship" was cheerfully and unanimously accorded. The main question of interest for the meeting was with respect to Bro. Raynham Stewart's motion, the appointment or non-appointment of a "Collector," on which moot point a great deal, no doubt, can be said on both sides of the question. There seemed to be a general wish to have the subject thoroughly looked into by the General Committee, and, on the motion of Bro. Joseph Smith, a very good committee of nine was appointed to report to a special general meeting of the Institution. We congratulate the Subscribers and the Order on this very judicious resolution, and we feel sure, that on the report of the committee in due time, a satisfactory conclusion will be arrived at. One point, which has always been a difficult one to deal with, owing partly to "vested interests," old arrangements, customary procedure, and, to say the truth, a little good Masonic "blue tape," was, we think, clearly decided by the meeting, and a very important point it is in our humble opinion. So complicated has been the system of "poundage," for instance, that, as Bro. Little stated in answer to a question of Bro. Joseph Smith, four systems of calculation have been employed, on which the Collector was finally paid. But it is manifestly absurd, and Masonically unfair, that the Collector, living in London, should receive a poundage, be it ever so small, on sums sent direct from any lodge, or Steward, or province, to the Secretary of the Institution. It has long been quite clear, that if any such poundage was to be allowed at all, it ought to be given to the Prov. Grand Secretaries, who have great trouble, and often great responsibility thrown upon them, or even the Stewards. But we object to such a system of "poundage" altogether; it is neither business-like nor fair, and has long been a standing complaint and pressing grievance. We do not enter into the question of whether a collector be needed for the metropolitan district or annual subscribers—it may be so; but all we wish to contend for is, that he shall only be remunerated on what he actually himself pays in, and that if the services of a trustworthy Collector cannot be procured on such terms, then, that he must be paid an increased per centage on what he does bring in, together with, if need be a small regular supplemental salary, to appear as such in the accounts of the Institution. It is a very unsatisfactory method in order to give any collector a good income, and make his post worth having, that a per centage should be paid to him on sums which do not pass through his hands at all, and about which he knows nothing. We, therefore, are glad to know that the general feeling of the large meeting on Saturday last was against a continuance of such a "make-shift" system, and in favour, whether through a "collector," or "collecting clerk" in the Secretary's office, of simple "payment for results," and that an end should be put to the previous objectionable arrangement. As the matter is now before a committee, we do not think it respectful to them to say anything more on the subject, as we feel sure that it is in good hands, and will be carefully considered and fully discussed.

MASONIC ARCHÆOLOGY.

There is a view of Masonic history which has some adherents, and which we will now consider. Some have said that Freemasonry is only the result of an Hermetic association, and that as we have it, it is really based on Hermeticism. We do not agree with such a view for the following reasons. That an Hermetic society has existed for many centuries is probably true, that those who practised Hermetic arts, and studied an occult lore, may have formed themselves into a fraternity or brotherhood, we think may be readily conceded. That the "Frater Rosæ Crucis" were in existence in the 17th century, is also, we think, incontestable. But the whole question hinges upon this, what had they to do? had they anything to do with Freemasonry proper? And this is a query very difficult indeed to answer. Some facts in the consideration of this problem crop up which are very curious in themselves, whatever their exact bearing may be on the point at issue. What is called the magical alphabet, for instance, has a very curious resemblance to many of the old Masons' marks, and many of the Masons' marks are exact facsimiles of the so-called magical letters. The well-known emblems of Freemasonry, the "Pentalpha," the "Hexapla," the "point within a circle," are well known to all readers of the Hermetic literature and no doubt many of the famous astrologers and Rosicrucians were great mathematical and geometrical scholars. But here we stop, we can go no further, and as for any direct connection we do not know how to prove it. Elias Ashmole, of whom so much has been made, as regards Hermeticism, by some German and English writers, was a "Freemason" before he became an attendant on the "Astrologers' Feast," at least we find in his diary previous to his initiation in 1646 no trace of any astrological fraternity. Hence, at the outside, the theory of a Hermetico-Masonic continuation is a very hazy one indeed. But another and still more serious question remains behind. Admitted that the Hermetic society existed, has that Hermetic society anything to do historically, positively, really, with what are termed the Theosophic or Hermetic High Grades? Are not all these High Grades an adaptation of Hermetic formulae, the appropriation of the terminology and symbolism of a dying or defunct sodality for special purposes, and with another end? Bro. Yarker seems to hold, if we understand his words aright, that all the grades above the three first are the product of Hermeticism, or rather founded upon it. He says this, we repeat, if we understand his argument rightly, though it is not quite clear to us whether he assumes that Hermeticism and High Grade Masonry are synonymous, "convertible terms," or whether they are essentially distinct, the latter being an adaptation and imitation of the former. We are ourselves quite clear as to one fact, that the "Hermeticism" of the Dedication to "Long-Livers" has nothing to do with the Royal Arch, whatever else it may refer to, and we are disposed, notwithstanding some difficulties, to accept frankly the statement that Hermeticism existed in 1721, and was known to the Craft Masons then. But even admitting this, though it proves something, it does not prove everything. The writer of that Dedication, whoever he was, may have been a Rosicrucian, and as such considered it a higher degree, and some of the Masons of 1717 may have been Rosicrucians too, but then we have yet to learn that Rosicrucians and "Chevaliers Rose Croix" have anything in common. Such names and grades are clever manipulations or arrangements of Ramsay, and others, for distinct purposes, of an old society then dying out, for whatever may have been the case in France, certain it is that in England we can find few traces of the Hermetic grades till about fifty years after 1721. Even in France all seems to proceed from Ramsay's famous oration in 1740, and we confess that we still await with the deepest interest the evidence of an active Hermeticism in the middle of the last century, though we admit its actual existence, if "Philaethes" is to be credited, in 1721. We believe that Bro. Yarker has published a statement of an existence of a list of chapters of H.D.M. in 1743, as of "time immemorial," but we shall be glad to know where that list exists, and whether printed or in MS. If certain Chapters were at work in 1743, that is a very important fact, per se, and we therefore stop here today, as, before we can speak decidedly on this important question, we shall like to know what is the actual evidence, if any, of an active Hermeticism, after 1721, and before, say 1770. As regards the evidence of old rituals, all such have to be looked at by "experts," because it is not necessarily a case of "sequitur," that because a document is said to be 200 years old, it is really so. But all such questions can now be treated dispassionately, and discussed calmly and archaeologically, and we need not throw any heat into such a simple archaeological discussion.

BRO. MUGGERIDGE.

We most of us know Bro. Muggeridge, and there are few of us, we believe, who have not a very warm and friendly feeling for so good a Mason and so worthy a man. Bro. Muggeridge, who took farewell of the Quarterly Court of the Girls' School on Saturday last, as Collector, after a faithful and meritorious service of 20 years, has retired, owing to ill-health, on a well earned pension. The entire sympathy and "hearty good wishes" not only of a large meeting, but of all the subscribers to the Girls' School, and we will add, the entire Craft, go with our esteemed and venerable brother. Few more hard-working brethren probably have ever existed in English Masonry than that well-known and untiring individual termed by some "Old Mug." Not only as the zealous and indefatigable Collector of the Girls' School is he a "grata persona" wherever he appears, wherever his familiar face presents itself, but as a skilled instructor of the Order he has rendered many and valuable services, alike to lodges and chapters and individual brethren. His name has long been honourably identified with the well known "Stability" Lodge of Instruction, and we all of us are well aware of his zeal and energy, and efficiency as a Masonic instructor, and of the urbanity and readiness with which he is always glad to impart instruction to his brethren. As he left the room on Saturday we could not help saying to ourselves, "May your old age, honest and hard-working brother, be peaceful and serene, and may yours be a happy and gentle passage through your declining years, cheered and sweetened by the kindly goodwill of friends and brethren, and gladdened and exhilarated by the ever pleasant remembrance of duties well performed, of work truly done, as well for the great Order of which you have been so faithful a member, as for your brethren of whom you have been so friendly a companion, and so sincere a well wisher." We think that all will hope, that our old friend and kindly brother may, in the good Providence of the G.A.O.T.U., receive for many tranquil years the honorarium of faithful service and the assurances of our fraternal regard.

FRENCH FREEMASONRY.

We have received Bro. Caubet's reply in the "Monde Maconique" to the question we asked, relative to the statement of irregular marriages in French Lodges. We are happy to find that it is as we expected, a pure calumny. We shall publish Bro. Caubet's letter and allude to the matter next week, and we shall also take the opportunity of calling attention to one or two questions of importance, gravely affecting, in our opinion, the present interests and future position of French Freemasonry.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

THE CANT OF MASONRY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The writer of the article in the "Hampshire Post" under the above heading is scarcely worthy of the powder and shot with which you have annihilated him. I would not have troubled you with any remarks upon his silly and spiteful observations were it not for the description he gives to those who he chooses to say "usurp the name of Masons." He calls them "the lawyers, tailors, butchers, and tradesmen of all sorts." First of all, does the writer know the meaning of the word "usurp"? If he does he must be aware that he has made a misuse of it. But why this choice of vocations? Is it intended for a sneer, or is it written in ignorance of those who constitute the Masonic body? If it be a sneer, well, let it go for what it is worth. As Masons we look at a man's character, and not his calling, as the criterion of his excellence; and we do not think it derogatory in itself for a man to be a "lawyer, tailor, butcher, or any other sort of tradesman." If, however, this be the writer's ignorance, well, poor fellow, that he may not commit himself again let us inform him that kings, noblemen of all ranks, from dukes to country squires, great statesmen and other professional men besides lawyers are to be found amongst us; that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is our present Grand Master, and that the worthy brother who presided at Havant the other day is neither a "lawyer, a tailor, a butcher, or any other sort of tradesman." In other words: here is a verse of an old song which our aristocratic (?) reviler probably never heard of,
"Great kings, dukes, and lords,
Have laid by their swords,
Our mysteries to put a good grace on,
And ne'er felt ashamed
To bear themselves named
As a Free and an Accepted Mason."

The sneering tone pervades the whole article, making palpable the animus of the writer, whilst the ignorance displayed in his notion of the class of individuals who are Masons is also shown in all that he puts forth respecting Freemasonry itself; in fact he writes of what he knows nothing about, and consequently he writes nonsense.

There is only one portion of the article which demands in any way to be treated seriously:

"Surely if exemplars were wanted it is not necessary to go further than Christ, and, disciples and apostles. This leads us to the consideration. Are Christianity and Freemasonry consonant in principle? If this be true, then surely Masonry is superfluous. If they are not so then Masonry must be mischievous."

This is one of those plausible and sweeping arguments which if sound would be irresistible. But it has too much of the "begging the question" about it. It savours too much of cant! If we were indeed followers of Christ, imbued with the spirit and the mind of Christ, we should have no need of external aids of any kind, churches, creeds, clergymen, or communions, to help us to a better life. But when we see Christianity, as exemplified by its professors, split up into rival sections, each fierce and bitter in its denunciation of the other, then surely there is room for a society, call it by what name you will, which professes no dogma, religious or political, save that of love to God and love to man, and whose action, being beneficent, is neither "superfluous nor mischievous."

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

A MASON BUT NOT AN "USURPER."

Oct. 10th, 1876.

LONG LIVERS.

Dear Bro. Kenning,—

Having read Bro. Hughan's and Bro. Yarker's letters in the last "Freemason," I think it well to send you the following few and friendly remarks.

Until I saw Bro. Mackey's paper in the "Voice of Masonry" I was not aware that Bro. Yarker had alluded to the work.

It is clear from his statement that he publicly, July 24th, 1875, mentioned "Long Livers," and gave an extract from the Dedication, and that therefore he is the first who brought the book formally and publicly to the notice of Masonic students.

It seems that the existence of the work was known some time previously to Bro. Matthew Cooke, who first mentioned it to Bro. Yarker, and from Bro. Capt. Irwin, of Bristol, Bro. Yarker received the collated extract which he made use of publicly in his book, though not mentioning the source.

The quotation in Bro. Yarker's work he appears to have obtained from Bro. Matthew Cooke.

I am free to confess, though my library is very large, and my collection of MSS. and references very extensive, yet I did not happen to know of the work, (as might well happen,) until I saw it first alluded to in the "Voice of Masonry." My studies, as you are aware, have been mainly devoted to works and MSS. on Craft Masonry, and, not being a High-Grade man myself, I have never gone out of my way to search for or acquire such High Grade works, though I have many in my possession for archaeological purposes.

But the moment I saw it, it appeared to me to be very important in two respects.

First, it shewed that the antiquity of the Hermetic connexion was greater than was often contended; and secondly, it seriously affected the current theories of Hermetic history, and for this reason. If this statement was correct, the generally received view that Hermetic Masonry was a development of Ramsay's movement in 1740 must be greatly shaken if not given up—at once—and such a fact opened out two other considerations very important for the Masonic historian.

1. What was the real connection between Freemasonry and Hermeticism? and secondly, what was the earliest trace of the existence of an Hermetic Masonry?

These points have yet to be elaborated and developed, and the matter itself has to be more closely looked into than has yet been the case.

But the Masonic history of Hermeticism will have to be re-written, as if it existed in 1721 it could not have been created after 1740.

Bro. Yarker, I note, states that in his opinion the allusions on the Dedication refer to the Royal Arch.

But such a theory is, I apprehend, utterly inadmissible for many reasons, and, like Bro. Hughan, I think the subject requires a good deal of careful consideration, and cannot be too hastily or dogmatically decided. I am much more inclined myself to believe that the terms, which are pure Hermetic jargon, like "King Pyropus," and many more, refer to a Rosicrucian confraternity, perhaps the actual "Fratres Rose Crucis," who did undoubtedly exist, but who are not the same as the Order of "Rose Croix."

I do not lay much store myself by the assertion of even in 1743 a list of six lodges of H.R.M., &c., existing then in London, "from time immemorial," and alluded to by Bro. Yarker, as the words, from "time immemorial," are of easy use and deceptive authority.

Would Bro. Yarker kindly tell us where that list is to be found, as just now Bro. Hughan is making a special study of the lists, and we may light upon some interesting facts.

It will be seen from what I have said, that I for one do not and cannot accept Bro. Yarker's theory of the Hermeticism alluded to, being that of the Royal Arch, and think that we have got to learn the actual connexion between Hermeticism and the High Grades. We have also, it appears to me, to learn how far what may be termed Hermetic Masonry, is actually a product of the old Rosicrucianism, or an adaptation by the mystical Masons of the later part of the last century, of the terminology, and vocabulary and name of a real Hermetic Society.

The subject is most interesting, and demands careful study and dispassionate consideration.

I am, dear Bro. Kenning, yours most fraternally.

THE EDITOR OF THE "MASONIC MAGAZINE."

INFORMATION THAT MAY BE USEFUL TO THE BRETHREN.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Doubtless there are many of your readers who, either to enjoy a little rest and change, or for the sake of their children's education, are desirous of residing in Paris, but who find it extremely difficult to obtain reliable information as to the two great desiderata—comfort and economy.

As I should esteem it a privilege to be useful to my brethren, will you permit me to say that I shall be glad to forward to any of your readers, on application, the address of a Pension and a School (for Boys) in Paris, which from personal experience I can vouch to be excellent in every respect? The information that I desire to impart I had great difficulty in acquiring.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, fraternally yours,
J. KINGSTON, Chaplain, R.N.,
P. Prov. Grand Chaplain for Dorset, &c.
H.M.S. Cambridge, Devonport, Oct. 14th.

FEMALE FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir,—

It is not that I wish to carry on any further discussion, but I cannot refrain from trying to exonerate myself in the eyes of "Another Freemason's Wife," by stating that the very last thing I could wish would be to prevent or begrudge my husband a little recreation from the toil and harass of business, and I admit, as before, a lodge is no place for a modest woman, and I quite agree with you, Mr. Editor, that there would be very great impropriety in it; but the real force of my argument is this,—If women were to band themselves in a secret manner, say no men admitted, their husbands especially would deem they had a right to know what could occupy two or three hours of their time, and would give themselves no rest till they had unearthed such a society. I am aware women bear the name of curiosity, but in such a case as I allude to we should find the men were our equal, providing they loved us, otherwise it would be immaterial to them what their wives did or how they passed their time. As to the term profane, if your correspondent reads your article on the initiation of the Countess Hadick, she will there see she is termed profane, and the men are termed blind till they are enlightened in Freemasonry. I have my doubts about your correspondent being a woman; if so, she is one by herself, as all Freemasons' wives I have come in contact with, uphold my views, and how she can converse with her husband on a subject which he is bound to conceal by the most awful vows is beyond my comprehension.

Trusting you will pardon the liberty I take in troubling you again,

Yours very respectfully,

A FREEMASON'S WIFE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir,—

Will you kindly grant me a space in your valuable columns to most sincerely thank the "Freemason's Wife" for her letter in your issue of the 7th inst., in which she has so well described the sorrowful feelings of many of her sex, and ably expressed the sentiments of a true "lady Mason." I presume that the brethren consider that their would be sisters are not sufficiently noble minded to "exchange the sceptre for the trowel," &c., &c., but, in my opinion, more might be given to charity were the real wives of real Freemasons able to assist their husbands in the holy and good work, as they (the would-be sisters) would not require any expensive adornments to induce them to work well, and work altogether in the cause of charity, for

"It builds our quiet, as it forms our lives."

A Freemason, if he be such in word and deed, which, as your correspondent says, is pretence, fully appreciates a brother's worth if he enters heart and soul into their mutual business. Now, they cannot converse on the subject in the presence of their wives because of their secret, or pretended secret, consequently they are left to mourn in solitude their husband's want of confidence in one whom they honour.

This, and this alone, in Freemasonry is calculated, in my opinion, to make a loving, trusting wife just the reverse. Who has a greater right to enter into and share your joys and sorrows than she? Home is most certainly a good wife's place, and where ought so much rest and peace to be found as one's own fireside, after an interesting meeting for the husband, to discuss the subject predominant in the hearts of both, viz., Freemasonry?

Why will not some good Freemason who has a good wife—one, I mean, who would do honour to the Craft, give the matter his attention, and do something towards bringing happiness to the homes of many of his brethren? Trusting you will acknowledge this in your next issue.

I am, Sir, yours truly,

ANOTHER FREEMASON'S WIFE.

Ramsgate, 16 Oct.

FREEMASONRY IN GERMANY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

If your space permits, I beg you to insert the following, as it may be interesting for some of your readers. On the 20th of May there was held in Berlin a conference of all the daughter lodges which are under the headship of the National Grand Lodge. The Lodge "Wittkind," of Minden, proposed to abolish the well known S. 165, A 1 of the constitution, which is the sort called Jews' sec. There were present at that meeting 52 members of the Grand Lodge, and 93 Deputies of the daughter lodges. The enlightened G.M., Von Etzel, was for the abolition of that famous paragraph. However, at the taking of the votes 88 were found to be for, and 57 against the proposition, and as there was not the necessary two thirds majority the proposition was rejected. Out of the 52 members of the Grand Lodge present, 23 voted Yes, and 29 No, and out of the 93 deputies of the daughter lodges, 65 voted Yes, and 28 No. The correspondent of the "Bauphütte," who related this, regretted very much such an event, and I heard, during my presence in Germany, that in consequence the Worshipful Grand Master resigned. It is indeed a sad state of things, that in such an enlightened country as Germany there should exist such an intolerance amongst Freemasons, whose first principle is, as everybody, even the outsiders, know, that every honest man is capable of becoming a Freemason quite independent of his creed; in fact, Freemasonry boasts—and this with good reason, too—of being the only universal religion in which members of all creeds can unite. But, fortunately for Germany, this middle-aged state of things exists only in some parts of North Germany, while Hamburg and other parts of North Germany, as well as the South, do not know of such an intolerance, and I have visited several important cities and towns where honest Jews are not only admitted into the Craft, but hold high offices, too, in Provincial and Grand Lodges. These lodges are more conformable in their constitutions to English lodges. But it is to be hoped sincerely that even in Berlin, at another meeting, those brethren who were against it will have been enlightened. "So mote it be."

I am, yours fraternally,

J. STRAUSS,

Chaplain of the Lodge Harmony, 600.

Bradford, Oct., 1876.

FREEMASONRY IN SOUTH AMERICA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

I have seen with pleasure in your issue of April 8th last a notice from a correspondent that a lodge had at last been formed in Bolivia, called "Trabajo y Honor," No. 17. As W.M., I take the liberty of sending one or two items respecting the lodge, as well as the names of the office-bearers for the present year.

The Republic of Bolivia has a population of two millions of inhabitants, but up to September of last year it had not a single lodge. The few brothers then residing in the port of Autogagasta solicited a charter from the Grand Orient of Peru, obtaining which, we commenced our labours under somewhat peculiar and interesting circumstances. On the night of the first session there were present the following nine brethren, representing nine distinct nations of the world:—Bros. Luis Lichtenstein, German; E. H. Neill, English; Emile Parjo, French; José Jordan, Spanish; Antonio Magallanes, Portuguese; Luis F. Pullma, Chilean; Manuel A. Tejada, Argentine; Escipion Vernaza, Columbian; Abdon S. Ondaiza, Bolivian; giving an incontestable proof of the universality of Masonry—no 12 members, with one exception all strangers to the country, hailing from parts widely separated, meeting to establish a new lodge.

Since then the lodge has prospered. We have 54 new members, all of whom are enthusiastic in the work, and we hope ere long to establish other lodges in the interior of the Republic.

The officers for the present year are Bros. E. H. Neill, W.M.; Hernan Puelma, S.W.; Manuel T. Alcaldi, J.W.; Apolinar Aramayo, Sec.; Pedro Latorre, Treas.; Franklin Alvarado, Orator; Ezekiel de la Pena, S.D.; Andres Cueto, J.D.

Believe me, dear Sir, yours fraternally,

E. H. NEILL.

Autogagasta, Bolivia, South America,

5th September, 1876.

THE FUNDS OF GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"An Old P.M., One, &c." is perfectly right in two particulars:—

1. "The quotations given by 'Moneta' do not serve him"—Quite true; but I hoped that they would serve "An Old P.M., One, &c." by affording the information that I believed he sought; surely it is not my fault if my quotations are all that the "Constitutions" have to say on the subject.

2. "Grand Lodge, before it can do as it likes with its own, must make a law to enable it to do so." Doubly true, and precisely what I said—namely, that, in the first place, Grand Lodge must legislate on every occasion that any money vote comes before it; and, in the second, that so legislating Grand Lodge acts on every such occasion precisely as seems to it to be the best.

Where, then, am I wrong, further, perhaps, than in having endeavoured to put the results of some years' study of our Constitutions at your correspondent's disposal, who seems for some inexplicable reason not to desire the information that he asked?

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

MONETA.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF BRO. CORNELIUS MOORE AND THE "MASONIC REVIEW."

My good friend and Bro. Moore, of Cincinnati, Ohio, has just issued the last number of Vol. XLVIII. of the "Masonic Review," and provided the Craft rightly appreciates his valuable services on its behalf, he intends to continue the publication until the 50th volume is printed, and in the hands of the subscribers.

Bro. Thomas J. Mellish (associate editor) tells us in an introduction to the number for August, entitled "Resurgamus," that "the 'Masonic Review' claims the credit of being the oldest Masonic periodical now extant." I should like to add—True Bro. Mellish! The oldest, and as truly, one of the best ever circulated. I regret exceedingly that such an interesting publication is not meeting with the favour which its long career entitles it to expect, but I hope that the contemplated anniversary of the marriage of Bro. Moore with the "Masonic Review" will incite many a brother to subscribe, and that the members of the "mystic tie," in Ohio especially, will do their utmost not only to secure the celebration of the golden wedding, but also to place the well-known magazine on a sound financial basis. Already several Masonic periodicals in other quarters have said a few cheering words on its behalf, and in order to practically exhibit the favourable opinions so widely entertained, I should like to hear that the Grand Lodge of Ohio, and all the other Grand Bodies of that State, had decided to subscribe for a copy of Volume 50 to be sent to each of their constituent lodges, chapters, commanderies, &c., &c. Why not? It may be a novel proceeding, but surely a most justifiable one under the circumstances. To the "Masonic Review" the Masons of both hemispheres are considerably indebted, not only for the reprinting of many scarce pamphlets, but beyond all, for the publication (so far) of Bro. Enoch Terry Carson's catalogue of his great Masonic Library, an enterprise which I pray that Bros. Moore and Carson will live to complete, and be long spared to issue many subsequent additions to such a useful, valuable, and unique Bibliographical/Masonic work. Bro. Moore's independence, as an editor holds honourable rivalry with his varied Masonic knowledge, and his fairness, and evenhandedness are only equalled—not surpassed—by his great love and admiration of the principles of our ancient and honourable institution. I wish him every success and prosperity, and feel assured that my fraternal sympathy and appreciation are but the expression of many thousands of Craftsmen at home and abroad who admire the man and the Mason.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

A large and influential meeting of the members of this highly successful club was held on Wednesday last in the principal dining saloon, Bro. Langton, Chairman of the committee, presided, and stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of considering a communication which had been received from the directors of the London Masonic Club Company, Limited (the proprietors of the club). This communication was to the effect that the directors are about to issue some of the unallotted shares of the company. These shares, owing to the almost unlooked for success which has attended the undertaking will, in their opinion, form a safe and lucrative investment. Before offering these shares outside the club they wished to invite the members to subscribe for the same. A resolution to the following effect was then moved by Bro. Banbury, and seconded by Bro. Jarvis that, having heard the statement of the directors, and their invitation to subscribe for the shares intended to be issued it was the opinion of the meeting that such invitation should as far as possible be accepted by the members, in order that they, by thus before becoming proprietors of their own club, may have more control, and take more interest in the continued success of the club, and secure its being conducted on true Masonic principles.

It was then moved by Bro. Binckes, and seconded by Bro. Dobbing, and carried unanimously, "That the thanks of the meeting be given to the Board of Directors for their exertions in establishing this club, and bringing it to its present successful position."

Bro. T. J. Smith suitably responded.

This very pleasant, and in all respects, very satisfactory meeting was then brought to a close by a cordial vote of thanks to Bro. Langton for presiding on the occasion. [The above appeared in our Second Edition of last week.]

STAR LODGE (No. 1275).—The Fifteen Sections are to be worked at this lodge, holding its meetings at the Marquis of Granby, New Cross, under the able Preceptorship of Bro. Govan Macdonald, W.M. 1158, &c., &c., on Saturday next, the 28th inst., Bro. Shaw, the esteemed Preceptor of the Pythagorean Lodge, having consented to preside, and the chair of S.W. is likely to be filled by Bro. D. Rose, W.M. 1632, Preceptor of the Peckham Lodge. From the well-known efficiency of the Star brethren, an enjoyable evening's entertainment may be confidently anticipated. Lodge opens at 7 p.m. sharp.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Health's Defences.—None save the strongest can with impunity pass through the sudden transitions from wet to dry, from cold to muggy weather so prevalent during the late autumn and early winter months. Influenza, bronchitis, cough, sore throat, diphtheria, or quinsy will attack those most watchful of their health; but they can readily arrest any of these complaints by rubbing Holloway's Ointment twice a day upon the skin adjacent to the affected part, and by assisting its corrective action with appropriate doses of his Pills. This well-known, safe, and easy mode of treatment efficiently protects the invalid both from present and future danger without weakening or even depressing the system in the slightest degree.—ADV.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO GLASGOW.

We condense the following from the accounts contained in the "Times," "Daily Telegraph," "Standard," and "Glasgow Herald."

The commercial metropolis of Scotland—Glasgow—was en fête on Tuesday, and its large population, joined by tens of thousands from Paisley, Greenock, and all the towns of the busy West, united in giving a becoming reception to the Prince and Princess of Wales. Seldom has the sentiment of a loyal people been more heartily expressed; and not since his Royal Highness's return from India has his public appearance been marked by a more generous enthusiasm, linked to a deep-seated admiration and loyalty. The only unfortunate circumstance connected with a demonstration, which was as splendid as it was spontaneous, was the bad weather.

The occasion of the visit of the Prince was to lay the foundation stone of the new General Post Office in George-square, but the Volunteers of the West of Scotland took advantage of his presence to have a grand review. It was at one time intended to make this inspection a sort of national welcome to the Prince, but His Royal Highness had expressed a wish that there should be no such ceremonial. It was determined to make the review a local affair, and it was this military display which commenced one of the busiest holidays which Glasgow has ever experienced. The review took place in the King's Park. The troops to take part had been drawn up in column under the direction of Col. Spott, Assistant Adjutant-General, and Captain Phipps, of the North British Staff. The parade ground was on the eastern portion of the Green, where a spacious grand stand had been erected for the representatives of the public bodies of the city. A Royal gallery, with bay window, prettily furnished, occupied the central block of the stand. There could not have been fewer than 60,000 spectators outside the barrier in the park. Arriving about half-past eleven o'clock, the Prince of Wales alighted from his carriage and mounted a charger in readiness; he wore the uniform of Colonel of the Caithness and Sutherland Volunteers, and was accompanied by Prince John of Glucksburg, in the uniform of the Royal Danish Guards.

Preceded by the brilliant staff, the Prince of Wales and Prince John of Glucksburg rode down the line of battalions of Volunteers, followed by the Princess of Wales in her open carriage; after which the troops marched past in column of regiments in the following order, the whole being under the command of General Stuart, C.B.:—First Brigade, Colonel Taylor commanding—Forfar Light Horse, 1st Lanarkshire and Ayr (combined) Artillery, 1st Renfrewshire Artillery, Glasgow Engineers; total 1350. Second Brigade, Colonel Butt commanding—1st Lanarkshire R.V., 3rd Lanarkshire R.V., 4th Lanarkshire R.V., 16th Lanarkshire R.V.; total 2550. Third Brigade, Colonel Carey commanding—19th Lanarkshire R.V., 25th Lanarkshire R.V., 31st Lanarkshire R.V., 105th Lanarkshire R.V.; total 2150; grand total, 5050. The marching was remarkably well executed. The troops then broke into columns of companies and marched past again at quick time.

While this manoeuvre was proceeding the immense crowd broke through the batteries and came into the enclosure with a rush; men, women, and children were thrown down, and it appeared for a few moments as if there would be a serious accident. A halt was called by the crowd just as they pressed in on the marching troops. General Stuart sent an aide-de-camp to bring up a detachment of the 7th Hussars, and these heading the people, firmly, yet with good humour and patience, forced them back to the lines.

During the greater part of the time that the review lasted, rain fell in heavy showers, and there was no abatement in the downpour as the Royal carriages drove off from the King's Park to the residence of the Lord Provost, in Park-terrace. The streets were lined with the Volunteers, the 78th Highlanders from Edinburgh, Royal Marines, and 26th Cameronians, while detachments of Hussars, assisted by the police, kept the streets free. The distance, which extended for nearly four miles, was thronged by an immense concourse of spectators, and it was calculated that 400,000 persons watched the Royal procession. The demonstration as the Royal cortège passed was of the most enthusiastic description.

After luncheon the Prince of Wales exchanged his uniform for morning dress and the magnificent insignia of the Grand Master Mason of England. Some 7500 members of the Craft congregated with banners, sashes, aprons, and other insignia. Marching by Woodlands-road and the West-end Park, the Freemasons proceeded to the house of the Lord Provost, at Park-terrace, and took an hour to defile past.

At five minutes past four the Prince and Princess, accompanied by Prince John of Glucksburg and the Lord Provost, and attended by their suite, took leave of Mrs. Bain, and entered their carriage.

The Freemasons closed in front of the Royal carriages, and marched towards George-square, which was reached a few minutes after five o'clock. This large open space, next to Charlotte-square in Edinburgh, contains equestrian statues of the Queen and Prince Consort by Baron Marochetti, and statues of Lord Clyde, Sir John Moore, &c.

The procession arrived at George-square at 5.45, the Freemasons, who had lined the thoroughfare and closed ranks as the cavalcade passed along, bringing up the rear. George-square was magnificently decorated with Venetian masts, flags, banners, and shields. The masts were trimmed alternately with crowns and plumes, and on the middle of each was a shield with badges or orders connected with the Prince of Wales, among them being the Star of India, St. George, St. Andrew, St. Patrick, Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles, the Principality of Wales, the Duke of Cornwall, the Duke of Rothesay, the Earl of Dublin, the Earl of Carrick, &c. The various monuments in the square and the surrounding buildings were also appropriately ornamented for hours before the Royal party arrived. George-square was crowded, and though the weather was of the most depressing kind the people were remarkably patient and good-natured, occasionally varying the monotony of waiting by singing and making numerous remarks upon each other. It was almost four o'clock before the body of Freemasons came on the platform, and in a few minutes after their Royal Highnesses entered by the covered way which had been prepared for them. They were heartily cheered as they passed along, and the band struck up "God save the Queen," and afterwards "God bless the Prince of Wales."

The Royal party drove slowly into the place through the opened ranks of the Freemasons; the Prince and Princess alighted at the north end of the square, and passed thence to the covered dais, where the foundation-stone was to be laid. Having taken up a position on the dais, a few feet from the foundation-stone, the Grand Lodge of Scotland, headed by Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Grand Master for Scotland, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, and the Earl of Mar and Kellie, as Deputy Grand Master and Senior Warden, with Bro. Laurie, Grand Secretary, drew up in rear of the stone, and facing the Royal dais, when the band of the 26th Cameronians played the National Anthem.

The brethren of the "mystic tie," who were to accompany their Royal Highnesses in procession from the Lord Provost's residence to George Square, assembled in great force in order that the foundation stone of the New Post Office should be laid with all necessary Masonic pomp and circumstance. It is seldom indeed that they turn out in such numbers and from all parts of the country; but the rain sadly interfered with the brilliancy of their sashes, banners, and flags. By previous arrangement, the different Masonic bodies who had intimated their intention of taking part in the proceedings of the day were appointed to meet in Burnbank grounds. About mid-day the brethren began to assemble, and the marshalling of the scattered lodges into a proper line of procession was a duty not easy of accomplishment, but in the course of time, through the indefatigable exertions of Bros. Apthorpe, Robb, and Cranston something like order was obtained. Meanwhile the Grand Lodge was being opened in the Albany Academy, Cumberland Street, West Burnbank, by the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Mar and Kellie, R.W. Deputy Grand Master, who was supported on the occasion by Bro. John Whyte-Melville of Bennoch and Strathkinness, R.W. Past Grand Master; the Right Hon. Lord Balfour of Burleigh, R.W. Substitute Grand Master; Bro. Alex. Smollett of Bonhill, Provincial Grand Master of Dumbartonshire; Captain G. R. Harriott of Killimore, Provincial Grand Master of Wigtown and Kirkcudbright; Bro. F. A. Barrow, acting Prov. Grand Master Glasgow; the Right Hon. Lord Ramsay, Prov. Grand Master of Forfarshire; Colonel Campbell of Blythswood, Prov. Grand Master of Renfrewshire, East; Bro. Hector F. Maclean, Carnwath, Prov. Grand Master of the Upper Ward of Lanarkshire; Sir James E. Alexander of Westerton, Prov. Grand Master of Stirlingshire; Peter M'Lagan, of Pumphreston, M.P., Prov. G.M. of Linlithgowshire; Colonel Mure, of Caldwell, M.P., Prov. G.M.; Bros. D. Murray Lyon, Proxy G.M. of West Indies; J. H. Neilson, Proxy G.M. of Venezuela; W. Mann, acting R.W.S.G.D.; Hay, acting R.W.J.G.W.; David Kinnear, acting G. Treas.; John Laurie, G. Sec.; Rev. Dr. W. H. Gray and the Rev. A. Thomson Grant, G. Chaplains; W. Alexander, S.G.D.; R. F. Shaw Stewart, J.G.D.; W. Officer, P.G.D.; Robert Matheson, acting Architect, supported by Andrew Kerr and John Baird, assistants; Daniel Robertson, Grand Bible Bearer; John Coghill, Grand Conductor of Ceremonies; Capt. G. F. Colt, of Gartsherrie, G.S.B.; C. W. Maxwell Müller, Grand Conductor of Music; A. T. Apthorpe, G.Mar.; W. Bryce, G. Tyler; R. Wilson, acting President, Board of G. Stewards; Chas. Mackenzie, Vice-President. Among the other members of Grand Lodge as commissioned officers of provincial lodges present were—Bros. Col. Guthrie, of Carlogie; J. Wolfe Murray of Cringletie; R. Wylie, P. Prov. G.M. of Ayrshire; Robert Wylie, P.P. G.M. and P.G. Sec.; W. R. Patrick of Trearne, S.P.G.M.; Rev. A. Inglis, P.G. Chap. Ayrshire; Wolfe Murray, D.P.G.M. Peeblesshire; Charles M'Kenzie, of The Avenue, Grand Stationer; James Nicol, Oban, P.G. Treas. Argyll and the Isles; D. Small, P.G.S.M. and W. M'Donald, P.G. Sec., Forfarshire; John Annan, Town-Clerk, Lanark, P.G. Treas. Lanarkshire; J. Scott, Mollance, D.P.G.M. Dumfries; Will. M'Ilwraith, P.G.S.W. Wigtown and Kirkcudbright; Provost Forrest, Hamilton, D.P.G.M., Mid-Lanarkshire; A. Walker, P.G.L., North Wales and Shropshire.

The Grand Lodge having been formed—the Right Hon. the Earl of Kellie presiding, and Bros. W. Mann and Hay acting as Senior and Junior Wardens respectively—letters of apology for absence were read by the Grand Secretary from the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn, P.G.M.; the Right Hon. Lord Kinnaird, K.T., P.G.M.; the Right Hon. Lord Rosehill, J.G.W.; Alex. Hay, G. Tyler; F. G. Melville, President of the Board of Grand Stewards; Captain Charles Hunter, P.G.M. of Aberdeenshire, East. The acting Grand Master then adjourned the Grand Lodge for the proceedings of the day.

In the interim, deputations from the daughter lodges throughout the country were marshalled on Burnbank Grounds by Bro. Apthorpe, the Grand Marshal, assisted by Bros. Robb and Cranston. The Provincial Grand Stewards of Glasgow, having placed their services at the disposal of the Grand Lodge, were deputed to act as assistants to the Grand Marshal for the day, and very materially contributed to the successful manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

About half-past two o'clock the procession started from Burnbank in the following order, the senior lodges being in front:—

No. 0, Mother Kilwinning; 1, Mary's Chapel, Edinburgh; 2, Canongate Kilwinning, Edinburgh; 3, Scone and Perth; 3½, Glasgow St. John's; 4, Glasgow Kilwinning; 5, Canongate and Leith; 6, Old Kilwinning, St. John's, Inverness; 7, Hamilton Kilwinning; 8, Journeymen, Edinburgh; 9, Dunblane; 10, Dalkeith Kilwinning; 11, St. John's Maybole; 12, Greenock Kilwinning; 13, Torphichen Kilwinning, Bath-gate; 15, Montrose Kilwinning; 16, Falkirk; 17, Ancient Brazen, Linlithgow; 18, St. John's Kilwinning, Dumbarton; 19, St. John's, Caper-Fife; 20, St. John's, Lesmahagow; 21, Old St. John's, Lanark; 22, St. John's Kilwinning, Kilmarnock; 24, Peebles Kilwinning; 25, St. Andrew's, St. Andrews; 26, St. John's, Dunfermline; 27, St. Mungo, Glasgow; 28, St. John's Kilwinning, Kirkintilloch; 30, Ancient, Stirling; 31, St. Mary, Coltness; 32, St. John, Selkirk; 35, St. John, Falkland; 36, St. David, Edinburgh; 38, St. Michael, Crief; 39, Kilsyth; 40, St. Thomas, Arbroath; 41, St. Cuthbert, Kirkcudbright; 44, St. Luke, Edinburgh; 46, St. John, Auchtermuchty; 49, Ancient, Dundee; 50, St. John, Inverary; 51, Loudon Kilwinning, Newmills; 52, St. Andrew, Banff; 60, St. John, Inverkeithing; 62, Thistle, Dumfries; 68, Doric, Kilwinning, Port-Glasgow; 69, Alloa; 72, Kirkcaldy; 73, Thistle and Rose, Glasgow; 74, St. Andrew, Perth; 75, Dunbar Castle; 76, Royal Arch, Stirling; 77, St. Regulus, Cupar-Fife; 79, St. Andrew, Annan; 86, Navigation, Troon; 87, Thistle, Glasgow; 88, Montrose, New Monkland; 90, Forfar Kilwinning; 95, St. Ayle, Anstruther; 97, St. James' Operative, Edinburgh; 100, St. Magdalen, Lochmaben; 102, St. Mark, Glasgow; 103, Union and Crown, Glasgow; 105, St. John's Operative, Coupar-Angus; 106, Lindores, Newburgh; 107, Eskdale, Kilwinning, Langholm; 109, St. Marnock, Kilmarnock; 111, St. John, Hawick; 112, St. John, Fisherrow; 114, Royal Arch, Cambuslang; 116, Royal Arch, Rutherglen; 117, St. Mary, Partick; 118, St. Bride, Douglas; 122, Royal Arch, Perth; 124, Ayr Kilwinning; 125, St. James, Newton-on-Ayr; 126, St. Andrew, Kilmarnock; 127, Thistle, Stewarton; 128, St. John, Shettleston; 129, St. Mirren, Paisley; 132, St. Luke, Lauder; 135, St. James, Tarbolton; 137, St. John, Blairgowrie; 138, Operative, Ayr; 140, Operative, Dumfries; 145, St. Stephen, Edinburgh; 147, Cawdor Argyll, Chryston; 149, St. Andrew, Irvine; 151, Edinburgh Defensive Band; 153, Royal Arch, Pollockshaws; 156, St. Barchan, Kilbarchan; 157, St. John Kilwinning, Beith; 158, Thistle Operative, Dundee; 160, Roman Eagle; 162, St. John, New Abbey; 165, Royal Arch, Ayr; 166, St. John, Airdrie; 167, Free Operatives, Biggar; 169, Thistle and Rose, Livingstone; 170, St. John, Leven, Dumbarton; 173, St. John, Largs; 174, St. John, Dunning; 175, St. John, Greenock; 176, St. Andrew, Denny; 177, St. James, Old Monkland; 178, Scotia, Glasgow; 179, St. Mungo, Mauchline; 180, Commercial, Oban; 181, Hopeton, Bathgate; 182, Incorporated Kilwinning, Montrose; 187, St. John, Carlisle; 189, St. John, Castle Douglas; 192, St. John, Muthill; 193, St. John Operative, Rothes; 199, St. Andrew, Cumbernauld; 201, St. Thomas, Muirkirk; 202, St. Clement, Kilmarnock; 203, St. John Operative, Airdrie; 204, St. Paul, Ayr; 205, Garthland, St. Winnoch; 215, St. Andrew's, Strathavon; 216, Stowe; 219, Star, Glasgow; 223, Trafalgar, Leith; 225, Forfar and Kincarcine, Dundee; 230, St. Barnabas, Old Cumnock; 233, Hamilton; 237, St. John, Girvan; 242, Houston, St. Johnston; 244, Union, Stonehouse; 250, Union, Dunfermline; 252, St. John, Thornhill; 254, Caledonian, Dundee; 258, Quhytewoolen, Lockerbie; 261, Tweed, Kelso; 262, St. John, Galashiels; 270, Thistle, West Calder; 272, St. John, Mid Calder; 275, Shamrock and Thistle, Glasgow; 281, Charleston of Aboyne; 282, St. Andrew, Lochlee; 286, Airlie, Kirriemuir; 290, Blair, Dalry; 291, Edinburgh and Leith Celtic; 292, St. John, Rothesay; 299, Panmure, Arbroath; 304, King Robert the Bruce, Auchtermuchty; 305, St. John, Woodhall; 306, St. Thomas, Larkhall; 307, Union and Crown, Barrhead; 309, Louar, Forfar; 314, Royal Arch, West Kilbride; 317, Camperdown, Dundee; 320, St. John, Ardrossan; 321, St. Andrew Royal Arch, Alexandria; 326, Clydesdale, Lanark; 327, St. Serff, Kinross; 331, St. Peter, Galston; 332, Union, Glasgow; 333, St. George, Glasgow; 334, St. John, New Cumnock; 335, Argyll, Dunoon; 347, St. John Operative, Rutherglen; 349, St. Clair, Edinburgh; 354, Caledonian Railway, Glasgow; 360, Commercial, Glasgow; 362, St. Clair, Glasgow; 370, Renfrew County Kilwinning, Paisley; 374, St. John, Crofthead; 375, Neptune, Aberdeen; 380, St. Andrew, Daybridge; 384, Athole, Kirkintilloch; 391, Zetland, Grangemouth; 392, Caledonian, Edinburgh; 399, Royal Blues, Kilbirnie; 400, Dunearn, Burntisland; 405, Rifle, Edinburgh; 406, St. John, Dalzell, Motherwell; 408, Clyde, Glasgow; 409, Douglas, Bolness; 413, Athole, Glasgow; 419, Neptune, Glasgow; 426, Prince of Wales, Renfrew; 427, St. Clair, Cambusnethan; 433, St. Thomas Kilwinning, Dalmellington; 437, Govandale, Govan; 441, Glasgow, Glasgow; 442, Neptune Kilwinning, Ardrossan; 448, Albert, Lochee; 458, St. John, Busby; 459, Kelburne, Cumbræ; 465, St. Andrew, Glasgow; 468, Oswald of Dunnikier, Rirkcaldy; 481, St. John, Shotts; 482, Kirkliston, Maitland; 484, St. John, Slamannan; 497, St. John, Katrine; 503, St. George, Helensburgh; 505, Burns' St. Mary, Hurlford; 507, Hopeton, Leadhills; 510, Maryhill; 512, Thortree, Thornliebank; 519, Kilwinning, Stranraer; 520, St. Clair, Dysart; 524, St. Andrew, East Kilbride; 531, Abercrombie, Bridge of Allan; 532, Rothes, Leslie; 541, Marie Stuart, Crosshill; 542, Union St. Andrews; 543, St. John, Dalmaur; 544, St. Andrew, Coatbridge; 547, The Steuart, Kilsyth; 548, St. Margaret, South Queensferry; 551, Clydesdale, Larkhall; 552, Kildaton, Port Ellon, Islay; 553, St. Vincent, Sandyford, Glasgow; 556, Clydesdale, Glasgow; 557, Blantyre, Kilwinning; 565, Bonnie Doon, Patna; 566, Ferguson St. James, Dailly; 570, Kenmure, Springburn; 571, Dramatic, Glasgow; 573, Livingstone St. Andrew, Motherwell; 575, St. Ninian, Nairn; 579, St. Bryde, Uddingston; 581, Plantation, Glasgow; 588, The Callander, Glasgow; 592, Albert Edward, Polmadie, Glasgow.

It is computed that the Masons who took part in the demonstration numbered about 7730, and these, accompanied by a host of brass and fife bands, and displaying all the flags and paraphernalia of the Craft, and headed by the Mother Lodge, Kilwinning, No. 0, proceeded by Woodlands Road, Lynedoch Street, Park Street East, Park Circus, Park Street West, to Park Terrace, which was reached by the lodge in advance at 2.35, exactly 45 minutes after the Royal party entered the Lord Provost's residence. As the Masons passed his lordship's door they doffed their hats to the Royal visitors, who seemed to be both amused and interested by the proceedings. There can be no doubt that the procession contained the elements of much that was provocative of mirth when observed by those not initiated in the mysteries of the Craft. Many of the lodges were headed by bands specially engaged for the occasion. These votaries of Orpheus may all be of one mind as to the necessity for harmony in sound, but it is evident that they do not recognise the same law in regard to colour and costume. Dressed in uniforms not unlike that worn by the Hussars, or in clothing of a light shade, but which was sadly soaked by the falling rain, or it may be in uniforms which had been made when the tailor's art was not carried to such perfection as it is now - a - days, these bandsmen excited a good deal of interest and uncharitable comment. While the band of the 78th was discoursing sweetly in front of the Lord Provost's house, it not unfrequently happened that one of these local bands turned from Park Circus into Park Terrace blowing "wi' micht and main," "Hey the Bonnie Masons," and the result was a discord which grated upon the ear. The look of disgust which they exhibited when their vigorous performance was ordered to cease was amusing to the spectator. Each lodge was liberally provided with flags, banners, and devices. The tattered appearance of many of these showed their great age; some were small, and could be easily handled by one person, but others were of such magnitude that the united exertions of six and eight men could hardly keep them in an upright position. But all these attractions paled in presence of the Tyler, whose fantastic costume excited much amusement. Judging from the turn-out, it would seem as if the "oldest inhabitant" had been brought from every town in which a Masonic body assembles, decked out in a curious dress and forced to march at the head of the lodge. Some were got up as Eastern potentates with turbans and flowing Oriental costumes, and others as spruce shepherds and trig sailors. Altogether they were the individuals who during the day divided the public attention with Royalty. From the time the first lodge arrived at the Lord Provost's door until the rear came up an hour elapsed.

It should here be stated that immediately after it had adjourned the Grand Lodge formed in order of procession. In front were the representatives of Provincial Grand Lodges, the brethren of No. 3½, who carried the working tools used in the ceremony of the day; and the office-bearers of Grand Lodge brought up the rear. Having waited at the south end of Cumberland Street till the daughter lodges marched past, Grand Lodge fell in at the extreme end of the line. In this order the vast procession moved along the route indicated, but when Grand Lodge reached Park Terrace they allowed the daughter lodges to go before while they waited for H.R.H. the Prince of Wales to join them. By the time he did so the lodges had taken up their stations, and lined the route from Woodlands Crescent to the west side of George Square. Grand Lodge moved past the Lord Provost's residence, and the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and party having joined the cortege, the Grand Lodge walked along the route already indicated, and which was lined by the Masons and their bands. Brother Bryce, Grand Tyler, headed the procession of Grand Lodge, followed immediately by the representatives of the Dumfries and Galloway Provincial Lodges, and others in due order. As they advanced, the Grand Tyler was generally recognised by the Craftsmen, and at sight of him, walking bareheaded, as he did all the way, they uncovered and received the Grand Lodge and their Royal patron with loud cheers, while the bands struck up the "Merry Masons," and other airs.

Mr. Marwick, City Clerk, then read the following address from the City of Glasgow:—

"May it please your Royal Highness,—We, the Lord Provost and Magistrates and Council of the City of Glasgow, avail ourselves of the presence of your Royal Highness and the Princess of Wales to renew the expression of our loyalty and devotion to Her Majesty the Queen. It is our earnest prayer that Her Majesty may long be spared in health and strength to discharge her high duties, and to add fresh lustre to the Crown by her personal virtues, and by the benignity and beneficence of her reign. We desire, on behalf of the citizens, to offer to your Royal Highness, and your illustrious Consort our warmest welcome to Glasgow. On the occasion of your last visit you were pleased to lay on its new site the foundation-stone of our University, an institution which during the last four centuries has fostered the taste for learning in Scotland, and provided the means of cultivating it. To-day your Royal Highness marks with a graciousness of which we are deeply sensible, your interest in our postal and telegraphic system by which the modern activity and widely extended interests of this community are sustained and developed, the human sympathies most favourable to peace and goodwill among men maintained and fostered. The rapid increase of Glasgow during the last half century has been attended with a corresponding increase in the demands upon the Post Office establishment in the city, and successive enlargements of the old building were soon found to be wholly inadequate, even for the present requirements. Under these circumstances Her Majesty's Government has sanctioned the erection of an entirely new structure, according to plans and elevations which promise to be a credit to Glasgow. That your Royal Highness has graciously consented to lay the foundation-stone of this building is regarded by the citizens as an evidence of your interest and a mark of your favour, for which they are deeply grateful. We rejoice to find that your Royal Highness has returned in unimpaired health and vigour from your eventful journey. We venture to regard this as an evidence that your constitution has not suffered from the severe ordeal through which it passed during that illness which pressed so heavily on the national heart, and made the people realize, as nothing else could have done, how closely their affections and hopes are entwined around the Royal Family. We offer our humble and hearty thanks to the Princess of Wales for so graciously accompanying your Royal Highness on this occasion. Nowhere, we venture to say, in her Majesty's dominions is her Royal Highness more beloved than she is in this city; and it is a special gratification to its many thousands to see her in their midst with her husband and children. It is our earnest prayer that your Royal Highness and your illustrious Consort may long be spared to each other and to the nation, and that in the sweetness and sanctity of family life which it has been the inestimable privilege of both of you from your earliest years to enjoy, you may find unfailing solace amid the cares and anxieties of your exalted position. Signed in name and by appointment of the Lord Provost, Magistrates and Council of the City of Glasgow and the seal of the said city appended hereto the 17th day of October, 1876."

The Prince of Wales, in reply, said: My Lord Provost and Gentlemen—The Princess joins with me in thanking you cordially for your address, and for the welcome we have received from the ancient city of Glasgow. I sincerely appreciate the terms in which you allude to the Queen, and as her son I am greatly touched by the expressions which you make use of when speaking of the virtues for which her Majesty is so conspicuous in her public and private capacity. On a former occasion, together with the Princess, I visited your town—the most important and populous in Scotland—for the purpose of laying the foundation-stone of your new University, and we now come to perform a similar duty for your Post-office. I am always glad when I find that circumstances permit me to manifest the interest which I experience in everything relating to the material prosperity of our great manufacturing and commercial centres, and I have had much pleasure, therefore, in accepting your invitation that I should take a principal part in the proceedings of the ceremony of to-day. My expedition to the East was undertaken with feelings of the greatest interest, but high as were my expectations as to what I should witness in that wonderful country, they fell far short of the reality. I trust that the result of my visit may prove to have been of service to the many millions of my fellow-creatures in that distant quarter of the globe, and to have united yet more firmly the ties which bind our Eastern possessions with Great Britain. I venture to express the belief that in this hope I have not been entirely disappointed. One of the most intelligent of the native princes has stated, in a letter recently received from him, that one of the results of my visit has been to interest India and England in each other, and to make them understand each other, and to daily increase England's confidence in India and India's hopes in England. You refer, in connection with the presence here this afternoon of the Princess of Wales and my sons, to the domestic happiness which exists among the members of the Royal family. This allusion comes especially home to me at present, when just a year ago I was separated from all those I hold most dear to commence a long journey to a distant land: and I can assure you, gentlemen, I shall not easily forget the ordeal through which I passed on that occasion. In wishing all success to your undertaking, let me not forget to mention the name of the distinguished founder of the penny postage system, Sir Rowland Hill, to whom we are all, rich and poor, so much indebted. (Loud cheers.)

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Gray, Edinburgh, Grand Chaplain, then offered up a prayer, after which the Grand Master and other officers having duly performed the other duties, the Prince completed the laying of the stone by giving three knocks on the stone with a gilt mallet, and saying, "May the Almighty Architect of the Universe look down with benignity upon our present undertaking, and crown the edifice of which we have now laid the foundation with every success."

The ceremony over, the Royal party left the square, and drove to St. Enoch Station, whence a special train conveyed them to Blythwood House, where Colonel Campbell had the honour of entertaining the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince John of Glucksburg, and a distinguished party to dinner. At half-past eight a special train conveyed the Royal party from Renfrew to Kilmarnock, where they joined the Pullman limited mail to London.

In the evening the principal streets of the city were brilliantly illuminated, and at Gilmour Hill in the west, and Alexandra Park in the east, there were brilliant displays of fireworks. The University on Gilmour Hill was finely illuminated; and Sir Wm. Thomson, the professor of natural philosophy, gave a display of eclipsing light for lighthouses from the windows of his class-room.

The new building, which has been begun under such auspicious circumstances, is likely to prove adequate for the necessities of Glasgow for many years to come. It will occupy the site of the present Post Office, and a large piece of ground immediately to the east of it, and will extend from Hanover-street to Frederick-street, thus forming one half of the south side of George-square. Of course the old building still stands, as the work of the postal department must be carried on there until the eastern portion of the new edifice is completed, when the staff will be removed to it, and the remainder of the plan carried out. Judged even by external appearance the present Post Office must long ago have fallen short of the requirements of a city like Glasgow, which, besides having its immense letter carrying and telegraph business, is the postal centre for a large portion of the West of Scotland. About as much money has, we believe, been spent on extensions and alterations as would have provided an entirely new structure, but governments are slow to move when large demands are made upon them, and it is due to Lord John Manners, as Postmaster General, and Lord Henry Lennox, as First Commissioner of Works, to say that if they were not the first to recognise the postal necessities of Glasgow, they were the first to admit them in a practical sense, and to set the machinery in motion for having them met. When completed the new Post Office will cover 2,500 yards. It is designed in the Italian style by Mr. Matheson, of Her Majesty's Board of Works, Edinburgh, and promises to be architecturally an ornament to the city. The principal elevation, facing George square, will have a height of 75 feet, consisting of four floors above the level of the street, and will be divided into central and flanking compartments, each pierced by an entrance in the form of arched openings, with coupled columns of Peterhead granite, supporting an entablature overhead. The external arrangements will be of the most complex kind. All the latest mechanical contrivances for the saving of time and labour will be introduced.

For the accommodation of those privileged to witness the Masonic ceremony the most extensive preparations had been made; and while it was ultimately found inexpedient to throw the enclosure of the square open to the general body of the public, as large a number of tickets were issued giving admission within its precincts as it was thought could with safety be allowed. The stone was laid at the north-east corner of the new building at the junction of South Frederick Street with the square; and around this spot a platform, measuring some 200ft. by 60ft., was laid down for the reception of the Masonic brethren and official dignitaries. On the centre of this platform a raised dais was erected for the accommodation during the ceremony of the Prince and the members of the Grand Lodge. Springing from the platform to the west, south, and east were three spacious galleries, affording sitting room for about 200 persons; while a fourth gallery erected in Cockrane Street was allotted to the members of the Choral Union, who were in attendance to sing the Masonic music.

A fund is being raised to enable an old pupil of the Masonic School, Silver Medallist and Maybury Prize-man there, and Associate and Divinity Prize-man of King's College, London, to complete his course of study prior to entering Holy Orders. He is recommended for ordination by the Rev. Charles Woodward, late Head Master and Chaplain of the Boys' School; the Rev. Dr. Barry, Principal of King's College, and the Rev. Dr. Plumtree, Professor of Divinity, King's College.

PEACE OR WAR.

The following paragraphs appeared in the "Times" of Thursday, but seems to be of doubtful authority:—

WAR RUMOURS (FROM THE CENTRAL NEWS).

The Government have called upon Lloyd's to supply instantly a list of all seagoing steamers capable of conveying troops, and contingent contracts for their hire will forthwith be entered into.

Lord Napier of Magdala has been ordered to hold himself in readiness at a convenient spot in the Mediterranean, from whence he may at any moment be directed to proceed with troops to Egypt.

We are in a position to state that Her Majesty's Government have determined in the present grave aspect of the Eastern Question to hold an autumnal Session of Parliament. It is understood that the non-acceptance by Russia and Servia of the proposed Armistice is the immediate cause of this decision of the Cabinet.

In view of the threatening aspects of affairs in the East, confidential orders have been given by the War Office to the Commander-in-Chief to have three Army Corps in readiness for immediate despatch to the Mediterranean.

It is stated that plans for the defence of Constantinople, prepared by the Royal Engineers and approved by the War Office, have been forwarded to the Admiral of the Fleet in Besika Bay.

THE MINISTRY.—Late on Tuesday evening summonses were issued for a Cabinet Council on Thursday afternoon at the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing Street. The Council was summoned for 3 o'clock. Telegrams were forwarded to the Duke of Richmond, at Gordon Castle, and the Lord Chancellor, at Berchin, and to Lord John Manners, the Minister in attendance on the Queen, requesting their attendance. The Earl of Beaconsfield was expected to arrive in town that afternoon from Hughenden Manor. Lord Derby has been in town some days. The First Lord of the Admiralty came to town on Wednesday from Hampshire; and the Home Secretary reached town the same night from his seat in Lancashire to attend the Council.

UNION WATERLOO LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—We are asked to state that the Fifteen Sections will be worked at the above lodge on Friday evening next, the 27th inst., at 7 o'clock precisely, in the Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich. Bro. D. Rose, W.M. 1622, P.M. 73, &c., &c., will preside. Trains leave London Bridge 5.39, 6.11, 6.29; returning from Woolwich 10.15, 11.25.

The newly created Lord Sackville has been appointed an extra Lord in Waiting, and Captain Charles Edmund Phipps, 18th Regiment, to be one of the Grooms in Waiting in Ordinary, in the room of his lordship.

The "Morning Post" hears that Mr. Van Princep is commissioned to proceed to India to paint a great historical picture of the proclamation of the Empire at Delhi. It is said that the artist is to receive 5000l. for his work and 1000l. for his expenses.

The first regular meeting of the Friends in Council Royal Arch Chapter, No. 1383, consecrated on Thursday week, will be held at the Masonic Hall, Golden Square, this (Saturday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

CONFIDENCE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 193.—The Fifteen Sections will be worked in this Instruction Lodge on Wednesday next.

Bro. Captain Wordsworth was unanimously elected a Trustee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys on Monday last.

On Sunday the Princess Helena and Prince Christian landed at Dover from Germany; and after lunching at the Lord Warden Hotel, left for Cumberland Lodge, Windsor, where their children had arrived from Osborne on the previous Thursday.

The members of the Marquess of Lorne Lodge, No. 1354, will celebrate the Festival of St. John on Wednesday, November 1st, at the Masonic Hall, Leigh, Lancashire. The W.M. Elect, Bro. Dr. Hall, will be installed by W. Bro. John Bowes, P.M., Prov. G.S.W. Cumberland and Westmoreland.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Whittington Lodge of Instruction Black Bull, Holborn, on Wednesday next, October 25th, by the brethren of the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55; Bro. John Bingham, P.M. 55, W.M. 1599, will preside. The lodge will be opened at seven o'clock precisely.

The annual meeting of the Sun, Square and Compass Chapter, No. 119, will be held at the Masonic Hall, Whitehaven, on Friday, October, 27th. The Principal Elect will be installed by E. Comp. John Bowes, P.Z., &c., Prov. G.J.W.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. J. M. Clabon, President of the Board, presided; Bro. Joshua Nunn, Senior Vice-President, and Bro. James Brett, Junior Vice-President. There were likewise present Bro. Henry Bartlett, P.M. 147; E. P. Albert, G.P.; C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P.; Samuel Poynter, W. Maun, P.M. 186; S. G. Foxall, A.G.P.; S. Rawson, Prov. D.G.M. China; William Stephens, P.M.; Wm. H. Myers, P.M.; Chas. Fredk. Hogard, P.M.; Wm. Hilton, P.M.; W. Clifton Crick, P.M. 657; B. H. Swallow, W. H. Murlis, P.M. 1489; J. H. Weston, W.M. 1536; C. T. Winterflood, W.M. 1321; John Dyte, P.M. 25; Geo. Everett, W.M. 1381; T. Whitmarsh, W.M. 1150; Hy. H. Gilling, P.M. 238; John Bingemann, W.M. 1599; Henry, Smith, P.M. 302; Captain J. Wordsworth, P.M., W.M. 380; A. Durrant, W.M. 1185; T. Durkin, W.M. 72; F. Binckes, P.M. 60; John Vaughan, P.M. 74; J. L. Hine, P.M. 75; Ralph Firbank, P.M. 167; Geo. Tims, P.M. 177; John Green, W.M. 27; Wm. Speth, jun., W.M. 183; J. R. Foulger, W.M. 1613; W. H. Kempster, P.M. 1920; J. Chambers Roe, W.M. 780; W. Burmister, W.M. 538; R. P. Davies, W.M. 1288; Joseph Pigot, W.M. 753; Thos. S. Carter, I.P.M. 403; and H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"). Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary; Bro. H. G. Buss, Bro. A. A. Pendlebury, and Bro. C. B. Payne, G. Tyler, were also present.

Grants made at last lodge to the amount of £150 were confirmed.

There were fifteen new petitions for grants on the printed paper, and to these the total sum of £335 was voted. One grant was for £100, one for £50, one for £30, one for £25, three for £20, four for £15, and one for £10. One case was dismissed, one deferred, and one petitioner had died since his petition was presented.

Lodge was then closed.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, October 27, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21.

- Lodge 1185, Lewis, King's Arms, Wood Green, N.
 " 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney.
 " 1541, Alexandra Palace, Muswell Hill.
 Chap. 1383, Friends in Council, 33, Golden-sq.
 Mark Lodge, 104, Macdonald, M.H., Coleman-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
 Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
 Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23.

- Lodge 28, Old King's Arms, F.M.H.
 " 183, Unity.
 " 902, Burgoyne, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 1632, Stuart, Surrey M.H.
 Chap. 25, Robert Burns, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
 Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
 Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
 Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
 Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
 St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
 Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
 Upper Norwood, White Hart Ho., Church-rd.,
 Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24.

- Audit Com. Girls' School, at 4.
 Lodge 14, Tuscan, F.M.H.
 " 92, Moira.
 " 145, Prudent Brethren, F.M.H.
 " 186, Industry, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue.
 " 205, Israel, Cannon-st., Hotel.
 " 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
 " 1196, Urban, Old Jerusalem Tav., Clerkenwell.
 " 1348, Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
 Chap. 7, Royal York of Perseverance, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
 Yarborough, Green Dragon, Steyne.
 Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
 Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
 Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
 Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
 St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
 Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
 Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
 Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
 Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
 Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
 Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
 St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25.

- Lodge 212, Euphrates, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue.
 " 507, United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H.
 " 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
 " 898, Temperance in the East, 6, Newby-pl., Poplar.

- " 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 1415, Campbell, Mitre Hot., Hampton-ct.
 " 1540, Chaucer, Bridge House Hot., Southwark.
 Chap. 13, Union Waterloo, M.H., Wm.-st., Woolwich.
 " 435, Salisbury, F.M.H.
 " 752, Prince Frederick William.
 " 857, St. Mark's, Surrey M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
 Mt. Lebanon, Win Isor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
 Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
 New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
 Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 Mount Edgcombe, 19, Jermyn-st., St. James's.
 Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
 Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
 Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
 Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
 Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
 United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
 Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
 Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
 Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26.

- Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.
 Lodge 34, Mount Moriah, F.M.H.
 " 60, Peace and Harmony.
 " 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 " 66, Grenadiers, F.M.H.
 " 871, Royal Oak, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
 " 1421, Langthorne, Swan Hot., Stratford.
 Chap. 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
 " 534, Polish National, F.M.H.
 " 766, Wm. Preston, Cannon-st. Hot.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
 Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
 Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
 Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
 Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
 The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
 High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
 Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
 Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27.

- Lodge 569, FitzRoy, Hd.-qtrs. Hon. Art. Com., City-rd.
 " 861, Finsbury, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
 K.T. Precep. 74, Harcourt, Greyhound Hot., Richmond.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
 Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Belgrave, Constitution, Bedford-st., Covent Garden.
 Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
 Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
 Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
 Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
 Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
 Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
 Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
 Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
 St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
 Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
 Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
 Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
 Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
 Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.
 Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
 St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 28, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23.

- Chap. 241, Friendship, M.H., Liverpool.
 Derby L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24.

- Lodge 1393, Hamer, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1609, Dramatic, M.H., Liverpool.
 Chap. 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
 Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25.

- Lodge 32, St. George's, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
 " 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
 " 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.
 Chap. 1052, Callender, Pub. H., Rusholme.
 " 1356, De Grey and Ripon, M.H., Liverpool.
 Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26.

- Lodge 594, Deshshire, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 950, Hesketh, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.
 " 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., Whit-le-Sprng.
 " 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.
 " 1313, Fermor, M.H., Southport.
 Chap. 216, Sacred Delta, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School, Kirkdale.
 Mariners' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27.

- Chap. 680, Sefton, M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 28, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23.

- Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
 " 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
 " 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24.

- Lodge 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., Kingston.
 " 426, Prince of Wales, High-st., Renfrew.
 " 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmeir.
 " 556, Clydesdale, 106, Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.
 " 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingston.
 Chap. 67, Cathedral, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25.

- Lodge 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Hurlford.
 " 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st., Maryhill.
 Chap. 73, Caledonian of Unity, 213, Buchanan-st.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26.

- Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st.
 Lodge 167, Free Operative, M.H., Biggar.
 " 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.
 Chap. 117, Govan, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27.

- Lodge 51, London Kilwinning, Com. Hot, Newmilns.
 " 118, St. Bride, M.H., Douglas.
 " 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.
 " 153, Royal Arch, Cogan-st., Pollokshaws.
 " 195, St. John R.A., Lennox Arms, Campsie.
 " 199, St. Andrew, M.H., Cumbernauld.
 " 236, St. John, Wilsontown Iron Works, M.H., Forth.
 " 244, Union, Black Bull Inn, Stonehouse.
 " 347, St. John Operative, M.H., Rutherglen.
 Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28.

- Lodge 28, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Kirkintilloch.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, October 28, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 28.

- Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24.

- Lodge 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra Hall.
 Chap. 40, Naval and Military, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25.

- Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26.

- Lodge 392, Caledonian, F.M.H., 98, George-st.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27.

- Lodge 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

LONDON

MASONIC CLUB.

101, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.

The Club is now open for the use of Members.

Only a limited number of Members can be elected without Entrance Fee, and at the present rate of subscription. Lodges requiring accommodation should make immediate application to the Secretary.

For all particulars and forms of application, apply to the Secretary, at the offices—

37, QUEEN VICTORIA-STREET,
LONDON, E.C.

THE BUCKINGHAM CLUB.

No. 1, REGENT-STREET, WATERLOO-PLACE, S.W.

Owing to the fact that large numbers of Candidates are awaiting to be elected by many of the best West End Clubs, whose numbers are limited, the "BUCKINGHAM" is established for the accommodation of Noblemen, Officers in the Army and Navy, Professional and Private Gentlemen, who are anxious to join a first-class Club with as little delay as possible.

The Club House (No. 1, Regent-street, opposite the Junior United Service Club) comprises Library, Dining, Smoking, Reading, Card, and Billiard Rooms, also Chambers and Bed-rooms for the use of Members, is now undergoing extensive alterations and decorations, and is being refurnished throughout, and will be opened for the use of Members during the Month of October.

The Entrance Fee is Seven Guineas, and the Annual Subscription the like amount (payable in advance); Officers on Home Service, with the exception of those residing in London, and Country Members, Entrance Fee Four Guineas; Subscription Four Guineas, Members abroad One Guinea, until the Club (which now consists of upwards of 700 Members) numbers 1000, when the Entrance Fee will be Thirty Guineas.

The next Ballot for Election of Members will take place on the 10th October.

List of Committee, consisting of Noblemen and Gentlemen, with full particulars, may be had either on personal or written application to

Colonel W. A. M. BARNARD,
Hon. Sec. to Committee.

Or to ALGERNON LLOYD, Secretary.

Offices—122, Pall Mall, S.W.

Masonic Note Paper and Envelopes.

IN BOXES THREE SHILLINGS.
For Craft, Royal Arch, Mark, Knights Templar, Red Cross of Malta and Constantine, Rose Croix.

MASSONIC DEPOT, 198, Fleet-Street.
WHOLESALE DEPOT.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH.—First-class Dentistry only, embracing all the most recent improvements, at a very trifling cost beyond that paid for inferior, which often proves utterly useless. A great reduction made to servants attending after two. Nitrous oxide gas administered daily. Consultations free.

Mr. PARTRIDGE, Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
4, Somerset-terrace, near South Kensington Station.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	477
Instruction	480
Royal Arch	480
Scotland	481
Mark Masonry	481
Ancient and Primitive Rite	481
Emulation Lodge of Improvement	481
Supreme Grand Chapter	488
Masonic and General Tidings	411
Father Foy's last attack on Freemasonry	482
The Present Aspects of French Freemasonry	483
Peace of War	483
A Point of Law	483
Letter of Bro. Caubet to the Editor of the "Freemason"	484
A Point of Law	484
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Female Freemasonry	484
Ultramontaniam	484
Charity Organisation	484
Father Foy on Freemasonry	484
Protestantism in Spain	484
Reviews	485
Masonic Notes and Queries	485
Obituary	485
Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire	485
Grand Lodge of Quebec	485
Archæological Section of the Falcon Lodge, Thirsk	486
Masonic Meetings for next Week	486
Advertisements	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

ECLECTIC LODGE (No. 1201).—The brethren of this lodge met in goodly numbers on the 16th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, being the first meeting for the season. The W.M., Bro. West, passed three brethren to the Second Degree, and in a most effective manner raised two brethren to the sublime degree of Master Mason. On being about to close the lodge the excellent Secretary introduced the subject of the death of Bro. Past Master Childs, who was present at the last meeting, but has gone to his rest since. Bro. Albert Driver having expressed the hope that the brethren would show their sympathy and assistance to the widow, made reference to Bro. P.M. Darley, who was present, and could speak as to the circumstances. Bro. W. Darley, on rising said that he had known Bro. Childs for the last twenty years, he knew of no man of his acquaintance who by his exemplary life, honourable career, and readiness at all times to do good, did greater honour to Masonry than did Bro. Childs; the very last act before he died was one of philanthropy, and an expression of deep solicitude for the welfare of a brother Mason. Bro. Darley expressed, also, his highest opinion of the widow of Bro. Childs, as most worthy of the sympathy and support of the brethren, and whose limited means entitled her to a claim on the funds for an annuity. The brethren at once, from the Worshipful Master down, showed the most generous and Masonic sympathy for the widow, which assumed a practical form, the brethren generally expressing their regret at not being aware of the time of the funeral of Bro. Childs, having a great desire to show respect to him. Bro. Barber, J.D., especially spoke in the most affectionate terms of Bro. Childs, and was followed by the Senior and Junior Wardens, and others. Bro. P.M. Darley, of Lodge 158, Sheerness, in presenting the hearty good wishes of his lodge, expressed his admiration for the practical Masonic feeling shown to the widow of Bro. Childs, expressed the hope that they would succeed in getting her an annuity, and prayed that God would bless them and their families for the love they had shewn that night. The circumstance of Bro. Childs's death would never be effaced from his memory. Bro. Childs shewed an affectionate regard for his dear son. Both were taken ill together, died within a short time of each other, and were buried within a short time of each other, and were interred but a short distance from each other.

HIGH CROSS LODGE (No. 754).—Bro. David Roberts, of Lower Tottenham, has closely identified himself with Freemasonry. He is a Past Master of the High Cross Lodge, held at Tottenham, and has been Treasurer for many years. He is a life governor of most, if not all, the Masonic institutions, and takes a lively interest in everything calculated to increase their usefulness. Recently it was suggested by a member of the High Cross Lodge that it would not be out of place to show Bro. Roberts what a firm hold he had upon the affections of the members by presenting him with a testimonial. No sooner said than done; the idea was taken up warmly, and many wondered it had not been proposed long before. Wednesday evening week was fixed for the presentation, and the splendid hall at the lodge house was crowded—so full, indeed, that several friends could not be accommodated with seats at the tables. The members of the lodge mustered strongly, and visiting brethren and friends outside the Craft (the company not being strictly confined to Masons) formed a numerous body. Most of the Past Masters of the lodge were present; all the officers were in their places; and various lodges were represented, particularly Enfield and Hertford, several members of each being in attendance. Many letters of congratulation to Bro. Roberts and regrets at compulsory absence were also received. The proceedings commenced with a dinner, served in Bro. Oddy's usual excellent style, and, under the directions of Bro. Linzell, P.M., everything passed off in an admirable manner from beginning to end. Bro. Barham, the W.M. of the High Cross Lodge, occupied the chair. After the usual loyal toasts had been given, Bro. Townshend, I.P.M., announced that a testimonial was about to be presented to a dear and worthy man—one whom it was a privilege to know. Bro. Roberts was one of the most genial, affable, social men that could be met with anywhere. He was a real friend, and never saw a person in distress without helping him. It was to be hoped he would be spared to his numerous friends in Tottenham and elsewhere for many years to come. Bro. Cunningham, P.M. (Secretary of the High Cross Lodge), then read a magnificently-illuminated vellum, as follows:—"This testimonial, together with a gold watch, was presented to Bro. David Roberts, P.M., by members of the High Cross Lodge, No. 754, of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, held at the Seven Sisters' Hotel, Page Green, Tottenham, as a mark of the respect and esteem in which he is held by the brethren, and in recognition of the valuable services rendered by him to the lodge as Treasurer for many years." Similar words were engraved on the dome of a splendid gold watch; and besides the framed "vote" and watch, a beautiful silver tea urn was handed to Bro. Roberts as a present from the lodge to his wife. The W.M. made the presentation. He said if others could express their thoughts better than he, no one could feel more sincerely than himself towards Bro. Roberts. It was one of the greatest pleasures he had ever experienced to preside on that occasion, and he should ever think of the proceedings with the utmost gratification. He trusted Bro. Roberts would be spared many years to wear the watch that had been given him, and to gaze upon the beautiful framed testimonial, which would always be a witness to the very high respect in which he was held by all who had the honour of his acquaintance. Bro. R. Peckham, followed, and spoke of Bro. Roberts as a man who never did a dishonourable action in his life, and nothing that the truest friend could blush at. Bro. Roberts, who was most cordially received, returned thanks, addressing the meeting as brother officers, friends and neighbours. After referring to the words of the address just read, he observed that he experienced considerable difficulty in finding language to adequately express how very deeply he felt the great honour which had been done him by the presentation. The value of the testimonial, although considerable, was second in importance to the knowledge which the gift conveyed—that he occupied a prominent position in the esteem of the givers. He had often received from many of those he saw around good wishes and thanks both in and out of the High Cross Lodge, and he need scarcely say that he had at all times appreciated the kindness which had been evinced towards him. Following favours already conferred came the beautiful presents now before him, and he regarded them as one of the highest compliments that could be paid to any man. He, therefore, felt justly proud of being connected with such an ancient institution as Freemasonry, and of being associated with individuals whose acts spoke louder than words. He would not encroach much upon the time of the meeting; but he felt proud to express his grateful feelings to those visiting friends who had attended to share with him the pleasure of receiving such a handsome testimonial. Some had travelled many miles to honour him with their presence, and it afforded him the greatest possible gratification to see them round the table. He sincerely hoped he and they might live long to enjoy each other's society. He thanked them most heartily for the trouble they had taken on his account. He also desired to thank those friends and neighbours who from business and other engagements had not been able to attend, but who had sent him their congratulations. He assured them that their kindly expressions towards him would ever be remembered with most pleasurable sensations. There was still one subject—a most interesting one—upon which he should like to say a few words; but as they had been favoured with the company of their esteemed Bro. James Terry, perhaps he could not do better than leave it in his hands. He might say, however, that he alluded to the Masonic Institutions. They were on all occasions the very essence of an assembly of Freemasons; and they would pardon him for briefly touching upon the position of the High Cross Lodge with respect to the charities. He had watched the progress of the lodge for some years, and he was rejoiced to be able to state, upon good authority, that the High Cross Lodge ranked second to none amongst the metropolitan lodges for its benevolence. When he joined the lodge he believed that there was scarcely a governor of any of the institutions amongst the members; now he was happy to say that the lodge had a very large number of life governors of them all upon its books; and he entertained no doubt that some of the younger members would follow the advice he would give them—"Go thou and do likewise." He could not sit down without once more expressing his obligations to the Worshipful Master and to those brothers who had so liberally, so handsomely, and so cordially subscribed to the testimonial. The "vote" so beautifully executed by Bro. Cunningham would speak for many years after the grateful recipient had thrown off this mortal coil. The W.M. gave "The Visitors" (always welcome at the High Cross Lodge), coupled with the names of Bros. Cunningham, E. Clarke, Mr. E. Maitland, and Bro. James Terry. Bro. Cunningham said he had travelled nearly a hundred miles to attend that meeting, which he regarded as one of the most splendid demonstrations of respect he had ever seen. He had visited the High Cross Lodge before, and had heard Bro. Roberts spoken of by the members as "our great friend," "the regenerator of the lodge," "the apostle of the charities;" and from what he (Bro. Cunningham) knew himself, he had no hesitation in saying that Bro. Roberts well deserved all the praise that could be bestowed upon him. He was really a true Mason, and it was to be hoped he would long be spared to his friends and neighbours. Bro. Clarke said he had known Bro. Roberts many years, and he was quite convinced he rightly deserved the honour which had been conferred upon him that evening. The spectacle presented by that noble hall being crowded by friends, neighbours, and members of the Craft, was most gratifying to all connected with the proceedings. Mr. Maitland said, although not a Mason, he had known Mr. Roberts long enough to esteem him most highly. He had many friends outside the ranks of Masonry, and he might be described as a man in whom there was no guile. Bro. Terry (who received a very cordial welcome) said it had been his great pleasure and privilege to know Bro. Roberts for a great many years; and he was highly gratified to be able to call him his friend. He had won the respect, esteem, and admiration of all who knew him. That large gathering would never have taken place had Bro. Roberts been an unworthy recipient. He (Bro. Terry) had attended festive meetings presided over by princes of the land, but he had never seen an assembly so enthusiastic and sincere in purpose as the present. How was that to be accounted for? Because all were actuated by sincerity of heart to show honour, homage, and respect to one who was so worthy of their confidence. Bro. Roberts had identified himself with everything that was good and useful connected with Masonry, and had rendered most valuable services to the various charities. Bro. Terry proceeded, in eloquent terms, to describe the nature and scope of the different Masonic Institutions, and referred to the many acts of benevolence performed by Bro. Roberts in connection with them. He was quite certain the watch which had been presented to him could never beat over a truer heart. He could challenge every act of his life, and no one could say he had ever neglected his duty. The occasion was one of the greatest successes in the history of the High Cross Lodge, and the members had honoured themselves by doing honour to a right worthy and deservedly esteemed individual. Bro. Metcalf, P.M. Hertford Lodge, proposed, "Success to the High Cross Lodge," and on behalf of his own lodge, presented the High Cross with a silver square and compasses, as evidence of the respect in which the lodge was held at Hertford. Bro. Mailer, P.M., acknowledged the present in suitable terms, and after thanks had been voted to Bros. Linzell and Cunningham, for the time and trouble they had devoted to the business of the testimonial, the proceedings (which may be said to have been as successful as anything ever carried out in Tottenham) came to a close.

[We much regret the grave typographical error which appeared in the report of The Great City Lodge in our last impression. We now give the report in its correct form.]

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The anniversary and installation meeting of the Great City Lodge, No. 1426, was held on Saturday, October 14th, at the Cannon-street Hotel, and was most numerous attended. Bro. J. Hamilton Townend, W.M., presided; Bro. Seer (W.M. elect), S.W.; Stanway, J.W., and all the other officers were present, together with the following array of visitors:—Bros. T. Fenn, P.G.A.D.C., Prince of Wales Lodge, 259; John Hervey, G. Sec.; Dr. J. E. Cox, P.G. Chaplain; Peacock, 1607; Wootton, P.M. Union and P.G.D.C. Kent; Light, 959; Field, I.P.M. 902; Gugerheim, Concordia, Switzerland; T. Poore, P.M. 720; Driscoll, P.M. 30; Taylor, W.M. 933; Beattie, 591; Nunn, 889; Marcus, 1381; Raymond, 1627; Partridge, W.M. 22; Lancaster, 534; Medwin, 192; Reed, 1601; Kitson, 548; Dyer, 46; Walter, 27; Saul, 1201; Carruthers, P.M. (Mayor of Reigate) Surrey, 416; Smith, P.P.G.S.W. (ex-Mayor of Reigate), Surrey, 416; Soppett, 55; Hawksley, 1196; Dixon, P.M. 73; Cottebrune, P.G. Purs. 1563; Swallow, W.M.; and Scott, Sec. 1563; Steward, P.M. 1351; Groom, 1349; Mann, P.M. 186; Oliver, P.M. 959; Noehmer, P.M. 186; Spencer, 73; Gilbert, 186; Jonas and Birdseye, 715; Huntley, 73; White, J.W., and Turner, J.D. 1563; Morgan, 1385; Cargill, W.M. 49; Addriott, 1305; Dakin, P.M. 580; Dyer, W.M. 186. The lodge having been opened and the minutes of former meetings read and confirmed, the W.M. proceeded to initiate Mr. Christopher Linner Cartwright and Mr. Luglen Constantine Libbessart into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. This having been concluded, the next business was the installation of Bro. Seer as Worshipful Master. Having been duly presented and certain matters proceeded with all the brethren below the degree of Installed Master were requested to retire. A Board of Installed Masters, thirty in number, was then formed, and Bro. Seer was in due form installed as W.M. for the ensuing year. The brethren below the chair having been admitted, the new W.M. received the customary salutes, and he then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. Stanway, S.W.; Freeman, J.W.; the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Chaplain; Headon, P.M. Treas.; Moody, P.M., Sec.; Blackie, S.D.; Catchpole, J.D.; Hamer, I.G.; Taylor, D.C.; H. Jenkins, Org.; Kibble and Hook, Stewards; and Steedman, P.M., Tyler. Bro. Townend, the retiring and Installing Master, then delivered the customary addresses, and at the conclusion was warmly applauded. The report of the Audit Committee was then received and adopted. Bro. Headon, P.M., moved "That a jewel of the value of five guineas be presented to Bro. James Freeman, with the thanks of the brethren, on his resignation of the office of Treasurer, which he has held since the establishment of the lodge. Bro. H. Thompson, P.M. ("Freemason"), seconded the motion, which was put, and carried. Several propositions having been made, the lodge was closed in due form and with solemn prayer, and the brethren adjourned to the large hall for the banquet that was to follow. About 150 sat down, the W.M. presiding, supported by the Grand Officers and the newly-initiated brethren, of whom seven were present, some of them having been admitted at a lodge of emergency held a fortnight ago. At the termination of the banquet grace was sung by Miss Jessie Royd and Messrs. Bernard, Daniel, Morgan, and Bamford. The W.M. said the first toast he had to bring under the notice of the brethren was that of "The Queen." Masonry and loyalty had ever gone hand in hand, and to show their attachment to the Queen he coupled her name with the Craft. This was followed by the National Anthem, the solo parts by Miss Jessie Royd, and it was enthusiastically applauded. The W.M. next gave "The Most Worshipful Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales," whose renown as a Mason was known and acknowledged by all. This toast needed no explanation from him, and he was sure that it would meet with a hearty response. The toast was cordially received, followed by the solo and chorus, "God bless the Prince of Wales," with the following new verse by Bro. Hook, the Organist of the lodge:—

"True Masons greet, with one accord,
Our Master once again!
And thank the World's Great Architect,
Our prayers were not in vain.
Again our Prince amongst us,
Each loving heart now hails,
From danger now, as in the past,
God shield our Prince of Wales."

This new verse was loudly applauded. The W. Master said the next toast to which he wished to call the attention of the brethren was that of "The Right Worshipful Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon," and said he believed that his services were unequalled by any member of the Craft. Holding such a high position he was entitled to their respect and esteem, and he trusted that his health would be drunk in proper form, and with all due enthusiasm. The toast was duly honoured. The W. Master said the next toast he had to propose was a very comprehensive one, as it was "The Right Worshipful the Deputy Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present." It was superfluous on his part to remark that the Grand Lodge was the ruling body of the Craft, and was formed of those members who had obtained distinction in it, and there was a further distinction to those who had become Grand Officers. It was composed of Past and Present Grand Officers, and they had both amongst them in the lodge that evening. He believed that there were present the oldest member of Grand Lodge, Bros. Dr. J. E. Cox; the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Jno. Hervey, the G. Secretary, members of their own lodge; Bro. Fenn, P.G.D.C.; and Bro. Cottebrune, P.G. Purst. He was proud to see them present, and he gave them all a hearty welcome. He connected with the toast the names of Dr. J. E. Cox, P. Grand Chaplain; and Bro. T. Fenn, Past Grand Assist. Dir. of Ceremonies. The toast was most cordially received. Bro. the Rev. Dr. J. E. Cox, P.G. Chaplain, said: The Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren of The Great City Lodge, and those other brethren who are here present, will receive from myself, as the representative to-night of Grand Lodge, I am assured, my warmest thanks for the manner in which they have taken notice of the toast of our esteemed Deputy Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Officers of Grand Lodge. It is always a satisfaction to myself to have to return thanks for this toast, because when received as it has been to-night with so many demonstrations of satisfaction, and with so much enthusiasm, it is an assurance to my mind that the Officers, Past and Present, of Grand Lodge live in your esteem, and that you are disposed by every means in your power to strengthen their hands in their efforts to promote the usefulness and the welfare of our noble and venerable Order. (Hear, hear.) I believe amongst newly made Masons—and I may call the Dep. Grand Master a newly made Mason in comparison with myself—there is no brother in the Craft who desires more earnestly to promote its welfare, or to support its grand and benevolent purposes, and the more I see of those who are associated with him as leading members of that assembly, the more am I persuaded that the great principles of Masonry are advancing, and that they are becoming of more and more value as time goes by. (Hear, hear.) It is a great satisfaction to myself to mark the peaceful relations, which at the present time exist in Grand Lodge. At the time when I first became a member of the Craft there was much division, and I regret to say, much un-Masonic feeling demonstrated therein; but those times happily have passed away, and with the peace of the present time we have also the augmentation of those great benefits which Masonry stands foremost to promote and confirm—I mean the noblest principles for the development of charity (Hear, hear), not only charity in the matter of giving of that substance with which the Great Architect of the Universe has blessed us, but in the manifestation of that noble feeling which suffereth long, and is kind, which envieth not, and which seeks to promote the welfare not only of the brethren themselves, but of society at large. (Hear, hear.) And my mind is more peculiarly directed at this moment to the matter of charity, because at this season two important events are being carried forward. On this day an election has taken place of candidates for the Girls' School, and on Monday next fifteen boys will be admitted into the kindred Institution; and with reference to the first and foremost—as it always will be in the estimation of the brethren—the Girls' School, I have been charmed to-day to see an engraving in the "Builder" newspaper, showing what is the intention for the enlargement of that Institution, and for the increase of benefit to the youthful female children of our decayed and deceased brethren; and then next I turn my attention to the Boys' School, in which my heart has been always deeply interested, and with which, without boasting—I am sure you will pardon me for saying it—I have taken an earnest and a continual interest. (Hear, hear.) At the present time, especially, I rejoice to know that a subject, which has had my consideration for at least a quarter of a century, is very near its fulfilment. My esteemed and worthy brother on my left hand (Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C.) has in some degree stolen my thunder; but for that I heartily forgive him. He has had more opportunity of assisting the working out of this most important subject than I have had, but I am with him, as you are, I am sure, heart and soul in the promotion of his scheme for the establishing of exhibitions in our Universities, which shall be the means of giving that completed form of education to those children of higher intellect, who, had their parents been spared to them, or had their prosperity increased, would have had the opportunity of finishing its course by affording the highest educational privileges this land can afford. Although it has not been my province to carry out that which I so much desired myself, yet it will be my happiness to assist my worthy brother and others in the promotion of that great object, and when it shall please the Great Architect of the Universe to call me hence, nothing will be looked back upon by myself with greater satisfaction than that in my position as a Past Grand Chaplain of England, and as a Minister of the Truths of the Great Architect of the Universe, I had been enabled in some way to do something for the alleviation of the suffering of mankind. (Hear, hear.) I will not detain you at much greater length, because I have said almost as much as you can bear to hear (No, no), and as much as I have to say; but there is one subject—of which I have been reminded by an observation of your Worshipful Master—which has quite gone home to my heart. In mentioning my name he stated that I was the Father of Grand Lodge. I cannot lay claim myself to that position, for there is one brother, and a brother clergyman also, older than myself (Bro. the Rev. Sir J. W. Hayes), who is the Father of Grand Lodge; but I stand next to him, for I have been a member of that Grand Lodge for thirty years. (Hear, hear.) And in those thirty years you may suppose how many I have seen depart hence, whose memory is treasured in our regard, and whose works for the benefit of Masonry and mankind are registered in the Grand Lodge above. (Hear, hear.) It cannot be in God's Providence that I shall remain much longer in this sublunary state; but so long as I am spared I will work for Masonry, as I have endeavoured to do during the years I have been a member of the Craft, and it will be, I repeat, a satisfaction to myself, when I go hence and be no more seen, to die with the conviction that my name will live amongst those members of mankind who have striven to promote the welfare and the increase of Masonry, to show that it is the mother of civilisation, and to prove that it is the great benefactress of the human race. (Hear, hear.) Bro. T. Fenn, P.G. D.C., said: It is rather an awkward thing at this period of the evening to be called upon to respond second to a toast, when one has to speak after so exhaustive and ready a speaker as our excellent Bro. Cox. There is, however, one subject which he has left untouched, as probably it has not come under his immediate knowledge. The Grand Officers would be undeserving of the honour which has been conferred on them, and of the compliment which your Worshipful Master has paid them, were they not desirous on all occasions to do all in their power, and to avail themselves of every opportunity to advance the interests of the Craft. I cannot better, perhaps, illustrate the desire which the Grand Officers appear to me always to have in that direction than by mentioning to you that on the 24th of November the annual festival of the Emulation Lodge will take place. On that occasion eight sections will be worked by eight Past Grand Officers, and the Earl of Carnarvon, our Pro Grand Master, will take the chair. The chair in the lodge will be filled by our very excellent and worthy brother Hervey. The Stewards will be also forty Grand Officers. That may be illustration enough to show the interest which they take in the working of Freemasonry, and I am sure to a lodge which claims to have a Lodge of Instruction of its own, this must be very interesting information, and I hope to yourselves, brethren, it is equally gratifying. I feel bound to admit that perhaps it is not exactly love alone for the Emulation Lodge of Improvement that that lodge is so mixed up and so bound up with my Masonic life. I wish I could but think so; there is something else at the bottom of it. I don't know why I should not be prepared even to admit it, because I am sure you will all yourselves join in the same feeling which has predominated in myself. Our Bro. Hervey enters on his 30th year of Treasurership, and it is out of respect for him that this great meeting is about to take place. I will not detain you longer, Worshipful Master, but I cannot sit down without congratulating you on the progress you are making, and on the excellent manner in which you keep up the working of this lodge. It has afforded me, I assure you, great pleasure to be present to-night, and I hope when on any future occasion I may be asked to attend this lodge I may observe the same strict adherence to good working, with the same advance and prosperity, which I have the pleasure of congratulating you upon to-night. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Townend, I.P.M., said the toast he had the honour to submit he felt sure would be received with acclamation when he told them that it was "The Health of Bro. John Seax, W.M. of The Great City Lodge." He had always found him most perfect in working the ritual of the lodge, and he had endeared himself to all by his genial disposition during the time he had held the different offices since the consecration of the lodge, and the manner in which he had performed his duties must be satisfactory to every member. He felt assured that the lodge would never suffer while he filled the chair, and he hoped he might have as happy a year in it as he (Bro. Townend) had. He asked them to drink to "The Health of their W.M." The W.M. said he felt obliged to them for their compliment, and nothing should be wanting on his part to render him worthy of the position in which, by their kindness, he had been placed, for there was a great responsibility in being placed at the head of one of the most important lodges in the City of London. In proportion to the fame and renown of the lodge, so concurrently were the difficulties and responsibilities of the W.M. He thanked them for the kindly feelings and the joyful congratulation which one and all had tendered to him. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was one that was always received with great enthusiasm in The Great City Lodge. They had rarely met without having one or more initiates, and on many occasions they had five. They had had two that evening, and five at a lodge of emergency held only a fortnight ago, and he believed that they would all prove true and good members. He gave "The Health of the Initiates," for which they severally returned thanks. The W.M. next gave "The Visitors," bidding them welcome, and, having read the list of them, said it would be invidious on his part to call upon any one in particular to respond to the toast. Bro. Cottebrune, P.G. Purst., Bro. Swallow, W.M. of the City of Westminster Lodge, and Bro. Dyer, W.M. of the Industry Lodge, severally returned thanks. The W.M. in giving "The Health of Bro. Townend, I.P.M., and I.M.," said the manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair had secured for him the esteem of the brethren, and he had then the honour of presenting him with a substantial mark of their gratitude, by placing on his breast the jewel which had been voted to him, and long might he live to wear it with pleasure, as it was the jewel of The Great City Lodge. He then attached the jewel amidst cheering. Bro. Townend, I.P.M., said he rose with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure, regret because he ceased to be the Master of one of the greatest lodges in the City of London, and with pleasure because he knew he left the chair with the good will of the brethren, and particularly so as he had received every assistance from the present W.M. of the lodge. In that lodge they worked the Emulation Lodge ritual, whilst he was brought up in the Stability, and he wished that the two modes of working could be brought together, as he believed that they might advantageously adopt a portion of each ceremony and omit the rest. He saw that he had to return thanks as I.P.M. and I.M., and most heartily did he thank them for their kindness, and for the jewel they had unanimously voted to him. He could not say that it was the proudest moment of his life, as he gave a preference to his mother lodge, in which he had worked up to every office, from that of Inner Guard, and when he went home after quitting the chair in that lodge he thought he was in the proudest position and the greatest man in Masonry (a laugh). The next toast was "The P.M.'s," for which Bros. Headon and Stevens returned thanks. Bro. Hervey, G. Sec., in proposing "Prosperity to The Great City Lodge," said he well recollected that it was three years ago when he had the gratification, with two other brethren, of performing the ceremony of consecration and installation, when more than 200 members were assembled. On that occasion he was supported by two Wardens, one of whom was Bro. Fenn, then present, and one who was now no more, Bro. Savage, who was second to none in the Craft, and whose loss had been severely felt. With what he had seen of the working of the lodge that evening he was well satisfied, and therefore he thought there was no one better qualified to propose the toast that had been entrusted to him. He was gratified to see the prosperity of the lodge, and, therefore, he need not wish prosperity to it, as that had been already achieved, and he would add one word to the toast he had to propose, and that was "Continued Prosperity to The Great City Lodge, and might its prosperity in the future be as great as it had been in the past." The toast was heartily responded to. The W.M., in proposing "The Treasurer and Secretary," said he had a pleasing duty to perform, which was to present to Bro. Freeman, their late Treasurer, a jewel, which he hoped he would wear as a recognition by the brethren of the duties he had so willingly undertaken. Bro. Freeman suitably responded. The Secretary, the W.M. considered, was the most important officer in the lodge, and he had to thank Bro. Moody for what he had done, and to ask for his valuable assistance in the future. The I.P.M. took this opportunity of publicly thanking the Secretary for the assistance he had rendered during the past year, and hoped that future Masters would have him as a guide. Bro. Moody expressed himself very much gratified at the remarks of the W.M. and I.P.M. He found that the duties of Secretary to so large a lodge occupied a great deal of time, and if he did appear another year as Secretary, all he wanted was to meet with a reception such as had just been accorded to him, even though it might be as "Past" Secretary. Some other toasts were given, and the business of the evening, harmonious throughout, was brought to a close.

METROPOLITAN LODGE (No. 1507).—The installation of this lodge was held at the Metropolitan Club, 269, Pentonville-road, on the 19th inst. Bro. J. J. Michael, W.M., presided. There were present besides, Bros. T. Williams, S.W.; R. T. Kingham, J.W.; Willing, jun., I.P.M.; R. Rose, Treas.; Tims, Sec.; Douglass, S.D.; Scalls, J.D.; W. Side, I.G.; Daley, Tyler; Saintsbury, Colls, Cheek, Clarke, Cadett, Reed, Simona, Levi, Solomon, Brumell, and others. Visitors: J. Smith, P.G.P.; Adams, P.G.P.; Ferguson, P.M.; Tims, P.M.; Millis, P.M.; Sach, P.M.; Levi, P.M.; Everett, P.M.; Garrett, P.M.; Frost, P.M.; Rochester, P.M.; Wuest, P.M.; Morgan, I.G.; and Hudson, J.W.; and others. Bro. Booker was raised, and Bros. Wrigley, Knight, Tuck, Debeuf, and Lefebvre were passed. Bro. Michael installed Bro. T. Williams as W.M., who was presented by Bro. James Willing, jun. The brethren appointed to office were Bros. T. Williams, W.M.; R. T. Kingham, S.W.; J. Douglass, J.W.; R. Rose, Treas.; G. Tims, Sec.; C. Scalls, J.D.; W. Side, J.D.; W. M. Stiles, I.G.; Daley, Tyler. A committee was formed to consider the advisability of removing the lodge in consequence of increase in number of members. A testimonial on vellum was presented to Bro. James Willing, jun., P.M., in recognition of services rendered by him to the lodge. The testimonial was duly acknowledged, and the brethren, to the number of about 100, adjourned to an excellent banquet, after which there were the usual toasts, and some pleasant singing and recitations.

CHAUCER LODGE (No. 1540).—The installation meeting of this young and prosperous lodge was held on Wednesday evening at Bro. Joseph Spencer's, Bridge House Hotel, London Bridge. Twelve months ago the lodge was consecrated by the Grand Secretary of England, and since that time it has had an almost unexampled career of success. The initiates have been numerous, and in every way members who are likely to do credit to the Order; while the joining members, who have also been numerous, have given proofs of their desire to raise the lodge to the highest point of excellence, and a foremost position in the roll of Grand Lodge. The gathering on Wednesday was an evidence of the high esteem in which the lodge is already held. Grand Secretary attended, as did also Bro. Hyde Pullen and Bro. James Terry, the company in all numbering some sixty brethren, among whom were Bros. Thomas J. Sabine, W.M.; J. C. Mason, S.W.; E. S. Stidolph, J.W.; Rev. H. J. Hatch, Ch.; F. Walters, Sec.; W. J. Kemp, S.D.; Charles Hudson, J.D.; H. Faija, I.G.; several lay members, and the following visitors:—Bros. W.T. Clarke, 315; E. P. Freeman, P. Prov. S.G.W. Sussex, W.M. 932; James Eborall, P.G.P. Sussex, P.M. 315; B. Bennett, Sec. 732; S. H. Soper, 732; Thomas Robinson, 753; S. Griffin, 554; P. Rayden, 73; Robert Griggs, 228; J. F. Wuest, 753; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; Thomas Kingston, W.M. 862; James Terry, Sec. Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution; Robert Jackson, 1362; T. B. Rosseter, W.M. 972; S. B. Ade, P.M.; W. F. Nell, 315; James Willing, jun., P.M. 1507, S.W. 177; J. A. Smith, P.M. 1178; and H. Massey ("Freemason"), Bro. J. Sabine performed the ceremony of installation, and placed Bro. James Cattle Mason, S.W. and W.M. elect, in the Master's chair. He was assisted in the saluting ceremonies by Bro. I. J. Hooper Wilkins, P.M., who took the place of Master of Ceremonies. Bro. Sabine presented the working tools. The brethren appointed to office were Bros. E. S. Stidolph, S.W.; Kemp, J.W.; Hatch, P.M., Chaplain; T. J. Sabine, I.P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; C. Hudson, S.D.; Faija, J.D.; Hawkes, I.G.; I. J. Hooper Wilkins, P.M., M.C.; Hatch and Graham, Stewards; Harrison, Org.; and W. Y. Laing, Tyler. Bro. T. J. Sabine delivered the addresses, after which Bro. F. Walters, Secretary, proposed, and Bro. Stidolph, S.W., seconded, a vote of thanks to Bro. Sabine for performing the installation, which was carried unanimously, and Bro. Sabine having acknowledged the compliment, he then asked permission before the lodge was closed to thank the brethren who were his officers during his year of office. He said this not with any view to flattery, but merely on account of the fact. He believed there were few W.M.'s in London who were supported by such officers. A great deal of the success of the lodge was due to the manner in which he had been supported by every officer, from the lowest up to the highest. They had given him their best services by good work and constant attendance. (Cheers.) The lodge was afterwards closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet. The W.M., at the conclusion of the banquet, proposed the customary toasts, and after disposing of that of "The Queen," gave the toast of "The M.W.G.M., the Prince of Wales." In speaking on the toast, he said that the Prince of Wales took a deep interest in Freemasonry, and as a proof of this he might refer to his laying the foundation stone of the new Post Office at Glasgow on Tuesday week, at which he (the W.M.) had intended to be present, but was prevented just at the time for performing the ceremony by business calls in another direction. "The Pro Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, and Grand Officers" followed, and Bro. John Hervey, G.S., replied. Having but little to say, he could only refer to the Earl of Carnarvon as a man who took high degrees at college, and in the political and literary world, as well as in any attainments which may be mentioned among men. The abilities he had displayed in early youth he had fully sustained in his more mature years, and he had shown himself in politics, literature, and Masonry, one whom we could all look up to. He then referred to Lord Skelmersdale, who, though a much younger man and Mason, was still making his mark in the world. These officers were all that could be desired by the Order. Bro. Pullen was one of the Past Grand Officers, a very "excellent young man" in his way, whom they all admired; but he well represented the Grand Officers, all of whom deserved well of the Craft. (Cheers.) Bro. Wright, P.M., proposed "The Visitors," and Bro. Pullen replied, and Bro. Sabine brought before the brethren the toast of "The W.M.," a Mason who had given proof that night of what he would do in the course of his year of office. The way in which he had invested his officers, he (Bro. Sabine) had not often seen equalled, and never exceeded, and he believed such a brother would conduce to the success of the lodge. The W.M. replied to the toast by saying that he could promise the brethren one thing, that he would fulfil the duties for the performance of which he had been elected as the head of the lodge. He was truly grateful for the honour which had been conferred on him, and he should endeavour to do honour to his appointment. (Hear, hear.) Bro. John Hervey, G.S., proposed "The Health of Bro. Sabine, I.P.M.," and passed a high eulogium on that brother for the great exertions which he had used in the first year of the lodge to bring the lodge to a position of excellence. He (Bro. Hervey) was consecrating officer of the lodge, and he had felt extreme pleasure in placing Bro. Sabine in the chair. His whole Masonic career had proved that he was a Mason in heart, and it was by such brethren that the Order achieved its high position. He then presented to Bro. Sabine, in the name of the lodge, a splendid epergne, with an inscription commemorating Bro. Sabine's services. (Cheers.) Bro. F. Walters, P.M., immediately rose and asked permission to present a P.M.'s jewel to Bro. Sabine, whom he had himself initiated in 1863, and since then he had watched his career as a Mason. He had worked hard for the Masonic charities, fulfilled all the offices in his lodge, and had thoroughly supported the institutions by taking the Stewardship for them over and over again. Bro. Sabine replied, and expressed his desire to do all he could for the good of Freemasonry. The same principle had actuated him ever since he had joined the Order. He had certainly endeavoured to do something for the good of Freemasonry, and that was what actuated the brethren who with himself had started the Chaucer Lodge. They had done something already for charity; they had supported the Institutions, and on the evening on which the lodge room was consecrated twelve months ago there was an extemporised subscription made for the relief of the sufferers by the French inundations, which had happened shortly before that time. (Cheers.) He would, as he had hitherto, in the future continue to advocate the claims of the charities, and he hoped to be successful, and expected to be so. Bro. Hyde Pullen proposed "The Masonic Institutions," to which toast Bro. James Terry responded, and recapitulated the great benefits which those institutions had conferred. His own institution, the Masonic Benevolent Institution, was now paying annuities to 253 poor old men and women, and had lately increased the amount of the annuities paid to them. Bro. Sabine proposed "Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 73," who had recommended the warrant for the Chaucer Lodge. Bro. Rayden, W.M., 73, replied. "The Officers of the Lodge," was the next toast proposed by the W.M., and Bro. Stidolph, S.W., responded. As far as he was concerned he thanked the brethren, and promised the most untiring exertions, and energy, and attendance, to prove the undeniably strong feeling of friendship which existed between the officers of the lodge and the W.M. It was a great gratification to him to find that they were represented by a brother who took the difficult position of W.M. after so efficient a Master as Bro. Sabine had proved himself to be. The officers would do their very best to prove that they were all bound together by one strong feeling, to do their best for the Chaucer Lodge. The brethren shortly afterwards separated, having enjoyed a delightful evening, which was enlivened by some capital singing by various brethren.

CAWNPORE (East Indies).—Lodge Harmony (No. 438).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge room, on the 7th August, 1876. There were present Bros. I. G. Burbridge, W.M., in the Eastern chair; W. B. Eastaway, S.W.; W. N. Littlewood, J.W.; J. G. Cole, as S.; Lieut. H. Burton, S.D.; W. Ward, as J.D.; E. E. Hunter, as I.G.; and W. A. Corp, Tyler. Members: Bros. Bond, Beard, Maitland, Capt. Thomas, McDonough, Stewart, Walker, Alexander, Logie, and Haynes. Visitors: Bros. Harris, P.M., Whalley, Forbes, Murray, and De Castro. The lodge was opened in form at 6.30 p.m., when the minutes of last regular meeting were put and confirmed. Bro. Forbes signed and received his Grand Lodge certificate, after which Bros. Capt. Thomas and Haynes were admitted and passed to the Second Degree by the W.M., the lectures on the second Tracing Board being given by the J.W. Bros. Beard and King having been found worthy, were admitted and raised to the high and sublime degree by the W.M., in his usual accurate and impressive manner. A letter of acknowledgment and thanks was read from P.M. Bro. E. Bedford, for the jewel presented him by the lodge in recognition of his services extending over a period of nine years. The W.M. informed the lodge that he had relieved a distressed brother to the extent of 50 Rs., which payment was unanimously agreed to. An application from another brother in distress, was read, and brethren appointed to enquire as to whether it was a deserving case, and if so, to relieve. The W.M. here stated that it gave him great pleasure to unfurl a splendid new banner which had been made a present to the lodge by Bro. Cruickshank. The absence of that brother was regretted, but a cordial vote of thanks was unanimously agreed to, and ordered to be communicated to him. Several letters were read, after which the lodge was closed in peace and harmony at 9.30 p.m. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-hall, adjoining the lodge, where a pleasant evening was spent, enlivened with some good singing. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were done honour to.

CARNARVON.—Segontium Lodge (No. 606).—On Wednesday, the 25th inst., the brethren of the lodge mustered strongly in their beautiful Masonic Hall, within the ancient Castle of Carnarvon, to witness the installation of Bro. J. Sidney Boucher, as W.M. for the ensuing year. The ceremony was ably performed by Bro. J. B. Boucher, Shrewsbury, assisted by Bro. J. Salmon, Chester. The proceedings were graced by the presence of Bro. W. Bulkley Hughes, M.P., who was received with acclamation, and greeted right heartily on this his first Masonic appearance since his accession to the dignity of D.P.G.M., most worthily bestowed by the R.W.P.G.M., Sir W. Wynn, at the recent P.G. Lodge, held at Wrexham. Among the visitors were Bros. Major Lloyd Philipps, P.G.M. South Wales, Dr. Goldsboro, P.P.G.S.W.; J. Francis, P.P.J.W.; J. Ellis, P.M. 597; J. Hughes, W.M., and W. Jarvis, S.D. Bangor; and C. Davies, S.D. Portmadoc. The W.M. invested as his officers Bros. W. Harwood, S.W.; C. A. Jones, J.W.; W. E. Davies, Treas. and I.G.; D. W. Davies, Secretary; J. Wynne Jones, Chap.; L. Prothero, S.D.; T. Williams, J.D.; W. Hayden, Organist; O. Thomas and T. Bugbird, Stewards; and Sergeant Watkins, Tyler. The banquet was served in good style at the Sportsman Hotel, when the usual Masonic toasts were duly honoured, Bro. R. Davies, I.P.M., officiating as M.C. For Grand Lodge Bro. Lloyd Philipps responded in eloquent terms; and while thanking his northern brethren for their hearty welcome of him as an entire stranger from the south, expressed the pleasure he felt in seeing the entente cordiale so happily established between the several portions of the Principality, which must be largely attributable to the benign influence of Freemasonry, whose special function and glory it was to bridge over sectional chasms, soften down social asperities, diminish, if not remove, class prejudices, round off the sharp corners of religious and political variance, and unite opposing parties by the sacred bond of the mystic tie, on the holy neutral ground of brotherly and universal benevolence. In speaking to the toast of "D.P.G.M.," Bro. W. B. Hughes, M.P., very feelingly acknowledged the warm and cheery greeting accorded to him, and announced, amid much applause, that while he had reserved his first visit for 606, he proposed to attend every lodge in turn throughout his province, and personally observe the working of them all. At eight o'clock the visitors departed, and the W.M. left the chair.

MANCHESTER.—Blair Lodge (No. 815).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge rooms, Hulme Town Hall, on Friday, Oct. 13th. The lodge was opened at four p.m. by Bro. Henry Ellis, W.M. After the minutes of the last lodge meeting had been read and confirmed, Bro. Bertigans, P.M., P.P.G.D.C. of Derbyshire took the chair and opened the lodge in the Second Degree. Bro. S. Royle, P.M., presented in due form the W.M. elect, Bro. Geo. Cookson, to the Installing Master, who then proceeded with the ceremony up to the formation of the Board of Installed Masters. Bro. W. F. Fowle, P.M., then assumed the position of Installing Master, and completed the ceremony in his usual impressive and correct manner. After the brethren had been re-admitted, and the newly-installed W.M. had been saluted, the working tools were delivered to him in each degree by Bro. Newton, P.M. Bro. Fowle then invested the following officers, viz.: Bros. B. Kitchen, S.W.; J. Blum, J.W.; W. Norris, P.M., Treasurer; J. Almond, Secretary; J. O. Moore, S.D.; J. Pierce, J.D.; Fielding, Organist; Napier, I.G.; Sly, Tyler; and Hildeshiemer and Austin, Stewards. The address to the Worshipful Master was delivered by Bro. Bertigans, after which the choir (Bros. Miller, W. Dumville, N. Dumville, and Lister) sang the anthem, "Behold how good and joyful, &c." Bro. Newton, P.M., delivered the address to the Wardens, and Bro. Fowle, P.M., that to the brethren, at the conclusion of which the choir sang the solo and chorus "When the temple's first stone." Upwards of sixty brethren were present, and amongst the visitors were Bros. T. J. Hooper, P.M., P.G. Treas.; A. Wolstenholme, P.G.J.D.; J. H. Sillitoe, A.P.G.D.C.; W. Goodacre, P.P.G. Purst. Cheshire; Sykes, P.M. 204; J. E. Hall, P.M. 1459; John Ingham, P.M. 152; and others. The balance-sheet was read and approved. The W.M. commenced his duties by proposing that the sum of £50 be granted to the Girls' School, out of the balance of funds in hand, which proposition was seconded by Bro. Norris, P.M., and unanimously carried. After the lodge was closed the brethren sat down to a most sumptuous repast, under the presidency of Bro. Cookson, the W.M., which was served by Bro. Lang, in his well-known style, and consisted of every delicacy in season, and wines of the choicest vintages. The comfort of the brethren was very much enhanced by a judicious arrangement which was made during the time the brethren were in the banquet-room. The lodge-room had been prepared and the dessert laid therein and as soon as grace had been sung by the choir, the brethren retired thither. This very agreeable change from the hot dining-room was appreciated by all present. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured, and after each toast appropriate music was sung. The toast of "The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of East Lancashire, Lieut.-Col. Le Gendre Nicholas Starkie," was ably proposed by Bro. Blum, J.W.; and the next toast, "Bro. George Mellor, Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers of this and other Provinces," was proposed by Bro. B. Kitchen, the S.W., who, during a very eulogistic speech, spoke of the services of Bro. Sillitoe, who had kindly performed the duties of Director of Ceremonies that day. The toast was responded to, on behalf of the neighbouring provinces, by Bro. Vertigans, P.P.G. D.C. of Derbyshire, and Bro. W. Goodacre, P.P.G. Purst. of Cheshire, who alluded to the very handsome donation to the Girls' School, and congratulated the W.M. on such a good beginning. Bro. J. H. Sillitoe, A.P.G.D.C. of East Lancashire, responded on behalf of that province, and said that besides having to thank the W.M. and brethren of the Blair Lodge for the very kind expressions which had been made use of, and the hospitable manner he and his colleagues had been entertained, he could not refrain from expressing his admiration of the able manner in which the ceremony of installation, as well as the investiture of the officers, had been performed. He considered those ceremonies to be not only the most beautiful, but also the most important in Freemasonry. The success of the lodge would mainly depend upon the work of that day, that is to say, upon the newly-installed W.M. and the officers he had appointed to work with him. Freemasonry is wisely calculated to suit all ranks and degrees of men—some are more able, some more eminent, and some more useful than others—all men are not blessed with the same powers and advantages. The nature of some men's business or profession will not admit of that leisure which is necessary to qualify them to become expert Freemasons, therefore in the interests of and for the future welfare of the lodge, it is essential that great care and discretion should be used in selecting such brethren for officers who possess the necessary qualifications, and are willing to discharge the duties of their respective stations. From what he had seen that evening he thought that a very wise selection had been made, as every officer seemed not only competent, but also anxious to perform his duty. He advised those brethren who had not been appointed to office not to be discouraged, but to bear in mind that although we are not all equally qualified to govern, yet every one in his sphere can prove advantageous to the fraternity at large; for let it ever be remembered that he who faithfully discharges his duty, even though it be in a private or subordinate station, is as justly entitled to our esteem and regard, as is he, who is endowed with supreme authority. Bro. Ellis, I.P.M., proposed "The Health of the Worshipful Master;" he dwelt at some length upon the services Bro. Cookson had rendered to the lodge, and his attention to the duties of the different officers which he had held, and he called upon the brethren to drink his health in a bumper. The toast was most enthusiastically received, and Bro. W. Dumville sang "Here's to his Health in a Song," all the brethren standing to their glasses and joining in the chorus at the end of each of the three verses. The brethren also heartily responded to the call of the Director of Ceremonies for "Twenty and One," which was given with a warmth seldom if ever exceeded. Bro. Cookson on rising to respond was loudly cheered. He assured the brethren that he was not an adept at speechmaking at any time, but, however, able he might at other times, his feelings at that moment were too much overcome to admit of his saying more than expressing briefly his heartiest thanks for their kindness to him that day; but before resuming his seat he begged to propose "The Health of the Past Masters of the Lodge," to whom he should have to look for support and assistance in the discharge of his duties. Bros. Towle, Newton, Morris, and Vertigans, P.M.'s, responded. Other toasts were ably proposed, and songs and glees beautifully rendered by the choir, accompanied by Bro. Fielding, and the evening closed with the Tyler's toast at 11 o'clock p.m.

GREYMOUTH (New Zealand).—Grey-mouth Lodge (No. 1233).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Greymouth, on July 11th, 1876. The lodge was opened in due form at 2.15 p.m., and the installation of the W.M. and his officers was then proceeded with. The ceremony of installing Bro. J. Sewell as W.M. was impressively performed by I.P.M. Bro. Revell with all the ceremonies established with long usage, and the following brethren were also invested with the badges of their respective offices:—Bros. Woods, S.W.; Watkin, Chaplain; Holder, S.D.; Hayden, I.G.; Tremayne and Dow, Stewards; Hardy, J.W.; Black, Treas.; Pownall, Sec.; Buckley, J.D. In the evening the brethren met down to a banquet in the hall. The usual loyal and customary toasts were given. The musical portion of the ceremony was conducted by Bro. Pownall, Organist.

WALTHAM.—King Harold Lodge (No. 1337).—The installation meeting of this lodge took place at the Britannia Hotel, Waltham New Town, Herts, on Tuesday, the 17th inst.; the W.M., Bro. Wm. Gilbert, presiding, supported by Bros. E. West, P.M., P.P.G.J.D. Herts, Treasurer 1337, the Installing Officer; Charles Lacey, P.M., P.P.G.S.D. Herts; E. Parker, P.M., P.P.G.P. Herts; J. K. Young, P.M., P.P.G.A.D.C. Herts; J. Tydeman, P.M., P.P.G.P. Essex; J. W. King Harold, 1337; Gaskell, P.M.; Thomas Reilly, S.W., W.M. elect, P.G.P. Herts; A. Malcolm, P.G.S. Herts, Sec.; S. Jacobs, J.D.; J. Knight, D.C.; J. Fisher, I.G.; J. Noyes and W. Creed, W. Stewards; W. O. Bull, W. Bradstock, W. C. Bradstock, Brown, Calvert, A. Clements, G. Clements, W. F. Cox, Church, Eversfield, Fuller, John Gilbert, Goodale, Goggs, F. Hodges, J. Kent, Levy, Lumsden, Newman, Price, Robinson, Ridley, Sheldon, C. Shepherd. Visitors: Bros. Driscoll, P.M. 754; Etherington, S.W. Gresham, 869; Day, W.M. Capper, 1076; Dorton, S.W. Capper, 1076 and W.M. elect; White, J.W. 1076; Maller, P.M. 754; Jones, P.M. 754; Wood, Nelson, 700; Wiggs, Pattmore, J.W. 1437; Heasman, 1437; D. Old, 1076; Leingstein, 212. The business before the lodge was to confirm the minutes of last meeting, to receive report of Audit Committee, to raise Bro. J. Gilbert, to ballot for a candidate for initiation, and also for a joining member. The W.M. raised Bro. Gilbert in a very able and impressive manner, and the other business having been disposed of, Bro. E. West, P.M., assumed the chair as Installing Officer, when Bro. J. K. Young, P.M., presented Bro. Thomas Reilly, the W.M. elect, for the benefit of installation, which ceremony was very beautifully rendered by Bro. West, assisted by Bro. C. Lacey, P.M. The W.M. then appointed his officers as follows:—(Bro. Lacey investing them with the collars of their respective offices):—Bros. W. Gilbert, P.G.J.W. Herts, I.P.M., J. Tydeman, P.M., P.P.G.P. Essex, S.W.; A. Malcolm, P.G.S. Herts, J.W.; E. West, P.M., P.P.G.J.D. Treas.; J. K. Young, P.M. 1337, P.P.G.A.D.C. Herts, Sec.; J. Jacobs, S.D.; J. Knight, J.D.; W. Pritchett, P.G. Org. Herts, Org.; J. Fisher, D.C.; J. Noyes, I.G.; John Robinson, W.S.; W. Bradstock, W.S.; and Steedman, P.M., Tyler. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. E. West, P.M., &c., Installing Officer, coupled with the name of Bro. C. Lacey, P.M., &c., for the very able and impressive manner in which the ceremony of the installation was rendered. A Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. W. Gilbert, I.P.M., P.G.J.W., in recognition of his valuable services as W.M. of the King Harold Lodge during the past year. Bro. Jas. Knight, J.D., kindly consented to act as Steward at the next festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. The business of the evening being ended, the lodge was closed, and the brethren retired to a splendid banquet, provided by Bro. Sheldon, the host, which was served in good style, and gave general satisfaction. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and duly honoured. The evening was enlivened by some very good harmony, and brought to a close at an early hour, the brethren expressing their satisfaction at having spent so pleasant an evening.

HAMPTON COURT.—Era Lodge (No. 1423).—The election meeting of this lodge was held at the King's Arms Hotel, Hampton Court, Middlesex, on Saturday, October 14th. A letter was read from Bro. John Baxter Langley, in which he expressed his regret and apologies that in consequence of urgent business he was detained in Liverpool and could not attend. Bro. J. W. Baldwin, P.A.G.P. Middlesex, P.M., opened the lodge there being present during the evening Bros. E. H. Thielay, P.G.S.B. Middlesex, S.W., and W.M. elect; T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, P.M., J.W.; F. Walters, P.G.J.D. Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; B. Wright, Assistant Sec.; J. Mason, P.G. Steward Middlesex, Org.; E. W. Deveraux, S.D.; S. Wolff, J.D.; A. F. Loos, I.G.; J. Johnson, D.C.; W. Hammond, P.P.G.D. Middlesex, P.M.; E. Beckwith, J. H. Pearson, G. S. Elliott, J. S. Sweasey, and several more. Amongst the visitors we noticed Bros. T. Dand, P.P.G.S.B. Devon, P.M. 39, &c.; J. B. Shackleton, S.W. 1524, J.D. 1326, &c.; G. Dore, 376; B. Meyer, 1326; H. Meyer, I.G. 1524, &c.; and others. Apologies were received from all the absent candidates for the various degrees. The bye-laws were read by the Secretary. The result of the elections were unanimous in favour of Bros. E. H. Thielay, P.G.S.B. Middlesex, S.W., as W.M.; H. A. Dubois, P.G.S.D. Middlesex, P.M., Treasurer, re-elected Treasurer. On motion duly made and seconded, Bro. J. Gilbert, P.G. Tyler Middlesex, was re-elected Tyler; Bros. E. Beckwith, J. H. Pearson, and F. H. Harvey were elected Auditors. The Audit Committee meeting was appointed to be held on Saturday, January 20th. Some notices of motion were given to alter the bye-laws. Also that the usual twelve-guinea testimonial be given to Bro. J. B. Langley on his retirement from the chair. That ten pounds be given to the Female Annuity Fund in the name of the Secretary of the lodge for the time being. The ballot was unanimous in favour of a candidate for initiation. Some gentlemen were proposed for initiation. It was agreed to hold an emergency meeting on Saturday, December 9th, so as to complete all the work necessary to be done before the W.M. leaves the chair. It being resolved that at the installation meeting in February only the installation ceremony be done. The lodge was closed and adjourned to December 9th, at four o'clock p.m.

LIVERPOOL.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1502).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Hope Street, Liverpool, on Monday, October 16. There were present Bros. A. J. Henochsberg, W.M.; Ralph Robinson, I.P.M. 241; Maurice Hart, S.W.; Alexander Jones, J.W.; J. De Frece, Treas.; B. Levy, Sec.; S. Schönstadt, S.D.; B. Wolff, J.D.; S. Waring, J.S., acting I.G.; S. J. Henochsberg, A.S.; Rev. H. D. Marks, Rev. Dr. Stern, P. Barnett, A. Hart, J.W. 724; Prensau, Isaacs, S. Levy, W. Levy, Fraser, Tueski, Cohen, L. F. Levene, Parkes, Jacobs, I.G. 241; Lumb, Marcus, Silver, and others. As this was the annual election of W.M. and Treasurer, no degree were given. After the names of members eligible to serve as W.M. were read, Bro. Maurice Hart was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. J. De Frece was re-elected Treasurer (3rd time). Bro. M. Hart, Hon. Sec. to the Fund of Benevolence, then read the annual report of that fund, when he stated that they had accumulated the amount of £56 16s. during the past year; it being the first year of its existence. They were also very fortunate in having no call upon this excellent charity. We believe that this is the only lodge in Liverpool that possesses at present a Fund of Benevolence for the assistance of decayed members of the lodge, but several lodges intend following this excellent precept. Bros. R. Robinson, Dr. Lewis, and A. Lyons were elected Trustees, and Bros. Schönstadt, A. Jones, M. Aronsberg, A. J. Henochsberg, P. Barnett, and Rev. Dr. Stern as committee to manage the affairs of this fund. Bros. P. Barnett and A. Liebeschutz were elected Auditors of Treasurer's accounts. In accordance with notice of motion of Bro. R. Robinson, the sum of three guineas was voted towards the sedilia of Chester Cathedral. It was also unanimously resolved that a Past Master's jewel be presented by the lodge to Bro. A. J. Henochsberg, W.M., for his affability and courteous behaviour, and for the excellent working he has shown during the past year. After a gentleman had been proposed for initiation by the S.W., the lodge was duly closed in peace and harmony. Slight refreshment followed, after which the W.M. proposed congratulations to Bro. A. Jones, J.W., who is about to enter the marriage state previous to the next meeting the members drinking his health and that of "The Bride Elect" with enthusiasm. The annual installation will take place on Monday, November 20th; Bro. A. J. Henochsberg, the present W.M., acting as Installing Master.

TWICKENHAM.—Francis Burdett Lodge (No. 1503).—A meeting of this lodge was held on the 13th ult., at the Albany Hotel, Twickenham, when there were present Bros. Wigginton, P.M., P.P.G.D.C. of Worcestershire, P.G.S. of Works Middlesex; W. M. Birchill, P.M., &c., acting S.W.; Tomlinson, P.M., P.P.G.S.D. of Norfolk, J.W.; Artus, P.M., acting I.P.M.; Kennedy, P.M., acting I.G.; Court, Sec.; Palmer, W.S. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, a letter from H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., was read, acknowledging the receipt in very gracious terms of the Francis Burdett vote of congratulation upon H.R.H.'s safe arrival home India. This reply having been ordered to be entered on the minutes, and several other matters having been disposed of the brethren adjourned till Wednesday, the 11th inst., when there were present at the opening of the lodge, in addition to the above officers, Bros. Saunders, S.W.; Knaggs, S.D.; Taylor, J.D.; D. Orsey, Chaplain; Rogers, Sec.; Ashley, acting I.G. The minutes of the September meeting having been read and confirmed, the election of W.M. took place, when Bro. Saunders, S.W., was unanimously elected to that position, and who immediately returned thanks. Bro. Tomlinson, J.W., was unanimously elected Treasurer, and the Library Committee re-elected. Bro. Harrison was also re-elected Tyler. Upon the motion of the Senior and Junior Wardens, a jewel was voted to the retiring W.M. with a request that he would choose his own design. The brethren then adjourned to an excellent collation. Bro. Col. Maude, C.B.V.C., &c., No. 1., Ireland, was a visitor. The loyal and grand toasts having been given and duly honoured, the W.M. proposed "The Health of the R.W. P.G.M. of Middlesex, Bro. Col. Burdett." In introducing this toast the W.M. remarked upon the great progress the Craft had made in the province since the appointment of their gallant and esteemed P.G.M. He hoped that at the installation of Bro. Saunders in November next that No. 1503, which had the distinguished honour of bearing the name of Bro. Col. Francis Burdett would be favoured by his presence. In conclusion he assured them that the P.G.M. took a very lively interest in the fortunes and prosperity of No. 1503. This toast having been duly honoured, Bro. Birchill, P.M., gave "The Health of the W.M." In the course of his remarks he congratulated the lodge upon the great strides it had made, which happy state he said was principally if not mainly due to the exertions of the W.M., who had spared no time or trouble in the advancing of its interests. This toast having been drunk, the W.M. briefly replied. He stated whatever time he had expended in the foundation of the lodge was more than compensated by the gratifying result obtained, namely, its prosperity. In conclusion he said he would take that opportunity of thanking his Wardens and other officers for the great and valuable assistance they had rendered him on all occasions. The W.M. then gave his permission to the W.M. elect to propose "The Health of their only Visitor, Bro. Col. Maude, C.B.V.C., &c." Bro. Saunders said he felt exceedingly gratified in having the honour of proposing the health of one who had served his Queen and country in every part of the globe. He said he would expatiate upon those exploits not as they were doubtless known to them. Their distinguished brother had not taken any prominent part in the Craft because when not engaged in fighting the battles of his country he had been incessantly employed in discharging other military duties. This toast having been warmly received Bro. Col. Maude made an able reply in the course of which he gave the brethren some interesting details in connection with Freemasonry abroad. "The Health of the W.M. elect" followed. Bro. Saunders in his response stated that although he could not hope to discharge the duties of the position as well as their W.M. had done during his two years of office, yet he would endeavour to do his best, and trusted that his forthcoming year in the chair of K.S. would be a pleasant one. The remaining toasts, "The Treasurer, Secretary, Wardens and other Officers" followed in quick succession, and were severally responded to by the brethren named. The Tyler's toast at eleven terminated the proceedings, and the brethren separated until the second Wednesday in the ensuing month, when Bro. Saunders, S.W., P.G.S. of Surrey will be duly installed W.M.

INSTRUCTION.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The usual weekly meeting of this instruction lodge was held on Tuesday evening, the 19th inst., at the London Warehousemen's Association, 111, Cheapside, E.C. Present: Bros. G. W. Blackie, W.M.; J. K. Pitt, S.W.; T. Brown, J.W.; A. Goodman, S.D.; Thomas Hamer, J.D.; James Freeman, I.G.; C. Stuart Barker, jun., Sec.; Poore, Preceptor; J. W. Colmer, Treas.; and the following brethren:—C. Taylor, Cadot, Wiltshire, F. W. Potter, G. Wale, McMurray, D. H. Feltham, and others. The lodge was opened in the First Degree, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree, and Bro. Keith Frith having offered himself as a candidate, was examined and entrusted. The W.M., Bro. Blackie, then rehearsed the ceremony of raising in a very impressive and efficient manner. The First Section of the First and Third Degrees having been worked, Bro. Pitt was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and appointed his officers in rotation, after which the lodge was closed in due form and adjourned till Thursday next at 6.30 p.m.

Royal Arch.

MOUNT LEBANON CHAPTER (No. 73).—The regular meeting of this chapter was held on Thursday, October 12th, at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Comps. H. A. Dubois, M.E.Z.; J. W. Baldwin, H.; John Mason, J.; F. Walters, P.Z., S.E., P.G.A. First S. Middlesex; E. Harris, P.Z.; and W. Smeed, P.Z., opened the chapter. The companions were admitted. The minutes of last meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. The ballots were unanimous in favour of all the candidates for exaltation. Apologies were received from all the absent candidates. Some important notices of motion were given. Comp. T. W. Clarke, 177, a visitor, was proposed as a joining member. Several brethren were proposed as candidates for exaltation. The chapter was closed and adjourned to Thursday, November 9th, at six o'clock. Banquet was partaken of.

JERUSALEM CHAPTER (No. 185).—This old established chapter held its first convocation of the season on Tuesday, the 10th inst. There were present at the opening Comps. Holbrook, P.Z., acting M.E.Z.; Elsam, H.; Wagner, J.; Davage, P.Z., S.E.; P. Robinson, N.; Mander, P.S.; B. Sharp, P.Z. 84, acting I.P.Z.; Harfeld, P.Z., Treas.; Moss, Walls, Pratt, Bentley, Janitor. The minutes of the previous convocation were read and confirmed. Two brethren for exaltation were on the agenda, but neither of them put in an appearance. Several propositions having been received, the convocation was closed, and the companions adjourned to an excellent banquet. Upon the removal of the cloth, the acting M.E.Z. proposed the customary loyal and Royal Arch toasts briefly but pertinently, and they were duly honoured by the companions. In introducing "The Health of Comp. Hammond, M.E.Z." the acting First Principal deplored the circumstances that had prevented him from being present that evening—namely, having to attend a funeral. He said that the abilities of the M.E. were so well known to them, that it would be quite superfluous on his part were he to expatiate upon them. In conclusion he coupled the names of those two excellent and worthy companions, Elsam and Wagner, the Second and Third Principals, with the toast. Those companions, in reply, expressed their thanks for the kind manner in which their respective names had been mentioned by the M.E., and they hoped that when the time arrived for them to fill the First Principal's chair that they would be found equal to the requirements of the position. "The Health of the acting M.E., Comp. Harfeld, Treas.," was proposed by Comp. Holbrook in a few well-chosen words, and was duly honoured. "The Visitor, Comp. B. Sharp, P.Z., &c.," was then duly pledged. In introducing this toast, the M.E. said that from what he had heard from several companions, they were honoured by the presence amongst them that evening of a very excellent "worker" in the mysteries of the Royal Arch Degree, and he felt sorry that there had been no exaltation that day, because he should very much have liked to have shewn their worthy and talented visitor the "working" of the Jerusalem. This toast having been duly honoured, Comp. Sharp replied. In the course of his speech he stated that he came there that evening at the invitation of their M.E., Comp. Hammond. With regard to what the acting First Principal had stated respecting his knowledge of the Royal Arch Degree, he could only say that he had been connected with it for many years, and that he had been, and was a great admirer of its beautiful ritual. He came there that evening as a visitor, but he hoped at some early period to become a member, provided the chapter should deem him worthy of that privilege. The toast of "The P.Z.'s of the Chapter" followed, and was acknowledged by those zealous and energetic Comps. Holbrook and Davage. In proposing the next toast, that of "The S.E.," the M.E. congratulated the chapter upon possessing so useful and indefatigable a S.E. as Comp. Davage had proved himself to be. He was always at his post, and he appeared to spare no pains to render the companions comfortable at the banquet. He said that the thanks of the chapter were also due to the Second Principal, Comp. Elsam, who, previously to the appointment of Comp. Davage, had acted as S.E., and who had succeeded in putting the books of the chapter in good order, they having been left by the sudden death of their late S.E. in a very involved state. This toast having been responded to, "The Health of the Subordinate Officers" followed. The M.E., in introducing the toast, passed a very high compliment on the Royal Arch abilities of Comps. P. Robinson, N., and Mander, P.S. Those officers, in the absence of their assistants, briefly replied by thanking the M.E. for the kind way in which he had proposed the toast, and the companions for the warm manner in which they had received it. In the intervals Comps. Robinson, Walls, and Mander vocally entertained the companions, who shortly after ten o'clock separated until the second Tuesday in December next.

LION AND LAMB CHAPTER (No. 192).—The October meeting of this excellent chapter was held on the 18th inst., at Cannon-street Hotel; Comps. George Newman, M.E.Z.; F. W. R. Copestick, H.; H. Birdseye, J.; Geo. Kenning, P.Z., Treas.; King, P.Z.; Francis Fellows, S.E.; Jones, S.N.; Chas. Arkell, P.S.; Chapman, First Assistant S.; Abbott, Cohu, Potter, Carle, Cann, Kent, Gillam, Ewens, and others. Visitors: Comps. Forbes, Sincerity; W. Worrell, William Preston, 766; Jas. Forsyth, P.Z. Victoria; Thos. White, 22; F. Woodbridge Carnell, 1216. The chapter was opened in due form, and the following brethren balloted and elected unanimously:—Bros. J. Lorkin, Lion and Lamb Lodge, 192; Chambers, Robert Burns Lodge, 25. Bro. Chambers (who has been long connected with the Cannon-street Hotel, and given such attention and satisfaction to the brethren as to earn for himself the respect of the members of the Lion and Lamb Lodge) was (by desire of the companions in chapter) exalted to the Supreme Degree of H.R.A.M., the regalia being presented by the members present. The ceremony was very impressive, rendered particularly so by the fine working of the companions in office. It would be impossible for the three chairs to be filled by better workers than Comps. Newman, Copestick, and Birdseye. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Comps. F. W. Copestick, M.E.Z.; H. Birdseye, H.; Chapman, J.; Geo. Kenning, P.Z., Treas.; Francis Fellows, S.E.; Chas. Arkell, S.N.; Geo. Phythian, P.S. The chapter was closed, and the companions adjourned to an excellent supper, and a happy evening was the result.

Ancient and Primitive Rite.

HAVANT.—Orion Council (No. 3).—The members of this council met on Tuesday, the 10th inst., for the purpose of dedicating the Carnarvon Lodge Rooms (recently dedicated to Craft Masonry) also to the purposes of A. and P. Masonry. A Grand Council of Sublime Masters of the Great Work, 30° was opened by Illustrious Bros. H. Trigg, S.D.; J. Clay, 1st Mystagogue, J. Harrison, 2nd Mystagogue; and J. Clarke, Grand Expert; and Illustrious Bro. J. N. Hillman, G.M. General of Ceremonies, 33°, 96°, as the Representative of the M.I.S., Bro. John Yarker, Grand Master General, 33°, 96°, dedicated the temple to the purposes of Sublime Masonry in Ancient and Primitive form.

It is understood that His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, M.W.G.M. Ireland, will relinquish the office of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland about the middle of next month, and that His Grace the Duke of Marlborough will immediately enter upon his duties as Lord Lieutenant.

Scotland.

ABERDEEN.—Lodge St. Nicholas (No. 93).—On Saturday evening, the 14th inst., a funeral lodge in memory of Bro. John Gordon, P.M., was held in the Masonic Hall, Exchange-street. The W.P.G.M. of the City Province (Dr. Beveridge) presided, and was assisted by the P.G. Chaplain, and the W.M. of the lodge. There was a large turn out of brethren from the different lodges, besides representatives of the Provincial Grand Lodge. The lodge having been opened on the Third Degree in due form, and prayer engaged in by the Chaplain, several anthems were sung, and the other formulæ incidental to this beautiful service gone through, after which the W.P.G.M. delivered an oration, in the course of which he passed a high eulogium on the character of the deceased, and referred to the many acts of kindness and genial disposition which had marked Bro. Gordon's intercourse with the brethren, and endeared him to the hearts of all with whom he had come in contact in the discharge of his duties. An anthem was then sung, and votes of thanks to Bro. Dr. Beveridge and the P.G. Chaplain, on the motion of the W.M. of the lodge, concluded the proceedings.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

The following is the Agenda of business for Wednesday, 1st November, 1876:—

The minutes of the last Quarterly Convocation to be read for confirmation.

Report of the Committee of General Purposes:—The Committee of General Purposes beg to report that they have examined the accounts from the 19th July to the 17th October, 1876, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

To Balance Grand Chapter.....	£399	1	11
" " Unappropriated Account.....	178	7	11
" Subsequent Receipts	258	2	0
	£835	11	10

By Disbursements during the Quarter.....	£182	7	10
" Balance	475	11	1
" " in Unappropriated Account ...	177	12	11
	£835	11	10

which balances are in the hands of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., Bankers of the Grand Treasurer.

The committee have likewise to report that they have received the following petitions:—

1st. From Comps. Thomas John White, as Z.; the Rev William John Lyte Stradling, as H.; Thomas James, as J.; and seven others, for a chapter to be attached to the Cambrian Lodge, No. 464, Haverfordwest, to be called the "Hwlfordd Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Haverfordwest, South Wales (Western Division).

2nd. From Comps. Edward Bremner Smith as Z., Robert De La Poer Beresford as H., Samuel Hazlitt as J., and six others, for a chapter to be attached to the Fitzalan Lodge, No. 1432, Oswestry, to be called the "Fitzalan Chapter," and to meet at the Wynnstay Arms Hotel, Oswestry, North Wales.

3rd. From Comps. George Hunter Wildie as Z., Wm. Williamson as H., John King as J., and six others, for a chapter to be attached to the St. John's Lodge, No. 1137, Timaru, to be called the "St. John's Chapter," and to meet at Timaru, Canterbury, New Zealand.

The foregoing petitions being in all respects regular, the committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

The Committee have further to report that a complaint was preferred by Companion Charles Horsley, the Z., of the Varborough Chapter, No. 811, Brighton, against the Scribe E., Comp. C. J. Smith, of the same Chapter. The various letters which had passed between the above-mentioned companions having disclosed a very serious absence of harmony among the members generally, the committee felt compelled to suspend the chapter. Having summoned the parties before them and fully investigated the case, the committee continued the suspension until the members of the chapter could arrive at a good understanding amongst themselves, and petition for its removal. This committee are happy to be able to report has been effected, the suspension has been removed, and the chapter authorized to resume its labours.

(Signed) JOHN CREATON, President.

EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

The following is the corrected list of the Stewards for the anniversary festival of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Friday, November 24th, 1876:—

R.W. Bros. Lieut.-Col. Francis Burdett, Prov. G.M. Middlesex; the Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, S.G.W.; the Hon. Wm. Warren Vernon, J.G.W.; Fredk. Pattison, P.G.W.; John Havers, P.G.W.; Capt. William Platt, P.G.W.; Sir Albert Woods, Garter, P.G.W.

V.W. Bros. the Rev. C. J. Martyn, P.G.C.; Samuel Tomkins, G. Treas.; A. J. McIntyre, G. Reg.; J. B. Monckton, Pres., B.G.P.; Ernest E. Wendt, G. Sec., G.C. Bros. Lieut.-Col. D. Birchall, S.G.D.; T. W. Boord, M.P., S.G.D.; E. J. Barron, J.G.D.; J. M. Case, J.G.D.; Lieut.-Col. J. Creaton, P.G.D.; Benjamin Head, P.G.D.; George Plancknett, P.G.D.; E. S. Snell, P.G.D.; Jabez Hogg, P.G.D.; Henry Grissell, P.G.D.; S. L. Tomkins, P.G.D.; J. Cooper Forster, P.G.D.; W. Brackstone Baker, P.G.D.; J. E. Saunders, P.G.D.; C. A. Merton, P.G.D.; H. J. P. Dumas, P.G.D.; F. A. Philbrick, P.G.D.; J. A. Rucker, P.G.D.; J. C. Parkinson, P.G.D.; C. W. Hutton, P.G.D.; T. Fenn, P.G.D.;

R. Grey, P.G.D.; J. Symonds, P.A.G.D.C.; N. Bradford, P.A.G.D.C.; C. C. Dumas, P.A.G.D.C.; J. Whichcord, P.A.G.D.C.; W. F. Nettleship, G.S.B.; R. J. Spiers, P.G.S.B.; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; J. Nunn, P.G.S.B.; W. R. Woodman, P.G.S.B.; W. C. Bacon, P.M. 222; W. Beattie, S.W. 142; D. Betts, P.M. 1351; C. Birch, W.M. 256; H. Bishop, W.M. 66; J. Clever, P.M. 12; A. G. Cocke, W.M. 22; R. R. Davis, P.M. 25; C. H. Diaper, W.M. 5; A. Durrant, P.M. 1185; Montague Gosset, P.M. 66; J. J. Gosset, P.M. 66; F. Huggins, P.M. 18; J. W. Lambert, S.W. 142; W. S. Lee, 1201; E. Legg, W.M. 861; P. de L. Long, V. Pres. Board of Gen. Purposes; E. March, P.M. Grand Stewards' Lodge; E. Vaughan Morgan, P.M. 69; J. Muzio, S.W. 1150; W. R. Oliver, P.M. 330; A. A. Richards, P.G.S., P.M. 865, P. Prov. G.J.W. Middx.; F. Robinson, P.M. 259; G. J. Row, P.M. 1185; W. Smallpeice, P.M. 1395, Secretary; G. B. Smallpeice, P.M. 370; J. Verity, W.M. 1348; G. E. Wainwright, P.M. 370; T. W. Whitmarsh, W.M. 1150; Erasmus Wilson, P.G.S.; S. B. Wilson, P.M. 59.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The General Committee met at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday afternoon, Bro. Col. J. Creaton, Trustee and Vice-Patron, in the chair. Among those present were Bros. Tattershall, White, Boyd, Dubois, Browne, Col. Peters, Rev. J. M. Vaughan, Stewart, Ramsay, Rucker, Kenning, Rev. P. M. Holden, Levander, Sabine, Massa, Finney, Rev. P. H. Ernest Brette, D.D.; Capt. Phillips, Capt. Wordsworth, Murlis. The minutes of the last General Committee were read and verified, and the minutes of several other meetings were read for information.

Three petitions were approved, and the chairman authorized to sign cheques for the accounts for the September quarter. The following motion by Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, seconded by Dr. Ramsay, and supported by several brethren, was carried unanimously:—"That the salary of the Secretary be increased £100 per annum, dating from 1st January last.

Masonic and General Tidings.

THE RED CROSS SOCIETY.—The following letter has been published by Colonel Loyd Lindsay:—"National Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded, Turco-Servian Relief, October 23, 1876. Sir,—I have found so much concurrent testimony to the great service performed by the English surgeons of the Red Cross Society attached to the head-quarters of the Turkish army before Alexinatz that I am induced to ask you to mention their names, which are as follows:—Dr. Leslie, Mr. Pitts, Mr. Barker, and Mr. White. Dr. Leslie writes to me from Alexinatz that he and his colleagues have attended to more than 2,000 wounded during the three days' fighting at the beginning of the month; that they were engaged from Thursday till Sunday, day and night, with only short intervals of rest, and that the estimation in which they are held by all parties in the camp stands very high. He adds that the camp has proved a very healthy place. I am, &c., R. LOYD LINDSAY."

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., has been graciously pleased to grant a dispensation to the Imperial George Lodge, No. 78, by which the members are entitled to wear a centenary jewel.

Bro. James Willing, jun.'s Newspaper Advertising Office is now at 301, Strand, near the Opera Comique.

The Marquis of Hartington, R.W.P.G.M. Derbyshire, has arrived in London from his tour in Eastern Europe.

Preparations are being made at the Royal demesne, Sandringham, for the approaching visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales for the winter season. Their Royal Highnesses are expected here on the 3rd proximo, and after celebrating the Prince's birthday, will proceed to Norwich, for the installation of Lord Suffield as Provincial Grand Master of Norfolk.

We understand that the Foreign and Colonial Committee of the Grand Lodge of Scotland have agreed to recommend the recognition of the Grand Orient of Egypt, and in all probability the recommendation will be confirmed at the Grand Lodge to be held on the 6th prox. We believe that a similar proposition is shortly to be made in the Grand Lodge of Ireland, thus following the example of the Grand Lodge of England.

The Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Cornwall is to be held in the Masonic Hall, New Public Rooms, Truro, on Tuesday, the 7th November, at 2 p.m. The R.W. Bro. Sir F. M. Williams, Bart., M.P., the Prov. G. M.M.M., is to preside, and reports from the six lodges in the province are all expected to be very favourable. Particulars of the meeting will appear in due course.

Bro. J. E. Saunders, P.G.D., has consented to come forward as a Liberal candidate for the London School Board at Greenwich, in conjunction with Mr. Henry Gover.

Bro. A. Oldroyd, of Leyton, has been appointed agent in England for the celebrated Algerian Cigars (awarded three prize medals), which have obtained such high reputation amongst connoisseurs, being in fact, superior to those imported from Havana at a much higher rate. These cigars are manufactured in and from tobacco grown in Algiers. They possess the great advantage of being manufactured from pure leaf tobacco, and contain all the aroma and fine flavour that can be obtained to give satisfaction. They are certainly worth a trial. The prices are given in our advertisement columns.

NOW READY, Price 9s. Each.

VOLS. 1 & 2

OF THE

MASONIC MAGAZINE

198, FLEET-STREET, LONDON.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC
CALENDAR.

W. Masters and Secretaries are earnestly requested to forward to the publisher, at the Offices, 198, Fleet-street, E.C., particulars of the place, days, and months of meeting of their respective lodges, chapters, and other Masonic bodies, for insertion in the issue of the Calendar for 1877.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

Answers to Correspondents.

Bro. Yarker, on Hermeticism, in our next, and we will send him a proof.

The following reports, &c., stand over:—Domestic Lodge, 177; Lewis Lodge, 1185; Lodge Fortitude, Lancaster, 281; Warren Lodge, Seacombe, 1276; Hemming Lodge, Hampton, 1512; Prov. G. Lodge of Mark Masters of Lancashire; Macdonald Lodge of Mark Masters, 104; Era Mark Lodge, 176; Whitwell Mark Lodge, Maryport, 157; Windsor Castle Chapter, 771.

Friendship Chapter, Great Yarmouth, in our next, arrived too late.

"Freemasonry in Germany," in our next.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ALABASTER.—On August 28th, at Amoy, China, the wife of C. Alabaster, H.B.M.'s Consul, of a son.
GODWIN.—On the 23rd inst., at Ladbroke-grove, the wife of H. Godwin, of a son.

WILKINSON.—On the 19th inst., at Belgrave-road, the wife of W. L. Wilkinson, of a daughter.

WOODCOCK.—On the 19th inst., at Auckland-hill, Lower Norwood, the wife of W. H. Woodcock, of a son.

DEATHS.

BARTR.—On the 3rd ult., near Simla, East India, Richard Travers Barter, sub-lieut. 73rd Regt., in his 21st year.

BELDAM.—On the 20th inst., at Banyers, Royston, Cambridgeshire, Edward Beldam, Esq., J.P., aged 65.

CRAWSHAW.—On the 18th inst., Simon Crawshaw, of Dewsbury, in his 72nd year.

GORDON.—On the 9th inst., at Saltash, South Devon, Thos. Gordon, Esq., aged 59.

HOLKER.—On Aug. 4, at Wallandool, Albury, N.S.W., Wilson, son of the late S. Holker, Esq.

KERSHAW.—On the 17th inst., at Bromley, Kent, John Evans Kershaw, Esq.

KING.—On the 20th inst., at Loughborough Park, Brixton, T. B. King, aged 35.

LATHAM.—On the 17th inst., at Erith, Henry Turner Latham, aged 68.

LOCKWOOD.—On the 20th inst., Bro. the Rev. E. J. Lockwood, aged 78.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCT. 28, 1876.

FATHER FOY'S LAST ATTACK ON FREEMASONRY.

Father Foy is a Roman Catholic preacher of some celebrity, it seems, who has lately been enlightening and astounding the pious Roman Catholics at Hastings with his revelations respecting secret societies in general and Freemasonry in particular. He has, we believe, before addressed his co-religionists on the same topic, but we must say that in his last oration, or whatever you like to term it, the reverend Father has excelled himself, if that be possible. To what particular Order the reverend orator belongs we are not told, and we do not know, but we should not be very much astonished to hear, that Father Foy is a stout and zealous affiliate of the Jesuit confraternity of Ignatius Loyola. So remarkable are his long addresses, that we can merely glance at them, as it were, to-day, but they will be published "in extenso" in the "Masonic Magazines" for December and January, and we recommend our many readers to peruse them carefully there. This kind assailant of Freemasonry objects to its "secrecy." Well, that is an "oft-told tale," and we cannot afford time or space to revert to it now. Suffice it to say, that at the very time Father Foy denounces a society because it is secret, he forgets the great secret Jesuit Association, and he is utterly oblivious of the early history of Christianity itself, and the famous "Disciplina Arcani." A secret society is only objectionable when forbidden by the laws of the land, as many very harmless societies, whether benevolent or social, like to throw around their gatherings the harmless conditions of secrecy and mystery. And then Father Foy goes on to inform his hearers of the real cause of Lord Ripon's resignation of the Grand Mastership of English Freemasons. It seems that our former noble and constitutional ruler was so alarmed by the aims of the secret societies of Europe, and especially of the Freemasons—that very Order over which in England he presided so happily—that he determined not only to become a Roman Catholic, but to disavow Freemasonry. We utterly disbelieve Father Foy, and we fancy he speaks with no authority on the subject. As we understand the matter, and we are open to correction, our late Grand Master, finding that he was about to join the Roman Catholic Communion, felt that after the Papal allocations he could not consistently remain the chief of English Freemasonry as a Roman Catholic, and therefore, though with deep personal regret, severed his connection with a fraternity to which he could not, in his opinion, any longer fitly or conscientiously belong. But that, our readers will see, is a very "different position of affairs" indeed from renouncing Freemasonry because, as Father Foy tells his confiding hearers, it was a secret society, with dangerous aims and revolutionary tendencies. No one knew better the real tone and temper, the professions and practice of English Freemasonry, than did Lord Ripon, and we will venture to add, from old knowledge of himself, that he is far too honest and high-minded to allow even his zeal for Roman Catholicism so far to sway his private opinions or his public declarations as to make him in any way unjust to his ancient brethren. He would, on the contrary, we feel assured, be ready at once to uphold the loyal character and unpolitical colouring of English Freemasonry, and to deprecate the far too common attacks upon it of ignorant assailants and contumelious combatants. Father Foy then proceeds to contend that Freemasonry is still "Illuminatism," and seeks to derive the proofs of his statements from the old and well-worn volumes of Barrall, &c., &c. We have nothing to do with the "Illuminati," and whatever in some portions of the continent Freemasons may have had to do with the dangerous schemes of the Illuminati in the latter part of the last century, we never knew anything of them in Great Britain, and Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry never has had anything to do with them even in the re-motest degree. It always seems to us idle for Roman Catholic impugnors of Freemasonry to go back to such things in respect of the Freemasonry of the day. Illuminatism is a theory of the past, and we do not believe that at this moment either its principles or its practice are known or developed in any Masonic lodge. Our good Roman Catholic adversaries, if they wish to be both real and effective in their attacks on Freemasonry, must therefore deal with the present, not with the past, and we shall be always ready to meet them. Father Foy then seeks to trace a connection with the French Revolution and Freemasonry, and describes Freemasonry proper as the "fautor" of revolution everywhere. No greater mistake or unfounded untruth ever was persistently put forth. If here and there a French lodge was favourable to the dread principles of the Illuminati, or the turbid violence of Jacobins and Girondins, the effect of the French Revolution was to shut up the French lodges altogether, and to suspend the sittings of the Grand Orient of France. If there was that wonderful sympathy between Freemasonry and revolution which Father Foy asserts to have existed, how came about this indubitable historical fact? The truth is, that this grave error and this mendacious assertion are founded on the want of discrimination as between individuals and the general body. At all times, in all generations, individuals have done very foolish things, and spoken indefensible words, and too often the body has been blamed for the act of the person; but Freemasonry itself, as an institution, never was identified with revolutionary principles, and cannot be, because some of its great dogmata are, and ever will remain, peace and order, loyalty and obedience to civil Government, toleration and tranquillity, brotherly love and good will to man. The laws and teachings of Freemasonry itself are one thing, and the opinions and acts of individual Freemasons another, and often a very different thing indeed. Father Foy himself would not have the Roman Catholic Church condemned for all the cruel deeds and despicable words of individual Romanists, and Lord Ripon himself pointed out this fact in the history of the Roman Catholic Church in an able speech which he recently delivered, we think at Salford or Manchester. Freemasonry cannot, therefore, be condemned for the isolated speeches of individuals, or even the acts of separate lodges which never were sanctioned by the body politic of Freemasonry in any country. We say this because we are aware that some foreign Freemasons have laid themselves open to most severe animadversion by the very untrue character they have themselves given to the principles and the practice of their Order. What our opinion on this head is we point out carefully in another article to-day, and we need not repeat it here, the more so, as we, who belong to Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry, have always protested, and still do protest, against anything which seeks to affix either a political or anti-religious or revolutionary character to Freemasonry. That some of the proceedings of the French Freemasons, to whom Father Foy alludes, are not wise, and in our opinion are not Masonic, we have often said, and shall say again, but then Father Foy must bear in mind the hopelessly bitter and irreconcilable feelings which seem to actuate Ultramontanes and Freemasons in France and in other continental States. Much of this is, no doubt, owing to the indiscriminate censure cast upon Freemasons by hot-headed ecclesiastic functionaries, without discernment and without distinction. Even in Great Britain and Canada, and the United States, our loyal, and law-abiding, and peaceful and tolerant Order is nothing in their eyes but a secret political organization, actuated by the worst principles, and directed to the most unholy ends. It is against this wholesale system of Ultramontane lying that we Freemasons warmly object. Father Foy frightened all his readers by a description of the orgies of Masonic Lodges, a description, however suitable for the "respectable gentlemen and ladies" who are said to have attended his "high spiced" lecture—delivered, we observe, on the "altar steps," in a Roman Catholic Church, by the way—is far too foul for our pages. We recommend all our brethren and readers to study carefully Father Foy's "ipsissima verba" in the "Masonic Magazine" for December, and they will agree with us, we feel sure, that no more ridiculous and yet untruthful description of Freemasonry and Freemasons was ever palmed off on the credulity of the most credulous, or offered to the swallow of the greatest of "gobemouches." We shall remind our readers of these very "sensational addresses" when our December Magazine appears, but we have thought well to advert to them now for the comfort and edification of many worthy brethren in Hastings and the vicinity.

THE PRESENT ASPECTS OF FRENCH FREEMASONRY.

We wish that we could conscientiously say that such were reassuring; alas! in our humble opinion, they are greatly the reverse. We have very warm feelings towards our French brethren, and we wish devoutly that historic truth did not compel us to point out in all of solemn sternness, the very uncomfortable impression the reports of the last meeting of the Grand Orient of France have left upon our minds. The Grand Orient of France has decided, by 110 votes to 65, to refer to the consideration of all the lodges Article II. of the Constitutional laws, which relates to the "existence of God and the immortality of the soul." After a very long discussion "and much divergency of opinion among the Bureaux," the Grand Orient divided on the report of the "Commission," which, principally in respect of the opportuneness of the discussion, proposed to pass to the "order of the day," or, as we should say, "the previous question," and so, for the moment, shelve a disagreeable discussion. But 110 votes as against 65, as we said just now, declined this proposition, and determined to bring the matter to a distinct conclusion one way or other, and we cannot say that in this they were actually wrong, though we are very sorry that any such question has been raised at all. We note that in the discussion Bros. Nicoulo, Baer, Mamark, and Marechal de Nancy, took what we should call the English view of the subject, regretting that such a discussion should arise at all, and pointing out its real sectarian character, while Bro. Massicault seems to have dwelt most upon the inopportuneness of the proposal. The arguments by which the Council of the Order, under the esteemed Bro. St. Jean, Bro. Caubet, the able G.S., and Bro. Wyrubouff, the eloquent Orator, have since practically defended the result of the division, have, we confess, filled our mind with regret and alarm; and we feel bound to say to those most distinguished brethren, in our humble opinion, that such arguments are radically wrong, and Masonically unsound. For what is the view they are now seeking to establish, the defence they put forward, for this act of unquietness and revolution? It is this, that in expunging the assertion of the belief in the "existence of God," and the "immortality of the soul," they are not negating dogmata, but affirming toleration, that as Freemasonry is essentially tolerant and universal it can express a belief in nothing, inasmuch as by affirming credence in anything you offend the consciences of those who don't believe in anything at all, and "par consequence," the only true position of Freemasonry is that which declares that its highest teaching is absolute negativism. Bro. Wyrubouff says that Freemasonry is bound to remain neuter on all points of politics and religion, and leaves to each individual his own faith. We agree with him in general, but not in particular. Our English position is a very different one, and, we think, a far better one. It asserts that a Freemason can neither be a "stupid atheist or an irreligious libertine," and it demands belief in the Great Architect of the Universe as a necessary condition of admission into Freemasonry. It declares, undoubtedly, in its teaching, ritually and otherwise, also in the immortality of the soul, in the resurrection of humanity, in the Fatherhood of God, and in the Brotherhood of Man, and there it stops, leaving at a distance all question of creeds, all other portions of individual belief. Our great objection then, to this movement in French Freemasonry is twofold, first as regards its own position in France; and secondly, in respect of its relationships with other branches of the great Masonic family. In France the only effect will be to play into the hands of the Ultramontanes, and to give new weapons to the able assailant of Freemasonry, Monsignor Dupanloup. In his remarkable "Etude," unfair and illogical in part as we deemed it to be, owing to his confusion of individual acts with general principles, he himself pointed out what the logical necessity of the case must lead the French Freemasons to. And sure enough here we have his words already fulfilled in this inopportune and regrettable discussion of these most important truths. In the present temper of French Freemasons, we fear that there is but little hope of their maintaining the constitution of the Order, in "statu quo," and of resisting the "voice of that destructive charmer," which is luring them on to the "Caudine Forks" of hopeless isolation. Indeed, we should almost be inclined to think, remembering that our good friends the Jesuits have more than once tried their "prentice hand" on Masonic lodges and Masonic teaching, that such a movement might owe its origin to some concealed and unsuspected affiliate of that universal society. For we can see nothing but gain to the Ultramontane press and party, and grave consequences to the French Freemasons, by this hasty surrender of their outworks to the first attack of the enemy. French Freemasonry will henceforth be distinguished by one great characteristic, that it will possess within it the full luxury of unbelief, and that that great Order which has ever openly professed its manly adherence to the Great Creator and Ruler and Father and Friend of all, now openly abdicates its old position, declares that whether a Freemason be a believer in God or a pure atheist, matters nothing at all. Such a rôle for French Freemasonry is, we believe, alike dangerous and unworthy. It simply paves the way for spiritual and political despotism, as no real liberty can exist on the negation or non-avowal of positive belief, and it undermines the foundation on which all true Freemasonry rests, its religious, reverential, and tolerant character. It is a fallacy almost unworthy of notice, it is a subtlety too Jesuitical, it is a subterfuge only too patent, which would represent such a movement as an effort of toleration, not a destructive negativism; a conservative step, not a revolutionary proclivity; a concession to the tendencies of modern thought and teaching, not a surrender to the army of indifference or infidelity, the dealing with a dogma inconsistent with the universal and liberal genius of Masonry, not the erasure of a living truth, bound up indifferently with the very existence and true progress of Freemasonry. On the arguments of our worthy brethren, mistaken as we hold them, nothing positive or true can stand, the objective must give way to the subjective, "tout ce qu'on reveré," to the idle phantasies of the hour. Henceforth French Freemasonry will be described by its adversaries, as without belief at all, and who can gainsay their words? If such a decision is upheld and becomes part of French Masonic law, forbidding to French Freemasons any doctrine of external or public belief in God, and resolving its teaching into a bare and lifeless system of human morality, whether based on a "morale indépendante," or the destructive theories of a so-called "positivisme," which seems to leave everything in dilemma and obscurity, amid a chaos of contending passions, and the insoluble doubts of the finite intellect of man, it will be an evil day for French Freemasonry. In these our remarks we hope that our French brethren will not believe that we are actuated by any other than pure Masonic sentiments. We write freely and decidedly because we feel warmly, and because, above all, we like plain speaking, truthful declaration in all things, and greatly object to the mealy-mouthedness and insincere utterances of the hour. As regards Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry the decision of the French Grand Orient, if supported by the majority of French Masons, must render the chasm between French and Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry impassable, and must prevent Anglo-Saxon Freemasons entering a French Lodge. As some of the French brethren well put it in the debate, its only result can be the isolation of French Freemasons, a result to be very deeply regretted. We Anglo-Saxon Freemasons cannot, and will not, give up our own ancient and distinguishing formulæ, and on our own principles we cannot conscientiously enter lodges in which the existence of God is not even admitted, but in which His sacred name is never used, which neither begin nor end with prayers, and from which the Bible has been almost contemptuously rejected. We await with great anxiety the appeal to the French Lodges, deeply as we deplore that any such step should be taken, though, as we said before, we cannot blame those who merely on the score of "inopportuneness" refused to accept the "ordre de jour." We confess that we have but little hope of a favourable response in our view of things, though, as we say, "when things are at their worst they sometimes mend," and "the stormy night is sometimes followed by a sunshiny morning." As it is impossible in a short article to do full justice to the arguments of Bros. Caubet and Wyrubouff we shall revert to them next week.

PEACE OR WAR.

The sensational paragraphs we published last week, and which the "Times" took from the "Central News," were, as we thought, pure "canards," symptomatic we are inclined to think of one or two "lame ducks" on the Stock Exchange. The Ministry has had a meeting and there are still hopes for European peace. All of us, and Freemasons especially, must wish for peace, not indeed peace at any price, not a dishonourable peace, not a peace procured by menace, or culminating in national disgrace, but peace, if possible, as preferable to the horror, and ruthless arbitrament of war. Some of us often talk in flippant tones and rowdy words of the possibilities of war, and seem to treat very lightly the great, the sacred blessings of peace. To all such we recommend the calm perusal of Dr. Johnson's famous, but forgotten words in his pamphlet on the "Falkland Islands," and which commend themselves equally to the understanding of the reflective and the sympathies of the Freemason, interested in the preservation of European peace, and the cessation of the cruelties and evils of war.—"As war is the last of remedies, cuncta prius tentanda, all lawful expedients must be used to avoid it. As war is the extremity of evil, it is surely the duty of those whose station entrusts them with the care of nations, to avert it from their charge. There are diseases of animal nature which nothing but amputation can remove; so there may, by the deprivation of human passions, be sometimes a gangrene in collective life for which fire and the sword are the necessary remedies; but in what can skill or caution be better shown than preventing such dreadful operations, while there is yet room for gentler methods? It is wonderful with what coolness and indifference the greater part of mankind see war commenced. Those that hear of it at a distance, or read of it in books, but have never presented its evils to their minds, consider it as little more than a splendid game, a proclamation, an army, a battle, and a triumph. Some indeed must perish in the most successful field, but they die upon the bed of honour, resign their lives amidst the joys of conquest, and filled with England's glory, smile in death. The life of a modern soldier is ill represented by heroic fiction. War has means of destruction more formidable than the cannon and the sword. Of the thousands and ten thousands that perished in our late contests with France and Spain, a very small part ever felt the stroke of an enemy; the rest languished in tents and ships, amidst damps and putrefaction; pale, torpid, spiritless, and helpless: gasping and groaning, unpitied among men, made obdurate by long continuance of hopeless misery; and were at last whelmed in pits, or heaved into the ocean, without notice and without remembrance. By inconmodious encampments and unwholesome stations, where courage is useless, and enterprise impracticable, fleets are silently dispeopled, and armies sluggishly melted away. Those who suffer their minds to dwell on these considerations will think it no great crime in the ministry that they have not snatched with eagerness the first opportunity of rushing into the field, when they were able to obtain by quiet negotiation all the real good that victory could have brought us. Of victory indeed, every nation is confident before the sword is drawn; and this mutual confidence produces that wantonness of bloodshed that has so often disolated the world. But it is evident, that of contradictory opinions one must be wrong; and the history of mankind does not want examples that may teach caution to the daring, and moderation to the proud."

LETTER OF BRO. CAUBET TO THE EDITOR OF THE "FREEMASON."
TRANSLATED FROM THE "MONDE MAÇONNIQUE" OF OCTOBER.

Very dear Brother,—

You have had a thousand-fold reason for considering the assertions of the "Globe" newspaper calumnious. There never have existed under the obedience of the Grand Orient of France lodges belonging partly to Freemasonry and partly to Carbonarism.

The Masonic work and the work of the Carbonari have no resemblance in any manner. The first is a work of peace and fraternity among honest men of all beliefs.

*The second has been a special work of combat against a political party. The Grand Orient has no authority, and never has had any, but over Masonry.

Carbonarism had to direct it, a Vente Supreme (Supreme Vente), completely alien in all things from Masonic authority.

Never have the French lodges thought of substituting any sort of parody on the civil marriage, the only legal one in France.

The opinion of the immense majority of Masons would have protested against such a proceeding, and the Grand Orient would never have authorised it.

Mr. A. Naquet certainly wrote in 1869, a volume in which he lauded extremely Free Love. This book had for a title, Religion, Propriété, Famille, and not as the "Globe" says, "La Famille et L'Etat social."

I am ignorant if Mr. Naquet has changed his opinion. I am much disposed to believe it; but I do know this, that in his book he has made no allusion to Masonry, and especially to the pretended Masonic marriages of which the "Globe" speaks.

This matter of [the marriages is evidently a bad joke of the editor of that journal, or the reproduction of one of those "contes bleus," given forth by certain Ultramontane Roman Catholic writers, whose speciality is to calumniate our grand Institution.

Accept, dear brother, the assurance of my fraternal sentiments. CAUBET.

A POINT OF LAW.

Many Freemasons of eminence, probably alarmed at the late extraordinary spread of the craft, have left no opportunity unmissed of earnestly advising and imploring the founders of lodges which they have been called upon to consecrate, to be particular to the utmost degree in investigating the characters of the candidates proposed for admission into the Order. That this advice is required, and that it is high time that Grand Lodge should interfere in a manner strong enough to prevent the occurrence of another scandal of a similar nature, must be evident to the mind of every one who peruses the report of a case tried at the Westminster County Court, on Thursday, the 10th inst., before Mr Judge Bayley:—"The Hervey Lodge of Freemasons, No. 1260, versus Fielder." The plaintiffs sued the defendant, a gentleman residing at 10, Torrione Avenue, Camden Town, to recover the sum of £15, under somewhat peculiar circumstances.—Mr Stone, counsel for the plaintiffs, said the claim was for ten guineas initiation fees and five guineas subscription.—At this stage of the case the learned judge said that as the Freemasons were not a body corporate they could not sue, and that Freemasons in point of law were a nonentity.—Mr. Stone, on the other hand, said that, on reference to "Pollock's Law of Contracts," p. 775, all clubs could recover if by law established.—The Judge: In that case you assume to sue as a corporation.—Mr Stone: No; I assure your honour that, by the fifth order of the New County Courts Act, and on the eighth rule, all persons connected with any society are each and severally liable to sue.—The Judge: But here no person is named.—Mr. Stone then asked the learned judge to amend the particulars, and allow Mr King's (the Secretary of the lodge) name to be substituted on the part of the plaintiffs, and quoted the case of "Ruget v. Bishop," Law Reports, 733, where a similar case was decided in his favour; and again stated that Pollock on Contracts supported him at page 193, where one of many parties who had an interest in a club or society were individually entitled to sue. If his honour were adverse to him on this point perhaps leave would be given to appeal.—The Judge: You have no right to appeal, as the case cannot be supported, as no individual person was mentioned in the plaint.—Mr. Stone: But the text-books I have quoted are in opposition to your honour's views.—The Judge: I say you cannot support the claim, and I am not bound by Mr. Pollock's text-books or any others. I shall, therefore, nonsuit the plaintiffs and allow costs.—Judgment for the defendant with costs.—"Sunday Times."

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded by day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

FEMALE FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir,—

Once again I trespass on your valuable space, but this time in self defence, and to let "A Freemason's Wife" know that, whatever her doubts may be upon the subject, I am a woman, if one by myself, as she suggests. I expected to find many Masons' wives against me, knowing from experience the feeling existing upon the subject, but I trust some will be of my opinion. Your correspondent appears to think it such a remarkable occurrence that my husband and self can converse freely upon Masonic matters when he is bound by such awful oaths. This idea is simply absurd, as there are so many interesting subjects connected with Masonry—even the matter contained in your weekly journal is always food for conversation and argument—that she need wonder no longer on that score. She then admits the lodge is no place for modest women (how about immodest ones?)—this is not saying much for the Countess Hädick. However, my idea is this—let Freemasons' wives give over fretting and fuming for knowledge unattainable, and worrying their husbands in the matter, and rest contented. This would, I think, bring more real happiness between them than an enlightenment as to the mysteries of the Order, even were it possible.

I could say much more, but feel now I ought to apologise for occupying your time upon such a controversy. Before concluding, however, I must acknowledge being gratified with your editorial remarks, agreeing with my views upon the above subject, and trust others were the same.

Believe me, dear Sir, faithfully yours,

A FREEMASON'S WIFE.

ULTRAMONTANISM.

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Pray give me space to draw the attention of our brethren to the subjoined extract from the "Times" of Thursday week:—

"RELIGIOUS SCANDAL.—A Roman Catholic scandal has occurred in Nottingham. A married lady worshipping at the Cathedral, unknown to her husband, consulted Bishop Bagshaw the other day as to the spiritual condition of a girl of 14 who lived with her. The girl having stated that her parents were Protestants, the Bishop said there was no hope for salvation without the pale of the Catholic Church, and he could not even allow her to leave that day without the bestowal of a baptismal blessing, and through fear she submitted. In reply to the husband's remonstrance, the Bishop contends that duty to the Church overrides duty to parents and husbands."

Far be it from me, if even you were to permit me to take such a course, to say one word either for or against Roman Catholicism, or indeed, any other religious belief or system whatever; but I must point out that this over-riding of all authority, human and Divine, this severing of the holiest of all ties, dear alike to God and man, is the action of those who calumniate us, slander us, revile us, excommunicate us, deprive us of the rites of sepulture, desecrate our very graves, and find no worthier epithets to bestow upon our inoffensive peacefulness than "putrid," on our charity than "leprosy of heresy."

I remain, dear Sir and Brother, faithfully and fraternally yours,

FAIR PLAY.

[We think that the correspondence on Ultramontanism had better now cease.—Ed.]

FATHER FOY ON FREEMASONRY.

The following correspondence relative to Father Foy's address appeared in the "Hastings Observer," October 21st:—

Sir,—In his lecture on Secret Societies reported in your last issue, Father Foy brandishes his spiritual shillelagh with great vigour about the heads of Freemasons. I trust he will accept my assurance that in his account of the frightful oath which he says is enforced on every free and accepted Mason, he has either been hoaxed, or has sought for his authority in the pages of a "penny dreadful" or one of the sham publications which innocent countrymen purchase in the delusion that they contain the secrets of Freemasonry. Father Foy must have a most high imagination if he believes that sensible men, in these days of police and sanitary inspectors, could talk of hanging bodies like the scarecrows magnified by distorted vision into Turkish impalements. I would also assure Father Foy that Masonry, unlike his own creed, inculcates a ready obedience to the laws of whatever country it may be practised in, and as an instance of its worth from a religious point of view, may mention that I have presided over a lodge where a high-taste Brahmin and a Mussulman joined with Catholics and Protestants regularly in praying to their common Father, "O Lord, who hast taught us that all our doings without charity are nothing worth; pour into our hearts that most excellent gift of charity, the bond of peace and of all virtues, without which whosoever is counted dead before Thee," a prayer which, both in word and spirit, I would recommend Father Foy to add to his daily devotions.

Yours obediently,

A FREEMASON.

St. Leonards Club, 17th October, 1876.

Sir,—As one perfectly unbiassed with regard to the subject on which the Rev. Mr. Foy is now lecturing, and with a view solely of gaining information, I have read the discourse chronicled in your last week's number, and am obliged to confess my complete disappointment therewith.

The real question in my humble opinion appears to be this, "What is the relation between the Society known in England as Freemasons, and those on the Continent to which Mr. Foy attributes such 'atrocities?' " (that is, I believe, the popular word just at present.) Mr. Foy has said a great deal that has been said a thousand times before, perhaps not less forcibly than he has himself just said it; but with regard to what appears, in my humble opinion, at least to be the point on which information would be valuable, he has told us nothing, and I would therefore venture respectfully to suggest, that, unless this omission be supplied in the forthcoming lectures, it is more than possible, not only that they will be totally innoxious, so far as Masonry is concerned, but that like a celebrated personage of ancient times, he may find that he has "altogether blessed" where he intended to curse.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant,

St. Leonards-on-Sea.

A NON-MASON.

Sir,—Having read in your paper of the 14th inst. the address on "Secret Societies" delivered by the Rev. Mr. Foy in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Thomas in your town, I beg to state, as an English Mason, that, so far as it was intended to apply to English Masonry, the discourse does not contain one word of truth, but, on the contrary, is a gross and wicked libel. I have very little knowledge of foreign Masonry, but I believe the same observation would equally apply to it.

I am, Sir, yours obediently,

JOHN CASTLE GANT.

Reigate, Oct. 17, 1876.

P.S.—I hope some members of the Craft at Hastings and St. Leonards will defend it against such a vile attack.

PROTESTANTISM IN SPAIN.

[The following appeared in the "Times" of Monday. We do not know to what Masonic procession Sir George Bowyer alludes.—Ed.]

Sir,—I regret the course taken in Spain on the 11th Article of the Constitution (if what we are told is correct), for intolerance, or even the appearance of intolerance and bigotry, is much to be deprecated on principle, as well as dangerous to religion and to public security. It is well that the English Government should give friendly and respectful advice on this subject. But some such action would be both becoming and useful elsewhere. I mean in Italy.

In Spain the dissenters from the national religion are not only a small minority, but a mere fraction, and some deference to the predominant opinions of the country may be expected from them. Italy is a Roman Catholic country, and the vast majority of the people are, or profess themselves, Roman Catholics. Yet the Roman Catholics of Italy are restricted in the same manner as the Protestants in Spain from any manifestation of their religion outside the churches. Thus, though religious processions are a national and historical institution in Italy, no public processions are allowed except those of the Freemasons and Liberi Pensatori. And a law is announced to take the property of all religious societies and associations, and another to compel all children to receive not only an education without religion, but what is called a "Progressist education," which is irreligious."

It is also worth while to point out that the other day a "Church Congress" at Bologna, presided over by the Cardinal Archbishop and the Duke Salviati, and including five Bishops and many laymen of high rank, and held in a church, was broken up by the Prefect because the police and the authorities allowed a mob to make a riot, a subscription having been collected to pay the rioters.

I may be asked how it is that in Italy the majority allow themselves to be domineered over by the minority. There are three answers to this question:—1st, the military discipline of the army; and, the secret societies; and 3rd, the fact that Italy is inhabited, not by Englishmen, but by Italians.

Requesting the publication of this letter, I remain, your obedient servant,

GEORGE BOWYER.

CHARITY ORGANISATION.

The following letter has appeared in the "Times":—
Sir,—Having seen in a recent paper a paragraph headed "Shocking Death from Starvation," I have been induced to address you and make known the following facts:—About eight months ago myself and son, who is twenty years of age, arrived in London. At that time we were tolerably well off as to money, &c. From that time to the present we have been most indefatigable in endeavouring to procure employment in fair copying or anything else next to menial, but have failed to succeed. Our last shilling being expended, and we being at the time in arrears for lodging and washing, we received notice to leave. Being compelled to do so, we had to wander the streets for two nights in succession. My son being in a very delicate state of health, is now considerably worse, owing, I have no doubt, to exposure and want of food. I am advanced in years and very feeble. Some eight or ten days ago, when going down St. James's-street I saw on the door of No. 21 a brass plate, on which are the following words:—"Metropolitan Visiting and Relief Fund, first floor." I went upstairs and had an interview with a gentleman who appeared highly respectable. My son waited my return in the street. I briefly stated our sad case, and that we had not tasted food of any description since the previous morning (this was three o'clock in the afternoon). My statement was true, to which he appeared to listen attentively. His reply was that no relief could be obtained there, that the only relief given was by the clergy, and they visited the persons on whom it was bestowed. He then said, "You had better go to the 'Charity Organization,' in Buckingham-street, Strand" (which address he put on paper), "where, in all probability, you will get some relief." On our arrival I saw on a board in large letters the words above stated. I there had an audience with a gentleman, who desired me to be seated, and asked me numerous questions, the whole of which I answered correctly. He then asked who it was that recommended us there. I told him, when he said he knew no such place, but if there was it was out of their district. He then said "I cannot do anything for you," but gave me the name and address of a relieving officer whose residence was some three miles from there. I said "We at present are quite exhausted," and told him that we had not eaten anything since the previous morning; but every entreaty was in vain, and I left the office. My son, as in St. James's, remained at the door. A gentleman, seeing us leave, accosted us, and said, "You will excuse me—have you been endeavouring to procure relief?" I said "Yes." He asked, "Did you succeed?" The answer was "No." He said "Not likely," and that scores to his knowledge who were in a most distressed condition had made similar appeals there, but were rejected with the only redress of the name and address of the relieving officer. He commented on the conduct of some four or five who were in the same office (one of whom passed at the time) in the most bitter terms, and in language which I forbear making use of. He requested us to remain a short time, and on his return brought us some bread and butter, folded in a piece of newspaper, and gave us all the money he had—viz., threepence halfpenny. We then wended our way to St. James's Park, sat on a form there, and ate the bread and butter. We remained in and about the Park until 1 o'clock in the morning. A policeman came to us and said we were not allowed to remain there. I told him we were not bad characters, had nowhere to go, and were destitute. He was remarkably civil, but again said we could not remain there, and told us to go to Covent-garden, where we should be out of the rain. (It was slightly raining at the time.) We went there and saw some scores of men, women, and children lying in groups, and, it grieves me to say, making use of the most blasphemous and dreadful language. A most terrible night it was, and when day-light appeared we had nowhere to go to obtain a mouthful of food. We have had no assistance from any one in London ever since, but have lived most economically on small remittances sent from the country by some relatives, who, I am sorry to say, are in very indigent circumstances, and these are now, for want of means, discontinued. What to do I am quite at a loss to devise, and am much afraid the fate of the late poor Mr. Arthur French will be mine if no kind friend will come to the rescue in procuring us employment. We have lived in the same town for many years, and our character will bear the most strict investigation as to honesty, &c.; to corroborate which I beg to state that the Mayor and magistrates where we have so long resided will give ample testimony of the same.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,
October 20, 1876.

VETA.

Reviews.

FAUST.—Illustrated by Frederick Bruckman, 17, Southampton-street, Strand.

This is a remarkable work. It is an edition of Goethe's Faust, with the translation of Theodore Martin, C.B., and illustrated by Professor Kreling, a pupil of Kaulbach's. The work is in folio size, and will contain 78 wood engravings, and 14 high-class permanent photographs. This is a very fine library volume, and the specimen submitted to us is alike most striking in typographic elegance and artistic excellence. We wish it every success. To all the admirers of Goethe it will be very welcome.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST. Part I., Illustrated. By F. W. FARRAR, D.D., Canon of Westminster.—Cassell, Petter, & Galpin.

We have received Part I. of this remarkable work, which we think will be a great boon to many readers.

We do not profess to review as a general rule religious works, but as the "Times" truly says, "apart from all theological prepossessions this work is 'sui generis,'" standing isolated on the great plateau of literature, from the teeming myriads of purely spiritual productions, whether in respect of dogma or of practice. It is in itself a great fact in the history of religious literature, it is a striking testimony of the writer's power, of the gift and grace of his effective style. And then what a history is set before us, so wonderful, so solemn, and so subduing.

We will defy any one to rise from the perusal of Dr. Farrar's "Life of Christ" without experiencing deep emotion, and being greatly affected by the sustained but thrilling narrative. Some of us may have read Renan's "Vie de Jesus," and may recall the mingled sense of sadness and sorrow, of fear and depression, of doubt and dismay, with which they closed, somewhat gladly, at last, melancholy pages, that mournful monument of perverted ingenuity, and unreliable criticism. But with Dr. Farrar's "Life of Christ," the effect is quite the contrary. There are passages in the work we are willing to read over and over again; and none of us can put the two volumes down of the original edition without a deep feeling of admiration for the writer, and a vivid memory of a very wonderful work. We do not intend to go into to-day the questions which always arise, especially if a book is successful, as to any defects, or doubts, which some have discovered or expressed concerning it. We are not aware of any work in past times or the present which has so seized on to the public mind, and so gained the public approval, and though both of these things so to say are not everything, yet they are and mean great deal. But we may fairly say this, that we cannot enter into the narrowness of that intellect, or the pettiness of that criticism, which finds fault with Dr. Farrar's writing, because it is too much of "word painting," or because it appeals to the subjective sympathies of the age too much, in the opinion of the writer. We hold that all really great works are suited in the Providence of God to the age which witnesses their appearance, and that as each age has its own special tastes and tendencies, and habits of thought, nay, even its views of theology, so we are not to condemn a writer who honestly seeks to do good by skilfully availing himself even of the passing characteristics (if you like) of literature. We do not like, some of us, Lord Clarendon's style; we think it verbose, heavy, hazy, too ponderous, and dogmatic; but who can doubt that those who first read it thoroughly appreciated its "tangled periods," and somewhat pompous sentences, and even now it may be doubted whether we have a truer or better history of the period. In our opinion, those who find fault with Dr. Farrar's work because it is too "sensational," too full of striking contrasts, hardly understand their own criticism, and sure we are of this, that all who have once perused those often startling pages, will feel forcibly alike the faithful realism of the writer, and the distinctness of the truths and message he has sought to uphold and deliver. We congratulate Messrs. Cassell, Petter, & Galpin on this opportune offering of very high-class literature, on very reasonable terms, to that somewhat exorbitant body—the British Reading Public.

MUSIC.

"A SISTER'S FAREWELL." Music by H. ANDERSON; Words by ELIZA COOK.

"MY NELLY WALTZES." By HARRIET ANDERSON.

We have received these two "morceaux," and feel it to be our duty, for several reasons, to commend them earnestly to the support of the Craft. There are some touching incidents attending the publication of these two pieces of music, which appear to us to constitute a claim both on the attention and sympathy of Freemasons. Mr. Charles Williams, who was about to be initiated in The Great City Lodge, died on the very day on which he was to have been initiated, leaving a widow and five children unprovided for. Bro. Anderson is now publishing these two efforts of musical skill and power for the benefit of the widow and children of one who, though not a brother, intended to be one, had it so pleased T.G.A.O.T.U. Miss Eliza Cook, the well-known poetess, speaks in high and well-merited terms of the melody of the late Miss Anderson's compositions, and we feel sure that they will please alike amateurs and skilled musicians. We think that many of our brethren will be willing to lend Bro. Anderson a helping hand in his truly Masonic efforts, and whether charitably or artistically, we are convinced that their generous support will not be a subject of disappointment to them. We may add that David Walter Williams, aged 3 years, is seeking for admission to the Alexandra Orphanage for Infants, and that any votes will be gratefully received by Bro. W. Anderson, 47, New Kent-road, S.E.

Matum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

BRO. BOLLON.

In all old lodge minute books of 1866, to which I have called attention in the November "Masonic Magazine," a Bro. Bollon, in the list of members, is said to have "gone to America." Is anything known of that brother in the history of American Freemasonry? I ask the question because he seems to have been an active member of Lodge 194 (Antient Masons), and formerly its W.M. He was also a member of the Royal Arch.

EDITOR "MASONIC MAGAZINE."

Obituary.

DEATH OF THE DEPUTY PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTER OF SUFFOLK.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. E. I. Lockwood, rector of Belstead, which took place at the rectory on Friday from an attack of gout. The deceased, who was 78 years of age, was a widower, and leaves four daughters to mourn their loss. He was educated at Jesus College, Cambridge, and took his degree of B.A. in 1820. He was created deacon in 1822, and received the degree of M.A., and was ordained a priest by the Bishop of Chester in 1823. In 1846 he entered upon the living of Belstead, which was in his own patronage, and had consequently at the time of his death been rector of the parish 30 years. The living is worth £370 per annum. He was initiated as a Freemason at the Stuart Lodge, Bedford, and became a member of the British Union Lodge, 114, Ipswich, in 1861. In 1863 and 1864 he filled the office of W.M. in that lodge with great credit to himself, and to the benefit of the lodge, and on vacating office was presented with a Past Master's jewel. Bro. Sir Alexander Shafto Adair (Lord Waveney) became a member in the same year, and on being made Prov. G.M. of Suffolk appointed Bro. Lockwood, Deputy, an office which he held up to the time of his death.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Old Sores, Wounds and Ulcers.—The readiness with which Holloway's unguent removes all obstructions in the circulation of the vessels and lymphatics, explains their irresistible influence in healing old sores, bad wounds, and indolent ulcers. To insure the desired effect the skin surrounding the diseased part should be fomented, dried, and immediately well rubbed with the Ointment. This will give purity to the foul blood, and strength to the weakened nerves, the only conditions necessary for the cure of all those ulcerations which render life almost intolerable. No sooner is this Ointment's protective powers exerted than the destructive process ceases and the constructive business begins—new healthy growth appears to fill up the lately painful excavated pit.—ADVT.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST YORKSHIRE.

[We thank our distinguished brother for transmitting to us a copy of the following speech. It would have appeared last week, but was crowded out by the report of our Grand Master's visit to Glasgow.]

At the quarterly meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, held at Harrogate, Bro. Sir Henry Edwards, the Provincial Grand Master, gave the following address:—Worshipful Masters, Officers, and Brethren of this Provincial Grand Lodge,—The time has again arrived when it becomes my pleasing duty to address you as your Provincial Grand Master, and in so doing, I am sure I cannot gratify both yourselves and myself more than by inviting you all to participate in the pleasing duties of this Provincial Grand Lodge, assuring you that the matters in which we are about to be engaged could not well fail to give you unalloyed satisfaction. Receive, I beg of you, my warmest acknowledgments for the salutation with which you have greeted me in Harrogate, a place familiar to me for a long period in connection with my yeomanry command, and for the cordiality of the Masonic compliment you have rendered to the office I occupy amongst the brethren of West Yorkshire. We assemble to-day under the banner of a lodge established in one of the most popular inland watering places in Yorkshire, a place annually visited by about forty or fifty thousand persons from all countries, in search of health or of recreation, and celebrated for the hospitality of the brethren of the Claro Lodge, as well as for its baths, mineral springs, and hospitals. There was a period far back in the chronicle of time, when the whole of this neighbourhood was a thick forest, and when Harrogate was an almost inaccessible nook in the Wolds of Yorkshire. To-day, however, the town is approached by railway and other means of communication, and is replete with every convenience. We meet for our autumnal gathering in a lodge—the only one in this fashionable resort—which, although small in numbers, has twice entertained Provincial Grand Lodge since the date of its constitution. To the hospitality of the Worshipful Master we are indebted for the privilege of meeting here on the present occasion. Like some other lodges in this province, the "Harrogate and Claro" has had its difficulties to overcome, but it has conquered its vicissitudes, and is now, I am happy to believe, in a prosperous condition. It has been enabled to establish itself in rooms adapted to its requirements, and its treasury is carefully administered and protected. The late Deputy P.G.M. at Doncaster, on this subject said, on the 8th July, 1874, that he "desires to impress upon the brethren the fact that, excepting the Worshipful Masters of Lodges, there was no officer of more importance than the Treasurer, and he impressed upon those officers the desirability of calling upon members for their subscriptions before they got into arrear." I endorse his advice. The brethren, I hope, will have observed a paragraph which has appeared in several of the Provincial Grand Lodge quarterly summonses, relating to the safe custody of old lodge books, records, and papers. The notice runs thus: "The Provincial Grand Secretary is anxious to form a complete set of Provincial Grand Lodge summonses, and will take as a favour, if any old copies can be furnished." My deputy informs me that many of the lodges he has visited regret the loss of old minute and cash books, which destroys the links of history in the constitutions of the lodges between the present and the past, and thus the continuity of the history and progress of the lodges from their dates of constitution cannot now be traced. Let me firmly impress upon the Masters of Lodges that steps be taken in every lodge to provide proper boxes or safes for the better and certain custody of these invaluable documents. And I earnestly recommend that each lodge at once form a small committee, to not only search for these scattered records, but also to make an inventory of them. Whilst on this topic, I desire to add that our Provincial Grand Lodge archives, under the care of the Provincial Grand Secretary, are still short of a large number of previous Grand Lodge summonses from the year A.L. 5823, when the province of West Yorkshire was constituted. At our July meeting I mentioned that I and my deputy had determined to have the Huddersfield edition of our Provincial Grand Lodge bye-laws reprinted, and it would be desirable to add another bye-law to the list, as it is my earnest desire that Worshipful Masters should be better acquainted with these bye-laws, as well as with the Book of Constitutions. Our able Provincial Grand Registrar, who has done a great deal of work this year, has given notice of such a bye-law, with which I and my deputy perfectly coincide. In conclusion, I have only to remark that the province, I believe without exception, is in a prosperous condition, and the brethren, I trust, in perfect unity and harmony. And now that I have entered upon the more active season of the year, when the 61 lodges meet regularly, I trust there may be an earnest desire to study the principles upon which our ancient and time-honoured fraternity is founded, and to guard at the same time our portals from unworthy candidates, whose object is not merely to gratify a vain curiosity, but to join for the privilege of participating in convivial meetings; and to admit those novitiates only who enter of their own free will and accord to participate in the privileges of our Order, and who are likely to become esteemed and illustrious upholders of piety and virtue.

Col. Le Gendre N. Starkie has appointed Wednesday, the 22nd prox., as the day on which he will hold the Provincial Grand Lodge of Lancashire, Eastern Division. The Grand Lodge will be opened at one o'clock in the Commissioners' Rooms, Middleton, the banquet being held in the Co-operative Hall at four o'clock.

ARCHÆOLOGICAL SECTION OF THE FALCON LODGE, No. 1416, AT THIRSK.

On the 7th inst., the members, accompanied by the Vicar, the Rev. Bro. A. T. Atwood, M.A., Rural Dean visited Leake, and inspected the church and hall. Here many centuries ago stood a large village, which was destroyed under successive attacks by the Danes, the Normans, and the Scots, its existence and extent being yet partially traceable in the ridges and buried foundations found in the neighbouring fields. The church, dedicated to St. Mary stands in proximity to the hall, and is a venerable building, comprising nave, chancel, aisles, porch, and an interesting tower in the Anglo-Saxon style. The tower and nave are evidently the oldest parts of the structure, and without buttresses. The chancel has a buttress at each angle, and one in each side; the entrance door of the chancel being through one of the buttresses. The east window is of four lights, in the perpendicular style, and filled in principally with plain glass; those of the nave, clerestory, and chancel of two lights each. The roof is of low pitch, and covered with lead, and over the entrance of the porch is a sun dial inscribed "Labitur et Labetur."

The three arches dividing the north aisle from the nave are circular, as is also the arch opening from the nave into the basement of the tower; all the capitals differ, and are adorned with sculptured foliage. It is a matter for conjecture whether the south aisle may not be of later date, the arches being pointed. One of the capitals deserves special notice, being carved into a profusion of oak leaves and acorns. The existence of a piscina in the wall of the south aisle seems to indicate that at some time there had been a small chapel here. In 1854 the church was renovated, and several alterations made. The stalls throughout are of oak, and in excellent preservation; two panels inserted in the screen to the pulpit have originally belonged to the squire's pew, and show some singular ornamentation. Two of the stall ends removed to the chancel are beautiful specimens of carving in oak, although one of them has been partially mutilated, and bear figures of nondescript animals, symbols with brief legends, and the date of the work, 1519. The tablets in the chancel do not possess much interest; but in the middle aisle of the nave is a brass with male and female figures, and in excellent preservation. The largest bell in the tower was brought from Riveaux Abbey.

The parish registers commence in 1570. During the Protectorate, from 1648 to the Restoration in 1660, the Church of Leake appears to have been shut up, as no entry is made in the registers during the whole of those twelve years; and it seems as if not even a parliamentary sequestrator had been appointed, as no mention is made of the parish in the parliamentary surveys of 1649 and 1655. Kewick, in this parish, belonged to Lord Fauconberg, who married the third daughter of Cromwell.

Having crossed the churchyard, in which stone coffins have frequently been found, the party visited the "Danes' Lane," said to have been associated with the massacre of the Danes A.D. 1002, and Mr. Atwood read a remarkably interesting statement, taken from the lips of an old man to whom it had been handed down by oral tradition. Several years ago a great quantity of skeletons were discovered in that part of the churchyard adjoining the lane, apparently having been indiscriminately thrown together as into a pit, and indicating some great and terrible destruction of human life, as also many silver coins, principally of the coinage of Edward I., and minted at York.

Leake Hall, the only remaining house in the village, has been occupied for 200 years by the Morton family, and was formerly one of the residences of the Danbys and Scropes. It is an antique building, retaining many of the features of the manorial houses of the 16th century, a wide staircase of massive oak, and having its rooms wainscoted in panels. These, together with a curious old painting on oak, but in a very dilapidated condition, representing the events of our Lord's Passion, were very kindly shewn to the party, who soon afterwards left Leake, having been much interested by their visit, and highly gratified with the courtesy and generous hospitality of the Vicar and Mr. Matthew Morton.

[This would have appeared last week, but we could not find room for it.]

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, November 3, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28.

Audit Com. Boys' School, at 3.
Lodge 1293, Burdett, Mitre Hot., Hampton-st.
Chap. 176, Caveac, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchdster, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-sq.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30.

Lodge 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.

St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.

Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Upper Norwood, White Hart Ho., Church-rd.,
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31.

Lodge 141, Faith, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 169, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1.

Grand Chapter, at 7.
Lodge 511, Zetland, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1491, Athenaeum, Camden-rd., Holloway.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermyn-st., St. James's.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

Lodge 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 45, Strong Man, M.H., Masons' Avenue.
" 192, Lion and Lamb, Cannon-st. Hot.
" 227, Ionic, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 231, St. Andrew's, F.M.H.
" 538, La Tolerance, F.M.H.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 822, Victoria Rifles, F.M.H.
" 1351, St. Clement Danes, 265, Strand.
" 1360, Royal Arthur, Wimbledon Village Club.
" 1445, Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav.
" 1539, Surrey M.H., S.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horse, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

Lodge 706, Florence Nightingale, M.H., Woolwich.
" 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
Chap. 3, Fidelity.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Constitution, Bedford-st., Covent Garden.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 4, 1876.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30.

Lodge 148, Lights, M.R. Warrington.
" 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.
" 703, Clifton, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31.

Lodge 897, Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helen's.
" 986, Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston.
Chap. 721, Grosvenor, M.R., Chester.
Merchant's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1.

Lodge 86, Loyalty, M.H., Prescott.
" 484, Faith, Gerard's Arms, Ashton-in-Makerfield.
" 580, Harmony, Wheatheaf, Ormskirk.
" 730, Ellesmere, Royal Oak Hot., Chorley.
" 758, Ellesmere, M.H., Runcorn.
" 1313, Royal Victoria, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1335, Lindsay, 20, King-st., Wigan.
" 1354, Marquis of Lorne, M.R., Leigh.
Chap. 477, Fidelity, 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
De Grey and Ripon L. of I., N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Harmonic L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Mark Lodge 65, West Lancashire, M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

Lodge 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1473, Bootle, Assembly Rooms, Bootle.
Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.
St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

Lodge 680, Sefton, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
" 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.
" 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.
" 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.
Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 4, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30.

Lodge 103, Union and Crown, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 202, St. John, Bishop-st., Rothesay.

Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James-st., Glasgow, S.S.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31.

Chap. 73, Caledonian of Unity, 213, Buchanan-st.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1.

Lodge 0, Mother Kilwinning, M.H., Kilwinning.
" 4, Glasgow Kilwinning, 162, Kent-rd., Glasgow.
" 21, Old St. John, M.H., Lanark.
" 86, Navigation, Navigation Arms Hot., Troon.
" 117, St. Mary, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
" 126, St. Andrew, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 128, St. John, M.H., Shettleston.
" 166, St. John, M.H., Airdrie.
" 198, Royal Arch, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
" 202, St. Clement, Com. H., Croft-st., Kilmarnock.
" 233, Hamilton, Spalding's Hot., Hamilton.
" 331, St. Peter, Portland Arms, Galston.
" 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 87, Shamrock and Thistle, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

Lodge 11, St. John, King's Arms Hot., Maybole.
" 22, St. John Kilwinning, George, Kilmarnock.
" 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 149, St. Andrew, Masons' Arms, Irvine.
" 157, St. John Kilwinning, M.H., Beith.
" 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
" 290, Blair, White Hart Hot., Dalry.
" 320, St. John, R.A., M.H., Saltcoats & Ardrossan.
" 370, Renfrew County Kilw., 8, High-st., Paisley.
" 465, St. Andrew, 69, Garngad-rd., Glasgow (7.30).
" 547, Stewart, M.H., Kilsyth.

Chap. 114, Baron of Renfrew, M.H., High-st., Renfrew.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

Lodge 7, Hamilton Kilwinning, M.H., Hamilton.
" 114, Royal Arch, M.H., Cambuslang.
" 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.
" 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.
" 156, St. Barchan, Masons' Arms Inn, Kilbarchan.
" 175, St. John, St. John's Hall, Greenock.
" 217, Cumberland Kilw., Old T.H., Port Glasgow.
" 242, Houston St. Johnston, Cross Keys, Johnston.
" 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.
" 335, Argyle, Drill Hall, Dunoon.
" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 408, Clyde, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 459, Kelburn, Cumbræ Hot., Millport.
" 512, Thorntree, School House, Thornliebank.
" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.
Chap. 112, Paisley, St. Mirren's Hall, Paisley.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4.

Lodge 458, St. John, Wilson's Hall, Busby.
" 544, St. Andrews, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 4, 1876.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

Lodge 97, St. James, M.H., Writers'-ct.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

Lodge 291, Celtic, Ship Hot., E. Register-st.

NATIONAL SOCIETY

FOR

Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War.

TURCO-SERVIAN RELIEF.

Chairman—Lieut.-Col. LOYD LINDSAY, V.C., M.P.
Deputy Chairman—Sir E. A. H. LECHMER, Bart., M.P.
Chairman of Executive Committee—Captain DOUGLAS GALTON, C.B., F.R.S.

Messrs. Coutts and Co.—Bankers.

The following contributions have been received:—

NINTH LIST.
	£	s.	d.
I. G.	5	0	0
Alexander Colvin, Esq.	2	0	0
J. C. A.	1	0	0
Barton Smith, Esq.	2	2	0

CHURCH COLLECTIONS:

At Tatham Chapel, per Rev. J. Marshall ...	1	0	0
At Kendall parish Church	9	5	6
At St. Bartholomew's, Chichester	3	9	0
At Ambleside, part offertory	15	12	2
At St. Luke's, Weaste	9	8	8
At All Saint's, Blackheath, additional	0	10	0
At St. Mark's, Lakenham, per Rev. J. W. Colvin ..	5	0	0
At Middleton, per Rev. George Hamilton ...	3	5	6
At St. Peter's, Guernmore, per Rev. Elisha White ..	1	16	0
At North Wooton, per Rev. W. W. Clarke ...	1	1	0

CHAS. J. BURGESS, Secretary.

No. 3, Craven-street, Strand, London, Oct. 20, 1876.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	487
Instruction	488
Royal Arch	489
Mark Masonry	490
Provincial Grand Lodge of Durham	490
Grand Mark Lodge	490
Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Lancashire	490
Supreme Grand Chapter	490
Grand Lodge of Quebec	491
Archæological Section of the Falcon Lodge, Thirsk	491
Constitution of a Mark Lodge at Leicester	491
The Royal Visit to Norwich	491
Hobart Town Freemasons' Hall Company	491
Swedenborgian Rite	491
The Present Aspects of French Freemasonry	492
The Legal Status of Freemasonry	492
Charity Organisation	492
The Arctic Expedition	493
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Hermeticism and Long Lives	494
A "Marked" Mason	494
The Albany M.S.	494
Spartans Freemasonry	494
Instruction	494
Freemasonry and the Home Rulers	494
The Hamer Benevolent Fund	495
Masonic and General Tidings	495
Grand Lodge of New Brunswick	495
Masonic Meetings for next Week	495
Advertisements	L. II. III. IV. V. VI.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

DOMATIC LODGE (No. 177).—The first meeting after the recess of this old and prosperous lodge was held at Anderson's Hotel, on Friday, the 13th ult. There were present at the opening of the lodge Bros. G. Everett, I.P.M., W.M. 1281, acting for the W.M., Bro. Treadwell, who could not be present in consequence of his having met with a very severe accident; Willing, jun. S.W.; Palmer, J.W.; Smith, P.G.P., &c., Treas.; Williams, Sec.; Buscall, S.D.; Clark, J.D.; White, I.G.; Spink, D.C.; Maclean, A.S.; Adams, P.G.P., P.M.; Tims, P.M.; Walford, P.M.; Haydn, P.M.; Ferguson, P.M. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the I.P.M. raised Bros. Killingback, Jewell, and Stevens, and initiated Mr. Hilden. The ceremonies were performed with Bro. Everett's usual ability. A petition to the Board of Benevolence from a distressed member of the lodge having been signed, the lodge was closed, and the brethren, to the number of nearly 100, adjourned to the banquet, which was well served in the Pillar-room under the management of Bro. Smith. Upon the removal of the cloth, the toast of "The Queen and Craft," "The M.W.G.M., and the Pro G.M., D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present," were given by the I.P.M.—prefaced by a few pertinent remarks—and they were duly honoured. "The Health of the W.M." was proposed by Bro. Smith, P.M. In the course of his speech, he referred to the lamentable accident that had befallen Bro. Treadwell, but he said it was a pleasure to think that the duties of the lodge and convivial board had been so well discharged in the W.M.'s absence by the I.P.M., who, at a great sacrifice of time, had come many miles to preside over them. He should therefore couple the name of Bro. Everett with the toast. This pledge having been well received, the acting W.M. made an excellent reply, in which he feelingly alluded to the untoward accident that had befallen the W.M., but hoped that he (Bro. Treadwell) would be in his place at the next meeting. In proposing "The Health of the Initiate," the I.P.M. dwelt upon the good effects engendered by Freemasonry, which was one of the most ancient institutions in existence, and in conclusion he congratulated the initiate upon having entered the mysterious portals of the Craft, whose principles were Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth. The newly-admitted brother made a very brief reply, which was to the effect that he felt proud at having been initiated into this honourable society, that he was profoundly impressed with the ceremony, and that he hoped to obtain a better knowledge of its principles on a future occasion. The toast of "The Visitors" followed. In introducing this, the I.P.M. made some very amusing allusions. He stated that he had heard that the members of the Domatic were considered rather given to undue merriment at the convivial board, but if that were so, it was strange that there should be so many visitors at the lodge meetings, who always appeared pleased at the reception they received, and the cry was "still they come!" For his own part he preferred the free and easy behaviour of No. 177 to the starchiness that prevailed in some lodges he could name, and in conclusion, he stated that there were nearly 100 members present that evening, which spoke well for the vitality of the lodge, and on their behalf he offered the good right hand of fellowship to the visiting brethren, and assured them that they—the members of the Domatic—were heartily glad to see them. This toast was coupled with the names of Bros. Draper, W.M. Saint Marylebone; and Walls, S.D. Kennington, who briefly replied. Amongst the visitors also were Bros. Hollis, P.M. 197; Rowe, S.W. 167; Croaker, I.G. 185; Fowler, J.W. 1305. In proposing the toast of "The P.M.'s," the I.P.M. made a funny allusion to their being not only the "pillows" but the "pillars" of the lodge, and called attention to the venerable and substantial appearance they presented, and congratulated them upon possessing amongst their number those who held Past Grand honours. This toast having been well received, Bros. Walford and Ferguson made excellent responses. "The Health of the Father and Treasurer of the Lodge, Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P.," followed, and having been duly honoured, gave that worthy brother an opportunity of making one of his paternal and able replies. "The Secretary, Bro. Williams," was duly toasted, and he briefly returned thanks. In giving the toast of "The Officers of the Lodge," the I.P.M. paid a very high compliment to the Wardens, Bros. Willing and Palmer, and their subordinates, for the great ability they displayed in the discharge of their respective duties. Bros. Willing and Palmer, in the course of their replies, expressed a hope that when the time arrived for them to solicit the suffrages of the brethren for the high distinction of W.M., that they would be successful, and in the event of their occupying the position that they would use their best endeavours to keep up the prestige of the lodge by following in the steps of the long and distinguished array of P.M.'s who had filled the chair of the Domatic with credit to themselves, and to the satisfaction of their brethren. Bros. Buscall, Clark, White, and Spink also replied. In the intervals Bros. Palmer, Walls, Butt and others, vocally entertained the brethren. The Tyler's toast, at half-past ten, terminated the proceedings, and the brethren separated until the second Friday in November.

LEWIS LODGE (No. 1185).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, the 21st October, at the King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green, and was numerously attended. Bro. Alfred Durrant, W.M., presided; Bro. Berrie, acting as S.W.; Bro. Thos. Holmes Turner (W.M. elect) J.W., and the other officers, all being present, together with the following visitors:—Bros. Vesper, Yarboro, 554; Davis, Zetland, 551; Cushion, Great Northern, 1287; Brooks-Fowler and Mendy, High Cross, 754; and A. McKenzie, Fitz Roy, 569. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the last meeting read and signed, the W.M. proceeded to initiate Messrs. Kennett Harris, George Powell, William George Kildreth, and John Thomas Chase into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. The next business was the installation of Bro. Thos. Howes Turner as W.M., and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed, Bro. Turner was in due form installed by the outgoing Master, Bro. Durrant. The W.M. having received the customary salutes, proceeded to invest his officers as follows:—Bro. Shipwright, S.W.; Laver, J.W.; W. Bro. May, P.M., Treas.; W. Bro. Leard, P.M., Sec.; Bro. Bone, S.D.; Bro. Berrie, J.D.; Bro. Hooper, I.G.; W. Bro. Row, P.M., D.C.; Bro. Meen, Org.; Bro. Conolly, Stwd.; and Bro. C. T. Speight, P.M., Tyler. Bro. Durrant, the retiring and installing Master, then delivered the customary addresses; and it must be remarked that though, comparatively speaking, a young Mason, he has worked well during his year of office, and having closed it with satisfaction to himself and the members of the lodge, he has well earned the handsome Past Master's jewel of the lodge, which was presented to him on his vacating the chair. The report of the Audit Committee was received and adopted. The other business of the evening having been disposed of, the lodge was closed in due form with solemn prayer.

MIDDLETON.—Imperial George Lodge (No. 78).—The above lodge held its monthly meeting on Thursday, the 22nd ult., at the Asheton Arms Hotel. Present: Bros. David Reid, W.M.; John Dyson, P.M., acting S.W.; S. H. Chatham, P.M., acting J.W.; F. Fothergill, Sec.; John Hutton, I.G.; John Kent, Tyler; Wilson, Fatton, Brant, Hewitt, Valentine, Newton, P. Lawton, Jones, Lees, Burtles, Beresford, and Howard. Visitors: Bros. Mackie, P.M. of the Architect and Integrity, and Ferndale. The lodge was opened at 6 p.m. when Bros. Brant, Valentine, and Beresford were raised to the Degree of Master Mason by the W.M., assisted by Bro. Mackie. The lodge being lowered to the E.A. Degree, the Secretary announced to the brethren that permission had been kindly given by the M.W.G.M. for the lodge to wear the Centenary jewel; also that the November meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of East Lancashire would be held under the auspices of the above lodge at Middleton. The lodge was then closed according to ancient custom, when the brethren sat down to a delicious repast, ably provided by the hostess, Mrs. Harrison. After the cloth was removed, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, the Tyler's toast bringing the evening to a close.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude (No. 281).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Atheneum, Lancaster, on the 11th ult., Bro. T. Atkinson, the W.M., presiding. There was not a large attendance. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed. There being no special business before the lodge, Bro. Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of E., gave an exposition of the "Masonic Institutions, past and present." At the close a hearty vote of thanks was accorded him. The usual proclamations having been made, the lodge closed in peace, love, and harmony, and with the formalities of the Craft.

BEDFORD.—Stuart Lodge (No. 540).—At the monthly meeting on Wednesday, the 25th ult., the W.M., Capt. Green, was, as usual, in his place; the I.P.M., Wardens, and Deacons, being unavoidably absent, some being out of England at the time, their places were filled as follows:—Bros. Rev. Faussett Ward, J. M. Cuthbert, P.M.; A. Cookson, P.M.; E. Billson, P.M.; and F. Thompson, jun. The Chaplain, Treasurer, Secretary, and I.G., Bros. Rev. C. Breton, Alderman Sergeant, Dr. Prior, and R. H. Coombs, were present, as was also Bro. Alderman J. R. Bull, Steward, and very many brethren; amongst whom we noticed Bros. W. J. Nash, P.M.; Harris, Roe, Tafford, Kilpin, Whittaker, Leslie Pick, and others. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the lodge unanimously voted the sum of £10 to the widow of a deceased P.M. New collars were ordered for the lodge. A vote of condolence was passed, and the Chaplain requested to convey the same to the family of the late Rev. E. J. Lockwood, D. Prov. Grand Master of Suffolk, of whom an Obituary notice appeared in the "Freemason" of October 28th. Bro. Lockwood, who was formerly of St. Mary's, Bedford, was one of the original members of the Stuart Lodge.

Afterwards the election of officers for the ensuing year took place with the following unanimous result:—W.M., Bro. Col. Wm. Stuart, P.G.S.W., S.W.; Treas., Bro. Alderman Sergeant; Tyler, Bro. George Reynolds. Lodge having been closed, about twenty brethren sat down to a very good supper, after which a very pleasant evening was spent.

FLEETWOOD.—Hesketh Lodge (No. 950).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on the 19th ult., in the Masonic Rooms, Fleetwood. Bro. W. Stewardson, the W.M., presided. All the members appeared in mourning, as a mark of respect to the I.P.M., whose wife had died very suddenly since last meeting. During the evening the I.P.M. was presented with a Past Master's jewel, as a token of respect and esteem. The usual proclamations were made, and the lodge was closed with the customary formalities.

SOUTHEAST.—Priory Lodge (No. 1000).—The regular meeting of this flourishing lodge was held at the Middleton Hotel, Southend-on-Sea, on Thursday, the 26th ult. The W.M. Bro. Dr. E. E. Phillips, P.M. 379, Pro J.G.D. presided, supported by a good muster of brethren, amongst whom were the following:—Bros. A. Lucking, P.M. 160, Prov. A.G.D.C., I.P.M.; F. D. Grayson, acting S.W.; S. Cox, P.M. acting J.W.; F. Wood, P.M., P.P.S. G.W., Treas.; I. D. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P.P.G.D., Sec.; J. R. Hemmann, P.M., P.P.G.D. Organizer; J. E. Johnstone, P.M. 20, I.G., D.C.; Rev. H. Hayes, Chap.; W. Chignell, I.G.; A. F. Godward, W.S.; H. Rowley, P.M., P.P.G.D.; W. H. Looky, A. Briggs, G. F. Wood, English, Hassall, G. Berry, W. J. Bullen, jun., J.W. 160; G. F. Jones, H. Luker, W. D. Merritt, F. Canton, L. Warren, and W. R. Bishop. Visitors:—Bros. E. B. Grabham, W.M. 19, Prov. S.G.W. Middlesex; W. R. Marsh, P.M. 933, &c.; W. Fiassey, P.M. 160, P.P.G.W. Essex; and Sir Thos. Kirkpatrick, Bart., 237. After the usual preliminary business, the W.M. passed Bro. H. Smith to the Second Degree, and afterwards raised Bro. W. H. Norman to the sublime degree of a M.M. The ballot having proved favourable to Mr. R. Didden Lewis and Mr. Alex. Cole, and the latter being present he was duly initiated in the mysteries of the Craft. The three degrees were very ably performed. The lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and well received, and the Tyler's toast brought a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

WESTERHAM.—Amherst Lodge (No. 1223).—The last meeting of the present season took place on Thursday, the 19th ult., when the lodge was opened in due form by the W.M., Bro. A. Durnell, and after the minutes were confirmed, Mr. Alfred Sidney Owen, the Principal of the Boys' Collegiate School, at Westerham, was initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the First Degree; the ceremony being performed, by permission of the W.M., by Bro. R. B. Newson, P.M., P.P.G.O. of Kent, in a most impressive manner, and at the banquet which followed, the table was served in a most recherché manner by the host, Bro. Hadley, P.M. 493. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and a vote of thanks unanimously accorded to P.M. Hadley, for the admirable way he had catered for the brethren during the short time he had been resident in Westerham.

SEACOMBE.—Warren Lodge (No. 1276).—The regular meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Tuesday, 17th ult., at the Stanley Arms Hotel. Present: Bros. Jas. Ridehalgh, W.M.; W. R. Bainbridge, I.P.M. and P.M. 721; J. Taylor, S.W. (W.M. elect); Wm. Jones, J.W.; the other officers of the lodge, and 51 brethren. The lodge was opened in the First Degree, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, when the ballot box was sent round for Mr. J. H. Cant, who was afterwards initiated by Bro. J. Ridehalgh, W.M. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, when the W.M. invited Bro. T. Marwood, V.W.P.J.G.W. Cheshire, to assume the chair, and instal his successor. Bro. J. Ridehalgh, W.M., and Bro. W. R. Bainbridge, P.M., then presented Bro. John Taylor, the W.M. elect, to the installing Master, and a Board of Installed Master having been formed he was presented, and formally installed into the chair of K.S. After having been proclaimed and saluted in the customary form, Bro. Taylor was then pleased to appoint the following brethren as his officers:—Bros. J. Ridehalgh, I.P.M.; Wm. Jones, S.W.; H. Skinner, J.W.; W. Price, Treas.; H. Matthews, Sec.; T. Yeates, S.D.; J. Hindley, J.D.; W. R. Bainbridge, P.M., D.C.; Henderson, I.G.; T. Gray and J. Looney, Stewards; and Gamble, Tyler. The lodge was then closed, when the brethren adjourned to the Seacombe Hotel for the banquet. The W.M. occupied the chair, supported by Bros. T. Marwood, V.W.P.J.G.W.; J. P. Platt, V.W.P.P.J.G.W. and Treas. of the C.E.M.I.; Hignett, P.P.D.C.; Holt, P.M.; Jas. Ridehalgh, I.P.M.; W. R. Bainbridge, P.M. and D.C.; R. C. Mellor, P.P.J.G.D. for North Wales; Vaughan, W.M.; McNeerney, W.M. 605; J. T. Lea, P.P. G.S. of W.; T. Shaw, S.W. 605; E. Jones, J.W. 605; D. F. Ranking, S.D. 959; and 45 other brethren sat down to the banquet. Grace having been said, the following loyal and Masonic toasts were given:—"The Queen and the Craft," "God Save the Queen," by Bro. Parker; "Our Royal Bro. Albert Edward Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., the Prince of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," (Royal Honours), "The Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master," "The Rt. Hon. Lord De Tabley, R.W.P. G.M., and the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge. Bro. T. Marwood, V.W.P.J.G.W., returned thanks for having his name coupled with that of the R.W.P.G.M., the Lord De Tabley, and stated that the next Provincial Grand Lodge would be held in Seacombe, and trusted that the brethren of both lodges would work together to make it a successful meeting. Bro. J. P. Platt, V.W.P.P.J.G.W., and Bro. J. B. Hignett, P.P.D.C., returned thanks. Bro. J. Ridehalgh, I.P.M., then said it gave him great pleasure to propose "The Health of the W.M." Bro. John Taylor, W.M., then said—Bro. Ridehalgh, P.G. Officers and brethren, I thank you for the very kind and handsome manner you have proposed my health, and also most cordially do I wish to thank the brethren for their equally hearty response, and while so doing I wish to observe that I am not insensible to the important and dignified position in which I have been placed. Every effort will be put forward on my part for the good and welfare of the Warren Lodge. I feel it my duty to appeal to the officers, and the brethren to give me their hearty co-operation, and with me to lift up their voices to the G.A.O.T.U. that peace, prosperity, and tranquillity, may through his wisdom and goodness be vouchsafed to us. Bro. P.M., I thank you again for your kindness, and equally so do I thank my brethren. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Past Masters." Bro. Holt briefly returned thanks. Bro. W. R. Bainbridge, P.M., and D.C., thanked the W.M., the P.G. Officers and brethren for the kind way the toast had been proposed, and received by the brethren, he especially thanked the W.M. for investing him as one of his officers; he could now say that he had been appointed an officer of the Craft for the fourteenth year. Bro. J. Ridehalgh, I.P.M., said it gave him great pleasure to inform the brethren that the last two years had been very successful, and that the brethren initiated would reflect honour on the Craft. The W.M. then said he had a pleasing duty to perform, which was to present the I.P.M. with a Past Master's jewel. It was of gold, bearing the following inscription:—"Presented to Bro. James Ridehalgh by the brethren of the Warren Lodge, No. 1276, as a token of their appreciation of his Masonic worth and usefulness, 17th October, 1876." He then again thanked the brethren for their kindness. The next toast was that of "The Officers of the Lodge." Bro. W. Jones, Skinner, and H. Matthew, Sec., returned thanks. The W.M. said the next toast was that of "The Cheshire Masonic Educational Institution," and he had very great pleasure in coupling the name of Bro. J. P. Platt, P.P.J.G. Warden, the Hon. Treas. Bro. J. P. Platt thanked the W.M. and brethren for the manner this toast was proposed and received by the brethren. He said Freemasonry was something, or it was nothing; without brotherly love, relief, and truth, it was nothing, and he hoped the brethren would not only support the Cheshire Masonic Educational Institution, but also the Masonic Institutions of London. The Secretary then announced that thirty brethren gave their names as subscribers. The next toast was that of "The Initiate." The next toast was that of "The Visitors." The W.M. said he felt highly honoured by having so many present, and had great pleasure in coupling the name of Bro. McNerney, W.M. of the Combermere Lodge. Bro. McNerney, in a first-class speech, thanked the W.M. and brethren of the Warren Lodge, and expressed a hope that both lodges would work with unanimity and concord, so that the next Provincial Grand Lodge meeting, which is to be held in Seacombe, should be a successful meeting. The other visitors returned thanks, after which the Tyler's toast brought the meeting to a close. The evening was spent very pleasantly, and the brethren separated highly pleased.

HAMPTON.—Hemming Lodge (No. 1512).—The third installation meeting since its foundation in 1874 of this thriving provincial lodge was held at the Lion Hotel, on Thursday, 19th ult. There were present at the opening of the lodge Bros. Hopwood, P.M. 141, W.M.; Hill, P.M. Canonbury, S.W.; Hurst, J.W., W.M. elect; Fox, J.D.; Jessett, I.G.; W. Hammond, P.P.J.G.D. of Middlesex, I.P.M.; B. Sharp, P.M.; Bond, W.M. Dobie. The visitors were Bros. Elsam, P.M. Dobie, S.W. Jordan, P.P.G.D.C. of Surrey; Wilson, P.M. Etonian; W. Fisher, S.W. Raleigh; Güterbock, Phoenix. The minutes of the meetings held in March, April, May, June, and August, having been read and confirmed, the W.M. passed Bros. Errington, Finch, and Murphy to the Degree of Fellow Craft. The ceremony of installing Bro. John Hurst, J.W., into the chair of K.S. then commenced, and was carried out up to a certain point by the retiring W.M. The M.M.'s having retired a Board of Installed Masters was opened in full Masonic form by the I.P.M., Bro. Wm. Hammond, who appointed Bros. Hopwood, B. Sharp, and Elsam respectively as S.W. and J.W. and I.G. The impressive ceremony of installation was then duly and fully proceeded with, at its conclusion the Board of Installed Masters was closed with the most complete formality. The remaining portion of the ceremony, including the charges to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren, was performed by Bro. Wilson, P.M. Etonian, in a highly satisfactory manner, the addresses being most forcibly and clearly delivered. The officers appointed for the ensuing year were Bros. J. Hammond, P.M. Jordan, S.W.; Hill, P.M. (Canonbury), J.W.; E. Hopwood, I.P.M., Treas.; W. Hammond, P.M., &c., Sec.; C. W. Fox, S.D.; J. C. Jessett, J.D.; T. W. Ockenden, I.G.; T. C. Walls, D.C.; Gutteridge, W.S.; Kent, A.W.S. The Auditor's report having been received and adopted, the interesting ceremony of presenting the I.P.M., Bro. Hopwood, with a handsome jewel, took place. The P.M.'s jewel of this lodge, out of compliment, as a distinction, bears the "coat armour" of the late distinguished scholar and Mason, Dr. Hemming. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, well catered for by Bro. H. C. T. Murphy, "mine host!" (the "Lion.") The toasts of "The Queen and the Craft," "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M.," "Lord Carnarvon, M.W. Pro G.M.," "Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present," and "The Prov. G.M., Col. Burdett," were given quickly, and with commendable brevity by the W.M., who stated at the commencement of the proceedings that it was not his intention during his year of office to bore his brethren with long speeches. In proposing "The Health of the D.P. G.M. of Middlesex, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present," the W.M. made a few remarks upon the great honour the Hemming Lodge possessed in having a P.M. bearing the distinctive grade of P.J.G.D. of the Province, and he should, therefore, couple Bro. Wm. Hammond's name with the toast. That worthy brother in response greatly regretted the absence that evening of several prominent members of the Provincial Grand Lodge who had promised to attend. He also, in the course of his reply, stated that it had always been his endeavour to discharge every Masonic post that he held to the satisfaction of all, and he was pleased to say that his efforts in that direction had always been successful. In conclusion he said he was proud at holding past rank in so powerful and influential a Province as Middlesex, and, moreover, he hoped to be spared many years to bear, in addition to his Provincial Grand Lodge honours, the honourable appellation of Past Master of the Hemming Lodge. The I.P.M. proposed "The Health of the W.M." in fitting terms, and concluded by remarking, that if the W.M. went on discharging in the same able manner as he had commenced that evening the arduous duties of his position, he would be an ornament to the lodge. This toast having been received with excellent fire, the W.M. made a very neat reply, in the course of which he stated that he had arrived at the goal of Masonic ambition, namely, the chair of K.S., much sooner than he had anticipated. He hoped to carry out the duties of the position to their satisfaction, but at the same time he impressed upon the officers the necessity of supporting him upon all occasions, as otherwise it would be impossible for him to efficiently discharge the functions of the chair. In conclusion he stated that he hoped that the work of the lodge during his year would be carried out by the officers without having occasion to depend upon the efforts of the Past Masters to keep the ceremonies going. In giving "The Health of the Installing Officers" the W.M. complimented the brethren upon having had an opportunity of witnessing the installation ceremony so ably and fully performed as it had been that day by Bros. Hopwood, Hammond, Sharp, Bond, Elsam, and Wilson. This toast was responded to by all the brethren named, with the exception of Bro. Wilson, who had left. Bro. B. Sharp in speaking of the latter brother's impressive working, gave, as his opinion, that it had never been exceeded in any lodge for proficiency or style. "The Visitors" toast followed, and it was amusingly acknowledged by Bro. Elsam (Dobie and Jordan). In the progress of his reply, he stated that he had been present at the consecration of the lodge, and he was greatly surprised, that in the short space of two years, which had elapsed since that memorable event, that the members of the "Hemming" had deemed it necessary to close their list of members. He wished to assure them that he had spent a most enjoyable and instructive day, and that he, as a Mason of some years standing, fully endorsed the remarks of Bro. Sharp, that the charges and other details of the installation entrusted to Bro. Wilson, had been carried out in a manner that very few Past Masters could equal, much less exceed. "The Health of the Past Masters" was then given by the W.M., and having been most cordially received, Bros. Hopwood, Treas., and Hammond, Sec., replied. "The Officers of the Lodge" was the closing toast, with the exception of the Tyler's, and gave Bros. Hill, Jessett, Ockenden, Walls and Kent, an opportunity of thanking the W.M. for the kind remarks used by him in recognizing their past and present services to the lodge. During the evening vocal and other selections were given by Bros. Jessett, Ockenden, Walls, and others. The next meeting of the lodge will be held on the third Thursday in November.

MORECAMBE.—Morecambe Lodge (No. 1561).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Morecambe, on the 6th ult. Bro. Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of E., in the unavoidable absence of the W.M. (Bro. Capt. Garnett), occupied the chair of K.S., Bro. H. Longman, W.M. 281, occupying the I.P.M.'s chair. There was a good attendance of members and visiting brethren. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The lodge was afterwards raised to the Second Degree, when Bro. R. Gregson having given evidence of his proficiency as a F.C., was entrusted and retired. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree, and Bro. Gregson having been re-admitted, he was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. Moore, the working tools being presented by Bro. T. Atkinson, W.M. 281. The lodge was then closed down to the First Degree, when some conversation took place relative to occupying the new lodge, which is in course of erection in Edward-street. Bro. Moore announced that the W.M., (Bro. Capt. Garnett) had intimated his intention of presenting the lodge with a Master's chair, and he would present it with a I.P.M.'s chair, both on the model of those now in use in the Lodge of Fortitude. This announcement was received with much applause. It was subsequently proposed that chairs for the Senior and Junior Wardens should also be procured at the expense of the lodge, similar to those of the Fortitude. The usual proclamations were made, which elicited hearty responses from the visiting brethren, and the lodge was closed in peace, love, and harmony.

LIVERPOOL.—Dramatic Lodge (No. 1609).—The usual monthly meeting of the members of this lodge was held on Tuesday week at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool; Bro. Joseph Bell, W.M., presided, and he was supported by Bros. B. B. Marson, P.M.; W. J. Chapman, S.W.; L. Courtenay, J.W.; A. Woolrich, Treas.; W. Sandbrook, J.D.; J. Atkinson, I.G.; Collinson and Pyre, Stewards; and W. H. Ball, Tyler. There was a very large attendance of visitors, including several well-known and highly respected professional brethren. Messrs. R. Burgess, L. F. Lablache, W. S. Cook, and John Dale were initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order, and Bros. F. Wilkinson, P. Shrapnell, and W. L. Peacock were raised to the Third Degree. Three guineas were voted for the relief of a brother's widow, and after hearty good wishes had been given from about a dozen lodges, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room.

INSTRUCTION.

PRINCE FREDERICK WILLIAM LODGE (No. 753).—This lodge of instruction held its half-yearly meeting on Tuesday evening last at Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, when the Fifteen Sections were worked by Bro. F. G. Baker, the Preceptor, who was assisted by Bro. Rogers, S.W., Bro. Long, J.W., and nearly forty brethren. The working was admirably performed by the different brethren, who gave the answers; after which a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to Bro. Baker for the excellent way in which he had conducted the business of the evening. Bro. Baker closed the day's proceedings by delivering an eloquent address on the principles of Freemasonry and the duties of its members; exhorting the brethren to carry out into the world the practices they were taught in the lodge. Since the establishment of this lodge of instruction no less than fifty guineas have been subscribed from its funds to the Masonic Institutions.

WHITTINGTON LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 862).—The Fifteen Sections were worked in the above lodge, on Wednesday, the 25th October, by the members of the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55, at the Black Bull Hotel, Holborn, Bro. J. Bingemann, P.M. 55, and W.M. 1599, taking the chair of K.S., assisted by Bro. Long, P.M. 435, as S.W., and Bro. W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524, as J.W., and a very numerous company. The lodge having been opened in the three degrees, the sections were worked as follows:—

FIRST LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Woods, 145.
- 2nd " " Tate, 862.
- 3rd " " Abell, 55.
- 4th " " Brown, 862.
- 5th " " W. H. Lee, 1524.
- 6th " " Cull, 1441.
- 7th " " " "

SECOND LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Abell, 55.
- 2nd " " Marston, 55.
- 3rd " " Whitaker, 765.
- 4th " " Farwig, 180.
- 5th " " " "

THIRD LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Robertson, 55.
- 2nd " " Woods, 145.
- 3rd " " Long, 435.

The whole of the work was done in an admirable manner, and at its conclusion a proposition to make Bro. Bingemann an honorary member of the lodge, was carried enthusiastically. Bro. Bingemann then proposed a vote of thanks to those brethren who had assisted him in the work, which was also carried unanimously. Sixteen new members having been elected, the lodge was closed, and we trust this very successful meeting will inaugurate a new career of prosperity for the lodge which meets every Wednesday evening as above at 8 p.m.

HERVEY LODGE (No. 1260).—It has been frequently stated by disbelievers in the Craft, that it is a mistake to say that Freemasonry is a "progressive science," and that it stands in exactly the same condition as it did a century ago. A better answer to this erroneous statement could not be given than by calling attention to the numerous reports of the working of the brethren in the various lodges of instruction in the metropolis and provinces. And if a more convincing proof were required, the work done by the members of the above lodge, on Friday, the 27th ult., would furnish it. Briefly, the members met on that evening to work the fifteen sections of the lectures in the three degrees, and the very perfect working of each section did great credit to the able Preceptor. The lodge was opened at seven o'clock p.m., in due form with solemn prayer, the following being the officers present:—Bros. Baker, W.M.; Collings, S.W.; Southwood, J.W.; Spalding, S.D.; J. Sandilands, Ward, J.D.; Harrison, I.G.; King, P.M.; and King, jun., P.M., Sec., and Preceptor. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the W.M. opened the lodge in the Second and Third Degrees, and then resumed to the First for the purpose of proceeding with the business. The following is a list of the brethren who respectively worked the Sections:—

FIRST LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. J. Sandilands Ward.
- 2nd " " Ganbert.
- 3rd " " Harrison.
- 4th " " Spalding.
- 5th " " Baker.
- 6th " " Carlstrom.
- 7th " " Long.

SECOND LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Goodacre.
- 2nd " " King.
- 3rd " " King, jun.
- 4th " " Collings.
- 5th " " Carlstrom.

THIRD LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Southwood.
- 2nd " " Carlstrom.
- 3rd " " Collings.

The W.M. gave the introductory and closing charges in a manner that it would be very difficult to excel, and which, it is needless to add, received the approbation of all who had the pleasure of listening to them. On the W.M. rising for the first time, Bro. Carlstrom was proposed as a joining member of the lodge, and was unanimously elected. On the rising for the second time, Bro. King, jun., proposed that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Baker for the efficient manner in which he had worked the sections, and on its being seconded and put by the S.W., the brethren fully expressed their appreciation by their conclusive assent. The W.M., in reply to the official announcement of the S.W., said that as a very old working Mason (having been preceptor of several lodges of instruction for many years), it was not the first time such an honour had been passed on him, nor was it for such that he so assiduously visited lodges on similar occasions. But that it was his wish at all times, when convenient, to afford to less able Masons the knowledge he himself had acquired during his long connection with the Craft, and in concluding a very able and telling speech would inform the brethren that he should work the sections at "Lord's," on Tuesday, October 31st, when he should like to see as many brethren present as possible. On rising for the third time, Bro. Collins was made an honorary member, and a vote of thanks passed to the visiting brethren for their assistance during the evening. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren dispersed to the different quarters of the metropolis, each expressing himself well satisfied at the very nice manner in which they had been entertained.

Royal Arch.

CAVEAC CHAPTER (No. 176).—The regular convocation of this prosperous chapter was held on Saturday, October 28th, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, City. Chapter was opened by Comp. S. Wyman, M.E.Z.; G. H. Lemann, H.; J. B. Sorrell, J.; C. T. Dorey, P.Z. (Father of the chapter); F. Walters, P.G. 1st A.S.; Mill, P.Z. Treas.; and others. The companions were then admitted. The minutes of the previous convocation were read and unanimously confirmed. Bro. Dr. Charles Browne, P.M., D.C., being in attendance, was duly exalted into the mysteries of the Royal Arch, the ceremony, as is usual in the chapter, being given in an admirable manner. The usual Five Guinea jewel was voted from the chapter funds to the M.E.Z., Comp. W. S. Wyman (as a slight recognition of valuable services rendered to the chapter during his year of office.) Business being ended, the chapter was closed, and adjourned to the Installation meeting, which will commence its new year. There were present, besides the above-named companions, S. Pounceby, R. P. Tibb, J. B. Sorrell, jun., and others. There were not any visitors.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Friendship Chapter (No. 100).—A convocation of this chapter was held on Tuesday evening, October 17th, at the Crown and Anchor Hotel; Comp. Burstal, M.E.Z., presiding, supported by Comps. James Bond, H.; F. J. Bonfellow, J.; J. Franklin, P.M., P.Z.; A. Hanlow, P.M., P.Z. (Scribe E.); R. W. Hubbard, 1st Soj.; Hudsforth, and Soj.; H. J. Mason, P.Z., 3rd Soj.; Jonell, Capt. Dods, French, Wright, Stanier, Martins, and G. B. Hammond. The list of visitors included Comps. James Mangan, D.D., LL.D., No. 3 Ireland, P.M. 133; H. J. Mason, P.Z.; James Dunsford, P.Z.; and Henry James Moxon, Doric Chapter, and S.W. Marquess of Dalhousie, 1159, a companion well-known in Metropolitan lodges for his unremitting exertions on behalf of our charitable institutions. The minutes having been confirmed, Bros. Capt Fisk (Capper), and J. A. Hayes (Prudence), were duly exalted, and at the termination of the ceremony, which was very ably performed, the companions adjourned to the banqueting room, where an unusually excellent spread awaited them. On the withdrawal of the cloth, and after the formal toasts had been given, the M.E.Z. said there was always an important toast before them, and that was to drink the health of their newly-exalted companions. They hailed their coming amongst them, as it was not only an evidence of their progress, but it gave stability to their proceedings. The toast was warmly received, and Comps. Fisk and Hayes suitably replied. The next toast was "The Health of the Visitors," and the companions had an opportunity of listening to an excellent speech in reply by Comp. Dunsford, P.Z., after which "The Health of the M.E.Z., Comp. Burstal," was proposed in an eulogistic speech by Comp. Bond, and Comp. Burstal in thanking the companions for the toast congratulated them on their continued prosperity, and said that he regretted that circumstances of a business nature had prevented him filling the Principal's Chair as he ought, and hoped in future to be more regular in his attendance. Before resuming his seat he would ask them to drink prosperity and welfare to the new lodge forming at Gorleston, coupled with the name of Comp. Youell, the W.M. designate. The toast was accepted with all honours, and Comp. Youell, who was heartily cheered, thanked the M.E.Z. for proposing the toast, and the companions for the enthusiastic manner in which they had received it. He felt that with respect to the new Lodge (St. Andrews), he had undertaken a very great task, although he fully intended, with the help of his friend Captain Dods, and the other brethren who had kindly offered their assistance, to make it all that was desired. The toast of "Comp. Franklin (Host), and Mrs. Franklin" was next proposed, the M.E.Z. expressing satisfaction at the very genial way in which both had acted to ensure a pleasant meeting. Comp. Franklin having replied, the Janitor's toast brought the proceedings to a close. The intervals between the toasts were pleasantly enlivened with some excellent songs by Comps. Fiske, Stanier, Moxon, and Franklin.

WINDSOR.—Windsor Castle Chapter (No. 771).—The installation meeting of this chapter was held in the Masonic Temple at Windsor on the 19th ult., when there were present the M.E. Comps. H. H. Hodges, Z.; J. H. Tolley, H.; E. Grisbrook, J.; J. Devereux, P.Z.; J. Stevens, P.Z.; John Read, P.Z.; G. W. Dixon, E.; G. H.

Powell, N.; F. Flock, P.S.; J. O. Carter, A.S.; Nowell, Janitor; North Ritherdon, Barton, Roberts, Bryett, and others; and visiting Comp. W. Johnson. The chapter having been opened by the Principals present, the companions below the chair were admitted, and the chapter was then opened in due form. After confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, Comp. John Read, P.Z., installed Comp. John H. Tolley as M.E.Z.; E. Grisbrook as H.; and G. W. Dixon as J., with full and perfect ceremony. The following officers were then invested, viz., Comps. Powell, S.E.; Flock, S.N.; Strange (by proxy), P.S.; Carter, 1st A.S.; Cantrell, and A.S.; North Ritherdon, D.C.; Barton, Roberts, and Bryett, Stewards; and Nowell, Janitor. Bro. Joseph Johnson, of the Windsor Castle Lodge, No. 771, was approved and exalted into the Supreme Degree, the newly-appointed officers working the entire ceremony in an extremely creditable manner. A P.Z. jewel was presented to the I.P.Z., Ex. Comp. H. H. Hodges, accompanied by highly-eulogistic remarks from the M.E.Z. A cordial vote of thanks to Ex. Comp. John Read, P.Z., as Installing First Principal, was recorded in the minutes, and the services of Ex. Comps. Devereux and Stevens, in assisting him, were acknowledged from the chair. Propositions having been taken, the chapter was closed, and the companions adjourned to the Castle Hotel, for necessary sustenance after arduous labour. The exigencies of the railway arrangements precluded a long sitting, but the loyal and principal Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and a pleasant hour spent by the members of this now well-established chapter.

WILLIAM PRESTON CHAPTER (No. 766).—A mournful meeting of this chapter was held on the 26th ult., at Cannon-street Hotel. Since the previous meeting in May, when the Principals were installed, the chapter had had the misfortune to lose its M.E.Z., the worthy Dr. Whiteman, who had risen to that high position, having been called to the Grand Chapter above, and all the companions appeared with their badges craped, the banner of the late M.E.Z. bearing also the like melancholy contrast on its brilliant emblazonment. The chapter was summoned by Comp. Captain G. J. Kain, P.Z., as acting M.E.Z.; Comp. George Newman, as H.; and Comp. Augustus Brann, as J. Unfortunately Comp. Newman had to be absent, and Comp. Garrod took the chair of M.E.Z., Comp. Kain, that of H., and Comp. Braun kept his own position. The other positions were thus filled, Dr. Kempster, as S.N., also assisting in the work; Wm. Worrell, P.Z., S.E.; E. Newton, sen., as P.S.; Dr. Cutmore, as First Assistant S.; J. T. Gibson, as Second Assistant S.; and there were also present Comps. Williams, Newton, jun., Steinmade, While ("Freemason"), Davidson, Partridge, Klench, Ince, Barnes, Rickwood, and Comp. Taylor, W.M. of the Doric Lodge, who, with another visitor, represented other chapters at work and board. The business was to take the ballot for five brothers for exaltation.—Bros. Arthur Southam, M.D., J.W.M. of the Earl Spencer, 1420; J. J. Joseph, J.D. of the same lodge; J. Sinclair, S. of 1420, J. T. Pilditch, of the same lodge, and I.G. of the Grosvenor; and Robt. Tynn, of the William Preston Lodge. The ballot was unanimous, and all but the last named being present, the ceremony was proceeded with in favour of those four. Comp. Gibson was particularly efficient in his working of a new office, and took the position of P.S. with great credit to himself and pleasure to the companions. Comp. Garrod was, unfortunately, not in the best of health, and had taken the chair of M.E.Z. at a moment's notice, yet he was ready and equal to the arduous labour of working the degree. Comp. Taylor also assisted in the addresses. After the work, when the M.E.Z. rose for the third time, Comp. Kempster stated that he was with the late Dr. Whiteman, in his last few hours, and knew that their late companion's latest thoughts were with his Masonic duties, his hopes being that he should be able to join his companions and brothers in lodge and chapter. Not speaking of the late M.E.Z. as a Mason, but as a lay member of the world, the speaker said he could truly say that Dr. Whiteman was held in the highest esteem by all classes with whom he had come into contact in his busy life. Some of the chapter, and some of his Masonic brethren paid the last tribute of respect to their companion and brother, and according to ancient custom they dropped a sprig of acacia into his last resting place. Comp. P.Z. Worrell said that if the companions and brethren had known of the loss earlier many more would have attended the funeral, and Comp. Dr. Kempster explained that it was necessary to inter the body soon after the death, and that it was impossible to make the death known. The chapter then proceeded to the consideration of the notice of motion to raise the exaltation fee after the next (Feb.) meeting, to take effect in May next. The motion was carried, as was another to raise the annual subscription to two guineas. Both were proposed by Dr. Kempster. The chapter was then closed, and the companions adjourned to the dining room, and partook of a pleasant repast. The M.E.Z. then in felicitous terms proposed "The Health of the Exaltees," to whose merits, as Masons, he paid a high tribute, and congratulated the chapter upon having received additions so worthy of the Craft, and the exaltees upon joining a chapter in which there were many working Masons. The exaltees severally replied, and expressed their gratification upon having acquired the R.A. grade under the pleasant circumstances of that evening. Comp. Taylor responded for "The Visitors" in a speech of more than ordinary merit, and then the acting M.E.Z. said that would be the time when he should have had to call upon the companions, to drink to "The Health of the M.E.Z.," but now that their M.E.Z. had been exalted to the Grand Chapter they would drink to his memory. Dr. Whiteman was scarcely ever absent from lodge or chapter, and at the last lodge meeting of the William Preston the speaker had addressed the brethren in a speech, which, for fear of repeating himself, he would now read. To the melancholy pleasure of the companions, the acting M.E.Z. read the eloquent speech reported in the "Freemason" as having been delivered at the last meeting of the William Preston Lodge, and the companions drank to the memory of the late loved M.E.Z. in solemn silence. Comp. Worrell then proposed "The Acting M.E.Z.," and spoke of the great services Comp. Kain had rendered to the chapter in taking upon himself the duty of M.E.Z. for the rest of the year. The toast was drunk with enthusiasm, as was that of the P.Z., Comp. Worrell, who the M.E.Z. stated, came to the William Preston Lodge a mere beardless boy, and had won his honours by sheer hard work and merit. Regret was expressed at the absence of Comp. Newman, and then the officers were toasted, and Comps. Garrod, Braun, and Kempster spoke, the latter in a jesting speech drawing attention to the fact that their Comp. Worrell, with his usual perseverance, had gone through another ceremony since the last meeting, and, with his usual fidelity had kept the secrets. The ceremony was that of marriage, and Dr. Kempster congratulated Comp. Worrell upon the evident agreement of that state of life with him as shown in his good looks, and, amid the cheers of the companions expressed the warmest and best wishes for the welfare of the happy couple. The evening ended with the Janitor's toast.

Mark Masonry.

MACDONALD LODGE (No. 104).—A regular meeting of this lodge was held at Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., on Saturday last. The W. Bro. Thomas W. White, W.M., was supported by a goodly attendance of officers and brethren, amongst whom were the W. Bros. G. Ward Verry, P.P.G.D.C., as S.W.; North Ritherdon, P.G. Supt. of Works, J.W.; Edward Moody, P.P.G. Standard Bearer, M.O.; W. P. Collins, P.P.G. Sword Bearer, J.O.; the V.W. Bros. Thomas Meggy, P.G.S.O., P.M.; James Stevens, P.G.J.O., P.M.; the W. Bros. W. Worrell, P.G. Org., P.M.; M. C. Hale, P.G. Sword Bearer; T. K. Pitt, P.G.D.C.; Bros. Bastien, H. F. Partridge, W. Johnson, J. R. Williams, and others, and Bro. J. Rawles, acting for Bro. Grant, Tyler. The lodge was specially visited by the W. Bro. C. Pulman, Prov. G.S.O., and P.M. of the Panmure Mark Lodge, who had, whilst W.M. of that lodge, kindly advanced a brother to the degree for, and during the recess of, the Macdonald Mark Lodge. The lodge was duly opened, and minutes read. Ap. logies from several brethren "out of town" were received. Candidates for advancement being unable to attend on this occasion, for a like reason, no ceremony was performed, and ample time was therefore devoted to the discussion of an important notice of motion by Bro. Meggy for alteration of date of meeting. This, however, resulted in a further adjournment of the question. A very cordial vote of thanks to the late W.M. and Panmure Mark Lodge was ordered to be recorded on the minutes, and was responded to by the W. Bro. Pulman in highly appreciative terms. Candidates for next meeting were proposed, the lodge closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to the Tomahawk Restaurant, in London Wall, where, under the provident care of the worthy Treasurer, Bro. Meggy, a very recherché repast had been provided. Excepting only the formal toasts, and "The Health of the Visitor," and "Success to the Panmure Mark Lodge," ceremony was dispensed with, and an enjoyable hour or two spent in harmony and social intercourse, the brethren separating about half-past eight for their respective homes.

ERA LODGE (No. 176).—On Friday, Oct. 13th, at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, this well established lodge held its meeting. In the unavoidable absence of Bro. John Baxter Langley, W.M., who was in Liverpool, the lodge was opened by Bro. H. A. Dubois, I.P.M., who was supported by Bros. the Rev. P. M. Holden, S.W. and Chaplain; T. Horton, J.W.; R. P. Tebb, as M.O.; A. F. Loos, S.O.; J. Johnson, J.O.; H. A. Dubois, I.P.M., Treas.; T. Poore, as R. of M.; F. Walters, P.G.P., P.M., Sec.; H. C. Levander, as S.D.; J. B. Shackleton, J.D.; B. Meyer, Org.; F. H. Dodson, I.G.; and other brethren. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed unanimously. Ballots, taken separately, were in each instance declared to be unanimous in favour of the admission of all the candidates for advancement. Bro. T. Poore, in his usual able manner, advanced Bros. G. S. Elliott, J.W. 1633; Henry Meyer, I.G. 1524; D. Smith, 1326; and W. Prattant, 1326, to the ancient and honourable degree of M.M.M. Bro. David Smith was appointed Assistant Secretary. Bro. James Stevens, P.P.G. Sec. Middlesex and Surrey, &c., was unanimously elected an honorary member. Some brethren were proposed as candidates for advancement. An important notice of motion was given. The lodge was closed and adjourned until Friday, February, 9th, 1877, at half-past six o'clock p.m. The usual good banquet was served. The regular toasts were given and responded to. An agreeable evening was happily spent.

MARYPORT.—Whitwell Lodge of Mark Master Masons (No. 157).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, the 19th October, when there was an excellent number of brethren present. The chair was occupied by the W.M.M., Bro. James Gardiner, P.G.M.I. of W., supported by his officers, viz., Bros. P. de E. Collin, P.G.M., Sec., I.P.M.; J. R. Tickle, P.G.M.S.D., as S.W.; Mandle, J.W.; J. R. Banks, M.O.; G. M. Tickle, S.O.; J. H. Banks, J.O.; Joseph Nicholson, P.M.G.S.W., Treas.; R. Dodgson, Sec.; Nicholson, S.D.; Robinson, J.D.; Smith, P.G.M. Org.; Mitchell, I.G. Amongst the brethren we noticed Bros. John Lawson, James Quay, W. B. Gibson, P.G.M.S.B.; and others. The W.M.M. commenced the business of the evening by balloting for Bro. E. Tyson, P.G.M.I.G. of the Beehive Mark Lodge,

No. 147, as a joining member, and for Bro. G. Kenworthy, P.P.G.S.W., and P.M. 119. The ballot proving unanimous in both cases Bro. Kenworthy being in attendance he was duly admitted, and regularly advanced to the honourable Degree of M.M.M. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren retired to refreshment, where the rest of the evening was spent in much social enjoyment.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

The Quarterly Convocation of Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Freemasons of England was holden on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. Comp. Dr. Hamilton acted as G.Z.; S. Rawson, as H.; Capt. W. Platt, as J.; J. Hervey, S.E.; Col. Creaton, as N.; J. A. Rucker, as P.S.; the Rev. S. R. Wigram, 1st A.S.; Robt. Grey, 2nd A.S.; J. M. Case, D.C.; Benj. Head, H.; J. P. Dumas, Joseph Smith, Thos. Fenn, C. A. Murton, E. J. Barron, Nicholas Bradford, James Glaisher, F. Driver, Chas. F. Hogard, Arthur J. Leared, A. Durrant, F. G. Baker, H. G. Buss, Edwin Marsh, Rev. W. Taylor Jones, Herbert Dicketts, A. A. Pendlebury, W. Dodd, H. Massey ("Freemason"), John Boyd, W. Stephens, W. F. Laxton, George J. Row, John Coutts, Joshua Nunn, F. R. Vine, and C. B. Payne, G.J., were also present.

After the formal opening of Grand Chapter, Comp. Hervey, S.E.; said he had received a letter from Lord Donoughmore, G.S.N., apologising for his absence that evening, which was occasioned by his being detained in Ireland on very urgent business. He had also a telegram from Comp. Boord, M.P., one of the Sojourners, expressing his great regret at not being able to be in his place.

The minutes were then read and confirmed, and on the motion of Comp. Col. Creaton, seconded by Comp. Joseph Smith, the report of the Committee of General Purposes was taken as read, and ordered to be received and entered on the minutes.

Afterwards, on the motion of Col. Creaton, seconded by Comp. Joseph Smith, charters were granted on petitions:—

1st. From Comps. Thomas John White, as Z.; the Rev. William John Lyte Stradling, as H.; Thomas James, as J.; and seven others, for a charter to be attached to the Cambrian Lodge, No. 464, Haverfordwest, to be called the "Hwelford Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Haverfordwest, South Wales (Western Division).

2nd. From Comps. Edward Bremner Smith as Z., Robert De La Poer Beresford as H., Samuel Hazlitt as J., and six others, for a charter to be attached to the Fitzalan Lodge, No. 1432, Oswestry, to be called the "Fitzalan Chapter," and to meet at the Wynnstay Arms Hotel, Oswestry, North Wales.

3rd. From Comps. George Hunter Wildie as Z., Wm. Williamson as H., John King as J., and six others, for a charter to be attached to the St. John's Lodge, No. 1137, Timaru, to be called the "St. John's Chapter," and to meet at Timaru, Canterbury, New Zealand.

There being no other business before Grand Chapter, the convocation was then closed, the whole proceedings having lasted only ten minutes.

GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTERS.

A meeting of the Grand Mark Lodge of England was held at the Masonic Rooms, Severn-street, Birmingham, under the auspices of the Bedford Mark Lodge, No. 115, for the purpose of constituting the Province of Warwickshire and Staffordshire a Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Masters, and to instal Bro. the Rev. W. K. R. Bedford, M.A., Past Grand Chaplain of England, and Past Grand Mark Chaplain, the first Provincial Grand Master of the newly constituted province.

The Bedford Mark Lodge called a lodge of emergency for the reception of the Grand Mark Lodge at 3.30 p.m., on Tuesday, the 24th day of October, 1876. The lodge was opened in due form, and the circular convening the meeting was read. The Most Worshipful Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick, was then announced and, preceded by his Standard Bearer and other officers, was escorted to the throne, and assumed the gavel resigned to his lordship by the W.M., Bro. David Rose. The Most Worshipful Grand Master then proceeded to open Grand Lodge, and after addressing the brethren on the necessity for Provincial Grand Lodges as an aid to the progress of Mark Masonry, and their duties, &c., proceeded to instal Bro. the Rev. W. K. R. Bedford as the first Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Warwickshire and Staffordshire.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master retired from the chair, resigning his gavel to the newly installed Provincial Grand Master, who proceeded to appoint and invest his officers as follows:—Bros. H. Murray, D. Prov. G.M.; H. Sanderson, Prov. G.S.W.; F. N. Seyde, Prov. G.J.W.; J. L. Pattison, Prov. G. Chap.; J. A. Best, Prov. G. M.O.; J. Bowker, Prov. G.S.O.; David Rose, Prov. G.J.O.; Edmund Morrall, Prov. G. Treas.; J. Fenn, Prov. G. Reg. of Marks; A. Horrocks, Prov. A. Sec.; T. H. Smith, Prov. G.S.D.; J. Muggleton, Prov. G.J.D.; Thomas Hawkins, Prov. G. Dir. of Cer.; A. R. Britton, Prov. G. Insp. of Works; F. B. Higginson, Prov. G. Swd. Bearer; H. Smith, Prov. G. Std. Bearer; W. T. Belcher, Prov. G. Org.; James Stevens, Prov. G.I.G.; H. Vaughan, J. Green, and G. S. Phillips, Prov. G. Stewards; and James Chapman, Prov. G. Tyler.

After the usual routine business had been got through the Most Worshipful Grand Master the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick expressed his gratification at the able manner in which the work had been conducted, and desired it to be recorded on the minutes of the Bedford Mark Lodge.

A most hearty and enthusiastic vote of thanks was passed to the Most Worshipful Grand Master for his kindness in attending, to which his lordship responded, expressing the great pleasure it had given him to be present on so important an occasion, and also for the very hearty manner in which he had been received. A vote of thanks was also most heartily given to Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal, Past Grand Master, and to Bro. F. Binckes, Grand Secretary, which was responded to by Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal. The Provincial Grand Lodge was then closed, and after a vote of thanks to the Athol Mark Lodge for the use of their rooms, the brethren adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, presided over by the Most Worshipful Grand Master.

The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, and after a most pleasant evening, the brethren separated.

The following distinguished brethren were among the numerous visitors on the occasion:—

The M.W.G.M. the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick; Rev. G. R. Portal, P.G.M.; Frederick Binckes, G.S.; John Wordsworth, D.P.G.M. Yorkshire; Frederick Davison, G. Treas. D.P.G.M. Middlesex and Surrey; J. M. Cunningham, Prov. G.M. Sussex; Edmund Worrall, P.G. Std. Br.; Chas. Horsley, Grand Aide de Camp, National Grand Priory, &c.; Dr. Hopkins, P.G.J.W.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF LANCA-SHIRE.

Probably the largest gathering of the Mark Degree which has ever taken place in the extensive Province of Lancashire was witnessed in Manchester on Monday, the 23rd ult., when, by command of the Right Worshipful Deputy Provincial Grand Mark Master, a Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons was held in the Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester. The principal business for which the brethren were summoned was to assist at the installation and obligation of Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale as P.G.M.M. of Lancashire, in room of the late Bro. W. Romaine Callender, M.P. The popularity of his lordship in the Province of Lancashire was again clearly demonstrated by the large and enthusiastic attendance, and there is little doubt that his Masonic rule over the Mark Masters of the whole of Lancashire will be quite as popular and successful as his government of the Craft Degrees in the Western Division of the county. There were representatives present from every corner of the province, and the whole of the day's arrangements passed off without a single hitch.

The presence of Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick, M.W.G.M.M., gave a value and interest to the gathering, which was thoroughly realised, and added considerably to the éclat attending the important ceremony which had called so many of this degree together from nearly all quarters of the Masonic compass. The Grand Mark Master was supported by the following Provincial Grand Officers:—Bros. Le Gendre N. Starkie, P.G.M.; George Mellow, P.G.O.; Rev. C. W. Spencer Stanhope, P.G.C.; Thomas Hargreaves, P.G.D.; J. R. Goepel, P.G.M.O.; James Holroyd, P.G.S.B.; Robert Butterworth, G.S.; Thomas Birchall, P.G.J.W.; G. P. Brookbank, P.G.W.; Frederick Binckes, P.G.S.W. and G. Sec.; Thomas Entwistle, P. Prov. G.M.M. Lancashire; J. W. Ashworth, D.P.G.M. West Yorks.; John Sutcliffe, P.G.M. M.M. Lincolnshire; W. H. Prince, G.O.; John Tunnah, P. Prov. G.O.; Frederick Davison, G. Treas. D. Prov. G.M. Middlesex and Surrey; Lord Skelmersdale, D.P.G.M.; William Shortis, P.G.S.W.; W. D. Walker, P.G.J.W.; W. H. Hopkins, P.G.M.O.; J. C. Lunt, P.G.S.O.; John Driffild, P.G. Treas.; J. B. Champiny, P.G. Reg.; John Chadwick, P.G. Sec.; Rev. C. R. Hyde, L.L.D., P.G. Chaplain; Rev. John Denning, P.G. Assist. Chaplain; J. Crompton Lees, P.G.S.D.; W. J. Sly, P.G.J.D.; Amos Stott, P.G. Dir. of Cer.; John Bell, P.G. Swd. Bearer; Joseph Wood, P.G. Std. Bearer, 65; Henry Jackson, P.G. Steward, W.M. elect, 65.

Past Provincial Grand Officers: William Rome, P.P. G.R.; William Barlow, P.P.G.S.B.; Charles Davies, P.P.G.J.D.; Thomas Morris, P.P.G.S.B.; James Newton, P.P.G. Supt. of Wks.; T. Baker Ashworth, P.P. G. Reg. 20; R. Whitaker, P.P.G.D.C.; 1; N. Horrocks, P.P.G.S.B. 142; Thomas Clark, P.P.G.M.O., 65; Liverpool; R. M. D. Smith, P.P.G.J.W. Cheshire and North Wales; John Halliwell, P.P.G.M.O.; E. G. Simpson, P.P.G.R. Lancashire; Henry Maiden, P.P.G. S.O. Lancashire 123; Henry Robberd, P.P.G.O.; J. L. Hine, P.P.G. Overseer Lancashire.

Provincial Officers of other provinces: George Higgins, P.G.J.W. Cheshire and North Wales; R. Newhouse, P.G. Sec. Cheshire and North Wales; W. Alcock, P.J.P. Cheshire and North Wales; Thomas Oakden, P.P.G.J.D. West Yorkshire; H. Maiden, P.P.G.S.O. 123; J. W. Kenyon, P.G.J.O. 123; G. R. Lowe, P.G.A.D.S. North Wales and Shropshire; Henry Burrow, P.P.G.S. 65 Liverpool; William Roberts, P.P. G.D. 24, 14; James Watson, jun., P.G.S.W. Cheshire and North Wales; J. Beresford, P.S.O. Cheshire and North Wales; E. Hartley, P.P.G.S.O. West Yorkshire; Henry Nelson, P.P.G.S.O. P.M. 65, Lancashire; J. W. Newett Tanner, P.G. Chaplain Cheshire and North Wales; W. L. Banks, P.G.S.B. Cheshire and North Wales; Charles H. Horsley, P.M. 33, 69, 382, 811.

The following were the other Mark brethren who attended Provincial Grand Lodge:—Bros. J. F. Sutton, Treas. St. Andrew's; J. Kershaw, W.M. elect 141; C. M. Jones, P.M. 20; H. Thomas, S.O. Union, Oldham; T. Roberts, 64; H. Burrows, 65; Wm. Alcock, P.G.I.G. Stamford Lodge, Altrincham; J. Halstead, P.M.M. 159; W. G. Sharpe, J.O. 161; T. Horsfall, 56; Morris Davis, Langley, Cardiff; H. Johns, 143; Josiah Pollard, 189; P. H. Kirkham, 142; Jas. Crockett, J.D. 146; E. Simpson, W.M. 146; John Hayes, J.W.

65; Augustus A. Bagshawe, Chaplain 31; T. R. Peel, 34; H. L. Hollingworth, 171; F. Wynne Parry, 65; John Dunning, C. 36, P.G.J.M.C.; J. Armstrong, Reg. 65; Thomas Peak, 141; J. H. Galloway, 65; R. Garton, 20; Simeon Lord, 24; James Mill, 24; F. Cooper, 65; James Barlow, W.M. 142; Richard Brown, 65; D. O. Elliott, 142; John Alcock, P.M.M. 2; J. Horrocks, W.M. 2; Jos. Ragdale, I.G. 142; W. J. Parkinson, Treas. elect 52; Wm. Quayle, M.O. 161; Edmond Rees, 123; John Rawcliffe, P.M. 50, W.M. 189, Burnley; John Ridgway, M.M. 561; W. Nichols, J.W. Union; R. Richardson, J.D. St. Andrew's; R. Dodds, S.D. 24; George Green, J.O. 24; J. Charnock, 14; Philip Haines, C. St. Andrew's; A. Middleton, I.G. St. Andrews, John Graves, M.M.M. 171; Joseph Harrison, Sec. 171; Wm. Ogden, 141; John Ballard, I.G. 56 and 189; R. W. Waterson, Sec. 56 and 189; J. T. Richardson, 34; H. Heap, Tyler 141; Hugh B. G. Bayley, 22; Joseph Sutcliffe, W.M. 113; W. Newton, 141; Samuel Horrocks, 131; T. W. Probert, 125; Julius Aronsberg, 22; W. S. Barlow, 136; J. Shaw, J.W. 123; Robert Gough, P.G. Sec.; R. Westbury, Sec. 188; T. D. Hooper, Union; and James Sly, Tyler.

Shortly after half-past two o'clock a Mark Master's Lodge was opened, after which the Deputy Provincial Grand Masters and Provincial Grand Officers entered in procession, and the Provincial Grand Lodge was duly and solemnly opened. The M.W.G.M.M. and Grand Officers were subsequently announced and received, and after procession they assumed their seats. The roll of P.G. Lodge was then called over, and letters of apology for non-attendance were read from absent P.G. Officers. The minutes of the P.G. Lodge, held in Liverpool on the 29th October, 1875, and of the special P.G. Lodge held in Manchester on the 22nd February last, were read and confirmed unanimously. The D.P.G.M. then vacated the throne, which was taken by the M.W. G.M.M. (the Earl of Limerick), who addressed the assembled brethren on the nature of his visit, and briefly referred to the appointment of the P.G.M.M. designate. A deputation consisting of the Director of Ceremonies, two P.G. Wardens, two P.G. Deacons, two P.G. Stewards, and two P.M.'s then retired, and after a few moments' absence they re-entered, introducing Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, the P.G. M.M. designate, who was at once duly and impressively obligated, installed, and invested by the M.W.G.M.M. The patent of appointment of the P.G.M.M. was read by the P.G. Secretary (Bro. Chadwick). Bro. Le Gendre Nicholas Starkie was then appointed and invested Deputy Prov. G.M.M. The following were next appointed and invested P.G. Officers for the ensuing year:—

T. Hargreaves	Prov. G.S.W.
R. McDowell Smith	Prov. G.J.W.
T. Oakden	Prov. G.M.O.
G. Cornfield	Prov. G.S.O.
G. O'Neil	Prov. G.J.O.
Rev. Dr. Hyde	Prov. G. Chap.
A. A. Bagshawe	Prov. G. Ast. Chap.
J. Driffild	Prov. G. Treas.
E. Simpson	Prov. G. Reg.
J. Chadwick	Prov. G. Sec.
H. Jackson	Prov. G.S.D.
W. Alcock	Prov. G.J.D.
J. Sutcliffe	Prov. G. I. of Wks.
C. M. Jones	Prov. G. D. of C.
T. Bradshaw	Prov. G.A. D. of C.
W. E. Quayle	Prov. G. Swd. B.
J. Barlow	Prov. G. Std. B.
T. Horsfall	Prov. G. Org.
R. W. Waterson	Prov. G. Parst.
R. Richardson, A. Middleton, and T. W. Probert	Prov. G. Stwds.
J. Sly	Prov. G. Tyler.

A vote of thanks was given to the M.W.G.M.M. for his attendance and valuable assistance that day, and after returns of contributions had been received, the business proceedings came to a close.

Banquet was subsequently served to a large number of the brethren, Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, P.G.M.M.M., presiding, supported by Bro. the Earl of Limerick, M.W.G. M.M.M., and a brilliant assembly of Grand and Past Grand Officers. Bro. Le Gendre Nicholas Starkie, D.P.G.M.M., was unable to be present in consequence of a domestic affliction. After giving the toast of "The Queen," which was received right loyally, Bro. Lord Skelmersdale gave "H.R.H. Albert Edward Prince of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," remarking that he hoped before long some member of the Royal House would be at the head of Mark Masonry in this country. (Loud applause.)

Bro. Lord Skelmersdale next proposed "The M.W.G. M.M.M. the Earl of Limerick," and in doing so spoke of the many excellent qualities he displayed in connection with that exalted position. He was indeed a thorough Mason, and a worker of the highest order. Personally he (Lord Skelmersdale) felt indebted to the Earl of Limerick for being present that day and installing him as P.G.M.M.

The Earl of Limerick, in response, said he could not but feel deeply grateful for the kind and cordial way in which his name had been mentioned and acknowledged. He had come that day with the greatest pleasure to assist in installing Lord Skelmersdale in a position which he was so well able to fill. He thanked the brethren very sincerely for the way in which he had been received that day, and he would ever have a vivid recollection of the interesting day's proceedings. (Loud cheers.)

The Earl of Limerick then submitted the toast of "Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, P.G.M.M.M.," who, he was quite sure, would prove an admirable occupant of the seat in which he had that day been placed.

Lord Skelmersdale responded in an able manner stating it was exceedingly difficult to reply in becoming terms after the enthusiastic manner in which his name had been received. He earnestly hoped that his action in the chair would continue to merit their esteem. No doubt he had a very difficult task to perform, but if they would only help him as the Craft brethren in West Lancashire had done, there was no doubt of their continued prosperity. He asked the assistance of the Masters of lodges in his work, as this would greatly aid him in carrying out the duties of his office to the entire satisfaction of the brethren.

Lord Skelmersdale next gave "The Health of the P.G. Officers," and after submitting the toast of "The G.M.M.'s and Officers of other Provinces" his lordship retired, amid general cheering, as he had other engagements elsewhere.

The P.G.M.M. of Lincolnshire responded for the toast. Bro. F. Binckes next gave "The Masonic Charities," in an elaborate and eloquent speech, the toast being responded to by Bro. N. S. Alpess, for W.L., Bro. Hine for E.L., and the P.G.M.M. for East Yorkshire.

The toast of "The Visiting Brethren" was coupled with the name of the P.G.M.M. of West Yorkshire.

A choice selection of music was given by a capably-balanced quartette party during the evening.

CONSTITUTION OF A MARK MASTER'S LODGE IN LEICESTER.

An important meeting of the Grand Lodge of Mark Masters of England and Wales, and the Colonies and Dependencies of the British Crown, was held in this town on Wednesday, 25th Oct., for the purpose of constituting a new Mark Master's Lodge, named the Simon de Montfort Lodge, No. 194, and of installing the Mayor of Leicester, Bro. W. Barfoot, as its first Worshipful Master, by whose permission the meeting was held in the Council Chamber at the New Town Hall, which presented a brilliant spectacle.

The Fowke Lodge, No. 19, under Bro. C. Stretton, its Worshipful Master, and the Provincial Grand Lodge, under Bro. W. Kelly, Provincial Grand Master, having been opened, and some preliminary business transacted, the Grand Lodge was received, and the chair taken by the Most Worshipful Grand Mark Master Mason, the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick.

Amongst the other officers present were Bros. the Rev. George Raymond Portal (rector of Burghclere, Hants), M.W. Past Grand Master; Major-General J. Studholme-Brownrigg, C.B., Grand Senior Warden; Dr. Cunningham, Prov. Grand Master for Sussex; W. Kelly, Prov. Grand Master Leicestershire; F. Davison, Grand Treasurer; Rev. — Studholme-Brownrigg, Grand Chaplain; Rev. Wm. Langley, Past Grand Chaplain; John Chadwick (Prov. Grand Secretary Lancashire), Grand Master Overseer; Frederick Binckes, Grand Secretary; and others. Among the members of the Provincial Grand Lodge present were Bros. George Toller, jun., and Clement Stretton, Grand Wardens; Sir H. St. John Halford, Bart., Past Grand Master; J. Waite, Grand Treasurer; Rev. W. Langley, D.P.G.M.; and Rev. C. H. Wood, Grand Chaplains; and E. H. Richardson (Belgrave), and a large attendance of other brethren.

The Grand Master then proceeded, with the assistance of his Grand Officers, to constitute the new lodge in ancient form, and to install the Mayor as Worshipful Master, who afterwards invested the officers for the ensuing year.

A vote of thanks to the Mayor and Corporation for the use of the Council Chamber, was proposed by the Earl of Limerick, Grand Master, and seconded by the Rev. G. R. Portal, Past Grand Master, who expressed his great admiration of the architectural beauty of the room in which they were assembled. The Reverend brother also took occasion to state the great pleasure it had afforded him during his tenure of the Grand Mastership, to appoint as Grand Chaplain that eminent Nonconformist Divine, the late Rev. Dr. Haycroft, and his sense of the great loss which his lamented decease had occasioned.

On the conclusion of the business a banquet took place at the Freemasons' Hall, under the presidency of the Earl of Limerick, nearly 100 members of the Order being present, and a most successful day's proceedings were thus pleasantly brought to a close.

ARCHÆOLOGICAL SECTION OF THE FALCON LODGE, No. 1416, AT THIRSK.

By special invitation the members on the 28th ult., visited the ancient mansion of New Building, the property of Bro. Charles Elsley, Esq. J. P., who received the party most hospitably, and showed its many points of interest. It was formerly styled Kirby Knowle Castle, and is supposed to have been built by Sir Roger de Lascells, who died in 1297. It afterwards passed into the possession, successively, of the families of Constable, Danby, Rokeby, Buxton, Smyth, names many of them associated with the county history. In 1827 it was sold to Colonel Elsley, of Mount St. John, whence it came eventually into the hands of the late Recorder of York and Richmond, whose son succeeded to it. The greater part of the Castle was destroyed by fire in 1568, and of the four towers of which it previously consisted, only one remained entire. In 1653, then being in a ruinous condition, it was purchased by James Danby of York, who repaired and partially rebuilt it, giving it the name of "New Building" which it has since retained. Much of the old mansion had fallen into neglect and dilapidation, but the whole has recently been renovated and extensive alterations made.

Some of the remnants of the old mansion are very interesting, especially a small secret room in the eastern wall, narrow ways which fulfilled their purpose in the old Castle, and the extensive vaults, arched with stone, whence a subterraneous passage leads, tradition says, as far as Upall. Elevated on a lofty eminence, the Mansion or Castle commands a magnificent prospect over the whole Vale of Mowbray, bounded by the hills of Craven and Wensleydale, and extending from Darlington to York, the towers of whose minster on a clear day are distinctly visible.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO NORWICH.

A Grand Lodge of emergency for the Province of Norfolk was held on Saturday at Norwich, the D.P.G.M. Designate, Major Penrice, in the chair, to make arrangements for the approaching visit to Norwich of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. A Provincial Grand Lodge will be held on the 20th of November at the Drill-hall at Norwich, when several distinguished visitors are expected to be present to witness the installation of Lord Suffield as Provincial Grand Master for Norfolk by his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M. The Prince and Princess of Wales will attend a meeting in St. Andrew's Hall, Norwich, on the 20th of November, on behalf of the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital. This meeting will be held at 1 p.m., and at 2 p.m. their Royal Highnesses will lunch with the Bishop of Norwich; at 3 p.m. the Provincial Grand Lodge will be held, and at 4.30 p.m. the Prince and Princess will proceed to Gunton on a short visit to Lord Suffield. The applications for admission to St. Andrew's Hall on the occasion have far exceeded the capacities even of this large building.

HOBART TOWN FREEMASONS' HALL COMPANY.

The annual ordinary meeting of shareholders was held on the 7th August in the Freemasons' Hall. There was a good attendance. Bro. D. Lewis occupied the chair.

The advertisement convening the meeting having been read, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Secretary (Bro. Toby) read the report of the directors. It stated that the balance-sheet showed (independently of the paid-up capital £2880) the liabilities to be £1174 14s 10d, due to the Commercial Bank, and sundry accounts outstanding on 30th June (since paid) £25 5s, making a total of £1199 19s. 10d. The property and assets amounted to £3987 7s. 8d., leaving to the debit of profit and loss £92 12s. 2d., 1120 shares being still open for allotment. The directors had much pleasure in congratulating the shareholders on the improved position of the company, which was mainly attributable to the increase in sundry rentals of the portion of the premises not set apart solely for Masonic purposes, which with the income from other sources, had reduced the amount due to the bank from £1256 13s. 6d., to £1174 14s. 10d., besides paying for a handsome piano for the use of the hall. The directors begged to call the attention of the shareholders and the members of the Craft generally to the unallotted shares, and to express a hope that during the current year a sufficient number would be applied for as to render the further payment of so large an amount for interest to be no longer necessary. They regretted the financial position of the company had not hitherto justified them in entertaining a scheme that was suggested for adding building accommodation suited for a Masonic Club; but they hoped, at no distant time, to place a scheme before the shareholders for accomplishing such object. The present directors were Brothers D. Lewis, W. S. Hammond, F. H. Wise, J. T. Robertson, Leo Susman, W. H. Burgess, jun., L. Riley, John Clark, J. Perkins, jun., and W. G. Macmichael, who all retired from office, but were eligible for re-election. The financial statements were also read.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Bro. Riley, the report and accounts were received and adopted.

Bro. Fitzgerald moved that the retiring directors be re-elected, as he believed they had done their duty to the satisfaction of the shareholders.

Bro. Rheuben seconded the motion.

The Chairman said that Bro. Susman was at present out of the colony, but he was expected back shortly.

Bro. Wise said he had been a director since 1863, when the company first started, and he should be only too glad to retire in favour of a new man. Perhaps, if some new men were introduced into the directory, they would be able to get off some additional shares. He might suggest Bro. Fitzgerald as a director.

Bro. Fitzgerald declined, and said they could not get a more faithful and zealous director than Bro. Wise. (Hear, hear.)

The Chairman said that if Bro. Wise retired they would lose a very valuable member of the board.

The motion was carried.

On the motion of Bro. W. H. Burgess, seconded by Bro. John Clark, Bros. John Hamilton and J. M. Clarke were re-elected auditors.

Bro. John Perkins, jun., moved a vote of thanks to the Secretary. Taking into account the affliction he had suffered under during the last twelve months, Bro. Toby had discharged his duties with a large amount of energy, and with great satisfaction to the shareholders.

Bro. J. M. Clarke, in seconding the motion, said that, as one of the auditors, he could bear testimony to the excellent manner in which the books were kept.

The motion was carried, and Bro. Toby returned thanks.

Bro. W. H. Burgess moved a vote of thanks to the auditors. He regretted that the company was not in a position to mark its appreciation of their services in the usual way, and therefore it could not do less than accord them a vote of thanks.

Bro. Macmichael seconded the motion, which was carried.

Bro. Clarke returned thanks, and moved a vote of thanks to the directors.

Bro. Chisholm seconded the motion, which was carried.

The Chairman, on behalf of the directors, observed that he could only say they had done their duty. In accepting a position of grave responsibility, it was necessary that they should fill it in a proper way, and if they had satisfied the shareholders they were gratified. He regretted to find that they were not increasing the number of shareholders, but he thought they must hope to do so by increasing the members of their lodges, by encouraging more young men to come into the fraternity. By that means the debt would be reduced, because new members would each take a few shares.

Bro. Toby remarked that there had not been one new shareholder since last year, the additional shares taken up having been taken by the old shareholders. Since the hall was erected 40 or 50 new members had been initiated into the lodges, and they had not taken up any shares, although some of them were in a position to do so.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the proceedings.

GRAND LODGE OF QUEBEC.

The following is a list of officers elected for the current year:—

M.W. Bro. James Dunbar, of Quebec, Grand Master.
R.W. Bro. M. M. Tait, of Montreal, Deputy Grand Master.
R.W. Bro. J. T. McMinn, D.D.G.M. Montreal District.
R.W. Bro. C. Judge, D.D.G.M. Quebec and Three Rivers District.
R.W. Bro. Herbert B. Newell, D.D.G.M. Bedford District.
R.W. Bro. James Addie, D.D.G.M. St. Francis District.
R.W. Bro. E. B. Eddy, D.D.G.M. Ottawa District.
R.W. Bro. Percival L. Cowans, of Cowansville, Grand Senior Warden.
R.W. Bro. M. Burwie, of Richmond, Grand Junior Warden.
R.W. Bro. H. W. Nye, of Iron Hill (re-elected), Grand Chaplain.
R.W. Bro. H. M. Alexander, of Montreal (re-elected) Grand Treasurer.
R.W. Bro. Alex. Chisholm, of Montreal, Grand Registrar.
R.W. Bro. J. H. Isaacson, of Montreal (re-elected), Grand Secretary.

[Grand Master Bro. Graham's address will appear in the "Masonic Magazine" for December.]

SWEDENBORGIAN RITE.

The Supreme Grand Lodge and Temple of the Dominion of Canada, Ill. Bros. Col. W. J. B. McLeod, 33°, A. and A.; J. D. Harrington, 33°, A. and A.; Geo. C. Longley, 33°, A. and P., have been pleased to grant a charter for a Supreme Grand Lodge and Temple for Great Britain and Ireland, of the Swedenborgian Rite, a ritual which seems to give great pleasure to Masonic Archaeologists. Ill. Bro. John Yarker has been appointed Supreme G.M., but has signified his intention of resigning the same into the hands of Ill. Bro. F. G. Irwin, S.G.S.W. Ill. Bros. Charles Scott, S.G.J.W.; S. P. Leather, S. G. Treas.; Thos. Lee Shaw; K. R. H. Mackenzie, &c. By this arrangement Emmanuel Lodge and Temple, No. 3, of Canada, becomes No. 1, of Great Britain, and will shortly be transferred to Bristol with Ill. Bro. F. G. Irwin as W.M., in place of Ill. Bro. John Yarker.

A Second Edition of the "Freemason" will be issued early Saturday morning, and will contain a full report of the proceedings at the Consecration of the Canterbury Lodge, No. 1635, by Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, M.W.D.G.M.

EARL OF CARNARVON LODGE, (No. 1642).—The consecration of this lodge will take place this (Saturday) afternoon, at three o'clock, at Ladbroke Hall, Notting hill. The ceremonies will be performed by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary. Bro. W. J. Murliss, P.M. 1489, is the W.M. designate. A full report will appear in our next.

The Crichton Lodge, No. 1641, will be consecrated by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, on Saturday next, the 11th inst. Bro. J. H. Vockins, P.M. 1349, is the W.M. designate.

The oldest member of the English Royal Family, the Princess Caroline, Hereditary Princess of Denmark, completed on Saturday her eighty-third year. This venerable lady is the granddaughter of the unfortunate Queen Caroline Matilda, sister to George III., and married to the King of Denmark, Christian VII., but was subsequently divorced.

ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL.—Mr. Frederick W. Walker, M.A., High Master of Manchester Grammar School, and late Fellow and Tutor of Corpus College, Oxford, has been appointed High Master of St. Paul's School, in the place of the Rev. Herbert Kynaston, D.D., who will retire at Christmas, having held the position for upwards of 28 years.

We have great pleasure in being able to state that, at the express desire of the Czar, his Excellency Count Schouvaloff recently called on Lord Beaconsfield to express the utter repudiation by the Imperial Government of the attack made by the "Golos" on the Prime Minister, and the personal offence and indignation felt by the Czar at the article in question.—"Times."

BETHNAL GREEN MUSEUM.—In consideration of the loan of the Indian presents by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Lord President of the Council has ordered that this museum shall be opened free (as an exception) on Thursday, the 9th of November, His Royal Highness's birthday, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors, Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overated.

ADVERTISEMENTS should reach the Office, 198 Fleet Street, London, not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday, to insure insertion in the following Saturday's number. The Rates for Advertisements may be had on application at the Office.

THE "FREEMASON."

The Christmas number of the "Freemason" will appear on the 23rd December, and will consist of 32 pages, to subscribers as usual, to non-subscribers 4d. Orders to prevent disappointment, as the demand will be so large, should be sent at once to the Publisher 198, Fleet Street, London.

THE "MASONIC MAGAZINE."

The Christmas number of the Masonic Magazine will be ready on the 22nd of December, and will be a double number. To subscribers as usual, to non-subscribers 1s.

Answers to Correspondents.

A WELL WISHER is very much thanked, and his communication is under consideration.

A full report of the opening of the Worcester Lodge, 1603, at Worcester, Cape of Good Hope, will appear in our pages at the first convenient opportunity.

R.W.O.—Much obliged, but already in print.

Bro. Jacob Norton's letter, for which he is much thanked, will appear, owing to our crowded pages, in the "Masonic Magazine" for December.

MUSIC.—In the notice of "Our Nelly Waltz," &c., by a mistake of Bro. Anderson's, Mr. Williams was said to have been proposed in "The Great City Lodge," whereas it ought to have been the "City of London Lodge," No. 901.

REMITTANCES RECEIVED.

	£	s.	d.
Abbott, F., Canada (P.O.O.)	1	6	0
Bevan, J., New Zealand (P.O.O.)	1	4	0
Collins, James, India (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Cook, Wm., Japan (Draft)	0	17	4
Devereux, G., Inglewood (P.O.O.)	2	3	6
Ferguson, Jas., Tasmania (P.O.O.)	1	1	0
Graham, A., New York (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Griffiths, R., Australia (P.O.O.)	1	16	0
Hutton, Lieut.-Col. Canada (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Money, E. M., India (Cash)	1	0	0
Pattison, S., Egypt (Draft)	0	17	4
Richardson, T., New York (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Smith, J., India (P.O.O.)	5	0	0
Turner, N., California (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Watkins, Jas., Bermuda (P.O.O.)	0	12	0
Wolff, E., Kronstad O.F.S. (Cash)	0	12	3

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BENSON.—On the 28th ult., at Brondesbury-road, N.W., the wife of H. B. Benson, of a son.

FABER.—On the 25th ult., at Clifton-hill, N.W., the wife of Louis Faber, of a son, stillborn.

GORDON.—On the 20th ult., at Staunton, Notts, the wife of G. Gordon, Esq., of a son.

LAW.—On the 25th ult., at Barnstable, the wife of A. J. Law, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

PROUT—WILLING.—On the 26th ult., at the parish church Great Wakering, W. A. Prout, Esq., B.A., Trinity Hall Cantab, to Jessie Sophia, daughter of Dr. Willing.

SKETE—SILBERBERG.—On the 24th ult., at St. Barnabas, Addison-road, Kensington, John Brathwaite Skeete, B.A., Oxon, to Emmeline Emma, daughter of L. Silberberg, Esq.

DEATHS.

MACKENZIE.—On the 27th ult., at Cornwall-cottages, Holloway, Henry, the younger son of the late Henry Mackenzie, of Claremont-row, Islington, aged 57.

MAXWELL.—On the 27th ult., at Bournemouth, Helenora, wife of Sir W. Maxwell, Bart., of Monreith.

PERRY.—On the 24th ult., at Trinity-place, Windsor, William Perry, in his 68th year.

TEALE.—On the 27th ult., Bro. W. H. Teale, aged 70.

WALTERS.—On the 29th ult., at Chester-terrace, Regent's Park, Gregory Seale Walters, Esq., in his 80th year.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOV. 4, 1876.

THE PRESENT ASPECTS OF FRENCH FREEMASONRY.

We said in our last, that we should revert to the arguments of Bros. Caubet and Wyrubouff, and we do so, therefore, to-day. Bro. Caubet quite approves of the result of the meeting of the Grand Orient, and tells us that the meeting by the "calmness of its deliberations, by its wise and progressive spirit," had earned the well-merited praise of its President. He goes on to observe that if, "as we doubt not, the result of the study" or consideration "of the lodges concurs with the opinion of the Convent" (that is the Grand Orient assembled), "French Masonry will give to the world the example of the true and complete practice of liberty of conscience." Bro. Caubet also points out that Masonry is "purely a moral society, a lay society, that it is not a Church, and can therefore make no religious or irreligious manifestation. Its mission is a mission of peace and liberty, which obliges it in an absolute manner to abstain from all that can divide mankind, and from all that can rub against the legitimate susceptibilities of their consciences." We may observe that their consciences are very susceptible indeed, which can be injured by the declaration of the belief in the "existence of God." According to Bro. Caubet, "the paragraph II. of the first article of the Constitution, now under re-consideration, has occasioned sufficient acrimonious discussions, provoked sufficient acts of intolerance to render the suppression absolutely necessary."

We need not go into Bro. Caubet's eloquent peroration, because it is, as we deem it, utterly outside the question, however well expressed in verbiage. But this we see clearly, it is wished no longer to admit any formal expression of belief in the existence of God and the Immortality of the Soul, and as the Bible "has been banished from the French Lodges," nothing remains for them but human morality alone, which in itself, as we know, is a broken reed, a rotten foundation for any one to lean upon or build upon. We have long deplored the tendency of French Freemasonry to strike out for itself a new path, disassociating itself from the past and above all from Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry. We feel sure that when this intelligence reaches the United States, and Canada, the feeling there will be just as strong as in England, that no more impolitic step has ever been taken, no more unwise decision has ever been arrived at, than that which now places French Freemasonry in the position of an Order which positively cannot and will not own its belief in the existence of God. The only effect, as we said last week, will be to play into the hands of the Ultramontane party in France, and to take away from French Freemasonry those friends who would have stood by it loyally to the last. As it is, we can only shrug our shoulders and leave French Freemasonry to itself. When we turn to Bro. Wyrubouff we see that he takes, if a somewhat more philosophic view of things, yet one which, we feel bound to add, in our own humble opinion, is equally mistaken, and greatly to be regretted. Bro. Wyrubouff has written, and written well, as some may know, on the side of "positivism," and is a "positivist," but in his address he professes to speak only as a Freemason. He declares that the suppression of this paragraph is necessary "for liberty of conscience," and that "because this article is suppressed; it does not render Freemasonry therefore atheistical." No one, we apprehend, contends that the logical consequence of the act of suppression is to make an atheistical declaration on the part of French Freemasonry—that would be saying too much; but what we do assert is that whereas up to the present time French Freemasonry, like English Freemasonry, has declared its belief in the existence of God, as a necessary condition of admission, all of a sudden, this condition is to be removed; no such prerequisite condition is to be enforced any more in French Freemasonry, and French Freemasonry assumes, therefore, an entirely novel position, and separates itself at once from a million, in round numbers at the least, of Anglo-Saxon Freemasons. Fifty valid reasons may be alleged, indeed, for this Masonic revolution, but the allegation that it is to uphold liberty of conscience is in truth alone worthy of the Jesuits, for as we have often said, there is a Jesuitism in this world of ours besides that of the affiliates of Ignatius Loyola. Those who have followed the course of French Freemasonry from the unhappy hours when it began to express an opinion on subjects beyond its competence, through the ridiculous manifestations of some Parisian Freemasons with the Commune, and in its present abnormal condition, must be aware that the dominant section is associated with an extreme party, in all matters relating to religious belief. The sentiments of Bro. Massol have still great influence with the Grand Orient of France, and that able brother, as we know, was most hostile not only to the existence of the Bible even in our English lodges, but to any form of belief at all. He was, as we all know, one of the prophets of the "Independent Morality" ("Morale Indépendante,") a teaching destructive of anything like the supernatural or the spiritual even in religion, the equivalent only of a decent and polished Heathenism, without faith in this world, and without hope for the next. When Bro. Wyrubouff states that "Atheism is a doctrine," and "the negation of God, and inevitably a philosophy," and that Freemasonry ought neither to have a doctrine or a philosophy, and "that as for him, as a Mason, he is equally opposed to materialism and spiritualism," he asserts for Freemasonry the position of an actual "religio" of some kind or other, a "tertium quid," an independent morality of its own, something very akin to that of Bro. Massol. This we hold to be a very great mistake, and even worse. Such a position Freemasonry cannot uphold, as the moment it essays to teach a morality of its own it falls, as the only true morality that a friendly and philanthropic brotherhood like ours can profess to proclaim to man is that which is founded on the Divine morality of the Bible. Any mere human code of morality is absolutely worthless, can only resolve itself into a vain or blatant philosophy, and must eventually pave the way, as all history points out, for a temporal and spiritual despotism. We can only express, once more, our deep sorrow at this, in our opinion, most regrettable proceeding. For it can have but one effect, if carried through, as Bro. Caubet expects it will be, and that effect will be the weakening and breaking up of French Freemasonry. We know, from the best of authority, that there are many French Freemasons who deeply deplore the present state of things, and the present dominant teaching of French Freemasonry, and in all kindness and goodwill to our Bros. St. Jean, and Caubet, and Wyrubouff, and others, we would say to-day, before "you burn your ships" (it is always, remember, an act of desperation), think well of the inevitable pitfall which awaits French Freemasonry, and of that shout of triumph which the Bishop of Orleans, and your many adversaries, will set up from one end of France to the other, when, fulfilling his vaticinations, you openly avow to the Masonic world that French Freemasonry will no more even declare its belief in the existence of God. It is, indeed, a mournful result of so many arduous struggles, and will be a continued source of alarm to all who value both the principles and the practice of Freemasonry.

THE LEGAL STATUS OF FREEMASONRY.

A case, which has been decided by the Westminster County Court Judge, Mr. Bayley, and which appeared in our last issue, will, we think, be very much commented upon by our brethren, and we therefore think it needful to notice it. It appears that the Hervey Lodge, 1260, sued a brother, who shall be nameless in our pages, for £15, his initiation fees, in fact. The County Court Judge held, that the "Freemasons were not a body corporate," that they could not "sue," and that in "point of law" they were a "nonentity." He declined to allow

Mr. Stone, counsel for the lodge, to amend the "plaint," or to "grant a case for an appeal," on the ground that he (Mr. Stone) "had no right to appeal, as the case cannot be supported," and declared, "I shall therefore nonsuit the plaintiff, and allow costs." And so judgment went for the defendant with costs. Such is the report of our contemporary, the "Sunday Times," and which is, no doubt, perfectly correct. Indeed, the report professes to be "verbatim." We have nothing to do with the decision, as a judicial decision, emanating from a court of law, for as Freemasons we always pay respect to the judgments of the law courts, whether favourable or unfavourable to our contentions of what we deem to be the law of this or that particular case. But as the question is in itself of some importance to the Craft at large in its legal bearings, we trust that the attention of our distinguished Grand Registrar will be drawn to the matter, as great misapprehension exists, no doubt, on the subject amongst our brethren at large, who, not brought up to the study of the law, cannot be supposed to have mastered its professional technicalities. But though we decline to express any opinion one way or the other as to this recent decision, as we do not conceive that it would be decorous or Masonic to do so, we think right to state that some blame attaches to the Hervey Lodge. If the lodge be named after our worthy and excellent Grand Secretary, how comes it that the brethren were so forgetful of his official and personal reputation? What business had the Hervey Lodge to initiate a brother who either could not or would not pay his initiation fees? What did they know of the initiate, previous to initiation? and who recommended him as thoroughly worthy of reception into Freemasonry? These are questions which will occur to every thinking Freemason, and they are questions, which, in justice to the Craft at large, dishonoured by such proceedings, the Hervey Lodge ought, in our opinion, at once officially to reply to. We are inclined to think, and we fancy we shall echo the sentiments of many, that in all such cases, happily, let us trust, very rare, lodges had much better "wash their dirty linen at home," and not offer it to public manipulation, inspection, and comment, and here we leave the matter for the present, awaiting the explanation, which no doubt the Hervey Lodge in the interests of Freemasonry will not be slow to offer. But we think, having told the tale, we now can "point the moral." What a commentary does this case afford on that haphazard admission of new members, which is now going on amongst us. No more hurtful and fatal Masonic heresy ever was pronounced than that which says, the "test of admission is the ability to pay." It has tended to loosen our entire system of caution and care, and day-by-day we are admitting many who by no possible consideration can ever be considered fit applicants for the "mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry." And then let us note the "reductio ad absurdum" involved in such a theory. When the witty French wife in Octave Feuillet's "Pour et Contre," in reply to a husband who says that a flirtation on the man's side is excusable, (though not on the woman's) and is only a "passing amusement of intellect," asks him, "but if he have no intellect?" the excellent man is shut up. So these initiates who are to be admitted because they can pay, but won't pay after all, what then? Surely we must all see the hollowness and radical error of the present hasty system, and we must make up our minds, despite the material interests of our lodges, to know something of our candidates before we propose them, and to be convinced that they are good men, and will make good Freemasons, before we initiate those who require to be sued to pay their initiation fees.

CHARITY ORGANIZATION.

It is curious sometimes to note, and not a little instructive, how true is the saying of the wise King ever still, that there is "nothing new under the sun." We make, as we often think, some remarkable progress in this matter or that, we inaugurate a striking reform, we put forward some marvellous discovery, and yet we are but reverting after all whether to first principles, or earlier, discoveries, reforms, inventions. The truth is, that this world of ours is nothing but a constant scene of progressive and retrograde movements, of change and continuance, of flow and ebb, of amendment and deterioration; nothing is stationary, nothing is continuous, nothing is perfect. On all things here, and on all men, "nations and thrones, and reverend laws" time has cast its decaying hand, and as each generation passes onward to its grave, we note, if we look on things calmly and carefully, beneath the tinsel and outside show of this always garish life of ours, this great and unchanging law of the world and of man; we ourselves make and mar, we ourselves improve and alter as we think, but after all we achieve little that is new, and complete nothing that is permanent. And if this view of things be in truth, as it no doubt is, somewhat humiliating to our common humanity, yet of its reality we cannot doubt, and about its certainty we need not dispute. And in nothing is this, according to our notion, so true as in respect of that dealing with our fellow and suffering mortals, by the way of benevolence, which we often sum up under the one little expressive word "Charity." The poor we have always with us; they will "never cease out of the land," we may well believe, whatever our social arrangements and legislative provisions may be. We are not among those who despair indeed of materially reducing the terrible array of the "great army" of the poor, and lessening that dreadful "dead weight" which presses so often and so hardly on the honest industry of thousands, the hard earned incomes of countless fellow citizens. But this is not the exact question before us, only at any rate a subsidiary one, and we do not propose at present to talk upon it in these pages. But with the fact of the need of "Charity" of some kind we may fairly deal. No doubt much abuse exists in the giving as well as in the administration of individual charity, and no objection can be made to the efforts of individuals or societies to deal with any proven "malfeasance" in this respect of the great principle and duty of true charity. But it may be feared, we think, that in so acting, we admit, with a good intention, we have many of us fallen into as great an error almost on the opposite side of the question. We have set up a charitable bureaucracy, which, like all bureaucracies has landed us in the red-tapeism of charity, the shadow, not the substance, the outward organization and skeleton, so to say, not the inner vitality and reality of that greater and noblest of all true virtues. We have multiplied societies, with a corresponding staff, until the wretched applicant for relief is tossed about by a polite game of battledore and shuttlecock, from office to office, sick at heart and weary, and he sinks, yes, and dies from actual starvation. Some recent accounts in the papers, one of which we printed last week, are very saddening and very depressing. It is perfectly startling to the humane mind to realize, that in our great metropolis, with all our official organization, with all our unofficial associations, with many "bureaus" of intelligence and enquiry, any fellow creature should positively have to trudge from office to office for hours, and go away disappointed, and famishing, unaided at the last. The great end of all such societies, remember, is to enable relief to be given to the really destitute, and not to the vagrant, the impostor, the swindler, the man who lives on the charity of his fellows, and unless there was some great defect in such associations, some radical vice in these little centres of a pseudo-officialism, we should not have to read the record of the hopeless appeals of the truly suffering, or the vain efforts to obtain succour, whether by young and old, who really and truly need help. We beg our readers carefully to consider "Veta's" letter in our last impression, and many like which have recently appeared in the daily press, and to say whether such a state of things can be justified on any ground whatever, and whether or no there is not some great mistake in the working of our present organisations and associations. We believe it to be this—that we are substituting a hard and fast line of mere official routine and enquiry for actual and ready help, and when the truly honest applicant asks for "bread," we practically give him a "stone," we offer to him the "cold shoulder," the hopeless red tape of stereotyped formality to a starving human being. And in saying this, our remarks do not apply to the Boards of Guardians, or the relieving officers, but rather to what may be termed without offence the "amateur officers of enquiry and relief." The Boards of Guardians and the relieving officers are governed by legal provisions, and the "Consolidated Order of the Poor-law Board," and as a rule discharge their onerous responsibilities with care, tact, and humanity. But the societies for "relief and enquiry," and the like have more freedom of action necessarily, and ought not to be merely, so to say, recording or recommending offices. If it be true that such societies do not profess to give relief, then, we contend that this is their vital blunder of action which utterly mars all their otherwise alleged utility. When the officer has ascertained that the poor applicant has a bona fide case, he should be enabled to administer "temporary relief," at any rate, "in kind," and enable the homeless man to find accommodation in a "model lodginghouse," until he can see the relieving officer of the district the next morning. But at four or five in the afternoon, after the poor applicant has been banded from office to office, to send him to a relieving officer three miles distant, is a bitter burlesque on the name of charity, and could happen in no country but England. It should not be possible that a respectable man and his son, short of work; should have to walk wearily for many hours, from office to office, and all in vain, and at last have to depend for a few mouthfuls of food, upon the casual help of a fellow sufferer as poor as themselves, and spend their night under the arches of Covent Garden Market. The sooner, then, in our humble opinion, that our charitable organizations are improved in these respects, the better will it be for us all, for as it is, their work is deceptive, and the result is very questionable, certainly not worth the expense of their officialism, or even the superabundance of their red-tape. We do not deny that many difficulties attend the question in itself, but of two evils, "always choose the least;" and we ourselves should prefer even "indiscriminate almsgiving," or what people like to term the "inconsiderateness of charitable people," to the amenities of a hyper officialism, which is very rampant just now, and appears somewhat inclined and prepared to shew to a confiding public "how not to do it," especially when an emergency arises, when honest poverty knocks suppliantly at the door.

THE RETURN OF THE ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

We are glad in being able to congratulate the gallant officers and sailors of the Arctic Expedition, many of them being our brethren in Masonry, on their safe return home to Old England, and we rejoice to think that they are permitted by a good Providence to spend the Christmas of 1876 amid happy friends and loving relatives. They have lost four of their little band; all the rest, we believe, have come back hale and strong. The result of this achievement, however wonderful, has been perused with avidity in other pages than these, and is altogether too long for our columns. As the "Times" says so well,—"But what a tale of unrequited, we had almost said gratuitous, suffering it is! How lightly do all talk of glory; how little do they know what it means! The little army had to cut its way through the ice barriers, dragging heavily laden sledges, and going to and fro, the whole force being often required for each sledge, content to make a mile and a quarter a day, in pursuit of an object still four hundred miles off, through increasing difficulties, and with barely five months, or one hundred and fifty days, wherein to go and return. The labour is a dreadful reality; the scheme itself a nightmare, the phantasy of a disordered brain. Even the smaller and subsidiary Expedition for planting an Autumn depot cost three amputations. The cold was beyond all former experience for intensity and length, and the physical effect of a long winter spent in the ships under such conditions is particularized as one reason why the men were less able to endure cold, labour, and the want of proper food. Petersen, the guide and interpreter, accustomed as he has been to the climate and its hardships, sank under them, and became a serious addition to the labour of his comrades. Every one of the Expeditions, whatever the direction, came back in the saddest plight, some dragging the rest, and in one case only reaching the ship through the heroism of an officer pushing on many miles alone to announce his returning comrades, to procure the aid by which alone they were saved from destruction. These are episodes, but they are the matter which redeems the story and makes its truest value. They tell us what Englishmen will do on occasions beyond our feeble home apprehensions, when once they have accepted a call and are "in duty bound." We agree fully with the tone of these remarks, and though we cannot recount the achievements of our gallant countrymen amid the dangers of the ice hummocks of the Polar Seas, we can express our admiration at their dauntless courage, and our heartfelt happiness at their safe return.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

HERMETICISM AND LONG LIVERS.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I feel considerable difficulty in making my reply upon the symbolical language of "Long Livers," because, when I express my belief in the traditional history of last centuries' High Grades, I shall at once be met by the sceptical realist with a demand for "Minutes" of the same, and this cannot be given beyond, say a reference to the Royal Arch in 1743, and to the Templar and Templar Priest about 1780. Notwithstanding, I reiterate a belief that those "seven pillars" which the York Masons, the Ancient Masons, the Scotch Masons, and the Irish Masons, alleged were "hewn out" by our ancient brethren in 1686, are the degrees Hermetically alluded to in 1721. These three degrees, separated from the Craft by the ceremony of Past Master, I take to be the "Higher Class" alluded to by Philalethes, jun., in 1721; the language in the closing part of the dedication is almost word for word with some in the Christian orders, it is found in no other system or ritual whatever—I speak from a large ritual acquaintance—and if it does not refer to the three higher degrees I have mentioned, it is a harmless piece of mystification, admits of no other reference or explanation, and its language has no meaning.

Scholastic oaths and rites were so far common in Europe in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, that I do not see that we need doubt the actual existence of Rosicrucian ceremonies at the close of the seventeenth century, or even that they had brought them from Egypt or Constantinople, as they alleged, since ancient rites analogous to Freemasonry still exist there. It is even barely possible that some of the later mystical works, written ostensibly as Rosicrucian, are really Masonic. Thus we find the dedication to "Long Livers" 1721, alludes to the Masonic Roll of Philalethes' High Grades under the designation of the "Book M," the identical term of Christian Rosy Cross, for his Rosicrucian Roll. But that the Masonic High Grades was the veritable fraternity of Rosy Cross is, I think, disproved by the fact that at an early period a totally distinct rite, under that name was tacked on, in German, to the Masonic institution; moreover, this very book "Long Livers" was known to these German Masonic Rosicrucians, for they asserted in 1745, that "Eugenius Philalethes" was still living and President of the English Rosicrucian Masons. I follow genuine tradition and infer that in 1686 the English Rosicrucian Masons established a rite of the additional degrees which they conferred upon the officers of the Craft, and altered and adapted the same to the objects they had in view, as all system mongers have done. Bro. Leon Hyneman published a book in 1872 entitled "Ancient York and London Grand Lodges," it is not without errors, but will meet with better comprehension in this light. The Templar Priest is doubtless the degree to which Hinde claimed to belong about 1765, as the clerical or ecclesiastical branch, which had authority over the secular, with a descent from the Essenes.† The old English Templar ceremony was very different from the present, and claimed descent as a part of the mysteries from the most remote antiquity; but besides this there was a Latin work published at Amsterdam, which gave the ancient Templars a secret Gnostic or Rosicrucian origin, and that the Order was talked about amongst the Freemasons is very likely, for we find Lilly stating that his grandfather was "one of the Knights Templars or Knights of Malta," i.e., the English langue of the Hospital of St. John, or Malta.

Elsewhere I have amply proved that from the fifteenth to the end of the seventeenth century there was a sectarian party, who, because they went in fear of the stake and the dungeon, and aimed at trampling down the triple tiara, were compelled to use the jargon or secret oath-bound terms of operative alchemy by which to convey grave religious truths and hardy theosophical speculations, and I perceive, moreover, undoubtedly, that Philalethes, jun., from his Dedication to "Long Livers," was perfectly cognizant of the fact, and this, to some minds, might almost amount to a demonstration that amongst our Speculative Masons there was all along a party and a rite who were cognizant of the designs and aiding these

* Jennings' "Rosicrucian." † Bro. Bewick.

Rosicrucians. I altogether deny that his language has any reference to Operative Alchemy; it is simply a mystical description of the "Great Work," which was as much the object of the York High Grades in 1786, as of those of London in 1686, a search for that moral and religious truth which the writer mystically veiled under the language of alchemy, a search for the spiritual Gold and Silver of Divine Truth. The King and Queen—Sol and Luna—the Hermetical combination of which was to give unbounded wealth, health, and everlasting life.

Notwithstanding the objections of your able editor, I still maintain my original statement that the entire dedication has reference chiefly to the Royal Arch degree. What is the gist of the whole language? A history of a supposed Biblical Freemasonry. The writer claims that Masonry is a Patriarchal and Apostolical brotherhood, the exact assertion of the Seventh Degree of "Holy Royal Arch Knights Templar Priest;" the precise language of Laurence Dermott when he wrote about the Royal Arch last century, in his "Ahiman Rezon;" a degree which has, moreover, strong allusions to a Trinity in Unity, upon which Philalethes, jun., so strongly dwells. I wonder that any can fail to see what to my own eyes is so much more palpable than I can express.

The seven quadrates supported at the corners by four lions, I refer to the seven pillars, steps, or degrees, of this "Temple of Wisdom," so stably founded that it is symbolised by the lion. My old encampments have taught me that the French Rose Croix and Kadosh are the synonyms of the English Templar and Priest, and the Teutonic K. of Palestine, and Prince of the Royal Secret, and I do not see how we can well escape from the position, these would be again represented by the Three German Rosicrucian Grades.

In regard to the enquiry as to the time immemorial list of 1743 of the Rosy Cross in London, I may say that about 30 years ago a member of the Royal Order of Scotland published in the "Freemason's Quarterly" their oldest documents; the first of these was the list I have given of their London Lodges and Chapters, and the brethren belonging thereto "revived" the order in Edinburgh. The list is doubtless genuine, but it does not follow that their ceremonies were the same then as now. I consider that their position as to the Continental and English Rose Croix degrees disprove this, and I am more inclined to believe in the alteration of the Scotch than the Continental. Some one has introduced Bruce and suspicious doggrel. Some one has blundered.

Truly and fraternally yours,

JOHN YARKER.

A MARKED MASON.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

An extract from the "Sunday Times" appears in your columns of the 28th inst., stating that the Hervey Lodge, No. 1260, sued on October 10th, in the County Court of Westminster, a gentleman for ten guineas initiation fees, and five guineas subscription. The definition gentleman will pass unnoticed; it is, however, unfortunate that an omission by a section of our Craft should be brought forward within the walls of a County Court. Omission appears to apply both to plaintiffs and defendant. In our Book of Constitutions, page 86, clause 9, deals with initiation fees, and continues, "nor shall a lodge on any pretence, remit or defer the payment of any part of this sum." 1260 has evidently allowed the candidate to defer payment both of fees and subscription. The clause continues with, "The member who proposes a candidate must be responsible to the lodge for all the fees payable on account of the initiation. Let us hope he will yet renew faith with those who received him into our fraternity of square dealings, and yet become a bright and shining light, a Mark Mason in place of a "Marked" one. Fraternally yours,

J. E. L., 1458.

INSTRUCTION.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am deputed by several brothers (all M.M.'s) to solicit your reply to the following question:

"Is it right for four, six, or more brothers to meet in a public-house or private residence (always with the utmost privacy), for mutual instruction in Masonry?"

Your kind and explicit reply to the above through your valuable publication will oblige.

Sir and brother, yours fraternally,

MUSICUS.

[We can see no harm in it, provided it is purely a private and friendly meeting. A Lodge of Instruction is, however, the preferable way of obtaining such instruction.—Ed.]

SPURIOUS FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The enclosed handbill was placed in my hands last evening, and I find that numbers are being distributed through this town,—

"SPECIAL NOTICE.—'EARL OF DALKEITH COURT,' OF THE UNITED ORDER OF FREEMASONS FRIENDLY SOCIETY, Kingston-upon-Hull District (Registered according to Act of Parliament).—The above Court, will initiate at the following low scale on Tuesday, November 7th, 1876, and every second Tuesday thereafter for a short time:—From 16 years of age to 21, 2s. 6d.; from 21 years of age to 30, 3s. 6d.; from 30 years of age to 35, 5s. 0d.; from 33 years of age to 40, 7s. 6d. This is an opportunity rarely to be met with. £12 at the death of a member; £10 at the death of a member's wife; £8 at the death of a second wife; 10s. per week for sickness for the first six months, 7s. 6d. for the next six months, and 5s. per week for the third six months; 1d. per mile allowed to brothers travelling in search of employment. Free to receive sick and funeral benefits in six months. Contributions.—10d. per fortnight, clear of all levies. The above Court will be opened on Tuesday, November 7th, at 7.30 p.m., when all parties wishing to become members can be made.

I should be glad to hear from you, if there are no means of preventing this club from assuming a name to which they have evidently no legal right.

A reply in the "Freemason" will oblige, yours truly and fraternally,

Oct. 28th, 1876.

C. P. R.

[We know nothing of this order. It is not Masonic.—Ed.]

THE "ALBURY MS."

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I see an advertisement respecting the above in the "Freemason," but should like to know somewhat of its character, if you can kindly inform me.

In the "Masonic Jewel," it appears there is a review of it by Bro. Hughan, P.S.G.D. of England, &c., and the editor speaks of it as follows, so a friend tells me:—

"Our valued and esteemed correspondent, Bro. Wm. James Hughan, of England, has 'settled' the 'Albury MS.' in this number of the 'Jewel.' It is wonderful how pretension and fraud will vanish away when investigated by superior intelligence and sense. Another Masonic debt is due to Bro. Hughan for his research and dissection of this newly attempted imposition upon the Order."

Would it not be desirable to reprint it in this country?

Yours fraternally,

T. LEWISHAM.

[This review of Bro. W. Hughan's will appear in the December number of the "Masonic Magazine," which promises to be of unusual interest, and is a double number. Orders for it should be sent at once to the Publisher, 198, Fleet-street.—Ed.]

FREEMASONRY AND THE HOME RULERS.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

If your columns are not too much engaged, I shall be pleased to hear the opinion of the better informed brethren, as to whether a brother may belong to both societies.

Yours fraternally,

G. J.

[Members of political societies cannot join our Order as such, but out of the lodge we have nothing to do with the political opinion of members so long as they are loyal subjects, and obey the laws of the land.—Ed.]

LOST.

To the Editor of "The Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

At the installation meeting of Chaucer Lodge last Wednesday at Bro. Spencer's, Bridge House Hotel, my case with my name and lodge (Domestic, No. 177), written thereon, and containing two collars, one with silver jewel, of S.W., with Domestic, 177, engraven thereon, was taken by a brother in mistake. If said brother will return same to me at Domestic Lodge, Arderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, or to my office as below, he will greatly oblige.

Yours fraternally,

JAS. WILLING, JUN.,

301, Strand, W.C., Nov. 1. I.P.M. 1507, S.W. 177

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DURHAM.

On Tuesday, the 24th inst, South Shields was favoured in being selected as the place for holding, this year, the annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Durham, and great interest was manifested in the proceedings among brethren belonging to that town. The Provincial Grand Lodge was held under the Banner of St. Hilda's Lodge, No. 240, Bro. H. Cloughton, W.M., who with the officers and brethren connected therewith exerted themselves to the utmost in making the gathering a success, and the large hall of the Free Library Buildings, in which the meeting was held, was beautifully and tastefully decorated, and rendered in every way suitable for the conducting of the interesting business connected with the Craft. The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Bro. J. Fawcett, occupied the chair of K. S., and was supported in the chair by Bros. Sir H. Williamson, D.P.G.M., Victor A. Williamson, Past Grand Warden of England, P.G.S.W. J. H. Thompson, P.P.G. Supt. of Works; Bailey, P.P.G.S.D.; Stokoe, P.P.G.J.W.; E. D. Davis, P.P.G.D.C.; Lawrence, P.P.G.J.W.; Dr. Cook, P.P.G.S.D.; G. White, P.P.G.J.D.; J. Hinde, P.P.S.G.D.; J. S. Denham, P.P.G. J.W.; Jas S. Wilson, P.P.G. Supt. of Works, &c. There was present at the meeting, a numerous gathering of brethren from the various towns in the County of Durham, and, when assembled in the hall, the sight was very interesting and attractive. The Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened, according to ancient custom and in due form, the W. M.'s of the several lodges made their reports, and the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master addressed the brethren in regard to Freemasonry, after which he appointed the following officers:—Bros. Sir H. Williamson, Bart., D.P.G.M.; Victor Alexander Williamson, P.G.S.W.; John Trotter, P.G.J.W.; Rev F. Bewsher, P.G. Chaplain; Rev John Cundill, P.G. Treasurer; Allison, P.G. Registrar; W. H. Crookes, P.G. Secretary; Robt. Candlish, P.G.S.D.; J. Tiltman, P.G.J.D.; H. Cloughton, P.G. Supt. of Works; R. Hudson, P.G.D. of Ceremonies; J. Greenwell, P.G. Assistant Director of Ceremonies; J. T. Hope, P.G.S.B.; Angelo Forrest, P.G. Organist; J. Pearson, P.G.P.; Stewards—Bros. M. Corbett, Lodge of Industry, Gateshead; D. P. Huntley, St. John, Sunderland; R. A. Luck, Restoration, Darlington; John Waugh, Earl of Durham, Chester-le-Street; J. Barker, Norman, Durham; and J. W. Wilks, Fraternity Stockton. Certain sums having been voted to Masonic Schools and Charities, lodge was closed in due form. After wards the brethren adjourned to the Golden Lion Hotel, King Street, where a splendid dinner was provided. The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master occupied the chair, and was supported by the leading members of the Craft, among whom were Bros. H. Cloughton, W.M., J. Roddam, P.M.; J. Ditchburn, P.M.; J. Willson, P.M.; J. Hinde, P.M.; G. White, P.P.G.J. W. and P.M.; T. G. Mabane, J. Coulson, &c. Upon the removal of the cloth, the usual loyal toasts were given, after which the Masonic toasts were introduced and heartily responded to, including "The Health of the Right Worshipful the Grand Master of England, the Prince of Wales."

The proceedings passed off most satisfactorily, and we must compliment the Worshipful Master and officers of St. Hilda's Lodge upon the excellent arrangements they made, and the great success that attended them, and the general satisfaction which was given.

During the evening Bros. E. J. Gibbon, Secretary No. 541; Thos. J. Taylor, No. 541; —J. Keeney, No. 541; and J. H. Leech, No. 997; sang several pieces of music in fine style, Bro. Angelo Forrest, P.G.O., acting as conductor.

In consequence of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, with several of his officers, having to retire at an early hour, the chair was occupied during the remainder of the evening by Bro. H. Cloughton, W.M. of St. Hilda's Lodge.

GRAND LODGE OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

At the Ninth Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, held in the City of Saint John, on the 27th and 28th days of September, A.D. 1876, the following officers were elected, appointed, and installed for the current year, viz.: Bros. Robert T. Clinch, G.M.; Wm. H. A. Keane, D.G.M.; Thomas F. Gillespie, S.G.W.; William D. Forster, J.G.W.; Rev. Francis Partridge, G. Chap.; James McNichol, jun., G. Treas.; William F. Bunting, G. Sec.; Henry Duffell, S.G.D.; James Alfred Clark, J.G.D.; James Boone, G. Dir. of Cer.; Louis B. Messenett, Assist. Dir. of Cer.; Charles U. Hanford, G. Sword Bearer; William Osborne, G. Std. Bearer; H. Card, G. Org.; R. J. McAdoo, G. Purst.; James Adam, Hiram G. Betts, Andred J. Stewart, George Moffat, John A. McCallum, David U. Porter, Robert M. Stevens, Bowen Smith, James Cooper, Blair Estabrooks, John A. Beatty, Wm. A. Henderson, Grand Stewards; and Dingee Scribner, Grand Tyler.

In the annual address of the M.W. the Grand Master, he alluded to an act of rebellion on the part of some misguided Masons in the Province of Ontario, in the following terms:—

"The Grand Secretary will place before you a circular received at his office, asking Masonic recognition of a body calling itself the 'Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Ontario.'"

"The Province of Ontario in the Dominion of Canada is under the Masonic jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Canada, with which this Grand Lodge has been and is in fraternal communication, and I feel it to be my duty to urge upon you, for high constitutional considerations, not in any manner to recognize the unlawful proceedings of those who are seeking to establish this so-called Grand Lodge of Ontario."

"On a careful review of the subject, you will find that among many reasons why no Masonic recognition should be accorded to their proceedings, there are two grounds either of which must be fatal to their claim."

1st. "The Province of Ontario is occupied Masonic territory, under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Canada, and therefore any independent action of Masons in Ontario, in seeking to form a governing body, is an act of rebellion against the recognized and lawful Masonic authority of the province."

2nd. "On the face of their own statement, the mode of proceeding was irregular and unmasonic, as the action was not by a convention of regular lodges, but was only the insufficient action of individual Masons, contrary to Masonic law and well-established precedent."

"The Grand Lodge of Canada has exercised due Masonic discipline on the offending brethren by expelling them from all the rights and benefits of Freemasonry."

"I refer the whole matter to you, confident that you will maintain the ancient rights and established laws of the Fraternity relating to independent and Sovereign Grand Lodges."

The subject was brought before the Special Committee, which committee subsequently reported to Grand Lodge as follows:—

"The committee have examined the papers submitted to them, in connection with the formation of the body calling itself the 'Grand Lodge of Ontario,' and they have had under consideration the portion of the address of the M.W. Grand Master in relation to the same organization. The so-called Grand Lodge of Ontario was formed in, and claims jurisdiction in, the Province of Ontario, which now is and, since the formation of the Grand Lodge of Canada, has been exclusively Masonic territory of that Grand Lodge. The formation of another governing body in that province is therefore an invasion of the territorial rights of a Grand Lodge with which the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick is in fraternal communication, and is not only a violation of, but, if permitted, would be absolutely destructive of the just and necessary principles underlying the whole system of Masonic government. On this ground alone, the committee advise Grand Lodge to refuse recognition to the body seeking it. The committee have not deemed it necessary to consider the matter from any other stand point, or to enter upon any discussion of the mode of formation of the self-called Grand Lodge, the attention drawn to this by the Grand Master being quite sufficient. They venture to express the hope, that the brethren now in rebellion against the lawful authority of the Grand Lodge of Canada, and, indeed, against all Masonic law and principle, will return to their allegiance and atone for the grievous wrong they have done."

The committee submitted the following resolution:—"That the body calling itself 'The Grand Lodge of Ontario,' is an irregular and clandestine organization, and is not entitled to recognition or countenance by regular Freemasons, that persons hailing from the said organization, or bodies holding of it, are not worthy of Masonic fellowship; and that all the lodges in the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick be immediately warned by the Grand Secretary not to receive as visitors, or acknowledge as brothers, persons hailing from the so-called Grand Lodge of Ontario."

The report and resolution of the committee were adopted unanimously by Grand Lodge.

THE HAMER BENEVOLENT FUND.

As a Masonic province which has long and honourably held its place in connection with nearly all charitable schemes, West Lancashire has always been justly looked upon as holding a prominent position; and the number of its plans of charity was recently increased by the formation of the Hamer Benevolent Fund, the third annual report of which was presented at the last annual Provincial Grand Lodge. As there seems to be some danger of this fund being overshadowed by the matured and more extended ramifications of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, which is doing a truly noble work in the province, a few words may not be out of place in the direction of drawing the attention of the brethren throughout the Western Division of Lancashire to the more youthful but very deserving charity. The following extract from the first annual report of the charity will give an idea of the object and history of its foundation:—

"The Provincial Grand Lodge having, in 1871, voted 20 guineas to form the nucleus of a fund for providing a testimonial to Bro. James Hamer, P. Prov. Grand Treasurer, a committee was formed for carrying out this object, and an appeal was made to the lodges and brethren in the province, which has so far produced the sum of £227 19s. 6d."

"The committee, after mature consideration, decided to present to Bro. Hamer, an illuminated address, and Past Provincial Grand Treasurer's jewel, at a cost of 20 guineas, and with the balance to form a fund for benevolent purposes, to perpetuate the name of our brother among Freemasons, a sub-committee being deputed to carry out the idea."

"The committee, desirous of producing a scheme which would permanently secure from every Freemason in this province an interest in the sacred cause of Charity, believe that the Hamer Benevolent Fund is calculated to effect this most successfully."

"From the rapid increase of the Order in this province, it may reasonably be expected that there will be a very large number of claims upon our benevolence and charity; and the committee think that the 'Hamer Benevolent Fund' may be made the means of alleviating a great amount of distress, without pressing heavily upon individuals, or lodges, there being practically no limit to the relief that may be granted, provided the brethren will support this institution with small annual donations and subscriptions."

The brethren entrusted with the inauguration and management of the fund set about their work in a most enthusiastic manner, and the result was that the third annual report showed that the capital account had reached a figure which warranted the committee in inviting applications for payments to annuitants. The Institution, thus established to recognise the great services of the late Bro. Hamer, is intended to assist decayed Freemasons of the province by grants of money not exceeding £10 to any individual in any one year.

The sources of the fund are: 1. Such sums of money as may be voted from time to time from the funds of Provincial Grand Lodge. 2. Annual subscriptions and donations from lodges, chapters, &c., and brethren. 3. Donations in general, and legacies.

The present capital of the fund, and all moneys received from donations, subscriptions, legacies, &c., are invested, and only the interest, or usufruct, or a part thereof, which may be received therefrom is expended; except that the cost of the trust deed and other expenses incurred in the formation of and carrying on the business of the fund are paid out of capital.

The management of the fund is vested in the R.W. Provincial Grand Master for the time being as President, together with an unlimited number of Vice-Presidents consisting of all donors of £10 or more in one sum or in two payments within two years, a committee of ten Past Masters of lodges in the province, a Secretary, and a Treasurer of the Fund, who shall not of necessity be Past Masters.

The Hamer Benevolent Fund, perhaps the only institution of the kind in the provinces, is noble in its design, and worthy of support in West Lancashire, and calculated to prove an inestimable boon to those upon whom adverse circumstances have come hard and unexpectedly. Bro. R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D., is the Hon. Secretary, and Bro. W. Laidlaw, P.P.G.S.D. of W., the Hon. Treasurer.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The sudden changes, frequent fogs, and prevailing dampness sorely impede the vital functions and conduce to ill-health. The remedy for these disasters lies in some purifying medicine, like these Pills, which is competent to grapple with the mischief at its source, and stamp it out without fretting the nerves or weakening the system. Holloway's Pills extract from the blood all noxious matters, regulate the action of every disordered organ, stimulate the liver and kidneys, and relax the bowels. In curing chest complaints these Pills are remarkably effective, especially when aided by friction of the Ointment on its walls. This double treatment will ensure a certain, steady, and beneficent progress, and sound health will soon be re-established.—ANZ.

Masonic and General Tidings.

The Canterbury Lodge, No. 1635, was consecrated on Thursday last by Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, M.W.D.G.M., at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden-square. A full account of the proceedings will appear in the Second Edition, which will be published early Saturday morning.

The Installation Meeting of the Elliot Lodge, No. 1567, takes place this (Saturday) afternoon at the Railway Hotel, Feltham, at 3 o'clock. Bro. Frank Green, P.M. 1445, is the W.M. elect. A full report of the proceedings will appear in our next.

Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Leigh, Lord-Lieutenant of Warwickshire, R.W.P.G.M., presided on Monday at the distribution of prizes in connection with the Leamington School of Art, awarded by the Science and Art Department, South Kensington.

The foundation-stone of the new harbour works, now in course of erection at Buckie, was laid by Bro. Gordon on Thursday with Masonic honours.

Bro. the Rev. J. E. Cox, D.D., P.G. Chap. of England, Vicar of St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, has devoted a considerable amount of time and attention for a lengthened period to the collection of material for a history of the parish with which he has been so long connected, and the result of his labours has produced a handsome volume, containing goopages of curious and interesting information.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Charles Beresford, P.S.G.W. Devonshire, has been appointed commander of Her Majesty's ship Thunderer, now preparing for sea at Portsmouth. His lordship served with the Duke of Edinburgh in the Galatea; and it was while acting as aide-de-camp to the Prince of Wales on board the Scapris that his lordship was gassed a commander.

The Duke of Marlborough—the recently appointed Lord Lieutenant—of Ireland is expected to arrive at the Viceregal Lodge on or about the 12th inst., on a private visit to the Duke of Abercorn, and will remain for about a fortnight, but will not enter upon the duties of the Viceregal office until the beginning of January. The Duke of Abercorn will retire in the month of December.

A fire occurred on Saturday last on the premises of Bro. S. Rosenthal, lithographic artist, which resulted in some damage to the property contained on the premises, but fortunately not to any great extent.

The "Michigan Freemason" for August appeals to the Craft for help, and complains that it is not adequately supported; in fact it says the present year has been the most unremunerative of any of the seven since its commencement. It is a sad commentary on the intelligence of Freemasons that they will not support periodicals solely devoted to the interests of the Order. The "Michigan Freemason" only repeats the old story, told so often by other Masonic journals.

The new Masonic Hall at Port Royal has been completed and furnished, and the members of Phoenix Lodge, No. 914, have now fine quarters. A Royal Arch Chapter is about being established, with every prospect of a large membership. A Preceptory of K.T. is also spoken of. The lodge at Port Royal has a large number of visiting brethren, principally seamen from the steamers and ships of the United States and England.

THE PROSPERITY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 65).—The meetings of this lodge are now held at the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., where the attendance and support of the Craft is fraternally invited on Tuesday evenings at 7.30. Bro. W. C. Holland is the Hon. Secretary.

The early transactions of the Grand Lodge of New York are in course of publication by Bro. D. Sickles.

At the first annual communication of the Grand Lodge of the Province of Manitoba, the following brethren were elected:—Hon. W. A. Kennedy, M.W. Grand Master; James Henderson, R.W. Deputy Grand Master; John H. Bell, R.W. Grand Secretary, Winnipeg.

The "Keystone" says a delegation of over five hundred Canadian Masons, with their wives and daughters, visited the Centennial Exhibition. The "Craftsman" says the number was nearly double that.

The death of Bro. W. H. Teale, of the Rye House, took place on Friday week. He had been connected with that well-known place nearly 30 years, and his death is much deplored by a large circle of friends, to whom his geniality and kindly disposition had much endeared him. He was 70 years of age.

A STATUE OF BURNS.—Last week a bronze statue of the poet Burns, to be erected in George-square, Glasgow, was cast at the foundry of Messrs. Cox and Son, Thames Ditton. The artist is Mr. George E. Ewing, of Glasgow, who has succeeded in producing a very excellent likeness of the poet.

HIGHER EDUCATION OF WOMEN.—There has been so great an influx of women at the commencement of this Term at Cambridge that Girton College and Newnham Hall are unable to accommodate them, and many are compelled to take lodgings.

We have much pleasure in calling the attention of our numerous readers to the address of Bro. Charles White, which appears in our advertisement columns: Bro. White seeks to be elected on the School Board of London, and, we believe, is fully qualified for such a position. He is a true economist in business matters, and in private, a most liberal man and philanthropist, being a subscriber to many public charities in London, and also a Life Governor of each of the Masonic Institutions. As a Freemason of high character and energetic business habits, we shall be glad if he succeeds in obtaining the object of his ambition, namely, a seat on the London School Board.

JOHN MILTON.—In reference to the account in "The Times" of the recent "deconsecration" of the church of Allhallows, Bread-Street, Mr. E. Robson, of Richmond, writes to remind us that no allusion is therein made to the stone placed at the north-west corner of the building inscribed with the following words:—

"Three poets in three distant ages born,
Greece, Italy, and England did adorn;
The first in loftiness of thought surpass'd,
The next in Majesty—in both the last.
The force of Nature could no further go;
To make a third, she joined the former two."

John Milton

was born in Bread-Street on Friday, the 9th day of December, 1608, and was baptized in the parish church of Allhallows, Bread-Street, on Tuesday, the 20th day of December, 1608." Mr. Robson remarks that the above inscription is cut in the external wall about 6ft. above the ground, so that this portion of the church could be easily incorporated into any building that may be erected on its site. Thus this interesting historical record might easily be preserved.

The name of the Marquis of Bath has been added to the commission appointed to make inquiry as to the places in which documents illustrative of history, or of general public interest, belonging to private persons, are deposited, &c.

We have pleasure in noting that Bro. T. J. Middleton, Dissolving View Apparatus Manufacturer, 38, Little Queen Street, Holborn, has obtained the prize medal—and only prize medal—for his manufactures, at the Philadelphia Exhibition.

TEMPLE BAR AND THE APPROACHES TO THE LAW COURTS.—That portion of the New Law Courts by Bell-yard, Temple Bar, which is to be used as offices, is being rapidly proceeded with, and will probably be completed next year. It may perhaps not be generally remembered that the Government, acting on the advice of their own surveyors, took powers in their first Act for setting back by several feet all the houses up to the corner of Chancery-lane. This will obviate the necessity for any further widening of Fleet-street at that part, except at the point where Messrs. Child's premises bulge out most.—"City Press."

We are glad to learn that at the recent Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, an application for recognition from the so-called "Grand Lodge of Ontario" was rejected by an unanimous vote. "Craftsman."

The fraternity of Romania have sent for exhibition at the Centennial, a copy of a work on their country; the Hon. B. F. Peixotto, U.S. Consul, is the bearer of the work alluded to.

Bro. George H. Durand, of Flint, Michigan, member of Congress from that district, has just been presented with an elegant jewel and badge by the Grand Lodge of Michigan. The present consists of a ribbon of purple velvet, with end pieces of gold, beautifully chased. The pendant of the Michigan coat of arms is in bas-relief. Below this is a wreath containing Masonic emblems. In the centre is a magnificent diamond. The whole comprises different shades of gold, and beautifully arranged. On the back is inscribed, "Presented to M.W. Bro. George H. Durand, our Most Worshipful Past Grand Master, by the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Mason, of Michigan. "Craftsman."

Last week Bro. Prince Leopold visited Mr. Baillie Cochrane, M.P., at Perthshire.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, November 10, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4.

Gen. Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 142, St. Thomas's, Cannon-st. Hot.
" 1559, New Cross, New Cross Hall, Lewisham-rd.
" 1572, Carnarvon, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 1642, Earl of Carnarvon, Ladbrooke Hall, Notting Hill (Consecration).

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-sq.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

Lodge 12, Fortitude & Old Cumberland, Leadenhall-st.
" 25, Robert Burns.
" 72, Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 144, St. Luke's, Mason's Hall, Basinghall-st.
" 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 256, Unions, F.M.H.
" 1219, Asaph, F.M.H.

Mark Lodge 139, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Upper Norwood, White Hart Ho., Church-rd.,
Marquis of Ripon, Pembury Tav., Amherst-rd., Hackney.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

Colonial Board, at 3.
Lodge 7, Royal York of Perseverance, F.M.H.
" 18, Old Dundee.
" 101, Temple, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.

Lodge 172, Old Concord, F.M.H.

" 217, Stability, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 765, St. James's, Bridge House Hot.
" 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, C. of G. H., Tav., E.
" 1261, Golden Rule, Regent M.H., Air-st., W.
" 1298, Royal Standard, Wellington Club, Upper-st.
" 1381, Kennington, Surrey Club H., Kenngn. Oval.
" 1397, Anerley, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
" 1472, Henley, Three Crowns Hot., Henley.

Chap. 507, United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H.

Mark Lodge 1, St. Mark's, Mas. R., 175, Aldersgate-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Metropolitan, 269, Pentonville-rd.
Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, Hercules Tav., Aldersgate-st.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.
St. John of Wapping, Gun Hot., High-st., Wapping.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

Com. R.M.B. Institution.

Lodge 3, Fidelity.
" 9, Albion, Regent M.H., Air-st., Regent-st., W.
" 11, Enoch, F.M.H.
" 13, Union Waterloo, M.H., William-st., Woolwich.
" 15, Kent, F.M.H.
" 87, Vitruvian, White Hart, College-st., Lambeth.
" 147, Justice, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
" 238, Pilgrim, 101, Queen Victoria-street.
" 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tav., Limehouse.
" 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
" 1017, Montefiore, F.M.H.
" 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun. Tav., Wapping.
" 1503, Francis Burdett, Albany Hot., Twickenham.
Chap. 1260, Hervey, F.M.H.
" 1305, St. Marylebone, 7, New-st., Portland Town.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Mount Edgecombe, 19, Jermyn-st., St. James's.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.

Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kenish-town.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Lewis, King's Arms Hot., Wood Green.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9.

Lodge 91, Regularity, F.M.H.
" 206, Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 263, Bank of England, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 534, Polish National, F.M.H.
" 657, Canonbury, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 860, Dalhousie, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 879, Southwark, Park Tav., Southwark Park.
" 1076, Capper, Marine Hot., Victoria Docks.
" 1288, Finsbury-park, Finsbury-park Tav., Holloway.
" 1321, Emblematic, Tulse Hill Hot., Tulse Hill.
" 1457, Bagshaw, Bald-faced Stag, Buckhurst Hill.
" 1471, Islington, Cock Tav., Highbury.
" 1558, Duke of Connaught, Surrey M.H.
Chap. 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hot.
" 140, St. George's, Trafalgar Hot., Greenwich.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
K.T. Precep. 45, Temple Cressing, Bridge House Hot.
" 117, New Temple, the Inner Temple.
Rose Croix, Chap., St. George's, 33, Golden-square.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Milbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.
Southern Star, Crown Hot., Blackfriars-rd.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

Lodge 33, Britannic, F.M. Tav.
" 134, Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 157, Bedford, F.M.H.
" 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1420, Earl Spencer, New Wandsworth.
Rose Croix Chap., Mount Calvary, 33, Golden-square.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Constitution, Bedford-st., Covent Garden.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.

Burgoynne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, White Hart, King's-rd., Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, The Castle, Holloway-rd.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 11, 1876.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

Lodge 113, Unanimity, Bull Hot., Church-st., Preston.
" 1045, Stamford, T.H., Altrincham.
" 1051, Rowley, M.R., Athensum, Lancaster.
" 1264, Neptune, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1380, Skelmersdale, Queen's Hot., Waterloo.
Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

Lodge 178, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.
" 673, St. John's, M.H., Liverpool.
" 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverston.
" 1384, Equity, Walker's Com. Hot., Widnes.
" 1476, Blackpool, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.
Chap. 203, St. John of Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

Lodge 281, Fortitude, Athenaeum, Lancaster.
" 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, 80, N. Hill-st.
" 1547, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9.

Lodge 216, Harmonic, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
" 333, Royal Preston, Vic., Garrison Hot., Fulwood.
" 477, Mersey, M.R., Birkenhead.
" 786, Croxteth United Service, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1035, Prince of Wales, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
" 1182, Duke of Edinburgh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1213, Bridgewater, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Chap. 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
Mariners L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

Lodge 1289, Rock, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 11, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

Lodge 20, St. John, M.H., Lesmahagow.
" 424, Kilwinning, Union Tav., Ayr.
" 704, St. Mirren, 5, Mass-st., Paisley.
" 138, Operative, Blue Bell Hot., Ayr.
" 237, St. John, Masonic Arms, Girvan.
" 332, Union, 213, Buchanan-st., G.S., Glsgw.
" 581, Plantation, M.H., Craigiehall-st., G.S., Glsgw.
Chap. 53, Dumbarton, Elephant Hot., Dumbarton.
" 119, Rosslyn, 25, Robertson-st.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

Lodge 34, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 68, Doric Kilwinning, 44, Church-st., Port Glsgw.
" 73, Thistle and Rose, 213, Buchanan-st., Glsgw.
" 87, Thistle, 30, Cathedral-st., Glasgow.
" 173, St. John Kilwinning, M.H., Largs.
" 177, St. James, Old Monkland, M.H., Coatbridge.
" 406, St. John Dalziel, M.H., Motherwell.
" 433, St. Thomas Kilwinning, Eglinton Hot.
" 437, Govandale, M.H., Portland Buildings, Govan.
" 442, Neptune, M.H., Princes Lane, Ardrossan.
" 497, St. John, Brewery Hall, Catrine.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

Lodge 178, Scotia, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 333, St. George, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgw.
" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Main-st., Maryhill.
Chap. 113, Partick, M.H., Douglas-st., Partick.
" 88, New Monkland, Montrose T.H., Airdrie.
" 109, St. Marnock, Crown Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 203, St. John Operative, Olive Hall, Airdrie.
" 334, St. John, Castle Inn, New Cumnock.
" 557, Blantyre Kilg., Craig's Hall, High Blantyre.
" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.
Chap. 50, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

Lodge 18, Dumbarton, M.H., Church-st., Dumbarton.
" 147, Cadder Argyle, M.H., Chryston.
" 153, Royal Arch, M.H., Cogan-st., Pollokshaws.
" 170, Leven St. John, Black Bull Inn, Renton.
" 227, St. Clair, M.H., Cambusnethan.
Chap. 144, St. Rollox, 69, Garngad-rd., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, November 11, 1876.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

Lodge 429, St. Kentigern, Royal Hot., Penicuik.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

Lodge 5, Canongate and Leith, 86, Constitution-st.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

Lodge 2, Canongate Kilwinning, M.H., St. John-st.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9.

Lodge 8, Journeyman, M.H., Blackfriars-st., High-st.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

Chap. 56, Canongate Kilwinning, M.H., St. John-st.

CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS—
Craft Masonry	497
Instruction	498
Royal Arch	498
Mark Masonry	499
Grand Lodge of Scotland	499
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution	500
Consecration of the Canterbury Lodge	500
Metropolitan Masonic Benevolent Association	501
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	501
Masonic and General Tidings	501
Masonic Work	502
Recent Lodge Consecrations	502
Father Foy on Freemasonry	503
A Good Example	503
ORRISPONDANCE—
The Hervey Lodge	503
Provincial Grand Lodge	504
Consecration of the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge	504
Obituary	506
Masonic Meetings for next Week	506
Advertisements	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—The installation meeting of this old lodge was held on the 31st ult., at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street. There were present Bros. Waygood, W.M.; M. Davis, S.W., W.M. elect; Mallett, J.W.; Kennett, I.P.M.; Carter, P.M., Treas.; Stuart, P.M., Sec.; Dairey, J.D.; Bye, I.G.; Rumball, W.S.; Whitley, D.C.; Peavor, P.M.; Pope, P.M.; Hopwood, P.M.; Taylor, P.M.; Green, P.M.; Themans, P.M. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, and the report of the auditors, Bros. Walls, Clarke, Browning, Heaphy, and Whiby, having been received and adopted, the W.M., with the assistance of his officers, raised Bro. Barrett to the degree of a Master Mason, and immediately vacated the chair in favour of the Installing Master, Bro. Kennett, who appointed Bros. Themans, P.M., S.W.; Taylor, P.M., J.W.; Hopwood, P.M., D.C.; and Carter, P.M., I.G. Bro. M. Davis was then duly presented, and a Board of Installed Masters formed, when the whole details of the ceremony were ably performed by the I.P.M. and his talented staff. Upon the admission of the M.M.'s, Bro. Davis was duly saluted and proclaimed W.M. for the year ensuing. The charges and addresses were then well delivered by the Installing Master. The officers invested were as follows:—Bros. Mallett, S.W.; Dairey, J.W.; Carter, P.M., Treas.; Stuart, P.M., Sec. and W.S.; Rumball, S.D.; Bye, J.D.; Whitley, I.G.; Morrison, A.W.S.; Heaphy, D.C.; Walls, A.D.C. Messrs. Travers and Smithers were then initiated by the W.M. in a manner that left little to be desired. His knowledge of the ritual was complete, and his delivery exceedingly clear, and by what we witnessed of his maiden effort it augured well for his rendering of the more difficult rituals of the higher degrees. The W.M. then in a few kind words presented Bro. Waygood with a Past Master's jewel. The I.P.M. briefly replied by expressing his appreciation of the honour conferred. Previously to the lodge being closed, Bro. P.M. Taylor gave notice of motion that he should propose at the November meeting that the initiation and joining fees should be raised from January next, and that, also, all new members admitted from that time should pay an increased annual subscription. In a few terse words he introduced the matter, and said that when the motion came on for consideration he should endeavour to prove that both financially and otherwise the lodge would greatly benefit by his proposed scheme. The lodge having been closed, the brethren, to the number of ninety-one, then adjourned to the banquet, which was well served. Amongst the visitors were Bros. Wilson, P.M. Stonian; H. Potter, P.M. Robert Burns; Musto, P.M. Friars; Dunn, P.M. 813; Reeves, J.W. 1381; Clement, I.G. 1310; Stranger, Kennington; Barrett, Star of the East; Phillips, Chaucer; Nichols, Great Northern; Strube, Royal Jubilee; Briggs, Friendship; Dowding and Masters, Prudent Brethren. After the removal of the cloth, the toasts of "The Queen and Craft," "The M.W.G.M.," "The Pro G.M., D.G.M.," and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present, were given from the chair and warmly received. In proposing "The Health of the Initiates," the W.M. expressed a hope that they would become good Masons, and thereby confer an honour upon the lodge of their adoption. He mentioned the rapid rise that he had made in the comparatively short time that he had been a member of the lodge, and pointed out to them that an equal success would attend their efforts should they desire to aspire to the position that he occupied. The Initiates in reply expressed their warm appreciation of what they had both seen and heard that evening, and added their thanks for the honour that they had received in being accepted as members of the ancient and honourable society of Freemasons. The W.M. then gave "The Visitors," and stated how pleased he was that on that—to him—most interesting occasion he had been honoured by so strong and distinguished a gathering of visiting brethren. Bro. Clement, in his response on behalf of the visitors, said that he wished to bear testimony to the admirable way in which the ceremony of installation had been carried out that day, and also for the very distinct and able manner in which the newly installed Master had delivered the ritual in the First Degree, and for the good working of the lodge in general. In conclusion he begged to thank the lodge for the kind and liberal hospitality that they had bestowed upon his colleagues and himself, and expressed an opinion that the "Faith" was one of the best lodges in the metropolis. "The P.M.'s" toast followed, and was responded to by Bros. Waygood and Stuart, the latter brother's amusing speech being highly appreciated. In the progress of his response, he called the attention of the members to the excellent working manifested that day by Bro. Kennett, P.M., assisted by Past Masters Themans, Taylor, and Hopwood, and believed that no lodge could display a better and stronger array of P.M.'s than that presented by his colleagues gathered round the board. The I.P.M. proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and forcibly remarked that the lodge was to be congratulated upon possessing, so amiable a Master in the chair of K.S. as Bro. Davis, whose knowledge of all Masonic details was of the first order. In conclusion he said that as the W.M.'s abilities were so well known to them, he should not detain them by expatiating thereon, but should simply desire them to wish the W.M. the enjoyment of good health during his year of office, which he hoped would be a prosperous one. The W.M., in reply, thanked the lodge most sincerely for having placed him in that chair, and said it was a source of great satisfaction to him to think that after only seven years' experience, the lodge should have deemed him sufficiently worthy to occupy the position of W.M. In the concluding portion of his response he stated that although he should look well after the creature comforts of the brethren during his year of office, yet he should also endeavour, by strict economy in some of the expenses of the banquets, to leave his successor in office a good balance in hand. (Applause). "The Health of the Treasurer, Secretary, and other Officers," followed. In introducing this toast the W.M. remarked that he had endeavoured to appoint such a staff of officers as would do credit to the lodge, and he believed that from the S.W. downwards he should be well supported, as he was quite sure that after their previous attention to his predecessors in office they would not desert him, but would strive to do all they could to render the ceremonies and other lodge details a great success. In this matter it was impossible, he said, to please every one, but he thought that his choice of officers had met with the universal approbation of the brethren. (Hear.) In the absence of the other officers, Bros. Mallett, Dairey, Rumball, Whitley, and Walls responded. The S.W. and J.W. particularly made most able replies. During the evening Bros. Robinson, Dowding, Mallet, Walls, and Pitt instrumentally, vocally, and portically amused the brethren, who separated at eleven. The next meeting of the lodge will be on the last Tuesday in the present month.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Lodge (No. 41).—This lodge held its regular meeting at the Masonic Hall on Thursday, and inst. The lodge was opened at 7.40 by Bro. F. J. Brown, W.M., supported by Bro. Clark, I.P.M.; Cooper, P.M., &c.; Major Preston, P.M., &c.; Wilcox, P.M., &c. Acting officers: Bros. Thos. Wilton, D.C.; Ashley, Treas.; Chas. Wilkinson, S.W.; Geo. Falkner, J.W.; Braham, S.D., who kindly acted as Organist; J. Smith, J.D.; Gummer, I.G.; W. Hunt and Chas. W. Raway, Stewards. Visitors: Several old members and P.M.'s of 41; Bros. Mann, P.P.S.G.D.; Rubie, P.M., &c.; Cavey, P.M., &c.; Moutrie, P.M., P.Z., &c.; Capt. Robinson, W. Yeomans, and others. The minutes were read and confirmed, the brother initiated at last meeting was passed by the W.M. with much care and clear explanation, and Bro. Cooper, in his usual impressive manner, addressed the F.C., after which Bro. S.W. explained the working tools very clearly and impressively. On Bro. Ashley's motion being brought forward, a long discussion ensued, and it was deferred till next regular meeting. The ballot for a joining member proposed at last meeting was unanimous. Two candidates were proposed for initiation respectively by Bros. Ashley, P.M., Treas., &c., and F. Wilkinson, S.W., &c., which were duly seconded. No other business being before the brethren, the lodge was closed in harmony at 9.45.

DERBY.—Hartington Lodge (No. 1085).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, George-street, on Wednesday evening, November 1st. The lodge was opened at 7.45 p.m., in the First Degree. The circular convening the lodge was read. The minutes of last lodge were read and confirmed. The ballot was then taken for Mr. Thomas Michael Walters, who was duly elected, and initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry in ancient and solemn form by the W.M. The lodge being opened in the Second Degree, the questions were put to Bro. Jas. Henry Pragnell, and was answered in a satisfactory manner. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree, when Bro. Pragnell was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason by the W.M. Bro. Jas. Heathcote, J.D., and Bro. J. H. Biggs, I.G., were chosen from the lodge to be appointed Stewards to Prov. Grand Lodge for the ensuing year. The proposition of a well-known and highly respectable gentleman of this town brought the business of the evening to a close. There were present Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; M. H. Bobart, Treas., as S.W.; J. O. Manton, as J.D.; Theodore Hills, S.D.; J. H. Biggs, as J.W.; W. Butterfield, as I.G.; T. Slin, Tyler. The brethren, after business, adjourned to refreshment, after which the usual toasts were given, and the Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

FELTHAM.—Elliot Lodge (No. 1567).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, the 4th inst., at the Railway Hotel, Feltham, Middlesex, Bro. John Mason, W.M., presiding, supported by S.W. Bro. Frank Green, W.M. elect; J.W. Bro. Dunham, and all his assistant officers. There were also present, Bros. Jacob Chivers, Austine, Winter, Graham, Pemberton, Col. Peters, Vickers, Williams, Harris, Patten, Buss, P.G.J.W. Middlesex, Pearce, Barney, Lamb, Dixon, and others; and, as visitors, Bros. E. J. Scott, P.M. 7941; Swallow, W.M. 1563; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; W. Monckton, P.P.G.S.D.; Kent; Knight, 1414; H. Bethell, P.M. 301; J. C. Cox, P.M. 1257; Atkins, 813; Burford, 173; Hartley, 45; Myers, 820; Townsend, 820; Long, 1445; Hackford, 1388; Pulley, 340; Hornblower, 1604; J. Nicholls, 1080; J. Green, W.M.

271; Henman, 1425; Yeoman, 1460; Roberts, 700; Finch, 10; Forscutt, 749; Morgan, 1385; G. States, G.S.D.; Joshua Nann, P.G.S.B.; G. Dore, Perfect Friendship; J. N. Pimm, and Massey ("Freemason"). The business of the day was purposely confined to the ceremony of installing the W.M. for the ensuing year, and after reading the minutes of the previous meeting, the chair was taken by Bro. W. T. Howe, P.P.G.P., as Installing Master, who addressed a few words to the brethren upon the custom of the Craft as to the election of the chief officer, and upon the obligations attached to the office, after which Bro. Cottelbrune presented Bro. Frank Green, the W.M. elect (the S.W. chair being taken by Bro. Buss), and the obligation of a Master was solemnly administered by Bro. Howe, after which a Board of Installed Masters was formed, to whom Bro. Green was duly presented, and he was then duly installed into the chair of K.S., after which he was saluted with the usual Masonic honours, and the Installing M. delivered the usual orations to the Master, the officers, and the lay brethren, the whole ceremony being performed by Bro. Howe in a most impressive manner. Bro. F. Green, W.M., then proceeded to appoint and invest his officers as follows:—Bros. Dunham, S.W.; Nicholls, J.W.; Mason, P.M., Treas.; Elliott, Sec.; Iretton, S.D.; Pearson, J.D.; S. F. Green, I.G.; Clarke, D.C.; Austine, W.S.; R. F. Potter, P.M., Tyler. Bro. Frank Green: Bro. Wardens and brethren,—I claim your attention while I discharge a very pleasant duty, which I am sure will not be less pleasing to you to witness than it is to me to perform. I have now the pleasure of placing upon Bro. Mason's breast this Past Master's jewel. I am sure he will not view it in a materialistic manner, but as a memento of your appreciation of his services. I am sure that you will bear witness to the fact that the intrinsic value of the gift bears no proportion to the feelings of regard which promoted its presentation, and accepting it in this sense Bro. Mason may well be proud to wear it. I can only hope with you that he will live long to wear it in your presence, and before the heads of the Craft. I have at the same time to acquaint you with an unfortunate coincidence. I may tell you, Bro. Mason, that the presentation of this jewel was to have been accompanied by the presentation of an illuminated vellum, which I have every reason to believe is very beautiful, but it is an old proverb "L'homme propose mais Dieu dispose." I have a letter in my hands which Bro. Howe has received from Bro. Cunningham, who had taken this matter in hand, but he tells us simply in his letter that he on his part is in the hands of his frame maker, and that he had unfortunately disappointed him. Consequently we have not this testimonial which we were to have received to-night, and I am deprived of the gratification of presenting it to Bro. Mason. Everything has been done by Bro. Howe that was possible, and we must all sympathise with him in the disappointment he feels. Bro. Howe tells me that the testimonial may arrive in the course of the evening, and in the meantime I have the pleasure of presenting this goblet to you. I am very sure that the whole of this presentation will be very gratifying to our younger members. From the study of Freemasonry they have learned some of the duties that it demands; from this they will observe that duty well performed sometimes brings about a pleasurable reward. I am sure that no man in Masonry will more deeply appreciate the duties of Masonry than yourself, Bro. Mason and I have, therefore, very much pleasure in presenting you with these testimonials of the regard of the brethren of the Elliot Lodge. Bro. Mason: Worshipful Master and brethren—I am sure you will pardon me if I do not make any speech now in thanking you for the Past Master's jewel and goblet. When I took the chair of this lodge I took it with the determination to do my duty, and these tokens of your regard prove to me that whatever my shortcomings may have been, you consider that I have endeavoured to do my best. I am sure you will pardon me for not attempting to make any speech at present. The business of the meeting being now concluded the lodge was closed in the usual Masonic form. Subsequently the brethren reassembled at a handsome banquet, provided by Mr. Harris, of the Railway Hotel, and laid in an adjacent school room, which had at a very short notice been tastefully decorated for the occasion by Mr. Harris, whose exertions under rather trying circumstances are deserving of considerable commendation. Pre-eminent among the decorations was the new banner behind the Master's chair, one of the most beautiful works of the kind we remember to have seen in a Masonic lodge. It was quite evident that no expense had been spared in its preparation. On the removal of the banquet the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed by the W.M., and cordially responded to by the brethren. Bro. P.M. Mason: I am exceedingly sorry that Feltham is placed in such an awkward position. We certainly have a very good train service up to this hour of the night. We know that any business that has to be transacted must be done by ten o'clock. It has not yet arrived at that time, but it will be needful to be somewhat brief in the speeches that we have yet to get through. Till this night no man could withhold this gavel from me, but now I have it only because the Master has given me permission to hold it for a time. The toast which I have to propose to you is that of "The Worshipful Master." A man more esteemed in this lodge there could not be. He has filled the chair of S.W. in the first year of this lodge with credit to himself. You elected him unanimously to the chair, and I am sure that before the year is out you will know that you have not made any mistake about it. I am anxious for the next meeting because I am anticipating seeing the working done in such a manner as shall impress every candidate. He has already been a tiler in the Craft, and I am sure he has not forgotten his former sceptre. I am sure he will rule now as well as he did before, and that at the end of his year of office you will be able to say, "Well done, good and faithful servant." I therefore, call upon you to respond cordially to the toast I give, "Your Master." Bro. W.M. F. Green: Allow me to return thanks, which I do with great diffidence for the kind and flattering manner in which Bro. P.M. Mason proposed my health, and for the manner in which it has been responded to. I feel a little uncomfortable that he has anticipated matters by proclaiming the good things he anticipates for my year of office. I thank him for his good opinion; I can only hope that there will be some slight fulfilment of his prognostications for the future. I can only on my own part promise you that my best efforts shall be given to the Elliot Lodge as far as in my power lies. I shall do my best to increase the good opinion that has been formed of the Elliot Lodge; and further to increase that good opinion not only in the estimation of the Provincial Grand Master of Middlesex, but also in the Craft in general. Through the exertions of your first Master, I think we may congratulate ourselves that the lodge does now stand on something like a sure foundation, and I trust that it will be my province, and also the province of succeeding Masters of the Elliot Lodge, to still further increase the soundness of that foundation, that the Elliot Lodge may be a monument established upon a sure and lasting foundation. Brethren, I feel that at this late hour of the evening I cannot do more than thank you for the kind manner in which you have wished me a prosperous year of office, and I hope you will all second my endeavours to make the year prosperous. Brother Wardens and Brethren, the next toast is one that can but meet with a cordial reception. It is "The Health of the Installing Master of the Day, Bro. Howe, P. Grand Purs. of Middlesex." Bro. Howe came forward to fill a gap. He undertook the onerous duties of Treasurer of this lodge, duties second only to the duties of the chair; and I am quite sure that when a Mason, animated by the best spirit of Masonry, comes forward to assist a young lodge, that lodge will most cordially reciprocate that service. I feel that we cannot too highly estimate that service, and I feel sure that you will avow your appreciation of it. Brethren, Bro. Howe is so well known to you all, that it is unnecessary for me to descant upon his merits. It is a task that I feel would not meet with his approval. I need only mention, to secure a hearty response to the toast of his health, that you have to-day been witnesses to the most able manner in which he has performed the duties of Installing Master in the lodge. To myself individually, the gratification is very great, for it falls to the lot of few Masters to be installed twice by the same Past Master; but I am sure that everybody who has had the privilege of being present to-day must have been struck with the able manner in which he performed the ceremony. I give "The Health of the Installing Master, Bro. Howe." Bro. Howe, in returning thanks, observed that Freemasonry implied something more than a regular attendance at the lodge, something more than a correct rendering of the ritual, something more than a gathering of friends round the festive board; it taught us the duties we owe to the Great Architect of the Universe, to our Queen, our State, our laws, to love our friends, to pity and forgive our enemies, to become wiser and better men; and he added a caution to the brethren not to be so much anxious to know whom to bring into the lodge, but rather to be careful to know whom they should keep out of it, as it was desirable to make it a good lodge rather than a large one. W.M. Bro. Green: The next toast is "Bro. Mason." I should indeed have been pleased had it been possible, if some one possessed of greater influence than I am should have proposed his health, but, being in the chair, I can concede to no one the privilege of proposing the health of the Immediate P.M., Bro. Mason. You know his work, and you have testified to his satisfaction the manner in which you have recognised his services to you. I was in the lodge compelled to crave your indulgence for an emergency which it was impossible for any of us to foresee, namely, the non-arrival of the testimonial. I am happy to shew to you now that that difficulty has been overcome. This piece of vellum, beautifully illuminated, has arrived. It is inscribed thus:—"Presented by the members of the Elliot Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of England, No. 1567, held at the Railway Hotel, Feltham, Middlesex, to Bro. John Mason, the first Worshipful Master, as a token of their high esteem and brotherly regard, and as a slight recognition of the great services rendered by him to the lodge during his year of office. November, 1876." It is signed by all the members of the lodge. I do not think you require me to say anything more, but that with this testimonial before you, you will join with me in drinking Bro. Mason's very good health. Bro. Mason: Worshipful Master and brethren,—When I was initiated into Freemasonry—I was told I should learn all the secrets of Freemasonry in due time. Well, up to to-night I have been learning. A new secret has been revealed to me to-night. I scarcely can realise it. It brings before me particularly that everything passes away. The thought has been very strongly before me to-day that we are here but a short time. Twelve months seem to have gone by very quickly since I was put in this chair. Yet, it has passed merrily along. Members have been initiated. The Elliot Lodge, was then a thing to be wondered at, whether it would succeed or not. But the brethren rowed together with me, and we have pulled it through, and it has been a success. We have paid our way, we have paid our provincial lodge dues ahead, and we have still £46 of margin in hand. But still time passes away. The gavel, being the implement of power, as we all know, with me has become a thing of the past. Pardon me, brethren, I will do my duty as long as I belong to the Elliot Lodge, and like those geraniums that were pulled up this morning, those things of the past, those events of my year of office, if taken care of through the winter, may bud into life in the spring time, and become a multitude of efforts for the good of the Elliot Lodge. I have done my best in the chair, I would like to revert to the subject of how you have treated me. I assure you when I endeavour to express my feelings for the manner in which you have approved of my conduct, I am led to think what am I that I should be so thought of. I remember at school I had a failure once as a boy. I had worked hard to attain a certain end, but I had not succeeded, and I remember that my father patted my head and said, "Never mind, my boy, you have done your best." And that has been a lesson to me through life, to do my best without reference to what the result may be. I have done my best, and I have already commenced to reap the fruits of my labours, and this (the P.M.'s jewel) has long been a coveted prize. It has been that apple on the tree that to my eye has appeared the most cherry-checked. It is said that such always has a grub in it. This has not; it is as fair and as sound as can be. It has been given to me not as an empty compliment, but from the hearts of friends as a memento of the past. I trust that this beautiful testimonial will be handed down in my family from generation to generation. These things for which I now thank you have all the more value because I am told there was not a single dissentient voice in the lodge when the presentation was decided upon. "Success to the Masonic Charities" and "The Health of the Officers of the Lodge" were then proposed and warmly responded to. The proceedings of the evening were enlivened by some excellent vocal music from Madame Ashton, Bro. H. Ashton, and Bro. Theodore Distin, Bro. Fountain Meen presiding at the pianoforte.

INSTRUCTION.

WOOLWICH.—Union Waterloo Lodge (No. 13).—Speech Day at Westminster we all know to be the day of days with Westminster boys. Some of us, too, can call to mind the occasion of our first appearance on a public platform, in the presence of an audience, albeit mainly composed of admiring mamas, sisters, and feminine cousins, sufficiently critical to fully test our self-confidence, and set our mind galloping back to such and such a passage we were by no means certain of mastering. To the boys generally Speech Day always has been, and is likely ever to be, a day of vital importance as the annual occasion on which the world is invited to come, test, and examine the reputed champions of the school. So it is, more or less, in a lodge of instruction, when upon the day set apart for that purpose the Masonic world is invited to assemble and hear the working of those excellent moral lessons—the Fifteen Sections of our Craft ritual. The home brethren, who take more than a passing interest in these matters, cannot help but feel that the honour of the lodge is more or less at stake upon these occasions, and it behoves them to put their best foot foremost in order to put as many of their own representatives in the field as possible. The Section night of the lodge under notice was Friday week. The officiating W.M. was Bro. Rose, P.M., who had for his S.W. Bro. Griffin, P.M., the J.W. chair being occupied by Bro. Guest, 158; Bro. Preceptor Davies, P.M., Sec.; Ernest Smith, 1559, S.D.; Brown, 13, J.D.; Joskey, 1107, I.G.; Hassall, 13, Tyler. Lodge having been duly opened in the First Degree, the W.M. was assisted as follows in the working of the

FIRST LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Ernest Smith, 1559.
- 2nd " " Waterman, S.D. 147.
- 3rd " " Ernest Smith, 1559.
- 4th " " Jenkins, 1475.
- 5th " " Rose, P.M., W.M. 1622.
- 6th " " ditto.
- 7th " " ditto.

Lodge was duly opened in the Second Degree, and the W.M. interrogated the following brethren in the

SECOND LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Ernest Smith, 1559.
- 2nd " " Hutchings, 147.
- 3rd " " Waterman, S.D. 147.
- 4th " " Rose, P.M., W.M. 1622.
- 5th " " ditto.

The brethren having assisted in opening in the Third Degree, the W.M. proceeded with the

THIRD LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Hutchings, 147.
- 2nd " " Griffin, P.M.
- 3rd " " Rose, W.M. 1622.

There was a fifteen minutes' call off for refreshment between the fourth and fifth sections of the second lecture, when the W.M., officers, and workers were entertained to some light refreshment. Upon the first rising of the W.M. eight new members were elected, and upon the third enquiry Bro. Preceptor Davis proposed, and Bro. Guest seconded, the customary vote of thanks to Bro. Rose for presiding, and the five brethren who had kindly assisted him in working the sections that evening. This was carried nem. com., and Bro. Rose replied. Lodge was then closed with perfect harmony, and the brethren separated after what had been to all an enjoyable evening's entertainment. We could not obtain a list of those present, but may state that the number very nearly approached seventy.

SOUTHWARK LODGE (No. 879).—There was the usual big gathering on Fifteen Section night, Wednesday, October 25th. Under the able direction of Bro. Kent, P.M. 879, the W.M. for the evening, the work was got through in very a creditable manner, the presence of Bro. Beavis, 1158, at the S.W. pedestal, greatly assisting the workers. The following is the carte d'ouvrage:—

FIRST LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. W. S. Lugg, 879.
- 2nd " " Macrow, S.W. 879.
- 3rd " " Ernest Smith, 1559.
- 4th " " W. S. Lugg, 879.
- 5th " " Bartlett, P.M. 147.
- 6th " " Beavis 1158.

SECOND LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Wise, P.M. 1158.

- 2nd Section, Bro. Magee, J.W. 1178.
- 3rd " " Davidson, W.M. 99.
- 4th " " Beavis, 1158.
- 5th " " Magee, J.W. 1178.

THIRD LECTURE.

- 1st Section, Bro. Brewster, W.M. 879.
- 2nd " " Beavis, 1158.
- 3rd " " Davis, D.C. 879.

STAR LODGE (No. 1275).—It was somewhat unfortunate for the leading members of this exceptionally fine lodge of instruction that the day appointed for the working of the Fifteen Sections should have fallen immediately after the occasions of their working in the Wellington, Southwark, and Union Waterloo Lodges. Now granted that there are many—and more particularly this is the case with the staunch and regular attendants among the Star brethren—who are so deeply interested in our beautiful rituals as to be always delighted to listen to the Craft Catechism, it speaks well for that careful and painstaking Preceptor, Bro. Govan Macdonald, W.M. 1158, that the whole of the sections were taken by "Star" brethren, and, as an immediate contrast to what was the case on the preceding evening at Woolwich, "foreign aid" was not required. It was extremely judicious of the executive in fixing the hour of commencement for 6.30, and five minutes after the appointed time the W.M. and interregator, Bro. Shaw, Preceptor of the Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction, opened lodge, having as his S.W. Bro. Rose, and J.W. Bro. Griffin. It is needless to say that Bro. Shaw, who is perhaps the best section worker on the south side of the water, went through his duties to the satisfaction of all present; indeed, his clear and excellent delivery, the careful, deliberate, and explicit emphasis, deeply impressed those who now heard him for the first time. We were delighted to see the esteemed Preceptor, Bro. Macdonald, present for the first time since his severe illness. Appended is a list of the brethren present: Bros. John Shaw, W.M.; Rose, S.W.; Griffin, J.W.; Waterman, S.D.; Catterson, J.D.; Ernest Smith, I.G.; Hogg, P.M.; Treas.; Macdonald, Preceptor; Church, Assist. Sec.; Davies, P.M. 879; Hutchings, Speight, jun., Grumman, H. Shaw, Jenkins, Goldsmith, Hassall, Milbourn, Cobley, Kirby, Hutchings, Jardine, Boston, Pritchett, Lilley, Linneker, Ives, Gloster, Cowrie, Dootson, Thompson, Gibson, Carline, Bowen, Dixon, Chalinor, and Andrews. Upon the first rising of the W.M. the following brethren were unanimously elected members of this lodge:—Bros. J. Carline, Ravensbourne, 1601; J. J. Bowen, Harrow, 1310; and Chalinor, Perfect Ashlar 1178. The customary votes of thanks were accorded to the W.M., and the brethren assisting in working the sections, and about ten the lodge was closed with solemn prayer.

Royal Arch.

DOMATIC CHAPTER (No 177).—The first meeting of the season of this popular and prosperous chapter, which was founded in 1818, was held at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Thursday, the 26th ult. The convocation was opened by Comps. Hayward, M.E.Z.; Adams, P.Z., acting H.; Weaver, J.; Bolton, I.P.Z.; Buss, P.Z., &c., Treas.; Palmer, S.E.; Hill, N.; Cottebrune, P.Z., acting P.S. in the place of Comp. Treadwell, who is severely ill from the effects of an accident; Weaver, First Assist. In the course of the evening there were also present Comps. Payne, P.Z., and Foulger, P.Z. The visitors were Comps. Green, P.S. 975; Walls, 185; Kent, 192; Parish, 913. The minutes of the March convocation having been read and confirmed, the M.E.Z. vacated the chair, and Comp. Bolton, I.P.Z., with the able assistance of his talented staff of officers, exalted Bros. M. P. Tench, 153, &c.; T. Morris, 177; and T. Bolton, 1381, to the supreme degree of the Royal Arch. The interesting ceremony was most ably performed, and it was particularly pleasing to witness the "working" of Comp. T. Adams, who, notwithstanding his four score years and upwards, delivered the Second Principal's address in a manner that left nothing to be desired. There being no other business before the chapter, it was closed in ancient form, and the companions adjourned to the banquet, which was served in the saloon under the superintendence of Comp. Smith. The usual loyal and Royal Arch toasts were given from the chair very briefly, and they were duly honoured. "The Health of the M.E.Z." was proposed by the Father and Treasurer of the chapter, Comp. Buss. The M.E.Z., in reply, expressed his thanks, and stated that he was sorry that he had not had sufficient time to spare to perfect himself in the working of the Royal Arch Degree, but that he hoped eventually to be in a position to discharge the duties at least creditably; and in conclusion he thanked Comps. Bolton and Adams for the valuable aid that they had rendered him that evening. "The Health of the Newly-exalted Companions" followed, and was duly acknowledged in fitting terms by Comps. Tench, Morris, and Bolton. The M.E.Z. then proposed "The Visitors." This toast having been warmly received, Comps. Green, Walls, Parish, and Kent responded. The latter, in particular, expressed at length his admiration of the working of the ceremony of exaltation that day, which he said had left upon him a most profound impression. "The Health of the Past Principals of the Chapter" gave Comp. Buss an opportunity of indulging in one of his excellent and amusing replies. The toast of "The Treasurer and S.E., and the rest of the Officers," followed. The first named, in the course of his reply, stated that he was exceedingly pleased to be in a position to inform them that the funds of the chapter were in a flourishing condition, and he hoped that that happy state of things would long continue. In conclusion he said that his duties were rendered comparatively easy by the great assistance that he always received from Comp. Palmer, S.E. He trusted that the day was not far distant when the chapter would have an opportunity of placing that zealous officer in the Third Principal's chair as a mark of their high appreciation of his long services as S.E., and that he hoped eventually to see him discharging the responsibilities of M.E.Z. Comp. Palmer, in his response, expressed his thanks for the very kind and handsome manner in which his name and humble services had been recognised both by the M.E.Z. and the last speaker. He could only assure them that he would always endeavour to carry out his duties faithfully, and should they at some future time be pleased to place him on the road to the goal of his ambition, namely, the First Principal's chair, that nothing should be wanting on his part to mark his gratitude for the honour conferred. Comp. Hill, N., and Comp. Weaver, First Assistant, also replied. Between the toasts Comps. Foulger, Tench, Palmer, and Walls vocally and dramatically enlivened the proceedings. Previously to the last toast, the M.E.Z. stated that their Janitor had presented them with gavel for use during their banquets, which emblems of office were made, he said, from some old oak, formerly belonging to the Church of St. Mary Somerset, Fish-street Hill, and that he (the M.E.Z.) should take an opportunity of mentioning the matter at the next convocation, which will be held on the last Thursday in November.

Mark Masonry.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE.—At a special meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge, held at the Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, the R.W. Bro. William Kelly, F.R. Hist. S., P.G.M.M., presided, and among those present were the V.W. Bro. Rev. William Langley, P.G.C., D.P.G.M.M.; Bros. W. Sculthorpe, as P.G.S.W.; J. C. Duncombe, as P.G.J.W.; J. M. McAllister, P.G. Sec.; H. T. Bobart, P.G.J.D.; M. H. Bobart, P.G.S.B.; T. A. Wykes, P.G.O.; R. Taylor, P.G.I.G.; E. Mason, P.G. Steward; C. E. Stretton, J. H. Biggs, A. M. Duff, P.M., and others. The Rev. Chas. Henton Wood was appointed Provincial Grand Chaplain, and invested with the collar of office. Committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the reception of the M.W. the Earl of Limerick, G.M.M.M., and the officers of the Grand Mark Lodge. The R.W. Bro. William Kelly, who is now the Senior Provincial Grand Master on the roll of the Grand Mark Lodge, was nominated by the V.W. Bro. Langley, P.G.C., D.P.G.M.M., seconded by V. Bro. J. C. Duncombe, supported by Bro. A. M. Duff, and elected unanimously to continue the discharge of the high and important duties of Provincial Grand Mark Master. Bro. Kelly's zeal and attachment to the sublime mysteries of the Craft are still in all their freshness. His works have for many years been prominently before the brethren, and his services as Provincial Grand Mark Master cannot be overrated. The Provincial Grand Lodge was closed in ample form, and the Fowke Lodge, No. 19, was opened under the presidency of Bro. George Toller, jun., I.P.M., in the absence of Bro. Clement Stretton, W.M., who recently met with an unfortunate accident. In company with Bro. Barfoot (Mayor of Leicester) Bro. Stretton was visiting the palace of the Doges at Venice, when he slipped on the marble pavement of the Piazza, and broke his arm near the shoulder. The accident excited much sympathy among the brethren, and an expression of deep regret for the unlucky cause of his absence from the meeting was recorded in the minutes of the lodge.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF CORNWALL.—The Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Cornwall was held on Tuesday, the 7th inst., at Truro. A large number of members were present. The R.W. Bro. Sir Frederick M. Williams, Bart., M.P., was in the chair, with R.W. Bro. W. J. Hughton, P.G.W. of England, as Deputy Prov. G.M. (in the unavoidable absence of Bro. R. Rogers, through illness). A large number of members were present belonging to the six lodges in the province. The officers appointed were Bros. William Tweedy, 78, D. Prov. G.M.; Rev. W. H. Bloxsome, M.A., 175, S. Prov. G.W.; John Paull, 101, J. Prov. G.W.; John Coombe, 87, Prov. G.M.O.; J. H. Reynolds, 73, Prov. G.S.O.; T. C. Polglaze, 94, Prov. G.J.O.; Rev. A. H. Ferris, 78, Prov. G. Chaplain; William Tregay, 73, Prov. G. Treas.; William Lake, 78, Prov. G. Reg.; William James Johns, 78, Prov. G. Sec.; J. Q. James, 175, Prov. G.S.D.; Thomas Taylor, 175, Prov. G.J.D.; Samuel Mitchell, 101, Prov. G.S. of Wks.; Samuel Harvey, 78, Prov. G.D.C.; G. M. Cock, 73, Prov. A. G.D.C.; Captain Mitchell, 78, Prov. G.S.B.; R. A. Heath, 73, Prov. G. Org.; William Rooks, 78, Prov. G. Purst.; Bros. Thomas Davey, 73; G. B. Pearce, 87; W. Johns, 94; Prov. G. Stewards; John Langdon, 78, Prov. G. Tyler. The W.M.'s gave in their report, shewing 216 members in Cornwall of the Degree of Mark Master Mason, and all spoke in the highest terms of the future of Mark Masonry in the county. The W. Bro. William James Johns, P.M. 78, &c., was appointed Prov. Grand Secretary in place of W. Bro. Thomas Solomon, J.P., &c., deceased. The R.W. Bro. Sir F. M. Williams, Bart., M.P., was received most enthusiastically by the brethren.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The sudden changes, frequent fog, and prevailing dampness sorely impede the vital functions and conduce to ill-health. The remedy for these disasters lies in some purifying medicine, like these PILLS, which is competent to grapple with the mischief at its source, and stamp it out without fretting the nerves or weakening the system. Holloway's Pills extract from the blood all noxious matters, regulate the action of every disordered organ, stimulate the liver and kidneys, and relax the bowels. In curing chest complaints these PILLS are remarkably effective, especially when aided by friction of the Ointment on its walls. This double treatment will ensure a certain, steady, and beneficent progress, and sound health will soon be re-established.—ADV.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

The quarterly communication of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held on the 6th inst., at 5 p.m., in the Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh. The throne was occupied by Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Bart., the Most Worshipful Grand Master Mason of Scotland, who was supported by Bro. William Mann, P.G.W., acting R.W. Senior Grand Warden; William Hay, R.W. Senior G.D., acting R.W. Senior G.W. On the dais were Bros. Henry Inglis, of Torsonce, P.S.G.M.; Colonel Campbell, of Blythswood, Prov. G.M. of Renfrewshire East; Lauderdale Maitland, of Eccles, P.G.M. Dumfriesshire; Captain Harriott of Killmore, P.G.M. of Wigtownshire; J. H. Neilson, P.P.G.M. Venezuela; John Laurie, Grand Sec.; Dr. J. T. Loth, Representative of the Grand Orient of France; Rev. A. Thomson Grant, V.W. Grand Chaplain; Alexander Hay, Grand Jeweller; John Coghill, Grand Director of Ceremonies; C. W. Miller, Grand Director of Music; Daniel Robertson, Grand Bible Bearer; Robert Davidson, Grand Organist; W. Officer, Grand Deacon; D. M. Neilson, W.M. 3 bis; George McDonald, W.M. 73, Thistle and Rose; Wm. Thomas, S.W. 103, Union and Crown; W. Hart, W.M. 178, Scotia; P. Hepburn, S.W.; A. Thomson, W.M. 333, St. George; D. Harley, S.W. 354, Caledonian Railway; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360, Commercial; Adam Rutherford, S.W. 362, St. Clair; William Harper, W.M.; Wm. Bilsland, S.W. 408, Clyde; Jas. Louttit, W.M.; Andrew Holms, J.W. 413, Athole; J. S. Scott, W.M.; James Simpson, S.W. 410, Neptune; Wm. Phillips, W.M., and T. Phillips, J.W. 556, Clydesdale; Robert Aikman, W.M. 570, Kenmuir; and W. Bickerton ("Freemason"). The lodge having been opened and raised to the Sublime Degree, the Grand Master read a letter from the Lord Provost of Glasgow in regard to the visit of the Prince of Wales, dated 28th Oct., 1876. The Lord Provost wrote:—

"Dear Sir Michael,—On behalf of my brother Magistrates and myself, I beg respectfully to convey to the several Masonic bodies who took part in the proceedings connected with the laying of the foundation stone of the new Post Office by the Prince and Princess of Wales on the 17th inst., our hearty sense of the value of your and their services. That, notwithstanding the unpropitious nature of the weather, the several lodges should have carried out with so much steadiness and good temper the various arrangements in which they had to take part was most gratifying, and we only regret that after coming—some of them from great distances—to show their loyalty at much cost and sacrifice of personal comfort they were not favoured with better weather."

Sir Michael also stated that he had been highly pleased with the turn-out on the occasion referred to; and Bro. Inglis then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Grand Master. (Cheers.) He was sure the great Craft had lost nothing of its dignity that day. (Applause.)

The Grand Master, in returning thanks, said that the proceedings had given him great anxiety beforehand. He had had no fear but that the Masons would do their work well, but great difficulties had to be overcome. The Grand Secretary and the office-bearers in Glasgow, however, took considerable trouble with the arrangements. They were made as complete as possible; and, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, he considered it had been a most successful day. (Cheers.) He was sure the Masonic part of the ceremony would never be forgotten by those who had taken part in it. (Applause.)

The Grand Master afterwards intimated the death of the Most Hon. the Marquis of Tweeddale, K.S., R.W.P.G.M., and an expression of regret was ordered to be recorded in the minutes for the loss sustained by Grand Lodge.

Bro. Henry Inglis said he had not the slightest fear but that the motion he had to submit would be adopted unanimously. It was that Sir Michael Shaw-Stewart be elected for another year. (Cheers.)

The Grand Master said he was very much obliged for the kind manner in which his nomination had been submitted and received. He could only say that his best services were at the disposal of Grand Lodge for another year. (Cheers.) He only hoped he would have the same kind support which he had had hitherto. (Renewed cheers.)

The following office bearers were then elected unanimously:—R.W. Past Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn; R.W. Depute Grand Master, Henry Inglis of Torsonce; R.W. Substitute Grand Master, Colonel A. C. Campbell of Blythswood; R.W. Senior Grand Warden, the Right Hon. Lord Rosehill; R.W. Junior Grand Warden, the Right Hon. Lord Ramsay.

The Grand Committee proposed that Bro. D. Kinnear be appointed Senior Grand Deacon.

Bro. Hepburn, S.W. Scotia Lodge, 171, moved as an amendment that Bro. D.M. Nelson, R.W.M., Lodge 34, should be appointed to this office.

Bro. William Phillips, R.W.M., Clydesdale Lodge 556, said that it was but right that such an important province as Glasgow should have some representation in Grand Lodge. (Cheers.) He was quite sure that Bro. Nelson would not only do his duty, but reflect credit on the office. (Cheers.)

A vote was afterwards taken, when it was seen that 84 were in favour of Bro. Nelson, and 57 for Bro. Kinnear. The announcement was received with cheers by the brethren from the western province.

Bro. Samuel Hay (Union Bank) and Bro. John Laurie were proposed for the offices of Grand Treasurer and Grand Secretary respectively.

Bro. Adam Thomson, Proxy Master 262, objected to the reappointment of those office-bearers, on the ground that it might be of great advantage to infuse some new blood into these departments. The Grand Treasurer he contended annually violated the rules, and the Secretary had neglected his duties by not replying to a greater number of communications from daughter lodges.

Bro. D. M. Nelson stated that at the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow several statements had been made concerning Bro. Laurie, and a letter had been handed to him which had been prepared by a committee appointed to bring the matter before the Grand Lodge. He suggested that this letter be read.

The Grand Master had no hesitation in saying that matters in the Secretary's department were not in a satisfactory state, and he would use every endeavour to get them remedied.

Bro. George Macdonald, W.M. 73, Thistle and Rose Lodge, asked whether Bro. Laurie was not being made the scapegoat for the Grand Lodge. As far as complaints from Glasgow were concerned, he believed it was not so much Bro. Laurie who was to blame as the Grand Lodge.

Bro. Laurie, Grand Secretary, said he had listened with considerable pain to the statements which had been made, but he would not take up time rebutting them, as he might do. In going over these matters, whilst condemning what had not been done, they had overlooked what he really did do. (Hear hear, and applause.) Anyone in his position was entitled to at least some consideration, or at any rate fair play. A number of the brethren present were in a position to prove from their own knowledge of the facts that the labours of the Grand Lodge were immensely more than any single individual could possibly superintend and discharge correctly. (Cheers.) From early on Monday morning until late on Saturday night following he was scarcely ever absent from the office, and the whole of his time was taken up in attending to the interests of the Grand Lodge; and even then it was utterly impossible to overtake the labours imposed upon him. Very few were aware of the enormous amount of work required to be discharged in his department, and the consequence was that many communications could not be replied to. He would prepare a statement in his own justification, which would be submitted to the Grand Lodge.

It was ultimately agreed to appoint Bro. D. Kinnear as interim cashier.

The appointments were otherwise agreed to, and the other office-bearers elected were V.W. Joint Grand Chaplains, the Rev. W. H. Gray, D.D., and the Rev. A. Thomson Grant; V.W. Junior Grand Deacon, Colonel Wilson of Bannockburn; V.W. Architect, W. Hay; Worshipful Grand Jeweller, A. Hay; Worshipful Grand Bible Bearer, D. Robertson; Worshipful Grand Director of Ceremonies, J. Coghill; Worshipful Grand Bard, J. Ballantine; Worshipful Grand Sword Bearer, Captain G. F. R. Colt of Gartsherrie; Worshipful Grand Director of Music, C. W. M. Muller; Worshipful Grand Organist, R. Davidson; Worshipful Grand Marshal, Captain W. Hills, Edinburgh Rifle Volunteers; Worshipful Grand Tyler, W. J. Bryce; Worshipful Outer Guard, J. Baikie.

Board of Grand Stewards.—President, F. S. Melville; Vice-President, John Haig; Manager of Locomotive Arrangements, J. McLare, N.B.R.; Bros. J. Turner, A. N. Clarke, William Mann, 137; Charles Mackenzie, George Bryce Brown, A. Mitchell, Duncan Monteith, Dr. John T. Loth, Alex. Ballantine, J. Wallace, F. L. Law, H. Y. D. Copland, Wm. Smith, Colonel David Guthrie of Carlogie, William Barton, Geo. McLean, Geo. Lyon, Richard Wilson, David Small, Dr. George Dickson, Thomas Swinton, C. F. Matier, J. Macduff, J. Goodis, G. F. Roger, F. B. Niblett, Malcolm McNab, T. Field, A. Thomson, Gilbert Farie, J. H. Neilson, Geo. Miller, H. Munro, Alex. Henry, J. J. Muirhead, D. Thomson, R. Dudgeon, R. S. Brown, J. Dunlop, W.S.; J. Mackie, J. Berry, Andrew Addison, A. Henry, T. Halket, G. Robertson, H. R. Hendrie, J. Bell of Castle Creavie, W.S.; J. Walker, T. Ford, G. G. Russell, W. Caldwell, Henry Welsh, Robert White, J. A. Breysig, A. Muirhead, W. L. Mair, J. Fleming, E. Sellentin, H. E. Gordon, Major E. H. Ryan, H. J. Coventry, W.S.; W. H. Mackenzie, T. Mansfield, R. F. Shaw Stewart, E. P. Albert, W. Stevenson, J. Masterton, W. McDonald, John Bryce, A. Duff, W. Smith, J. K. Smart, A. J. Stephenson, R. Morrison, A. M.K. Millman, A. Scott, J. Addison, W. Smith.

On the recommendation of the Grand Lodge, charters, on petition, were granted to the following lodges:—"Bruce," Frickheim; "Athole," Kimberley, Griqualand; "Albert Edward," Polmadie; "Kindred Hope," Nasse-rabad, Rajpootana.

The Right Hon. Earl of Mar and Kellie was nominated as representative of the Grand Lodge of the Netherlands; Bro. W. Officer, P.G.D., for Egypt; Bro. D. Murray Lyon for West Virginia; Bro. D. Kinnear, Louisiana; the Right Hon. Lord Iverurie for Missouri; and Bro. Daniel Robertson for South Carolina.

A motion by Bro. John Monro, W.M. 360 Commercial, in regard to the raising of fees, was continued till next quarterly communication, in consequence of his unavoidable absence. The Grand Lodge was afterwards closed in ample form.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF GLASGOW.

The quarterly communication of the Prov. G. Lodge of Glasgow was held on Thursday, the 2nd inst., in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, Bro. Barrow, D.P.G.M., presiding. Bro. D. M. Nelson, R.W.M. Lodge St. John's, acted as S.W.; and Bro. George Macdonald, R.W.M. Lodge Thistle and Rose, as J.W. After Bro. Morgan, Interim Secretary, had read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were confirmed, Bro. Dr. Morton was installed as Provincial Grand Junior Warden. A report was given in from the New Hall Committee, in which it was shown that the want of a hall in the province of Glasgow was now being recognised by the brethren of the province. The Grand Lodge billet of business was next taken up, when special reference was made to Bro.

Harriott's motion, and to the management of Grand Lodge affairs and the conduct of officials. After a considerable amount of discussion a committee was appointed, on a motion by Bro. Munro, R.W.M., to protest against the indifference paid by the Grand Lodge to the interests of Masons in the province, and present it at the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Edinburgh on Monday. After discussing this motion it was agreed to consecrate Lodge Plantation on the 13th inst. at 4 p.m. This concluded the business.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF RENFREWSHIRE EAST.

The Quarterly meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Renfrewshire East was held on Saturday evening, the 4th inst., in the hall of Lodge Renfrew County Kilwinning, No. 370, Paisley. There was a large attendance. Bro. Colonel Campbell, of Blythswood, P.G.M., presided, and was supported by Bro. J. Caldwell, S.M. Bro. James Gilmour occupied the Senior Warden's chair, and Bro. J. Peter, the Junior Warden's. A communication was read from the Secretary of the Grand Lodge, stating that he had been commanded by the Grand Master, Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, Bart., to express his regret that at the recent ceremonial in Glasgow he had been unable to address the brethren, and he wished to convey to the various lodges his great satisfaction at the large turn-out of the brethren, and his thanks for the support they had given him on that occasion. The Provincial Grand Master then said that it must have been to the brethren as it had been to him and every one else a sad disappointment that the weather had been so unfavourable on the occasion of the recent visit of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales to Glasgow. He did not think that the West of Scotland had ever seen a grander turn-out of the brethren. He could assure them that both His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales had expressed to him their great regret that the weather should be so unfortunately bad. Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales had written to his wife to tell her how much gratified she had been with everything done for the reception of their Royal Highnesses in Glasgow, Renfrew, and at Blythswood, and with the manner in which the Freemasons had conducted themselves in Glasgow. Bro. James Gilmour, S.W., said that it must be a matter of gratification to the Masonic body to learn that their services had been so highly appreciated. To their Provincial Grand Master, Col. Campbell, they were exceedingly indebted for the noble manner in which he had entertained the Right Worshipful the Grand Master of Freemasons, the Prince of Wales, at Blythswood, and he moved that a minute to that effect be recorded in the minutes of the Provincial Grand Lodge. Bro. Jas. Caldwell, S.M., seconded the motion, which was unanimously agreed to. It was also agreed that Bro. Colonel Campbell should send an excerpt of the letter written by the Princess of Wales to the Hon. Mrs. Campbell to be engrossed in the minutes of the lodge. Several motions which were to be submitted to the Grand Lodge were then considered, but were received unfavourably.

GLASGOW.—Consecration of Lodge Dramatic.—On Wednesday afternoon, 1st inst., the Provincial Grand Lodge met in the hall, 213, Buchanan-street, for the purpose of consecrating Lodge Dramatic, No. 571, on the roll of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, Bro. W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. There was a large attendance of brethren, and Bro. Barrow, acting I.P.M., presided. The P.G.D.M. having been asked to consecrate the lodge, formally opened the Provincial Grand Lodge, and after devotional exercises, conducted by the P.G. Chaplain, the charter granted in favour of Lodge Dramatic was read, and the provisional office-bearers presented. The P.G. Director of Ceremonies then, by instruction of the P.G.M., proclaimed the lodge; and after a service of praise, the business terminated.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—The annual meeting of this lodge was held on Friday, the 3rd inst., in the lodge-room, Hope-street, Glasgow, Bro. J. Munro, W.M., presiding. After the Second Degree had been worked by Bro. J. M. Oliver, Senior Warden, it was agreed to hold a festival to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the formation of the lodge, and a committee was appointed to carry out the arrangements. The following office-bearers, who were nominated at the previous meeting of the lodge, were then declared duly elected:—Bros. John Munro, W.M.; J. M. Oliver, D.M.; James Colquhoun, S.M.; Wm. Finlay, S.W.; Robert Reid, J.W.; George Scott, Treas.; John Smith, Sec.; Wm. Keiller, S.D.; Alex. Paterson, J.D.; George Macpherson, John Clark, B.B.; J. M. Duncan, D. of C.; Robert Brodie, D. of Music; Wm. Mar, President of Stewards; Alex. Burnet, I.G.; Bros. Mitchell and Robert Paterson, Auditors. The installation ceremony was then proceeded with by Bro. Davidson, P.M.; and Bro. G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain. Lodge 73, gave the final charge. A vote of thanks was accorded those brethren for the manner in which they had conducted the business, and in reply, they complimented the brethren on the flourishing condition of the lodge, and in their having again secured the services of so popular a Master as Bro. Munro. A Committee of Management was afterwards appointed, and the lodge was then closed.

CONSECRATION OF THE CANTERBURY LODGE, No. 1635.

On Thursday, 2nd inst., the Canterbury Lodge, No. 1635, was formally consecrated, constituted, and dedicated by Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, and Provincial Grand Master of West Lancashire, at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden-square. The lodge is intended to hold a distinguished position in the Craft, and the names of the brethren who were present at the inauguration ceremony, most of whom are enrolled as members, are sufficient evidence that this intention will be carried out. The lodge was launched amid all the elements of success, having trusty and true brethren in all its offices, competent ceremonial workers, an accomplished Organist, a high class organ, a skilful Master of Ceremonies, and the prettiest and most perfect lodge-room in London. The members of the lodge are brethren who are zealous for the honour of Masonry, and their sponsorship for intending initiates must be a guarantee for the most eligible candidates being admitted to participate in the light of the Masonic mysteries through this lodge. The hall at 33, Golden-square, has already had secured to it by the proprietary's management the highest position as a Masonic centre, and the Canterbury Lodge, following in the track of the Bayard, the Friends in Council, and other eminent lodges which meet there, will add to the lustre it has so justly acquired. The long list of brethren and gentlemen of high social position which was proposed on Thursday at the conclusion of the lodge business for joining and initiation, affords ground for believing that there is yet room for more lodges of a similar character to the Canterbury Lodge being yet established at the same place, and we do not doubt that on representation duly made to the M.W.G.M., His Royal Highness will have no hesitation in granting warrants for such worthy additions to the roll of the Grand Lodge of England.

Lord Skelmersdale arrived at the hall at the time appointed, and the brethren were immediately marshalled by Major Shadwell Clerke, who undertook the duties of Master of the Ceremonies. The brethren present were Bros. John Chynoweth, P.G. Steward; Col. H. S. Somerville Burney, W.M. 1615, P.S.G.D. Essex; N. Locock Webb, P.G.D.; Canon Harford; Dr. W. C. Grigg; Edwin M. Lott, P.P.G.J.W. Jersey; H. Evill; Gordan Adam; Thos. Holme Davis; Wm. Holme Davis; James Keene, P.M.; Capt. Phillips, P.M. 1383; John H. Scott, P.M. 271; Capt. Chas. Compton, S.D. 1615; Richd. P. Leeson, S.W. 1615; Francis C. Compton, Org. 1615; Dr. H. Sutherland, P.M. 1118; Robt. Fyers, S.D. 1615; Major Shadwell Clerke, W.M. 1383, 1615; Capt. W. F. Portlock Dajson, Sec. 1615; John Hervey, G. Sec.; and H. Massey ("Freemason").

Bro. John Chynoweth opened the lodge, having Lord Skelmersdale on his left and the Rev. Canon Harford on his right. Bro. John H. Scott occupied the chair of S.W., and Dr. Sutherland that of J.W.; Bro. Keene was Secretary; Bro. E. M. Lott, Organist; Canon Harford, Chaplain; and Major Shadwell Clerke, M.C. Bro. Keene also acted as I.G.

After the lodge had been opened in the three degrees, Lord Skelmersdale succeeded Bro. Chynoweth in the chair, and proceeded to consecrate the lodge. Canon Harford added more than ordinary impressiveness to the ceremony by his pointed delivery of the prayer and invocations, which were given without reference to a single written document. The scripture portions were also eloquently read by the rev. brother, and no opportunity was lost of imparting to the ceremony the most solemn and religious character. The only cause for regret was that with such an able Chaplain in the lodge there was no oration by that brother, as had there been, no doubt it would have compared favourably with any of those literary compositions.

When the ceremony of consecration had been completed Lord Skelmersdale, addressing the brethren, said that he greatly regretted that numerous engagements forbade him staying in the lodge any longer. He must, therefore, be debarred from participating in the pleasure of witnessing the installation of the W.M. or joining the brethren at the banquet. But it had given him great pleasure to be present and perform the ceremony of consecration, and he wished the lodge which had just been dedicated every prosperity.

The Rev. Dr. Robbins said that before his lordship retired he must, on behalf of the lodge, go somewhat out of the usual order at that period of the proceedings to thank the Deputy Grand Master sincerely for having attended, and so impressively consecrated the lodge. It was a great honour his lordship had done the lodge, and it was, moreover, a great personal kindness to himself (Dr. Robbins). He hoped, and all the brethren hoped, that Lord Skelmersdale would allow them to enrol him as an honorary member of the Canterbury Lodge.

Lord Skelmersdale thanked Dr. Robbins, and said he should accept the honour with pleasure.

His lordship then retired, and Bro. Chynoweth took the chair.

Major Shadwell Clerke presented the Rev. J. Robbins, D.D., W.M. designate, for installation, and Bro. Chynoweth formally installed him in the chair of K.S.

The officers invested were Bros. the Rev. Canon Harford, Westminster Abbey, S.W.; James Keene, J.W.; Dr. Grigg, S.D.; H. Evill, J.D.; Thomas Holme Davies, Sec.; Gordan Adam, I.G.; E. M. Lott, Org.; Col. Somerville Burney, to act as P.M.; Bro. Evill, to act as Treas. pro tem; Major Shadwell Clerke, M.C.; and George Austin, Tyler.

Bro. Chynoweth afterwards delivered the addresses.

The W.M. then rose and said that the first duty that devolved upon him was to propose a resolution in which he was sure all the brethren would most heartily concur. They had been most fortunate that evening in securing the services of so eminent a brother in Freemasonry as the Deputy Grand Master, and it would be as pleasing to the whole of the brethren to pass as, it was to him (the W.M.) to propose, a vote of thanks to his lordship for attending to consecrate the lodge. He, therefore, proposed that vote of thanks.

The S.W. seconded the motion, and said that all the brethren must feel that they were greatly indebted to Lord Skelmersdale for what he had done.

The motion was then put and carried unanimously.

The W.M. next proposed a vote of thanks to the other brethren who had assisted, among them Bro. Chynoweth, who had so ably performed the duties of Installing Master. He was sure that there must be a very great difficulty in committing the varied charges to memory so as to deliver them with such accuracy as Bro. Chynoweth had done. They had also to thank Major Shadwell Clerke for his ability, and for displaying that courtesy which was so habitual to him. To that wonderful skill in organisation which was part of his nature the brethren were indebted for the smooth and regular way in which everything had gone that evening. The consecration had been the most impressive of ceremonies, they must all admit, that they had ever seen in their lives. That was mainly due to Major Shadwell Clerke. He must also say, en passant, that for the way in which the Chaplain had performed his duties the brethren could not thank him sufficiently. He would include in his vote of thanks, therefore Bros. Chynoweth, Major Shadwell Clerke, Bro. Locock Webb, Bro. John Hervey, and Bro. Scott, all of whom had contributed to the great success of the evening's ceremony.

Colonel Burney seconded the vote, which was thereupon put and carried.

The W.M. then said that he had already asked Lord Skelmersdale to accept honorary membership of the lodge, and his lordship had expressed his willingness to do so. He now would ask the other brethren who had assisted to accept the same position, and he would, therefore, move that Grand Secretary, Bro. Locock Webb, Bro. Chynoweth, Captain Phillips, Major Shadwell Clerke, Bro. Lott, and Dr. Sutherland, be elected honorary members of the lodge. He would take them en bloc to save time.

The J.W. seconded the motion, and the brethren passed it nem. con.

Bro. Locock Webb, G.C., in acknowledging the compliment said he could not allow the proceedings to go further without asking permission to return thanks for the honour which had been done to himself and the other brethren by this vote of the lodge. The lodge had been good enough to mention his name for two reasons, first of all for his coming on that occasion, and they had been good enough to say that they were obliged to him for it; but really he had to thank the W.M. for his kindness in inviting him, for he felt very much honoured indeed by the invitation; secondly the lodge had done him the honour to elect him an honorary member; and he accepted that honour with the greatest thanks. Grand Secretary had been good enough to request him to accept another, that of returning thanks for him. Grand Secretary felt the honour done him as much as he (Bro. Locock Webb) did; and it was only his natural diffidence, and that his heart was too full to give utterance to his feelings that he (Grand Secretary) did not return thanks for himself.

Bro. Chynoweth, responding for himself, said he was exceedingly thankful to the brethren for the honour they had conferred on him by electing him an honorary member, and for the very courteous terms in which the W.M. had proposed the vote of thanks for the assistance he had been able to render. He was sorry that in the opening ceremony he was not very fluent; but he had been called unexpectedly to act, otherwise he would have been au fait to the work. A man got naturally a little rusty by laying by, and there would then unavoidably be a little hesitation in his performance of the ceremonies. It was not often one had the opportunity of practising them, and he must beg the brethren's indulgence for any imperfections he had fallen into.

Major Shadwell Clerke thanked the W.M. and the lodge for the kind compliment they had paid him, and assured the brethren of the pleasure it had given him to be of any service to them.

Propositions for initiation and joining were afterwards taken, and a committee was appointed to frame the by-laws; after which lodge was closed, and adjourned to the 14th inst.

The brethren subsequently partook of banquet at the Cafe Royal, Regent-street, and the customary toasts were honoured before they separated for the evening.

[The above appeared in the Second Edition of last week.]

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The monthly meeting of the Committee of this Institution was held on Wednesday at Freemason's Hall, Bro. Col. Creton presiding. There were also present Bros. John Constable, J. T. Stevens, W. Hale, C. A. Cottebrune, James Brett, A. H. Tattershall, John Newton, Thos. W. White, S. Rawson, Charles Lacey, A. J. D. Filer, F. Adlard, Robert W. Little, W. Stephens, George Bolton, Dr. Jabez Hogg, W. Hyde Pullen, J. A. Farnfield, Rich. Hervé Girard, John Hirst, jun., L. Stean, John M. Redwell, J. R. Gallant, Thomas Fenn, H. Massey ("Freemason") and James Terry (Secretary). After the confirmation of the minutes, Bro. Terry stated that he had applied to Lord Skelmersdale as to the Chairman for the Festival of 1877, and had received an answer from his lordship, in which he advised him to apply to Bro. Collins, Equerry to Prince Leopold. He did so, and received a reply stating his Royal Highness's willingness in that respect, but that as the date was so far distant he could give no definite reply. Bro. Terry stated that he had no doubt Prince Leopold will take the chair.

The Warden's report was received, and the Committee who had visited the Institution expressed their gratification at the style in which they found all the arrangements there.

On application from the widow of a deceased annuitant for half her late husband's annuity, the same was granted. This is the first case which has occurred under the increased grant.

A letter was read from a brother at Boston, raising the novel point of whether the widow of a Freemason, who after her first husband's death married a non-Mason, also now deceased, was eligible to come on the fund, she being in other respects qualified.

Bro. John G. Stevens said that his opinion on the point was that under the circumstances stated in the letter which had been read, a widow would not be entitled to be placed on the list. He did not wish to say anything which would prejudice this particular case, but viewing the subject as a general one, it appeared to him that there was no ground for saying that such a case was eligible. The laws of the Institution were plain and distinct with regard to those who might be placed on the funds, and unless those laws were altered the case mentioned could not be accepted. If this widow had remained a widow, there would have been no question as to her eligibility, but she ceased to have that status when she married her second husband, who happened not to be a Mason, and therefore she had no claim upon the Institution. Of course the brethren might alter the laws if they liked, but the laws were now against the case of this widow.

Bro. L. Stean adopted this view, but Bros. S. Rawson and R. H. Giraud held that on the death of the second husband the character of widow of the first husband revived.

Bro. A. J. Duff Filer wished to put a supposititious case. If a widow of a Mason became an annuitant of the Institution, and after enjoying her annuity for a time, married a non-Mason, her annuity would cease. Then, if the second husband died, she would neither have her annuity re-established nor be re-elected as an annuitant. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. R. H. Giraud then moved, and Bro. S. Rawson seconded, that such a candidate should be eligible.

The motion was put to the committee, but lost by an overwhelming majority.

The petitions of three brethren and four widows were then received and passed, as was also the petition of a widow for half her late husband's annuity.

Bro. James Terry having retired from the room,

The Chairman said that the next business on the agenda paper was the consideration of a motion of which he had himself given notice, and he felt that very few words would be necessary to render his motion acceptable to the brethren. The motion of which he had given notice was that the salary of the Secretary be increased. The Secretary had done his work exceedingly well (Hear, hear), and the funds of the Institution had increased mainly through his exertions. Therefore, the time, he thought, had arrived when the brethren ought to give their Secretary some substantial recognition of his services. He need not say any more in praise of the Secretary; had it been necessary he could easily have done so, because he believed he saw as much of the Secretary and the performance of the secretarial duties as most brethren who subscribed to the Institution; and he could assert, without fear of contradiction, speaking as he did the honest truth, that when the Secretary was not in the office, he was engaged in some good work for the benefit of the Institution. (Hear, hear.) He would conclude by proposing, in the words of his notice, "That in consideration of the large sums collected mainly by the great additional amount of work in the office of the Secretary, his salary be increased £100 from the 1st of January, 1876."

Bro. John Constable seconded the motion, which was then put and carried unanimously.

Bro. Terry having been called in,

The Chairman, addressing him, said he had great pleasure in informing him that by a unanimous vote of the committee his salary had been increased £100 per annum from the 1st of January last. He must congratulate him on having received such a recognition of his great exertions on behalf of the institution, and he hoped that for many years it would have the benefit of his services. (Hear hear.)

Bro. Terry said he need not tell the chairman and brethren that he was very pleased indeed to hear what the chairman had told him, and it enhanced his pleasure to hear that the vote just passed had been unanimous. That to a very great extent made it of double and treble its value. He might add that most of the brethren were aware he had laboured to the best of his ability for the institution for the thirteen years that he had been connected with it. To have received this mark of approbation totally unsolicited by himself was a very great compliment, and one which he should always appreciate highly. If he had always health and strength he should endeavour to act as strenuously in the future as he had in the past, and he hoped he should always have the same cordial assistance and kindly feelings of the brethren as he had hitherto experienced. (Hear hear.)

The Chairman next said the business they had now to consider was a recommendation of the Finance Committee that the salary of the clerk in the office, Mr. Knill, be increased £20 a year. It had not only been recommended by the Finance Committee, but was supported by the Secretary, who had the best opportunity of seeing how Mr. Knill performed his duties. The Secretary said that he was a good young fellow, who was worthy of the proposed increase. He (the Chairman) would propose that the clerk's salary be increased £20 a year from the 1st of December.

Bro. Thos. W. White seconded the proposition. Carried nem. con.

Bro. Terry observed that Mr. Knill was a very efficient officer, and it afforded him much pleasure to speak in his favour.

The committee then adjourned.

Lord Elcho has received a reply from the Home Secretary to the memorial of the Metropolitan Municipal Association, promising to give consideration to the subject of the government of London.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.

This Association, which has now been twelve months in existence, was formed under the auspices of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1056, to enable any member of the Craft, lady or Lewis, to become a life subscriber or a life governor of the Institutions for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons, and for Sons and Daughters of Decayed Freemasons, by payment of the small sum of 1s. per week. The subscriptions from time to time received are appropriated by ballot among the members of the Association on the first Friday in every month, at the Portugal Hotel, 1155, Fleet-street, at 8.30 in the evening, after the closing of the Lodge of Instruction.

At the meeting in October last the Honorary Secretary, Bro. W. W. Snelling, referring to the bye-law of the Association which required a member to pay all subscriptions from April last, stated that this bye-law had greatly retarded the progress of the Association—two members only having joined the Association since this bye-law was passed. He, therefore, moved that such alterations should be made in the bye-laws as would enable a person to join at any time, and to commence his subscriptions on the day of his election, and after some discussion the motion was carried unanimously.

At a meeting in November the minutes of the preceding meeting were confirmed, thus rendering the Association a permanent one, and this will, we trust, be the means of largely increasing the number of members, and further benefitting our charitable institutions.

Bro. Snelling congratulated the members upon the success of the Association since its formation, and announced that during the first year seventy-eight shares had been taken, and £152 17s. received as subscriptions thereon, which had been appropriated by ballot among thirty members. Fourteen of the successful members would become life governors of the institution for Aged Freemasons; two life subscribers of the Boys' School, and five life subscribers of the Girls' School, and nine had not yet determined to which of the Institutions they would subscribe. In addition to this some of the successful members had represented their lodges as Stewards of the various charities. The election of the officers and committee was then proceeded with, and Bro. J. R. Stacey, P.M. 180, the Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction, was re-elected as President, and Bro. J. White, P.M. 228, as Vice-President; Bro. J. Bingham, P.M. 55, W.M. 1599, as Treasurer; and W. W. Snelling, 180, as Hon. Secretary, and ten other brethren, were elected to form the committee. Bros. Denison, Larchin, Gush, and Daniel, all of 1841, were also appointed a committee to audit the accounts of the Association.

As the claims upon our charitable institutions are increasing year by year, it is necessary that every exertion should be used by members of the Craft to augment the funds of the various charities, and we cannot too strongly urge every brother who has the benefit of the Craft at heart, and who is not already a life subscriber or a life governor of the institutions, to become so through the medium of such an Association as the above.

The Association is not restricted to persons residing in the London district. Brethren in any part of the country may join, and the Honorary Secretary, Bro. Snelling, will be pleased to furnish a prospectus of the Association to any person desirous of becoming a member.

A YORKSHIRE SCHOOLMASTER.—In these days of great pedestrian feats it is worth while to record the doings of an old Yorkshireman who has just died at the ripe age of 84, at Masham, in Yorkshire. James Heap was a schoolmaster, and carried on his calling in a wild and bleak part of the country, walking every day a distance of eight miles. He lived at a cotton mill just below the village of Healey, which is the western part of that portion of Yorkshire called Mashamshire. His school-house was four miles distant at Coltersdale, which is still further west, and among the bleak moors and wild hills leading away to Westmorland. A storm of wind and rain is no trifling matter in these parts, and during a snowstorm the snow very often drifts so thickly as to make the roads almost impassable, but no condition of the weather or the atmosphere could shake James Heap's steadfast purpose, and he never had any ailment or accident which kept him from going his daily round to the school and home again. Many a time had he to wade through snowdrifts to find that his pupils were not able to reach the school, and he was certainly subjected to a drenching rain in the winter months. Yet from December, 1822, to January, 1867, he never missed a single day, and during 1292 consecutive weeks he walked more than 110,000 miles, or nearly five times round the world. Nor was he altogether idle on Sundays, for during 42 years of this period he shared with others the teaching of a Sunday-school at a place called Summerside, about the same distance from his home, and in an equally dreary and wild district on the moors with Coltersdale; 17 Sundays in each year during these 42 years did he walk eight miles to teach, which adds an aggregate of 5712 miles to the former sum, so that, taking Sundays and week days into the reckoning, he would, if he had continued his work for rather more than another year, have covered a distance equal to half the space between the earth and the moon. The old man, until quite lately, enjoyed good health, and the Schoolmasters' Association had only lately written to tell him that an annuity which he had been in receipt of for some time would, after the 1st of November, be still further increased. This arrangement, however, he did not see carried out, for he died last week.—"Globe."

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded by day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The General Committee of this Institution met on Saturday last at Freemason's Hall, Bro. S. Rosenthal in the chair. The other brethren present were Bros. Benj. Head, H. Browne, W. Paas, George Free, J. W. Dennison, W. Mann, W. F. C. Moutrie, W. Roebuck, John Symonds, H. W. Hunt, George Motion, and F. Binckes (Secretary).

Five petitions were accepted, and an outfit was granted to one ex-pupil. The resignation of Bro. Edward Harris, the collector to the Institution, was accepted, and a legacy of £50 less duty from Bro. Brooks Gates, was reported by the Secretary.

A committee was appointed to enquire into and report upon the office, and duties, and emoluments of the collector, after which the committee adjourned.

THE LATE BRO. SAMUEL MAY.

We regret to announce the death of Bro. Samuel May, which occurred on Sunday last, at his house at Wood Green. Bro. May, who was well known in the Craft, had long taken a leading position in it; but by nothing was he better known than by his liberal support of the Institutions of the Order, and his untiring efforts in their behalf. He was a zealous officer of his lodges and chapters, through the chairs of which he long ago passed. Until his fatal illness he was a constant attendant at Grand Lodge, and his presence whether there, in other Masonic assemblages, as well as in the social and domestic circle, was always hailed with pleasure. He was a genial companion, a sincere friend, and combined in his character all those excellent qualities which cause a man's name to be long remembered when his place on earth knows him no more.

Masonic and General Tidings.

On the 28th ult. the Grand Orient of Italian Freemasonry held a solemn re-union to receive and give a festival reception to Bro. J. C. Parkinson, J.P., P.G.D., P.P. Deputy Grand Master of Middlesex. The editor of the "Il Diritto" states that he has no doubt that this distinguished brother will receive a warm reception from his brethren in Rome.

The Provincial Grand Chapter of West Yorkshire will be held in the New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford, on Wednesday, 15th Nov., at four p.m.

On dit that the Earl of Limerick, Great Prior of the United Orders of the Temple and Hospital for England, has resigned that high office, and the Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, Great Marshal of the Order, and a Grand Cross of the Temple, has accepted that position. His Royal Highness the Grand Master could not have made a more popular appointment, and a new era of prosperity may be looked for in the Order through this and other changes which are imminent. Lord Limerick will carry with him on his retirement the cordial good wishes of the English Knights Templar, and those who have served under him will long remember his uniform courtesy and good nature.

Bro. T. W. Boord, M.P., was on Thursday admitted a member of the Peace of England Lodge of Odd Fellows (Manchester Unity) at Woolwich.

BRO. EMMA HOLMES' TALES, POEMS, AND MASONIC PAPERS.—The list of subscribers being now amply sufficient to cover all expenses, the first edition of the above work—500 copies—will be published forthwith.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—The great transept of the Crystal Palace is at the present time rendered more than usually attractive by a splendid display of chrysanthemums and pompones, grown by the company's gardener, and tastefully arranged by him in front of the Handel orchestra. The exhibition comprises at least fifty specimens of these beautiful autumn flowers, amongst the most conspicuous being the yellow Jardin des Plantes and aurea multiflora, the snow white Mrs. Russell, white globe, Virgin Queen, and Empress of India, the rich crimson Prince Alfred and Dr. Sharpe's Hermoine, in its two varieties, yellow and bluish purple tipped; the white quilled Fleur de Mai, the White and purple George Peabody, the Prince of Anemones with its lilac bluish, and the Queen of England in its three varieties, lilac, gold, and striped. The display will remain on view for at least another fortnight, and fresh varieties will be added from time to time as they come into flower.

READINGS IN THE TEMPLE.—Dr. Vaughan will resume his public readings in the Greek Testament (the 2nd Epistle to the Corinthians) on Tuesday, the 14th ult., at eight o'clock in the morning, in the lecture room of the Middle Temple, and continue them for about three weeks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, at the same hour. They are open to any persons interested in the study of the Greek Testament.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.—On Tuesday last the members of the "Old Scholars' Re-union" dined together at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street. The Head Master of the Royal Masonic School, occupied the chair. Among the 26 who sat down to dinner was the Rev. Mr. Woodward, a former Head Master and Chaplain of the Boys' School. The chief toasts of the evening were, "The Success and Prosperity of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys," and "The Old Scholars Re-union." "The Old Boys' Club," though only established in April last is gradually increasing, and is likely to become a permanent institution. The committee of the club are anxious that all old boys should join. There are some little expenses connected with starting the affair, and Masons may help in the success of it by becoming honorary members.

On Wednesday last the Royal Literary Fund voted £100 to the widow of Mr. George Smith.

NOTICE.

In consequence of the great press of Lodge Reports and other matter "The Freemason" will consist of four additional pages next week. We have to apologise to many Correspondents for unwillingly keeping back their contributions, but necessity has no law.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

COLONIAL and FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

It is very necessary for our readers to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

ADVERTISEMENTS should reach the Office, 198 Fleet Street, London, not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday, to insure insertion in the following Saturday's number. The Rates for Advertisements may be had on application at the Office.

THE "FREEMASON."

The Christmas number of the "Freemason" will appear on the 23rd December, and will consist of 32 pages, to subscribers as usual, to non-subscribers 4d. Orders to prevent disappointment, as the demand will be so large, should be sent at once to the Publisher 198, Fleet Street, London.

THE "MASONIC MAGAZINE."

The Christmas number of the Masonic Magazine will be ready on the 22nd of December, and will be a double number. To subscribers as usual, to non-subscribers 1s.

Answers to Correspondents.

A Member of No. 325—The affair being sub judice, we cannot well publish his letter. He will be able to make a full statement in Prov. G. Lodge.

Staffordshire—We cannot publish reports three weeks old. Had we received the account of the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting in due course, it would have appeared in our columns.

Errata—In our report of Lewes Lodge, 1185, for "Kildreth" read "Hildreth," and for "John Thomas Chase" read "John Francis Chase."

The following stand over:—Reports of Henley Lodge, 1472; Brotherly Love, 327; Tyndall Lodge, 1363; Pattison Lodge, 913; St. Asaph, 1319; Royal Commemoration Lodge, 1585; Aldershot Camp Lodge; New Cross Lodge, 1539; Lodge of Truth, 1458; Lily Lodge of Instruction; Faith Lodge of Instruction, 141; Mount Sinai Chapter; West Lancashire Mark Lodge, 65; Royal Ark Mariners, 69, Glasgow; Lodge Dramatic, 571, Glasgow.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

CAMERON.—On the 14th ult., at Dalkeith House, the Lady Margaret E. Cameron, of a son and heir.

DUNCAN.—On the 4th inst., at Aberdeen, Mrs. C. Duncan, of a daughter.

FREER.—On the 8th ult., at Crofton Court, Orpington, Kent, the wife of the Rev. H. L. Freer, of a son.

GLOYN.—On the 4th inst., at Tywardreath, Cornwall, the wife of R. F. Gloyn, of a son.

KING.—On the 6th inst., at Surbiton-hill, the wife of M'Intosh King, Esq., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

ARCHER—HOCKLEY.—On the 2nd inst., at St. Mary's, Lewisham, Reuben, son of Mr. Archer, of Forest-hill, to Mary, daughter of the late J. Hockley, of Catford.

PATTON—FURLONGER.—On the 1st inst., at St. Michael's, Betchworth, Frederick Joseph Patton, B.A., of Ball. Coll. Oxon., & Edith, daughter of C. J. Furlonger, Esq.

SCOTT—YOUNG.—On the 2nd inst., at Ludford, Lincolnshire, Dr. Walter Scott, of St. John's-Wood, to Fanny, daughter of R. Young, Esq., of Ludford.

DEATHS.

BARNES.—On the 2nd inst., at Tunbridge-wells, Eva Emily, daughter of E. Barnes.

BURROUGHS.—On the 6th inst., at his residence, 27 Bow-road, E., John Burroughs, aged 52 years.

CALLANDER.—On the 6th inst., at Ebury-street, Eaton-square, Mrs. Callander.

FOX.—On the 29th ult., at Brislington, near Bristol, Ellen Elizabeth, wife of E. F. Fox, Esq., aged 43.

MAY.—On the 4th inst., Bro. Samuel May, of Bow street.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOV. 11, 1876.

RECENT LODGE CONSECRATIONS.

No readers of the "Freemason" can fail to be struck with the constant reports of the consecration of new lodges which appear week by week in our crowded columns. We confess that we are among those who hail this increase of Freemasonry with some gratification—firstly, as an evidence of the prosperity of our great Order; and secondly, as a proof that our principles are both understood and appreciated. Despite the attacks of ignorant adversaries (ignorant of the principles and practice they so noisily condemn), notwithstanding the abuse of the intolerant, and the puerile opposition of fanatical impertinence, this English Craft is sailing on, as the poet sung, with "a wet sheet and a flowing sea," and under admirable auspices is not only "holding its own," but is rapidly "extending its stakes" on every side of us. No doubt some cautions come in, which we shall all of us do well to attend to. Our distinguished and admirable Grand Secretary alluded to one or two points in his effective address at the opening of the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, to which we shall all do well to listen. He pointed out the great need of caution in the admission of new members, and exemplified it ably by that regrettable incident, that a Masonic lodge had sued in the County Court a brother who would not pay his "initiation fees." The various blunders made by that distinguished lodge are too numerous to mention here; the more so, as it may be a matter of serious question whether the public action of the lodge may not have brought it necessarily under the notice of the Board of General Purposes. Every step the lodge has taken is constitutionally wrong and illegal. The lodge had no right not to ask for the initiation fee at once; and if not paid, ought to have gone to the proposer; certainly not to the County Court. And if the lodge had made a mistake, and the peccant brother could not or would not pay the customary demand, such a matter ought to have been kept in the bosom of the lodge itself, and not made the subject of public conversation or Masonic scandal. But enough on a most disagreeable subject. Bro. Hervey also alluded to a system of blackballing which is going on in some lodges, in which some one brother has been refused admission, and his friends blackball perseveringly all other candidates until he is admitted. We have known such instances ourselves, and a sad reflection they are on Masonry and Masonic principles. We have no right to import into the ballot of the lodge our private feelings, piques, injuries, animosities. It is conduct unworthy of every true Mason, and is so detrimental to the honour and interests of Freemasonry, that it must inevitably bring down any lodge eventually in which such conduct is tolerated or permitted. We thank the Grand Secretary for his seasonable and sensible words of admonition and advice, and we wish to add one more word of humble caution and fraternal admonition on our part. The one weak point in our Masonic system, just now, in our opinion, is the laxity we allow ourselves as regards the admission of members. No doubt it is a good thing for the Treasurer of a lodge to be able to report that he has a good balance sheet and a comfortable surplus at the end of the year, but, remember, financial well-being and material success may be too dearly purchased. If in order to obtain funds the character of the lodge is sacrificed, nothing but discomfort and disunion must be the result. We have always felt and said, that the mere fact of a person being able to pay the initiation fees is neither a proper test of admission, nor a befitting passport to a lodge. The lodge is a family in itself, and if we introduce into a family or social life one incongruous or heterogeneous element, we know well the unavoidable consequence of such folly, often the saddest of the sad. And equally true is it of our lodge life. No member ought to be admitted into a lodge unless his proposer can vouch for him that he is a suitable member for that particular lodge in all respects, and that he is qualified to do credit to the lodge, and promote the happiness and comfort of his brethren. He ought not to introduce him into the lodge unless he could do so into his own family circle conscientiously. Many a lodge has been and is ruined by the intrusion of some one brother, utterly unfitted, for various reasons, for that little body of which he has become a corporate part, and we cannot too much deprecate the far too common custom of admitting members, not for "what they are," but for what "they have." We trust sincerely that the kindly notes of warning thus struck will not fall on inattentive ears, and that our brethren who comprise the lodges of our great Masonic brotherhood will take in good part what the reality of fraternal feeling suggests, and the result of masterly experience has pointed out.

MASONIC WORK.

Our metropolitan lodges are reopening for work, and some have already commenced a "new campaign." As we write to-day, the faithful brethren of many good lodges have received their W. Master's summons, and will soon rally around their Masonic centres. The recess is over, and labour has recommenced. When they meet again, no doubt some changes even in this short interval, will have taken place in the "personnel" of the lodge. When they are again assembled, some will be missing perchance—nay, rather, almost certainly—who were present at the last pleasant meeting, and in many a lodge those words of the Poet Laureate may well and forcibly recur to many minds:—

"Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that's still."

But such, after all, is human life, and such is Masonic life, above all. We meet together a goodly band of brothers, we form long friendships, we interchange kindly sympathies, we become interested in each other, and gladly feel, that we are "brethren" in something more than name. And so we "move on side by side," happily and confidently and pleasantly, for many years. We meet in good feeling and good fellowship, we part in love and amity, but we meet and part, to meet and part no more in time in earthly lodge. No more "summonses" for us, no more happy re-unions or steady work, or hearty sociality. We have had to obey a "summons" higher and more solemn than anything of earth, and our place on earth, and in lodge knows us no more. And when we are gone (it may sometimes occur to us), what will they say of us? Will they miss us, and lament us, and speak kindly of us? Or will they dismiss us with a few cold, careless words? "So poor Bro. Tomkinson is no more. I am very sorry for him. He was a good worker, and a kind fellow, and a true brother." Nay, some one may even say, "I lament his loss, but he was a difficult chap to get on with, and he was not as considerate as he should be, and, to say the truth, I don't think the lodge will miss him much." Suppose that we were all able to listen to what people say of us behind our backs, or when we are "gone," what a cheery revelation would it afford to us all. Now, we need not indulge in any high-flown hyperbole in respect of the insincerity and treachery of the world. Such as the world has been, such it is, and such it will always be until its "weird is ended," and even in our little Masonic world we should be most unwise and unreasonable if we do not remember that despite its high professions, it only after all resembles that of which it forms a part. But the moral is obvious nevertheless, Let us work on while we are able, while health and strength, in the good Providence of the Great Architect of the Universe, are given to us, and let us hope, that when the Great Master of us comes in to pay his "workmen," we may be found neither unworthy of his praise, nor with our names wanting on the "Roll Call." With this re-opening session let us regard our lodges, as pleasant retreats of friendly sympathy and fraternal good will, and let us remember that we are all "brethren" bound together by loving and indissoluble ties, which, though time may weaken, it cannot and ought not ever to destroy. "Happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again," may well form, so to say, the cheerful and heartfelt motto of our Masonic gatherings; and may all our work, begun and ended in the name of God Most High, conduce to the welfare of our lodges, the honour of Masonry and the happiness of mankind.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Though we often all differ about the means, we are all, Freemasons as well as everybody else, greatly interested in the general spread of information and instruction, the study of the elevating arts, and the prevalence of culture and civilization. Though these are not everything in the history of man, or nations, or the world at large, yet no even-minded person will doubt their value, or question their importance. As Freemasons we are ever favourable to the extension of light, knowledge, and the refining and elevating tendencies of artistic and scientific labours, and we may rejoice to find that such is the prevailing sentiment of this locality or that institution. There is a famous old town in England, well known to many readers of the "Freemason" whose associations and memories are ever fresh and pleasant to that "Wiccamica Pubes," which once worshipped within its sacred fane, and once ascended St. Catherine's Hill. And it seems that this good city has not belied its ancient prestige, or forgotten its old renown, seeing that in 1876 it receives from one of our most distinguished statesmen and lawyer a meed of commendation as striking as it is well deserved. In opening the School of Art, a new institution at Winchester a few days ago, Lord Selborne makes use of language which we commend to the attention of all our readers, as a good example not only highly to be lauded, but to be imitated in the same kindly and liberally-minded spirit up and down our good old land. The "Times" of November 4th gives the words which follow:—"Lord Selborne said that he could not pretend to speak with impartiality of subjects connected with Winchester, and it might be that his partiality led him to see things which related to that city through a highly-coloured medium. Things which to some might appear trivial were not so to him. Though Winchester had no large manufactures, no centres of population, no great wealth, he thought it interesting in an unusual degree. In the first place, it was the most ancient historical city in the country. Its very name bore witness to a time anterior to the Roman invasion, and it has been a centre from generation to generation of great events. He was happy to think that although so old, and although it had seen so many privations, yet its public spirit was never higher and its desire to continue its great improvements more manifest than at the present time. Their prosperity and their institutions depended, as every one knew, on the habit of self-government, and that privilege depended certainly no less on the existence of municipal institutions, which were as essential as Imperial Parliaments. When he saw the amount spent and the works produced by municipal institutions here, he could not but think that Winchester might well be proud of the part it had taken in respect of having these institutions. When he looked to another part of the town and saw the splendid scale on which the administration of justice had been provided for, he said that Winchester had acted in a manner worthy of its greatness in honouring that law which was the guardian of all their liberties. Passing to an institution which, above all others, formed the mind of the man, and made what was good and bright, and comely and godly, he saw religion enshrined in a building, so solemn in its exterior and so gorgeous within, that no man could enter it without feeling something of the solemnity of the place, without feeling the true association between religion and beauty. Then they came to that College which had been the seat of learning for nearly 500 years, and had from generation to generation sent forth men to take the first place in the Church, in the Legislature, and in all the walks of life, and not a few in the ranks of those who had defended their country by sea and land. Nature, too, had not been wanting in giving to the city natural beauties in the valley in which it was placed. It was his privilege to attend not long ago an Art Exhibition under their Mayor, and that building had been established under the highest influence. Among the first promoters of the school were the Head Master of the College and one of his most esteemed associates. There had been a cordial union of all parties. In Winchester all the institutions worked harmoniously together. There was no jealousy that one would be above the other. They saw the Church and the municipality, the Corporation, the College, and the School of Art all, hand-in-hand, promoting the same good cause—the cause of morality and instruction, improving the cause or religion and learning and art.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have read with much pain the report of the action in the Westminster County Court by the "Hervey Lodge of Freemasons v. Fielder" reported in your impression of the 18th ult., and cannot think the proceedings conduce much to the credit of the officers of the lodge or its members, for had the Secretary, or the member introducing the candidate, taken proper steps to investigate his character, such scandal might have been avoided. As regards the case on its merits, the learned judge could not but nonsuit the plaintiffs, as the action was wrongly brought. Freemasons are not a body corporate, and cannot sue as such; but under Order XVI. Rule 9 of the Judicature Acts, where there are numerous parties having the same interest in one action, one or more of such parties may sue or be sued, or may be authorised by the court to defend such action; and by the consolidated County orders, under order V. rule 8, these courts have the same power given them. The judge could not amend the title of the cause without the consent of the defendant, and from his antecedents, I do not suppose such a course would have been assented to, neither could the judge allow an appeal, as the amount sued for was under £20.

I sincerely hope that other lodges will take timely warning by this miserable affair, and that in their anxiety to swell their ranks, greater diligence will be used in investigating the character of those they introduce into the Order.

Believe me, dear Sir, faithfully yours,

E. W. DEVEREUX.

Grove-lane, Camberwell, S.E.,
1st November, 1876.

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In commenting in your last issue on a County Court case, in which the Hervey Lodge sued a brother for fees, you seem to imply blame to some person, and as Master of the lodge in question I will endeavour to show you how the matter stands.

The brother having expressed a wish to be received into our lodge, and finding he held a high official public position, and "was well and worthily recommended," no possible objection could be taken either by his proposer or any member of the lodge. Therefore, having been duly balloted for and unanimously elected, and initiated, his official position was urged as an excuse for irregularity of attendance at our meetings. His dues fell into arrears, the Secretary wrote to him on the subject, and he promised to attend lodge and settle up; but failing to do so it was determined, after some fruitless correspondence, and by the advice of a brother in the lodge, who is a lawyer, to take legal proceedings to enforce the payment of a just debt.

The brother had in his communications with our Secretary acknowledged the claim, but he failed to keep his word, and it was because he held a gentlemanly public appointment that it was thought necessary to compel him if possible to pay, rather than his proposer.

You are quite wrong in supposing that the case was decided on its merits—nothing of the kind. We were non-suited on a technical question. Our lawyer sued in the name of the lodge, when it appears he should have done so in that of the Treasurer or Secretary.

I am, Sir and brother, yours fraternally,

G. HARRISON, W.M. 1260.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGES.

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have been in the habit of attending, with other Master Masons, the Provincial Grand Lodge to which the lodge I am a member of is attached. This year Master Masons are not summoned, and we are informed by those in authority that we are not entitled to be present. I know the Book of Constitutions (in clause 2, of Prov. Grand Lodges) lays down who are members of Prov. Grand Lodge but it does not say Master Masons shall be excluded, and, as they have been allowed to attend in former years, their exclusion on this occasion requires some explanation.

Surely if Master Masons were permitted to be present at the Albert Hall on the occasion of the installation of the M.W. the Grand Master of England, they might, I think, be allowed a seat at their own provincial meeting. I would add that all Master Masons of the Receiving Lodge, are to be permitted to attend. Perhaps some brother wearing the purple will kindly explain this matter for the satisfaction of those who still wear but sky blue.

Yours truly and fraternally,

MASTER MASON.

THE GROWTH OF FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the "Freemason."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In a paragraph which appeared in your issue of the 27th ult., it was stated that the rapid increase of members was causing some anxiety in higher circles, and that at the consecration of new lodges, the officers are earnestly enjoined to make strict enquiry into the character, and standing of candidates before admitting them, doubtless every right thinking brother already feels that some more stringent means should be adopted in this respect than at present.

